

Gas Strike Ends After 98 Days

Return to Work Starts as Pact OK'd Saturday

The longest strike in Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company's history ended at 12:01 a.m. Sunday after the union membership of Local 3-510, OCAW ratified the company's latest offer of settlement.

Company and union negotiating teams reached a tentative agreement in a meeting at the Hospitality Inn in Lexington, last Friday. The ratification by union membership came on Saturday night and ended a strike that began last October 17.

The settlement offer calls for a 22-month agreement expiring October 15, 1978 with minimum wage increases totalling 94c per hour. Workers will receive 50c upon return to work with an additional 44c per hour, or the percentage increase in the cost-of-living, effective next October 16. Increases in fringe benefits were also included in the settlement with substantial improvements in pension plan and hospitalization insurance.

Some revisions in work rules and contract language were also included in the offer with the union agreeing not to exercise a 60-day strike notice provision for a period of one year.

Other items included the addition of a new employee to operate small compressor units in Perry county and the reinstatement of a union employee who was discharged in January 1976.

Compressor station employees were the first to return to work at 12:01 Sunday morning. Well operators, pipeline inspectors and meter men returned at 8 a.m. Sunday, with all other classifications to report on their regular schedules Monday at 8:00 a.m.

City Offers Aid To Old, Infirm

The city of Prestonsburg this week offered a hand to those who are unable to help themselves during the prolonged period of bad weather, and at the same time asked those who are not in extreme need not to take advantage of the free services offered.

The offer of help was made by City Manager Curtis Clark in the following statement:

Due to the extreme bad weather we have had over the past three weeks, I am sure that there are many citizens who are sick or too old to leave their homes or apartments and who do not have any other means of securing food from the grocery stores or medicine from the drug stores, or other things that are important to their well-being. The city is offering its services to these citizens for those needs without charge.

Artists, Photographers To Meet at May Lodge; Airport Meet Postponed

The eighth annual Winter Week-End for Artists and Photographers will be held, as scheduled, Friday and Saturday at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, a parks spokesman said Tuesday.

The regional airport meeting was cancelled Monday for the second time, however, because of travel conditions. The meeting date has been moved ahead to the night of Feb. 7, at the lodge.

Idled by Weather, Hundreds File at Unemployment Office

One of the busiest places in Floyd county, these days of snow and ice, is the Unemployment Insurance office operated here by the state for Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties. Hundreds of new applications for unemployment benefits have been filed since winter closed in on this section with vice-like grip.

"We're swamped," Mrs. Margaret Blackburn, office supervisor, said.

A great number of the unemployed are workers at stripmines and allied activities. Perhaps the greater number of new filings for unemployment benefits have come from Floyd county, Mrs. Blackburn said, but a single block of upwards of 200 came from neighboring Magoffin where Continental Conveyor was forced to close Jan. 18 because of a natural gas shortage.

This Town...That World

You think you've had your trials in all this cold and snow? Try rounding up enough news to pass for a newspaper. If you see any blank spaces in The Times this week—it's snow.

A sight these tired eyes would like to behold, just now: A crocus peeping above the snow, and a redbird standing by, wondering how-come.

A REPUTATION TO PROTECT

Watt Hale braved the elements last Friday to make an appearance at our office. Said he was mainly interested in serving notice on George Brown that he had no intention of being outdone in the matter of tall tales.

"I don't think George is deliberately out to take away a reputation I've been a lifetime building," he said, "but I think it may not be amiss for me to serve notice on him and all others, including Lennie Moore, that I'll not surrender without a fight."

A SAMPLE

Then, as if to assert his prowess, he told of the old couple who operated a store out in the country. It must have been some such season as we're presently enduring, for the Old Woman said:

"John, that drummer's not going to make it, this time. You'll just have to make out an order and mail it in to the wholesale."

John's hand was something less than Spenserian, but he agreed he would have to get busy. After considerable tongue-twisting and mouth-twisting effort, he finished the order and handed it to his wife.

"Can you read it?"

The woman looked long and hard and finally said, "No."

"Nuther can I," said John. "But we'll mail her, anyhow. 'Them fellers will be able to read it—they're better educated than we are.'"

REMEMBER?

He also wanted to know if I could remember when no young man of courtin' age would venture out without a generous supply of Sen-Sen. Now, there was a mouth deodorant that was calculated to stifle the fumes of moonshine whiskey on the breath and make the swain an object of swooning to the gals.

State Asks Firms To Continue Service, Even If Bills Unpaid

The cost of home heating in certain areas of the county—mainly, in those areas served by small companies operating natural gas distribution systems—has been, to put it mildly, dramatic this winter.

More gas is being used, and it's costing more than in the past as the main suppliers, Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co. and Columbia Gas, were permitted to increase their rates, and these increases were passed on to consumers with Public Service Commission approval.

Hit hardest by higher fuel costs are those on fixed incomes such as Social Security beneficiaries.

One Floyd woman, whose income is a small monthly Social Security check, received a gas bill in the $40 range. When she notified the gas company that she could not pay her bill, it was suggested that she pay in installments.

"But, she replied, 'that will be no help, for next month I won't be able to pay, and I would have a new set of installments.'"

Kentucky leads the nation in coal production, and Harrel N. Kirkpatrick, commissioner of the state Department of Mines and Minerals, said he fears the slowdown caused by the bad weather "may have a snowballing effect."

For example, he said, Kentucky coal used by Tennessee Valley Authority steam generating plants is shipped down the Ohio River on barges.

But because the river is nearly impassable for towboats and their barges, the coal can't be shipped, Kirkpatrick said.

And when it can't be shipped, some operators have no place to store the coal produced by their mines, he said. As a consequence, many mines have closed.

Kirkpatrick said at least a third of the state's 40,000 miners are losing wages.

When Michael Davis returned here last Wednesday night, he found his Arnold Avenue home ablaze.

The fire, which originated in a floor furnace, caused an estimated 75 percent damage of the five-room structure.

Firemen William O. Goebel, Jr. and Butch Joseph were cut by glass and were treated at the Highlands Medical Center.

Girl-Defendants' Plea of Insanity Held Possibility

When they and their father, John Henry Newsome, are brought to trial in circuit court here next month for the slaying of Gerald McBrayer, Gloria and Barbara Newsome may assert the defense of insanity (mental disease or defect), their attorneys notified the court last week.

A court official said the notice does not necessarily indicate definite intent to make such defense; that Kentucky law requires 20-day notice of a defense based on an insanity plea, and that the notice given simply clears the way for such defense if it is finally held feasible.

A Louisville attorney representing James Brannon, who is charged with carrying a concealed deadly weapon, filed a motion to dismiss on the grounds that Brannon has not been able to get a speedy trial. Both the Sixth amendment to the U.S. Constitution and the Eleventh amendment to the Kentucky Constitution provide for a speedy trial of accused persons. Brannon was on one occasion tried in absentia but was later granted a new trial. The case has later been continued several times.

300 Mud Cr. Homes Said Without Water

More than 300 homes in the upper Mud Creek section of the county have been without water for six weeks, or longer, it was said here Monday.

Although lines of the Mud Creek Water District have been run to these and several hundred other homes in the valley, some of those affected are drilling their own wells. Most are carrying or hauling water from the nearest source of supply.

Coal Operator Would Collect $40,000 Escrow

In a suit filed here last week Emmitt E. Conn, of Harold, claims the $40,000 placed in escrow here by a Chicagoan to hold an option to purchase his leasehold interest, real estate and a coal preparation facility for $9 million should be his, now that the optionee has notified him he will not consummate the transaction.

Conn names Seymore Stein as the optionee. Clifford B. Latta, Prestonsburg attorney, also was named a defendant because he is the escrow agent holding the $40,000.

The proposed transaction involved the sale of the Bebe Coal Company, which is headed by Conn.

Terms of the option provide that Stein would be entitled to the refund of the $40,000 if failure to close the transaction resulted from any breach on Conn's part involving inaccuracy or misrepresentation, but Conn claims all information supplied Stein was accurate and true and that Stein in making his demand for the refund has never alleged any breach or violation of any of the terms of the agreement.

Alleging that Stein has attempted to sell the properties to Kentucky residents, Conn claims that the Floyd circuit court has jurisdiction in the case.

Says Emergency Exists at Allen; $30,000 Needed

The Floyd fiscal court in a resolution adopted at its Monday meeting declared the lack of water service in the Allen-Dwale area an emergency and called on Governor Carroll for a $30,000 grant to help restore water lines and provide service to more than 400 homes and 69 businesses.

County Judge Henry Stumbo described the situation there "the worst in the county."

"I realize that Mud Creek has a serious problem and that other problems face other communities, but I think this is the worst," he said.

The court's action was unanimous. According to statistics in possession of the court, 200 residences and 39 businesses in New Allen, 93 residences and 7 business firms in Dwale and 129 residences and 23 firms in Old Allen are affected by the water system failure.

During the court session Judge Stumbo was asked by Arnold Turner, Jr. to name two water commissioners to fill existing vacancies in the Mud Creek Water District.

On Judge Stumbo's recommendation the court voted unanimously to turn its attention first to the repair of roads travelled by school buses and to do other road work later. In other action the court:

—Entered into a lease agreement with Graham Burchett who is to be paid, retroactive to Nov. 15, last, $150 a month for real estate adjacent to Old US 23 which is being used by the county for storage purposes.

—Appropriated $1000 for Community Meals on Wheels and the same amount for the Child Day Care Center.

Floyd Schools Near Reopening As Snow Came

Last Sunday it appeared that Floyd county's schools would reopen the next day after their longest "vacation" ever because of weather conditions. That night a light snowfall cancelled such plans. Three to four inches of new snow fell Monday, light snow continued Tuesday . . . and now school officials aren't certain the schools will open this week.

The schools have been closed since Christmas vacation began, and as of Tuesday 22 days had been missed.

Normally, the term would end May 24 or May 25. Now, if five "calamity days" are approved and classes are taught during five in-service days and during the state basketball tournament, the schools could wind up by mid-June without Saturday classes—if no additional days are lost because of bad weather, and that is by no means certain.

Ice-and-snow-packed secondary roads over which school buses must travel is this county's big problem. The Floyd fiscal court Monday decided these will be the first roads the county road department will tackle when weather conditions permit work.

In many other counties, on the contrary, the cold itself is the problem as gas supplies are low—a situation which to date has not plagued this county.

Paintsville Student Auto Wreck Victim

Earl Spears, 16-year-old Johnson Central High School athlete, was killed almost instantly at 1:30 p.m. Monday when the vehicle driven by his father, Harold Spears, of West Van Lear, skidded on the hill approaching the southern limits of Paintsville, struck an oncoming auto and rammed a guardrail.

The youth was thrown from the rear seat of the small vehicle through its cloth roof and into an embankment. His mother, Mrs. Freda Spears, was taken to a Paintsville hospital, believed to have suffered severe head injuries. His father was treated at Highlands Medical Center and released.

The wreck occurred when the elder Spears pulled into a passing lane on the south side of the hill to pass another car and slid into an auto driven by Michael D. Snow, of Lynch. Neither Snow nor a passenger in his car was injured, it was said.

Numerous minor wrecks were reported in this county Monday.

Nature Trails

By Rufus M. Reed

This hard winter is designed to teach us lessons we couldn't have learned without experiencing its many hardships. Truly it is saying to us: Quit being selfish. Think of the privations and hardships to others; think also of the suffering of our "lesser brothers of the wild," as the Indians called the lower animals. When things are going along smoothly, and we are prospering, we are prone to forget others and live only for self. Hardships of this winter teach us lessons we'll not soon forget.

