COURT'S DOCKET IS LIGHTENED AS CHARGES NULLED

Approximately 100 Cases Dismissed During Recent Weeks, Records Show

OLD 'CONTINUANCES' LISTED AS SHELVED

Judge Caudill Restores Full Rights To 34 Given Clemency

When the Floyd circuit court began work Monday under a new administration, there were approximately 100 fewer cases on its docket than there were two months ago, as a result of case dismissals made over a period extending from November 11 to December 16.

Many of the indictments dismissed had long been pending on the docket, and preceding orders of the court showed that in many instances no process had been issued in the cases. Any or all of the indictments may be re-instated if such action is considered necessary.

Names of defendants and charges dismissed are:

Pete H.monds and Irene Hall, fornication and adultery; Ballard Howell, reckless driving; Joe Hall, keeping disorderly house; Cash Faulkner, child desertion; Willard Hall, uttering a cold check; George Sizemore, false pretenses; Heber Amburgy and Junior Hall, grand larceny; Andy Goble, breaking and entering; Jay Branham, child desertion; Jake Salisbury, arresting another without authority of law (three charges); Mrs. Willie Shepherd, Willie Marcllet and Mrs. Willie Marcllet, arson.

John Turner, jail escape; Everett Howard, child desertion; Lucien Stone, deserting pregnant wife; George Burchett, child desertion; John W. Mullins, child desertion; John Gearheart, false pretenses; Jimmie Hunnicut, cutting and wounding; Ernest Ousley and Junior Frasure, cutting and wounding; James E. Lindsay, child desertion; Check Wiley and Homer Smith, breaking and entering; Check Wiley and Homer Smith, storehousebreaking; Carl Hunter, breaking

This Town-- That World

WHO IS PRACTICAL?

Maybe were not practical about it. Myob, as has been suggested, we would spend $2,500 for an "iron lung" and then not use it more than two or three times a year. And maybe, too, they might change models on us and leave us with a 1940 "lung" on our hands while other cities, backward, too, in the matter of saving human lives, were shopping around for new, streamlined "jobs."

Yes, we haven't been very practical about this "iron lung" business; we frankly admit we haven't. Fact is, we never are very practical in the face of death, particularly when helpless children are threatened.

And we hope we never are. Yet we wonder how practical is any argument against Floyd county buying an "iron lung."

Say we do pay $2,500 for it, more than we might have to pay two or three years from now. Well, you're valuing human life mighty cheap if you think we still haven't made a good bargain by buying at the higher price, having the use of the lung for those two or three years and, perhaps, saving two, three or a dozen lives in the meantime.

Say it may be out-moded, that lighter and smaller models may be placed on the market later. If the old model does the job, replacing exhausted abdominal

AT ROPE'S END

PRISONER ATTEMPTING JAIL BREAK FINDS SELF AS JAILER AWAITS BELOW

"Didn't make it," grunted Richard Elam, of Lackey, last Thursday as he came to the end of his "rope," and into the waiting arms of Jailer Will Halbert.

One end of the blanket-rope was tied to a window bar in the second story of the jail here, the other dangled a few feet from the ground. Doug Smith, Prestonsburg, in jail on a charge of breaking into a salesman's automobile, a few moments earlier had come down the line to make a clean getaway. While Elam, also booked for breaking and entering, was preparing for his break, the jail cook noticed the blanket dangling outside the kitchen window and called Jailer Halbert.

This is the first successful break made from the county jail since Mr. Halbert took office on January 1, 1938.

MAY IS SELECTED MASTER OF LODGE

New Officers To Be Installed After Annual Banquet Saturday

T. J. May was elected worshipful master of Zebulon Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, at the annual election of officers held by the lodge Wednesday evening, last week. He succeeds J. W. Hall, Martin, as master.

Other officers elected are: Clayborne Stephens, senior warden; C. P. Hudson, junior warden; W. J. May, treasurer; H. R. Burke, secretary, and Chas. Oppenheimer, tiler. Installation of the new officers will be made at Masonic hall Saturday evening following the banquet at the Auxier hotel honoring past masters of the lodge.

The banquet to be given Saturday evening is the 12th of its kind to be sponsored by the lodge.

WEEKSBURY MINER PASSES THURSDAY, PNEUMONIA VICTIM

After developing double pneumonia three days before, George Hitchcock, 48 years old, succumbed at his home at Wales, Pike county, last Thursday.

A native of Johnson county, he had been employed by the Koppers Coal Company at Weeksbury for the past several years.

HUEYSVILLE WOMAN SUCCUMBS THURSDAY TO PARALYTIC STROKE

Mrs. Ellen Baldrige, widow of J. W. Baldrige, died at her home near Hueysville early Thursday morning, victim of a paralytic stroke suffered during the night preceding New Year's Day. She was 70 years old.

A daughter of the late John and Martha Baldrige, she was born and reared where Van Lear now stands. She had been a devout member of the Baptist Church for years, and was revered by all who knew her.

Surviving her are 10 sons and daughters: Rev. Pearl B. Baldrige, Maryville, Tenn.; Charles Baldrige, Leburn, Ky.; George Baldrige, Langley; Fair Baldrige, Estill; Mrs. Hattie Jones, Birmingham, Ala.; Lonnie Sexton, Emmitt, Dave, Minta and Edgill Baldrige, all of Hueysville. She also leaves one half-brother, Willie Sherman, Ashland, and several half-sisters.

Funeral rites will be conducted at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, the Revs. E. H. Howard and Marlon Chafins, of the Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be made in the Huff cemetery under the direction of the Ryan Funeral Home.

EX-SQUIRE RECEIVES SERIOUS CUTS WHEN HE FALLS ON GLASS

Ex-Magistrate W. J. Vaughan was seriously injured Monday afternoon when he slipped on an ice-covered sidewalk on Friend street and fell on milk bottles which he was carrying. His right arm was badly cut, above the wrist. Tendons were severed, and it is feared that the use of his hand may be lost.

Suffering from severe loss of blood, he was taken to the Paintsville hospital where, it was said Wednesday, he is expected to recover, barring complications. Mr. Vaughan is 74 years old.

FUNERAL SERVICES CONDUCTED FRIDAY FOR SUICIDE VICTIM

Funeral rites for Jim Hunt, 40 years old, former Honaker man, who committed suicide last week at his home in Omar, W. Va., were conducted Friday on Mud Creek.

Mr. Hunt, a miner, is said to have ended his life by firing a revolver bullet through his brain.

A son of the late Thomas Hunt, he had resided in West Virginia for the last several years.

Surviving are his widow, his mother, Mrs. Anns Hunt, three brothers and two sisters.

MISS CONAWAY RETURNS FROM OHIO

Miss Helen Conaway, of the Edith James Music Center, has returned from Martin's Ferry, O., where she spent Christmas with relatives.

RESTRAINING ORDER SOUGHT BY LAYNE

'Rustique' Owner Asks Temporary Waiving of Closing Hours

Contending that the recent order of County Judge E. P. Hill fixing the closing time of roadhouses is not effective in his case and that it imposes a handicap which would force him to abandon the Club Rustique here, of which he is owner, Frank H. Layne this week filed a suit asking that Judge Hill and Sheriff Dial Salisbury be temporarily restrained from enforcing the closing time ruling.

His petition in equity was filed after Judge Hill had fined him $25 for permitting his place of business to remain open after the specified closing hours—9 o'clock in all week-days except Saturdays, when roadhouses are required to close not later than 10 p. m.

Mr. Layne was fined after it had been held that action of the Prestonsburg City Council in attempting

'No Seat-Warming Jurors', Judge Tells Commissioners

"This seat-warming business is over for Floyd county jurors, and the courthouse no longer is going to be run as a charitable institution," Circuit Judge Henry Stephens, Jr., declared Monday afternoon in his instructions to the jury commissioners whose selections will fill the jury wheel with names for grand and petit jury service in the Floyd circuit court during 1940.

The three commissioners—W. J. Turner, of Drift, Malcolm Hubbard, of Dock, and Alex Hackworth, of Bonanza, were admonished to take their time, carefully study the qualifications of prospective jurors and then select only those jurors who measure up to the standard required of a good juror.

"If somebody comes to you and electioneers with you for a place on the jury, don't put that person's name in the wheel. We don't need that kind. This courthouse is not a

EDGAR JACKSON, 32, GARRETT, SUCCUMBS IN LACKEY HOSPITAL

Developing pneumonia after suffering from acute alcoholism as the result of drinking wood alcohol Christmas day, Edgar Jackson, 32 years old, of Garrett, succumbed Sunday at the Stumbo Memorial hospital, Lackey.

The victim was a native of Johnson county, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hence Jackson, of Riceville, who survive. For the past several years he had been employed by the Elkhorn Coal Corporation at Garrett.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Williams, of Portsmouth, O., and Mrs. Mabel Jackson, of Ottawa, Ohio; two brothers, Theodore Jackson and Raleigh Jackson, both of Ottawa.

