

This Town...That World

The weather may not be cooler after the election but heads and handshakes will be.

THE QUIET PLACE

I have decided that just about the most restful, peaceful place around is one's own backyard.

In our case, the backyard runs into a hillside, and that helps. Sure, the drone of traffic invades the spot, but somehow it doesn't seem a part of the scene. It's like being far up a lake cove and having the utter silence broken by the intrusion of a distant motor, or like being on a hilltop and hearing a plane high overhead—they are passing nuisances, they don't belong, and neither do those traffic sounds that I hear.

This is a great spot for sight and sound. I am reminded how few of the flowers and trees I can identify and how little I really know about birds. But it's consoling to know that you don't have to know the name of every bloom or bird to enjoy them. I excuse my ignorance by saying it's enough to be able to see and hear. I'm not even a reasonably good amateur birdwatcher, but I have some pretty definite ideas about what I think is beautiful.

You listen to the birds, and you think this is a jay or a sparrow or cardinal or wood thrush. But I am not so certain, those catbirds and mockingbirds are such masters of mimicry.

Forget what you should be doing, stay with them and hear the happy doxology for the day as the shadows deepen. The sound fades as the choristers move deeper into the hillside, farther back in the trees till only a few notes drift down.

That's when they, too, have moved into their own backyards.

Three Ask Probe of Explosion

Blast Injures Seven, Wrecks School Kitchen

The gas explosion which last Friday morning wrecked the kitchen of Prestonsburg High School and injured seven persons, two seriously, was headed this week toward investigation at both the county and state levels.

Monday morning, County Judge-Executive Yvonne S. Jones wired Attorney General Robert Stephens, asking him to initiate an investigation into the blast.

Earlier, Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen had announced his intention to ask the Floyd circuit court grand jury to probe the explosion when it convenes next July 6. And Supt. E. P. Grigsby, Jr. initiated an investigation of his own.

The explosion, which occurred around 9:30 a.m., blew away the walls of the kitchen, leaving the roof dangling, and hurling brick into the adjoining school cafeteria. The approximately 800 pupils were in classrooms, and this circumstance reduced the number of the injured.

Two of the injured cooks, Margaret Bays, 45, and Angie Justice, 56, both of Prestonsburg, remain in the Highlands Regional Medical Center here. Mrs. Bays was listed in serious condition with abdominal injuries. Mrs. Justice sustained a broken leg, broken ribs and, possibly, a fractured hip.

Other cooks, Dolly Music, 31, Mary Gearheart, 56, and Glenda Mae Hackworth, 36, all of Prestonsburg, were treated at the hospital and released. Two maintenance men employed by the Floyd County Board of Education—Ray Turner, 54, of Garrett, and Frank Stephens, 31, of Hueysville—suffered minor injuries but were not hospitalized.

The explosion came when a maintenance worker plugged in a kitchen fan on which he had been working. The resulting electric arc ignited accumulated gas, it was held.

There was no panic inside the school but the scene outside was marked by confusion as frantic parents hurried to the school, fearing for the safety of their children, and were joined by onlookers. Prestonsburg and state police and the fire department cordoned off the area.

A length of one-inch pipe removed from beneath the kitchen after the explosion by Paul Chaffins, assistant fire chief, was blamed for the gas leak. It had corroded until only a trace of threading remained at one end.

Fire Chief Tom Blackburn surmised that the gas leak could have stemmed (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

Date Set for Talks On Schools' Deficit

Assistant Attorney General Robert L. Chenoweth confirmed Monday the report that he had, on behalf of Attorney General Robert Stephens, notified Supt. of Schools E. P. Grigsby, Jr. and members of the Floyd County Board of Education to meet with Stephens to discuss the existing deficit in the Floyd county school budget.

His letter indicated that the conference was a prelude to possible legal action to remove the Floyd officials from office.

A May 21 date was mentioned by Chenoweth in his letter requesting the meeting, but the conference has been postponed till June 12.

The Chenoweth letter pointed out that the office of the attorney general has been requested to consider instituting and prosecuting "your removal as Superintendent of Schools, based upon your and board members' alleged violation of the law." It also pointed out that part of the penalty for violation of the statute (KRS 160.550) is removal from office.

But Chenoweth expressed the belief that a solution to the problem may be developed, short of filing an action for removal.

Items which Chenoweth said may be discussed at the June 12 meeting include the fiscal period when the deficit began, action taken by the board since that time, the exact financial condition of the board at this time and the manner in which assurance may be given by the board that the deficit will be eliminated, and the length of time that may be required to achieve that result.

The assistant attorney general later said the attorney general's office has known of the deficits for some time.

The deficit last June 30 was reported at $660,000. Supt. Grigsby has emphasized the point that the deficit is being reduced, that expenditure cuts "across the board" have been made and will continue to be made until the deficit is erased.

"We will cut the deficit in half this year, and expect to eliminate it next year," the superintendent said.

4.5 Miles Blacktopping Slated for Floyd Road

The state Department of Transportation has announced a Floyd county project to place blacktop resurfacing on 4.5 miles of KY 680, the McDowell-Mud Creek road, from KY 1929 to KY 979.

Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson said the project will be financed with state funds. The work will be done by a private contractor and is expected to be up for bids May 18.

'Keep Searching,' Grads Told

PRESTONSBURG COMMUNITY COLLEGE graduates, clad in cap and gown, relax backstage before being called to pick up hard-earned diplomas.

When the Rev. Charles Flener, chaplain of the Jefferson County Police Department, speaker at the 14th annual graduation exercises of Prestonsburg Community College told the 105 graduating seniors last Friday evening to "keep learning, keep searching," he spoke out of his own experience.

After the minister was graduated from college, he went into the entertainment field, trooped all over. Years passed, and still he had not found his "niche." But he kept on searching, and finally he found fulfillment in the Christian ministry.

So he told the graduating class: "Keep searching for that one thing that will make you a whole person."

The exercises were held at the amphitheatre of Jenny Wiley State Park.

A citizens committee to support an application for the construction of a new hospital in Paintsville was announced this week.

Circuit Judge William B. Hazelrigg has accepted the chairmanship of the Citizens' Committee To Save Paintsville Hospital, according to an announcement from Robert Marsh, coordinator of the community effort.

The Paintsville Hospital has applied for a Certificate of Need to construct a new hospital near the site of its present facility on Euclid Avenue. The application is a necessary step in the approval process by regional and state (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

Child Wounded, Harvey Is Held On $10,000 Bail

Joe Harvey, 22-year-old Garrett man, was jailed here Monday by State Trooper T. D. Hall and State Detective Danny Stumbo, who charged him with first degree wanton endangerment after he allegedly had fired three shotgun blasts into a Stone Coal Creek home, wounding a three-year-old child.

The child, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Linville Ousley, neighbors of the Harvey family, is in the UK Medical Center, Lexington, and County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. said the only information he could get from that source was that her condition is satisfactory.

It was reported to authorities that Harvey was firing a gun loaded with buckshot and that one bullet struck the child, lodging behind the eyeball.

Harvey was at first held under $75,000 bond, but that amount was reduced later by District Judge Harold Stumbo to $10,000, with the provision that the accused man not return to Stone Coal but stay with friends on Salt Lick Creek, a few miles away, until further orders of the court.

County Attorney Turner said there apparently had been previous trouble between the Ousley and Harvey families, since warrants had been issued, naming members of the families on minor charges.

Bobby Ousley, of the Caney Fork of Middle Creek, was jailed Monday by Deputy Sheriff Phillip D. Neeley on a first degree wanton endangerment count after he allegedly had fired into the van and home of Lonnie Neeley. He also was

Court Affirms Preston's Term

John Brenton Preston lost his appeal last week from the 10-year pen term imposed on him by a Floyd circuit court jury on a first degree burglary charge connected with a break into the home of Connie Neeley on Abbott Creek.

When Attorney General Robert F. Stephens forwarded Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen the Appellate Court opinion, he wrote:

"My sincere congratulations to you on a job well done. Your excellent job makes our job here in the Attorney General's office that much easier."

Preston claimed the court erred on half a dozen points, among which were:

Permitted the prosecution to amend the indictment from a charge of burglary in the second degree to first degree; failed to approve his motion for a mistrial when the prosecution elicited testimony that Preston's brother at tempted to have prosecution witnesses drop the charges against him; admitted testimony as to appellant's former felony conviction, which he termed too remote. He also pointed to what he termed improper comments by the prosecutor in his final argument of the case.

The court overruled Preston on all counts.

Outline for "New" Prestonsburg Downtown Heard at Meet Here

Although parking was pointed to as the most pressing need for a revitalized downtown Prestonsburg at a public meeting here last Tuesday night, Allen Johnson, president of General Designs, the Illinois firm contracted to formulate a renovation plan for the city, outlined in some detail a number of other strategies for beautification and general improvement of the shopping district and surrounding area.

Johnson, whose firm first began its examination of Prestonsburg early this year, spoke of the overall cosmetic "first impression" which he believes a newcomer to the town might experience.

"The thing that first impresses is the great scenic beauty," Johnson said, referring to surrounding hills, "but we also noticed that, despite the scenic beauty of the area, the town was somewhat drab."

Rather than replacing store fronts as some communities have done in similar projects, Johnson suggested merchants paint store buildings, replace signs and take advantage of decorative cornices or other architectural features to "brighten shopping environs."

"Instead of utilizing some sort of ultra-modern look, we would suggest that you retain the character and historical flavor of Prestonsburg by simply dressing up what you already have," Johnson said.

Preliminary drawings displayed at the meeting depicted buildings painted in light beige and browns in a coordinated scheme which would lend a general uniformity to the look of the downtown section. Johnson also stressed avoiding over-large signs and the use of large modern-type plastic lettering. "Let your building front be your sign," he suggested to merchants. For store names on window fronts he said gold stick-on letters in traditional styling which look like old-fashioned gold leaf lettering had produced very desirable results in other communities.

Johnson pointed to the large number of electrical wires which criss-cross Prestonsburg streets as being quite noticeable and particularly unflattering to downtown buildings. He suggested that rerouting of wires underground would be high on a list of renovation priorities.

Referring to some of the city's taller structures, Johnson said bare windows on upper floors which show a clutter of cardboard boxes or old stock "give the business an almost deserted appearance." As a simple remedy he said curtains should be used. He also suggested that historical murals might be undertaken by area art classes to decorate blank walls of some businesses downtown.

Johnson, who said maintenance-renovation work would cost the business owner an average $800-$2,000, also urged maintenance of store backs and possible installation of canopies along store fronts. He said an awards program could be held each year to honor those merchants who had effected the most renovation work as an incentive toward future work.

Widening of sidewalks was pointed to as a much-needed project, especially along Court Street. "With mail boxes, light poles and parking meters you really have very little sidewalk space left," Johnson commented. He also mentioned provision for handicapped access ramps as a need with any sort of sidewalk work.

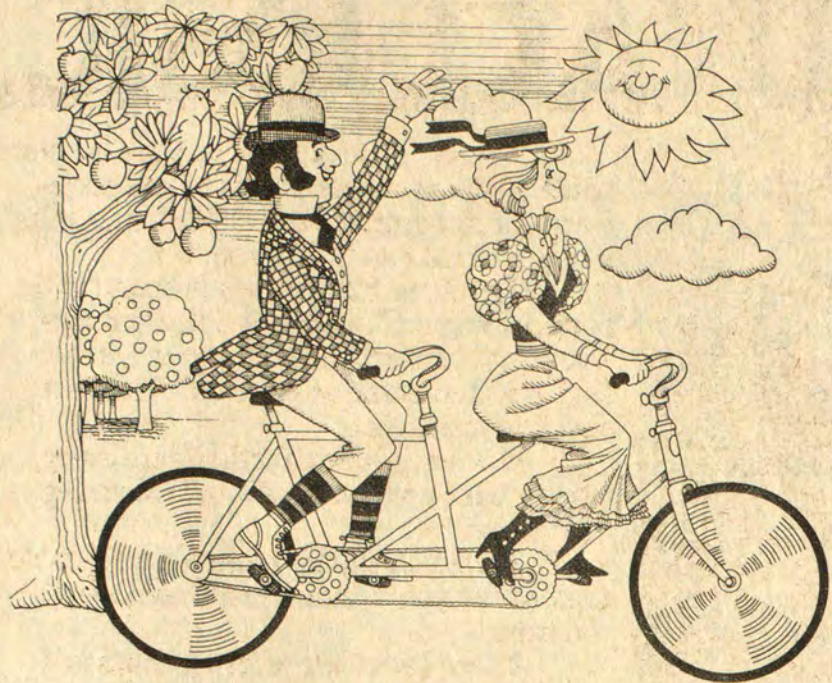

Other suggestions for Prestonsburg renovation included the following:

—Installation of additional trash receptacles downtown. (Johnson said dirt and trash was named frequently by town residents who were interviewed as being a major problem.)

—A general "dressing up" of the traffic divider at the approach to Prestonsburg from the Mountain Parkway including planting of shrubs and-or flowers and the sealing down of large signs which greet visitors and, according to Johnson's opinion, detract from the overall view.

