Work was well under way this week on the pouring of concrete on the second pier of the new bridge which will replace the old and dangerous suspension-type bridge which spans the Big Sandy river at Banner. Work on the $2,216,336.32 project is being done by Greer, Inc., London, Ky. contractors.

McDowell Work Planned To Curb KY 122 Flooding

Special to The Times
Frankfort, Ky.—State Representative James "Jitter" Allen (D-Floyd Co.) has reported that state Secretary of Transportation John C. Roberts has approved the renovation of a portion of KY 122 in Floyd county.

The project will alleviate flooding along the road running parallel to Left Beaver Creek at McDowell.

According to Roberts, who confirmed his approval of the project, "the road is blocked by high waters several times a year. This not only affects conventional traffic but vehicles bound for the hospital at McDowell as well."

Roberts added that he had discussed

Board Claims Strike Threat Forces Action

The Highlands Medical Center began preparations Tuesday to close in the face of a threatened strike of union employees.

Its board of trustees and administrator announced late Monday that they had been notified by the National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees and its subdivision 1199 W. Va. that a strike notice would be served Tuesday.

In response to the strike threat the board of trustees and administration of the medical center said, in a paid advertisement appearing in this edition of The Times:

"... Since this Union has issued its ultimatum to strike the Medical Center, it is forcing the closing of the hospital and skilled nursing facility. The medical staff has been advised to send their patients to other health care facilities in the surrounding areas and the Medical Center will do everything in its power to assist in this placement. Patients presently in the Medical Center will be transferred to other institutions or discharged as rapidly as possible. Every patient must be out of the Medical Center prior to the strike deadline to

Clark, Others Urge Financing To Aid ROPES

Charles Clark, superintendent of Floyd schools, joined an estimated 120 other educators at a hearing held in Frankfort Monday by the joint House and Senate committees on education in urging continuance of the "regional approach" to education as represented by ROPES (Regional Organization To Promote Educational Services).

The hearing followed an earlier conference of Clark and four other superintendents with Governor Carroll in which the governor admitted he had been misinformed about the program. Apparently, a joint resolution by the two committees favoring continuance of ROPES will result in Carroll acting to provide funds for it.

Testifying before the two committees, Mr. Clark said:

"This regional idea is not 'just another layer of bureaucracy.' In my judgment this is the best thing to happen to elementary, secondary and vocational education in the last decade, and we have just started showing results."

(The "level of bureaucracy" quotation was from a statement attributed to Governor Carroll when he failed to include ROPES in his budget.)

Clark argued that for the first time local school boards and superintendents have had a regional voice in dealing with the state Department of Education and the State Board. "Instead of each of us separately taking our problems to Frankfort, we met collectively with people of the various divisions from the state Department of Education in our regions to swap ideas on dealing with problems and formulating plans for future actions benefitting children."

Forester Says 10-12,000 Acres Burned in Floyd

Teams of firefighters in Floyd and surrounding counties received a significant "break" Friday morning in the form of rain which helped subdue the forest fires which have burned an estimated 40,000 acres, mostly in Eastern Kentucky, during the past two weeks.

Although three fires were burning in the Left Beaver Creek section of Floyd county this week-end, District Forester Arthur Leach said, Monday, "We don't know of any right now." Leach estimated that 10-12,000 acres of forest land had been burned in the county since the last two days of February when more than 377 blazes were reported over the state.

Fires burned in all counties of the district which includes Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Pike, Lawrence and Martin, although the Prestonsburg area was considered the "hot spot" for fires in the district. Fires burned in various sections of the county with a concentration of

ILLEGALLY DEAD

Just now my former associate, Henry P. "Buck" Scalf calls me from Stanville to announce that the Social Security Administration has declared him dead. Says he turned in a medical claim for $15, and that it was rejected because—they said—he had shuffled off this mortal coil.

Now, instead of the usual proof of death, he'll have to prove that he's alive. Is tempted, he says, to write and respectfully inquire about where they buried him. Also if he can, being no more, forget about that April 15 deadline.

Severance Bills Move Thru House Clear Sailing Seen For KY 80 Funding After House Vote

Five bills implementing as many items of Governor Carroll's coal severance tax package, including financing of a new KY 80, sailed through the House, Monday afternoon.

All five now go to the Senate, and approval there, possibly early next week, is expected to be almost as emphatic as in the House. The only Senate bill serving as a vehicle for the severance tax package, SB 142, co-sponsored by Senators Jim Hammond and Kelsey Friend, is expected to pass the Senate this week. It pertains to occupational diseases, primarily black lung, and provides for lower compensation premiums for all employers.

The voting on the five House bills, as reported by Rep. James "Jitter" Allen:

HB 674, to establish a Coal Severance Economic Aid Fund, appropriating $5 million for each of the next two fiscal years; 93-1. The money would be used for capital construction in the coal counties and administered by a coal severance economic aid board in each coal county.

HB 675, to establish an Area Development Fund for capital projects; 9-10. The bill provides $6 million for each of the next two fiscal years.

HB 676, to allow the Kentucky Turnpike Authority to issue bonds to construct, what is called, resource recovery roads, or coal-haul roads; 85.6. (This is the "KY 80 bill.")

HB 677, to increase the coal severance tax from 4 to 4½ per cent, with a

Kidd Is Slain In Cincinnati

Earl Kidd, 45, formerly of the Harold section of the county, was shot and killed Sunday in Cincinnati.

No details of the shooting are known, except that he reportedly was shot three times. He was dead on arrival at a Cincinnati hospital.

The victim, a son of Mrs. Mary Case Kidd Roberts, of Harold, and the late John Kidd, was a disabled veteran. Other survivors are five sons and three daughters, Doug Kidd, of Prestonsburg, Earl Kidd, Jr., Ypsilanti, Mich., Tommy Kidd, of Tennessee, Terry and Jimmy Kidd, of Cincinnati, Misses Sandy and Debbie Kidd, of Cincinnati, Mrs. Vivica Bryant, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Patricia Hamilton, of Allen.

The body was being returned today (Wednesday) to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home at Martin, and funeral services will be held there at 10 a.m. tomorrow. Burial will be in the Gayheart cemetery at Harold.

New Clinic Honors Hagewood

The new clinic building at Lackey.

The new Potter Clinic which opened at Lackey earlier this year has been dedicated to the memory of the late Russell Hagewood, Prestonsburg banker, "without whose help," its founder, Dr. Ira B. Potter, said, "the new clinic would not have been possible."

A portrait of the late Mr. Hagewood hangs in the waiting room of the clinic as a continuing acknowledgment of his efforts on behalf of the clinic.

The new clinic is located on the grounds of the old Lackey school. The 60 x 85-foot one-story building erected there replaces the old clinic which Dr. Potter operated across the line in Knott county, near the Golden Years Rest Home, for four years. The structure has a brick-and-glass front, with prefabricated metal completing the exterior. The 5,100-square-foot interior has two doctors' offices, reception rooms, and sections for various facilities, including X-ray, emergency room, laboratories and a complete drug store and pharmacy.

Dr. Potter has been joined at the clinic by Dr. Donald Park, pediatrician, and a member of the staff of the Paintsville Hospital. Dr. Potter, who is a staff member at the Highlands Medical Center here, is a certified family practitioner.

Other staff members at the new clinic are:

Teresa Allen, receptionist; Sharon Martin, secretary; Anna Potter, receptionist; Priscilla Prater, bookkeeper; Raymon Childers, lab and X-ray technologist; Marie Childers, lab and X-ray technician; Patricia Tackett, nurse and assistant; Ethel Corder, home health aide; Gloria Park, nurse and assistant; Maurice Minix, pharmacist; Burette Moore, pharmacy technician; Sue Osborne, pharmacy technician; Betty Hagewood Minix, pharmacy technician and assistant; Lou H. Scott, pharmacy cashier and assistant; Nora Hicks, pharmacy records assistant; Sandra Webb, medical records.

Prestonsburg Man Named Reclamation Division Director

Ralph Waddle, of Prestonsburg, a recent engineering supervisor of an Eastern Kentucky strip mining firm and a 22-year veteran of the state highway department, has been named the new director of the division of reclamation in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, effective next Tuesday.

The appointment was made by the department's commissioner of land resources, John Witt, with the concurrence and approval of Gov. Julian Carroll and Secretary Robert Bell.

As Kentucky's reclamation director, Waddle will direct reclamation of the state's mined surfaces, including enforcement and issuing permits. He will be responsible for the activities of the central office in Frankfort and those of five reclamation field offices.

For the past 18 months, Waddle has been chief engineer with the TCH Coal Co. of Pikeville.

Prior to working for the mining operation, Waddle, as part owner and secretary, worked with Bottoms Engineering Corp. in Frankfort for more than two years. Before that, he served in several capacities as a civil engineer with the Kentucky Department of Highways from 1950 to 1972.

For 1970 to 1972, Waddle was assistant state highway engineer.

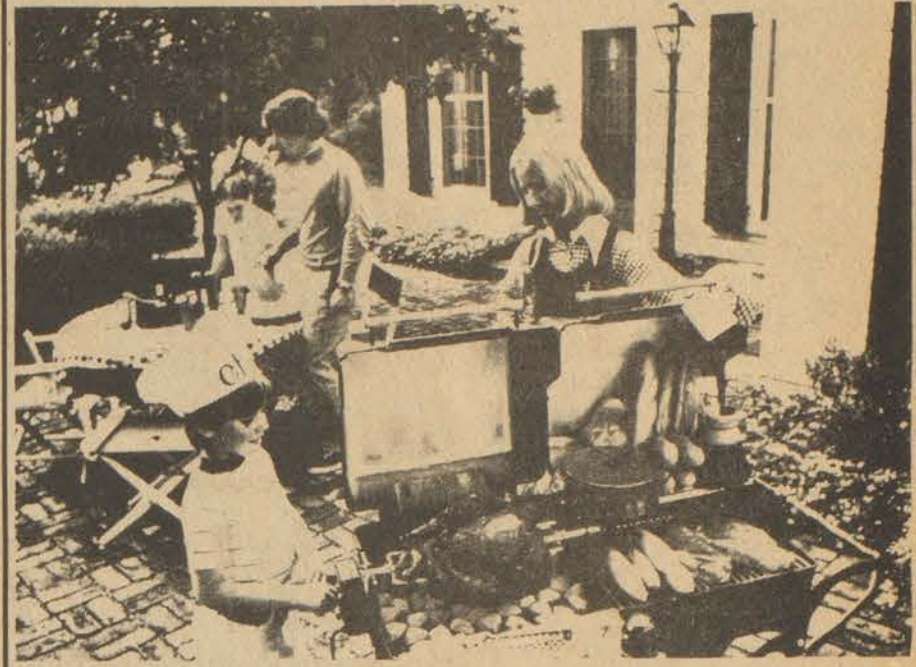

The 50-year-old Waddle is a native of Somerset. He is a graduate of the University of Alabama with a bachelor of science in civil engineering. He is a member of the Kentucky Society of Professional Engineers and is regional land surveyor in Kentucky.

Waddle and his wife, Ruth Reynolds Waddle, live in Prestonsburg with their two sons, Ralph Richard, Jr. and Steven. Their two daughters, Cheri and Marcia, attend Western Kentucky University.

