Golf course closure addressed at meeting

A FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

Floyd County Judge-Executive Robbie Williams reiterated last week that the closure of the county's golf course is only temporary.

"I want to reiterate this is being closed on a temporary basis. This isn't permanent," Williams said. "We have some things we have to, some personnel issues, we have to take a close look at, I guess."

Williams said the golf course had a "substantial loss" last year. County Treasurer David Layne reported after the meeting that the golf course lost more than $100,000.

"We understand we're not going to break even at a golf course, but we have to close the gap," Williams said. "We have to close the gap and we have to look at some things. We have to get some, probably get some new blood in there. We need to get some young people involved and try to get some younger people out and doing those things."

Magistrate Ronnie Akers asked whether the golf course was closed.

"Well, I was by there twice this week and there were golf carts and cars and stuff," Akers said.

Williams said, "We are addressing that. The golf course is closed."

Williams reported after the meeting that although the golf course is closed, the golf course supervisor, Allen Commission Member Clyde Woods, is still earning his salary of about $33,800.

Williams said Woods is retiring in April.

"He's still working. He's doing the paperwork and things that we need to do up there and goes over and kind of checks everything. He still works. We have to have someone over there to kind of maintain everything," Williams said. "And we hope to have the golf course opened back up in two or three weeks."

Statement issues on Trans-Star purchase

BY MARY MEADOWS STAFF WRITER

A Trans-Star Ambulance official provided comments Tuesday about the sale of the business, pledging that it will "continue to put patient care first" in communities it serves.

James Brandon Spencer, the CEO of Lafferty Enterprises, the parent company of Trans-Star Ambulance Service, said in an email that the company is in a "transitional period" that involves processing of employees, strategic planning of resources, the introduction of management personnel to local officials and healthcare partners and other matters.

"It's an exciting time for our region, as Life-guard Ambulance Service brings with them a vast amount of resources and technologies, as well as being a sister company of the world's largest ground ambulance supplier, AMR," Spencer said in an email. "I can assure coverage to our geographic territories will go uninterrupted and we will continue to put patient care first in our communities. I cannot speak directly for Lifeguard Ambulance Service with the exception of saying, their mission mirrors that of Trans-Star in providing the very best in patient care, and assuring a seamless transfer in service coverage duties in the near future."

Trans-Star Ambulance, based in Prestonsburg, filed a notice of acquisition with the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services on Jan. 15, reporting that the company will be bought by Mercy Ambulance of Evansville, Inc., doing business as American Medical Response in Colorado. According to a press release issued by American Medical Response in 2018, Lifeguard Ambulance Services is a subsidiary of Air Medical Group Holdings.

Trans-Star, the only ground ambulance service in Floyd County, also serves residents of Pike and other counties. It expanded operations into Wheelwright and other areas of the southern end of Floyd County in 2017, following the closure of the Left Beaver Ambulance Service.

However, several complaints have been made by officials in the Wheelwright area since that time, alleging that residents have to wait for emergency medical care.

Company officials have said that more details about the sale will be released at a later date.

Deputies: Anonymous tips lead to drug trafficking arrests

A FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES STAFF REPORT

The Floyd County Sheriff's Department reports that an anonymous tip led to the arrest of three people accused of drug trafficking.

The department received an anonymous tip that drugs were possibly being sold in the McDonald's parking lot in Martin, officials reported, and Floyd County Sheriff's deputies and the department's K9 "Drago" responded to the complaint.

"As deputies were interviewing the three occupants, K9 'Drago' alerted deputies to possible drugs inside the vehicle," a statement from the department said. "The investigation resulted in the discovery of drugs and drug paraphernalia."

Deputies arrested Rodney Porter, 37, Barry Hunt, 28, and Tabatha Hunt, 30, all of Corn Fork in Prestonsburg. Each of them were charged with first-degree trafficking in a controlled substance, possession of drug paraphernalia and tampering with physical evidence. Barry Hunt was also additionally charged with violation of an emergency protection order.

They appeared in Floyd District Court this week for arraignment. They are scheduled to return to district court on Jan. 30 for a preliminary hearing.

The sheriff's department reports that additional charges may be filed, pending further investigation.

This week, the department also announced the arrest of Bronson

Bishop, following a three-month investigation into alleged drug trafficking.

Bishop, 28, of Tackett Fork in Beaver, was charged with first-degree trafficking of a controlled substance (methamphetamine). That three-month investigation, the department reported, also came about because of anonymous tips provided.

Ball: Unclaimed property returned to Floyd

SPECIAL TO THE FLOYD CHRONICLE AND TIMES

Kentucky State Treasurer Allison Ball reported this week that her office has returned more than $70 million in unclaimed property statewide, a "record amount."

Ball's office reported that amount also includes more than $171,000 that has been returned to Floyd County residents since she took office and there's still more than $2.4 million in property that is yet to be claimed in Floyd County.

"One of my favorite things to do as Treasurer is to return people's money to them," Ball said. "I am a big believer in property rights and I am proud of the success we have seen at the Treasury in returning a record amount of property to Kentuckians."

Ball, a Prestonsburg native, has filed paperwork to seek another term as the state treasurer.

The Kentucky State Treasurer administers Kentucky's Unclaimed Property Fund. Unclaimed property generally consists of payroll checks, unclaimed safety deposit boxes, old life insurance policies, stocks and other items that have remained unclaimed by their owners after several years.

"The Treasury's Unclaimed Property Division works diligently to reunite these items with their owners, or in cases where the owner is deceased, the owner's family," Ball's statement said. "Floyd countians still have over $2,417,650 of unclaimed property waiting to be claimed."

PIKEVILLE MEDICAL CENTER ELECTROPHYSIOLOGISTS PERFORM REGION'S FIRST WATCHMAN PROCEDURE

By: Carol Casebolt

The Pikeville Medical Center (PMC) Heart and Vascular Institute is the heart of health-care in the region. The hospital is leading the way to a healthier and longer life for patients in and around the community.

Not only does PMC have a state-of-the-art facility, but the services provided at the hospital are saving countless lives right here in eastern Ky.

PMC CEO Donovan Blackburn said, "We are performing procedures that have never been done in the region and are the same procedures you would have traveled hours to receive in years past."