Floyd Countians, there is hope for the future of this county if a change is made in the right places.

Howard Keathley is a man with a great desire for progress and growth and possesses the determination and positive attitude to see it brought forth.

Realization of what needs to be done and where it is needed most is the first step. It is very obvious where this county is being neglected most.

Howard Keathley is a man that will not settle for less than what the people of this county want and deserve. He has stressed one thing in particular throughout his entire county-wide campaign. If a sincere, positively determined desire for progress and satisfaction exists in our county's leadership nothing can force us to accept less than what we are striving to achieve, what we want, and what we deserve as citizens and taxpayers of this county!

For Jarvis Allen

If the people of Kentucky mean what they say and want an absolutely honest public official...
One who will never excel as a gladhander...
Or at telling you what you want to hear, even though it may not be the truth...
Or at making empty promises and passing pretty compliments...
If they are looking for plain, unvarnished service, they will vote for Jarvis Allen, of Floyd county, for Attorney General.
Here is one man who will hew to the line and let the chips fall where they may.
And isn't that what so many have been saying Kentucky needs?

'Save Red River Gorge' Slogan
Needs To Be Shouted Out Again

(An editorial in The Lexington Herald)

Save the Red River Gorge! Not from the dam. From the people who use it, or more correctly, those who abuse it.

It is abused. Heavily. A casual walk along the river shows that. Candy wrappers find their way in among wild irises, lady's slippers and other flowers. Beer and soda pop cans are there too; and the cans are wedged in rock ledges along the trails.

Campers toss empty pork and bean cans everywhere. Or perhaps they blacken them in a campfire first. But the cans remain to spoil the scenery for the next group of campers or hikers.

These are just the cosmetic abuses, though. They're a nuisance. They detract from the gorge's beauty. But at least beer cans, pork and bean cans, bread wrappers can be picked up by people who have pride in the gorge. The Sierra Club, Boy Scouts, the National Park Service, state park service and local groups cooperate in a fall cleanup campaign that greatly helps the gorge's appearance.

But there are more serious, more lasting abuses that aren't easily corrected. Hikers carve initials in trees and rocks. Campers hack away at trees with hatchets, scarring them, for no apparent reason.

They damage geological formations. Hikers break off layers of ledges. In one afternoon they can do what it might take nature thousands of years to do.

They dig up wild flowers—which won't live when transplanted back home. To save some time, they cut down a hillside from one trail to another, starting a new trail that can erode rapidly.

What can be done?

Unfortunately, if heavy abuse continues, hiking and camping in the gorge might have to be regulated by a permit system. A few decades from now, that might be the only way to save the gorge.

THE CAT AND THE JAYBIRDS

This column, you may say, is for the birds, but I must tell the story my friend, Jon Lindstrom, tells of the cat and the jaybirds.

While he was in college, he says, he had a friend whom he occasionally visited. One afternoon he stopped at his friend's home, to find him and the entire family gone. While he sat on the porch awaiting their return, he watched a jay strut back and forth before the family cat, which sat as if transfixed, motionless as only a cat can be. Meanwhile, a mewing sound was heard.

When the family returned, he told them of what he had seen.

"Oh, that's routine," his friend explained. "But you must understand, there are two jaybirds in this act. While one strolls past that cat, the other sits up there in the tree and gives with that mew you heard. There was a time when the cat had ideas of catching that bird, but every time he moved the bird in the tree would divebomb him till Tom finally got the idea that, maybe, he'd be wise to remain still and peaceable...I tell you, that poor cat got so frustrated that I've seen him crawl back in that culvert over there and sit for an hour, or longer, just staring."

But Thomas the Cat finally had his inning. One day, while one of the jays paraded back and forth and while the cat froze, the youngster ups with an air rifle and plugs the jay that was supplying the sound effects from up in the tree.

It will never be known if the shot was mortal or if the jay was merely wounded. Anyhow, he fell, and the harried mouser got revenge. The bird never touched the ground. Thomas nailed him in mid-air.

And the feathers may still be settling.

Mrs. Osborne Named
Director of Nursing
At Medical Center

Drema Osborne, R.N., has been named director of nursing services at Highlands Regional Medical Center, according to Lester C. Rankin, administrator.

Mrs. Osborne has served as acting director of nursing services for the past three months and has been employed by the hospital since it opened in 1973.

"Mrs. Osborne did an outstanding job during her three months as acting director," Rankin commented in announcing the appointment. "She worked marvelously with the doctors, nursing staff, and other departments at the hospital and demonstrated a real ability to meet the tremendous responsibilities of the job."

A Belfry native, she has been engaged in nursing for some 24 years since her graduation from the Louisville General Hospital School of Nurses. She is the wife of Don Osborne, Prestonsburg postmaster.

Federal aid to education already approved in the Senate and now facing House hearings will almost double funds for Kentucky's schools, it was estimated here this week. health agencies. According to Marsh, the Paintsville application is being opposed by Highlands Regional Hospital and "is in jeopardy as a result of this opposition."

Agencies of the state have told officials of the Paintsville Hospital that if a new facility is not constructed the present hospital will not be licensed for continued operation. The bottom line is, therefore, either a new hospital or no hospital at all," Marsh said.

"The people of Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties, in particular, need to know that if they do not act now they may not have a hospital in a year or two," he added. This is the reason for a campaign of community support."

Hazelrigg underlined Marsh's comments with a firm comment of his own: "Denying the people of Paintsville and Johnson county the right to have their own hospital and to do so on the basis of a state plan that is not only out-dated now but which was of questionable value at the time of its drafting is outrageous. The area needs Highlands Regional Hospital and the people of Johnson county would not think of doing anything that would deprive the people of Floyd county access to their hospital. But we need Paintsville Hospital, too. And we will do everything possible to retain it."

The present hospital in Paintsville was constructed in 1920.

ALLEN KINDERGARTEN

Allen Elementary will hold kindergarten registration for next fall, May 30 and 31, from 8 to 2:30. First graders who have not pre-registered should also register at this time at the kindergarten trailer.

Rescue Squad Saves
Man Pinned in Auto

Although he remains in serious condition, Donald Goble, 41, of R. 1, Prestonsburg, may have been snatched from certain death by the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad's "Jaws of Life" late Saturday afternoon.

Goble was trapped inside his Toyota after it had been rammed by a pickup truck, near the Floyd-Johnson county line. The dashboard pinned him, and ordinary efforts to extricate him were fruitless.

Within two minutes after its arrival on the scene, the Rescue Squad's mechanical lifesaver had removed the top of the car and the door on the driver's side and had relieved the pressure of the dashboard. He was rushed to the Highlands Medical Center.

Herman Roberts, a passenger in the car suffered lacerations. Brad Walls, about 22, of Dwale, driver of the truck which collided with the car, also escaped with minor hurts. The truck was owned by the Rebel Coal Company.

It was reported here that Walls was driving north on US 23 when Goble pulled onto the highway from the intersecting Johns Creek road.

—Establishment of a possible mini-park adjacent to the poolroom here where pedestrians could rest. Area would include restrooms.

—Increased and improved landscaping, utilizing shrubs, trees and flowers to enhance appearance of shopping and parking areas.

—Development of more second floor space for businesses.

Johnson stressed that with the current popularity of large malls and ever distant urban shopping complexes "You need to try to make Prestonsburg fun, colorful—not drab."

Although the idea of a pedestrian mall, created by the closing of Court Street to traffic, had been discussed, members of the Prestonsburg Merchants Development Association and interested citizens voiced their support of a plan which would allow through traffic, but without on-street parking. Since most downtown businesses have no rear loading facilities, it is necessary for large trucks to load and unload along the street, Johnson was told. Through traffic would also constitute an important convenience factor for elderly or young non-drivers who need to be driven close to store entrances. Johnson voiced agreement with the plan and pointed to several instances in which outside pedestrian malls had failed dramatically.

Johnson said of the more than 100 communities in which his firm had worked, increases in business following renovation increased an average of 27 per cent. Considerably greater increases were noted in towns which had lost business to area malls and urban centers, it was said.

Suggested as a plan for alleviating, in part, Prestonsburg's shortage of parking, which was described as being as bad as any the firm had seen, Johnson displayed an artist's drawing of a projected multi-level parking structure which would be built on the site of the present municipal parking lot across from the Floyd County Courthouse. The structure would accommodate approximately 300 cars and cost an estimated $3-4 million.

Abby Grant, chairman of the merchants committee which has worked closely with General Designs over the past several months, said the planning firm would return for a meeting with the committee and Prestonsburg City Council on June 7. "At that time, final plans from General Designs will be submitted and the basic problem of funding such projects as sidewalk widening and the parking structure will be discussed," she pointed out.

Johnson commended Prestonsburg merchants and residents for the enthusiasm which has thus far been demonstrated. Last Tuesday's meeting, he said, represented the largest crowd which had ever attended similar presentations in more than 100 communities throughout the country in which General Designs had worked. "The store owners seem to be willing to go ahead," he commented. "You don't have to beat 'em in the head to go along like in some places."

Aid to Handicapped
Work Planned Here
On State Building

Handicapped persons will have easier access to state government services in Prestonsburg soon, when the Department for Human Resources finishes a construction project to better accommodate persons with physical handicaps.

The work at the Prestonsburg office, which will include rest room renovations and ramp construction, is part of a statewide project which will improve access for handicapped persons in 28 communities. Morehead, Pikeville and Ashland are among other Eastern Kentucky cities which are slated for renovation work.

Announcing the project, Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn said, "Our purpose is to serve all the people of Kentucky, and these renovations in our local offices will help us do just that."

The first facilities planned for improvements are among the busiest, Conn said.

Future improvements are planned for all state-owned, department-occupied offices and facilities that need changes to accommodate persons with physical handicaps.

Improvements in 30 Human Resources offices are expected to begin by mid-June and will include installing ramps and modifying restrooms, doors, sidewalks and curbs. Some buildings will get elevators. The entire project will cost $745,000.

Section 504 of the federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973 requires states to eliminate structural barriers which create problems for physically-handicapped persons.

Conn noted National Architectural Barrier Awareness Week will be observed May 13-19.

The Human Resources Department leads southeastern social service agencies in efforts to comply with the law and improve access for handicapped persons, Conn said.

Handicapped persons having difficulty obtaining Human Resources services because of structural barriers may contact the department's ombudsman. The toll-free number is 1-800-372-2973.

from one of two causes: 1. That the pipe was disturbed, the preceding day, by maintenance men working beneath the kitchen; 2. that blasting on a nearby road construction project could have loosened the pipe.

The maintenance workers said, however, that they did not go near the gas line while working in the crawl space beneath the kitchen.

Mrs. Ruby Catherine Clifton, president of PBS, the local group which led the fight for removal of asbestos in the school and later protested unsanitary conditions there, said the board of education had been warned last September of leaking gas. She added that nothing was done about it.

Mrs. Clifton said the warning was sounded "because our children told us they could smell it."

Supt. Grigsby could not be reached either Monday or Tuesday for a statement but he was quoted as saying, "I don't know what they're talking about. It really amazes me anyone would make such a statement."

But this was not the view of the situation discovered by Commonwealth's Attorney Allen Tuesday morning when he interviewed and took statements of three of the cooks and the two maintenance men. Allen said Mrs. Music, who is now head cook, told him she had reported gas to the board of education's maintenance department 10 to 15 times and that nobody came to do anything about it. She also said her predecessor, Blanche Cooley, had also reported gas. Allen quoted Mrs. Gearheart and Mrs. Hackworth as saying gas could be smelled in the school kitchen.

The maintenance men said that when they were at the school, the day prior to the explosion, the air was so bad in the crawl space that they could not stay there for any long period of time, but they said they did not smell gas while under the floor. One of the two said he did smell gas around the kitchen.

County Judge Jones said she felt conscience-bound to ask the attorney general to investigate the explosion. Her telegram read:

"Under KRS 67.083 the fiscal court has responsibility to provide fire protection for our citizens, as well as the general legal and moral obligation to see to the safety of our people in Floyd county. I am, therefore, as County Judge-Executive of Floyd county, Kentucky, requesting that you initiate an investigation immediately into the explosion at the Prestonsburg High School that occurred Friday, May 11, resulting in injuries to several people."

Commonwealth's Atty. Allen said he will conduct an investigation that will be fair to all concerned and that he is convinced it is his duty to ask the grand jury to look thoroughly into the matter.

Fire Chief Blackburn said he had never had any report of gas leaks at the school and that four inspections last year and monthly inspections this year did not disclose evidence of gas.

The commonwealth's attorney said he questioned Paul Chaffins, city inspector as well as assistant fire chief, about his inspection trips to the school, and that Chaffins said he inspected the electrical system and found no violations in it. It was not clear how thorough the inspection of gas lines had been.

Prestonsburg High reopened Tuesday but its gas supply has been completely cut off, and students were advised to bring their own lunches. Gas to the building will remain off, Fire Chief Blackburn said, until all pipes are torn out and replaced. Electric service to the home economics department also has been discontinued.