Pollution control laws are nothing new. In Elizabethan England, laws discouraged use of coal because it created smoke. Londoners in the 1830's started filtering drinking water. By the 1880's, they had begun forms of sewage treatment. Today, environmental laws in the state are administered by the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

Letters to the Editor

Retiree's Dream

Much has recently been written about Costa Rica and the many American Pensionados (retirees) who have settled there. Had it not been for a bout with breast cancer, we would already be among them.

Since I last wrote you, because of the excellent medical facilities in Costa Rica, I have been given the okay to start planning our move to Guanacaste Province, near Liberia City.

We will soon be building our home in Rancho Maricosta, where we will have a few cattle for the freezer, horses for our two children, a garden and fruit and nut trees. It is a long-awaited dream—and we can hardly wait!

Cost of living is still so low and taxes there so nearly nonexistent, we can live comfortably on my husband's modest Navy retirement pay. We can hunt in the nearby mountains, fish in the Pacific and, if we ever tire of that, we can play golf and tennis, or just laze around in the sun (as we used to do in now many-times-more-expensive Hawaii).

We really are very excited about this. So much so, in fact, that if any readers would like more information about this beautiful, amazing little country and its Retirement Law, they can write me. I will be happy to share what I know with them.

insure their safety and protect them against loss of life."

The statement added that the Medical Center will attempt to keep emergency room services and emergency surgical services available, if adequate, trained and qualified personnel are available.

Contract negotiations between the union and the medical center began early last December after the union had won bargaining rights for the service and maintenance employees, licensed practical nurses and technical employees, and these talks continued at intervals until last week. A federal mediator sat in on some of the talks, and a federal board of inquiry held a three-day hearing to evaluate the situation.

The expected strike notice could set the date for a strike at 10 days from the date of its issuance, and so the medical center administration held that immediate action to clear the hospital of patients was necessary. Patients who are in condition to do so will return to their homes. Beds in other hospitals will be sought for those requiring further treatment.

The $5½ million hospital has 88 beds. As of Tuesday noon, it had 92 hospital patients and 12 patients in its skilled nursing facility.

OPPORTUNITY LIES AHEAD

They've discovered, down in Louisiana, so the public prints say, that crawfish are a delicacy and are served in the finest restaurants. And a University of Southern Louisiana researcher predicts that the day is not far ahead when farmers can harvest from an acre of swampy or flooded land a ton of crawdads per acre—roughly, the weight of wheat, rice or corn the same space would produce.

I've been thinking of retiring to the farm, and this may be the kind of crop I'm fitted for—only, I would want to keep all the soft craws for fishing purposes.

It seems a shame, the killing blow the frost dealt those early magnolias. But think what magic the touch of the same frost in autumn can do for a maple.

More window gazing out of—and it's snowing!

On the Environment And the Coal Industry

In a recent article in the West Virginia Hillbilly newspaper, Carl Bagge, president of the National Coal Association, stated that Congress is being unduly intimidated by environmental lobbyists. Mr. Bagge and many other industry spokesmen are continually trying to make the word, "environmentalist," connote someone who is full of more bull than facts. But if you examine the statements he made in this article, you will see where the bull is coming from. Why can't the coal industry accept the fact that these so-called environmentalists are concerned citizens who are interested in seeing their homeland left in decent shape for future generations?

In Bagge's speech at the first annual Facts About Coal meeting in Tennessee, he stated that state laws are adequate enough to take care of strip-mining and that we do not need a federal strip-mine bill. Mr. Bagge must get his facts from the same place that President Ford gets his. The recent highly publicized study by the Center for Science in the Public Interest shows that the states are not adequately taking care of the strip-mine problem, especially in Kentucky.

Many people of the Appalachian area have been stripped of their self-respect and independence as a result of the welfare system. Now they are expected by the coal industry to set back and do their "patriotic" duty and let the energy crisis saviors destroy our mountains, streams and roads and, in the long run, a way of life. Many of us are tired of some strip-mine company telling us that they have taken a worthless mountain and have actually increased its value. If you will notice, the coal industry measures everything of value in terms of dollars and cents. I personally resent their trying to stuff their values down my throat. But, again, we so-called environmentalists do not have the hundreds of thousands of dollars to spend trying to convince the people of this country that what we are doing is for the good of the country.

The present federal strip-mine legislation is needed. It is needed to protect the uncontrolled destruction of the western coal fields as well as Appalachia. A great deal of planning needs to be undertaken to even see if the West can stand the kind of development that the coal industry is proposing for it. Without such long-range planning, the West could become our "Great American Desert."

The coal industry is pushing very hard to see that a federal coal leasing bill be passed but at the same time they are working even harder to see that a federal strip-mine bill is not passed. This is a simple case of putting the cart before the horse. Luckily, Senator Metcalfe of the Senate Interior Committee recognizes this and he is holding this bill in Committee until some federal regulations are passed to control the mining of this federal coal.

In response to Mr. Bagge's claim that Congress is being unduly intimidated by so-called environmental lobbyists, he forgets that they did not send a convoy of misinformation trucks to Washington to brow-beat several Congressmen into changing their votes on the Presidential veto. Again, we so-called environmentalists do not have hundreds of thousands of dollars to spend on such a "Roman Holiday."

minimum of 50 cents, rather than 30 cents, per ton; 83-3. It would forbid any unit of local government from levying a tax on coal.

HB 678, to create an "energy road fund" for road projects in coal-producing counties; 91-0.

Senator Hammond said Monday he fears that one of three bills introduced, or co-sponsored, by him may not get out of committee. This is SB 180 which would eliminate the age 55 requirement for a teacher to retire at the end of 30 years' service.

Of others he is more hopeful. These are:

SB 306 to renew girls' basketball and make it a permanent athletic program in the schools; posted for a vote next Monday.

SB 365, to submit to the voters of the state a Vietnam veterans bonus of $750 for those on active duty outside the United States and $500 for active continental duty.

Hammond met with doctors of the area at May Lodge last Sunday morning in exploration of more protective malpractice insurance legislation.

Development of a third major subdivision here was under way this week on May Branch where grading and landscaping of 12 large home sites was begun by Ed Music and Dr. George P. Archer on property acquired from Joe Hunter. Three liquor raids and the stir created here Tuesday afternoon by a woman, armed with a revolver and threatening to shoot workers at a garage, feature the crime news of the week. The Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting Saturday received a check in the amount of $299,670.60 in response to its quarterly request for funding of the remedial reading program which was recently initiated in this county. Organization of the Prestonsburg Athletic Association was effected recently to promote an improved athletic program in Prestonsburg and vicinity. Kimber J. Bowles, 70, well-known Prestonsburg man, died Monday afternoon at General Hospital, Greenville, South Carolina, of injuries suffered the preceding day in a three-car collision at a Greenville intersection as he and Mrs. Bowles were driving to Florida. Garrett's Black Devils won the 58th district tournament here Saturday night by coming from behind in the last quarter to down the McDowell Daredevils, 58-49. ### Twenty Years Ago

(March 8, 1956)

The possibility exists that a 10 per cent county road levy will be submitted to vote of the people at the November election this year, County Judge Henry Stumbo said here this week. The newest addition to Prestonsburg's growing businesses is the Floyd County Credit Bureau, which will be in operation after April 1. Pupils at the Martin consolidated school returned to classes Wednesday after enjoying a vacation declared last Friday when a scarlet fever scare developed there. ### Thirty Years Ago

(March 7, 1946)

Lone bid for a contract from the federal government for construction of the Dewey flood control project on Johns Creek, was submitted by the Ryan Construction Corporation, Evansville, Indiana. Herschel Conley, 38, was instantly killed Saturday afternoon at a railway crossing at Garrett by a C. & O. passenger train when in an effort to escape he leaped from his truck which he had stalled on the tracks. The McDowell high school Daredevils, coached by Estill Hall, emerged champion of the 58th district basketball tournament at Garrett last week-end, downing Wayland in the finals, 42-25. Casey Newsome, 30, died Friday night at the Beaver Valley hospital, a few hours after being shot in the head at his home at Drift. The First National Bank, of Prestonsburg, plans a branch bank at Martin, Russell Hagewood, cashier, announced this week. Ten-year-old Ella Mae Walker died at the Gearheart hospital, Martin, Friday night, of burns sustained Friday morning when her nightgown ignited from fire in an open grate of her parents' home at Hunter. The Prestonsburg City Council Monday adopted an ordinance directing the sale of $85,000 worth of bonds to construct a Science building and brick gymnasium for the high school here. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Jay Shepherd, of David, a daughter, March 3. There died: Mrs. Sallie Fitzpatrick Blackburn, 46, at her home on Middle Creek, Thursday; David Alley, 43, of McDowell, at the Beaver Valley hospital, Thursday.

Forty Years Ago

(March 6, 1936)

Construction of a three-story fireproof addition to the present courthouse here and remodeling of the old courthouse building are expected to be begun within the next six weeks, it was said Monday. Joe Lucas, 21 years old, of Garrett, was shot through the head three times and instantly killed, Wednesday afternoon at a trestle of the Standard Elkhorn Coal Company near Garrett. Construction of a theatre building designed to be the largest in the Big Sandy valley was started this week by H. L. (Taggett) Allen, to occupy a part of the lot between the Baptist Church and the home of the late Hiram Harris, on Court street here. Thieves broke into the office of Miss Ella Noel White here and stole most of the Red Cross supplies that had been accumulated there for distribution among the poor. The sub-station of the Inland Steel Company at Wheelwright was destroyed by fire Thursday morning, resulting in an estimated loss of $15,000. There died: Daniel Jones, 73, at his home on Middle Creek, last week; R. L. Ousley, of Maytown, at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, last week; A. E. Whitt, 59, at his home at Garrett, Thursday; Bob Ousley, of West Prestonsburg, Monday at the Paintsville General hospital.

Water District Board Votes Improvements, Asks Planning

Commissioners of the Beaver Elkhorn Water District in their meeting last Wednesday made decisions looking to immediate extension and improvement of water services and also to long-range plans for services in the sprawling system, probably the state's largest in point of area covered.

In the area of immediate action the commission:

1. Approved plans and instructed engineers to prepare for contract-letting for the setting of meters on both Right and Left Beaver Creeks, the replacing of old lines in portions of Estill and Wayland, and work on the main to extend water service from Brush Creek to David by April 15.

2. Supply water requirements of Allen in both the old and new sections.

3. Supply the city of Hindman and other Knott county consumers along the line route 50,000 gallons of water daily, the city to lay a main to connect with the Beaver Elkhorn water supply at a point west of the Golden Years Rest Home at Lackey. The city of Hindman has received a $598,000 grant for construction of the water main but has not yet begun work.

4. Make available to the Mud Creek Water System a standby supply of water through a new line to be laid up Clear Creek into Mud Creek. This action was taken, it was said, at the request of engineers of the Public Service Commission. Cost of this work is estimated at $250,000.

Looking to future projects, the commissioners instructed Kenney Engineers, Lexington, to proceed with plans for sewers for the entire district. Phase I of this plan is expected to be completed by mid-May. This is a project which could cost $15 million by the time bids on the actual work are asked.

The engineers also were directed to prepare plans for water service to residents and businesses in the Melvin-Weeksbury area.

Members of the commission recommended the district to continue with the planning of two 50-unit low-rent housing complexes, one for each of the Beaver Creeks, and to locate acreage for a park or recreational facility in each of these two areas.

Application has been made and a commitment received for $300,000 to finance the extension of service to Stephens Branch residents and the coal preparation plant there.