I'm deeply concerned about the severity of this winter on wildlife. The loss of birds and other animals is going to be heavy. Birds are dying of starvation and the bitter cold; we can ill afford to lose our insect-eating birds and we need our song birds badly. The snows lying on the ground for weeks have covered up the seeds and scattering grain. Birds are starving to death! Recently I saw a flock of birds in an old apple tree eating the half-rotted apples dried up on the twigs.

A friend of wildlife reported to me of finding a screech owl and a downy woodpecker frozen to death in the snow. I found a bluebird which had suffered a like fate. We should think more of the suffering of our wildlife and try to help it when we possibly can. Animals suffer badly in zero weather. I've seen cattle shaking all over on a bitter cold morning. The wild things cannot build fires to keep warm, but they can withstand severe cold if they get sufficient food. If they starve, they will surely perish in zero weather.

This severe cold has brought some rare bird visitors down from Canada. In summer, Canada is always "working alive" with birds, as most song birds go there in the spring to nest and rear their young. But the severe winters of Canada drive the birds south and Canada is a dead, lonely and deserted land.

I saw a flock of Canadian robins the other day; they were moping around an old garden and looked miserable and beaten by the weather. I'm sure most of them wished they were back in Canada, as they had found the weather here worse than in their native land.

I saw a loggerhead shrike down from Canada; it had taken refuge in a hedge row and looked most miserable and forlorn. It flew out of the hedge and fluttered outside my office window, as if it wanted inside where it was warm.

This is a hard winter on deer and rabbits. The heavy snow has covered up the winter plants, such as Christmas fern, mosses, hepatica and the winter sedges, which are browsed on by deer and rabbits. The deer are forced to eat twigs and bark; one often finds bushes completely skinned of their bark where the deer has been browsing.

To escape severe winter storms, birds take shelter in deep evergreens, in old barns, fodder shocks and haystacks. The evergreen spruce pines (hemlocks) shield the birds from the bitter winds. We should plant more spruce pines to furnish winter shelter for birds.

Bird life seems scarcer this winter than I have ever seen it. Even the cardinals have disappeared somewhere, and I used to see large flocks of wild canaries (goldfinches), which stay here in winter and feed on weed seeds. I haven't seen a goldfinch since this hard winter set in. Our quail, too, are suffering from cold and hunger. Their food of weed seeds and scattered grain have long since been covered up by snow. Some quail have frozen to death. They foolishly sit right down in the snow to roost, forming a circle with their heads turned out. New snow falls on them and covers them up; it freezes and they are trapped.

The only birds down here from Canada which seem to be faring well in this bitter cold are the snowbirds (slate-colored juncos). They insure their bodies to the cold by taking a bath in icy water every zero morning!

The white-throated sparrows down from Canada seem more miserable than usual and act as if they are homesick for their homeland. Bird lovers have a pretty fancy about the white-throated sparrows; these birds have a sweet, plaintive song which often seems to express homesickness for their native land. The song is rendered with a soft, quavery whistle, and bird lovers interpret the song as saying: "Ah, me, poor Canada, Canada, Canada." That is precisely what the song seems to say. But these sparrows will not go back to Canada until about the first of April.

ARC Co-Chairman Contends Regulation Hits Small Clinics

Washington, D.C.—Donald W. Whitehead, federal co-chairman of the Appalachian Regional Commission, last week protested proposed Medicare regulations that would affect physician-directed primary health care clinics, including some that are supported with grant funds from the Commission. "This new rule would make it more difficult to provide health care to many Appalachians," said Whitehead.

In a letter to the Social Security Administration, Whitehead noted that the regulations discriminate against small rural clinics as well as new ones. They would set minimum numbers of Medicare persons (250) and minimum levels of Medicare billing ($15,000) for clinics to reach each year as prerequisite to receiving cost-based reimbursement from Medicare.

"These limits appear to be based upon a suggested minimum Medicare charge of $15 per patient visit. Many of the small clinics charge less than that and would be penalized, under the proposed regulations, for their effectiveness in keeping costs down," Whitehead charged.

Whitehead, in a further statement released today, said "The program for which the regulations are proposed falls short of addressing a major rural health problem. It was designed to cover the physician-directed clinics that were developed with federal grant funds during the past decade. Many rural clinics, similarly developed, are too small to support full-time physicians. These smallest clinics are staffed by nurse practitioners, Medex or physicians' assistants, known as physician extenders, who are supervised by physicians from a distant location."

The present Medicare policy denies reimbursement for the cost of care rendered by physician extenders. The Appalachian Regional Commission supports over 100 clinics that are staffed by physician extenders, who act in lieu of physicians, although under physician supervision.

"Appalachia doesn't have enough doctors practicing in outlying rural areas to live comfortably with this kind of restriction," Whitehead said. "That's why the Appalachian governors have unanimously opposed it and called upon the Social Security Administration to base its policies on the realities of rural medicine rather than on the standards of an ideal world which does not yet exist."

The State Cared Enough To Try

The concern of state government for the thousands beset by difficulties from low gas pressures and frozen water pipes during days and nights of bitter cold last week was perhaps best expressed by the activation by Governor Carroll of the Division of Disaster Emergency Services and the round-the-clock manning of telephones to help coordinate efforts to help those in need.

Many in widely scattered sections of the state were helped. Many remain to complain that nobody reached them when help was needed. But the effort was made, and it is heartening to know that state government cared enough to make it.

More heartening to us was the request made by the Department for Human Resources on a hundred gas and electric companies, asking that they continue their services to persons on fixed incomes who may be having trouble paying their bills.

However well-padded the pocketbook, the individual whose home has no heat or water needs help. Yet his plight is comfortable beside that of the old or otherwise helpless for whom a small Social Security or Public Assistance check stands between him or her and starvation, and out of whose small fixed income must be paid utility bills.

We do not have all the answers to questions which arise in such circumstances. Some of the questions that are asked are these:

—Why is my gas rate as high or higher than what folks in Pittsburg and Charleston are paying?

—Why is the gas supply less plentiful in my community, a mile from the well-head, than 500 miles away?

—Why does the Public Service Commission permit gas companies to let their lines go to pot to such an extent that there's a heavy line loss of gas and leave the consumer to pay for it through higher rates?

—Why is my water off when that coal-washer has an abundance?

So the questions run. And they will be asked over and over as emergencies continue to arise.

Although there are few pat answers, it is the duty of every public official and every utility company to join state government in a good, honest try.

The state Bureau for Social Insurance is exploring ways to help these who are on fixed incomes. Such interest in the human situation should extend down to every local official whose influence can bring help not only now but also make the future of growing shortages less dismay.

Water service, Magistrate Roberts said, is pretty consistent as far up the Mud Creek valley as the Morg Hall Branch, a distance of about 12 miles from Harold. Upstream from that point—in Tinker Fork, Tackett Fork and main Mud Creek to the Ligon gap—no water.

Convinced that an adequate supply of water from Pikeville into Mud Creek is an apparent impossibility, Mr. Branham said, "It will not improve—the only solution is another source."

He said there is talk of connecting Mud Creek with the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District and added that that would be a sensible solution of the problem. Linking of the two systems could be effected by construction of about three miles of water main up Clear Creek to Ligon Gap, between the Left Beaver Creek and Mud Creek watersheds.

individuals in a precarious position with regard to the increased cost of utilities and other financial obligations.

"I am sure your company is aware of this problem and will continue service to these citizens, even though some may have difficulty paying their bills on a timely basis," read the telegram.

According to figures made available by the Bureau for Social Insurance, 100,000 persons, the majority of whom are elderly, receive fixed monthly Supplemental Security Income. Some 65,000 families receive Aid to Families With Dependent Children (AFDC) as their primary source of income. AFDC families represent close to 200,000 individuals. Additionally, 560,000 Kentuckians rely on federal Social Security checks, often their only source of income.

At Conn's direction, the Bureau for Social Insurance is currently exploring methods to aid Kentuckians on fixed incomes who may be having difficulty meeting the increased cost of utilities, a problem compounded by the current severe weather conditions.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

because they can't work due to weather conditions.

The slowdown in production will have an effect on the state's economy too, he said, since Kentucky receives revenue from taxes paid on coal.

"We have reports that this last week, as many as a third of the mines have not been able to work," Kirkpatrick said. "Kentucky gets a lot from the severance tax, and of course, when coal's not being mined, the severance tax won't be paid."

Coal operators in Kentucky pay a "severance tax" on the amount of coal produced by their mines. The money goes back to coal producing counties for use as needed.

"It is having national implications," Kirkpatrick said. "It's my understanding that in Pittsburgh where they get this metallurgical coal for steam, they can't get it out of the cars. It's affecting everyone that uses coal."

Temperatures in underground mines remain around 60 degrees year round, so that's not the problem, Kirkpatrick said.

"They can go underground. The problem is handling the coal on top. The problem is in this kind of weather, the roads are slick, the trucks can't get there, some of the large mines load on barges, and due to the river freezing can't get barges," he said.

"At some mines where they wash coal in the preparation plant, it's been frozen up, so we've just had all kinds of problems," Kirkpatrick said.

Another consequence of the weather, he said, is that the ongoing operation to enter the fatal section of the Scotia Coal Co. mine where 26 men died last year is being delayed.

Kirkpatrick said he had hoped workmen would enter the No. 1 Scotia shaft at Oven Fork this week. But now, "it all depends on the weather."

Continued cold and treacherous travel conditions kept court activity to a minimum. Timothy Joe Gibson entered a plea of guilty Monday to a charge of first-degree assault on Ballard Endicott but sentence was deferred, pending the probation officer's investigation and report.

Bobby Gene Hite, who earlier had pleaded guilty to a theft charge, was sentenced to a 12-month term in the county jail, and the term of John Ballard Keathley, who also had pleaded guilty to a theft charge, was sentenced to custody of the Department of Corrections for two years. The order provided that the term is to run concurrently with other terms imposed by the Johnson and Lawrence circuit courts.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS

Attorney General

Kentuckians are receiving their federal and state income tax forms this month. The federal form is more complicated this year and many people will have someone else prepare their tax return. But, regardless of who completes your tax return, remember that you are responsible for your taxes being completed correctly. Here are some practices of which you should be aware.

A tax practitioner may suggest discounting your refund. Under this arrangement the consumer signs a legal document agreeing that the practitioner will receive the income tax refund and give the consumer a percentage upon filing. While not illegal, this practice does mean that the consumer isn't receiving the total amount due him.

Be wary of tax practitioners who guarantee a refund. Remember, you are liable for any inaccuracies in your tax report. If your form is audited, you must be able to personally justify the deductions and all other information.

Do not sign a blank income tax return and leave it for the tax practitioner to complete and mail to the Internal Revenue Service. To insure that your income tax form is complete, review the final document for accuracy, then sign and mail it.

Check the reputation of tax practitioners before you do business with them. Ask friends and neighbors if they have been satisfied with their services. Make sure your taxes are done by someone you have confidence in.

If you have questions about federal income tax preparation, don't forget that the Internal Revenue Service provides a toll-free number to call in Kentucky. The number is 1-800-292-6570. Also, the IRS will provide you with the free publication, "Your Federal Income Tax," to help answer your tax questions. Contact the IRS office for this guide.