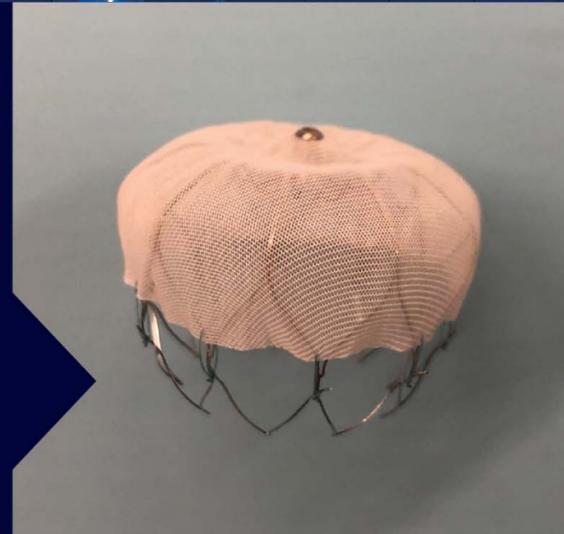

January of 2019 will be noted as a pivotal moment in heart care in the Commonwealth.

During January, five PMC patients underwent a heart procedure that has never been performed in the region before.

PMC Cardiac Electrophysiologists Michael Antimisiaris, MD, and Chase Reynolds, MD, performed the first Watchman Device Procedures.

During this procedure, a tiny device called the Watchman Device is implanted into the left atrial appendage of the heart.

"Patients with atrial fibrillation are at a significantly increased risk of stroke due to clot formation within the heart. Over 90 percent of those clots form within the left atrial appendage. During implantation of the Watchman Device, we seal or put a lid over the left atrial appendage," said Dr. Reynolds.

This process removes the risk of clot formation within the left atrial appendage. Implantation of this device allows the physician to take atrial fibrillation patients off of anti-coagulation while still effectively managing their stroke risk.

Patients who qualify for the Watchman Device are those with AFIB who are at a higher risk for bleeding.

"We are one of the few hospitals chosen to implant the Watchman Device," said Dr. Antimisiaris. "We are honored and proud to have been chosen by Boston Scientific to launch this new procedure in our region."

LESTER LOSES 259 POUNDS AND RECLAIMS HIS LIFE

By: Amanda Jo Lawson

Carl Ryan Lester of Phelps, Ky is a fabulous example of what a couple of years and a heart full of determination can do to change your health and your life.

Lester is an eight year veteran at Pikeville Medical Center (PMC). He is a registered nurse and serves as a shift supervisor on the surgical unit.

When he came to the decision to make a change in his life and his weight, he was determined to lose 200 pounds.

He says when he started his weight loss program, he found himself struggling to walk even one mile and his walks always ended with back pain.

His journey began in 2017. Lester was one of 72 PMC employees who began Health Management Resources (HMR), a medically supervised, meal replacement plan for weight loss.

Lester made significant strides toward his weight loss goal when he lost 100 pounds.

He then decided he needed to be more active to continue progressing toward his goal.

"I took the charge to exercise seriously. I joined a local 'boot camp' in an effort to improve myself," Lester said.

The accountability and running helped Lester lose an additional 89 pounds.

"The support I received from both programs was simply life-changing and just exactly what I needed," Lester said.

In August, Lester was still trying everything possible to obtain his goal weight, but was struggling to make any further progress.

"I felt like I still needed help getting the excess weight off," Lester stated.

He actually works on the very floor that cares for bariatric patients after their surgery. He has seen, first-hand, countless patients who found success through weight loss surgery. He knew PMC Bariatric Surgeon Amy Johnson, MD, personally and professionally. He knew what could happen with the right tools for weight loss success.

His decision for weight loss surgery proved to be the one that would help him reach his goal and change his life. He lost an additional 70 pounds.

Lester began his journey experiencing exhaustion, sleep apnea and was even dependent on oxygen.

Since surgery, Lester no longer faces any of these health issues.

"If I had not done anything about my weight, I was going to die," Lester stated.

"Ryan should be, and is, an inspiration to everyone," said Dr. Johnson. "He has worked hard, stayed on course and his weight loss and improvement in medical problems is his reward."

Today, Lester is a healthier and happier version of himself and is a true success story. He runs religiously. He has completed 5Ks, 10Ks, half marathons and plans to run a full marathon. He says life is better than he could have ever imagined.

"I am so thankful for the love and support of my family and friends," Lester added.

The public has the right to attend public meetings

In light of concerns raised during the Martin City Council's Jan. 22 meeting, we thought it may be helpful for us to let the public know, according to Kentucky Open Meetings laws, they have the right to observe the public meetings of any local government body and they have the right to file a complaint when they feel their right to observe a public meeting has been violated.

Kentucky law does not give members of the public the right to comment during public meetings — that right is up to the local government body to decide — but it does specifically detail the ways in which local government bodies are required to make a reasonable effort in good faith to provide a place where the public can effectively observe a public meeting.

In light of that conversation and suggestion that Martin will not attempt to accommodate the crowd it should expect to see on Jan. 31, if a special meeting is called, we thought it might be helpful for the people who were denied access to the Jan. 22 meeting to know that they have the right to file an open meetings complaint if they feel they are denied access to any public meeting.

KRS 61.820 (1) states: "All meetings of all public agencies of this state, and any committees or subcommittees thereof, shall be held at specified times and places which are convenient to the public. In considering locations for public meetings, the agency shall evaluate space requirements, seating capacity, and acoustics."

The Kentucky Attorney General has ruled in numerous cases in which Kentucky Open Meetings law violations were alleged by people who claimed they, or others, could not effectively observe or hear a public meeting because of inappropriate accommodations. On June 14, 2018, that office highlighted several of those rulings in 18-OMD-118, which states, in part, "The mere fact that 'numerous citizens were not able to enter' the meeting room due to overcrowding 'and observed the proceedings from the hallway' does not per se establish 'that persons wishing to attend or participate in the proceeding were effectively prevented from doing so.' In 97-ORD-28, however, the office held that a public agency confronted with a crowd that is larger than anticipated is "under a duty to make some attempt to correct the matter."