Attending the meeting were J. C. Wells, chairman, and John Milton Stumbo and Mrs. LaFaye Hughes, commissioners. Kenney Engineers were represented by W. H. Kenney and Ernie Colter, design engineer.

Girl Scout Week, March 7-13

Members of Girl Scout Troop 665, Prestonsburg, watched Mayor William O. Goebel, Jr., sign a proclamation designating March 7-13 Girl Scout Week in Prestonsburg. Commenting on the organization's 64th anniversary, Mayor Goebel said "Girl Scouting has grown in our community as an organization that reaches out to other individuals and groups as partners in the business of making a better world."

Leach said Friday's rain "has slowed the fires way down," but, he added, the danger was far from over as 11 old fires had rekindled over the past week-end and six new fires had occurred in the district.

Harry Nadler, director of the Division of Forestry in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, said, "The rains have quenched the fires temporarily, but if the area dries out again and more winds come up, more fires could spring up."

Nadler said that damage from the fires could run as high as half a million dollars, with half the total in burned timberland, at an average of $8 per acre, and the other half in watershed damage, loss of wildlife, soil damage and loss of esthetic values.

Leach pointed out that damage to forest land would have been even greater if the fires had occurred a few weeks later "when the sap starts running more freely." Although large trees were not consumed by the flames, Leach said saplings up to two inches in diameter are generally killed by such fires and larger timber is often rendered more susceptible to fungus and other diseases. "The value of the timber in the affected areas was probably reduced by about 20 per cent," Leach said. He also stressed that water runoff is increased by the burning of leaves and undergrowth, thus contributing to the possibility of later flooding in the area.

Although most of the fires probably originated from the activities of persons burning off garden areas during the recent warm, dry and windy weather, many, according to Harry Nadler, were deliberately started. Nadler said several persons have been apprehended, charged and sentenced in connection with the fires. Leach said local forestry officials and county law enforcement officers have three leads on probable arsonists in this county, although no arrests have been made.

The spring fire season normally runs through the second quarter of each year. The five-year average for acres burned is 17,000 which means that the current rash of forest fires has more than doubled the state average already, with the heat of the forest fire season yet to come.

the situation with Allen early in January and assured him that the Bureau of Highways would look into ways to cure the problem.

KY 122 is a state-maintained highway and, as such, is the responsibility of the Bureau, Roberts said.

The project will involve raising the grade of the road bed, improving the drainage system and surfacing. The work will be performed from a point one-half mile south of the KY 680 junction at McDowell and extend south approximately 1.5 miles.

"The reconstruction is estimated to cost $254,000 and should be completed by November of this year," Roberts said.

Lake Begins Rising To Summer Pool

Impoundment of water to raise Dewey Lake back toward the summer pool began last Tuesday afternoon, Dean Murray, Dewey reservoir manager, said this week.

The water has been rising at the rate of .4 foot every 24 hours, but this rate will increase with heavy rainfall.

The higher lake level will not interfere with the dock improvement project in Brandy Keg Cove, since excavation of silt and extension of the concrete boat launching site there have been completed. Pouring of concrete walkways and construction of the dock building were begun this week.

Board Names New Facility For Ex-Coach

The Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting Saturday voted to name the new McDowell lunchroom-physical education facility "The Pete Grigsby Fieldhouse" in honor of Pete Grigsby, Jr., longtime basketball coach at McDowell, now assistant superintendent of schools and destined to become superintendent upon the retirement next June 30 of Supt. Charles Clark.

Mr. Grigsby was also named by the board to the five-member group which will administer this county's share of the $5 million "flow-through" fund in the severance tax package for the financing of improvements in the coal counties. He will represent the board of education on the Floyd County Severance Tax Council. Other members will be the county judge, the mayor of Prestonsburg, and two at-large members to be named by the governor.

Hugo Miller was named acting principal of McDowell schools, pending the recovery of Lloyd Stumbo, principal of the schools there, who recently suffered a heart attack.

Two vacation days for pupils were voted for state tournament time—one day, Friday, March 19, for the state girls' tournament, and Friday, March 26, for the state boys' meet.

The next board meeting date, April 3, was set for hearing the report from the Division of Buildings and Grounds, Department of Education, of its findings made in its survey of the physical needs of the Floyd county school system.

Three Arrested On Rum Counts

Three liquor arrests highlighted the week's activities of law enforcement offices in the county.

State Troopers Goble, Weedman, Williamson and Stumbo netted 156 assorted pints and half-pints of liquor last Thursday after a search of the residence of Clarence Martin at Stumbo Hollow, near Drift. Martin was charged with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages. Monday, the same troopers arrested Earl Salisbury at Hunter after they allegedly found him in possession of 12 fifths of whiskey and seven cases of beer. Salisbury was booked on illegal possession.

An investigation Friday by Deputy Sheriffs Doug Lewis and Linzie Hunt resulted in the arrest of Harlos Hall on charges of possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale and selling alcoholic beverages in local option territory. Hall executed bond Monday.

Other booked at the county jail, charges against each and arresting officers follow:

Wess Wallen, drunk driving, by State Trooper Shelton; Frank D. A Universal Metric System

By WILMAY

Many read with interest the recent article, "The Great Beast," by Homer Robinson, of Prestonsburg. Old newspapers and magazines disclose that these things have been in progress for some time. Each year, numbers play a more vital part in the lives of everyone—numbers for social security, the armed services, ownership, licenses, accounts. In Switzerland bank accounts are numbered, no names. Much of the world's gold and silver is on deposit there, namelessly, and it is the only nation off bounds in war. No country attacks it. Switzerland is regarded and treated as a neutral. As for numbers, today concerns now ask for the last two digits of your phone number when filling your order, rather than for your name.

In his article in The Times Mr. Robinson mentioned the number, 666, which is being used extensively. This number will play a major role in the last days, along with the mark that people must have in their right hand or on their foreheads in order to buy and sell during the seven-year tribulation preceding Christ's final return for the millennium. Read Revelation 13: 6-18; 14:9-13; 16:2.

The metric system originated in France late in the eighteenth century. A meter equals 3,380 feet, and in the metric system every type of measurement is associated with it. In 1965 Congress had a bill sponsoring a study of benefits to be derived from the Metric System, which NASA adopted in 1970. Unwelcome as it may seem to the majority—particularly oldsters—that system offers some advantages. More than one hundred nations are already employing it. The change here must be gradual, so shoppers can grow accustomed to requesting several meters of fabrics; a liter of oil, syrup, or milk; or four grams of margarine, while drivers try to master the new highways signs. The transition will create some confusion, but it appears to be inevitable. Its final worldwide adoption is not anticipated before the close of this century.

The hand of God in all this is easily seen by biblical scholars. The image in King Nebuchadnezzar's dream that Daniel interpreted represents periods in history of separate world governments, four of which have passed into oblivion, the last being the Roman Empire, (anything except worldwide today). One more world government must appear before Christ returns the second time to usher in the thousand years of peace. Who can question the near approach of the next world kingdom whose signs multiply annually?

For decades there has been a movement toward a one-world church. Since its inception in 1948 the World Council of Churches has strived for this goal. At present, eleven denominations—some large, strong ones—are cooperating for the express purpose of merging. Secular and Christian literature carry descriptions of plans for the coming world church, which is closer to realization than most individuals believe. The one-world church and one-world government will go hand in hand.

Blueprints for a universal system of measurements and a one-world currency are obvious steps in that direction. Since 1945 the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development has been in existence, though better known as the World Bank. With headquarters in Washington, D. C., its initial fund was a mere ten billion! It provides loans to member nations and private investors as well. Anyone can quickly decide which country supplies most of its funds!

Replacing the World Court, the International Court of Justice came into existence via the United Nations, approximately three decades ago; moreover, Floyd county proudly claims its first head, her own Green Hackworth from Middle Creek, who received his start in politics under the late Congressman John Langley, likewise a native of Floyd. Mr. Hackworth, now deceased, was named to the highest honor in the Floyd County Hall of Fame when it was launched in 1955. Still called the World Court by many, the International Court renders judgment between states and nations on international law. Again Floyd scores heavily, for Dr. Lewis Harkey Mayo, alumnus of Prestonsburg High School, eldest son of the late W. P. Mayo and Reba Harkey Mayo (well-known artist) is an authority on international law, who has been adviser to President Eisenhower and other officials for some time. Dr. Mayo is presently one of the vice presidents of George Washington University, where Maytown's renowned Tallent basketball stars got an inside track through a fellow Maytownite, Nickie D. Turner, now president of the Commonwealth Bank and Trust Company, of Sterling, Virginia. (And still some outsiders think we are all hillbillies!)

This last paragraph shows the prestige of our county. Preceding ones help reveal the steady move toward closing days of history, as Dr. Billy Graham and many leading evangelists and theologians maintain, though no man knows the day or hour when the Son of Man will return. In the near future we hope to discuss the two beasts of Revelation. The first will head the one-world government which Kissinger and many more seek, and the other will command the one-world church.

In our society today, the same as since time began—we are all mutually accountable to others.

We can scarcely do anything that doesn't involve others. Our friends, our families—or someone is usually effected by our actions.

The ancient story of the men at sea in a boat, and one of them began to bore a hole in the bottom of the vessel. On being remonstrated with, he answered: "I am only boring under my own seat." Yes," said his fellow passengers, "but when the sea rushes in we shall all be drowned with you." So it is! Few of our actions fail to involve others.

We help as well as we hinder. The good in the world is host always brought about through the actions of people. Someone said: "We do good to another mostly in minute particles." Then it is the little things that count.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: "Every day we make our offerings—one way or the other."

One of the sure signs of spring (at least from a fisherman's standpoint) occurred this year during the last week of February. That's when word got out that the white bass were beginning to run in the South Fork of the Cumberland River. For those anglers who have fretted away the dreary winter months, the first white bass run of the year is welcome news, even if they don't actually get to fish these first runs. For fishermen see this as the beginning of the annual spring cycle which brings on some of the year's best fishing.

These first white bass are usually small fish, and almost invariably males, yearlings anxious to answer the biological urges which send members of this species into the tributary streams on their annual spawning trips, or "runs," as the white bass fishermen call them.

These early runs are usually short and sporadic. The fish are responding to a rise in water temperature, and a cold snap will send them back into the lakes where they have spent the winter. But as the temperatures continue to climb, the white bass will return to the tributaries in increasing numbers.

Then, usually about the time the dogwoods bloom, the runs are in full swing. Word travels swiftly among white bass fishermen, and anglers converge on areas where the whites are active. Often, what is normally a quiet and placid stretch of river takes on the appearance of a carnival, with fishermen standing shoulder to shoulder on the bank or wading in the stream itself, while non-fishing family members picnic, gossip, or just enjoy the warm spring sun.

On some days, it seems that everyone is catching fish, while on other occasions no one can even get a strike. Again, weather is often the factor which determines angling success. White bass fishing is best on overcast days and when the water is slightly murky—a visibility of about 18 inches is ideal.

When both the sky and the water is clear, the experienced white bass fisherman can still score, but most of the average fishermen never see his success. The "pro" will be streamside well before daylight and will stop fishing at about the time most of the other anglers are arriving. He will show up again at sundown and fish well into the night, often catching his limit of 60 white bass.

The favorite baits are live minnows or do-jigs, but small floating-diving lures, spoons or spinners are also used. The beginners should show up with a variety of lures, then copy the tackle and techniques of the successful fishermen.