Questions concerning preparation of the Kentucky Income Tax should be directed to the Department of Revenue, Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Ky. 40502, or call 502-564-4580.

Remember, YOU are liable for your tax form being completed correctly.

If you have a consumer complaint, write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky., 40601. The office has found that it can deal most effectively with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation call the Consumer Hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960.

Day Care Center Defies Weather

Arnold Avenue Day Care pupils in session.

One school that has not closed a day during the current Deep Freeze is the Arnold Avenue Day Care Center here.

Although some of its pupils come from as far away as Auxier, most of the 20 enrolled showed up for every session during those days when traffic was at a minimum because of roads and streets covered by ice and snow.

The day care center, which has been in operation since August, 1975, is for children, ages 3, 4 and 5, and the fee schedule is adapted to family income. Its curriculum, according to Cleda Wells, director, is designed so that the children may move freely and learn by doing as they change activities, learning to meet different groups of children, to work and converse with others and meet and solve problems. Pupils are provided two hot meals daily.

In addition to Mrs. Wells, the faculty is composed of Brenda Powers, Krystal Hale and Anita Adams. They invite the public, particularly parents of children of this age group, to observe faculty and pupils at work.

IN APPRECIATION

Hadn't heard from Rufus Reed in many weeks till today, and our supply of his splendid Nature Trails suffered. The few columns we had at hand were about other seasons of the year, and we've been saving them till later.

This week's contribution was inspired by Rufus Reed's love for the wild things which are suffering in the snow and bitter cold. We are printing it, hopefully, this week.

"This man Reed is a great guy. He writes nature articles which attract attention all over the country, and he asks nothing for them. Even pays his own postage. What he writes for prosaic people such as I is a labor of love, and if I don't print this bit which I have hurriedly punched out with two fingers while battling a deadline, it might just be that I would never get around to saying how much I appreciate him."

Council Names Mayor Pro-Tem

The Prestonsburg City Council last Thursday named Councilman Hansel Cooley mayor pro-tem, to act in the absence of Mayor Harold Cooley.

Council employed the Paintsville accounting firm of Helton, Butler and Wells to do the city audit this year, but consideration was given to the choice next year of a local accounting firm. It was explained at the meeting that the late date precluded a change of accountants for the upcoming audit.

Responding to a request of volunteer firemen for a pay increase, the Council voted them higher rates of pay on a 90-day trial basis. For automobile fires the volunteers will be paid $3 each; for all other emergencies—bomb threats, brush fires, fire drills and building blazes—$6.

A resolution adopted by the Council commended William O. Goebel, Jr. for his service as mayor.

Jack Clark Hyden was employed as temporary aide to the city manager at a salary of $650 a month. Prestonsburg Community College was authorized to lock the chain barrier on Combs Drive leading into the college campus.

The Council discussed giving its 1941 model fire truck which no longer is in use to Archer Park as an attraction to visitors. If the park cannot find a place for the truck, it will be advertised for sale.

Also, if you are old or sick and your water pipes are frozen, we will bring you water for cooking purposes.

Any working people who are unable to get work because of the weather, we will provide a few days' work shoveling snow, sweeping streets after the snow melts, or working a day or two on a garbage truck, so you can buy food.

Your city government is willing to share what little we can share, so that no one will be without food, medicine, or firewood. We only ask that no one who can afford a taxi will take advantage of this offer.

public instruction, said Monday that plans to make up lost time are not the state's responsibility, but rather a matter for the local districts to work out individually.

However, the Rev. Bob Brown, chairman of the state Board of Education, wants the state Department of Education to compile information on missed classes, with the aim of assisting local districts develop plans.

The state's only responsibility, Graham said, is to approve school calendars and assure that the local districts hold classes the required number of days.

Graham said the state Department of Education will begin screening local districts within the next two weeks to see how many days they've missed.

"The winter's still young, and we'd kind of like to see the whole picture before we decide if we want to recommend any reduction of the class calendar," Graham said.

Gov. Julian Carroll's press secretary, John Nicholas, said that Carroll will ask a group of state officials to meet soon to discuss the school problems.

Nicholas said Carroll's legal counsel, based on preliminary research, believes that only five "calamity days" can be excused from the normal school year.

Facing that reality, many school systems reportedly plan to eliminate spring breaks, extend the school year into June and possibly hold class on Saturdays.

Here's why: State law says the schools have to be open 185 days.

Six of those days can be teacher days; that is, school's open, but the pupils don't have to be there. "In-service," it's called.

Four days can be used as holidays.

That leaves 175 days that the youngsters have to be in classes. The state Board of Education can excuse five days, cutting the total to 170.

Added to that requirement, the 175 days (170 days if five are excused) must be completed by June 30.

Board chairman Brown said that the board has been reluctant to grant "calamity days" when school has been canceled because of snow. But he said the board may react differently this year because of the number of days already missed.

Brown also said that he plans to ask Graham to determine how many days each district has missed before deciding if the state board will approve changing the school calendar.

Most local school officials interviewed yesterday in a random sampling believe that the five calamity days will be granted.

But that's not enough for most, if not all, of the state's some 180 school districts to complete their requirements.

Melvin Gas Company Gets Rate Adjustment

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 13—The Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) has approved a $17,899 gas adjustment increase for the Mike Little Gas Company, of Melvin, due to an increase in the wholesale cost of gas supplied by the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company.

The Jan. 5 PSC order affects gas supplied to customers of the Mike Little Gas Company on and after Jan. 9. Minimum monthly bills will be $3.50.

More than 3200 miles of snowmobile trail have been built under a Minnesota program which provides state funds to assist local units of government. The "grant-in-aid" trail program is administered by the Department of Natural Resources. The state provides 65 percent of the costs of trail development while the local units of government contribute 35 percent. The program covers acquisition, construction and maintenance of trails.—SPORTS AFIELD

Click-Jones Vows Spoken

Miss Sharon Lynn Click and Mr. Thomas Jeffrey Jones were united in marriage at 7:30 p.m., August 21, at the Lancer Church of Christ. Officiating in the doubling candlelight ceremony was Bro. Darrell F. Blankenship. Miss Click is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alroy Click, of Martin. Mr. Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee Jones, of Langley.

The vows were exchanged before an arch entwined with a boxwood garland, interspersed with flowers in shades of pink, blue, yellow and lilac. The arch was flanked by candelabra with matching garland and flowers. Recorded nuptial music was provided by Mr. Randy Click, cousin of the bride. The couple's wedding rings rested on a satin pillow carried by Kerry Gearheart, the ringbearer, and also cousin of the bride.

Miss Click was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a gown of peau de soie and alencon lace in full silhouette, enhanced by an empire bodice with a U-shaped neckline and full lace bishop sleeves. A wide band of lace encircled the full A-line skirt with attached chapel train. She wore an alencon lace cap with illusion bordered in alencon lace falling to the waist. The bridal bouquet was an heir-loom bouquet of pure silk blossoms in hues of pink, blue, yellow and lilac.

Mrs. Donna Lee F. Conley, of Morehead, served as matron-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Susie Roark, Mary Bentley, Cheryl Mosley and Mrs. Tina M. Robinson, whose identical gowns were of pink, blue, green, yellow and lilac dotted swiss with low-scooped necklines, short puffed sleeves and bouffant skirts. Their headresses were ripple-brimmed picture hats. They carried bouquets of baby's breath and carnations tipped to match their dresses. Miss Renee Hall, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Miss Donna Sammons and Mrs. Jane Ann R. Perry attended the guest register.

Thomas Allen Martin served as best man. Ushers and candlelighters were Keith Frasure, Mickey Conley, Kirk Blevins, Bill Stapleton and Martin Gregory Halbert, brother-in-law of the groom.

The mother of the bride was attired in a soft printed gown in shades of aqua. Mother of the groom wore a gown in tones of peach and blue. Each wore a corsage of tipped carnations.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held in the Martin cafeteria. The bridal table was attended by Mrs. Lynn W. Hicks, Misses Sherri Ratliff, Margie Gearheart, Lara Hopkins and Mrs. Belinda J. Halbert, sister of the groom.

The new Mrs. Jones is an employee of the First Guaranty Bank of Martin. Mr. Jones is attending Prestonsburg Community College, where he is studying pre-engineering. The couple is now residing at Warco.

Highways Claim 867 in '76

By JANE HILLARD
Frankfort, Ky.—Fifteen fewer deaths were reported on Kentucky's highways during 1976 than in 1975.
Last year 867 persons died in traffic accidents. In 1975 there were 882.
Any reduction is welcome, but the traffic picture is far more encouraging than a "body count" would indicate. When compared to the billions of miles traveled each year on state highways, State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts says the number of deaths shows a dramatic drop from previous years.
"If looked at in terms of deaths per 100 million miles driven, the impact of our engineering, enforcement and education programs in traffic and highway safety show some really startling results where the annual death rolls are concerned," Roberts said.

He cited safety construction improvements which have been made at known big-accident locations. In the past two years some $44 million, much of it federal funds, have been spent on such measures as reflective pavement markers, improved railroad crossings and removal of roadside obstacles.
Roberts says such efforts pay off. Department statistics show that with more roads, more vehicles and more people traveling, the number of miles traveled on Kentucky roads is nearly seven times that of 1940.
Yet just under 17 deaths were averaged per 100 million miles of travel in 1940, compared to less than four deaths for the same mileage today.
As tragic as the 1975 toll of 882 deaths was, it was pretty well matched with the number of deaths occurring 1955, when 862 persons died. Yet in that twenty year period (1955-'75) highway travel increased from 9.6 billion to nearly 24.7 billion vehicle miles per year.
While the number of deaths per-mile-traveled decreased, the number of flesh and blood people who died is tragically high, Roberts said.
Driver responsibility is necessary to bring down the numbers, according to KYDOT's Office of Highway Safety Programs. A recent study, "Kentucky Fatal Accident Facts—1975," gives some revealing figures for drivers to ponder:
—Most fatal accidents occur in afternoon hours, and the latter days of the week.
—Summer and fall months also see more fatal accidents.
—More deaths occurred in collisions between two or more vehicles than occurred when a vehicle struck another object off the road (387 deaths compared to 319).
—Tragically, 380 persons under the age of 25 were fatally injured in 1975. That's nearly one-third of total fatalities for the year.
As always, one statistic stands out. More fatal accidents were caused by speed and alcohol, or a combination of both, than by any other factor.

CANCER

Answerline

American Cancer Society

(A regular feature, prepared by the American Cancer Society, to help save your life from cancer.)

A middle-aged woman writes: "I use a face cream that contains estrogen, and I know that there is talk about that hormone and cancer. But can it hurt me to just use the cream on my skin?"

ANSWER line: Hormone creams have to be carefully used, and your own individual situation is something to discuss with your physician. You should know that the estrogen in the cream can be absorbed into your body where its action will be the same as if you swallowed an estrogen pill by mouth. This kind of cream is not a good idea for anyone with a cancer history.

A college student writes: "I am planning to do a term paper on the emotional and social effects of different diseases. Can you suggest some reading for me about cancer?"

ANSWER line: There are a number of moving and informative books written by people who have had cancer. Among them are "Reach to Recovery," by Mrs. Terese Lasser, founder of the American Cancer Society's program of that name for women who have had breast cancer; "Why Me?" by actor William Gargan, who lost his voice to cancer. Another compelling book was recently written by Dr. Ernest H. Rosenbaum, a cancer specialist. It is entitled, "Living With Cancer" and can provide you with much insight. Your local ACS Unit also will be glad to suggest other material, and perhaps arrange for you to speak with people who work with cancer patients and their families.