Floyd County residents who feel any public agency has violated its duties or their rights under the Open Meetings Act may submit an Open Meetings Act complaint to the presiding officer of that public agency, namely, the city/county clerk and/or secretary of that agency.

Open meetings complaints should specifically describe what the agency did to violate the open meetings law and it should also propose a remedy for the violation.

Open meetings complaints can cite state law, prior attorney general opinions, statements made, recordings of, or articles about the public meeting to validate allegations that there was a violation of the Open Meetings Act.

People who decide to file such complaints with any public agency should keep a copy of the complaint for themselves to use if the complaint is denied by the public agency. State law gives public agencies three working days to respond to open meeting complaints, and on the third working day the agency must issue a written response to the person who filed the complaint or request, explaining whether it agrees that violation occurred and whether it will take steps to remedy it. If that agency claims a violation did not occur, it must cite state laws supporting its denial that a violation occurred.

If the person who filed the complaint is not satisfied by the written response, he or she then has the right to file an appeal with the Kentucky Attorney General's office.

All of these rights are defined online by that office at, www.ag.ky.gov.

KYCPG conference will honor local accountant

The 22nd Annual Educational and Awareness Conference presented by the Kentucky Council on Problem Gambling (KYCPG) is dedicated to the memory of Caleb Cooley.

A Pikeville accountant who served clients in Prestonsburg and surrounding communities, Mr. Cooley was a trusted leader and valuable contributor to the KYCPG mission of increasing awareness of problem gambling, promoting prevention and research and advocating for the availability of treatment for problem and addicted gambling.

Mr. Cooley, who died in October 2018, was a long-time member of the KYCPG Board of Directors and a KYCPG Past President. He also served as KYCPG's affiliate representative to the National Council on Problem Gambling (NCPG).

He served several years on the NCPG Board of Directors and served a three-year term as NCPG treasurer. KYCPG will miss Mr. Cooley's wise insight in developing programs and services for individuals and families suffering from problem and addicted gambling.

In 2003, he received the KYCPG Jim Cooke Leadership Award, which is KYCPG's highest honor and only bestowed for exceptional leadership. It is fitting that the 22nd annual conference honor Mr. Cooley.

The 12-hour educational program for behavioral health counselors and prevention specialists seeks to increase the knowledge of problem and addicted gambling to better assist individual and family recovery from problem and addicted gambling and to implement awareness program to mitigate the amount of problem and addicted gambling in Kentucky.

We The People

Organized Floyd County Citizens

Responding to City of Martin's Proposed Annexation For Central Floyd County Businesses & Schools

The annexation actions taken by the City of Martin involves along with my commercial property six Floyd County schools, the county bus garage, the McDowell ARH Hospital, the Mark West Natural Gas facility and every commercial property located along:

1. Route 122 from Martin to McDowell Hospital.
2. Route 80 from Martin to Route 680.
3. Route 680 from Kentucky 80 to Route 122 at Minnie.
4. Kentucky Route 550.
5. Kentucky Route 777.
6. Old Kentucky Route 80.
7. Kentucky Route 3188.
8. Kentucky Route 1428.

These locations stretch close to seven miles from the City of Martin. It is impossible to know if Martin's intent extends further due to their advertisement of the area in a manner that the ordinary citizen has no way of understanding.

The Floyd County school system will be involved with 7 locations containing 1,952 students, 325 school personnel and $93,099,158 insured value of property. The school teachers and support staff will pay approximately $140,000 in occupational tax. The value of the McDowell ARH and the Mark West Natural Gas facility would be in the tens of million dollars in value. The value of the commercial property of the citizen involved would also be valued in the tens of million dollars. The hundreds of citizens that would be subject to taxes such as:

1. City Property Tax
2. Business License
3. 1.5% occupation tax paid by everyone who earns a paycheck on any of these properties.
4. A percentage of any profit shown by any of these properties.

The City of Martin now covers an area of 0.73 square miles. In acres this is 467 acres. Their literature states that they intend to annex 807.25 acres. The end result is that the City of Martin will triple in size and collect several hundred thousands of dollars each year without one single vote from any citizen of the proposed annexation.

They can do this because property owners cannot vote in this annexation. If the annexation is successful for the City of Martin, property owners will never be able to vote on any issues in the future in the City of Martin.

Only residents have the right to vote. That is why Martin is not attempting to annex any residence.

A few years ago Martin annexed the roads they are citing today. We protested and were told by Martin that we were only trying to cause trouble because they had no intention of forcing us to be a part of Martin.

Make no mistake, if this annexation is successful, it will be by the vote of six Martin Council members and their part time mayor. They have found themselves a legal loophole that they are intending to exercise to the full extent. Legal action is the best chance to stop this annexation.

Attention of this should be taken by all other citizens that live close to these small towns that are out of money and have no quom about where and how to obtain more revenue.

While the citizens of Martin have been plagued by mismanagement, past administration that have been imprisoned for fraud and theft and poor judgment for years and years, they have certain benefits such as a Martin City water department, Martin City sewage, Martin police department, Martin fire department and Martin street department. In the event that this annexation is successful, the new annexed areas deserve the same benefit as the city now provides for its present day citizens.

The facts are that there are no financial means which would allow Martin to extend these benefits to the proposed annexed area. The millions on top of millions that it would involve to do so would be prohibitive. If they incorporated every commercial property and every resident they could not generate enough revenue to do so. In the event that there was a way to finance such an undertaking, one would expect ten to fifteen years to plan and build such infrastructure. The City of Martin does not intend to provide the newly annexed property any benefits. The only way this annexation is profitable for Martin is to collect the taxes and the only benefits offered would be a Martin Police car driving by the property occasionally.

Martin's infrastructure and description is:

1. Years ago Martin was forced to begin buying water from Prestonsburg due to the failure to repair and maintain their own water plant.
2. Martin has been plagued by loss of water due to old leaking pipes for years and continues the loss today.
3. There is a new Renaissance School built and paid for located next to Martin City Hall that cannot be used due to Martin's Department of Water inability to provide proper water pressure. The state will not allow occupancy until situation is corrected. This is a multi million dollar facility, paid for by the Corp of Engineers, setting idle due to the failed Martin water system. The present Renaissance School is located in Martin. The roof is falling in. Floyd County Schools have plans to relocate the school to the Allen Central location until and if ever Martin water department gets its act together and solves the pressure problem.
4. The Corp of Engineers built Martin Fire Department a new station also next to City Hall. Martin Fire Department cannot fill its trucks with water at the station due to low pressure.