Kentucky's white bass runs first came to the attention of the angling public with the impoundment of the Dix River to form Herrington Lake in 1924. For years, the Dix offered about the only opportunity for fishing the runs, but with the building of other lakes in the state, good white bass fishing now occurs at Cumberland, Dale Hollow, Barren and Nolichucky. Whites have been stocked in other lakes, so in the future there should be an increasing number of locations offering some good fishing for this species.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife's public relations division keeps track of the white bass runs throughout the state with its fishing report, which appears in many newspapers and on many radio stations throughout the state as well as on the weekly Kentucky Afield television program. So, the news will reach you, if you're interested, and it won't be long now.

Our Fragile Earth

Dams have been recent sources of environmental controversy. Little questioned until the last decade, U. S. dam building has proceeded at a record pace since the founding of the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Corps of Engineers and similar agencies during the early years of this century. Now almost every dam project has its detractors.

Common reasons for dam proposals include flood control, irrigation, recreation, water storage, electricity production and fish and wildlife enhancement. A combination of these reasons usually form the basis for a proposal, although flood control is the most frequent reason for eastern U. S. dam proposals.

Flood control need is obvious in most cases. The usual situation is that homes, businesses and industries have already been constructed in downstream floodplains and need protection from periodic flooding. Not only that, but valuable farmland is sometime flooded at critical times, as are highways and other public facilities.

Irrigation is locally a major reason for building dams, especially in our western states and other arid world areas, including the expansive Aswan Dam area of Egypt. The stored water is piped through canals or viaducts to potentially farmable dry areas.

Public agency constructed lakes built solely for recreation are rarities because recreation is usually an inherent secondary asset. This recreation includes water sports, camping, hiking, and picnicking.

Water storage is valuable to cities in need of adequate public water supplies and the water can even be piped over long distances to supply these cities.

Electricity production is the primary reason for the construction of some impoundments and many early TVA dams were authorized for this reason. These structures are not as important as they once were in total energy production, producing only about 4 percent of U. S. energy consumption, but they do remain important as local energy producers.

Major dams are not primarily built for fish and wildlife enhancement, although this has been touted as a side benefit. Wildlife enhancement is usually a nebulous benefit, but the number of game fish produced in waters behind a dam is usually greater than the number of game fish present before the dam was constructed.

Although the reasons listed have been advanced as excellent ones for building dams, each structure must be individually evaluated. The criticism has been leveled that too many times dams have been constructed on inflated or non-existent merits, while the disadvantages have been downplayed.

Ecologists and environmentalists have been particularly outspoken on this issue. They contend that intangible values are fleetingly considered or not considered at all. In many cases, they have been joined by various citizen groups, local landowners and professional people.

There is a growing concern in America about the necessity of many of these structures, built primarily for flood control, electricity production, and-or recreation.

Objections to dams have been raised from nearly every segment of society. Farmers and other landowners complain because their land is bought (too cheaply, most say) and flooded by the resultant reservoir waters. Ecologists decry the loss of animal and plant life and the alteration of ecosystems. Recreationists bemoan the taming of wild rivers. In some cases, archaeologists are disturbed by water covering valuable artifacts. Taxpayers are alarmed at the costs involved and purists are saddened by muddy lake banks, siltation, traffic, trailers, and careless, littering boaters.

Confrontations between pro- and anti-dam forces are commonplace throughout the U. S. and the world, but one of the classic stand-offs is occurring in Kentucky. The Red River, in Wolfe, Powell and Menifee counties, is a watershed proposed for taming by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. Originally authorized in 1962, the proposed dam had been locally discussed at least 20 years previously. In 1954 a specific request was made by a group of local citizens to dam the scenic Red River for flood control. At a 1963 hearing in Stanton, none of the 200-odd people present opposed the project.

Construction funds were appropriated by Congress in 1967. In another hearing at Stanton in that same year the Sierra Club first publicly voiced its objections to the proposed structure.

The Sierra Club contended that irreparable damage would be done to the unique environment of the Gorge area. They cited the rare plant and animal assemblages and some natural arches present in the watershed as being worthy of protection, not inundation. In 1968 Justice William O. Douglas walked through the upper gorge area and the news media put the controversy on the front page. In 1969 Governor Nunn announced his support for an alternate dam site and the Corps agreed to a restudy; they later proposed a dam approximately five miles downstream. Planning and engineering work on the downstream site was completed in 1973 and presented to an overflow crowd at Stanton that summer. Most attendees were against the dam and the matter again became a public issue, figuring prominently in a 1974 senate race. By this time the Sierra Club was bolstered by thousands of citizens who realized the ecological value of this unique area.

In late 1975, Governor Carroll announced his opposition to the dam and the Corps of Engineers abandoned its 14-year effort. Environmentalists accurately hailed it as a landmark victory.

Two kinds of chicken from one great chicken place.

One place called Kentucky Fried Chicken.

You see, Colonel Sanders knows that different folks have different tastes. Take Original Recipe for instance. Almost everybody loves its secret blend of 11 herbs and spices the Colonel spent a good chunk of his life perfecting.

But some folks like a crunchier crust on their chicken. They're the types who go for Extra Crispy. It's tender and juicy on the inside like Original Recipe, but crispier and crunchier on the outside.

Whichever type you are, come on in for some of our "finger lickin' good" chicken. And be sure to bring these coupons with you.

Clark Tells Board Of Effort To Get KEDR in Budget

The KEDR XI board of directors met Tuesday in the KEDR XI office here, and Charles F. Clark, chairman of the board and superintendent of Floyd county schools, reported on efforts to have Educational Development regions restored to the governor's budget. Mr. Clark is heading an intensive statewide effort to prevent dissolution of educational development regions when current funding expires June 30.

Also appearing on the program were Harold Doane, director of the Division of Statistical Services, Bureau of Administration and Finance, and Capt. Matthew Broderick and Capt. Jerry Brewster, of the U. S. Marine Corps. Reo Johns, executive director, KEDR XI, and other KEDR XI staff members reported on program activities.

Average union wage rates for building trades workers in cities of 100,000 inhabitants or more increased 1.0 per cent in the fourth quarter of 1975, the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor reported.

Hall Is Director Of AEP Service

He later served as manager of the Point Pleasant area and manager of the Logan-Williamson Division for the company before returning to Kentucky as manager of Kentucky Power's Ashland Division in 1969. ## tax tip of the week

BY H & R BLOCK

WORKING DEPENDENTS

QUESTION: My teen-aged son expects to make $1,000 this summer working at two jobs. He is saving the money. Can I still claim him as a dependent on my tax return?

ANSWER: Yes. The fact that your son will earn $1,000 will not prevent you from claiming him as a dependent. Since none of the $1,000 is to be spent by him for his own support, you probably have no problem in establishing major support. And your son would not have to file a tax return since his income is not sufficient to require it. However, if income tax was withheld from his salary, he will want to file a return to get a refund of the total amount withheld since he has no tax liability. Your son's filing for a refund would not prevent you from claiming him as a dependent.

These two old photographs of Prestonsburg taken shortly after the turn of the century, show a community of fenced garden plots and open lots separating two-story frame houses and several barns. The view at top faces Prestonsburg from the Town Branch side of the river and shows the old road leading to the ferry operated for years by the late Reuben Clark (later the site of the Town Branch bridge). The bottom photo views the town from farther downriver showing the old grade school building (steeped structure at left). The house indicated with a check mark is believed to be the Quisenberry residence on the corner of Front and Goble streets, which was torn down in recent weeks.

Traffic Deaths Lower in State—99 in 2 Months

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky State Police (KSP) reported 99 traffic fatalities during the first two months of this year, which is the lowest recorded figure for January and February since 1965 when 96 fatalities were reported.

The figures compare to 134 traffic deaths for the two months last year and 111 the year before. Additionally, 40 deaths occurred on the state's roads during February, resulting in the lowest total for that month since 39 were reported in 1954.

Truett A. Ricks, KSP commissioner, said he felt that the major contribution to the decrease is that the number of state troopers has increased by approximately 20 per cent.

He added that most accidents occur on secondary roads, and with the added manpower, his agency is better able to patrol these areas.

Ricks pointed out that another encouraging statistic is that more vehicles than ever are registered in Kentucky and that Kentuckians are traveling more miles each year.

In 1954 when only one fewer fatality was recorded for February, 749,516 passenger cars were registered and 9 billion miles were traveled across the state as compared to more than 1.6 billion registered automobiles in the state last year. Officials estimate that more than 25 billion miles will be traveled across Kentucky this year.

W. Va. Firm Begins Building Near Allen

Construction began this week on a building on US 23, south of Allen, which will house sales, parts, service and rentals department of Machinery, Inc., and opening of the company's branch there is expected by late May.

Work on the structure is being done by K. E. Clifton & Son, Grayson contracting firm. The building, location of which is across US 23 from the Alpik Motel, will have a floor area of 4,000 square feet and will be of prefabricated steel construction. All-electric, the building will have central air and heat in all departments except in the repair shop where infra-red heat will be used.

Machinery, Inc., which is headquartered in Charleston, W. Va., with a Huntington branch, is a distributor for the J. I. Case Co., manufacturer of tractors, and Schram, Inc., which produces air compressors and rotary drills.

Each year the Veterans Administration provides some training for about half of the nation's 9,000 new physicians, medical residents and medical students.

Local Explorer Post Formed

Pictured above are members of the recently-formed Floyd County Explorer Post. They include (from left to right) Gary Dotson, Jamie Latta, Scotty Walker, Marty Osborne, Chuck Hughes and Ron Shupe. Not pictured are David Caudill (post photographer), Jerry Price and Rick Ellis.

The post, which is sponsored by the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad, will assist the rescue squad on certain calls in addition to the Explorers' traditional activities of camping, boating and backpacking. In order to join the post, boys must be 15 years old or must have completed eighth grade.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS OF RADIO REMEMBERED ON KET, MARCH 13

Radio. The medium that made the world smaller, better informed and infinitely more entertaining. Orson Welles' "The War of the Worlds" and Fibber McGee and Molly—those were "The Good Old Days of Radio."

Relive "The Good Old Days of Radio" Saturday, March 13, at 8 p.m. (ET), on Kentucky Educational Television (KET). The special tribute to the first 50 years of broadcasting launches KET's second annual public awareness and fund-raising campaign, FESTIVAL '76, March 13-19.

Hosted by Steve Allen, this nostalgic, lighthearted trip takes viewers back to the days when life was simpler and there were certain things you could count on happening over the air each week to make you feel better, more secure: Fibber McGee's closet door opening to the sounds of incredible clutter; George Burns closing a show with "Say good night, Gracie"; Charlie McCarthy squabbling with Edgar Bergen; and Lowell Thomas signing off his newscast, "So long until tomorrow."

"The Good Old Days of Radio" recalls how Franklin D. Roosevelt "used radio with the precision of a Picasso applying paint to a canvas"; how Walter Winchell "peppered the air waves with his machine-gun delivery"; how "Amos 'n Andy" captured audience loyalty in a way approached by no other show; and how Groucho Marx—after 15-year effort—finally got a hit show in "You Bet Your Life."

From Welles to Winchell, from McCarthy to Marx... those are "The Good Old Days of Radio" Saturday night, March 13, on KET.

Play on Hemingway On KET Thursday

A new play about Ernest Hemingway premieres Thursday, March 11, at 9 p.m. (ET), on Kentucky Educational Television's HOLLYWOOD TELEVISION THEATRE.