A reader asks: "Do black people get skin cancer?"

ANSWER line: Most skin cancer is directly related to overexposure to the sun's damaging ultraviolet rays, and while black people do indeed develop skin cancer, they do so much less frequently than Caucasians because of the protective pigmentation in their skin. Very fair people are especially susceptible to skin cancer.

A policeman writes: "I am a heavy cigarette smoker and up until now, I haven't been impressed by the anti-cigarette people enough to quit. But now a friend tells me that he read that cigarettes have poison gas in them. Is that true?"

ANSWER line: Yes. Approximately 92 percent of cigarette smoke is composed mostly of a number of lethal gases including carbon monoxide. This means that even though a cigarette is low in damaging tar and nicotine, it can still be dangerous to health. In fact, Sweden, a nation with a high rate of cigarette-related diseases, has just passed a law requiring the listing of carbon monoxide content on cigarette packages to let the smoking public know just what it is getting. Cigarette gas has been getting increased attention since the Third World Conference on Smoking and Health which was held in 1975 in the U.S. with the support of the American Cancer Society. This is just one more reason for a cigarette smoker like yourself to give thought to quitting. Your local ACS Unit can help.

The white-tailed, or Virginia deer that now roam many of the woodland areas throughout Kentucky and many other states, present a curious phenomenon. While the world's wildlife has been decreasing alarmingly as civilization chews up the countryside and bulldozes away the woodlands, deer herds have been growing—so fast, in fact, that in some places they have become the conservationist's number one problem child.

Between the year one and 1800 some 33 species of wildlife vanished from the earth. Another 33 became extinct in the next 100 years and an additional 40 disappeared in the first 40 years of this century. Several other species are now on the critical list, yet today North America is populated with more deer than existed here in the time of Christopher Columbus.

Wildlife experts explain this tremendous growth partly by the fall-off of the number of predators and natural enemies.

Wise and practical administration of state game laws by dedicated conservation officers and sportsmen have also contributed to the increase in the deer population.

But now in some places, deer herds have outgrown their habitats and are pillaging valuable farm crops and endangering human life on the highways. As a consequence limits have been increased and new areas opened for deer hunting. A lot of non-hunters and people who love wildlife deplore the expansion, but when rigidly controlled, hunting contributes to the existence and the health of the herds rather than to their destruction. Many of us who were born during the first quarter of this century can remember when deer were near extinct in Kentucky. Now it is not uncommon to glimpse whitetails in most sections of the state. Only recently a fine big buck was seen bounding across the highway on the outskirts of Ravenna in Estill county. Also small deer herds have been seen grazing in open fields in several other sections of the state. These conditions exist in spite of the fact that deer hunting seasons have been opened up in more localities for several years.

Deer are choice game animals—and have always been. Early records indicate that they were extremely important as a source of food and clothing to eastern Indians and our pioneer forefathers. Typically forest dwellers, deer often frequent glades or woodland openings and are not averse to raiding orchards, gardens and cornfields in the roasting ear stage. Sometimes they become a problem for farmers, but no one regrets that once again they roam our woodlands.

Trooper of Year Rewarded

Kentucky State Trooper Donald E. Williamson, 26, Hazard, receives a plaque from State Police Commissioner Kenneth Brandenburg, naming him Trooper of the Year for his overall record as a police officer during 1976. Looking on are his wife, Janice, and Thomas H. Maxedon, Louisville, executive director of the Kentucky Petroleum Council. Williamson was instrumental last year in breaking up an interstate auto theft ring that had its base of operation in Perry and Knott counties.

Reclamation Adds Officers

Frankfort, Ky.—The establishment of two new area offices and the employment of additional engineers to supervise earthmoving problems associated with strip mine reclamation are among the top accomplishments of the state division of reclamation for 1976.

The new offices set up in London and Grayson by the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection were part of a realignment of the counties covered by the eastern Kentucky reclamation area offices. Area reclamation offices are also located in Middlesboro, Prestonsburg, Hazard, Pikeville, and in Western Kentucky at Madisonville.

Department officials said the need for additional regional reclamation offices to lighten the load on existing ones was spurred by increased strip mining activities. The areas were redrawn to distribute the work load more evenly among the area offices.

Permits, inspections, and reclamation regulatory measures are handled by engineers and regional reclamation inspectors from each field-based location. The area engineers who are assigned regional heads are responsible for all permits and reclamation work within their areas.

The environmental department also initiated monthly meetings between the area engineers and central office staff to effect division-wide a uniform approach to reclamation problems.

State's "Language Bank" To Aid Foreign Visitors

Frankfort, Ky.—Several Kentucky residents have offered their assistance for foreign travelers in the state by volunteering for the state Department of Public Information's language bank.

These volunteers will be included on a list provided to hotel, motel and state-operated tourist center managers. Personnel at these centers for foreign visitors will phone language bank volunteers when communication difficulties arise.

Dal Lovric, a retired Ford Motor Company employee living in Lee county, has offered his assistance in five languages. Lovric's native language is Serbo Croatian, but his mother was of Italian heritage so he speaks Italian fluently, as well.

He studied both French and German while in high school and lived in France from 1947-1951.

In a letter to Public Information Commissioner James C. Vernon, Lovric said his familiarity with German saved his life during his imprisonment at a Mauthausen concentration camp during World War II.

The beattyville resident also speaks Russian, similar to his native language.

A Covington couple, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Verdurmen, have offered their abilities in French, German, Turkish and Spanish. Both attended Stanford University and participated in the school's foreign language programs at its overseas campus in France, in addition to spending two years in Turkey as Peace Corps volunteers.

Mr. Verdurmen, a native American of Belgian parentage, holds a literary degree from the University of Paris and a doctorate in English literature from Stanford. He has spent the past five years teaching at the University of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Verdurmen, an artist, was born in Czechoslovakia and received her education in the United States and Germany.

Another Kentuckian, Edward Niemann, of Williamsburg, has offered his assistance in several languages. Born and raised in Germany, Niemann is fluent in German and also speaks Dutch. Niemann spent several years as a missionary in Indonesia and has offered his abilities in that language also.

Mario Lopez, of Louisville, who received his American citizenship last year, is a native of Cuba and has offered his help to Spanish-speaking visitors.

Hungarian is the language specialty of Laszlo Pasztor Jr., a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army stationed at Ft. Knox. Pasztor has previously served as a Hungarian translator-broadcaster for the Voice of America in the U. S. Information Agency.

According to Public Information Commissioner James Vernon, the language bank is part of the state's effort to encourage foreign visitors to include Kentucky on their vacation itineraries.

Anyone interested in participating in the program should write the Commissioner of Public Information, Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Ky., 40601. Vernon requested that those interested include name, address, telephone number and an estimate of language abilities.

Retired He Makes Dulcimers

A former Panhandle Eastern Gas Company employee from this county, now retired, is turning his hand to making dulcimers, the string instrument which for generations has been synonymous with mountain music.

Now 71 and residing in Monroeville, Ind., Emery McComas got into dulcimer making when Mrs. McComas bought from a craft shop in the Ozarks a "dulcimer kit." She says she thought she would keep him busy through the winter with the one kit but he had made his first dulcimer in two weeks. Since then, he has made eight others which are enjoyed by his daughters and grandchildren. Such interest has been shown by others in his product that he may later make dulcimers for sale as a sideline.

Although the former Floyd man has had six major operations and suffers from emphysema, he has been making a trip each year since 1971 to Canada with his brother Virgil for two-three weeks of fishing. In 1975 he was brought home from such a trip in an ambulance but recovered to return last year.

Owens and Sergent In New Assignments For Dowell Division

Arthur L. Owens, district manager here for the Dowell Division of Dow Chemical Co., will relocate at Mt. Carmel, Illinois as district manager. Replacing Owens here will be Larry G. Sergent, presently regional safety and training supervisor at Columbus, Ohio. Both Owens and Sergent will report to Winton Wahl, regional manager at Columbus.

Owens joined Dowell in 1956 as an equipment operator at Belle, West Virginia. In 1958, he transferred to Paintsville, and was promoted to service sales engineer in 1961. In June, 1971, he was named service manager at Ona, West Virginia, relocating at Huntington as a field salesman. In August, 1972, he was named service manager here and was promoted to his present position four months later.

Sergent was first employed by Dowell in 1961 as an equipment operator at Glenville, West Virginia. In 1963, he was named service sales engineer at Belle, relocating at Corry, Pa., a year later. He was promoted to service manager at Belle in 1969 and named sales engineer a year later. Sergent assumed his present position at Columbus in November, 1974.

UK Students Arrive For Field Training

Four masters of social work students from the University of Kentucky arrived in Floyd county this week to begin their field training.

Local preceptors for the students are David Fitzgerald, Our Lady of the Way Hospital; Thurston Taylor, Mountain Comprehensive Care, and John Rosenberg, Appalachian Research & Defense Fund. The students will be in the area three days a week for 15 weeks. Purpose of the students receiving training away from the University is twofold, (1) to teach students the interdisciplinary or team concept of health delivery, and (2) acquaint the students with the elements of the cultural and social systems of Eastern Kentucky that affect people's health and their willingness or ability to make use of health services.

The students' stay here is being coordinated by the Big Sandy-FIVCO Area Health Education System as a program of the Council on Public Higher Education funded by the state.

Bentley-Wells Vows Exchanged

The marriage of Miss Ramona Gayle Bentley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bentley, of Martin, and Mr. Michael Keith Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wells, of Prestonsburg, was solemnized at 7 p.m. August 27, at Irene Cole Baptist Church, Prestonsburg. The double-ring candlelight service was performed by the Rev. James Clark, of the Clay City First Baptist Church.

Nuptial music was provided by pianist, Timothy Darrell May, and Miss Trudy Deanne May, vocal soloist. Selections included, "I Believe," "Russ Song," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The couple exchanged vows before the altar draped with branches of english ivy and a large floral centerpiece of white and pink roses, baby's breath and pompons. On either side of the altar were spiral candelabra interwoven with boxwood garlands. The wedding rings rested on a satin pillow carried by the ringbearer, Master Todd Duff, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Birchell Duff.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a semi-fitted princess style gown of dulcet satin and alencon lace, with empire bodice, low-scooped neckline edged in lace scallops, full billowy sleeves gathering to deep lily-pointed cuffs of re-embroidered lace. The wide, flowing A-line skirt formed a soft falling chapel train adorned with tiny seed pearls and appliques. An alencon lace half-cap with lace scallops and seed pearls held the long flowing mantilla in place. The bride carried a cascade bridal bouquet of baby's breath, stephenotis and pink roses encircling a large white orchid. As "something old and something borrowed," the bride carried a handkerchief that had belonged to her great-grandmother, Mrs. Ruth O'Neil.

Miss LaDonna Bentley, sister of the bride, served as maid-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Anna Margaret Watson, Kathy Conley, Rolanda Akers and Regina McCoy. Flower girl was Miss Melinda Martin, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denny Martin, of Manton. The bridesmaids wore identical gowns of petal pink polyester knit, with empire bodice, square necklines accented with heavy white cotton lace, belled sleeves and full bouffant skirts. The maid-of-honor and flower girl were gowned identically as the bridesmaids, except their gowns were fashioned in a floral print of hot pink and maroon on a pale pink background. The maids wore picture hats and carried hand bouquets of maroon baby's breath, and pink rosebuds with pink satin streamers. Mrs. Kenneth Wells, sister-in-law of the groom, was guest registrar. Mrs. Gloria Jones, cousin of the bride, was wedding director.