The proposed annexation area is now served by Southern Water. In the event that the annexation is successful, the proposed annex area will continue to be served by Southern Water. City of Martin cannot extend lines and serve our properties. They do not have and cannot generate enough revenue to do so.

Southern Water has problems of its own. The citizens of Floyd County are saddled with millions of dollars of debt to pay off Southern's responsibilities. They have stated that if they cannot get the rate increase they have asked for, there is a chance they could go bankrupt. The base flat rate for water in Prestonsburg is $9.15 per month. If Southern gets their rate increase, then the basic flat rate will be $34.60. The bottom line is that we will be subsidizing Southern Water with county taxes and pay Martin City taxes for the same service.

Sewage:

Martin has been plagued by sewage problems for years and years due to bad management of not maintaining and upgrading their system. They do have sewage service in the city even if it is of poor quality due to leaks of old leaky pipes and pumping stations that do not operate as they should.

It would take millions of dollars and ten to fifteen years to develop sewage service to the proposed annexed area. Martin knows this. They have no intention of providing sewage service to the new annexed areas. Again, we would be paying for a service without really any sewage system.

Streets and Street Lighting:

All motorists who have traveled down the main street of Martin in front of the old City Hall building have been forced to travel through flooded main street. For the past several years, the drainage system adjacent to Main Street has failed. Martin is forced to pump water off streets after every rain. They have spent more on pumping than was necessary to fix the drainage system several times. This is an example of Martin's nonexistent or at least troubled street department. Martin, other than a lawn mower and a few weed eaters, has no equipment or capable personnel to man a street department.

Again, we would be paying for a service that we will not receive.

Fire Department:

Martin's Fire Department has an ISO rating of 5. Maytown Fire Department has a rating of 5. Middle Creek without any incorporated areas has an ISO rating of 3. Prestonsburg has an ISO rating of 2.

State ISO regulations state that Martin's ISO rating will remain as 5 until the road mileage extends past the 5 mile point. Thus all property in the City of Martin that is 5 miles from Martin Fire Station, which will include the portion of the annexed area, will have an ISO rating dropped from 5 to 10. Such property annexed, including the new 55 million dollar Floyd Central High School, will be exposed to a huge increase in their fire insurance.

In fact, most insurance companies will not insure class 10 structures. This forces the property owner to go to secondary insurance companies who charge exorbitant prices and are rated at less than normal financial strength.

Police Department:

The City of Prestonsburg has three schools in its boundary. Each morning and evening they have at least 2 to 3 police cars at each school directing traffic and protecting our children. Martin is proposing through new annexation to protect and service six schools. I don't know how many police officers Martin has, but I have seen their parking lot and only saw 2 police cruisers.

I have lived in this area my entire life. We have drug and theft problems throughout our county as our main complaint. In my view the Martin area is no better or worse than the remainder of the county. I do not see an above average police protection for the proposed annexed property.

Services we now pay for and receive from the county and state verses what we can expect if annexation is successful.

Service	With County Government	With annexation
Police	County/State	Martin City/County/ State
Water	Southern Water	Southern Water
Street	None	None
Sewage	None	None
Fire Department	Maytown, Left Beaver	City of Martin
Taxes	County/State	City/County/ State

The City of Martin is attempting to force annexation down our throats whether we like it or not. They are well aware that the only way that it is a successful move for them is if they annex us, charge us tax and do not give us any benefits. If they were intending to give us benefits, it would make no sense of them annexing us. They would spend more than they took in.

Martin's problems are a result of years and years of mismanagement. If they are successful in this annexation and collect the 100 of thousands of dollars per year, they will have some relief for a few years. With the same people in charge, they will have the same problem that they now have only it will be a bigger mess in another few years.

Martin needs to solve its own problems. If they need more revenue, they need to cut expenses and raise taxes in the city.

Martin has a part time mayor who holds another full time job in another county. He is not available except in certain instances for city responsibilities.

Should we trust people who are proven failures to be responsible for the health and safety of our 1,952 students, 325 school personnel and $93,099,158 insured value of school property, tens of millions of dollars of commercial property and hundreds of employees of these commercial properties? Do we send these people hundreds of thousands of dollars each year and expect them to spend it in our best interest. This would all occur without our having any vote what so ever in how they conduct activities that directly affect our personal lives.

We are taught in school that one of the founding principles of our country and the reason that we fought the Revolutionary War with England was "no taxation without representation." That may be so in the rest of the country but it definitely is not true in and around Martin, Kentucky.

Magoffin County Judge-Executive Matt Wireman replaced former Johnson County Judge-Executive R.T. "Tucker" Daniel as second vice-chairman while Nita Collier moved into the BSADD secretary position. Floyd County Judge-Executive Robbie Williams replaced Collier as treasurer.

Susan Howard was named regional low-income representative, with Lyndon Butcher and Mark Gooch named as citizen members.

Citizens appointed to the board by judge-executives of each county are Rick Roberts for Floyd County, Chase Caudill from Johnson County, Dan Cecil from Magoffin County, Steve Goble from Martin County and Pike County Deputy Judge-Executive Reggie Hickman.

Scott and Prestons-burg Mayor Les Stapleton were named to the Kentucky Council of Area Development Districts, representing the interest of BSADD before the state council.

Hale, who serves as BSADD executive director, said during the meeting that the role of legislative representative takes on more importance as tensions between the KCADD and the current state administration increase.

The Big Sandy Area Development District and 14 others were created more than 40 years ago to help encourage regional planning and development, and according to the KCADD website, the districts receive federal and state funding for workforce training, aging and home care, transportation, and planning and development and their executive committees are typically made up of county judge-executives and other locally-elected officials.

Under the agreement, the 192-bed Highlands Regional Medical Center will operate under a new name, the Highlands ARH Regional Medical Center.