Entitled "The Hemingway Play," the drama examines the famous author's life by presenting on stage at the same time four characters, each depicting a different phase of Hemingway's development.

"I had the idea that if, instead of doing a biography in a straight chronological line, I could restructure time, I could show a writer of genius at different stages of his development," said playwright Frederic Hunter, a former African correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor. "Thus the contradictions in his character could be played against each other."

"The Hemingway Play" takes place in a Madrid restaurant after the bullfights. Characters in the drama are Wemedge (Tim Matheson), a young journalist; Hem (Perry King), a writer of about 30 just beginning to have wordly success; Ernest (Mitchell Ryan), a writer in his 50s, full of magnetic energy and dynamism but beginning to doubt his ability to keep up the flow of creative energy; and Papa (Alexander Scourby), the grand old man of American letters.

Hemingway has influenced American writers for many years. "The Hemingway Play," an example of the programming for FESTIVAL '76, KET's second annual fund-raising drive, allows Hemingway fans an opportunity to observe his development as a writer.

LEAVES HOSPITAL

Mrs. Lucy Ransdall has returned to her home here from Highlands Medical Center where she received treatment.

From 1966 to 1968, the world's largest auger was used in mining operations, in eastern Kentucky. The Kelly Giant, with its 6-foot diameter bit, is now retired in Breathitt County.

A complete change to returnable bottles for beer and soft drinks would save one per cent of the total U. S. energy budget or the equivalent of 150,000 barrels of oil a day.

City Stresses Need For Motorists To Turn Parking Meter Dial

Prestonsburg officials said this week that a great deal of confusion has resulted because city police do not turn parking meter dials before issuing overtime parking citations.

"Many people have got in the habit of depositing a coin in the meter and then not turning the dial which actuates the timing device, depending on the police officer to turn it and hoping in this way to get more time out of the meter," one city official explained. He stressed that police officers had been instructed to issue a citation when the red flag is visible in the meter window.

"If the person who has parked has not turned the dial, then the officer will proceed with the issuance of the citation," the official explained.

Senator Replies to KY 80 Opposition

In response to editorial criticism by the Lexington Herald of Governor Carroll's plan for construction of KY 80, State Senator Jim Hammond, of Prestonsburg, wrote Herald editor Don Mills last week:

In reading your editorial on Sunday, February 29, 1976, about the severance tax package and your allegation that Kentucky 80 was the weakest part of it, I wondered whether or not your analysis included both the long and short run in reaching your conclusions. I would agree with you that it is a shame that Kentucky 80 has to be built solely out of state funds, but the Southeast Asian Conflict of the 1960's caused the Appalachia highway funds to be frozen and diverted to finance the war. With the conclusion of the Asian Conflict and with a change in priorities brought about by the Republican administration in Washington, Appalachia and Eastern Kentucky were forgotten; therefore, Kentuckians and Eastern Kentuckians economically were big losers as a result.

With no federal funds available, the financing of Kentucky 80 had to come from state funds. The coal industry and the people of Eastern Kentucky are willing to have an increase in severance tax placed upon them, at a time when the coal market is in a state of recession, in order to build the much needed highway.

The severance tax will be increased from 4 to 4 1/2 percent and the minimum increased from 30 to 50 cents on the ton. Some of the monies derived from the increase in severance tax will be earmarked to retire the financing of Kentucky 80. Therefore, the financing of Kentucky 80 is derivative from a tax increase upon the people and the industry of Eastern Kentucky and not out of present tax revenues.

With the completion of Kentucky 80, the Cumberland River Valley and the Kentucky River Valley will be linked finally to the Big Sandy River Valley. The reconstruction of Kentucky 80 will further make the rich Cumberland coal fields of Eastern Kentucky more accessible, thereby aiding in the resolution of the energy crisis of this Commonwealth and this nation. The economic impact will be the further development of the area commercially and industrially. With such progress, the so-called "Interstate 75 Development Corridor" between Cincinnati, Lexington and Knoxville will benefit by the further cumulative effect of taking Eastern Kentucky from the Huntington, Charleston, West Virginia trade market; all of which is to say that Lexington and Central Kentucky will probably benefit commercially in this sense as much as Eastern Kentucky will.

In the long run, with the further projected development of Eastern Kentucky economically, the per capita income will raise, thereby increasing the state's revenues generated from personal income tax and sales tax; corporate and business income tax will increase; and with the increase in demand for property, the property taxes to the state will increase. Hopefully, there will be a decrease in the welfare rolls of Eastern Kentucky with the generation of economic activity resulting in jobs; thereby saving the Treasury of Kentucky much needed tax revenues being spent in this area. With this increase in the revenues, more monies will be available to spend on the priorities of education, conservation, health, and crime prevention.

Governor Carroll's economic development plan with the inclusion of a reconstructed Kentucky 80, will allow all of us to leave a legacy of self-supporting prosperity instead of one of human suffering, degeneration of human dignity, and welfare in Eastern Kentucky 20 years from now with a price tag to correct that will be astronomical. If you have not considered the long run effects of the reconstruction of Kentucky 80 in analyzing Governor Carroll's economic development plan, I hope that you will and that your conclusions will be that the Commonwealth of Kentucky has to have Kentucky 80 reconstructed. Governor Carroll's wisdom and leadership in bringing this to a reality should be applauded.

In 1801 Maj. George Michael Bedinger who had come from Boonesborough to Blue Lick Springs in 1779 to survey land, established a ferry across Licking River. Nicholas County Court set ferry rates of three shillings for a coach, wagon, chariot and driver, six pence for one horse and man, one penny each for sheep, goats, hogs or lambs and two shillings for four-wheeled chaise, phaeton and driver.

Co2 extinguishers; 10 yellow, duck (Janesville price range) fire coats (sizes to be determined later); 10 black, light weight fire helmets (standard, same as M.S.A.); 10 winter helmet liners to fit helmets above; 10 pairs fire ball gloves; 10 pairs fire boots, steel toes, steel shanks, 3/4 length, quality equal to the siren boots (sizes to be determined later).

KET Features Edith Piaf

To the people of France, Edith Piaf was probably the greatest singer ever known. An international star, dazzling talent and dauntless soul, she was their heroine, immortalized by the unique and compelling singing style that made her famous throughout the world.

FESTIVAL '76, Kentucky Educational Television's second annual fund-raising drive, offers a film biography of Piaf, "I Regret Nothing," Sunday, March 14, at 10 p.m.

"She was a monster," says singer-composer Charles Aznavour, a close friend for years. "But we say 'monster' in French when somebody is doing more than something."

Born Edith Giovanni Gassion, she became Piaf, meaning "little sparrow," after entering the professional circuit. Her voice pulsated with songs of her experiences—from her childhood in a Normandy brothel to the emotional heights and depths of her personal and professional life. Without bitterness or regret, and very often with an earthy humor, she would sing about love, loneliness, despair and courage. "Je Ne Regrette Rien," or "I Regret Nothing," became Piaf's signature tune.

Piaf sold over 40 million records and toured worldwide. She also discovered and encouraged some of France's leading singers and actors. "I Regret Nothing," narrated by Louis Jourdan, contains distinctive interviews with many friends and associates.

Honored for Tourism Slogan

Mrs. Anne Coots, of Taylorsville was introduced to the members of the Kentucky House of Representatives last week and received a citation honoring her as the person whose inspirational slogan, "Kentucky—Any Reason . . . Any Season," was chosen as the Commonwealth's new promotional trademark for the tourist industry. Department of Public Information Commissioner James C. Vernon said Mrs. Coots' slogan was chosen from among 10,000 entries submitted in a recent statewide slogan selection contest. Mrs. Coots told the legislators she thinks Kentucky has a great deal to offer and she would encourage anyone to vacation here.

TWIN SISTERS ARE HONORED ON THEIR 82nd BIRTHDAY

The 82nd birth anniversary of twin sisters, Mrs. Eliza Taylor Blackburn and Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor Spears, was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen H. Blackburn, February 29 (though their birthday was February 26).

Relatives gathered, following morning church services, bringing covered dishes of many varieties of foods to add to those prepared by the hostess.

At the buffet dinner the honorees were seated at the dining table, with a centerpiece of yellow and white daisies. Other guests sat at their table or at folding tables nearby, or at tables arranged in other sections.

A prayer of thanks was offered by Charles Spears and a large cake, provided by John and Mae Newberry, was placed before the honorees. Candles were lighted and the group sang, "Happy Birthday."

Pictures were taken of the honorees; then, of them and another sister, Mrs. Bertha Cornette, and a brother, John Taylor.

Many gifts were received. A time of reminiscing, featured by many anecdotes, was enjoyed. The family anecdotes intermingled amusement and respect, and the deepest regard was expressed for these two mothers, who had reared their nine children with knowledge and reverence for God, and who through many years had served the Lord and people enthusiastically and unselfishly.

The stories recalled how these mothers had served their husbands and children well and, though both were widowed early in life, they, by the help of the Lord, brought up their children with regard for moral and spiritual values and determined that each would get all the education he or she would take.

One comment was this: "We love and respect our mothers for their training and because they didn't leave us to 'do our own thing' till we were old enough to make wise decisions. Though none of us have set the world on fire, we learned honesty, sobriety, responsibility and reverence."

Mrs. Blackburn's children attending were the host and hostess, Glen and Kathryn Blackburn and their children and grandchildren; Glenda and Bob Larson and Robin, of Somerset; Pat and John Page, Morehead; Fonetta Blackburn, Lexington; Cheryl and Dale Meade, Lisa and Mark, Leslie Kay and Jeffrey Blackburn, Mickey and Sharon Blackburn, all of Betsy Layne; Mae and John Newberry, of Louisa, and Billie Jean and Dean Osborne, of Betsy Layne.

Of Mrs. Spears' family present there were Charles and Requa Spears and son, Bill, Rt. 3, Pikeville, and son Andy, of Lexington; Madge and Clyde Mullins, and son Stephen, of Elkhorn City, and Angeline and James George, Betsy Layne.

Other children of the honorees, calling by phone, writing, sending cards and gifts were Clyde Blackburn, Jacksonville, Fla.; Lenora and John Smith, Ponca City, Okla., and Betty and Squire Hall, Lexington.

In addition, greetings came from several grandchildren and great-grandchildren from distant places.

Nieces and nephews joining in the birthday party included Brook Taylor, Elster and Fay Blackburn, Keither and Irene Blackburn and daughters, Elizabeth Blackburn and Sharon Sword

CHOOSE A CAR LIKE MOTOR TREND'S EXPERTS. CHOOSE DODGE ASPEN.

Why did Motor Trend magazine choose Dodge Aspen and Plymouth Volaré over AMC Pacer, Chevy Chevette, and Cadillac Seville?

"...the bodies were designed with the aid of computers and extensive wind tunnel testing...the feel and response of a small car with the comfort of a much larger vehicle...visibility and ease of entry and exit were the motivations for the interior...taken as a complete package...one of the highest overall rankings we have ever seen, and certainly the highest this year."

These are some good reasons why Aspen beat the competition. And some good reasons why you should have a good look at the unbelievable Dodge Aspen.