Kenneth Wells, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers and candlelighters were Paul Pelphrey, Steve Crabtree, Robbie Herrick and Jim Blackburn.

The bride's mother was gowned in a deep teal blue gown with white accessories, and the mother of the groom wore a two-piece gown of soft muted blue. She also chose white accessories. Each wore corsages of orchids. The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. O. P. May, was attired in a gown of pink with a long sleeveless coat of matching print. The groom's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Bess Wells, wore a dress of soft aqua blue. Each grandmother wore a corsage of white carnations.

Following the wedding ceremony, an informal reception was held in the church annex. The bridal table was attended by Mrs. Sandra Lowe, Mrs. Carla Boyd, Mrs. Sue DeRossett and Mrs. Marena Hale. Mrs. DeRossett and Mrs. Hale were the reception co-ordinators. Miss Melissa Bentley presented each guest with a wedding scroll containing a wedding poem from the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells are now residing at West Prestonsburg. Mrs. Wells is an employee of the First National Bank of Prestonsburg. Mr. Wells is employed by Music-Carter-Hughes.

By WILMAY

Soon there will be released a new movie depicting the crucifixion of Christ as a hoax. Another in Britain portrays the Son of God as a bisexual libertine who indulged in "affairs."

These films help prove in these last days that the spirit of the AntiChrist is abroad now. The divinity of Jesus is being attacked as never before in some circles. If he was not born of a virgin, we have no Savior. He would have been just a mere man like Confucius, Mohammed and other renowned religious founders. If he did not die and rise from the dead, he was an imposter and false prophet.

All who know Christ personally have no doubts about Jesus. But they are concerned over films, plays, and songs that mislead and corrupt many, particularly all who had little or no spiritual training in childhood and may have come under false preachers or teachers in church if they attend. The Bible says "train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it."

Regardless of how wonderful young folks and children may be, who among us think we did a perfect job rearing them, or that our parents did? Emphasis of the "antis" is on letting children, especially young people, decide for themselves where to go, what to see and do. Of course that stage in life must be reached some day by every individual, even though God took Eli because he would no longer discipline his adult sons. The chronological age at which breaking parental authority to a large degree is achieved varies widely. Girls mature faster than boys, and siblings of the same household differ radically in maturation. One thing is certain: Parents should lay a firm foundation in all facets of life, especially the spiritual, before permitting them to make all of their own decisions. What youngster does not prefer ice cream to spinach, or sports to outside reading, unless guided from childhood to appreciate good literature? Which of the pastimes benefit more, familiarity with sports or knowledge acquired through good reading? While seeking to teach the young to choose wisely we should stress that every area—social, intellectual, moral and spiritual, the physical (including recreation and care of the body)—offers categorization of good, better and best. Failure to realize this causes many to accept the good, thereby shortchanging themselves.

Some parents excuse their mistakes by the old cliché: "I teach mine to think for themselves." Good, but this takes time, and it can be one way of saying, "I let mine do as they please." It is a lame justification. Do we let them decide if they will take a bath, shampoo hair, wash the car, eat garbage, keep any kind of company, attend school, study their lessons, help with home chores, practice basic rules of etiquette and conduct? Generally, the crux is how good a job did we do while the clay of childhood was still impressionable? Was our example right? Were we thorough in the teaching process? Did we discipline in love? Was there more play than work, more spending and waste than saving and thrift, more time for frivolities than for intellectual and spiritual pursuits; more time in worship, service and love to others than in gossip, jealousy, covetousness, etc? Do we as parents, teachers, leaders, and citizens follow through on the most important aspects of life, or take them for granted, hoping other agencies will mold the child well? Do we shift our responsibility as parents to other components of society, blaming the school or church, or community, when the home is the biblical training ground for character?

Doesn't America today care more for star athletes and beauty queens than for top scholars and model young people? In the old days many schools held field

SOVIET TEAM TO TRY

EVEREST CLIMB IN 1980

MOSCOW—A Soviet climbing team will try to scale Mt. Everest, the world's highest peak, in 1980, the news agency Tass said Friday.

It will be the first attempt by Soviet climbers to conquer the 29,028-foot mountain.

Two members of an American Bicentennial expedition were the last to reach the Everest summit, completing their climb last Oct. 8.

meets whose programs offered vocational, athletic and scholastic events in all curricula, for all ages, giving every pupil the chance to compete and excel in something. For too long too many have looked down on people who work with their hands, though Jesus, Moses, Paul, and nine of the disciples did.

Has our sense of values become irrevocably warped? We pay fabulous sums to stars of sports, stage, TV and screen, while starving some preachers and oftentimes paying teachers so little their mates are forced to work, too. Not infrequently the pampered stars waste their millions in riotous living and require government subsidization or charity in old age. Do we give our children a nickel or dime for Sunday School and church, but a few dollars for a ball game? Do we fill our homes with expensive toys but neglect to start a good home library? Do we skimp to buy daughter a costly evening gown but insist we cannot afford to send her to a Christian summer camp? Do our children never hear us mention Jesus, Moses, Paul, Daniel, and David, and the best book of all but hear us rave over some sordid film, book or entertainment star? Do we then wonder why America is in her present God-forsaken condition?

Isn't there a reasonable chance that our values have become twisted, blinded by materialism, egotism, and some pseudo religious-isms?

State Mans Cold Weather Help Line

Gov. Julian Carroll today directed members of his staff to begin manning governor's office telephones on a 24-hour basis in order to help coordinate assistance efforts by state agencies for persons who need help during the current period of severely cold weather.

This action compliments steps taken by the governor yesterday, placing the Kentucky Division of Disaster Emergency Services on round-the-clock duty to work with the Kentucky State Police in getting quick cold-weather trouble relief for Kentuckians suffering such problems as loss of heat in the home or power outages in neighborhoods or communities. Persons should continue to report these kinds of troubles to their nearest Kentucky State Police Post.

Governor Carroll said that his office staff personnel will also take calls from individuals who require cold-weather-related state government emergency assistance that cannot be delivered locally. The information from such calls to the Governor's Office at 502-564-2611 will be referred to the proper state agency for attention.

Both round-the-clock services will be continued until the Commonwealth has relief from the current period of extremely cold temperatures.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

The winter fisherman has two goals: catching fish and keeping warm (although not necessarily in that order).

Keeping warm is a lot easier than it used to be, thanks to such marvels as electrically heated socks and very efficient insulated clothing. But still, that breeze that felt so good last July as you motored down the lake now drops the chill factor well below zero, encouraging more fishing and less boat riding.

But those brave and dedicated (or maybe just a little bit crazy) winter fishermen do catch fish, even under conditions that look downright impossible. In fact there's a group of anglers sitting around right now wishing for muddy water, with maybe a good dark overcast sky for good measure.

These are the jig fishermen, who like nothing better than exploring shoreline cover areas for black bass. Using a stout cane or fiberglass pole with a short length of line with a gob of nightcrawlers on the business end, the jig fisherman can often come back to the dock with a limit of bass, some of them big enough to make a person forget about the cold.

Although you won't get a jig fisherman to admit it, I suspect that a large part of the appeal of this angling style is that one can wear gloves or even mittens while jig fishing.

You have to have at least one bare hand for casting, but this doesn't deter those anglers who like to cast the areas where clear streams flow into a muddy lake or river. Bass and sometimes catfish or bluegill will congregate in these areas, waiting for food to be washed down the feeder stream, and the angler is only too happy to oblige with a live nightcrawler.

Winter crappie fishing also has its devotees, usually anglers who know a particular lake well enough to locate the deep submerged cover where crappie school during cold weather. It isn't too unusual to see a crappie fisherman breaking his way out of an iced-in bay to reach the open water of the main lake.

For all cold weather angling, think small and slow. Fish are coldblooded, and their food intake and amount of activity are tied closely to the temperature of their surroundings.

In cold water, most fish are operating at about half throttle. They don't need much food and they don't want to go chasing after it. So fish small lures or natural baits and fish them slowly.

And speaking of slowing down, that's exactly what the human body does when it is exposed to cold water. So be extremely careful on winter fishing trips. A dunking that would be something to laugh about in the summer can be deadly when the water temperature is below 50 degrees.

Even a strong swimmer can't last more than a few minutes in cold water, so be sure to wear a life jacket while on the water. A change of clothing and matches in a waterproof containers should also be aboard, and remember that the lakes will be almost deserted, so you can't count on passing boaters for help if you get into trouble.

In other words, use a few extra precautions and some common sense, and winter fishing trips can be both enjoyable and productive. And one more thing—don't forget to buy your 1977 fishing license.

If we didn't hold down our own costs, we could hardly ask others to hold down theirs.

At Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky, we work very hard to hold down our own administrative costs. As a result of our efforts, year in and year out, we assure a high return of dues income to our members in the form of health care benefits.

And because we work hard to keep our own costs low, we don't hesitate to ask it of others. We work with doctors and hospitals to pinpoint the factors that affect the cost of health care and to help find ways to keep them contained.

You can help, too, by using health care services wisely. Don't ask for admission to the hospital unless your doctor says it's medically necessary. Perhaps you can get the treatment you need on an outpatient basis. If you are admitted, don't stay any longer than necessary.

If we all work together, we can help prevent unnecessary increases in the cost of health care.

BLACKCAT GRIDDEERS RECOGNIZED IN POLLS

WALKER BURCHETT DIXON GOEBEL CLICK PATRICK K. SLONE DeROSSETT HILL T. SLONE OSBORNE

The 1976 Prestonsburg Blackcat football team had a very productive football season. The Blackcats fashioned an 8-3 regular season record before losing to Whitesburg in the state playoffs. During their regular season the Cats' wishbone offense rolled for more than 4000 yards in total offense while racking up 266 points, an average of 24.1 points per game. The defense yielded an average of 11 points per game, but came up with the big play, time after time. The specialty teams also did an outstanding job, as the Blackcats won the first district championship in the school's history. Though teamwork was the key to the Cats' success, there were many standout performers. This was evident by the number of players who were chosen to various all-state and all-area polls by opposing coaches.

Scotty Walker (guard), Jeff Burchett (tight end), and Greg Dixon (quarterback) were selected to the first team Class A-AA all-area offensive team by the Ashland Daily Independent, and William O. Goebel (safety) and Mike Click (linebacker) were chosen to the first team defensive unit. Tim Patrick (tight and split end), Kerry Slone (fullback), Greg DeRossett

In the Huntington-Herald polls Goebel, this time as a halfback, and Burchett, again at tight end, were selected to the offensive unit of the all-Kentucky team. Receiving honorable mention were Patrick, Dixon, DeRossett, Click, and Thomas Slone (halfback). Goebel was also selected as a halfback on the All Tri-State team covering Kentucky, Ohio, and West Virginia.

In various all-state polls: Bobby Osborne (tackle), Dixon,

Goebel, and Burchett received honorable mention. Walker, Dixon, Click, Patrick, Osborne, DeRossett, T. Slone, and Goebel are all seniors. Burchett, Hill, and K. Slone are juniors.

"I am really happy for all of these players selected," said Coach Haywood. "They deserve it. I know many times during the season our team felt they were being ignored by the state news media, but apparently the opposing coaches were impressed, as can be seen by the number of players who were honored by these selections."