Later, Supt. Grigsby said he has asked the state fire marshal to investigate the explosion and that his own fact-finding board of five—Assistant Supts. Ray Brackett and Ronald Hager, Principal William Hughes, Asst. Principal Gene Wright and Maintenance Foreman Joe C. Moore—have been at work.

Grigsby also made public sworn statements by the school principal, the school system's maintenance director, the high school's custodian in charge, all of whom said they did not receive any reports of gas leaks at the school on Friday when the explosion occurred or anytime during the previous week.

"There was no gas leak reported to me anytime during the week of May 7," Grigsby quoted the sworn statement of principal William Hughes. "In the past, when a gas leak was reported anywhere in the building, maintenance was called immediately, and the situation was corrected."

Groups Are Honored
At Highland Church

A Mother's Day—Senior Citizen's tribute was held during Sunday services at the Highland Avenue Free Will Baptist Church. Flowers were presented to all mothers and included recognition of the oldest mother present, Mrs. Zella Greene; the youngest mother, Mrs. Yvonne Miller; the mothers with the most children present, Mrs. Joyce Daniels and Mrs. Janet Austin; the oldest female member, Mrs. Anna Hopson, and the oldest male charter member, Dow Webb.

The theme message of the service was preached by 77-year-old Rev. Charlie Rowe, former pastor of the church. A fellowship dinner following the service was shared by all attending.

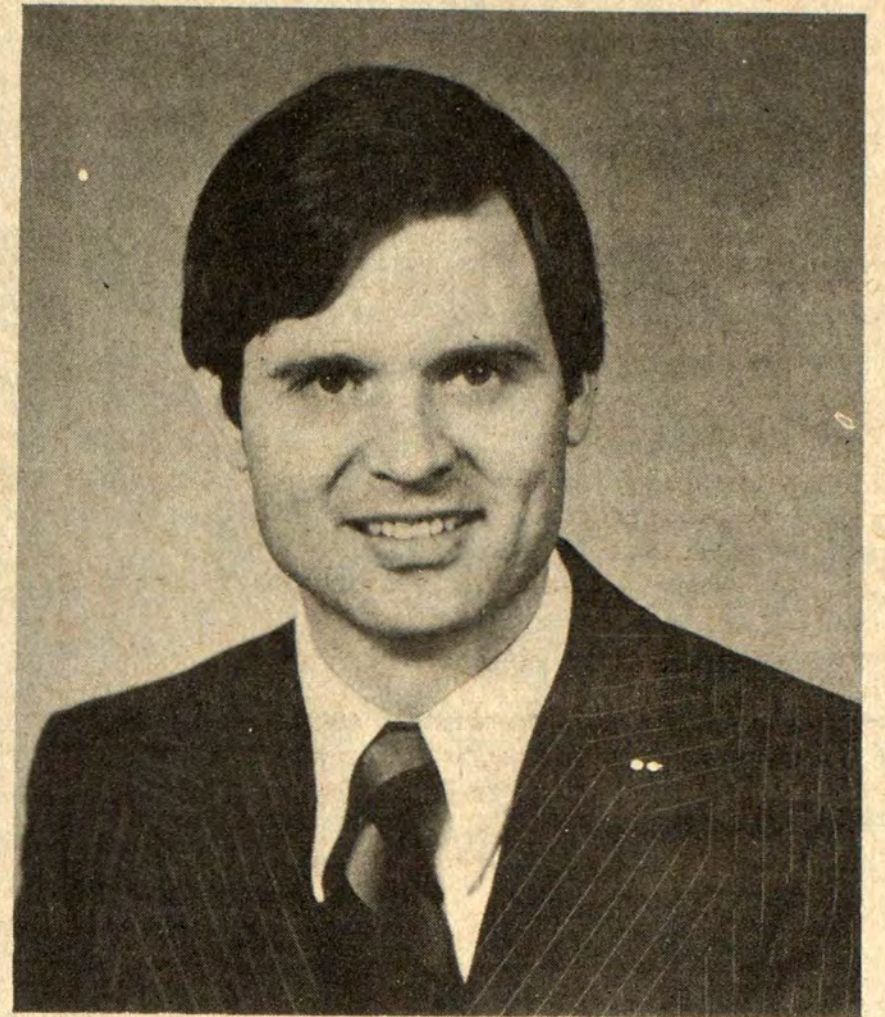

DINNER TO BE HELD

There will be a chicken and dumpling dinner May 20, from 12 to 6 at the David Child Care Center. The public is invited to attend.

YOUR DEMOCRAT STATE SENATOR, JIM HAMMOND, ENDORSES

JOE PRATHER

FOR LT. GOVERNOR

I give my sincere and whole hearted support to State Senator Joe Prather, President Pro-Tem of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, for Lieutenant Governor because:

JOE PRATHER HAS WORKED FOR AND SUPPORTED PROGRAMS FOR EASTERN KENTUCKY—

JOE PRATHER has given me great assistance in helping me:

1. To enact the Resource Recovery Act which is responsible for the reconstruction of Ky. 80 to four lanes, connecting the Kentucky river Valley near Hazard to the Big Sandy River Valley near Prestonsburg; the reconstruction of Ky. Route 3 into four lanes, connecting the Big Sandy River Valley near Prestonsburg to Inez, Kentucky and Kermit, West Virginia, of the Tug River Valley; and the building of the Hazard By-pass, for a total of 350 million dollars of major road construction here in Eastern Kentucky from your severance tax dollars.
2. To secure increased funding of our schools through the severance tax program of power equalization.
3. To have monies returned to the coal counties for grant projects through the Coal County Economic Aid Boards in each coal producing county.
4. To secure more money for rural and county roads through the return of severance tax money via the Energy Road Fund for coal producing counties.
5. To secure funding for community parks and convention centers in coal counties through the return of coal severance tax.

JOE PRATHER IS THE BEST QUALIFIED CANDIDATE FOR LT. GOVERNOR—

- *JOE PRATHER served six years in the House of Representatives as a Representative, reaching the position of majority whip for the Democrat Party.
- *JOE PRATHER has served six years as a State Senator.
- *JOE PRATHER has served four years as President Pro Tem of the Senate, assuming the duties of the Lieutenant Governor when the Lieutenant Governor is unable to serve.
- *JOE PRATHER has served as Governor of Kentucky when the Lt. Governor and the Governor are out of the state.
- *JOE PRATHER has served the last four years as co-chairman of the Legislative Research Commission which runs the legislative process when the Senate and House are not in session.

JOE PRATHER HAS PROVEN THAT HE CAN HANDLE THE JOB—

As you know, during the Special Session of 1979, JOE PRATHER stood up for Kentuckians and presided over the Senate in his role as President Pro-Tem of the Senate. Working together, he and I were able to:

- *Put a lid on property taxes
- *Take the sales tax off utility bills
- *Balance the budget, putting 45 extra million dollars into the rural highway program for the repair of our roads and bridges within the next 18 months.

JOE PRATHER has worked closely with me to assure that my district, not including the major highways funding, gets back $13.00 of state revenue for every $1.00 that is paid in state taxes by the people of this district.

JOE PRATHER HAS COMMITTED TO ME AND ALL THE PEOPLE OF EASTERN KENTUCKY
TO WORK FOR THE FOLLOWING THINGS FOR US:

1. To double the money for rural highways and county roads by the state, with a de-emphasis on any new and future super highways.
2. To dramatically increase funding for education, increasing the proportionate share of that to be spent on elementary, secondary and vocational education.
3. To set up a Kentucky Electric Power Authority to locate coal-burning electrical generating plants in Eastern Kentucky.
4. To effectively reduce our utility bills and provide a means for our senior and disabled citizens to meet the payment of their utility bills.
5. To see that the next governor, whoever he may be, appoints a rural highway commissioner from Eastern Kentucky; a secretary or chief deputy secretary for the Department for Human Resources from Eastern Kentucky; and the secretary for the Department of Natural Resources and/or the Commissioner of Mines and Minerals from Eastern Kentucky.

I ASK MY FELLOW EASTERN KENTUCKIANS TO HELP ME ELECT

JOE PRATHER LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Hoedown Island Offers Family
Fun in a Traditional Manner

By HELEN PRICE STACY

In the deep fastness of Eastern Kentucky hills, valleys and rocks stands Hoedown Island. It is located in a hollow rimmed by rhododendron, hemlock and towering cliffs.

This island of concrete is many things to many people, but to the sashay crowd, the do-si-do-ers and the promenaders, Hoedown Island is the place to be every Saturday night.

Hoedown Island in Natural Bridge State Resort Park, just off the Mountain Parkway, is a square dance floor under the stars. It is surrounded by a lake formed by Middle Fork of Red River, ruffled with greenery and patches of blue overhead.

Saturday night square dancing started April 28 and will continue through Oct. 27. The weekly events are interrupted only by special dance events and competitions.

Richard Jett, a caller at Hoedown Island for many years, developed the dance programs and continues to direct each session. Friday night square dancing starts June 1 and continues through Aug. 31.

The activity starts at about 7:30 each evening, just before the moon crests Raven Rock to cast blue shadows in the sun's afterglow. Guests at Hemlock Lodge on the mountainside above Hoedown Island first hear bits and pieces of "Dark Town Strutters Ball" or "Butterfly Flip" or "Mountaineer Loop." Sweet music coming from the island calls diners to the balconies of the lodge, campers from the campgrounds and hikers from the trails.

It is an exciting time. Sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Parks, weekend square dancing at Hoedown Island has become a big reunion for people from different locations, including returning guests from many states and other countries.

"We're just a happy, friendly gathering," said Jett, "who find good family fun here at the park. You don't have to know any one to enter into the action, and you don't have to own a fancy dance outfit. We emphasize a few hours of activity with socializing all around that includes a good time for all age groups whether it's the 6-year-old set or Grandpa and Grandma."

The Ninth Annual Shindig in the Mountains will take place on Hoedown Island May 25-27. "You won't want to miss this. It's one of the most colorful, lively weekends of the season," Jett said. "Some hoedowners have been kicking their heels for years. But when someone who's never tried it sees it, before you know it, he or she is right out there."

Other special events to be presented during the dance season include the 13th Annual National Mountain-Style Square Dance Festival June 15-16; First Annual Mountain-Western Square Dance Frolic July 7; 14th Annual Western Square Dance Festival Aug. 31-Sept. 2.

While the emphasis is on square dancing, Jett says each weekly program includes not only "easy-to-learn mountain and western square dances, we also enjoy waltzes, polkas and other dances, thrown in for variety. There are some dances just for children. Programs are oriented toward the entire family."

Natural Bridge State Park at Slade is within easy driving distance of most Kentuckians and residents of nearby states, easily accessible by the Mountain Parkway.

Dr. Bailey To Receive
Ohio U. Medal of Merit

Dr. Benny Ray Bailey, executive director of East Kentucky Health Services Center, has been informed by the Ohio University Alumni board of directors that he has been chosen to receive the Alumni Medal of Merit for 1979. Dr. Bailey was recognized for his "outstanding achievement in education and community service."

The Medal of Merit is the most prestigious award given to alumni of the Ohio University. The medal will be officially conferred at a formal Alumni Awards Banquet, September 27.

Dr. Bailey earned the doctorate at Ohio University in 1975. In 1972, he and Dr. Grady Stumbo began the East Kentucky Health Services Center. The East Kentucky Health Services Center is nationally recognized as a model rural health care delivery program. Dr. Bailey lives at Mallie, Kentucky.

The Japanese can now expect to outlive their American counterparts, the May Reader's Digest reveals. According to 1977 statistics, Japanese men have an average life expectancy of 72.9 years, and the women 77.95 years. In view of the fact that their combined life expectancy was 50 years only three decades ago, the increase is spectacular.

Five grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were conducted at the home of Nick Patrick on Montgomery Creek at 10 a.m. Wednesday, May 9 by the Revs. Steve Pratt, George Patrick and Carter Hicks. Burial was made in the Elisha Patrick cemetery under direction of Hindman Funeral Home.

Mrs. Flora Ann Woods

Mrs. Flora Ann Woods, 71, of Bypro, died last Friday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital following an extended illness.

Born September 6, 1907 in Wheelwright, she was a daughter of the late Sill and Evelyn Johnson Hall and was a member of the Wheelwright Free Will Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband, Henry Woods; one son, O. G. Collins, of Bypro; a stepson, Wyman Woods, of Marion, O.; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Patsy Crisp, of Bypro; three brothers, Hass, George and Milton Hall, all of Knott county; a sister, Mrs. Dora Patton, of Pikeville; four half-sisters, Mrs. Della Clark, of Pikeville, Mrs. Stella Hicks, of Wheelwright, Mrs. Alberta Burnett, of Ypsilanti, Mich., and Mrs. Brookie Click, of Bypro. Two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at Merion Funeral Chapel by the Revs. Belmont Johnson and Louis Ferrari. Burial was made in Richmond Memorial cemetery here.

Pallbearers were Gregory Woods, Seaton Crisp, Jr., Carl Douglas Woods, Phillip Lucas, and Louis Ferrari.

Mrs. Susie Samons

Mrs. Susie Samons, 81, of Arkansas Creek near Martin, died Sunday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital following a long illness.