Funeral services were conducted at Riceville Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. Hargie Conley officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery there, with the Ryan Funeral Home in charge.

OLD INJURY IS FATAL TO WEEKSBURY MINER IN PIKE COUNTY HOME

A broken back suffered when he was crushed beneath a fall of slate while working in the Weeksbury mine of the Koppers Coal Company October 10 claimed the life of Willie M. Spears, 49, who died at his home at Dunleary, Pike county, Wednesday of last week.

The victim was taken to a Hunting-

LOST INDICTMENTS WILL BE RESTORED

Action Taken to Complete, Supply Five Charges Against Hill

Action was taken Wednesday morning in the Floyd circuit court to restore five missing indictments against C. V. (Pleas) Hill for operating slot machines.

On motion of Commonwealth's Attorney John Allen, J. D. Bond, former Master Commissioner, was named special commissioner to complete the record in each case and supply each of the missing indictments. Mr. Bond was appointed because he had received similar instructions from Circuit Judge John W. Caudill, October 26, when Hill's case was called for trial and it was found that the indictments had disappeared.

Hill was released October 26 under $1,000 bond in each case with J. W. Stapleton and Guy Lyons, both of Johnson county, as his bondsmen. Upon restoration of the indictments, his bond will be declared forfeited.

SNOWBOUND SNAKE

KILLED ON MUD CREEK DEC. 26; COPPERHEAD MEASURES 2½ FEET

Add Christmas toll:

While wriggling his way through the snow, homeward bound, a 2½-foot copperhead was killed December 26 near the home of Magistrate Daniel Akers, of Amba. The official's 13-year-old son, Eddie, and Evan Frasure rendered the coup de grace.

Two years ago, and within 50 yards of where this snake was killed, 18 copperheads were routed from beneath one rock and killed, Magistrate Akers said.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Aubert, of Gate City, Va., visited Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hurt here this week.

RICHMOND STORE INVOLVED IN DEAL

Mr. and Mrs. Hereford Buy Controlling Interest In Local Firm

Purchase of controlling interest in the I. Richmond Company, Prestonsburg's oldest mercantile firm, by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Hereford was announced following a meeting of the corporation's stockholders Wednesday.

Interest of Mrs. Fred H. Cottrell and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hobson were purchased in their entirety, it was said. The greater number of shares held by Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Webb also were bought.

"We bought at a reasonable price," Mr. Hereford said, "and this will enable us to give our customers unusually low price on items included in our inventory of this week. In the future, we plan to continue selling the best merchandise at a small margin of profit for cash." Mr. Hereford added.

The store, founded by I. Richmond, one of the county's pioneer merchants, was under management of F. H. Cottrell until his death last year. The original of the I. Richmond Company was founded 70 years ago, it was said here this week.

Wednesday's transaction includes only purchase of the stock and business of the company. The store building remains in the possession of the Richmond estate.

PIKE COUNTY YOUTH SUCCUMBS TO BURNS AT MARTIN HOSPITAL

Suffering serious burns at his home December 22 and later developing pneumonia, Allen Yonts, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollie Yonts, of Yeager, Pike county, succumbed Monday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin.

The victim's burns were confined mostly to his back, arms and hips, after his clothing caught fire as he was standing before the fireplace. He was rushed to the hospital soon after the tragedy.

Surviving are his parents, five sisters, Betty, Bessie, Glenna, Patty and Peggy Yonts, all at home; five brothers, Goble, Hollie, Jr., Herbert, Bobby and Bill Yonts, also at home.

Funeral services were conducted from the home Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. Will Hopkins officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery, under the direction of the Ryan Funeral Home.

3 NEW OFFICIALS OF CIRCUIT COURT ENTER ON DUTIES

Stephens, Allen, Cooley At Work As January Court Term Begins

ALL OFFENSES HIT IN CHARGE TO JURY

Grand Jury Names Eight On Pistol-Totin' Charges; True Bills Listed

The Floyd Circuit Court started off its January term on New Year's Day with a new Judge, a new Commonwealth's Attorney and a new Clerk—Circuit Judge Henry Stephens, Jr., Commonwealth's Attorney John Allen and Circuit Clerk W. W. Cooley—to attempt a "New Deal" in the judicial affairs of the county.

Sworn in as Circuit Judge last week by G. C. Spradlin, notary public, Judge Stephens administered the oath of office to Commonwealth's Attorney Allen and Circuit Clerk Cooley Monday morning.

Then, at 9:30 a. m., Judge Stephens began his instructions to the grand jury and his statement of policy.

"First of all," said Judge Stephens, "I have an idea that we should start out honest and end honest. If any of you jurors cannot subscribe to that doctrine, now is a good time for you to be excused."

Full text of Judge Stephens' statement and instructions on page five.

In addition to instructions contained in his written statement, Judge Stephens called for strict enforcement of the election laws and of legislation regulating roadhouses and the liquor traffic.

"I haven't examined Floyd county's fiscal status within the last two and a half years, but then I found it in bad shape," he said. "At that time, I found commodities being distributed in this county by relatives of the Magistrates. This practise may still be followed. It may be all right, but it doesn't look good."

Hearing Judge Stephens was a packed courtroom. Residents of all sec-

TRAVEL BULLETIN TODAY'S ROADS

Prepared By Eastern Kentucky Automobile Club

TO SMOOTH YOUR TRAVEL WAY

Now that southern travel is definitely on its way and particularly for the holiday season, a little thought and planning for your stop-overs will pay big dividends in the accommodation and the comforts you will be able to secure.

A hotel has a certain number of rooms of varying kinds. The number cannot be increased during a busy season nor reduced in dull times. Once a hotel is built the number and kind of rooms it has to offer is fixed, but the demand for the hotel's rooms is not fixed. One week is normal, average business; next week there is an influx of travelers demanding high-class accommodations, perhaps a convention, and the next week the reverse may be true. Usually, however, the hotel can provide the type of accommodations desired if you do your part by making reservations early.

At the height of the travel season do not expect to arrive unannounced late in the day and get your choice of rooms and bath. Wise travelers make reservations ahead of their arrival. An observance of the following suggestions will be helpful:

1. In the morning wire or telephone ahead to your next stopping place for reservations and give approximate time of arrival.

2. Reservations not claimed by 7 p. m. are usually released to other guests unless a definite time of arrival is specified. If it will be possible for you to use your reservation, be fair and notify the hotel. It has held its merchandise at your disposal. If you do not want it, give the hotel a chance to sell it to a fellow traveler.

Never, under any circumstances, leave valuables in your car unless they are in the trunk of the car and the trunk is locked. Garages are not legally responsible and you will usually find notice to that effect on the back of your garage check. Neither can the hotel be held responsible. If the bell boy, the doorman, the clerk or anyone else tells you it will be all right to leave bag, coat, camera or other property in the car, DON'T BELIEVE HIM.

"DOWN MEXICO WAY"

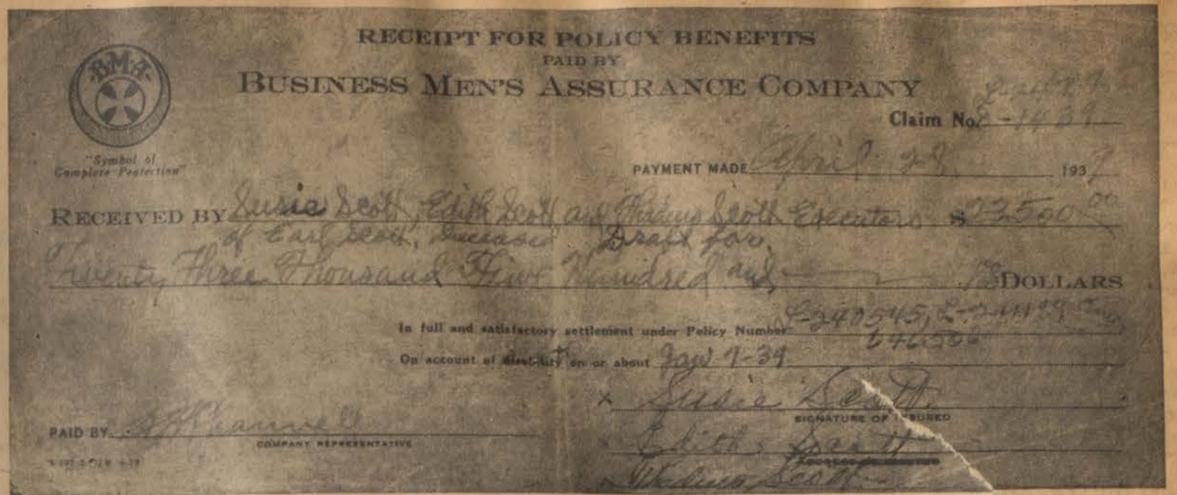

Not long ago a trip to Mexico seemed a big undertaking, but now with the completion of the Pan-American Highway as far as Telamcan, 161 miles southeast of Mexico City, and with paved roads leading east to Vera Cruz and west to Guadalajara, our sister republic has thrown open its doors to the stream of everyday American vacationists. From Laredo, Texas, to Mexico City, the highway is entirely paved. It leads through all climates and all zones of vegetation, crossing green plains and awe-inspiring mountain ranges until it reaches the high plateau. Here lies Mexico City, at the foot of two giant volcanoes, Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl and is surrounded by a girdle of majestic mountains, covered with dense forests and dotted with native villages.