A Gift that Anyone Can Give . . . a Smile

It costs nothing, but saves much. It enriches those who receive, without impoverishing those who give. It happens in a flash, and the memory of it sometimes lasts forever. None is so rich that he can get along without it; none so poor that he is not enriched by it. It creates happiness in the home, fosters goodwill in business, and is the counteragent of friends. It is rest to the weary, daylight to the discouraged, sunshine to the sick, and Nature's best antidote for trouble. It cannot be bought, borrowed, or stolen, for it is no earthly good to anyone until it is given away. If you meet someone too burdened with grief or worry to smile, just give him one of yours. For nobody needs a smile so much as he who has none left to give.

Woman's Club Stresses Pageant Contestant Search

Every young girl dreams of becoming Miss America. The girl who is selected Miss Floyd County 1976 could be the next Miss America.

Now is the time of decision for any young lady in the Floyd, Martin, and Magoffin county area who qualifies, Mrs. Kenneth Brown, president of Prestonsburg Jr. Woman's Club, said, in calling for candidates to enter the pageant, which will be held Saturday night, April 24, at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse.

She called for civic and social organizations in the area to sponsor candidates and for individual young ladies to submit their own names as entries. Information regarding entry can be procured by calling entries chairwoman, Mrs. James Risner, at 886-8607. To qualify, the entrant must be between the ages of 18 and 28 on September 1, 1976, must be a high school graduate and never married.

Mrs. Risner pointed out that many entrants in previous pageants did not realize they possessed a quality of talent until they considered entering the contest. In urging civic and social organizations to sponsor candidates, Mrs. Risner said each member of the organization should consider young women they know personally, relatives, or daughters of friends, and should encourage the girls to enter the pageant.

Poise, beauty, and talent are the major requirements. Each contestant will be judged in evening gown, swimsuit and in the presentation of her talent. Judging of the candidates will be based on the same values as considered at the Miss Floyd County Pageant and at the National Miss America Pageant.

The winner of the Miss Floyd County Pageant will be provided a $200 scholarship which will enable her to continue her education at the college of her choice.

Betsy Layne Wins District

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

The Betsy Layne Bobcats won the 58th district basketball championship at the Allen Central High School gym Saturday night by defeating McDowell Daredevils, 76 to 67.

Coach Wm. Newsome's five came through with the championship trophy after playing two hard-fought ball games in which he relied on his bench, and his bench came through on every occasion. The Bobcats' first win was over the Wheelwright Trojans and it took two overtimes for Betsy Layne to win it, 60 to 58. Betsy Layne trailed through out most of the game but caught up and tied it at the end of the regulation period on a jump shot by Jim Rose, and in the second overtime Rose again came through with a field goal with eight seconds remaining to win.

In this game Bruce Stapleton and Randy Ferrell came off the bench and scored eight points each in the second half. Rick Roberts took scoring honors for his team with 18 points. Coach Francis' Trojans were led in scoring by Jeff Riley with 28 points.

The win over Wheelwright moved the Bobcats into the championship game. Both Betsy Layne and McDowell move into the 15th regional tournament at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse. The regional will begin Thursday night with Betsy Layne facing Sheldon Clark at 7, and the Virgie Eagles going against Feds Creek in the second game.

In the district title game the Bobcats again relied on their bench as Randy Ferrell came through for the winners. Mike Hall had one of his nights on the boards, scoring 14 points. Rick Roberts played his usual fine game with 25 points and Randy Ferrell scored 20. McDowell's Buddy Osborne had one of his better nights as he fought the boards and scored 24 points. David Grigsby had an outstanding night with 17 points.

McDowell advanced to the championship game by winning over Allen Central by a score, 80 to 68. The score doesn't indicate how close the game was really played, as Coach David Turner's Daredevils exploded in the closing minutes to pull away with a comfortable lead. Bubby Osborne was bombarding the basket inside as he scored 26 points and Terry Tuttle, tremendous from the outside, had the same total. Coach Howard Wallen's Rebels were led in scoring by Jack Holthouse and Rick Prater, each scoring 16 points.

In the tournament opener on Wednesday night the Prestonsburg Blackcats lost to the Allen Central Rebels in a close, hard-fought game, 67 to 64, as Rick Pack scored 22 points and Rick Prater connected for 16.

The boys' regional tournament will not play on Friday but the lower bracket will resume play at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse on Saturday night at 7, Johnson Central going against the Dorton Wildcats and in the nightcap McDowell facing the Belfry Pirates. The semifinals will be on Monday night and the championship game on Tuesday night.

Prestonsburg Man and Friend

Mike Wells, of Prestonsburg, (left) and Pete Rose, Cincinnati Reds' star, were photographed last Thursday at the Rose home in Cincinnati while publicity pictures were being made for McCulloch products. Mr. Wells is territory manager for the McCulloch Division, Hayward Distributing Co., Columbus, Ohio. The photograph here shown was taken with the silver bats symbolizing Rose's three batting championships as background. Later in the week, the Cincinnati third-baseman went to Pike county, where he is reported to be interested in the coal business. A few days later, he left for Florida—hopefully, for spring training.

Sports Afield

By Ted Kesting

"The cost of keeping a dog has more than doubled during the past four years," says Gundogs Editor Jerome B. Robinson of Sports Afield. "Feed costs have skyrocketed as national shortages of animal protein have combined with rising grain prices to push the cost of nutritional packaged dry foods up to $20 per hundred pounds. Ballooning steel costs have pushed the prices of kennel wire, posts and fixtures to a record high; a 4 x 12-foot kennel six feet high with concrete floor and a gate at one end will cost $300. You'll spend another $50 to build a good wooden doghouse."

And that's only the beginning, as Gundogs Editor Robinson points out additional cost factors.

At current prices, the puppy you pay $100 for will probably have cost you $875 by the end of his first year. Over a ten-year canine lifetime a 50-pound dog will cost you between $3000 and $3500 in feed, kenneling and veterinarian costs alone.

If you choose to have your dog trained by a professional, you can expect to pay at least $100 a month for a minimum of four months during each of his first three years and a month or two each year thereafter. Add a probable cost of $2400 for training during eight of the dog's ten years. Depending on location, many trainers will bill you extra for use of liberated game, shotgun shells, special diet, conditioning, etc.

You can save money by training your own dog if you have the time, patience and know-how, but do-it-yourself training also costs more than it used to.

The days of a $3 visit to the veterinarian are gone forever. Simple immunization shots, fecal examinations, worming procedures and general physical examinations will probably cost you at least $50 per year, provided no serious ailment is discovered.

The rising cost of dog food is hard to combat. A hunting dog needs to be fed the very best diet available in order to have the stamina to run all day. A 50-pound dog will eat about two pounds of dry, nutritionally complete food per day for maintenance during nine months of off-season living. During hard training and the actual hunting season he'll likely need a supplemental feeding of a pound of meat a day. If you have only one dog, this supplemental feeding may be covered by table scraps, but if you have more than one dog you'll wind up buying the supplemental meat in cans, and the cost of feeding your dog during hunting season will run about 60 cents a day. Unless you have some low-cost food source, the average hunting dog will eat $225 in dog food this year.

McDowell Advances In Girls' Regional

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

The 15th Regional Tournament for the girls got underway Monday night at the Johnson Central fieldhouse with the two tournament favorites advancing into tonight's semi-finals. Sheldon Clark won over Pikeville and McDowell defeated the Belfry girls by a score of 55 to 41. Coach John Turner substituted freely and held a big lead throughout the game. Highscoring Geri Grigsby ran into foul trouble in the first half as she picked up her fourth personal foul with two minutes remaining in the first half. She sat out most of the third quarter, however, with her limited time of play, she still scored 32 points.

Last night (Tues.) in lower bracket play, Millard faced Johnson Central and Betsy Layne took on Johns Creek to finish out the first round play for both brackets. In the first game tonight, the McDowell Daredevilles will face Sheldon Clark, and in the second game, the two winners from Tuesday night will play at 8:45 p.m.

The Regional Tournament for girls will take Thursday night off and the championship game will be played Friday night at 8 p.m. at the Johnson Central fieldhouse.

STUDY FINDS SIGHT DEVELOPS IN FIRST 6 MONTHS AFTER BIRTH

BERKELEY—The belief of millions of mothers to the contrary, eye-sight in infants develops to normal adult levels during the first six months after birth, University of California, Berkeley scientists have concluded.

The finding contradicts a long-standing belief that significant sight development continues in children through ages two to seven, said Dr. Elwin Marg, University of California professor of physiological optics and optometry and head of the research team.

If confirmed, the finding could lead to a cure of amblyopia, a common eye malady that causes partial blindness in one eye.

If the woods are wet and you have no dry kindling when you wish to start a campfire, look around for a couple of last year's bird nests. Most birds build their nests in sheltered, rainproof spots in a tree. One or two nests should provide you with plenty of tinder-dry twigs to start a fire.—SPORTS AFIELD

Columbia Gas To Cut Rates

Frankfort, Ky.—The Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) has granted a $601,984 rate adjustment decrease to Columbia Gas of Kentucky, Inc., due to a decrease in the wholesale cost of gas from the firm's supplier, Columbia Gas Transmission Corp.

The PSC order affects gas supplied on and after March 1 and pertains to all rate schedules.

Commission Secretary Richard Heman, Jr. said the PSC has previously provided for such rate adjustments through a "purchased gas adjustment clause" which outlines conditions for rate adjustments due to an increase or decrease in the wholesale cost of gas.

Want Trees? 12 Million for Sale

Frankfort, Ky.—Does your land need trees? Then plant some.

The state has about 12 million tree seedlings for sale and ready for spring planting. That's two million more than last year.

Although most landowners don't think of planting trees until the weather warms, according to Harry Nadler, director of the division of forestry in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, the first part of the year is the best time to order trees.

The orders are filled on a first come basis. So, said Nadler, a landowner has a better chance of getting the species he wants if he orders early.

"Naturally," said Nadler, "the sooner the nurseries receive the orders, the sooner they will be able to get the seedlings on their way to the landowners."

The nurseries began lifting the one and two-year-old seedlings in mid-February. The lifting and shipping reach a peak about the first of March and continue until about the first of April.

Nadler said that the nurseries had a good supply of the more popular species such as loblolly, shortleaf and Virginia pines, black locust, yellow poplar and black walnut. Some species such as white pine, white oak, white ash and cottonwood are in short supply.

The division is again offering a special wildlife packet. The packet contains a mixture of 100 pine and hardwood seedlings and sells for $5.00.

This year all species will be available in bundles of 250, 500 or 1,000 seedlings of a single species. The price varies with the size bundle and the species. The price for a bundle of 1,000 varies from a low of $15 for loblolly pine to a high of $25 for black walnut.

Price lists and order forms can be obtained from the division of forestry office, and most Soil Conservation Service, Extension Service, and Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service offices.

Landowners who would like assistance in determining the best species to plant on their particular site can get help from one of the division's service foresters. To obtain the help, contact any division of forestry office or write Director, Division of Forestry, Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, 207 Holmes Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS (Attorney General)

How often have you wished that you had the slim, trim figure advertised as a benefit of membership in health clubs or spas?

Many Kentuckians have responded to such advertising. They are enticed into a health spa and are enrolled in their programs by signing an installment contract under which they are obligated for several years. Membership is non-cancellable, non-transferable and non-refundable.

The Federal Trade Commission reports that in recent years many health spas have used false, misleading and deceptive advertising and sales presentations. These practices are characterized by high-pressure sales tactics, false bargain offers, and deceptive pricing.

The length of available enrollment periods may vary, though contracts are usually written for the longest time possible. Signing those contracts may also involve the buyers in much more of a financial burden than they originally expected.