ARH operates hospitals in McDowell, Hazard, South Williamson and other locations throughout the Kentucky and West Virginia. It also bought the former Saint Joseph Martin in Floyd County last year, and since July 2018, that hospital has been operating as ARH Our Lady of the Way.

Calls seeking comment from officials at ARH and Highlands were not returned as of press-time Thursday.

The city received preliminary approval in Aug. 2017 to receive $1.95 million as part of the 2016 Abandoned Mine Lands Pilot Program for this project and officials report that about $63,000 has been spent to-date on engineering, surveying and deed work.

Stapleton said the city received the authority to proceed on the project from the U.S. Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement in November and CSX has already started removing the rails along the proposed trail.

OPEN RECORDS REQUEST TO CITY OF MARTIN ITS MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL MEMBERS

On January 22, 2019 approximately 100 fellow citizens and I attended your regular Martin City Council meeting. We attended this meeting in hopes of having a dialogue to allow us a better understanding of your annexation of our schools, hospital and commercial property over a broad section of central Floyd County. We were met with a city council and mayor who refused to discuss any issues concerning this very troubling issue that Martin has created.

You excused yourselves to discuss a litigation matter in closed session. Apparently, while in closed session, you also discussed our presence which was not a litigation matter. Our presence and your response should have been in open session in order that we at least could gauge each of your positions on the matter. I, at this time, accused you of discussing public business behind closed doors.

When you returned from your private meeting, you had apparently instructed your attorney, Doug Adams, to make any and all comments for the City of Martin.

The entire reply of what few issues we made was with the statement, "any information you want will have to be asked through an "open records request" in writing. You have made it very plain that you do not intend to inform us of any information that we need to evaluate our position in this matter.

The only avenue left to us to evaluate the City of Martin's past, present and future issues is through written open records request which we will use extensively. Please prepare prompt, accurate and full disclosure of the following.

8. List of all equipment, vehicles and machinery owned by City of Martin listing who is responsible for each item, its condition and its value.
9. Copy of written policy for city vehicle use by city employees.
10. Provide a readable map of all city boundaries.
11. Provide a readable map of all proposed annexation areas.
12. Provide a list of all commercial property listing owners' names in the City of Martin.
13. Provide list of all properties and or individuals sent an intent to annex letter during January, 2019.
14. Provide a list of all annexed property that has occurred in past 10 years showing the exact location of annexation and date it was annexed. This especially means all roadways.
15. Provide a copy of all notes, studies or information collected regarding the feasibility of the January, 2019 annexation including how much revenue is expected from each location annexed. Provide all information listing how and where you make your estimate of money to be obtained through the annexation. 22. Provide a copy of the contract issued to Alchemy Engineering containing the amount paid Alchemy along with bid or quotes from any other engineering firm concerning the annexation description sent to me in January, 2019.
23. Provide a copy of all files and communication describing all related activity occurring between City of Martin and Corp of Engineering and total amount of Corp work in Martin since beginning including the dollar amount the Corp has spent. List proposed Corp work expected in next two years with dollar amounts expected to be spent.

I realize that this is a lot of information that I need prior to the January 31, 2019 meeting. I further remind you that Martin's annexation was dropped on us expectantly and does not give us proper time to evaluate our position in this matter. Martin had its first reading of this action prior to anyone knowing about the annexation in progress.

I will expect all answers in the time frame allowed to respond to Open Records Requests.

Department and the Allen Volunteer Fire Department were among those who said they wanted to attend the meeting, but were unable to do so.

Prior to the meeting, The Floyd County Chronicle and Times asked City Attorney Doug Adams how the city would accommodate people standing in the hallway and outdoors, and he said they were "welcome" to come stand in the already overcrowded meeting room. He did not, however, attempt to let people outside the room know that they could attend. Nor did any council member attempt to do so either.

The city council took no significant action during the meeting. They approved bills spanning several months and meeting minutes from October and November, held a closed session to discuss "potential litigation" and then sought a motion to adjourn.

After returning from closed session, Adams told the crowd that annexation was not on the agenda and, when attendees asked to comment, he pointed out that public comment was not on the agenda either.

He said, "I'm guessing that most of you all are here about a proposed annexation, but that is not on the agenda tonight. That is on the agenda for, it will be, next Thursday, I think is what the notices that you probably all received or some of you received for Jan. 31 at 6 p.m., and we'll be glad to listen to whoever and whatever you want to say about the annexation at that time."

His comments were not well-received.

"You're not going to accept any comments today?" Langley business owner Terry Thornsberry asked.

"It's not on the agenda," Adams said.

"Well, that's common courtesy," Thornsberry said. "With what you all are trying to do to us would dictate that you would at least have the courtesy to hear us."

"Here, here," several members of the crowd said.

"I appreciate that, but it's not on the agenda," Adams said.

"We're your neighbors," Thornsberry told him. "And you pulled this right out from under our feet and we're your neighbors and we deserve more respect than you're showing us."

Adams said city officials would "be happy" to take comments on Jan. 31.

One audience member asked if the first or second reading of this ordinance would be held on Jan. 31. Adams told her it would be the second reading.

"When was the first one?" the woman asked. Her question was followed by Thornsberry, who said, "Why wasn't it advertised?"

"Again, this is not on the agenda," Adams told them. As more people complained, he said, "Again, and folks, I'm sorry, but this is not on the agenda."

One lady complained that only business owners received letters from the city last week about the annexation.

"No one heard anything," she said. "And just the landowners had no notification, only business owners. Well, I pay taxes as a landowner, and I buy merchandise from the businesses, which I'm paying taxes on, so what's it going to benefit me to let you annex us?"

Adams told her, "Well, I'm not annexing anything, and again, you're discussing things that need to be brought at next week's meeting. They'll be happy to listen to it, but it's not on the agenda tonight."

Twice during this exchange between Adams and members of the audience, Council Member Charles Justice incorrectly told attendees that it would be illegal for the council to receive public comment on the annexation because it was not on the agenda of the regular-called meeting.

According to Kentucky Open Meetings laws, the public does not have the right to comment at public meetings — that right is granted by the public agencies — and, while there are restrictions on special-called meeting agendas, Kentucky law also does not prevent council members from adding anything to the agenda of any regular meeting.