Born March 2, 1898, she was a daughter of the late Malcolm and Ann Jarrell Samons and was married to Bascom Samons who preceded her in death. She had been a member of the Church of Christ for 56 years.

She is survived by five sons, Hezzie and Everett Samons, both of Toledo, O., Casey and Tandy Samons, both of Martin, and Bascom Samons, of Port Lavaca, Texas; two daughters, Mrs. Sadie Samons, of Martin, and Mrs. Julie Williams, of Studio City, Calif.; one brother, Richard Samons, of Martin; 18 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Arkansas Church of Christ with Benny Blankenship, the officiating minister. Burial was made in the Samons cemetery on Arkansas Creek under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

State Board Okehs
Inez Coal Facility

The Kentucky Certificate of Need and Licensure Board last week acted on three applications affecting the northeastern area of the state.

The board, which is attached to the Department for Human Resources, approved two proposals for eight-bed intermediate (Level II) neonatal care units to be established by King's Daughters' Hospital in Ashland and Methodist Hospital, Pikeville.

The board also approved a proposal by Inez Health Care Center, Inc. to construct a 79-bed intermediate care facility in Inez. Estimated cost of the facility is $1,332,000.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our aunt, Mrs. Maude (Aunt Bodine) Clark who wrote this song and often enjoyed singing it at family reunions

Once I was single and living at my ease. Now I am married and a husband to please. Seven children besides Montain, Lord, don't I wish I was single again. One cries out, "I want a piece of bread;" Another cries out, "I want to go to bed." Their daddy scolding and wishing they were dead. Those young men that struts around town look like they're worth ten hundred pounds. Look in their pockets but a penny you'd find. So foolish, so fickle is the young man's mind. These young girls that flirt around town dressed in silk from their toe to their crown. Look in their stockings and a hole you'd find. So foolish, so fickle the young girl's mind. These young men when they first begin to love, it is nothing but you're honey and sweet Turtle Dove. When you get married, it's a quite and different thing—Get up from here and get breakfast you old lazy thing.

THE MCGUIRE FAMILY

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our grandmother, Alice Lafferty Hall, who passed away, May 2, 1978:

A place is vacant in our hearts which can never be filled; Mom's face, we can no longer see; a beautiful life which came to an end.

I dream of her at night, I see her face, all radiant and unshadowed of distress; No more suffering nor tears. And when I wake I know that she is gone.

It has been a year, already, although it seems like only yesterday that I sat by her bed as we listened to her favorite song, "One Day At A Time, Sweet Jesus."

Mom's thoughts were so full of us, she never could forget; and so I think that where she is she must be watching yet, waiting till we come home to her. Anxious if we are late—watching from Heaven's window, leaning from Heaven's Gate!

Oh, how very much we miss her. She was so good—why couldn't she stay? We don't understand, but we must accept, because it was God's will.

Sadly missed by her daughters, MARY AND MARTHA, SISTERS GRACE AND FANNIE, NIECE, LIZZIE, NIECES AND NEPHEWS.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our grandmother, Alice Lafferty.

We loved our Grandma very much, but the Lord must have loved her more, because he took her away on May 2nd, 1978 to be with him.

Our Grandmother was a very beautiful person. When the Lord called her home, we were all so sad, but we know that she is having a better life than she had, for all the love and gifts that we gave her cannot compare with a life with Jesus and our Father up there.

Our grandmother maybe gone, but she surely will never be forgotten.

SADDLY MISSED BY HER GRAND-CHILDREN, SANDY, LINDA, JOHN AND SCOTT

RETIRED TEACHERS MEET

Members of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' Association met Saturday, May 12, at the Emma May Wells Cultural Center, with the president, Mrs. Mae K. Roberts presiding. Mrs. Roberts introduced the Rev. Taylor Biggs, pastor of the Community United Methodist Church, who gave the devotionals. The Rev. Biggs stressed the thought that "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge." Mrs. Anna May Mellon gave the treasurer's report, and announced that, of the 130 retired teachers in this county, 90 are now paid members of the FCTA. Mrs. Roberts stressed the importance of becoming members of this organization, and Clem Martin told of the correspondence he had received from Congressman Carl Perkins, following the receipt of a letter, written by Mr. and Mrs. Martin, and signed by members of the FCTA, in relation to the proposed change in the Social Security law that would affect many retired teachers. Mrs. Roberts appointed Mrs. Frankie Best, Mrs. Goldia Williams and Mrs. Sarah Laven as a membership committee. It was pointed out by Mr. Martin that although many teachers past the age of 55 are continuing to teach, they are eligible to become members of the Floyd County Teachers' Association, and that this, in turn, would strengthen the influence which the organization could expect to have in regard to passage of legislative measures favorable to teachers, active and retired. Mrs. Frankie Best, chairman of the new Legislative Committee for this district, reported on the state meeting which she attended recently in Louisville, and read to the members the proposals made by her group to be presented to the 1980 legislature. Mrs. Best added that according to the records, Kentucky has the best teacher retirement system in the nation. Mrs. Roberts discussed the work being done by Miss Ruby Akers, a member of the KRTA Nominating Committee. The president stressed that members who have not paid their dues should do so by July.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Roberts introduced Trooper Claude Tackett, of Pike county, who gave a discussion, entitled "The Con Man." Trooper Tackett told of several crimes recently arising in this area, and emphasized the need for persons to learn how such crimes may be prevented. He added that, "In Kentucky, a burglary occurs once every eleven seconds." A question-and-answer period followed his discussion, and pamphlets, entitled "Your Security Starts at Home," were given to the group by the speaker.

Two new members, Mrs. Mildred Salisbury and Mrs. Goldia Williams were welcomed.

Hostesses were Mrs. Nora Martin, Mrs. Alma Lowe and Mrs. Rhoda Martin. Refreshments were served to guests, the Rev. Taylor Biggs, Trooper Claude Tackett, Mrs. Julia B. Stephens, E. D. Roberts and Hite Martin, and members, Clem Martin, Mesdames Mae K. Roberts, Grace Sutherland, Norma Stepp, Anna May Mellon, Docia B. Woods, Victoria Spradlin, Sarah Laven, Mildred Salisbury, Beatrice Collins, Lucy C. Regan, Franke S. Best, Mildred Hall, Goldia Williams, Opal S. May, Elizabeth Bailey, Rhoda M. Martin, Nora Martin.

I was born at Beaver, Kentucky, head of Mud Creek. My father was Elder J. S. (Joe) Reynolds. My mother was Frances Henson Reynolds. My grandfather was Riley E. (Big Dock) Reynolds. My grandmother was Polly Henson Reynolds. My grandfather was T. P. (Tim) Henson. My grandmother was Abby Kathern Hamilton Henson. I married Shirley Hamilton Reynolds, the daughter of Jay Lee Hamilton, Sr. She was the daughter of Goldie Hall Hamilton, also the granddaughter of Elder Red John Hamilton and Vina Newsome Hamilton, and the granddaughter of G. V. Green and Marry Tackett. I have one daughter, Vicki Lynn, who is married to Ralph Bryant.

I am a member of Wheelwright Lodge No. 889, F. & A.M.

I was elected State Representative in 1970-72. The Black Lung bill was the first bill to go through 83 to 0. I also helped get the teachers' raise by taxing cigarettes and liquor.

I think Floyd county should have their coal severance tax money back for their roads. I will fight hard to get it back. I will go to Frankfort.

I know a lot of friends in Frankfort. I think I could get things done for Floyd county. I will work hard.

Floyd Countians Pull Together, Win EKU Championship

By KENNY RICE

One half of the 1979 Eastern Kentucky University ten man tug of war championship team consists of Floyd countians. Mark Chaffin, Leslie "Bear" May, Alan Ranier, Chuck Hughes and Rodney Holbrooks, played vital roles in leading their team to the campus title.

"We entered it (the tournament) because of the challenge. We wanted to beat this team that had been campus champs for three years in a row, and we did beat them in the finals," Chaffin said.

"Villa Drive," their team name, not only trounced the defending champs in the one tug finals, but pulled their way to the finals by winning consecutive matches of best of three tugs in minimum pulls.

"We won the tourney on five tugs," Chaffin continued. "We had confidence going in to the final because we had won our two other matches in the minimum four tugs. The finals was only a one tug, but I'm glad, we were tired entering that match because the whole tournament is played off in about an hour and by the time you reach the finals, you are tired."

To win the tugs, a team had to pull the other team's front man about seven yards to a marked line.

P'BURG IN REGIONAL TOURNEY

Prestonsburg, (22-13) the 58th district runnerup, plays John's Creek at 4 p.m. today (Wednesday) in the final game of the first round of the 15th regional baseball tournament at Johnson Central Park. Tourney favorite Paintsville meets Millard in the first game at 1 p.m. Yesterday's schedule had Pikeville playing Millard, and McDowell, the 58th district champs, playing Belfry.

Prestonsburg coach Russell Shepherd has been impressed with his team's performance in "the last 15 out of 16 games." His squad, dominated by sophomores and juniors, has been a big surprise at the bat.

"I knew we had a sound defensive team but our hitting has been our strongest point and that wasn't expected," Shepherd said. "We have six guys with more than five home runs and Tom Wilson and Dwayne Rodebaugh have six each. All but one of our starting unit is hitting better than .316."

The semi-finals are tomorrow (Thursday) at 1 and 4 p.m. with the championship game slated for 1 p.m. Friday.

SLONE WINS

ARCHERY TOURNAY

Tom Slone was almost a one-man show in helping Prestonsburg Community College win the championship of the Mountain Dew Festival a few weeks back.

Slone won the individual archery tournament and finished third in the arm wrestling tourney at the Festival, to earn points for PCC in both the events he competed in.

The archery course for the tourney was measured off with targets at 20, 30, and 40 yards. Each man shot 10 arrows from each distance. Slone, using his trusty Ben Pearson Compound, had the best scores from each position to gain the title.

"I competed in the Mountain Dew Archery Tourney last year and came in fourth place," Slone said. "I was happy to come back and win it this year. I've been shooting archery for about two and a half years now and winning the tourney is a big reward for the hours spent on the shooting range. I'd like to thank Bob McAninch for getting the competition underway and for devoting his time to the Mountain Dew Festival."

Slone was equally pleased with his performance in the arm wrestling tournament. "I came in third, behind the man from Alice Lloyd and Somerset. I think the guy from Somerset, who won it all (and who Slone lost to in the semi-finals), had a very strong and quick arm, which is so important in arm wrestling. Mr. Ken Fuller devoted a lot of his time to the arm wrestling tourney and he deserves a lot of credit for the success of the arm wrestling tourney (which has become one of the most popular events in the Mountain Dew Festival)."

TRACK DATES

The Kentucky high school track meet for boys and girls in Class A and AA will be held at the University of Kentucky Sports Center, May 18 and 19.

SPRUCING UP

Johnson Central Park, home of Paintsville's pro baseball team, is scheduled for some improvements shortly. These include plans for a new manager's office, laundry facilities and a new concessions area.

Also, ground work is being laid to erect a sun screen in center field to combat the evening sun which forced Paintsville to move their evening games from 7:30 to 8:00 last season. The evening sun shining in the batter's eyes has been the only negative aspect of the fine Johnson Central facility.

GOING TO WEST POINT

Johnson Central's All-State forward-guard, David Couch, has proven he is an All-American in the classroom by accepting an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy in West Point, New York.

Army basketball coach Mike Krzyzewski said, "We feel that David is an excellent inside and outside player (who) can be helpful to us right away."

McDowell Hi Wins Baseball Tourney

McDowell High School, host to the meet, won the Floyd county district baseball tournament last Wednesday, defeating Prestonsburg High at the Drift field, 14 to 2. Both schools will play in the regional tourney.

The district tournament opened May 7, with Betsy Layne defeating Wheelwright, 10 to 7. In the second game Monday Prestonsburg downed Allen Central, 9 to 6.

McDowell eliminated Betsy Layne the following day, 9 to 4.

Football Boosters To Meet Monday

The Prestonsburg Football Boosters Club will meet Monday, May 21, at 7:30 p.m. at Prestonsburg High School in room 104. The meeting will concern both the high school and grade school football programs. Parents, football boosters, and others concerned about Prestonsburg football are urged to attend, as the school year is coming to a close and some matters must be attended to before school is out. Scheduled areas for discussion at the meeting are: the high school football program, the redoing of the high school football field and practice fields at the Community College, finances for both programs, organizing the football program booklet, personnel, and public relations.

A CAMPAIGN ON THE ISSUES

Throughout his campaign, Benny Ray Bailey has stuck to a discussion of the important issues facing our people. Benny Ray believes in the native intelligence of our people and their abilities to make their own decisions once they know the facts. The issues in the campaign for State Senator from our District are plentiful and critically important for our people. The actions taken by our State Legislature over the next four years will go a long way in determining the future of our area. Let's look at some of the issues and Benny Ray's position on them:

THE COAL SEVERANCE TAX. "The coal severance tax is our area's largest tax base. We need and deserve a substantial expenditure over the next four years for our roads, public facilities and vital services. Unnecessary restrictions on the use of coal severance tax monies must be eliminated."