Three Teams Without a Defeat In Area Net Play Last Week

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

The Prestonsburg Blackcats, the Betsy Layne Bobcats and the Wheelwright Trojans each won two games without a loss last week, while Allen Central split its two games and McDowell lost three tough ones.

McDowell's three losses last week brought their record to a 13 to 10. Last Tuesday night, the Daredevils lost to Allen Central, 57 to 55, and on Friday night the Devils lost to the Wheelwright Trojans, 65 to 54. The battle was close all the way. McDowell led at the end of the first quarter, 14 to 10, but the Trojans came back and led at halftime, 25 to 22, and in the fourth quarter Wheelwright scored 21 points. The Trojans shot 68 per cent in the second half and the total was 59 per cent from the field. McDowell connected for 23 field goals out of 46 tries for a 50 per cent average. Jeff Riley poured in 24 points and hauled down nine rebounds, Dewey Jamerson scored 13 points, while Marty Gore connected for 12 points.

Everything went wrong for the Daredevils in their loss to Johns Creek, 74 to 72. Several records were set in fouls, foul shots and individual scoring. Johns Creek had 52 foul shots. McDowell shot 20. McDowell outscored Johns Creek by nine field goals, and Steve Newsome set a scoring record for boys in the Pete Grigsby Arena with 46 points.

The Wheelwright Trojans upped their record to 12 and 3 with the win over McDowell and the Saturday night win over Fleming-Neon, 74 to 59. Big Jeff Riley pumped in 35 points, and Marty Gore had 14.

The Prestonsburg Blackcats won two games during the week, defeating Johnson Central Tuesday night, 68 to 57, and Morgan County on Friday night, 52 to 47. Grady Stephens led the attack on Johnson Central with 25 points and Ricky Morgan connected for 22 points. For Johnson Central, Steve Lemaster had 17 points. Jeff Burchett, who has been sidelined since the football season with a broken leg, made his debut in the game, playing the last minute. He took two rebounds and scored a field goal.

At West Liberty Ricky Morgan led the Cats' attack with 17 points while teammate Grady Stephens connected for 15. The Blackcats' record now stands at 7 and 6.

The Allen Central Rebels split their two games, winning over McDowell and losing to the Virgie Eagles. Allen Central was led in scoring by Jack Holthouse with 17 points, Ricky Pack with 14 and Doug Bailey with 13. Virgie's Stonie Newsome had 19 points. Allen Central's record is now 9 to 11.

The Betsy Layne Bobcats kept up their winning ways as they won over Phelps, 80 to 52, Friday night, and on Saturday night downed Belfry, 48-42. Wilburn Sammons and Jim Rose tied for scoring honors with 18 points each in the Phelps game. Ken Cecil had 14 points against Belfry.

City Manager Says All City Services Are Uninterrupted

City Manager Curtis Clark said this week that Prestonsburg is the only Eastern Kentucky city that has been able to keep its traffic moving and to escape water, gas and electric power shortages. He added that, despite one overturned garbage truck, its sanitation department has functioned well under the worst circumstances.

But street clearance was causing concern. The salt supply has almost been exhausted. Besides, salt fails to melt snow and ice when the temperature drops to 27 degrees or below. A thousand pounds of a substitute, which is effective at low temperatures, but costlier, has been purchased for use at crucial points. Fourteen truckloads of sawdust have been hauled here from Salyersville for street use.

Continued use of salt is responsible, Clark said, for damage to US 23 (Lake Drive) between the Court street traffic light and the northern city limits.

McDowell Girls To Play In Louisville Invitational

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

The McDowell Daredeviltes will be participating in the Louisville Invitational basketball tournament for girls, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The Daredeviltes will play Thursday night at the Xavier High School gym, facing Clay County from the 13th region, one of the two teams to win over McDowell this season. Should McDowell win over Clay County, they will go against Louisville Sacred Heart Friday at 9 p.m. at the Louisville Unity gym.

Last week, McDowell won over Wheelwright, 69 to 42, with Geri Grigsby scoring 41 points, and on Thursday night McDowell won over Boyd County, 69 to 66. In this game Grigsby scored 46 points. Last Tuesday night, the Daredeviltes won over Allen Central, 90 to 48. Again Grigsby ripped the nets for 46 points. McDowell was scheduled to play Prestonsburg girls last night (Tuesday). The record of Coach Johnny Ray Turner's girls for the year now stands at 18 wins and 2 losses. In the 20 games played Geri Grigsby has a total of 947 points for an average of 47.4 points per game. In the latest ratings McDowell was 8th in the state, and Grigsby led the state in scoring.

Coach Bill Newsome's Betsy Layne girls ran their record to 13-3 as they won over the Johnson Central girls, 43 to 35. Mary Stumbo led the attack with 18 points while Pam Clark had 13.

Coach Charlie Collins' Prestonsburg girls have a record of 7 and 4, losing last week to Johnson Central, 69 to 53. Dee Dee Music hit for 30 points, while teammate Bridget Clay picked up 14.

Gets Assignment Here

Pvt. Phillip Wilson Huffman, 18, of Martin, who joined the Army after graduation this spring from Allen Central High School, will spend one month at home as an Army recruiter aide. He was chosen for the coveted assignment by his recruiter, Sfc. Gordon Shepherd, of the Pikeville recruiting station, and his advanced training commanders.

Pre-requisites for selection to this newly created position include outstanding Army records, appearance, and an appreciation of the recruiting mission. Pvt. Huffman will spend the month talking to people interested in the Army about his experiences in the military thus far.

A son of Johnnie and Ozell Huffman, of Martin, Pvt. Huffman recently completed advanced individual training as a unit organizational supplyman at Ft. Lee, Va. Prior to that, he received basic training at Ft. Dix, New Jersey.

At the conclusion of the month as recruiter aide, Huffman may request a month's extension of the assignment as recruiter aide. He will later go to Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. for further training.

Community Service Courses Slated

The Community Service Office at Prestonsburg Community College is getting ready to start several classes during the last week in January and the first week of February.

The first of these courses will be "Bluegrass Banjo Lessons". The organizational meeting will be January 27, at 7 p.m. in room 159 of the Administration Building. This course will offer 14 half-hour sessions of individual instruction in the fundamentals of banjo-playing.

A course starting February 1 is the "Great Movies Class". The organizational meeting will be February 1 at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of the Technology building. The course is for movie lovers who enjoy the old, great movies as well as more recent ones. This class will be conducted by Jim Rogers.

Another class to begin February 1 is a building construction class, "Masonry I: Block Laying," to be conducted by James D. Daniel on Tuesday evenings (6:30-9:30). If enrollment justifies it another section will be offered on a different night. The second part of the course, "Masonry II: Brick Laying," will be offered later.

They are: "Exercise Class for Women", "Strings Class", "Strings Workshop", "Amateur Radio Class", "Conversational English", "Fundamentals of Sign Language", "Beginning Chess" and "Beginning Guitar."

WOMEN VETERANS TOTAL 577,000 or 1.9 per cent of the nation's veteran population, the Veterans Administration reported.

Our Fragile Earth

By DR. JERRY HOWELL Director of Environmental Studies Morehead State University

Air and water pollution, pesticides, herbicides, and radionuclides are not the only forms of environmental deterioration. There is one form which may be even more permanently damaging than any of the well-known forms of pollution. That form is improper land use, including changes in the landscape resulting from erosion, flooding, solid waste accumulation, and urban and rural blight.

The world, in 1977, has slightly more than four billion people and will probably have about eight billion by 2010. We now have about 85 people for every square mile of inhabitable land space. This tremendous strain on the land has taken, and will continue to take, its toll.

Present land use patterns are interesting. There are nearly two billion acres of land in the U.S. Approximately 62 per cent is modified for agricultural use as cropland or grazing land, 25 percent is forested, nearly three percent is used for urban and transportation development, four percent is reserved for recreation and wildlife protection, and five percent is utilized for miscellaneous purposes. These figures mean that at least 75 per cent of the land in the U.S. is committed to intensive economic use in agriculture, industry, commerce and housing. Two hundred years ago, when the nation was founded, probably less than five percent of the land was so committed.

Intensive utilization is not necessarily environmentally detrimental, but a shift of more and more land from productive to non-productive uses will certainly be ecologically damaging in the long run. Each day in the U.S., over 4000 acres are converted from agricultural and biological production to urban, suburban and commercial development. We can ill afford to continue this; many other countries have recently found that excessive land conversion can be very detrimental to ecosystems and human life.

Many of the desert areas in the mid-east and in northern Africa were formerly grasslands and forests. These lands were converted several thousand years ago to agricultural lands; through a later pattern of excessive use and poor management, they became deserts. Most of the forested land in India has been gradually converted to cropland in an effort to help feed a hungry nation. Many experts are now saying that this may cause more problems in the long run than it helps solve because the culture depends heavily upon firewood and there is virtually none left.

We should be learning from the experiences of others and our present land use plans and decisions must be intelligently derived. In the U.S., we cannot continue to take a million and a half acres per year out of active production. In both our cities and rural areas, we must designate and reserve areas for certain uses, based on the capability of the land. This will help solve many problems.

The offer will be good on all Hornets ordered through March 10.

SHIPS' COLLISION APPARENTLY SPILLED ARSENIC INTO SEA

KOBE, Japan—More than a half-ton of deadly arsenic powder apparently slid into the sea when two ships collided off western Japan, the Maritime Safety Agency reported yesterday.

Officials said they fear the powder will flow out of its containers, which sank in 2,300-foot-deep waters, and kill or contaminate sea life.

If ingested, two-thousandths of an ounce of arsenic could kill a human being, they said. Arsenic powder is used to produce agricultural chemicals and antiseptics.

Columbia May Cut Gas Supply

Barkley Sturgill, chairman of the Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC), said Monday that Columbia Gas of Kentucky could begin by Feb. 1 the implementation of a curtailment plan on file with the commission which calls for a 100 per cent industrial curtailment and a 75 per cent commercial curtailment of presently curtailed commercial loads.

Sturgill said the plan's implementation was "very likely" if the record-breaking cold weather pattern continued. He said Columbia was presently trying to obtain larger gas supplies but indicated that he did not know if the attempt would be successful.

Columbia is one of the state's largest suppliers of gas to both industrial and residential customers. Some 115,322 customers are served directly by the utility.

All five members of the commission recessed to discuss this crisis during a hearing on a $44.5 million rate increase request by South Central Bell.

Sturgill noted that the commission will continue discussions with Columbia in an effort to avoid the Feb. 1 curtailment.

Emergency Cooking Tips For When Power Is Off

This is the Kentucky winter that may turn back your clock to pioneer days as you cook dinner in the fireplace or on top of a wood-burning stove. When the electricity fails or the gas runs low, you may find helpful these emergency-meal tips from UK Extension foods specialists.

Use bricks or stones to support a cooking grate in your fireplace. Start your meal when the fire dies down to a good bed of coals. Hot dogs and meat patties will be no problem, and you can wrap apples, vegetables and even biscuit dough in heavy aluminum foil and bake them right in the coals. Long-handled cooking utensils will come in handy.

Use your heaviest cookware for one-dish meals such as chili, soups, beef stew, pot roast with vegetables, chicken and dumplings. Or just heat up some of your favorite canned foods. It's hard to beat hot soup, crackers or toast, crispy raw vegetables, and cold milk.