From Mexico City a network of roads leads to the amazing ruins of pyramids and temples which testify to the high culture of the aboriginal races that dwelt on this part of the continent. Scenic roads that wind through the mountains connect the nation's capital with many of the architectural gems which three centuries of Spanish domination left in this country. After having been dazzled by all the marvels of antiquity, you will be led to admire the luxuriant forests, the quaint villages and the modern cities.

There is no better time to visit Mexico than from December to May. In Mexico City the days will be found comfortably warm and the nights fairly cool. Living costs are comparatively low and there is much to see and do. After leaving Laredo and crossing the International bridge over the Rio Grande, you find yourself in the town of Nuevo Laredo, where immigration, customs and sanitary authorities submit the visitor to some simple formalities. Sabinas Hidalgo, a former mining town, is a good place to stop for your first taste of Mexican food.

Many motorists plan on making Monterey, 146 miles south of the border, their first overnight stop. Founded in 1506, this most important of all manufacturing centers in Mexico still retains much of its old Spanish colonial appearance. The city is located in a great valley entirely surrounded by its majestic mountains and has an average winter temperature of 61 degrees. There are a number of points of interest, including the fine Federal Palace, the Cathedral, begun in 1790, and the ancient Bishop's Palace on Obispo Hill. Several interesting side trips may be taken from Monterey. Hiasteca Canyon, Topo Chico, a thermal resort, and Garcia Caves, on the road to Saltillo are popular objectives. Saltillo, 54 miles to the west and reached mostly through a high semi-arid desert resembling parts of Arizona and California, is the capital of the state of Coahuila and is popular as a health resort.

The capital of Mexico is probably the oldest city in America and is without doubt one of the most interesting cities in the world. You can go sight-seeing to your heart's delight if old buildings are your special passion. The displays of native work and art are fascinating and there are modern buildings to compare with the best in the world. The night clubs and restaurants provide food, drinks and entertainment to please the most fastidious. Those interested in the national sport may want to see a bull fight. The big season is from late October until March. Charming as Mexico City is you should not leave the country without visiting some of the other interesting towns and cities.

(By NOBLE HOBBS)

Things I have enjoyed about Christmas:

Five little boys in Stamper Branch, with their heads thrown 'way back, lost to this every-day world, singing a little ditty about Santa Claus. It didn't matter that they were not in a mile of a tune—the spirit was there.

The many cards and presents received by the family showing that the old gentleman they call Santa still lives in the hearts of a lot of good people that I am proud to call my friends.

A gentleman who is pretty well educated but doesn't use it to any advantage philosophizing on strong drink, to-wit: "It's bad medicine, it will ruin you physically, mentally and morally or any way you take it." Ain't it the truth?

Some little boys and girls trying their best not to be afraid of old Santa Claus at the amateur show Saturday night and some of them telling him to look on the table for something to eat when he came to their house.

Wondering why it is that a fellow never grows up to his Mother and Dad. All of the children are long since grown, but we all try to get home for Christmas. We hang up our stockings and they receive the same loving attention they did when we were five or six.

The many fine carols heard over the radio, as well as the old-time barn dance Christmas party that takes me back to the old-time square dances we used to have after the Christmas tree held at the little, red schoolhouse. We can see the boys as they get out the old five-string banjo and the fiddle—and how they did rosin that bowl!

Old Dude Savage, one of God's noblemen, as he yelled, "Partner" to their places like horses to their traces, straighten up your ugly faces and let's cut the figure eight." Always we have heard those were evil dances, but I wonder what the old folks who criticized us then would think if they could stop in at some of our modern roadhouses and see some of the stuff they call dancing these days!

The many fine Christmas trees in the different homes of Wayland and the kindly Christmas spirit that made it possible for every family that was down and out to have a nice Christmas.

PURPLE FLASH DOWNS WHEATCROFT QUINTET, 27-22, SATURDAY NITE

The Wheatcroft high school basketball team, coached by Eck Branham, completed its holiday invasion of Floyd county teams Saturday night, when they fell before the Martin Purple Flash, 27-22.

Thursday night the Western Kentuckians took the measure of the Prestonsburg Blackcats, 32-30, and Friday night they defeated the Betsy Layne hoopers, 37-32.

In the Martin game Wilson, Martin center, was high scorer, with ten points. Halbert, Martin forward, was close behind with nine. Johnson and Brown each made six for the visitors.

The line-ups:

Martin (27) Pos. Wheatcroft (22) Halbert (9) ... F. ... Owens (4) Stamper (4) ... F. ... Johnson (6) Wilson (10) ... C. ... Brown (6) Goodin ... G. ... Chancellor Spurlock (2) ... G. ... Holland (4) Substitutions: Martin—Rice (2), J. Wilson; Wheatcroft—Rayburn, Crowell.

Among the high school games scheduled for the coming week are Friday night, Martin at Betsy Layne and McDowell at Oil Springs. Saturday night: Hindman at Auxier, Betsy Layne at Prestonsburg, Maytown at Martin, Van Lear at McDowell. Wednesday, January 10, Wheelwright at Dorton.

THE TIMES ENDORSES

1. Floyd county for Floyd countians. . . . .
2. Immediate completion of the Left Beaver and Johns Creek road.
3. Completion of all Farm-to-Market roads, by W. P. A. labor if possible, maintenance of these routes by the state rural road fund.
4. A trade-at-home policy followed by merchants and customers alike.
5. Full co-operation with all county and city officials, insisting that lawmakers and enforcement officers themselves obey the law to the letter.
6. Continuance of the Floyd county health department and county agricultural agent work.

HIGH IDEALS, GOOD "HOSS-SENSE"

If the Floyd circuit court hews to the line drawn by Judge Stephens in his excellent instructions to the grand jury and his statement to the public, Floyd county will set the pace in law enforcement for all Kentucky.

Let us assume that this court does work along the line Henry Stephens has drawn and continues to demand of public officials and law enforcement officers the service to the people that is demanded of them in his statement—then let us look ahead to what may confidently be expected:

1. Absolute honesty in the courthouse, obedience to the law from officers and officials, first of all; the practicing of a doctrine long preached and too seldom followed by those who preach it.
2. An end to courthouse "politics" which has, on occasion, made a mockery of the purpose to which the courthouse and the courts were originally dedicated; an end to the system which breeds in every county of this Commonwealth what the ordinary citizen calls "the courthouse ring."
3. Strict enforcement of the law against the carrying of concealed deadly weapons, without which the murder rate in this county would be infinitesimal; enforcement which would require officers to do their part in finding the pistol-toter and seeing that he pays the penalty he deserves.
4. Honesty and intelligence working hand in hand, on the juries of the court; to have done with favoritism, favor-pandering, obsequence before powerful and often sinister influences; to do the work at hand fearlessly, with the full knowledge that the power of the court will protect jurors rendering service as good men and women, honest and true.
5. A business-like administration, serving to the end that the greatest good may be done at the smallest cost to the taxpayer.

Judge Stephens' instructions and statement ask that all laws be enforced. He does not itemize each possible offense to be studied—it is to be presumed that intelligent jurors and their legal counsel know what these are. Emphasis is placed only on those violations about which little or nothing heretofore has been done. These violations and those others which have come within the purview of preceding courts, he points out in clear language, are to be considered. "It is your duty to inquire into, uncover and accuse," his instructions charge the grand jury, "all evil forces and wrong-doing that may be at work against our system of society and government."

This is a beginning made on the foundation of high ideals mingled with good, common "hoss-sense." This newspaper joins every good citizen in the sincere wish that every aim thus stated may be fully realized.

YOUR NEWSPAPER

Printing a newspaper costs money. Every column inch in a newspaper is expensive. Paper, ink, setting of the type, the labor involved, the most of machinery and power, taxes, depreciation, pictures, news service, postage and delivery costs are among the items of expense that go into the making of a newspaper.

There are a great many people who do not realize that it costs money, and lots of it, to publish a newspaper. However, the chairman of the publicity committee of the recent convention of Kiwanis International, held in Boston, is better informed and he expressed that knowledge when he delivered an address before that convention.