DEVELOPMENT OF OUR COAL RESOURCES. "We don't have an "energy" crisis we have an "oil" crisis. If East Kentucky were a Nation we would be among the top ten coal producing Nations in the World. We can make anything from coal that we can make from oil. The coal resources of East Kentucky, combined with the technology of the world's first post industrial society, is the only hope we have to become "energy independent." The responsible development of our coal resources is in the best interest of all East Kentuckians."

RURAL ROADS. "While our people have supported development of "super highways" in the past, the time has come for a concentrated effort on the part of our government to upgrade our rural roads. Our rural roads are critical to the development of our coal industry and, hence, to solving America's "energy crisis."

HOUSING. "The housing shortage in East Kentucky did not happen overnight. It is the result of years of neglect on the part of our government. The right to own a home is one of the most basic in our society. Government can and must play a part in assisting each American family to have a home of their own."

PROGRAMS FOR THE ELDERLY. "We must take steps to insure that our elderly people, those who worked to make this country great, are given every opportunity for continued meaningful involvement in our society."

RURAL WATER AND SEWAGE PROGRAMS. "Adequate water and sewage programs for all our area is critical if we are to attract additional industry. We cannot wait for the ultimate piece of legislation to be passed, but we must start now, using existing legislation, to provide our people with adequate water and sewage systems."

COAL HAUL ROADS. "Over 1/2 of all East Kentucky coal is transported by truck on all or part of its way to market. Our coal haul roads are in such a bad shape however, that unless something is done, our roads will deteriorate to the point where they will become a production bottleneck. We must have a comprehensive coal haul road development program if we are to meet the President's stated goal of doubling coal production by 1985."

EDUCATION. "The most important ingredient in an excellent educational system, well educated, dedicated and hard working classroom teachers are found in abundance in our East Kentucky school systems. We must support the classroom teacher so that they can provide the best possible educational opportunity for our children."

THE BUREACRACY. "The bureacracy has simply gotten out of hand. There are over 4,000 regulations for the coal industry alone. We need BETTER GOVERNMENT NOT BIGGER GOVERNMENT. We must take a hard look at government regulatory programs to be sure that they are actually working to assist our people."

HEALTH CARE. "Every effort should be made to insure that all people have access to health care services. One of the best ways of doing this is to encourage our young people to enter the health professions and to encourage the private practitioner to locate in East Kentucky."

These are but a few of the issues in this campaign. An important consideration also is the support given to a candidate by the common, working people throughout our District. Benny Ray Bailey is the only candidate for State Senator who has been endorsed by the United Mine Workers, the Kentucky Education Association's Political Action Committee and the Communication Workers of America. These working people, along with the many factory workers, small businessman, truck drivers, and others have recognized in Benny Ray Bailey a true friend of the working people. Benny Ray Bailey will make government work for us. Vote for Benny Ray Bailey for State Senator. It's a vote for you.

DEMOCRAT

STATE SENATOR

MY PERSONAL PLEDGE TO ALL THE PEOPLE OF EASTERN KENTUCKY

I am making this personal pledge to you that I will work with you to meet the needs of all our people here in Eastern Kentucky. With your help, we can

1. . . . have better highways and roads!
2. . . . have the best schools for our children!
3. . . . have better housing for all our people, with good water, utility, sewage and trash removal services!
4. . . . have a clean, safe environment, protecting the majesty and beauty of our mountains!
5. . . . have a complete health, medical and dental care system!
6. . . . have all the needs of our senior citizens met, including financial security!
7. . . . have strong law enforcement, providing protection of every person in their homes, schools and at work, with a modern fire protection system in each community!

I know and sincerely believe that our economic system cannot function without the working man having a safe, healthy and productive working environment that also gives him secure financial rewards. I will work with all my ability for a strong economy for Eastern Kentucky, recognizing that the coal industry, through a partnership of employers with employees, has to provide a stable, safe and rewarding environment in which to live in Eastern Kentucky for today and to provide the means to have a diversified economy for our children in the future.

I will work with all the people, with honesty and integrity, in a business-like manner, to accomplish our goals without any increases in taxes, through a system of making government more efficient based upon priorities set by "we the people." Therefore, through our efforts, all the people will have a better place in which to live, not only for ourselves, but for our children and grandchildren. This is my pledge to you and Eastern Kentucky. With your help, we can meet this obligation.

GO VOTE FOR ME; TALK TO YOUR FRIENDS AND GET THEM TO VOTE FOR ME. I WANT YOUR HELP. TOGETHER WE CAN BUILD A BETTER EASTERN KENTUCKY!

An Honest Friend of the Working Man,

ABBOTT GROUP MEETS

The Abbott Homemakers met Tuesday evening, May 8, at 7 o'clock, at the church annex building. The president, Mrs. Ethel Ratliff, presided. New officers for the year 1979-'80 were elected as follows: Ethel Ratliff, president; Cynthia Frasure, vice-president; Helen Neeley, secretary-treasurer; devotional, Muriel Hill; reporter, Alta Hall, and Telephone Committee, Eukie Merritt and Grace Greer. Mrs. Ethel Ratliff presented the lesson on "Home Hair Care and Products." The Homemakers voted to present the Bonanza Grade School with a statewide Homemakers' book, Treasure Trails. The hostess, Mrs. Muriel Hill, served a salad course to Mesdames Cynthia Frasure, Ruby Frasure, Alta Hall, Helen Neeley, Ethel Ratliff, Eukie Merritt, Grace Greer, Francis Pitts, and Nancy Howard. The next meeting of this group will be on September 11, with Mrs. Grace Greer and Mrs. Helen Neeley as hostesses.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

Members of the Day Homemakers' group met Tuesday afternoon, May 8, at 1 o'clock at the clubroom of the Kentucky Power Company. Due to the absence of the president, Mrs. Otelia Smiley, Mrs. Opal Dingus, vice-president, was in charge of the meeting and led the group in prayer. Members voted to give a donation of $20 to the annual Rescue Fund drive. It was decided that the club would buy and give copies of "Kentucky Treasure Trails" to Clark Elementary, Prestonsburg Elementary and Prestonsburg high schools. The book, sponsored by the Kentucky Homemakers is a historical and cultural travel guide. The data was gathered, and the information compiled by the Kentucky Homemakers. A scene from Jenny Wiley State Park, with tapestry done by Mrs. Mary Sue Moore, a member of the Day Homemakers Club, is contained in the book. A copy was placed in the Floyd County Library by the club last month. It can be purchased from Homemakers.

Mrs. Frances Pitts announced that if members have books which they may wish to dispose of these be given to one of the local school libraries, and added that magazines may be donated to the Senior Citizen Centers, or to the hospital. Mrs. Pitts reminded members to submit their registrations for the Cultural Arts Camp by May 23. This camp will be held June 7-8, at Irish Acres 4H Camp in Boyd county. Mrs. Mary Sue Moore, of the Prestonsburg Day Homemakers' Club and Mrs. Dorothy Harris, of the East Point Club, will teach macrame tree ornaments during that time. The annual county Homemakers' meeting is scheduled for August, with the exact date and the location to be announced.

Mrs. Peg Hwelett, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate of officers for the club year; President, Phyllis Herrick; vice-president, Mary Sue Moore, and secretary-treasurer, Beckye Short. The new president appointed as devotional chairman, Eleanor Horn; Telephone Committee, Gladys Blackburn, Dorothy Burke, and Eleanor Horn, and Director of Publicity, Dacia Woods.

Mrs. Dorothy Burke and Mrs. Beatrice Collins volunteered to serve as hostesses for the next meeting of the club, which will be in September. The program leaders for that meeting will be Mrs. Beckye Short and Mrs. Phyllis Herrick. Mrs. Mary Sue Moore and Mrs. Opal Dingus presented a program on "Home Hair Care and Hair Products." Present were the following members: Mesdames Gladys Blackburn, Gertrude Bradbury, Dorothy Burke, Beatrice Collins, Opal Dingus, Phyllis Herrick, Peg Hewlett, Eleanor Horn, Mary Sue Moore, Isabel Reed, Beckye Short, Grace Sutherland, Ann Whorton, and Floyd County Extension Agent, Mrs. Frances Pitts.

To All Voters Of Floyd County:

I, Mrs. Tamary Hall, would like your support of my nephew, T. P. (Tim) Reynolds for County Judge-Executive in the May 29th Democratic primary.

I am in Michigan now. I always voted for the man best suited for the job, not just the party. We need a Judge for the county, so make it T. P. Reynolds.

Wish I could be there to help. I am a Floyd county-born election worker.

Mrs. Combs has served as a director for the past seven years. Others attending the meeting from this area were Mrs. Eva Allen Horn and Cecil Sturgill.

Pegasus Publishes Poem by Johnson, Student at PCC

Included in the 1978 issue of Pegasus, a national publication containing the year's best poetry composed by college students, is the poem, "My Solution of Reunion," written by James David (J.D.) Johnson, a 20-year-old sophomore at Prestonsburg Community College. Last year Johnson submitted the poem to the National Poetry Press for consideration; it was accepted and published in the 1977 issue of College Poetry Review. From the Review, it was selected to appear in Pegasus.

As a result of a moving personal experience, young Johnson began writing poetry as a junior at Paintsville High School. When his friends and classmates learned of his talent, they encouraged his writing by enjoying and relating to his poems. This, in turn, stimulated him to grow and develop as a poet.

Johnson's first poems were mere running thoughts—"light at first." Then, as his poetry developed rhythm and unity, he grew to capture the thoughts of others and to involve readers in his poems. A romanticist, Johnson's work tends to center around nature, man's relationship with God, and the basic emotional responses between human beings.

Several of Johnson's poems are included in this year's debut edition of PCC's literary magazine, "Bitterroot." Along with Mrs. Eileen Saunders, Johnson served as associate editor of the publication. Upon completing his studies at PCC, he plans to continue his English major at Eastern Kentucky University and eventually attend the University of Louisville School of Law.

He is the son of William and Judy Johnson and the grandson of Willis and Edith Hamilton and William R. and Lucy Johnson Davis.

HERE FROM FRANKFORT

Mr. and Mrs. George Glenn Hatcher, and daughters, Elizabeth Lynn, Elisa Lee and Glenna Jo, of Frankfort, were here during the Mother's Day weekend for a visit with Mrs. Hatcher's mother, Mrs. Fannie S. Jarrell. Other guests of Mrs. Jarrell on Sunday, were her son, Joe Wheeler Jarrell, and Mrs. Jarrell, of Louisa, another daughter, Mrs. J. Lee Hall, a grandson, Bill Bailey, and a cousin, Mrs. Irene Hester, all of Prestonsburg.

AT PARK FOR WEEK-END

The following who were reared in Lackey, spent the week-end at Jenny Wiley State Park: Mrs. Versa Gambill, Mrs. Agnes Reynolds and Mrs. Eva Kilgus, all of Louisville, Mrs. Lois Turner, Spring City, Tenn., Mrs. Virginia Benedict, Mt. Vernon, Ill., Mrs. Laura Ratliff, Allen, and Mrs. Jean Wallen, of Wayland. On Saturday evening Mrs. Beatrice Collins, formerly of Lackey, who now resides here, entertained the group to dinner at May Lodge.

CONDITION IMPROVES

Ira Castle, who recently underwent surgery at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville, is improving at his home, and has been able to attend services at his church recently.

VISITS RELATIVES

Mrs. Grace Evelyn Bryan, of Los Angeles, Calif., was here for a few days during the Mother's Day holiday for a visit with relatives, including her sister, Mrs. Henry Miller, and Mr. Miller, and her nieces, Mrs. Ralph Wells and Mrs. Sam Hager. She was accompanied here by her cousin, Mrs. Helen Fisher, of Louisville, Mrs. Bryan will be remembered as the former Grace Evelyn Martin, of Prestonsburg.

HERE FOR WEEK-END

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Donahoe and children, of Flatwoods, were here during the week-end for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Donahoe.

Miss Sammons-Mr. Lester To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas D. Sammons, of Prestonsburg, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Rose Sharon, to Mr. James Dale Lester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Lester, of Blaine, Ky.

Miss Sammons is a 1974 graduate of Prestonsburg High School. She received her B.S. degree in biology from Morehead State University in 1978. She is currently pursuing a master's degree in health and is employed as an assistant residence hall director at Morehead State University.

Mr. Lester is a 1974 graduate of Johnson Central High School. He received his B.S. degree in biology from Morehead State University in 1978 and is currently employed by Ashland Coal Company. Mr. Lester will be entering the University of Kentucky School of Dentistry in August.

The gracious custom of open church ceremony will be observed Saturday, June 9, at 3:30 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Prestonsburg. A reception will be held following the ceremony.

Culture Corner

Screen Scene

On the evening they are driving off to elope, art student Nancy McCallister and architecture student Michael Hillyard are in a car crash. Both survive, but Nancy's face is shattered beyond recognition. Michael's mother, a ruthless business executive, opposes the marriage because she feels it will interfere with her son's career in the family business. She offers the girl a deal—if Nancy will promise never to see Michael again, she will pay $100,000 to have Nancy's face rebuilt.