There were 15 chairs in the meeting room and at least 40 people sitting Rita Daniels asks to see a copy of the agenda for the Jan. 22 Martin City Council meeting after city council members retired into closed session. Daniels read the agenda to audience members, telling them public comment was not listed.

and standing there during the meeting, and there was at least 20 people standing in the hallway and outside of city hall who were not permitted to observe the meeting.

Council members appeared to be aware that there were issues with accommodations, as evidenced when Adams asked the crowd to see if U.S. Army Corps of Engineers officials were standing outside with them and when council members walked through the crowd to retire to and return from executive session.

Adams even admitted the problem, answering questions about whether the public would be permitted to come into the meeting room on Jan. 31.

One man who was standing against the wall said, "I have a question. Is there an alternative facility that you could host this meeting in that's going to accommodate all of the people that's going to come? I think it would be common courtesy to do that."

Adams told him, "Again, I'll say is the notices have been sent out as to the location of the meeting, so you know that's already been done, so I think the meeting would have to be here."

The City of Martin has not yet issued a special meeting notice for the Jan. 31 meeting. Adams was referring to the letter sent to an undisclosed number of businesses and/or residents last week.

Although officials claim this is an ordinance announcing the city's "intent to annex," neither the letter nor the ordinance detail that. The letter described it as a "proposed" ordinance to annex more than 807 acres and it said the council would "decide whether or not to annex the property" on Jan. 31.

Nikki Queen Gilliam asked whether the council would allow people to come into the room on Jan. 31, saying at the end of the meeting, "If you're definitely set on having the meeting here, then can we all still come on in and fill this place up because there's a lot of important people out here that can't hear what's going on. You know, I mean, because I know that you've already set the meeting place."

Adams told her, "There's limited space, obviously, we can see that. So, we're going to do everything we can to get everyone signed up to speak, even if they're waiting outside." Gilliam said, "So, at least everybody will be informed on what's happening."

Adams responded, "We'll do everything we can. There's limited space."

Thornsberry and the Maytown Volunteer Fire Department provided copies of the letter and the proposed ordinance that Martin sent to business owners to the Floyd County Chronicle and Times, reporting that business owners received this letter last week.

The letter, signed by Mayor Sam Howell, states that the enclosed document, containing more than 30 pages, is an ordinance for the proposed annexation of 807.25 acres of property that extends through Ky. 1428 toward Allen, Ky. 80 toward the Knott County line, Ky. 680 toward Minnie and McDowell, Ky. 550, Ky. 2554, Ky. 777, "Old Ky. 80," Ky. 3188 and Ky. 122.

The ordinance says it is in "best interest" of Martin to annex the property, "which by reason of its usage and imminent future development is suitable for urban purposes."

It also notes that the legal description of the properties was prepared in October 2017 by Gary Ousley, a surveyor, and Alchemy Engineering Associates developed the drawing package for the ordinance.

After the meeting, Howell said the city wants to annex the roads and businesses only. No official publicly provided that information to people who attended the meeting.

Some of those who turned out Tuesday said they were there because they wanted to know what Martin is planning and how the proposed annexation would impact them.

"We're just as confused as everybody else is right now, as to what it means for us and what it means to everybody else," Maytown Volunteer Fire Department Captain Logan Wright said.

"Their meeting tonight did not help us out whatsoever. It was behind closed doors and then it wasn't on the agenda and they told us to file open records requests."

He said the department learned about the proposed annexation from the letter sent to a neighboring business. Wright and Maytown Fire Chief Chris Prater said officials at fire departments serving areas around Maytown, Garrett, Allen, McDowell, Minnie and Left Beaver are worried that they will lose their tax base if Martin annexes businesses in their fire protection districts. He said they are also concerned about how annexation would impact their service area in those districts.

State law specifies the procedure for annexation. According to the Kentucky League of Cities, after the first reading of the "Intent to Annex" is held, notice of the proposed annexation must be sent to each property owner within the area to be annexed.

The KLC reports that after the second reading and passage of the "Intent to Annex," the ordinance must be published along with a notice informing voters or property owners that they have the right to petition in opposition within 60 days. If 50 percent of the resident voters or property owners oppose the annexation, the question of annexation may be placed on the ballot.

If no petition is filed, the city may move forward with another ordinance to annex the property.

People in the area proposed to be annexed have placed petitions in businesses and fire departments in Maytown, Langley, Minnie, McDowell, Garrett and other areas. Prater said the Maytown Volunteer Fire Department and its taxing district is hosting a community meeting about the annexation at 4 p.m., Sunday, Jan. 27.

Fiscal Court changes meeting times

By MARY MEADOWS
STAFF WRITER

The Floyd County Fiscal Court changed its monthly meeting times last week.

During a Jan. 18 meeting, the fiscal court unanimously approved a resolution to change meetings from the third Friday of every month at 10 a.m. to the third Tuesday of every month at 6 p.m.

It marks the first time the fiscal court has met in the evening for decades.

Magistrate Ronnie Akers, who voted against the change, asked whether changing the meeting times would require some county departments — like the county clerk's office — to pay overtime wages to employees required to attend fiscal court meetings.

"Judge, if we're going to vote on that, since that's going to be a six o'clock meeting, will we be paying people overtime, like, from Chris' office, the sheriff's office, Keith Bartley's office?" Akers asked.

Williams told him officials would coordinate with those offices to see what needs to be done, saying some employees may want to work a shorter day to keep from getting overtime.

Akers asked County Clerk Chris Waugh whether he would be okay with paying overtime to employees who will be required to attend evening meetings.

"Well, that's the pleasure of the court," Waugh told him. "I do whatever you all say. It makes it easier for me, it's less money at 10 o'clock because we're already here."

County Treasurer David Layne said employees could come in late or leave early to reduce overtime caused by evening meetings. Williams agreed.

"We're just trying to accommodate the public," Williams said. "We want folks out, to get involved in the fiscal court meetings. We work for you."

In other news, the fiscal court also:

- Approved adopting Mitchell Drive, a 660-ft. road at Harold, into the county road system.

- Approved transferring $25,000 from the ABC "Sin Tax" to the sheriff department.