If you have a wood- or coal-burning space heater with a flat top surface, you can cook one-dish meals there with the greatest of ease. For instance, split-pea soup with ham makes a hearty meal with raw vegetables and fruit, bread or crackers and a beverage.

The best types of wood to use for a cooking fire are dry hardwoods such as oak, hickory, black locust, hard maple or birch.

If you're out of wood, you can even use tightly-rolled newspapers to fuel your cooking fire. Tie the ends with wire, or tuck one end of the rolled-up newspaper tightly into the other. You could also use artificial logs made of pressed wood particles. But don't ever use charcoal as the fuel for any type of indoor fire.

If you're a camper, you may want to press your campstove into service, but take care! Use it outdoors or in a breezeway and keep those volatile fuels away from amateurs. You might get out your charcoal grill or hibachi, but use it outside only, because those fumes are poisonous.

Kids who have been to 4-H camp can make a "buddy burner" from a tuna-fish can and a small stove from a large Number 10 can.

It's a good idea to stock up on emergency foods, just in case. Include canned one-dish meals, soups, and lots of fruit juices as a substitute for drinking water. You might also like to stow away some tightly-capped gallon jugs of water.

When a power failure catches you by surprise, however, there is usually enough water in the pipes to last a short time for cooking and drinking purposes. You can draw water from the lowest faucet in the house if the highest faucet is opened a bit to let air into the pipes. Be sure to do this before the pipes have a chance to freeze up.

If you have no fireplace or wood-burning stove, you might use an electric skillet and other small cooking appliances if your gas supply is curtailed. When electricity is off, too, a chaffing dish or fondue pot with canned heat is another possibility. Be sure to have a manual can opener on hand. Open your refrigerator and freezer as little as possible while the power is off. Keep some of your food in an unheated room instead, or on an enclosed back porch.

All area chairmen plan to participate in Coffee Day, February 2. About 40 restaurants will help with the Coffee Day campaign. Heart Sunday will be held in every community on February 27.

Some persons who have consented to serve as special countywide chairmen are:

Heart Fund treasurer, Burl Spurlock, of the First National Bank; Heart Sunday chairman, Gorman Collins, of WDOC; Special Gifts chairman, Alice Williams, Prestonsburg; Business Gifts chairman, Freda C. Barnett, Martin; publicity chairman, Edna Click, Langley; Vice-chairman for the county, Jennie Brown, Prestonsburg.

Calls concerning the Floyd Heart Fund campaign should be made to Edna Click (285-3114), between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. or to County Chairman Shirley Stewart, 285-3054 at any other hour.

It is hoped that every citizen will help with the Heart Fund Campaign in February and support this good cause," Mrs. Stewart said.

Aged Woman's Home Yields Big Haul of Intoxicants

Deputy Sheriffs Doug Lewis, Ollie Leslie, Randall Lewis and Linzie Hunt pictured with haul of beer, whiskey and wine taken in Friday night raid on Salt Lick.

The year's largest haul of illegal alcoholic beverages was made Friday as sheriff's department officers raided a house on Salt Lick Creek, a few miles west of Hueysville.

Although no arrests were made at the time of the action, Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and Deputy Sheriffs Doug Lewis, Randall Lewis, Linzie Hunt and Ollie Leslie confiscated 2,602 cans and bottles of beer, 24 pints and 48 half-pints of wine and whiskey. The intoxicants were found at the home of an 84-year-old woman. Lewis said he may arrest her unless it is determined she was not the owner.

Two raids at David Thursday night by the same officers resulted in the arrest of a father and son on charges of illegal possession. The officers seized 29 pints of whiskey at the home of Bert Bailey, and later took 10 cases of beer from the home of his son, James Bert Bailey.

Douglas Jack Akers was arrested at his home at Honaker Saturday afternoon on a possession charge after a small quantity of liquor and beer was confiscated by Sheriff Lewis and Deputy Sheriffs Linzie Hunt, Ollie Leslie, Doug Lewis, Randall Lewis and Virgil Hunt.

A raid on a Wheelwright "night club" Saturday night by sheriff's department officers and Wheelwright Marshalls Harold and Mildred Bates resulted in the arrest of about 20 persons, including its owner, Sid Triplett, of Wheelwright. Most of the patrons of the place, Triplett's Night Club, which has reportedly been in operation for the past two months, were booked on charges of public intoxication. Triplett was charged with operating a roadhouse without a license, contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and theft by deception for which he was wanted in Knott county.

Others booked at the county jail over the past week, charges against each, and arresting officers follow:

Chester Calhoun, resisting arrest, by State Trooper J. Sizemore; Claude Isaac and Carlos Little, theft by unlawful taking, by State Trooper Roger Castle; Raymond Hayden, drunk driving, by State Troopers Shelton and Stephens; Donald H. Blackburn, drunk driving, by Deputy Sheriffs Ollie Leslie and D. Bradley; Morris Isaac, drunk driving, by Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis and Denver Spurlock; Junior Howell, drunk driving and no operator's license, by Allen Policeman Virgil Conn; Vernon Gayheart, possession of alcoholic beverages, by Constable Bob Hackworth; Phillip Booth, drunk driving, attempt to elude police officer, extreme reckless driving and littering, by Wheelwright Marshalls Harold and Mildred Bates and State Trooper Hall; Larry D. Johnson, drunk driving, by Prestonsburg Policemen Lawson and Bays.

US Shoe Plans Plant Operation At West Liberty

(From The Licking Valley Courier) The United States Shoe Corporation announced Tuesday that it has purchased from Lycoming Shoe Company machinery and equipment in the shoe factory formerly operated by Lycoming at West Liberty.

U.S. Shoe also has agreed with the City of West Liberty to lease the factory building which was constructed in 1965 containing about 50,000 sq. ft. of manufacturing space.

Louis J. Neusser, group vice president-women's operations, stated that operating plans are incomplete. But acquisition of the West Liberty plant, he said, "is opportune because it will provide the company with a modern, complete facility for anticipated future manufacturing needs."

Mr. Neusser will meet with West Liberty City officials sometime next week to discuss the company's immediate plans for the West Liberty facility.

The West Liberty factory represents the 15th shoe and component manufacturing facility of the company in the tri-state area of Ohio, Kentucky, and Indiana.

The United States Shoe Corp. is a consumer goods company employed in two broad types of business. It manufactures, imports, wholesales, and retails quality footwear for men, women, and children with such famous names as Red Cross, Joyce, Selby, Pappagallo, Freeman, and French Shriner. And the company is also a major factor in men's and women's specialty apparel retailing, operating primarily under the trade names of Casual Corner specializing in young women's wear, and J. Riggings specializing in young men's wear. Casual Corner and J. Riggings stores are located in shopping centers all over the United States.

Robert Jung, associate general counsel for U.S. Shoe in Cincinnati, said the corporation closed its deal with Williams Mfg. Co. last Friday. The West Liberty City Council approved the firm's lease of the factory building Monday.

Jung said Ray Mitchell, who served as Lycoming plant manager at West Liberty since it opened in 1965, has been employed by U.S. Shoe and will stay on as plant manager.

Mitchell, it was learned, is presently traveling back and forth from West Liberty to Prestonsburg where he is studying U.S. Shoe's manufacturing methods at its plant there.

GOAT PUTS POLICE ON HORNS OF DILEMMA

NEW YORK—It was nothing to kid about when a goat on the loose was reported in The Bronx.

When officers found the goat running through Crotona Park, Friday, they tried to coax it out into the open.

"The critter just stood there and looked at us with mournful eyes," said Officer Robert Joyce. "It was frustrating, and, believe me, it was getting our goat."

Officers finally grabbed the goat by the horns, hauled it into a radio car and took it to the stationhouse. The 4-year-old nanny ate the stuffing out of the rear seat of the police car on the way. When the goat was taken into the station, it began nibbling desks and chairs.

No one knows where the goat came from. An agent from the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was summoned to take it to a shelter.

William O. Goebel, Jr.

William O. Goebel, Jr., better known as Bill, Jr., was elected Mayor of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, at the regular November election held on November 6, 1973, and took the oath of office and qualified for such office by taking the oath of office at the regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, held on January 7, 1974.

Because of the condition of his health, he was required to submit his resignation as Mayor of the City of Prestonsburg on December 2, 1976, which resignation was accepted by the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg with regret, and would have not been accepted but for the state of health of the Mayor.

During his term of office as Mayor, he was very active in promoting the business of the City and by his efforts two parking lots were established in the City of Prestonsburg, which have relieved to some extent the parking problem in the City of Prestonsburg.

During his term of office, the City of Prestonsburg was named one of the All-Kentucky Cities of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, which was due almost entirely to the ceaseless efforts of Mayor Goebel in promoting a better city government in the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

We regret that it was necessary for Mayor Goebel to submit his resignation and we extend to him and his family our best wishes for their continued success.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: FIRST: That a page be set apart upon the records of this Council whereon shall be recorded these resolutions.

SECOND: That no further matters be hereafter entered upon the original record book of this Council subsequent to the minutes of the meeting at which these resolutions are adopted and entered.

THIRD: That a copy of these Resolutions be furnished to the family and to the Floyd County Times for publication.

Dated: January 20, 1977.

Huddleston Urges Use of More Coal

Washington—Legislation designed to encourage increased utilization of coal has been introduced by Kentucky Sen. Walter Huddleston and several other senators.
The bills include:
—Legislation to require all new electric power plants and new major fuel burning installations utilize fuel other than natural gas or petroleum as their primary energy source.
—A bill to give the Energy Research and Development Administration the generic authority they need to extend loan guarantees for the commercial development of synthetic fuels.
—Legislation which Huddleston and Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., sponsored last session that would establish coal research laboratories at selected universities in coal producing states.
—The Coal Substitution Incentive Act, which provides limited incentives to firms switching their source of energy to coal.

Cold Outside?—Try a Cavern

There are places in Kentucky where one can walk for miles and miles and see no snow, feel no extreme cold or slip on ice. It's a part of the Commonwealth that bedazzles visitors with its brilliance and beauty; it's a part that some people, including native Kentuckians, have yet to discover.

This wondrous part of Kentucky is its nether world of caves and caverns. This is not to imply that certain scenes and vistas will not look cold, for stalactites will resemble a frozen Cumberland Falls and stalagmites rising from the floor will take lovely, mysterious shapes much like ice-sculptured madonnas and draped, hooded figures.

For all this dazzling beauty that time and nature create in soft, gentle geologic folds, the temperature underground remains around 54 degrees Fahrenheit (12 Celsius), which is perfect for hiking yet "icy-looking" enough for sweaters and damp enough in places for light rainwear.

At Mammoth Cave National Park visitors can travel 360 feet beneath topside weather and, in comparative comfort, take a boat trip on Echo River or walk many miles viewing magnificent gypsum and travertine formations.

Along Tygart's Creek in the Eastern Kentucky coal belt is Carter Caves State Resort Park, well known for its underground system of caves and caverns. For more than a hundred years picnickers and hiking groups have enjoyed exploring the labyrinth of openings and rooms underground, in addition to its cliffs, rocky gorges, sinking creeks, wildlife and natural bridges along with wildflowers in season.

Geologists say Carter Caves State Park near Olive Hill is within a formation called Lee sandstone and belongs in geologic time to the Pennsylvania Period or "Coal Measures" dating to 310 million years ago.

Although Lee sandstone is ancient, deeper limestones that help form Carter and Cascade Caves in Carter County are older and of the same geologic structure that created the main part of Mammoth Cave in Barren, Edmonson and Hart Counties.