Such is the premise of "The Promise", a new film in which boy gets girl, boy loses girl and both are so sappy that no one really cares about the outcome except diehard soap opera watchers and the two million people who have already devoured the "novelized" version of the screenplay.

Lines like "I don't need the world, I need you", are delivered with absolute seriousness as actors who deserve better struggle to lend weight to this fluff. Most successful is Kathleen Quinlan of "I Never Promised You a Rose Garden" fame, whose inner radiance and intelligence is enough to animate a wooden character. Beatrice Straight sinks her teeth into the role of the evil mother and, as the plastic surgeon who restores Nancy's face and later falls in love with her, Laurence Luckinbill deserves to get the girl. But, like the audience, he's probably better off without her.

Off the Record

Toto may be making their debut as a band on the Columbia album of the same name, but this group certainly didn't emerge out of the blue. There's a long track record of studio session playing behind the musicians in this band and it shows—not always to good advantage. Everyone is unquestionably a pro, but sometimes their very slickness approaches sterility.

The entire album has an overwhelmingly pop sound, carried off most successfully in the blockbusters "I'll Supply the Love" and "Hold the Line", which feature Bobby Kimball's soaring vocals.

By contrast, "A Tonic for the Troops" (Columbia) shows the Boomtown Rats to be an already extremely tight band on their second album. They have yet to develop a distinctive sound—cuts vary from the very Springsteen "Rat Trap" to frenetic New Wave numbers including "Like Clockwork." Among the best cuts are "She's So Modern" and "Joey's On the Street Again." Just when you think you've gotten the Rats pegged, they'll surprise you. Definitely a band to watch—and to listen to.

Those who like their music with a country twang will enjoy the Memphis-based band, The Amazing Rhythm Aces, on their album of the same name (ABC). Sparked by the singing of their principal songwriter, Russell Smith, the band delivers tasty country-style songs like "Say You Lied" with gusto.

New member Duncan Cameron's guitar adds interest to the group's subtle blend of sounds, notably on Al Green's "Love and Happiness." This bluesy number finds Smith at his most soulful, and hints at the group's potential range.

Book Beat

The New York that Pete Hamill readers know from his Daily News columns comes alive in Flesh and Blood, his novel of a young boxer, Bobby Fallon, whose only flaw is his only love—his mother.

As Hamill follows Bobby on his way up from being just another barroom brawler, he introduces readers to a motley variety of New York characters and gives a ringside view of the boxing world at which "Rocky" only hinted. Seamy though Bobby's world is, Hamill infuses it with tenderness. You may not like the people you meet, but by the end of this book, you know them.

I Am Glad . . .

That I have not been endorsed by all those organizations and committees that were politically stacked.

I am running for the people, not an endorsement.

If my friends go with me, Then WE will win!

Fewer Unemployed in Area

Unemployment in the Eastern Kentucky area decreased from 28,661 in February to 22,124 in March. The rate of unemployment dropped from 9.7 percent to 7.5 percent.

"This decrease in unemployment was due primarily to increased hiring in the construction, trade and services industries," says Robert MacDonald, chief labor market analyst for the Department of Human Resources.

Kentucky's overall unemployment rate in March dropped to 5.5 percent from the February rate of 6.7 percent. The national unemployment rate was 6.1 percent in March.

In Eastern Kentucky, Letcher county has the highest rate of 13.3 percent while Martin county has the lowest rate of 3.7 percent.

County-by-county rates for March are as follows:

Bath 9.6, Bell 7.3, Boyd 5.0, Breathitt 6.7, Carter 9.1, Clay 9.6, Elliott 6.7, Floyd 7.9, Greenup 4.1, Harlan 7.9, Jackson 10.0, Johnson 7.4, Knott 9.6, Knox 7.4, Laurel 6.3, Lawrence 13.0, Lee 12.1, Leslie 7.6, Letcher 13.3, McCreary 9.7, Magoffin 12.5, Martin 3.7, Menifee 7.5, Montgomery 6.8, Morgan 8.9, Owsley 10.4, Perry 8.1, Pike 7.6, Pulaski 5.9, Rockcastle 7.5, Rowan 6.0, Wayne 7.8, Whitley 7.8, Wolfe 9.9.

(Pol. adv. pd. by the candidate)

IN APPRECIATION

We would like to take this opportunity to thank some very special people who stood by us so faithfully during the sickness and death of our loved one, Otis Cecil. Words cannot express our gratitude to the staff and doctors at the Highland Regional Medical Center at Prestonsburg. We will never forget your loving care of and genuine concern for this member of our family. To those of you who came in person to pay your respects, following his death, to you who sent flowers, food and condolences—thank you so much.

To Otis' brothers and sisters, brothers-in-law, sisters-in-law and his daughter-in-law, our heartfelt thanks for your beside vigil of the last month. It is comforting to know that, because you cared so much, he was never alone for a moment during his last hours on earth.

To our pastor, Rev. Arnold B. Johnson, his wife, our church, Rev. Don Lee, and all our friends and acquaintances in this area, as well as those associated with the J.W. Call & Son Funeral Home: You did so much we feel the debt can never be repaid. May God reward you is our prayer.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, of Topmost, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Johnnie Glee, to Samuel Dale Jude, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Jude, of Pilgrim, Kentucky.

Miss Hall is a 1976 graduate of Knott County Central High School. She is presently a junior at Pikeville College and upon graduation she will teach elementary school.

Mr. Jude is a 1977 graduate of Sheldon Clark High School. He is presently an employee of Martin County Coal Corporation.

The couple will exchange vows May 19 at 6 p.m. at the home of the bride. Everyone is invited to attend.

Play in Regional Keyboard Festival

Participating in the regional Keyboard Festival held April 30 at Pikeville College were 18 high school pianists, students of Nancy Lyon.

State ratings and comments were given students who performed pieces from a selected repertoire list and both the festival manager and adjudicator commented on a "higher level" of the performances at this year's festival.

Students of the Lyon class who received a superior rating were Anvia Rubado, Karen Frazier, Teresa Turyn, Lisa Spradlin, and Carolyn Click. Receiving excellent ratings were Amanda Lyon, John Newman, Jerry Johnson, Paula Allen, Sheri Kestner and Tammy Ratliff.

Students playing for comments only included Barb Burchett, Kim Hodge, Julie Burchett, Teresa Burke, Laura Cooley, Todd Johnson, and Renee Casebolt.

Perkins-Called Hearing Told Coal Conversion a Necessity

Witnesses before a House Education and Labor subcommittee last week told Chairman Carl D. Perkins that a synthetic fuels industry, based on coal, should be started now in the interest of national defense.

Perkins opened the hearings by saying, "It is my view that we can and should head off potential economic and defense calamity by developing a synthetic fuels industry, based upon our plentiful reserves of coal." Witness after witness agreed with him.

General Bernard Schriever, former Air Force chief of staff, said national security is placed in serious jeopardy by dependence upon foreign petroleum sources for half of our consumption.

"The obvious solution is an all-out national effort to create a synthetic fuel industry utilizing our immense deposits of coal and oil shale," Schriever said.

Dr. Ruth M. Davis, deputy undersecretary of defense for research and advanced technology, said coal offers one of the greatest potentials for relieving the nation's increasing dependence upon imported oil. She said there is a strong military requirement to develop an efficient military energy system that is invulnerable to foreign energy supply interruptions.

Dr. Chalmer G. Kirkbridge, a nationally known chemical engineer and management consultant, praised Perkins for his April 25 House speech suggesting it is time for the nation to build a new synthetic coal fuels industry in the same way World War II necessities forced us to build a synthetic rubber industry.

"We do need an organization similar to the old War Production Board and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. And we need the Department of Defense to carry out aggressive direction of the private sector to design, construct, and operate these plants to produce synthetic crude oils and substitute natural gas," Kirkbridge said.

Frederick W. Hammesfahr, a consultant in advanced energy technology, told the subcommittee, "The need to move commercially on coal based synfuels is, in my judgement, one of some urgency." He said sources for which the nation has looked for new energy production are proving less certain than we originally hoped, and fuel prices continue their relentless increase.

Perkins cited widespread unemployment and short work weeks in many coal mining areas. He said coal is our most plentiful source of fossil fuel, and there is no other viable alternative available at this time.

"The coal we have with us is ready and waiting to bail us out of the energy shortage with which we have been concerned for too many years," he said.

"What should I do if the power goes off?"

Unfortunately, when the weather gets bad, the chances of the power going off get better.

We do everything humanly possible to anticipate, prevent and repair any break in service. But there are some things only you can do to help in case it happens.

First, call us immediately. The problem may be localized and quickly solved. If our line is busy chances are one of your neighbors is reporting it.

Then, turn your heating thermostat to its lowest setting, turn off your electric water heater, lights, range, water pumps, clothes dryers and any other appliance that was on when the power went off.

(Leave one light on so that you'll know when the service has been restored).

These precautions are necessary because if the electric load is too great the instant service is restored, the system could overload and the power could go out again.

Often this forces us to restore service in one small area at a time, causing even greater delay.

When the power is back on it will help if you turn your heating thermostat up gradually and don't turn everything else back on all at once.

Working together, we can minimize your discomfort and restore service as soon as possible.

Consumer Comments

By ATTY. GEN. OF KENTUCKY
ROBERT STEVENS

Many people in Kentucky are facing the task of repairing or improving their homes this spring. Some are rebuilding after tornadoes. Others are simply improving upon their homes.

Whatever the particular situation, the consumer needs to be very cautious and take steps necessary to insure a professional job. These steps should include:

(1) Decide exactly what you wish to have done. Do you really need a new roof? Can the gutters hold up for another year?

(2) Decide how you will pay for the job. Borrow the money from the savings and loan? Dip into your savings account?

(3) Find a reputable contractor. This step in itself is time-consuming but is probably single most important thing in the entire decision-making process. When deciding on contractor, remember to:

(a) know the contractor's name, address and phone number.

(b) check the contractor's reputation through the local Better Business Bureau of the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office.

(c) get a list of the contractor's previous customers and contact them directly for references.

(d) get several estimates on the job.

(e) read over the contract before you sign and check the terms pertaining to cancellation and warranty. Never sign a blank contract! Be very skeptical of any high-pressure tactics.

(f) ask about the type of materials used. Is there a manufacturer's warranty on the materials?

(g) ask for all oral promises to be put in writing.

If you have to repair or rebuild because of a storm, you may be eligible to collect from your homeowners insurance company. You, of course, would need to be familiar with the coverage you have purchased with your policy. List your damages and keep pictures if it is necessary for you to remove some of the evidence of damage or debris. Get two or more repair estimates.

The general rule in repairing or home improvement is to investigate before you invest your money.

If you have a specific complaint, please write the Attorney General's Office, Division of Consumer Protection, 208 St. Clair, Frankfort—or in an emergency call our toll free hotline number, 1-800-372-2960.

TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY

DO NOT FORGET ME, I WILL NOT FORGET YOU!

JAMES GAYHEART Democrat for STATE SENATOR

I'm glad people are looking at the candidates and their qualifications. The voters of the 29th District need to send a senator to Frankfort who will work for all the different interests in eastern Kentucky. I am that man. I have been a college administrator, operate my own business, and ran for the Senate in 1975.

I am a veteran of three years' service in the U.S. Army. I will work with any veterans' or DAV group for jobs and benefits.

I will support the working man and try to bring new industry to the district, so the young people will not have to leave to get jobs. After two years at Alice Lloyd College I had to go to Michigan to find employment at a Ford truck plant where I was a member of the United Auto Workers. I pulled picket duty, receiving $25 a week striker's benefits. I understand the problems of the working man.

My father and stepfather were United Mine workers. My mother receives Black Lung benefits after being denied it for over five years, winning only after an Appeals Judge heard the case. My family knows the hopes and the sorrows of the Black Lung program.

There were 13 children in our family. Our disabled father received free medical care through the UMW. This represented a security that only disabled miners can appreciate and caused a feeling of despair that only disabled miners can understand, when those benefits were suddenly taken from us.

I am not supported by any big-time politicians or big companies. My only obligation or debt I will owe will be to the voters of the 29th District. This will allow me to go to Frankfort with my top priority to work only for all the people of the 29th District. This is the main issue of this campaign. The candidate who is willing and concerned about working for the people of our district, who will work for a good rural road program, educational opportunities for our young people, sanitary landfills, housing programs and tax exemption for our elderly, handicapped and retired people is the best candidate. That candidate is James Gayheart. Work for me a minute or so on Election Day and I'll work for you for the next four years.

(Paid for by candidate)

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hall, of Galveston, are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Debby Lynn Hall, to Mr. Eddy Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bailey, of Virgie, Ky.

The wedding will be held at Faith Chapel on Pikeville College campus Saturday, June 23 at 4:30 p.m. The reception will immediately follow the ceremony in the Gold Room at the college. All friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

Miss Hall is a 1977 graduate of Betsy Layne High School and will graduate from Pikeville College, May 20.