"The most unsuccessful newspaper in the United States," said he, "does more for the support of its community than the finest community ever does for the support of its newspaper. The newspaper reflects all community life, religious, educational and civic. Therefore, the average citizen is indebted to his newspaper which constantly brings him the news of local, state, national, and international affairs. Every civic, religious and educational group in a city is in the habit of coming to the newspaper publisher, asking him to give away free the one commodity he has for sale. This is space! We would ask no other form of business in our community to give away free that which gives a livelihood. We would not go into a bakery and ask the baker to give us a loaf of bread. Yet the newspaper owner is asked to give away the space he has to sell perhaps not recalling that this commodity costs money to produce."

Still, every newspaper expects to give away space, and plenty of it. A newspaper would not be worthy of a place in a community if it did not give space freely to every worthy undertaking.

This newspaper, like others, is ready and willing to do its full part for every community activity. This service is given as a matter of course. Some people appreciate what is given, others do not. However, a good newspaper does not give its service to its community simply to be thanked. It is part of a newspaper's job.—Exchange.

GERMAN NAVAL STRATEGY

It was a familiar fact long before the war broke out that Germany, unable to challenge the British battle fleet, had built a navy of highly specialized missions. The Reich first developed a considerable submarine fleet, which was to raid merchant shipping supplying Britain with food and war materials. This is in fact a counter-blockade, identical in purpose but different in method from the British blockade of Germany.

In addition, Germany built three so-called pocket battleships and a number of heavy cruisers, all designed for the dual role of policing the Baltic and raiding enemy commerce on the open seas. At a later stage Germany began building large battleships, two of which are completed.

After two and a half months the war is exclusively a naval war, and the initiative is Germany's. Once the British navy cleared the seas of German shipping and established its tight blockade of the German coast—a matter of a week or so—it assumed a wholly defensive role. Except to search out and destroy enemy U-boats and raiders, the British navy has no offensive mission thus far.

The Germans, on the other hand, have carried the war to the British coasts and to the enemy naval squadrons. In the main they have focused their efforts on the blockade of England, by sinking merchantmen engaged in trade with England. But U-boats and bombing planes have destroyed at least eight British naval vessels, with a heavy toll of life.

This represents only a tiny fraction of British sea power and accomplishes nothing in itself. But it may be significant as an indication that Germany's highly specialized weapons can exact a heavy toll in the course of time, without risking ships of corresponding value.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

the British cruisers an assist. Who gets the put-out?

If the Finns can only get the manpower to man all that Red machinery they're capturing, they'll have a mechanized army of their own.

If we have to take sides in the European war, we'll take this side of the Atlantic.

God still continues to help those who help themselves—and the highway department looks after the others—just before election, anyway.

I believe that bridge-building outfit at Drift is Communist. They're building like they have a five-year plan.

I heard an A.F. of L. official denouncing the U.M.W.A. for lending the Democratic National Committee $600,000. That man is not a labor leader—he's a mouthpiece for the Liberty League. Through our organization, we were able to offset the million dollars that the American Liberty League and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce donated to Landon—not counting what the Du Ponts and others put up. I'll wager that guy is on more payrolls than the A. F. of L. Just to make a long story short—"we must admit that fools get along fairly well, considering the amount of competition they have."

Another difference that the war makes—in the U. S. A. it's "BEST

SELLERS;" in Europe it's "BEST CELLARS."

For the enlightenment of Briar Buck—I am a Roosevelt New Deal Democrat, not a Chandler Democrat—for I think I can express the feelings of every miner in this county that "You can't mine coal with bayonets." Just two men ever advocated it since you and I were old enough to work—"Happy" Chandler and "Rush" Holt. I'll take "Happy days are here again" with the Red, White and Blue marked trucks and the C.C.C. You can have—if you want—"There's a Gold Mine in the Sky," the yellow trucks and the national guard.

The forest fires have destroyed most of the smaller Christmas trees in this neighborhood.

The third time's a charm, and it finally worked for the Wheelwright Independents. They finally defeated the Turner-Elkhorn quintette on the third try.

What's this about THEM refusing to let Martin high have a girls' basketball team? No party is complete without a "weaker sex." After all, our high schools are primarily for the building of character and citizenship and we all know that athletic competition is a material aid. Why deprive anyone? It seems to me that the parents sending daughters to school pay as much tax as those sending boys. Discrimination breeds distrust. Is discrimination to be allowed in Floyd county?

COMMERCIAL SCHOOL STUDENTS CELEBRATE

The Yuletide season was joyfully celebrated at the WPA Commercial School, December 21. Mrs. Catherine Shropshire, a member of the faculty, gave a dinner in behalf of her classes. The room was beautifully decorated in holiday season colors, with a large Christmas tree taking the center attraction. Lovely and useful gifts were exchanged by the students and faculty.

Mrs. Shropshire had as her guests, Messrs. Loie Goble, a member of the I.O.O.F., and T. J. Fitzpatrick, a member of the faculty. The dinner was gracefully served by the students. Each plate was beautifully decorated and placed at a place card.

The students extend their thanks to Mrs. Shropshire for a joyful and delightful evening.

ENTERTAINS DEBATERS

Mrs. Stanley Combs gave a bridge party Saturday afternoon in honor of the Prestonsburg members of the National Forensic League—the varsity debate squad of 1938-39, whose record placed Prestonsburg on the honor roll and in the upper ten per cent of the high schools in the United States. Debaters present were Anne Allen, Betty Jean May, Patty Rimmer, Alice Grey Burke, Bill Dudley McHone, and Robert Runnels. They had as their guests Raymond Stephens, Sarah Clay Stephens, William Francis Clarke, Jane Hamilton Clarke, Jackie Davidson, and Jack Jones.

CENSUS ENUMERATION DISTRICT SUPERVISOR OPENS HEADQUARTERS

Kash Holbrook, district supervisor for the counties of Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin, Letcher, Perry and Pike, opened headquarters in the post-office building here Tuesday for the census enumeration of all business and manufacturing establishments.

It is estimated that it will require about two months to complete the work.

The statistics gathered by the enumerators, will be strictly confidential, and will be used only by the bureau of the census in compiling data and statistics which will be beneficial for future use by business concerns.

All enumerators have been selected and trained for this work; they are qualified, substantial business men of your community, and any information given them will be kept strictly confidential.

All business concerns, civic clubs and business men's organizations are urged to co-operate with these enumerators in their locality to the end that a complete census of business and manufacturing may be obtained.

The census of agriculture and population will begin April 1, and all applicants for these positions must have at least a high school education.

INDIANS SCALP 'CATS, 48-25, TUESDAY NIGHT IN LOCAL GYMNASIUM

After leading, 11-9, at the end of the first quarter, the Prestonsburg high school basketball team was unable to continue the pace and bowed to the powerful Inez Indians, 48-25, Tuesday night in the local gym.

Soon after the beginning of the second period the visitors overcame the Blackcat lead, then continued to add to it. At the half the score stood at 25-15, with the Indians out in front.

In the third period Inez, a power in state basketball circles for several years, piled up a 15-point lead, with Harmon doing most of the shooting. The Indians' lead was 36-21 at the end of the third quarter.

Harmon, at a forward post for 7½ years, led in the scoring, with 18 points to his credit. Damron, Prestonsburg forward, led his mates in this department, making 11 points.

The line-ups:

Inez (48)	Pos.	P'burg (25)
Harmon	F	Salisbury
Kirk (c)	F	Damron
Cooper	C	Tackett
West	G	F. Heinze (c)
Goble	G	Hunter

Substitutions: Inez—Ward, Hardin, Taylor. Prestonsburg—Clark, Butler, Stanley, J. Heinze, Layhe, Mellon. Referee—Walker (Western).

EIGHTH GRADE EXAMS FOR RURAL STUDENTS PLANNED FOR JAN. 12

Examinations for promotion to high school for the rural school children of Floyd county schools will be given Friday, January 12. The tests will be administered by persons from the Superintendent's office at the Prestonsburg, Betsy Layne, Martin and McDowell high schools. Applicants will go to the place most convenient for them.

The tests will be of the standard, comprehensive type, covering all the fundamental subjects of the grades. The exams will begin promptly at 10 a. m., and will be over by 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Applicants for the exam will be permitted the use of the school buses on their regular scheduled runs, where possible.

Only regular eighth grade pupils will be allowed to take this exam, and no pupil whose application has not been regularly submitted by his teacher and accepted by the school supervisors, in advance, will be admitted. Pupils who have not had their application submitted and accepted, thusly, are asked not to attend the examination.

This system of giving the same standardized test to all the eighth grade children of the county instead of permitting each teacher set his own basis or standard for promoting grade children to high school was adopted in order to insure more uniform and better prepared high school freshmen. In the past two years an approximate of one pupil for each of the 115 rural schools has been promoted to high school. This year approximately 200 pupils will take the exam.