Most cave structures in the Commonwealth offer adventure and education in geology, zoology and studies of other worlds that abound in caves. While all visitors should hike or explore only those caves open to the public and accompanied by an experienced guide, the guides can tell exciting stories about their trips to the underground.

John Tierney, naturalist at Carter Caves, has walked the paths and ledges in this northeastern Kentucky park so often he knows his way with or without a light. He does not advise this way of traveling beneath the earth.

There are sections of Kentucky's caveland in Western, Eastern and Central Kentucky where spelunkers can duck-walk, belly crawl, hike "Backache Avenue" all they want; for those more claustrophobic, vast cathedral rooms, rooms with "pipe organs" or even "Lover's Leap" are more welcome.

Due to the actual geologic structure and location of caves, most are dangerous in wet weather and can be disastrous to visitors in periods of heavy rain. Always check with parks, naturalists or cave managers before entering.

As well known as most Kentucky caves are, the Commonwealth still has underdeveloped cave regions.

Some of the better known cave lands are Mammoth Cave, Carter Caves and Cascade Caverns; Onyx Cave at Horse Cave; Diamond Caverns at Park City; Crystal Onyx Cave near Cave City; Jesse James Cave, Dome Cave and Slave Cave at Park Mammoth Resort. There is a vast network of caves in the mountainous region near Whitesburg, and there are caves at Natural Bridge State Resort Park in Powell County and other state parks.

For those who have been housebound due to snow and cold, now might be a good time for a long hike in ideal weather and temperature conditions amid scenic splendor—all of it underground in Kentucky.

Today the eyes of the world are upon the Middle East. The Arab-Israeli tension, the peace effort and the oil crises have captured the attention of every one. What is behind all this? By LARRY BURKE

It was Emerson who said in 1871: "If a man can, write a better book, preach a better sermon or make a better mouse trap than his neighbor . . . the world will make a beaten path to his door."

Quite frequently you hear the portion of this quote about the mouse trap. We very seldom hear it in its full content. The book . . . the sermon . . . these are both important, and in all probability the most important part of the statement.

If everyone set out to build better mouse traps—the world would soon be depleted of mice, and the need for new traps would not exist.

Better books? Better sermons? We believe there will always be a demand for these. These are the essentials that make better people, and not fewer mice.

Be sure and quote Emerson in full context. I'm sure he was more interested in better books and sermons than mouse traps. We all should be, too.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: IF IT HELPS OTHERS, IT IS A GREAT ACCOMPLISHMENT.

Presenting workshops and performances in local high schools and community centers, the group will dance in Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, and Washington, D. C.

A Berea senior recreation major, Auxier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Auxier. He is a Betsy Layne High School graduate.

Founded 39 years ago, the Berea College Country Dancers present singing games, Appalachian folk dances, New England contras, Morris and Sword dances, Danish, English Country, and American Square dances. The group usually dances informally with members of the audience following a performance. The Country Dancers have performed in Central and South America, on the White House lawn and in the Capitol, and at the New York World's Fair. For two summers, they toured with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra's Mini-Festival. They have also appeared at the Tyne and Wear International Folk Moot in England, at Lincoln Center in New York, and on network television on the "Today Show" and a CBS special.

Sometimes you find the most efficient energy ideas right under your nose.

Take your thermos bottle. It works on the same principle as a European home heating system we're now testing. It's called Electric Thermal Storage and it works like this.

While you're asleep, electric heating elements heat a special, brick core inside a heavily insulated container the size of an ordinary furnace.

Heat in the bricks is stored inside this "thermos" until it is distributed through ordinary ductwork to heat your home.

The beauty of this system is that it uses less energy during the day, when we have our heaviest electric demand.

This could let us use our generating equipment more efficiently. Which, in turn, would help us reduce our costs. And yours.

With the way the cost of everything is going up these days, that's a pleasant switch for all of us.

While we've already pioneered the use of high voltage transmission lines, we're also continuing to research even higher voltages to move even larger chunks of electricity. The advantage here is that we can move more electricity over fewer lines. And fewer transmission lines mean lower transmission costs.

But, while we continue our search for ways to keep costs in line there are some things you can do to keep costs in line, too.

Not just by turning off lights and lowering thermostats, but by insulating your home properly, using appliances efficiently, and by considering the use of more energy-efficient devices that are already available.

Working together. It's the only way we can hope to lick the problems that affect the cost of electricity today. And tomorrow.

Kentucky Power Co.

Working together is the only way.

Saturday Classes Possible

Frankfort, Ky.—Icy weather may be putting the damper on some future Saturdays for Kentucky's school children. Kentucky law requires that public schools be in attendance at least 170 days each year, and with recent snow and ice, many districts may not meet the required number of days. Some lost days may have to be made up on Saturdays.

Kentucky's Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. James Graham, has issued a statement outlining procedures school districts must follow in getting permission to hold classes on Saturday.

Dr. Graham's statement says: "Local boards of education may designate up to five days per school year as local disaster days . . . when days are so designated by local boards and approved by the State Board of Education upon the recommendation of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, this will reduce the required pupil in-attendance days from 175 to 170."

Recent cold days may be justification for designating disaster days, Dr. Graham said, and added, "If they wish, local boards may request approval of such designated days to the Superintendent of Public Instruction for recommendation to the State Board of Education. However, achieving the required number of in-attendance days must be accomplished within the fiscal year ending June 30, 1977."

The State Board of Education has adopted the following regulation (703 KAR 2.060): "The State Board of Education does hereby declare that an emergency may exist from time to time in a number of school districts of the Commonwealth and hereby authorizes the Superintendent of Public In-

Cornett Woods Designated Museum of Virgin Timber

Frankfort, Ky.—As winter ice and snow retreat and spring advances, some Kentuckians will find themselves tired of four walls and a ceiling. For those who find themselves in need of trees and grass this spring, one possible escape from confinement is Lilley Cornett Woods.

But this year's visitors to the virgin-timbered area 25 miles southeast of Hazard in Letcher county will find it in different hands than visitors of previous years. For the past seven years, Lilley Cornett Woods has been administered by the Division of Forestry. Through a transfer agreement effective Jan. 1, care for the woods is now the duty of Eastern Kentucky University.

According to the agreement, one reason for the transfer is the better uses to which the state university can put the woods than the state forestry division. It can be used not only by the university but by the public as an outdoor classroom—an adventure in learning about one of the last virgin forests in the eastern U.S.

In addition to studying the living laboratory, EKU is preserving the land as a living museum of virgin timber, botanical, biological, and zoological life. The university plans also to use the land to promote research and study of the natural area, its ecosystem (the plant and animal life) and mineral and geological structures that are to be found in the woods.

In 1918, when Lilley Cornett bought the woods that are now named after him, appreciation of the value of the virgin trees in

Rates Once Lower Now Turn Upward

The Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) has approved a $1.58 million gas adjustment increase for Columbia Gas of Kentucky, due to an increase in the wholesale cost of gas from its supplier, Columbia Gas Transmission Corp.

The Jan. 17 PSC order states that the increase will affect gas supplied on and after Feb. 1. Earlier this week Columbia received commission approval to refund some $1.3 million to its customers, due to another rate adjustment.

By ANGELINE S. GEORGE
I declared that I could not; my typist said he would not; and I fear the Times will decide they will not print another batch of my news. But, using the excuse that I failed to include some items, here I go again, with the promise to one and all that I shall not attempt the news of our beloved little hamlet for some time to come. Anyone wishing to send in news will not be cutting in at all. Please feel free. It is your community, too. So I'm stepping aside for a spell.)
Mrs. Lois Foley Walters continues ill, but some improved, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Ethel Foley, with whom she and her sons reside. Pfc. John E. Walters, son of Mrs. Walters and a member of the U.S. Marine Corps, stationed in Memphis, Tenn., spent last week-end visiting his mother, grandmother and brother, Jeff Walters.
Mrs. Nie Clark, whose health is not so good, spends part of her time at her home here and stays some with her son's family, James (Butch) Clark, and with her daughter, Mrs. Rubestine Clark, at Pikeville.
Rev. and Mrs. Cohen Campbell and children attended the funeral of Rev. Campbell's father, John Campbell, at Viper, Ky., Sunday. The elderly Mr. Campbell had lived many useful years but had been in failing health for several years. Funeral services were held at Mt. Olivet Baptist Church at Cornettsville, Ky.
Mr. and Mrs. John Osborne and daughter, of Fairdale, Ky., were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Layne. Mrs. Osborne is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Layne.
This very cold weather has reminded us of our gratitude for our public utilities and the suppliers. We thank God for all things He has given us and we are appreciative of all persons who, in any way, help to serve us, or have been instrumental in fulfilling our needs in our little town.
O. E. Stanley, a teacher here and pastor of the United Methodist Church at Shelbyana, has been very sick at home and is now a patient in the Pikeville Methodist Hospital. His splendid service in two communities make for great concern for his welfare.
Mrs. Charlie Crum has improved after several weeks' illness. It is hoped that she will soon be able to be back in church and into the general circulation of the community.

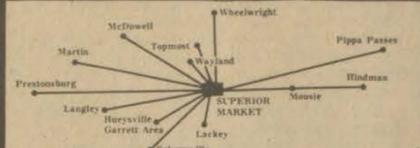

Mr. and Mrs. Argus Richardson and her mother, Mrs. Flossie Patrick, had as visitors recently, the Richardsons' daughter and son and in-laws, Mrs. Patrick's health is somewhat improved.
Some others of our senior citizens who are or have been ill include Mrs. Grace Paine, Mrs. Dovie Williamson, Bill Hamilton and Floyd Risner.
Mrs. Hal Harlowe has been admitted to the Methodist Hospital.
Mr. and Mrs. Dock Hall and Mrs. Hall's mother, Mrs. Emogene Lewis, had as recent guests their children, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hall and most of their grandchildren.
Dock Hall was unable to attend the funeral of his brother, Jack Hall, in Oak Hill, Ohio last week. He and other relatives have our sympathy.
Mrs. Mildred Davis has returned home after several days' treatment in the Methodist Hospital, and is doing very well.
Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hunter took Mrs. Hunter's mother to Georgia after an extended visit here. They spent Christmas in Georgia and are now in Florida.
Many older citizens, who remember Julian Harlowe as a teacher and the first coach of the Betsy Layne Bobcats, will be interested to know that, in reply to a Christmas greeting and letter from Mr. and Mrs. James A. George, he says he remembers with pleasure the people and the years spent here and that he has recently retired as an oral surgeon in Louisville. He hopes to get to Betsy Layne and see some of the people he once knew. Just now, he asks that his "regards" be passed on to all his old friends.

Many friends were delighted to hear from Mrs. Carl Brown and to learn that she is well in Hawaii.
Neighbors and friends who spent Christmas vacations with their families in Ohio were Mrs. Georgia Mae Layne, with her daughter, Betty Jean, (Mrs. John Vaughan) and family, and Mrs. Norma Jean Layne, with her daughter, Mrs. Ted Stratton, and family.
You can see that, we who live in Betsy Layne (a settlement dating back to the 1800's, and later being named Betsy Layne for Elizabeth Johns Layne) have great regard for its heritage, past and present citizens, its past and present public servants, its churches, schools and general air of concern and friendliness. May we strive together to make it an honor to the memory of its founder and those following, who worked hard to preserve its identity, and may we try to make it a better place in which to live.