Mr. Bailey is a 1978 graduate of Virgie High School and is presently employed by, Peak Engineering Co., Pikeville, Ky.

MANY THANKS

Words can never express our sincere thanks to all who brought food and for those who came to be near us at the time of death and funeral of our brother, Burinda Johnson, who passed away March 31, 1979 at our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, Ky., and words cannot explain the warmth felt throughout the two families for the graveside service of Rev. William Poole for Burinda and to D.A.V. group for the heartfelt way they carried out the graveside services for our brother and their war comrade.

FRANK JOHNSON, OF WEEKSBURY AND SISTER ELSIE AND FAMILY OF WELLSTON, OHIO.

Boswell To Speak At ALC Exercises

Dr. J. M. Boswell, president of Cumberland College, Williamsburg, Ky., will address Alice Lloyd College's graduating sophomores in commencement ceremonies beginning at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, May 26, in the college gymnasium.

Baccalaureate speaker will be the Rev. James Highland, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Shelbyville. Baccalaureate ceremonies begin at 10:00 a.m. Saturday (May 26) in Cushing Hall.

Dr. Boswell will retire next year after 49 years of service to Cumberland, where he has been president for the past 32 years. Under his leadership, Cumberland has grown from a junior college with an enrollment of 200 to become Kentucky's largest private college.

Dear Mr. Weddington,

On behalf of the REALTORS® in the state of Kentucky, we wish to present to you and your campaign committee the enclosed check in the amount of $ 200.00.

The REALTORS® POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE, through it's Trustees, does from time to time make campaign contributions to those candidates for public office who have indicated that they stand for the principals of free enterprise, the right of private ownership of real estate and the support of these programs which promote professionalism in the real estate business.

We feel that your attitude and actions in this regard warrant our support and your positive attitude towards REALTORS® and the real estate industry in general indicate that you will continue to support programs beneficial to the public and the real estate industry.

One of our purposes of Kentucky RPAC is to encourage REALTORS® and others to understand the importance of the elective process; to keep informed of the records of office holders and candidates; and in general, to concern themselves with the nature and actions of their government. We feel that through our program, members of our association are becoming better informed and, therefore, more and more are supporting those programs which benefit all Kentuckians. We extend our best wishes for success in your campaign.

Sincerely Yours,

David P. Schoepf
Chairman

BIG SANDY LIFE UNDERWRITERS ASSOCIATION TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD, KNOTT, MARTIN AND PERRY COUNTIES

We the Big Sandy Life Underwriters Association, at a meeting held at Jenny Wiley State Park Mav Lodge, on April 20, 1979, discussed the candidacy of Joe D. Weddington for the Democratic nomination for State Senator and find his views and issues put forth in his advertising to be to the best interest of the citizens of Floyd, Knott, Martin and Perry Counties and knowing Joe over the years and associating with him in our field of insurance, can recommend him to the voters and can assure the voters that a vote for Joe will be a vote for the best interest of all Eastern Kentucky.

Joe has excelled in many business endeavors, has made a maximum contribution to the life insurance business, and to our organization.

We solicit the votes of all our friends and members to help Joe, by voting and seeing your friends and neighbors.

By: King Sol Osborne, President
Big Sandy Life Underwriters
Association

ALBERT B. CHANDLER
191 ELM STREET
VERSAILLES, KENTUCKY 40383

To my friends in
Senatorial District 29
Floyd, Knott, Perry
and Martin Counties:

Your new Senator elected from your district needs to be well versed in the political process of all governmental functions, he must have a background of business experience and "political know how" to get things accomplished in Frankfort that benefits his people in Eastern Kentucky.

I have known Joe Weddington for more than thirty (30) years and will personally vouch for his qualifications, honesty and integrity and can assure the voters of his District that you will not regret having elected Joe as your next Senator in District 29.

Sincerely yours,

A.B. "Happy" Chandler

After dinner, a decorated birthday cake was served and gifts were presented to Mr. Neeley.

Seminar on Permits For Deep Mines Slated

The state division of permits will conduct a permitting procedures seminar for the surface disturbance of underground mines May 14-15 at Natural Bridge State Park.

The seminar will be held from 8 a.m. May 14 until noon on May 15.

The purpose of the seminar is to explain the impact of the new state and federal laws pertaining to the surface disturbance of underground mining and to clarify the details of the permitting procedures.

Gene Brandenburg, commissioner of the bureau of surface mining reclamation and enforcement, will give the opening address. Eugene Mooney, secretary of the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, will speak on the impact of the new permanent federal regulations. Other topics of discussion will include: new policies and procedures in permitting, the administrative aspects of the permit review system and the new small operator's assistance program.

OCCUPANCY PERMIT NOTICE

We wish to inform contractors and owners of buildings in Prestonsburg, Ky., that July 1, 1979, Occupancy Permits will be issued to all buildings of new construction and all major changes of occupancy.

This law comes under the revised standards of safety adopted by the city in 1973.

The contractors should have a copy of the One- and Two-Family Dwelling Code and a copy of National Building Code.

Inspection will be made of all buildings before an occupancy permit will be issued. All buildings must be in compliance with the code. The existing building will be brought up to the life safety code.

★ Kentucky Afield ★

By JOHN WILSON

The regulations governing the taking of frogs have several unusual features, and with the season opening May 15, now is a good time to review those rules.

First, the legal "day" for determining bag limits is from noon to noon. This means that the daily limit of 15 frogs is the maximum that can be taken in any single night.

If the "day" followed the normal midnight to midnight pattern, a hunter could legally take 15 frogs before midnight, then start on another daily limit after the clock struck 12. However, the season itself opens at 12:01 a.m. on May 15, so those who want to get an early start on frog hunting will have to stay up late.

License requirements are also rather unusual. If you gig frogs (the most popular method) or catch them by hand, either a hunting or fishing license is ok. If you use a firearm or a bow and arrow (crossbows, by the way, cannot be used) a hunting license is required. If you attempt to catch them on a hook and line, you must have a fishing license.

If you have both a hunting and a fishing license or a combination license, you can use any of the above methods.

The possession limit on bullfrogs is 30 after two or more days of hunting. A person may not have more than the daily limit (15) in possession while in the field.

The frog season runs through October 31. Like most seasons, there is a flurry of activity during the first week or so, after which many froggers quit for the year.

But a few wise old hands wait until the middle of summer when they have the waters to themselves.

Bullfrogs are distributed throughout Kentucky and can be found just about wherever there is water—ponds, streams, swamps, large springs, lakes or even big drainage ditches.

Although some public waters see a lot of use by froggers, it should be possible to scout out several untapped sources of fresh frog legs. Just be sure to ask permission before entering private property. A landowner who has to get up in the middle of the night to investigate strange lights down by his pond isn't going to be in the best of moods.

A final word of caution—if you hunt frogs with a .22, remember that these bullets can ricochet off the surface of water and travel up to a mile. Shot shells for .22 firearms are available. These are not only safer but also lessen the chances of missing the frog.

The dumb cane plant (dieffenbachia) is grown for its pretty green and white leaves—but the plant is poisonous, producing painful swelling of the tongue if chewed.

JAMES "JITTER" ALLEN

STATE REPRESENTATIVE 95TH DISTRICT

Rough Roads, Hard Times, and Bad Politics.

Every time I hit a pothole in the road I think about how much money is being wasted by politicians more interested in helping themselves and their friends than in helping you. There are folks in Frankfort who are living like kings on the tax dollars we're paying to educate our children and pave our roads. This has got to end. I want to put an end to the millions of tax dollars that are being wasted every year by politicians. As state auditor, I've learned exactly where to cut the frills. I'm going to put an end to spending that does more for politicians than it does for you.

Coal, Electric Power Confused By Regulations, Blackmore Says

Coal mining and electric utilities, the two industries which could be making major contributions toward alleviating the nation's energy crisis are foundering in a sea of indecision and confusion caused by federal regulators, and the economy and consumers are suffering as a result, according to Gerald Blackmore, executive vice president—fuel supply, American Electric Power Service Corporation.

Blackmore, speaking on behalf of Kentucky Power Company in Lexington Friday before a committee formed by U.S. Senator Walter D. Huddleston to review the effects of government regulations on the production and utilization of coal, stated that, "utilities' indecision as to long-term commitments on coal today, and for some years, has been conditioned by a lack of clarity of the environmental standards which they have to achieve. Kentucky Power and the AEP Service Corporation are affiliated companies in the seven-state AEP System.

"There is a need for all parties to make a balanced assessment between reasonably-priced electric power and environmental standards since it has a major impact upon the internal and external economic health of this nation. Where the intent of regulatory legislation is accepted, the implementation of that legislation is, at times, counter-productive to the original intent as conceived by our elected representatives."

The question was raised by Blackmore, "what is the value of over-zealous implementation of environmental regulations if, in the process, the nation loses its economic strength and vitality?" He observed that it would be hard to appreciate our environment while standing in unemployment lines.

"The impact of regulatory indecision is being felt now, here in the coal fields of eastern Kentucky and southern West Virginia as high quality, low-sulfur coal is not being mined because the utilities don't know what standards they have to meet and, as a result, have had to delay long-term commitments to coal operators for this valuable coal," Blackmore added.

He pointed out that both the coal and electric utility industries are fully prepared to meet the energy objectives outlined by the President in his energy messages of April 21, 1977 and April 5, 1979. The roadblocks to expanding coal production are primarily from the regulatory front.

In illustrating his point, Blackmore stated that one of the primary regulatory barriers facing the electric utility industry today is the establishment of reasonable and firm sulfur dioxide emission standards. Some 10 years following passage of the original Clean Air Act "there are existing coal-fired generating stations, some on the AEP System, where no final determination has been made on SO2 emission levels." It was also pointed out that the SO2 standards for new plants are far from being defined and this is creating inordinate delays in getting new generation on the line.

The federal EPA now states that it favors best available control technology, which means sulfur dioxide scrubbers, to clean stack gases but will set an emission ceiling of 1.2 pounds of sulfur dioxide per million Btus (British Thermal Units) after washing and scrubbing.

There is ample coal available in eastern Kentucky and southern West Virginia that will meet that emission standard without the installation of scrubbers. Blackmore suggested that the EPA's present position is an anomaly that is indicative of the insensitivities of the bureaucratic regulators to the real world.

Take A Closer Look At Our Building Before You Build.

We're Probably the Lowest-
Cost, Certified, Pre-Engineered
Steel Building in the World!

The Melco™ Steel Framing System From Ozark Building Systems

You're looking at the first revolutionary steel building since steel buildings began. Outside, you'd hardly notice the difference. Inside, the open - web steel framing is plainly different from conventional I-beam structures.

The Melco™ Steel Framing System is Ozark Buildings' versatile new, low-cost alternative to wood and rigid frame systems. Lightweight trusses and even load distribution mean you can save money by using a stemwall or cement block foundation. Galvanized members resist corrosion.

Closely Spaced Framing Utilizes "Corrugated" Design

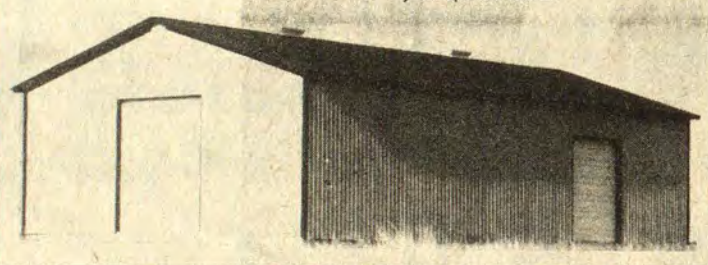

Closely spaced framing utilizes "corrugated" design to provide superior strength and support. Permits finishing materials to be applied directly to side studs and ceiling trusses. Quickly. Easily.

You Can Erect Yourself

Erect it yourself. Best of all, Melco™ Steel Buildings require no on-site welding or heavy equipment to erect. Lightweight, prefabricated components are easily assembled, using only a hand-held electric screwdriver, electric saw, hammer, square, level and plumb.

Compare These Features And You Will Choose A Melco™ Steel Building:

- Lower Cost
- Erect Yourself
- Pre-Fabricated
- Quick, easy & less expensive to finish inside yourself

For Quality Service—Experience Heat Pumps Installed—Serviced—Repaired Any Furnace—Air Conditioning Problems

Call Day-Evenings

886-9658

If building a new home or replacing present heat system, call us. I have up flo, down flo, horizontal in electric, gas, oil units available (Mobile Homes Incl.) at reasonable prices on all. I make sure enough cold air returns are in to insure furnaces heat exchanger of not cracking letting fumes, smoke escape thus saving customer extra expense later. For saving on fuel bills try our heat pump unit. It's ideal.

I install floor furnaces and have one 6 mos. old at good installation price and guarantee.

I wrap and insulate pipes on job or for anyone else wishing it done.

If you've built on rooms and need extra runs added on, call us for a good price.

Window air conditioners—central—recharged—serviced. Refrigerators recharged.

Hearing on New Standards For Water Quality Set May 31

The state Division of Water Quality will hold one of a series of public informational meetings on the new proposed water quality standards and regulations for Kentucky at 7:30 p.m., May 31, at the East Kentucky Beverage Co., Pikeville.