SUFFERS LARYNGITIS ATTACK

Mrs. Earl A. Stumbo has been confined to her home this week, suffering from a serious attack of laryngitis.

Educational Program Is Active At Hueysville

The WPA adult education program at Hueysville, sponsored by the Floyd county fiscal court, the Floyd county board of education and others, with Eli F. Epling as teacher since August, has been active in the teaching of writing, arithmetic and reading. A "Reading Club," with 25 members, has been organized. Magazines and books are alternated from house-to-house every 10 days.

A Boy Scout Troop is needed and the WPA teacher has been trying to get this started.

A Sewing and Quilting Circle will contribute quilts and clothing to underprivileged families of this community.

Materials necessary for the continuation of the program are being sought by Mr. Epling.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Hubert Lee Stallins, a Caldwell county 4-H club member, sold 24 quail to the Jones-Keeney Game Refuge at Dawson Springs, Ky.

Terry Jones, Johnson county, has installed a deep well water pump and complete water system in his house.

In Bell county, during 1939, 100 farmers spread 1,745 tons of limestone on 400 acres of land.

A study made by the Kentucky Experiment Station indicated that cost of feed was 86 to 90 per cent of the gross cost of producing hogs in the Bluegrass part of the State. Corn made up 45 to 60 per cent of the gross cost.

Instructions To Grand Jury, Statement Made By Stephens

Ladies and gentlemen of the Grand Jury, and you ladies and gentlemen who are here, either as officials, attorneys or private citizens interested in seeing that your Circuit Court is conducted as it should be conducted—to you all I have something to say which will include a charge to the grand jury and a statement to you other and the public in general as to the future conduct of this court.

You as Grand Jurors at this moment occupy a unique and highly important position in the frame-work of our democratic form of government. You have been chosen from the rank and file of your fellow-countrymen, and not from any particular social, religious or political group as may be in other countries foreign to ours. The qualifications of a grand juror are rigid and fixed by law and the duties are heavy, because, in the main, you are the constituted bureau of investigation, and it is your duty to inquire into, uncover and accuse all evil forces and wrongdoing that may be at work against our system of society and government. You are to look with an impartial eye, making no respect of persons, rich or poor, the strong or weak, the wise or foolish, regardless of their connections with any political, religious, fraternal or other organization, in the matter of law violations. All people are on a common level before you as a Grand Jury.

First of all, I have an idea that we should start out HONEST and end HONEST. If any of you jurors cannot subscribe to that doctrine, now is a good time for you to be excused. If none of you have any claim to the right to act as jurors, other than the claim of political friendship or the need for a little money—if that is all any of you have to offer as a qualification for the right to say who shall or shall not be indicted or who shall or shall not be punished for offenses against the law, you have no right on a jury of this or any other court. The job ahead of us, according to my viewpoint, is to see that justice is done, and that Justice, even if she is a hoodwinked goddess, is not to be made out the fool.

Since law enforcement, like charity, should begin at home—let us start at home, here in the courthouse. What has happened in the past in this courthouse has been with the knowledge of previous courts and other officials. We will let the past bury its dead. But, from this day forward, I will demand that this "home" business of ours here in the courthouse be strictly on the "up and up." And ask you of the present grand jury, as well as members of grand juries to come to me that Floyd county's courthouse an "official family" be and stay on this basis. As I said a few moments ago let's begin this task by being HONEST—with the public and ourselves.

If, within the interim which will exist between the end of this court term and the opening of the next, our officials do not abide by the law, the Floyd Circuit Court will have its work ready-out for it. And then if we—you and I—fail to exact from errant officials full obedience to the law, then we of this court share with them their guilt.

In particular, and in this connection, I would point out the fact that the law provides that the several governmental bodies of this district—in fact, all those receiving or disbursing public monies, shall publish financial statements each year. By that it is intended that these agencies or officials are to publish statements showing, in detail, where the money came from and when, where, how and why the money was spent. In brief, the law is intended to enforce honesty in government, and I intend that this law be observed to the letter.

Without fear or favor investigate every violation of the law that is worthy of investigation and the attention of this court. When I admonish you to investigate "without fear or favor," I mean just that—no more, no less. If anybody from any source whatsoever approaches you to ask about this or that investigation you are undertaking or about to make, don't be afraid—don't favor them. Report such approaches or advances to me, and I will see that you are not only properly protected but also that the person or persons making such communication to you is dealt with according to law. If you do permit such persons to approach you from the points of threat, persuasion or dissuasion, without reporting such incidents to me, I assure you now, once and for all, you will be discharged as jurors from this court, the very moment I do learn you have been thus approached, and moreover, you never again will be on a Circuit Court jury of this court during my term of office.

Pursuing the theory that this court and those serving with it or appearing before it should be honest, I want to impress upon you Grand Jurors the fact that there is a law which punishes perjurers and lie-swearers. Let's stop this lie-swearing. Get down to work, name these perjurers in indictments. As long as they are permitted to swear as they please, no innocent man or woman is safe, no guilty criminal may be expected to get what he or she deserves. Bear down on this pistol business. Without the pistol, the scourge of this particular section of Kentucky, the cowardly tribe which shoots down men and women in this county would be almost impotent. Take the pistols out of Floyd county, and our murder list will drop farther than you or I have ever known it to drop. Now, in this connection, I want you to remember that every officer who arrests a man bearing a concealed deadly weapon is, under the law, required to file a charge against him on that one account, in particular. Any man caught while drunk, with a pistol in his pocket, should have the limit for both offenses. It is a ridiculous and shameful state of affairs when scores of men are arrested every month in this county and a large percentage of them pistol-carriers; when the circuit court has fifteen or twenty murder cases as a result of shootings; when several other cases of shooting and wounding are on the docket—and yet a far less number of cases on the docket, charging men with carrying concealed deadly weapons. You will agree with me, I am certain, when I say this is a disgraceful state of affairs.

Then there is another type of menace which should not be overlooked or excused without just punishment. This is the drunken driver. You have heard of him, you will hear of him in the future. He has caused property damage, has made cripples of physically sound children, women and men; has populated some of our graveyards by his recklessness. Investigate whatever infractions of the law you find any where, any time, in any public place, such as roadhouses and the like. The law concerning these places is all-sufficient—if enforced as it should be.

When you grand jurors vote an indictment, be sure you stick by it. I am going to expect you as well as all petit jurors to stick by your official acts. I—and I think I speak for every common citizen of this county in making this statement—am disgusted with this business of jurors signing petitions for pardons after drawing down money for sending people to the penitentiary. Please be men and women of your own heads.

In addition to what I have said to the grand jury, I want to say to the public and to officials of this court will not tolerate "courthouse politics." Let me make this plain. Now, say, your wife is on a trial jury in this courtroom. Then I do not want to see you sitting over there on the defense side or on the prosecution side, to show her how you feel and to try to influence in that way her verdict.

Some of the old practices employed around this courthouse and this courtroom may prove embarrassing to some of you if you continue them. I don't want to seem harsh in the conduct of this court, and I will not be harsh, as long as the court and the Justice for which it stands is respected.

This court has no need for pistols, and it needs none in this courtroom. This goes for everybody. I do not want to see officers flagrantly displaying their artillery here. They should at least be able to hide from the public the fact that they are armed, and I shall expect them to do just that. A man, no matter who he is, does not look right in a courtroom as long as he appears as a walking arsenal. I shall not permit an attorney to abuse the rights of the state and county and of this court by deliberately delaying trials duly and regularly set on the docket. The court will expect plaintiffs, defendants and all witnesses to appear on the day summoned. Long, drawn-out trials are a heavy drain on the pocketbooks of plaintiffs and defendants alike, as well as upon these of witnesses and the ordinary taxpayers whose taxes make this and all other courts possible.

Now, let us get down to business and transact the business of this court in a business-like way. I am going to try my level best to make you, all of you, a good judge. I intend to work just as hard as I did while I served this county as Circuit Court Clerk, about which the attorneys of this bar and many others know, and when I have done my best, this court will not be a failure as anticipated by a lot of people in the primary and November elections while I was a candidate.

Restraining Order Sought

to annex the club to the town were abortive, inasmuch as insufficient legal steps had been taken. He appealed the case to circuit court and asks for the restraining order to remain in effect till a full hearing of the case may be held.

The Rustique owner contends in his action that the law empowering county judges to regulate closing hours of roadhouses requires that such officials fix the closing time within 30 days after issuing permit for roadhouse operation. Mr. Layne points out that his permit was issued and approved at the November term of county court, 1938 and that Judge Hill did not issue his closing order until December 7, 1939. He also claims that he was not notified of the closing time order and that Judge Hill did not set any date for his order to become effective.