Examples include: facilities which have been promised, but aren't available; minimal employee qualifications and training; memberships sold to people not physically able to participate; facilities which may never open.

Once a person has joined a health club or spa, there is little protection for him if he moves or the spa closes without warning. The monthly payments are still due.

To deal with these problems, the FTC has proposed a trade regulation rule with provisions for refunding, cancellation, a cooling-off period and a two-year maximum length for contracts. Public hearings are planned on this rule, and it will probably be several months before the rule becomes effective.

There currently appears to be an enrollment campaign under way to lure prospective buyers into signing contracts before this rule becomes law. At this time, consumers have limited protection against the health spas which engage in these unscrupulous practices.

Until these standards are uniformly adopted, what should Kentuckians do to avoid such problems? If possible, hold off making a commitment. Wait for the protections provided by the proposed rule. If you decide to join a health spa or club, be certain to read the contract before signing it, and decide if this is a wise investment for you.

If you do become a victim of false, misleading or deceptive practices within the health spa industry, or have another consumer complaint, contact the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, Room 34, The Capitol, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Sentenced for Welfare Fraud

Frankfort, Ky.—A Barren county couple has been found guilty of welfare fraud and has been sentenced to one year in prison each.

The case involved the couple's procurement of $2,000 in food stamps, also assistance payments from the Department for Human Resources, through false information.

Both entered pleas of guilty to the charge of "obtaining money under false pretenses."

The court action was brought after a Department for Human Resources caseworker learned the couple was making regular bank and rent payments but reporting little or no monthly income.

Court records show the couple failed to report a month's salary income of $596 which resulted in their ineligibility for continuing assistance payments. Prosecution evidence revealed that they had provided false information to the caseworker for a period of over 18 months resulting in the receipt of $2,000 in state assistance.

After serving their sentences the couple will still be liable for restitution of these monies to the state.

Measures taken by Human Resources to prevent fraud include requiring caseworkers to make home visits and thoroughly investigate cases if discrepancies are thought to exist and requiring caseworkers to report any such discrepancies to their supervisors. Cases are reviewed at least twice a year; some of the difficult cases are reviewed every three months.

Clients are required to report all major changes in family situation and income immediately to their caseworkers. In addition, applicants are required to sign and attest to the truthfulness of statements made on applications for assistance and food stamps.

Health Systems Governing Board To Meet Thursday at Winchester

The governing board of the new East Kentucky Health Systems Agency (EKHSA) will meet tomorrow (Thursday) for the first time since being installed at the agency's annual meeting last month. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the RECC Building on Route 60, west of Winchester, and is open to the public.

Among the matters to be discussed are: The application for official designation as a health systems agency; plans for public review and comment on the application; and a preliminary report on suggested revisions of the bylaws submitted by several groups.

The governing board is composed of 30 representatives from the nine sub-areas making up Kentucky Health Service Area No. 2. This area covers 68 counties with 1.3 million residents in east Kentucky. Each sub-area is represented on the board in proportion to its population. The total board is composed of 17 consumers and 13 providers.

Members of the governing board from the several sub-areas are:

Buffalo Trace—Frances Collins, Flemingsburg; Gateway—Dr. Warren H. Proudfoot, Morehead; FIVCO—R. C. Wells, Louisa, R. Morris Stafford, Ashland, Charles Hall, Ashland; Big Sandy—T. Michael Adams, Salyersville; Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., Prestonsburg; Dr. Mary Pauline Fox, Pikeville; Kentucky River—Bill Bates, Blackey, County Judge Babe C. Noplis, Hazard, Robin B. Williams, Hindman, Dr. Gregory A. Culley, Hazard; Cumberland Valley—Dr. C. M. Dupier, Jr., Williamsburg, Mrs. Gladys F. Hoskins, Harlan, Henry J. Garrison, Manchester, Richard M. Johnson, London; Lake Cumberland—Dr. Roscoe D. Kelly, Somerset, Vester Lewis, Stearns, Dr. Victor Henry, Russell Springs; Bluegrass—Dorsey P. Curtis, Winchester, Pauline Gould Gay, Lexington, Kenneth Clawson, Richmond, Louis F. Ison, Harrodsburg, Adam Pence, Jr., Stanford, Dr. Allen E. Grimes, Jr., Lexington, Jack W. Buchanan, Winchester, Dr. Peter P. Bosomworth, Lexington, John R. Rowan, Lexington, Russell Hester, Lancaster; Northern Kentucky—J. Preston Field, Falmouth.

Officers of the agency are: C. M. Dupier, president; Roscoe Kelley, vice-president; Pauline Gay, secretary; and R. Morris Stafford, treasurer. The officers serve on the agency steering committee along with J. Preston Field, Frances Collins, Dr. Henry Campbell, Dr. Warren Proudfoot and Judge Noplis.

The East Kentucky Health Systems Agency was formed in response to a new federal law which mandates a restructuring of federally supported health planning and resources development programs. If the EKHSA application for recognition as a health systems agency is approved by the Secretary of HEW, the agency will become responsible for carrying out major health planning and resources development activities in east Kentucky. The application for designation will be available for public scrutiny by March 16, and several public hearings will be held throughout the east Kentucky health service area to receive specific testimony and comments on the proposal. The governing board will consider all comments received under advisement and may make further revisions in the application prior to its formal submission to HEW on April 16.

Individuals wishing more information about the agency or wanting to get on the EKHSA mailing list should contact Big Sandy Comprehensive Health Planning Council, Sallye Hill Stumbo, planner, 404 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, telephone 886-6869, or write to East Kentucky Health Systems Agency, Inc., P. O. Box 531, Winchester, Ky. 40391.

Prices received for the 1975 soybean crop averaged well below a year earlier and reduced attractiveness of beans as a competitor with corn for land area. Prices received for beans during the coming months may affect the actual acreage planted.

Art Weekends Slated at Parks

Most people are aware of the beauty of Kentucky State parks, their convenience and excellent service. Not everyone knows that the Commonwealth was a pioneer in presenting programs devoted to the arts.

One of the parks that could be categorized as an "early settler" in such presentations is Natural Bridge State Resort Park in Powell county, a short distance from Mountain Parkway. Starting Feb. 28-29 with Robert Powell, his paintings, drawings and history book, and concluding May 29-30 with the Marylou Whitney Dollhouse, this park, tucked in scenic and rugged Red River country, offers a person of the arts each week-end in between.

To show the diversity of this program, there will be Lilly Mae Ledford of the original, popular Coon Creek Girls group. Her contribution to the world of music is unquestioned. She will appear at Natural Bridge March 14; then May 15-16 Kentucky's outstanding author Jesse Stuart will be a special guest at the park to talk with visitors and autograph books. Writer of poems and short stories and author of many books, Jesse Stuart is also a lecturer. His work has been translated in different languages, as he himself has taught and worked in different countries. His heart, however, has always been in W-Hollow and Eastern Kentucky.

At another park not too far from Natural Bridge, an April week-end of "Learning by Doing" will find park guests painting with the prestigious Kentucky Heritage Artists. This art program is sponsored by Cumberland Falls State Park near Corbin and the Kentucky Department of Parks.

Registration to participate in the personal painting experience starts at Cumberland Falls 2 p.m. April 2.

Vocational Education Need Stressed by Gov. Carroll

Frankfort, Ky.—Vocational education is high on the list of priorities for Gov. Julian Carroll, whose budget includes a $70 million appropriation for the state program in the 1976-'78 biennium. Gov. Carroll told a U. S. House subcommittee during a hearing in Lexington recently that Kentuckians believe a sound total education system is necessary, and that vocational education is an intricate and vital part of that system.

The $70 million budget is designed to strengthen and improve vocational education facilities and curricula. The governor said there will be a significant increase in vocational education enrollment during the next decade.

"In looking over the statistics for the job market in our state," said Gov. Carroll, "we're going to need about 80 per cent of our work force in some 10 to 12 years to have job training that does not require a baccalaureate degree."

Governor Carroll said he feels the young people of America are being misled when they are told it is necessary to have a college degree in order to be a success in life.

"We have not make it socially acceptable for them to accept vocational or technical education which does not lead to a college degree," he said.

The governor told the subcommittee that state education officials are trying to change this trend.

One of the major problems the state personnel department is experiencing is the large number of people with PhD's and Master's degrees applying for jobs that require only a four-year undergraduate degree or a high school diploma, Gov. Carroll explained. This is an indication that people are not being channeled into careers or vocations that need qualified workers. Gov. Carroll said the people with PhD's and Master's degrees are overqualified for many jobs the state has available.

FOOD AN AMERICAN HERITAGE BY SHARON SHOPPER

A MESSAGE FROM SHOPPERS CHOICE HOME ECONOMIST

Have you heard all you want to hear - and then some - about America's Bicentennial? Let Shoppers Choice bring you one more aspect of America's history - our food heritage.

Although very few of us make our own donuts and cookies, there was a time in our culinary heritage when no American kitchen was considered to be well equipped unless it had metal stamps. Emigrants from Europe brought with them rolling pins and boards with surfaces that bore indentations of birds, animals and humans. Cookies shaped in this way are called Springerles.

Even the word "cookie" is a take-off from the Dutch word "kookje" which means "little cake". Although the British still call these flat cakes biscuits, cookies have definitely developed as an important part of the American oven. (American Food by Evan Jones) For a truly all-American cookie, try the following recipe for Chocolate Chippers.

Chocolate Chippers

2/3 cup shortening	3 cups all-purpose flour
2/3 cup margarine, softened	1 teaspoon soda
1 cup granulated sugar	1 teaspoon salt
1 cup brown sugar (packed)	1 cup chopped nuts
2 eggs	2-6 oz. pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces
2 teaspoons vanilla	Heat oven to 375 degrees.

Mix together thoroughly; shortening, margarine, sugars, eggs and vanilla. Stir in remaining ingredients. Drop dough by rounded teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart onto ungreased baking sheet. Bake 8-10 minutes or until light brown. Cool slightly before removing from baking sheet.

To The Communities Served By The Highlands Regional Medical Center, Prestonsburg, Kentucky

The Board of Trustees and Administration of the Highlands Regional Medical Center feel that the general public should be advised that the National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees, RWDSU, AFL-CIO, and its subdivision 1199 W. Va. have notified the Medical Center that they intend to issue a strike notice on March 9, 1976 to the Medical Center signed by Leon Davis, the International Union President in New York City. According to the Union Representatives, they intend to start this strike in ten (10) days to two (2) weeks. Since the interruption of hospital health care services could possibly affect everyone, the Medical Center feels that the public should be informed about the efforts which it has made to resolve the labor dispute at the Medical Center and the action which it is now being forced to take to protect life and property.

The Medical Center began negotiating with the Union on December 8, 1975 after the Union won bargaining rights for the service and maintenance employees and licensed practical nurses and technical employees of the Medical Center. The Union demanded increases in wages and benefits for its membership costing approximately 3.3 million dollars over a two-year period, not to mention the increased cost to the Medical Center of goods and services and improvements in wages and benefits for the other one-third of the work force which is not represented by the Union. The Medical Center's expense budget for operating the entire facility in the current fiscal year is only 5 million dollars. The Medical Center advised the Union that it could not afford to meet these demands. On December 18, 1975 and January 23, 1976 the Medical Center made proposals to the Union containing substantial increases in wages and fringe benefits. The Union rejected these proposals and continued to demand increases which the Medical Center could not afford to pay and still remain in operation to serve our community. Since little progress was being made in the negotiations, the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service appointed a Mediator to assist the parties in their efforts to reach an agreement on a contract. After the Union rejected the Medical Center's January 23rd offer, the negotiations deteriorated to the point that the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service appointed a Federal Board of Inquiry pursuant to the hospital amendments to the National Labor Relations Act to hear and evaluate evidence pertaining to the bargaining position of each side.