- Approved official holidays for 2019, giving employees state holidays off, including Martin Luther King Jr. Day this month, a half-day on Good Friday in April, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Veterans Day, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years day. In addition to those state holidays, county employees will also be off work on the day after Thanksgiving, the day after Christmas and on New Year's eve.

- Appointed all fiscal court members to the Floyd County Development Authority Board, with terms expiring for Mike Tackett in December, Mark Crider in 2021, Akers in 2022, George Ousley and Williams in 2023.

- Appointed Dela Craft to serve on the Wayland Fire Department Taxing District Board, replacing Denzel Martin, who resigned his position. Craft will serve through July 18, 2020.

- Rehired Mark York and Larry Stumbo, who were laid off at the last meeting, placing York in parks and Stumbo as a road department mechanic.

- Hired Wheelwright Mayor Don Hall as the county park supervisor, to be paid a salary of $1,250 bi-weekly.

- Approved spending $2,900 for security bonds for various county officials.

- Approved a $100,000 county revenue bond for the clerk's office.

- Re-appointed Tim Fields, Hattie Owens and Gary Garrett as the county's FEMA applicant agents.

the world, and all who live in it; – Psalm 24:1

"But who am I, and who are my people, that we should be able to give as generously as this? Everything comes from you, and we have given you only what comes from your hand." – 1 Chronicles 29:14

But remember the Lord your God, for it is he who gives you the ability to produce wealth, and so confirms his Thanks be to God for his indescribable gift!

– 2 Corinthians 9:15

His divine power has given us everything we need for a godly life through our knowledge of him who called us by his own glory and goodness. – 2 Peter 1:3

"Therefore I tell you, do not worry about your life, what you will eat or drink; or about your body, what you will wear. Is not life more than food, and the body more than clothes? 26 Look at the birds of the air; they do not sow or reap or store away in barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not much more valuable than they?" – Matthew 6:25-26

– John 21:6

And God is able to bless you abundantly, so that in all things at all times, having all that you need, you will abound in every good work. As it is written:

"They have freely scattered their gifts to the poor;
their righteousness endures forever."

Now he who supplies seed to the sower and bread for food will also supply and increase your store of seed and will enlarge the harvest of your righteousness. You will be enriched in every way so that you can be generous on every occasion, and through us your generosity will result in thanksgiving to God. – 2 Corinthians 9:8-11

Do not be overawed when others grow rich, when the splendor of their houses increases;
for they will take nothing with them when they die,
their splendor will not descend with them.

Those who trust in their riches will fall, but the righteous will thrive like a green leaf.

Enerblu needs our prayers

By JAMIE BECKETT
CHRONICLE & TIMES

Enerblu President and CEO Daniel Elliott announced the company needs $30 million to prepare the land at the Kentucky Enterprise Industrial Park in Pikeville, Kentucky before the building begins. This $30 million wasn't included in their original figures for constructing their 1.5 million square foot manufacturing facility.

My heart sunk when I read the words written by Chase Ellis in the weekend edition of the Appalachian News-Express. As coal production continues to decline, so does everything else. Thousands have lost jobs. People have relocated or taken lower-paying jobs. Some are still in search of work. Some people remain living in the area, but drive hours away to work in Huntington, Charleston or elsewhere. Quite simply put: We are struggling economically. People are losing their homes. It's truly a heart-breaking situation.

With the rapidly declining economy, I have considered Enerblu to be our area's best financial hope.

It's a beacon of light in the darkness. But as I read the words Elliott stated to the Southeast Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, fear crept into my heart. Now, I'm calling out to all prayer warriors to pray for our economy and to pray for Enerblu.

Enerblu needs investors to cover the $30 million needed. "One thing that would help is to get more local investment in our project. The big banks, like in New York, they go, 'Oh, the local investors, community is putting in,' then they feel better about it," Elliott said. This isn't something that I (nor most of you) are able to help out with. In order to invest, you need a minimum of $1 million. I don't have that kind of money. However, if I did, I would invest $1 million in them. We need our local investors – banks, company owners, individually wealthy people – to provide the capital. We need them to invest in our people and our future. Our area is in dire need. Those who have the ability to help need to step up and aid in this project. The fact is, even if Enerblu doesn't build here, they will build somewhere. Therefore, the investors will get their money back – and more.

Secondly, everyone needs to cooperate to get this project off the ground. Elliott said while in China, he saw "a lot of, what we would call, corruption," but that government entities, from "the local community, their city, their county, their province, the federal ... central government in Beijing ... were all in alignment." "Not everything here is in alignment. Even when the government is operating, there are all sorts of different factions and arguments and things that go on," he said. "I didn't even speak the language (in China) and was able to build a facility in three years, because they were all lined up. They were all in agreement and that is not what we find here." Here's the fact: Politicians are there to serve the people. The people need Enerblu. Stop griping about the unimportant. Stop putting one area/region over another. Stop impeding progress. Deliver on the promises you made. Our livelihood depends on this.

I'm calling on all prayer warriors to pray over these issues. I'm asking you to go to God Almighty, the creator of all things, and ask for His divine guidance. Ask that the company seeks God as they face these challenges head-on. Ask for God's help, so that Enerblu receives the necessary funds in order to build in Pikeville. Ask God that those person(s)/companies who have the ability to invest, to do so. Ask for God's mighty hand to guide this project and all government entities will align to make this project run smoothly and get off the ground. Ask God that Enerblu be able to open the doors of Enerblu in Pikeville before the delayed completion of 2021, allowing hundreds of people to gain employment.

Our area desperately needs Enerblu and God has the ability to deliver such an ambitious feat. The God that moves mountains, parted the Red Sea (Exodus 14:29), delivered Daniel from the lion's den (Daniel 6:22) and Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego from the fire (Daniel 3:26-27) can build Enerblu. As children of God, we are assured that He will listen to our prayers, He will hear us and He will answer. Let us have no doubt. Even if His answer isn't what we want, when we want it, He will provide us with exactly what we need. Let us go before the God of the universe and ask for His help.