The Club Rustique, the petition states, does not open until 7 p. m., and the greater part of its patronage begins about the time Judge Hill's order demands that it be closed.

MRS. JAY HATTON, 52, FORMERLY OF MARTIN, IS CLAIMED SATURDAY

Mrs. Mayme Davis Hatton, 52, wife of Jay Hatton, former residents of Martin, died at her home at Ashland Saturday afternoon, after an illness of one year.

A native of Catlettsburg, Mrs. Hatton was the daughter of C. C. Davis, of Virginia, and Mary Ann Hatton Davis. She was a member of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen Lodge of Ashland, and had been a member of the Baptist Church at Catlettsburg for the greater part of her life.

Surviving, beside her husband, are four daughters, Mrs. Parker Francis, of Martin; Mrs. Clarence Rice, Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Catherine Conley, Hazard; and Miss Anna Jean Hatton, at home; three sons, Fred Hatton, Russell, and James and Cecil Hatton, at home; four sisters, Mrs. Pearl Callihan, Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Lillian Williamson, Pikeville; Mrs. Maude Eddy, Fullerton, Cal., and Miss June Davis, of Huntington, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon from the Missionary Baptist Church at Catlettsburg and burial was made in the Catlettsburg cemetery.

Bleeding gums are thought to be one of the first symptoms of vitamin C deficiency. Foods that supply vitamin C include tomatoes, cabbage, cauliflower, dandelion and mustard greens, spinach, oranges and grapefruit.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WRITES OF EARLY FLOYD COUNTY

Editor, The Floyd County Times:
Attached is a statement of some facts which I have found with reference to the Brown and Harrell families who were early settlers of the Big Sandy valley counties. I do not know whether any of the descendants of these families are living in the Big Sandy valley today, but have forwarded the statement with the hope that if you find it of sufficient interest to publish it in The Times someone may be able to reveal further information about these early settlers.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT W. BROWN.

Lieutenant-Colonel, U. S. A.
One of the pioneers of the Big Sandy was Robert Brown. He was born about 1785 and died in 1835. He resided in the valley at the time Kentucky was admitted to the Union. He was a member of the first grand jury which convened in Prestonsburg on April 18, 1808. It is understood that he is mentioned in Judge Graham's original account books as being an inhabitant in 1793 and between 1800-1820. He is listed in the census reports for Floyd county in 1810, 1820, and 1830 but is not so listed in 1840. These reports show that he had a large family but as the census reports only give the heads of families and number and approximate ages of dependents they do not furnish much authentic information. The records of Mason county show that he was the executor of an estate in 1798 in which Letitia Brown was assigned a widow's right of dower. Other records show that Letitia West had married John Brown in Washington county, Virginia, in 1792. It is therefore probable that John Brown was a brother or other close relative and that the family had moved to the Big Sandy valley from Southwest Virginia.

THE HOUSE OF HAZARDS

The above conclusion is further confirmed by the history of the Harrell family, another pioneer family of the Big Sandy valley. In 1773 a Robert Brown and a James Harrell settled land in Rich Valley on Rattle Creek a branch of the North Fork of the Holston River, then Washington county, Southwest Virginia. The Brown and Harrell families were later neighbors in the Big Sandy valley. It is known that the children of Reuben and Rebecca Harrell moved from Washington county, Virginia, to Floyd county about 1800. William, Nathan and Enoch Harrell are listed in the same census reports for Floyd county in 1810, 1820, and 1830. Other children of William and Rebecca later moved to Floyd county. They were Jacob, Robert, Rebecca (Mrs. Henry Nunn, later, Mrs. Pratt), Margaret (Mrs. Benjamin Fraley) and Elizabeth (Mrs. J. W. Sturgeon).

Reuben Harrell, the father of the Harrells who were pioneers of the Big Sandy valley, was born in 1750 and died in Washington county, Virginia, in August 1825. He had served in the Revolutionary War and was enrolled as a pensioner of that war on the rolls of Virginia in 1819. After the death of Reuben, his wife, Rebecca, joined her children in Floyd county. She lived with William and Robert. The pension records for Floyd county show that she applied for a Revolutionary War widow's pension in 1839 before Lindsay Layne, Esq., supported by affidavits from James and Catherine Layne, James Herren, Robert and Sarah Vincent. Due to the fact that the papers were several times returned and the slowness with which action was taken by the government, she was only enrolled as a pensioner on the rolls of Kentucky about the time of her death on March 12, 1842 and the pension from 1839 was presumably paid to her heirs. These papers disclose that William Harrell and Enoch Harrell, two of the heirs, had moved to Arkansas. These papers also show that the Layne, Harrell and Brown families were neighbors and it is probable that the Betsy Layne and Harold communities took their name from the Layne and Harrell families.

It is known that Robert Brown, the pioneer of the Big Sandy valley, had at least two sons, Robert Brown, Jr., and George Brown. These two sons with their families, with the families of William Harrell, Enoch Harrell, William Harrell, Jr. and Nathan Harrell, Jr., Jeremiah Hatfield, John George, David Russell and George Vaughan moved to Arkansas about 1835. They made the journey by flatboats down the Ohio, the Mississippi and up the Arkansas to a point below Lewisburg (now Morrilton), and settled a community which became known as Brown's Landing. This steamboat landing with all its facilities, warehouses, steamboat supplies, and freight-wagons into the surrounding county, was operated by Robert Brown, Jr., until his death in 1879. He was born in the Big Sandy valley on April 5, 1800. He had married Nancy Harrell on July 29, 1822 in the Big Sandy valley and their eldest children were born there. It is thought that Nancy was a daughter of William Harrell. This is based on family tradition to the effect that she had a brother, William, Jr., who returned to Floyd or Johnson county, Ky., with his family and was still alive in 1850.

Robert Brown, Jr., doubtless left brothers, sisters and uncles in the Big Sandy valley. But who they may have been is not now known by the branches of the family in Arkansas. It is quite probable that Robert Brown, the pioneer, had died before Robert, Jr., moved to Arkansas as he was an old man and lived with Robert, Jr., in 1830. According to Arkansas family tradition a close relative of Robert, Jr., who remained in the Big Sandy valley had become a distinguished member of the Legislature. Some thought he was a brother, some thought he was a nephew and some thought he was a cousin. He was probably William Wallace, of Paintsville. Also, according to family tradition, the Browns were of Scotch-Irish and the Harrells were of French descent. It is probable that some of the children of Robert, Jr., and Nancy were named for relatives. These children were: James, William Wallace, Sarah, Margaret, Ann, Manerva, Robert, George, Alexander and Elizabeth. Perhaps somewhere in the Big Sandy valley is an old Bible record which might tell who were the father and mother and brothers and sisters of Robert Brown, the pioneer, as well as the name of his wife and their sons and daughters. Any information about any of the above-named families will be appreciated by the undersigned who is the great-grandson of the union of Robert Brown and Nancy Harrell.

ONE COMPLETION LISTED IN FLOYD

Three Other Gas Well Operations Are Listed in Monthly Report

Although drilling operations in the Eastern Kentucky area for the past month continue at the same general level, one gas well completion and three operations in Floyd county are included in the report for the month.

No general increase in operations is expected until after the first of the year unless unexpected developments occur in this section of the state.

In this county Keathley, Allen and Hale have deepened well No. 1 on the Thomas Jarvis land on Home Branch to a total depth of 2514 feet. The completed log in gives a daily flow of 187,000 feet of gas in shale and 340,000 feet in big lime.

The Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company is down 1780 feet in sand in well No. 5259 on the John W. Taylor land on Toler Creek and is drilling at the 40 foot level in slate in well No. 5261 on the J. P. Sturgill tract, also on Toler Creek.

Stephens, et al, are drilling in brown shale at the 2350 foot level in well No. 1 on the Maude Leslie land on Cow Creek.

In Knott county the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company is moving to well No. 582 on the J. B. King land on the Joe King Branch.

The Midway City Gas Company is down 1908 feet in well No. 1 on the John A. Jones land on Calhoun Branch. The same firm reports O.W. D.D. at the 1750 foot level in well No. 1 on the R. H. Fields land on Parks Branch.

E. C. Ware, Trustee, has completed well No. 1 on the R. H. Fields land on Combs Branch in Knott county. The completed log in is a daily flow of 700,000 feet of gas in shale at a total depth of 3062 feet.

The Hamilton Gas Company has a 348,000 daily gas producer in well No. E-15 on the Dr. O. Pigman land on Sam's Branch in Knott county at a total depth of 2999 feet in shale.

Columbian Fuel Corporation hit a dry hole in well No. GW-832 on the Jake Smith, et al, land on Right Fork of Dick's Creek in Pike county at 5342 feet. This deep test was P.P.&A.