On February 17, 1976, the Federal Board of Inquiry issued its written Fact Finding Report and Recommendations after hearing and evaluating three days of testimony concerning the ability of the Hospital to meet the Union's demands. The Federal Board of Inquiry report found that the Union's demands were exorbitant and recommended a schedule of wages and benefits which it felt that the Medical Center could reasonably agree to. At the first negotiation meeting following the issuance of the Board of Inquiry's Fact Finding Report and Recommendations, the Medical Center told the Union that it accepted the wage and fringe benefit recommendations of the Board of Inquiry and the Medical Center revised its wage proposal to the wage increases recommended by the Federal Board of Inquiry. The Medical Center also offered to institute a Pension Plan and grant an additional holiday. The Medical Center did not agree with the Board of Inquiry recommendation on a union shop provision, but it did agree to require employees to maintain their membership in the Union once they voluntarily joined and to checkoff dues for the Union. The Medical Center agreed to make some of the changes in contract language which the Union had requested, in spite of the fact that the Board of Inquiry recommended that the contract language proposed by the Medical Center "be adopted by the parties as their negotiated agreement".

At the first negotiation meeting following the Report of the Federal Board of Inquiry, February 25, 1976, the Union told the Medical Center that they were rejecting the recommendations of the Federal Board of Inquiry. On March 8, 1976, the Union rejected the Medical Center's last, final and best proposal which included wage increases which equaled or exceeded the wage rates recommended by the Federal Board of Inquiry. On March 8, 1976, the Union gave the Medical Center notice that it intended to strike the facility.

The Medical Center does not want a strike and has done everything possible to try to avoid a strike. Since this Union has issued its ultimatum to strike the Medical Center, it is forcing the closing of the hospital and skilled nursing facility.

The medical staff has been advised to send their patients to other health care facilities in the surrounding areas and the Medical Center will do everything in its power to assist in this placement. Patients presently in the Medical Center will be transferred to other institutions or discharged as rapidly as possible. Every patient must be out of the Medical Center prior to the strike deadline date to insure their safety and protect them against loss of life.

The Medical Center will attempt to keep emergency room services and emergency surgical services available to our community if adequate trained and qualified personnel are available to do so. We are advising all hospitals in our neighboring areas by letter of our plight at this time and we sincerely hope they will be able to provide the necessary services and care to our community members until we are able to resume such services here at Highlands.

The Board of Trustees and Administration of the Medical Center deeply regret that this Union has placed its own priorities above those of providing the professional health care critically needed by the citizens of this community and has seen fit to force the closing of the Medical Center. We sincerely hope that the Union will re-examine its decision to close the Medical Center. In the meanwhile, we cannot afford to gamble with your lives.

Murder Suspect Held In Martin County Jail

Inez, Ky.—An Inez man charged with two counts of murder remained in the Martin county jail last week under $50,000 bond for each count.

Michael Branham, 19, was charged last Wednesday with the shooting deaths of his sister, Bessie Branham, 21, and his father, Bee Martin Branham, 59. The shootings occurred at the Branham residence in the Coldwater area early Wednesday.

RUNNERUP

The Kentucky Education Association is sponsoring this year the KEA Bicentennial Spelling Bee, and the Floyd county bee was held at the regional library here Saturday morning. This bee is in addition to the contest sponsored annually in this area by The Huntington (W. Va.) Herald-Dispatch.

Beekeeping, Alive and Humming

State Beekeeping Specialist William Eaton holds a "super" from a Kentucky beehive. Other supers or frames are still in the hive below. The bees will make and store up to 200 pounds of honey per hive on these frames during one season. This picture was taken in the spring when the bees were just beginning to produce honey.

Not too many people think about bees this time of year, but William Eaton is an exception. Eaton is the beekeeping specialist for the Kentucky Department of Agriculture and the editor of "The Kentucky Beekeeper's Quarterly." Eaton is concerned with bees year-round as he prepares the magazine which is circulated to the state's beekeepers. As beekeeping specialist for the Commonwealth, he also is called upon to help deal with problems, certify bees for transportation out of Kentucky and present programs to beekeeping organizations throughout the state. Winter is a dormant season for bees, Eaton said. But come spring, things should really start humming—for both Eaton and the bees. Bees come out of their hives to start gathering nectar at first bloom and keep up their activity until cool fall weather slows them down. They then cluster in their hives for the winter. During the bees' dormant season, Eaton works closely with beekeeping groups, helping them improve the quality of honey, as well as stimulating its consumption.

Eaton also deals with local fair officials, helping them promote honey shows and standardize the judging criteria. He feels that the mission of his position is "to improve the quality of honey at the grass-roots level." Quality of honey must be improved, according to Eaton, to "keep in step with the demands of the educated consumer." Honey production is a million-dollar industry in Kentucky with over 600 beekeepers producing the sweet, golden fluid which Eaton calls a "miracle food." Many of the Commonwealth's honey producers have small operations with the average number of hives probably under 10, Eaton said. Only a few approach real commercial production quantity levels of 400-500 hives. For these few people, honey production is a full time proposition; for the average beekeeper, it is just a sideline or hobby. The real role of the honey bee in Kentucky is as a pollinator of fruit and seed crops. Honey and beeswax produced $1.5 million in revenue during 1975. According to Eaton, the pollination value of honey bees in 1960 was estimated between $8-10 million, and would be considerably more now. For beginning beekeepers, Eaton recommends expert advice. Although a person can get everything he needs to start a hive for around $100, experienced help can keep the experiment from going wrong. The dimensions and the location of a hive are critical for raising healthy, productive bees. If the beekeeper does everything right, a colony of bees can produce up to 200 pounds of honey per hive in clover regions. Beekeepers should expect to get stung, warned Eaton. He says he has been stung many times. His advice is "don't be overzealous" and watch out for adverse reactions to the stings. A person who exhibits hypersensitivity to bee stings should avoid beekeeping, Eaton suggested. Eaton also advises consumers that color is not a factor in honey quality. Kentucky produces honey in colors ranging from water-white to dark amber. The color is a product of the type of bloom which makes up the major source of the nectar gathered by the honey bees and each color is unique, he said.

Federal Funds For Mine Co-op Held Possible

Washington—A Knott county group that needs about $16,000 to set up a non-profit coal mining cooperative may get some help from the Federal Energy Administration (FEA). Retired miner Mart Shepherd, of Hindman, said he and other Knott county miners have leases on about 200 acres of land with two coal seams, but several local banks turned them down when they sought a loan to buy used equipment they need to start operation. "Without a loan of about $16,000, we'll lose the leases on some of the coal within two months," Shepherd said. An FEA advisory committee learned of the group's efforts to start a mining cooperative and has recommended that the agency "use its influence and resources to obtain the necessary loan." FEA can't make loans and has no authority to grant the group any money, said an agency spokeswoman. But, the Knott county group has been told by FEA that if it submits a formal proposal to the agency, FEA will help the group find an agency that can grant money for the commercial operation. The cooperative will help people on fixed incomes get coal to heat their homes, Shepherd said. Those who can't afford the coal will receive it free. Others will be charged according to their ability to pay, Shepherd said.

The ozone shield that protects the earth from harmful solar radiation has thinned slightly over the United States and Great Britain during the last four years. But federal scientists believe that decrease may be caused by nature—not man. Researchers with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration suggest that the two per cent decrease in ozone between 1970 and 1974 might be from solar activity, rather than the introduction of man-made fluorocarbons and nitrogen oxides into the atmosphere.

Sky Bridge—Geologic Phenomenon

Receives Degree

Stephen Reynolds Allen received the Bachelor of Science degree in accounting recently from Morehead State University.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, of Prestonsburg, he attended elementary and high schools here. After graduating from Prestonsburg High School, he attended Prestonsburg Community College.

He is presently employed with the Monroe Associates, Lexington accounting firm. His wife, the former Terri S. Hyden, is attending the University of Kentucky, majoring in pharmacy. The Allens reside in their new home on Mason-Headley Road, Lexington.

High above the mouth of Swift Camp Creek in a steep Eastern Kentucky cliffline is Sky Bridge, a ribbon of smooth rock that seems to defy gravity. Perhaps the most spectacular of the 18 major natural rock arches in the newly-designated, 25,600-acre Red River Gorge Geological Area, Sky Bridge was carved by forces of nature—erosion and the weathering process.

Sky Bridge is in Wolfe county, in the Stanton District of Daniel Boone National Forest. It is approximately an hour-and-a-half drive east of Lexington, off Highway Ky-715 and Sky Bridge Road, north of the Mountain Parkway from the Pine Ridge exit. The phenomena of natural rock arches in Red River Gorge evolved out of a geologic process that is more than 340 million years old. Changes in the earth's crust were initiated during the Mississippian period of geologic history, when formations of conglomerate sandstone, limestone and siltstone, overlaid by strata of shale, began to crumble and weather under the rigors of a climatic upheaval which brought about alternating periods of hot and cold weather to a once year-round tropical region. The rock arches were born out of this freezing and thawing which loosened the weaker strata of rock, sometimes causing cave-like tunnels to be formed through narrow, tree-covered ridges. Often, these ridges collapsed, and the dirt and vegetation slid into the river valley, leaving only bare rock spans.

Sky Bridge is more than 40 feet high and more than 60 feet in length. Commanding a good view of the surrounding Red River valley, it may be reached by a four-hour hike from the parking lot on Forest Service Road 24 (Rock Bridge Road), on Swift Camp Creek Trail, part of the more than 40 miles of connected hiking trails in the Red River Gorge Geological Area.

Backpackers on multi-day treks, or day hikers on an afternoon stroll, travel through narrow hollows and rugged forested land that is ablaze with color in the springtime. Wildflowers—large-flowered trilliums, rue anemone, pink lady's slipper and ferns of all varieties—as well as rhododendron, mountain laurel, dogwoods and redbuds, thrive in the moist, rich environment of the forest floor. The warmer weather of spring is also an excellent time for the pursuit of the other wilderness pastimes enjoyed by many in this remote region—rock climbing, whitewater canoeing and bird-watching, among the most popular.

The less adventuresome may enjoy picnicking at Sky Bridge, or photographing the natural bridge from a special observation pont. A footpath leads to the hillside base of the rock arch, where visitors can get a better idea of the immensity of the rock formation by looking up at it from below.

A 30-mile loop drive, on KY-77 and Ky-715, takes motorists through Red River Gorge and near to some of the other points of interest there—Hen's Nest Rock, Tower Rock, Angel Windows, Indian Staircase, Chimney Top Rock and Nada Tunnel, a hand-cut one-lane tunnel that was used by a narrow gauge railroad during the logging boom years in the late 19th and early 20th centuries.

Veterans' interest to the GI Bill continued to soar with all indications pointing to record enrollment during 1976. VA expects that the record number of 2,691,566 veterans who trained under the GI Bill during fiscal year 1975 will be exceeded during the current fiscal year. Fall enrollment figures indicate that nearly 3.1 million veterans would be in training under the program when the new fiscal year figures are available.