Living the good life

The ancient philosophers agreed on the value of philosophy to the good life. While this may seem like self-praise, it is simply the recognition that life is problematic, and that happiness, virtue and the good life are not things that just happen. A life well-lived must be planned, and worked at, and reflected upon. Socrates considered that living well, in the sense of being a good person and living virtuously, was so important that he spent his entire adult life questioning people who claimed to know about virtue, famously saying that "the unexamined life is not worth living." Unfortunately for Socrates, the so-called experts didn't know as much as they thought, and Socrates' role as a social critic led to his downfall. Aristotle stressed the importance of philosophy to the good life because he thought that the part of the soul which understands should be the guiding element in life, saying "the human good proves to be activity of the soul in accord with virtue, and indeed with the best and most complete virtue, if there are more virtues than one." Ironically, the ancients seemed to understand that life is complicated and requires deep thought to figure it out, whereas in our more complicated modern times, we seem to drift through life without giving much thought to the most important questions, such as the meaning of life and how to live a good life. Look around at all the unhappy people who think that happiness is just a feeling or a psychological state and that if only they take the right pill, or amuse themselves with the right entertainment, they will be happy.

– Christopher Simon

"Let no one delay the study of philosophy while young nor weary of it when old. For no one is either too young or too old for the health of the soul."
– Epicurus (Letter to Menoecus)

SALYERSVILLE — Floyd Central remained in the loss column earlier in the week. Magoffin County rolled past visiting Floyd Central 63-31 in a boys' high school basketball game on Monday night.

With the loss, Floyd Central dropped to 2-18.

Magoffin County improve to 11-8 with the win.

Brady Whitaker poured in a game-high 29 points to lead

Magoffin County to the victory. Joining Whitaker in double figures for the Hornets, Randy Bailey added 10 points.

Narrowly missing double figures for Magoffin County in the victory, Chandler Lykins netted nine points.

Magoffin County took control of the matchup versus Floyd Central early and never faltered, eventually winning convincingly.

The Hornets set the tone during the game's initial eight minutes, outscoring Floyd Central 11-5 in the first quarter. Magoffin County outscored Floyd Central 15-12 in the second quarter to lead 26-19 at halftime.

Starting to distance itself from Floyd Central shortly after the intermission period, Magoffin County outscored the visiting team 19-10 in the third quarter.

Finishing strong, Magoffin County outscored Floyd Central 18-2 in the final frame.

Magoffin County shot 76.9 percent (20 of 26) from the free throw line. The Hornets were five of 14 from three-point range. Magoffin County shot 46.7 percent (14 of 30) from inside the arc.

Aden Barnett (seven points), Mason Lovely (four points), Ryan Henderson (two points) and Isaiah Salyer (two points) accounted for the rest of the Hornets' individual scoring.

Struggling offensively, Floyd Central shot 26.5 percent (13 of 49) from the field. The Jaguars were only one of 16 from three-point range.

Floyd Central shot just 33.3 percent (four of 12) from the free-throw line.

Brady Conn and Ethan Smith-Mills led Floyd Central with nine points apiece. Narrowly missing a double-double, Conn pulled down a game-high 15 rebounds.

Hayden Hall added six points, Dalton Boyd flipped in four points and Caleb Hager contributed two points for the Jaguars in the loss.

McMurray's Daytona ride set

Racin'
Steve Mickey

Retirement announcements in the Monster Energy NASCAR Cup Series like any other of the professional sports doesn't always translate into forever but for Jamie McMurray it appears that after the Daytona 500 that the former Chip Ganassi Racing driver will walk off into the sunset for the final time. Late in the 2018 MENCS season, Ganassi and McMurray announced that he would not be coming back to CGR as a full time driver in 2019 but the door was still open for him to land another ride for this season.

It had to be tough on McMurray to walk away from the organization that had been home to him for the bulk of his career. He actually started driving for CGR in 2002 when he filled in for the injured Sterling Marlin and surprised the entire series when he won in only his second start at the Cup level in Charlotte. The win set the record for the fewest number of starts before his first win. He eventually made six starts that season before becoming a full-time driver the following season.

While he never won a championship in his time at CGR, he did win some of the sport's biggest races. He was one of only three drives that have won the Daytona 500 and the Brickyard 400 in the same season, a feat that he shares with Dale Jarrett and Jimmie Johnson. He also paired his Daytona 500 win with a checkered flag in the Rolex 24 at Daytona which put him in an exclusive club with drivers such as Mario Andretti, Jeff Gordon and AJ Foyt.

McMurray would like to once again capture some of his old Daytona magic as it was just announced that he would drive in this season's Daytona 500 before he begins doing some TV work in the sport. He will be driving for Spire Motorsports who bought Furniture Rowe Racing's charter for the season which guarantees him a starting spot for the season opener. Spire's Daytona effort should be made a little easier as it has formed a partnership with CGR which will help in their prep work in the days leading up to the race.

The partnership should put McMurray into a car that he feels very comfortable in but when he crawls in behind the wheel it will not have his familiar No. 1 on the side. His Chevrolet Camaro ZL1 will campaign the No. 40 but he will recognize the names adoring the car's paint job. His long-time sponsors McDonald's, Bass Pro Shops and Cessna will be will be on board when he takes the green flag to start the race.

There would be no better way for McMurray to step away from the sport than to add another Harley J Earl trophy to go along with the one he captured in 2010 as the Daytona 500 winner. That may be tough as it is for anyone but Austin Dillon showed everyone last year that all you have to do is be around at the finish to have a chance to make a trip to victory lane and with his Daytona experience, it may not be as long of a shot as what it appears

SAD NEWS: NASCAR lost one of its pioneers and most successful figures on Friday when Glen Wood passed away at the age of 93. He formed Wood Brother Racing in 1950 and that organization is still competing in the Monster Energy NASCAR Cup Series in its famous No. 21 Ford. He was the team's first driver and won 4 races in NASCAR's top series but it was his contributions as an owner that set him apart. He is credited with creating the modern day pit stop that we see today. Wood's list of drivers that he put behind the wheel of his famous Ford includes 18 different winning drivers with 10 of them being NASCAR Hall of Fame members.

The organization has accumulated 99 wins with at least one win in each of the last six decades including 5 Daytona 500 wins. The team will continue competing as it has in recent years being led by his sons Eddie, Len and daughter Kim.