Columbia Fuel reports the completion of well No. GW-83 on the John M. Robinson No. 1 tract on Island Creek, in Pike county, at a total depth of 3918 feet. The well is making 119,000 feet of gas in shale.

United Carbon has completed well No. 802 on the Republic Steel Corporation land on Greasy Creek in Pike county at a total depth of 3785 feet. The well has a daily gas production of 230,000 feet.

United Carbon hit a fine gas well in well No. 810 on the D. C. Polley No. 1 tract on Russell Fork in Pike county. It is producing 2,595,710 feet of gas daily at a total depth of 2297 feet in well.

HIPPO

Mrs. Jack Hughes, Charleston, W. Va., and family were visiting in Hippo during the Christmas season.

Miss Belda Baisden, Martin, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sawyers this week.

Miss Dorothy Rone was visiting Mrs. Hargis Vanderpool last Saturday.

A Christmas program was given at the Brush Creek school last Friday. Miss Bessie Halbert and E. C. Bailey, teachers, were the sponsors of the program. Several parents were visiting the school. Gifts were presented to most every one.

Miss Melba Hicks was visiting in Garrett last Saturday.

Brownie Hicks, who attends Caney Junior College, has been home during the Christmas season.

Frank Bailey was home with his friends and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leck Bailey. Mr. Bailey joined the C.C.C. camp two months ago.

Miss Adgie Reed has been ill at her home and missed school due to her illness. Miss Reed is improving nicely at the present time.

Children who attend Brush Creek school returned to school December 26. Those attending Maytown returned to school Jan. 2.

A final check-up shows that use of phosphate increased hay yields in Powell county 50 to 75 per cent.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

BURDOCK, JIMSON WEEDS, AND COCKLEBURS

Robert Burns, eager to give everybody his dues, has written an "Address to the Devil, which contains an element of pity for one so universally condemned and maligned. If the devil is worthy of an ode, then why not a brief essay on the three weeds that mean to most of us in this part of America, neglected barnyards or other areas that man is supposed to keep clean?

Now burdock is a good place to start. Broad of leaf, tenacious of life, sticky pestiferous of burr, it asks little of its inveterate enemy, man, and patiently bides its time. Left alone for a single season, it soon replenishes the earth and is well on the way to subdue it, as Biblically as the pioneers sent out their large families to subdue the wilderness and the Injuns. Not wholly lost is the plant, for in spring, when the blood needs thinning, there is a mighty digging in the unsightly corners of the horse lot; burdock roots, washed and sliced, find their way into large-necked bottles, where they mingle their bitterness with the sweetness of rock candy and the bite of corn whisky. Health and thin blood result. And thus nothing is wasted, even burdock.

Jamestown weeds, they used to be named for their appearance at our first English settlement, though scientists think they ultimately came from Asia. If they were not weeds, they would be highly regarded for their trumpet-shaped flowers, beloved of the long-tongued night-flying moths. In fact a perennial "datura," as the weed is called scientifically, is grown for its flowers in many an old-fashioned garden. The leaves are medicinal and were once used extensively as a poultice for sprained or broken bones. Old-fashioned doctors talked learnedly of stramonium, the drug made from the plant.

Cockleburrs are important enough in the lore of the folk to merit a whole book. First of all, they will not grow on poor soil; finding them in the corn is not so bad, then, for they show how good the soil is. The burrs always ripen before frost, so that the plant, like many others, becomes a weather sign. In the early days of America there was a beautiful parrot, the Carolina Paroquet, which came north into the very interior of what is now the Middle West. Its favorite food was the seeds from the cocklebur, just as its favorite drink was water from salt springs. Unfortunately for it, however, it was not afraid of man and would not fly away when being shot at. It was so beautiful that women desired its feathers for their hats. As a result, it is highly doubtful whether there is a single bird of this species in existence, though many times some have been reported in the Everglades of Florida.

These three plants have another value not yet chronicled. They served as an excuse to make the small boy or the hired hand work. Saturday afternoon, when we wanted to go to the store or the creek, father reminded us of the disgrace attached to the farm where such evidences of laziness were growing. We cut the things with an energy not at all related to our desire for a clean farm yard. We took out on them our displeasure at not being allowed to be creatures of leisure. Burdock and cockleburrs also caused much labor on the farm in another direction. Horses got their manes clotted with burr; sheep were excellent lodging places for them. When the wool was washed in the spring, we fought our way through the big basketful of it to find and remove these pesky burrs. But they brought us lots of fun in the form of neighborly visits, for everybody who came did his share in picking the wool. After all, what vegetable creatures have any more associations than these three sturdy weeds of the horse lot?

POULTRY REQUIRES JANUARY PLANNING

A "Poultry Calendar" published by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, gives the following suggestions for January:

Next winter profits will be made by early-hatched, well-developed pullets.

Cull out small, unthrifty, poor-producing birds.

Breeders should have green feed on range on clear days. If range is not available, feed clover, alfalfa or lespedeza hay.

Keep grain and mash before the flock. A gallon of milk per day for each 100 hens may be fed, in addition to mash and grain.

Let the chickens have as much direct sunlight as possible.

All eggs used for hatching should come from flocks that have been tested for pullorum disease.

Use plenty of litter and fresh netting material so that clean hatching eggs will be produced.

Build or repair the brooder house; plans may be secured from the county agent.

If chicks are to be purchased, place orders this month.

Order chicks from a hatchery or breeder who tests all birds for pullorum disease and culls his flock closely.

LAWRENCE COUNTIAN DIES AT HUNTINGTON

William Shannon, 85, of Irad, Lawrence county, father of Mrs. Gypsie Vinson, Wayland, died Sunday of last week at the home of his grandson at Huntington, where he had gone for medical treatment several days before.

Mr. Shannon was born in Tazewell county, Virginia, and came to Lawrence county early in life. He operated ed a farm and engaged in the timber business and was one of the county's substantial citizens.

Funeral services were conducted from the home Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. S. B. Ball, Lawrence county judge, officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery.

TOWN-WORLD

muscles that are needed to pump life-giving air into wracked lungs—that's all we need with it.

Truth to tell, THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES has an idea that all of us, sometimes, are too practical. A sprinkle of idealism makes practicality much more beautiful and human.

Then, again, if you want to argue about it—the purchase of a life-saving device such as this, with all of us contributing our bit, might reasonably be expected to be worth the monetary outlay in the moral effect such an unselfish undertaking would have in this county. God knows we need to get around to saving lives instead of taking them.

Goodness sakes, no, we're not practical—and for New Year's we here highly resolve never to be so practical in matters of this sort that we'll go window-shopping for bargains in salvation!

PHEW!

It is more or less reliably reported that when the copper-hued advance agent of an "Indian Show" was addressing the student body of the local graded school, one of the members thereof annexed his hat for a souvenir, which inspired the "Kibitzer" to emit:

While peregrinating pilgrim pridefully prepares pinch on patient papa's puny purse precocious putrid pale-face papoose presumably pinches pioneer's precious pot from parking place, promptly provoking peeved principal's purple phiz, precipitating pushing probe and promised prolific penal paddling of purloiner's pants providing perpetrator persists person to professor.

Pilgrim pockets pride, plaintively pleads for positive position of pan, promising pecuniary possibilities.

Phantom pupil prefers private policy, perforce permitting postponing painful process of personal punishment and passing proffer of probable pay.

(Poetic permit passes, permanently polishing off poor, ponderous, palpitating Pulitzer prize paragraph).

Little Otto took a chance And poured some oil on papa's pants. It didn't waken Papa's ire Till Otto set the oil on fire.

A HAPPIER NEW YEAR

At least two Floyd county basketball coaches are starting the new year in better shape than they were in during closing weeks of the old. These two are Reb Hall, coach at Auxier, and Dave Leslie, Betsy Layne net mentor. The Auxier first-stringers went on "strike" when asked to sweep the gym floor; the Betsy Layne five got "miffed" when the coach suggested that they wait till new uniforms arrived before having their pictures taken.

NECROLOGY

Russell Layne, our necrologist reports that 19 Prestonsburg residents died during 1939—12 fewer than during the preceding year. He lists the victims:

George Shepherd, Charity Beavers, Clara Hyden, Ora Hopson, Joe Simmons, O. C. Hall, Mary Clifton, Alma Fitzpatrick, James Harris, Clevon Shepherd, Josephine Hager, Sambo Nelson, Lily Vaughan, Cal Clark, Bernard Branham, Walter Burchett.

Sam Spradlin, Fred Cottrell, Jim Wallen.

STILL, HE WAS FIXED

Everybody except the defendant got a giggle out of the jury's verdict—everybody but the defendant and he wasn't present. Judge Stephens began reading the verdict: "We, the jury, do agree and fix him . . ." He handed the verdict back and had the verdict corrected to read ". . . fix his fine at . . ." But that didn't take "him" out of trouble.

IT'LL REQUIRE AN EFFORT

Two things I'm going to have trouble remembering:

1. To write it 1940.
2. To call Henry Stephens, "Judge."

"Start Honest," Says Judge

tions of the county heard him demand justice, first of all, in the courthouse, through the co-operation of Judge, Commonwealth's Attorney, Sheriff and his deputies, jurors and common citizens.

Pistol-totin', drunken driving, perjury, failure of officials to publish adequate financial statements, "courthouse politics"—all these were scored, in particular.

Appointments made by Judge Stephens Monday were:

Ex-Sheriff B. L. Sturgill, Master Commissioner; Byron Nunnery, Prestonsburg, Receiver; W. J. Turner, Malcolm Hubbard and Alex Hackworth, jury commissioners.

Within a few hours after the opening of the new court, Bill Dink Laferty and Theop Branham had pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the Stanadr Oil plant at Allen, and, without benefit of probation, each was given a one-year penitentiary term.

The grand jury empaneled consisted of Jack Allen, Pyramid, foreman; Dave Gearheart, Otto Hyden, T. Y. Martin, Lula Layne, Bill Hall, Emmo Hall, Ella Maynard, L. V. Goble, Liza Miller, Andrew Baldrige, Kate Ward.

Petit jurors empaneled for service are:

Jury No. 1—Mandy Ford, Curtis George, Lewis Burchett, Tom Harmon, Alex Delong, Sallie Wallen, W. J. Vaughan, Edna Carter, Albert Shepherd, Amanda Music, John R. Jervis, Jake Burchett.

Jury No. 2—Garfield Music, Emery Hughes, Elzie Bays, Izana Prater, Wm. Africa, Dave Osborn, John Hall, Eunice Patton, Morg Case, Josephine Wallen, Jessie Holland, Maude Leslie.

Reserve jurors—Milt Stanley, Isaac Click, Angie Blackburn, Alma Blackburn, Cynthia Akers, L. J. Music.

All jurors serving to date during the present court term were selections from the jury wheel filled by commissioners named by Ex-Circuit Judge Caudill.

Five defendants on whom process had been issued and whose trials had been regularly docketed, and who did not appear for trial were convicted during the first three days of the week. These were: Harry Blackburn, carrying a concealed deadly weapon, $60 and 10 days in jail; Edna Elam, selling liquor, $300 fine; Curtis Bartley, operating an auto while intoxicated, $200 fine, license revoked for a period of one year; Curtis Bartley assault and battery, $300 fine, Raymond Connors, assault and battery, $50 fine.

Already, Thursday morning, eight persons had been indicted by the grand jury for carrying concealed deadly weapons—a ready response to Judge Stephens' mandate to the grand jury to see that pistol-totin' be penalized by the juries and the circuit court.

Major indictments filed Thursday morning follow:

Johnnie Newsome, carrying concealed deadly weapon; Clyde Wright, voluntary manslaughter; George Neil, obtaining goods or money by false pretenses; Jim Hyden and Hazel Castle, adultery and fornication; Leonard Cordell, carrying concealed deadly weapon; Aaron Bradley and Carrol Clay, wilful murder ($10,000 bond executed by Bradley, bench warrant ordered for Clay, their trial set for Jan. 22); Richard Elam, jail escape; Douglas Smith, jail escape; Hazel Castle, keeping disorderly house; Maude Holt, shooting at without wounding; John Henry Porter, assault and battery with automobile; James Jones, grand larceny; Dennis Ward, shooting and wounding; Dennis Ward, reckless use of deadly weapon; Cash Faulkner, child desertion; Bill Smith, grand larceny; Andy Johnson, shooting and wounding; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, Tella Hale, Green Lawson, carrying concealed deadly weapon; Isaac Planery, shooting and wounding; Ralph and Willie Shortridge, breaking and entering; Lizzie Webb, grand larceny;

Sam Bowen, carrying concealed deadly weapon.

Jake Stanley and Margaret Howard, adultery and fornication; John Adkins, aiding prisoners to escape; Claude Johnson, Everett Collins, Maryland Hall, Leonard Strickland, breaking and entering Koppers store Weeksbury; Ray Fraley, gaming device on premises; Isaac Planery, carrying concealed deadly weapon; Orval Conn and Annie Dotson, adultery and fornication; Jake Stanley, child desertion; Margaret Clemons, grand larceny, accused of stealing $75 from Hiram Hall; Bessie Swindall, gaming device; Henderson Neeley, obtaining money or property under false pretenses; Woodrow Osborne, seduction.

and entering; Joe Reed and Alice Reed, breaking and entering.

John Ward, attempting to burn railway cars; R. A. Triplett, forgery; Carl Hunter, breaking and entering; Canard Hall, shooting and wounding; Edmond Walters, cutting and wounding; Jasper Nelson, child desertion; Kelly Howard, grand larceny; Henderson Salyers, Latt Damron and Hubert Amburgy, jail escape; Tom Zie-man, cold check; B. H. McCoy, child desertion; Tillman Litteral, false pretenses (two cases); Roy Patton, false pretenses; Laura Hall and Vella Howard, cutting and wounding; Geo. Wilson, breaking and entering; Tom Burchett, child desertion; Harry Benner, deserting pregnant wife.

Winn A. Field, conversion of property; Dee Stratton, Raymond Goble, Bert Hall and Harold Woods, grand larceny; Ernest Compton, child desertion; Kenneth Tackett, stealing coal from common carrier; Daniel Hicks, grand larceny; Harold H. Holt and Roddy Stone, robbery; Curtis Clark, cold check; May Waddles, receiving stolen property; Green Hall, obstructing public justice; Check Wiley, breaking and entering; Bessie Huff, false pretenses; I. A. Smiley, forgery; Ellis Whitaker, Tommy Davis and Woodrow England, breaking and entering storehouse of another; John Blackburn, Taylor Blackburn, Floyd Blackburn and Boney Blackburn, breaking and entering; A. C. Napier, child desertion.

Howell Isaacs, child desertion; Curt Hickman, robbery; Henry Blackburn, striking and wounding; Charley Porter, shooting and wounding; Bert Hall shooting and wounding; Marvin Marshall, assault and battery; Maude Holt, shooting and wounding; Did Case, grand larceny; Earn Robinson, jail escape; Tom Fitzpatrick, cutting and wounding; Malcolm Davis, shooting and wounding; Lindsay Adams, breach of the peace; Polly Ann Robinson, possessing liquor; Carl Ward, breaking and entering; Taylor Ratliff, operating an auto while intoxicated; Leo Coburn, carrying concealed deadly weapon; John Thornsbury, reckless use of deadly weapon.

Bill Maston, breach of peace; Ed Morgan, shooting and wounding; Carl Hamilton, breaking and entering; Lonnie Little, assault and battery; Charles Burger, receiving stolen property; Marcus Davis, petit larceny; Muncie Prater, operating automobile while intoxicated and jail breaking; Mrs. Andrew Music and Edna Hall, possessing liquor.

Saturday, 34 persons who had been convicted in court here and given suspended sentences were, upon order of Circuit Judge Caudill, "released from all liabilities inflicted on them . . . and restored to their liberty." The order stated that each of the 34 had "fulfilled the promises they had made to the court by living up to their obligations assigned to them" at the date of suspension of their sentences.

JAMES' WILL GIVE THEIR 4TH ANNUAL 'OLD XMAS' PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Tom James will give their fourth annual Old Christmas party Saturday, January 6, at 4 p. m., at the Club Rustique here, it was announced this week.

This observance of an ancient custom will be marked by ballad-singing, the Plainsong chant, singing games and dances reminiscent of old England.

A group of ballad-singers from the Hindman Settlement School will sing Elizabethan ballads still extant in this section. Bobby Salisbury will sing the old English ballad, "Sleep, Holy Babe," and will be joined in the singing of "Jesus, Jesus, Rest Your Head," from John J. Niles' collection, by Harold Wright. The Holbrook family of Prestonsburg will render "The Cherry Tree Carol," better known in this section as "Joseph and Mary," and the Plainsong chanters will sing "A Ladye Gay."

The program of songs will be followed by the singing games and dances. A number of out-of-town guests will join the Prestonsburg party for the occasion.

HUEYSVILLE RESIDENCE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Home of Oak Osborne, Hueysville, was destroyed by fire with practically all its contents New Year's morning at an estimated loss of $2,000.

While members of the family were absent, the blaze spread from an upstairs gas heater. The family clothing, practically all household effects and the winter's meat supply, stored in a nearby building which also burned, were lost.

Neither the building nor its contents was insured.

In Barren county several farm demonstrations of using electric light for tobacco stripping were made.

Bill Jett, Lee county, sold grapes from a one-acre vineyard for $75, with expenses totaling $19.

Re seedings of Italian rye grass have made good growth in Ballard county where first stands were poor.