"It is hoped that the meeting will be attended by all who are concerned with water quality in the community," a division representative said.

The long-awaited water quality standards and regulations have been filed with the Legislative Research Commission (LRC), and published in the May edition of the state's Administrative Register.

Main thrust of the regulations, according to Harscher, is to provide a comprehensive program in the public interest for prevention, abatement and control of water pollution in Kentucky. "The execution and enforcement of these standards and regulations will require cooperation and input at a local level, making the regulations more meaningful to the individual citizen," he added.

Under the proposed regulations, water quality criteria will vary according to classification. All waters in the state will initially be classified at a base level of aquatic life and secondary recreational use. This is the lowest classification that can be applied to waters of the Commonwealth within the federal guidelines and still be protective of the common water uses.

Water may then be reclassified for agriculture use, domestic water supply, recreational use or multiple uses, and criteria will vary accordingly. Waters will be upgraded or reclassified as necessary on a priority basis after the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection determines the proposed designated use is attainable upon considering environmental, technological, social, economic and institutional factors. Certain outstanding resources waters (streams) will automatically have a higher classification because of their uniqueness.

For a body of water to be reclassified, the application will be reviewed by the department and by other organizations and agencies within the immediate area. When approved, the new classification will then be listed as an addendum to the regulation.

One standard is set for all waters regardless of their use," said Bert Roark, Commission of the department's Bureau of Environmental Protection. "It will be more realistic to meet national water quality goals by designating what each body of water will be used for and to establish standards and criteria accordingly.

The word ecology comes from the Greek word for house, man's most immediate environment. Help save your most important environment. Support Historic Preservation Month in Kentucky during May.

WHY IS

BILL WELLS RUNNING FOR COUNTY JUDGE EXECUTIVE

Let's All Pull Together for A County Judge who can and will get things done.

* Bill Wells is a man who can, and will, work for you and with you . . . whatever the job.

* Bill Wells will walk the back roads of Floyd county, or the marble halls of Frankfort and Washington to help build a better Floyd county.

* Bill Wells will speak up for Floyd county, wherever it has to be done. The people he talks to will listen.

* Bill Wells knows that the road to Floyd county's future will be built by hard work, business sense, and willingness to go after what ever we want.

* Bill Wells is interested in the young people and senior citizens. He is interested in community development and neighborhood progress.

* Bill Wells knows how to build roads and to maintain them.

Let's pull together for a Democrat candidate who wants to help the people—and knows how to do it!

For A Full-Time County Judge-Executive, Vote For Bill Wells

Drift Club Hostess To Interclub Dinner

The Drift Woman's Club entertained the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland, Wheelwright, Martin and Allen clubs at their recent annual interclub dinner meeting.

Mrs. Duna Combs, art instructor at Pikeville College, gave a talk on the art department and the opportunities in art offered to students. She also brought some art work done by students and gave a "mini" art appreciation course.

For the "fun part" of the evening the clubwomen designed hats from paper sacks with odds and ends of trimmings—no scissors allowed, only straight pins. Mrs. Combs judged the hats. First prize was won by Martha Hurly, Drift Club; second, by Sherry Ratliff, Martin Club; and third by Mrs. John Reed, Allen Club.

Clubmembers attending the dinner were:

Lackey-Garrett-Wayland—Mesdames Faye Hughes, Crit Wells, Loretta Martin, Ann Castle, Otha Martin, Maxine Martin; Allen—Mesdames Pat Derosssett, Bonita Porter, Joe Hinchman, John Reed, Anita Lafferty, Carl Ankrom; Martin—Mesdames Sherry Ratliff, Patty Caudill, Charlotte Martin; Wheelwright—Mesdames Alma Souleyrette and Betty Mullins; Drift—Mesdames Celia Little, Ward Reed, Geraldine Ward, Mary Collins Martha Hurley, Lynne Stumbo, Ruby Akers, Anna Sue Stumbo, William Hoffman, Paul Hoffman, Sophia Cahill, Kermit Martin, Raymond Kidd, Anne Showers.

Floyd Student Among Pike College Group

Pikeville College has had four students accepted to an eight-week summer course designed for persons interested in health-related professions. The project is called the Summer Tutorial and Readiness Training (START), and is a student development program of the College of Medicine of the University of Kentucky, especially designed for the competitive needs of the non-traditional student.

Among four students from Pikeville College who will attend is Archie Fugate, Jr., of Floyd county, a junior. The program will offer an opportunity for a pre-professional clinical experience, a new approach to acquiring analysis and problem-solving skills, and an approach to new and interesting issues in medicine.

Safety and health standards promulgated by the U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) cover more than 65 million workers in more than 5 million workplaces.

FOR COUNTY JUDGE EXECUTIVE

My MAIN Priorities:

1. Better ROADS

2. A Better SCHOOL SYSTEM

3. An HONEST Judge's office

MONEY—It hasn't run my campaign. I don't have money to throw away, only to make my way in life—I only want an HONEST ELECTION and an HONEST VOTE. I believe I will win if all you GOOD people who still believe in good government will go out AND VOTE.

I'm No. 3 on the ballot. With faith in God and not money—I'll win.

VOTE

W Worry? Why worry? What can worry do?
H It never keeps a trouble from overtaking you.
Y It gives you indigestion and sleepless hours at night.
W And fills with gloom the days, however fair and bright.
O It puts a frown upon the face, and sharpness to the tone.
R We're unfit to live with others and unfit to live alone.
R Worry? Why worry? What can worry do?
Y It never keeps a trouble from overtaking you.
? Pray? Why pray? What can praying do?
Praying really changes things, arranges life anew.
It's good for your digestion, gives peaceful sleep at night.
And fills the grayest, gloomiest day with rays of glowing light.
It puts a smile upon your face, the love note in your tone.
Makes you fit to live with others and fit to live alone.
Pray? Why pray? What can praying do?
It brings God down from Heaven, to live and work with you.

The Wise Way to Invest in Collectibles

By Michael H. Kluever

Ask any antique dealer. Read the papers, talk to collectors. They all will paint a bright picture of accumulating huge profits through collecting. "Collecting," they'll say, "is a painless and enjoyable way of making money."

The Real Truth

Accurate statistics on actual prices realized, compared with initial investments, plus expenses, are difficult to come by. In truth, selling a valuable collectible can be a losing proposition. To dispose of a high-priced art object often takes months and includes auctioneers' or dealers' commissions (15%-20% or more), taxes, shipping, and insurance.

Finding a buyer for less expensive items can be as traumatic. You must locate someone with both the interest and the available cash to meet your price. Failing to do so places the collector in the position of selling to a dealer. As dealers must make a living, too, their offers are frequently only 50%-75% of the current market value.

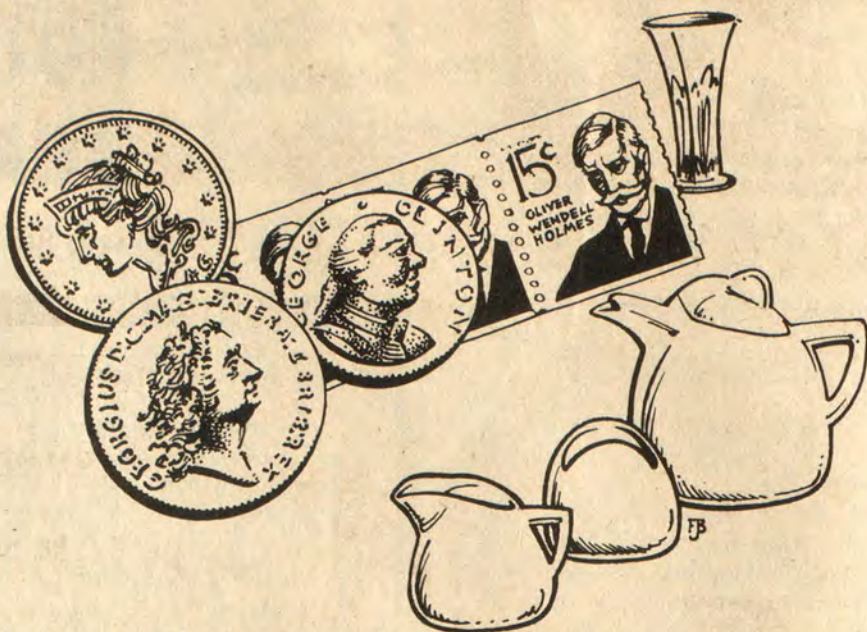

Dealers love to foster the American dream that any poor boy can become rich and famous through collecting. They cite case after case of customers who have purchased items that doubled, tripled, and quadrupled in price almost overnight. And the dealer will do his part to foster that dream even more by periodically raising prices.

Unfortunately, many collectors lack the expertise to determine what is a good investment and what is not. Most collectors simply collect what appeals to them. Sometimes they are lucky, but much more often they are not. In stamps, for example, the common 7¢ U.S. airmail stamps, of which almost 100 million were issued just 15 years ago, now sell for up to $25 a pair. But the vast preponderance of other U.S. stamps issued at the same time sell in quantity for less than their face value. Anyone who bought 100 copies of each stamp at the post office in 1960 would have a nice profit in airmails, but losses in everything else. Moreover, he might have missed the airmail stamps. This stamp was so common few people bothered to save any. That's why they became scarce.

Seven Ways to Evaluate Collectibles

There is money to be made in collecting, and some items do appreciate. But what factors aid in the appreciation? What must be considered in evaluating an item to determine its potential profitability?

As in most areas of investment, price is influenced by the laws of supply and demand. The fewer objects available, the greater the demand, and the more the price realized at time of sale. Also affecting rate of appreciation (if any) are seven more subtle factors which every collector should consider prior to any purchase. They are:

- The artistic quality of the piece. Antiques and art pieces created by skilled craftsmen are always in demand. Names like Renoir, Manet and Rembrandt in art, Colt, Ames, and Soligen in weapons, and Chippendale, Goddard, and Hepplewhite in furniture will always be valuable. These are usually good investments which can be depended upon to rise in value, but they are also very expensive to begin with and usually out of the reach of the average collector. However, many items are subject to fads, and when the bubble bursts, the price plummets more rapidly than it rose. Bassano's "Flight into Egypt" sold for $645,000 in 1960. In 1970, the same painting sold for $240,000.

- Rarity. A good artist who painted little will tend to command a higher price than an equally talented artist who produced many pieces during his lifetime. In another field, certain weapons were produced in limited quantity. A sword with rare markings is worth between $175 and $250; the average price of a sword that looks exactly like it without its markings is $65-$85.

- Condition. Paintings are delicate. Rough handling causes chipping, direct sunlight causes fading, and dirt and dust can dim the surface. Poor restoration can critically cut the value. Rust is the nemesis of weapons collectors. A clean mint piece is worth many times one that is pitted and scratched. In coins, uncirculated coins or "brilliant uncirculated" (still bearing the original mint luster) are the most sought after and valued. In stamps, mint plate locks (mint groupings of four or more stamps with the numbers of the plates from which they were printed showing on the undetached margins) are the most desired and valued. Unissued stamps are always more valuable than their cancelled cousins.

- Authenticity. Great artists have attracted major forgers. A few years ago, a number of museums were shocked to learn that several of their "great" paintings were clever fakes. Such fakery is not limited to paintings. Copies of Civil War guns and Nazi regalia flood the market. Even the more adept collectors have been fooled. Furniture, coins, stamps, and autographs all have their master forgers. The more valuable the items, the greater the profit in and likelihood of forgeries. Before purchasing any expensive item, know the seller and trace the history of the object through prior owners. Did any of the former owners have dealers, museums, or other experts examine and authenticate the piece? Were these pieces featured in a catalogue?

- Historical appeal. If a painting or other work of art happens to mark a turning point in the development of an important artist or in the establishment of a school or movement, chances are it will be worth more. Paintings by famous nonprofessionals, such as Churchill and Eisenhower, are also often in demand.

- Provenance. Sometimes a piece is more valuable because it was part of a famous collection. The Prince Eugene collection in armor and edged weapons is a case in point. Usually, when such collections are sold, a catalogue is issued completely describing and picturing most pieces. Items from the collections of famous statesmen, performers, and wealthy estates are often much sought after years after their sale. The MGM auction, for instance, provided collectors with a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to purchase memorabilia worn by some of America's greatest stars in their most famous movies.

- Fashion, fads, and fancies of collectors. In a recent art sale, Allen Funt, the creator of Candid Camera, sold his collection of 35 paintings by the Victorian artist, Alma Tadema, for $570,000. During the lifetime of the painter, his paintings sold for as much as $30,000 each. But after his death, they went out of vogue with collectors.

Two Approaches to Collecting

Assuming you are still confident that there's money to be made by investing in collectibles, two basic investing philosophies—the conservative and the speculative—should be considered. A blue-chip stock investor typifies the conservative approach. Purchasing only pieces that have shown a positive past performance, the conservative collector places his trust in a continuing trend. Unfortunately, these items consist largely of the higher-priced museum quality pieces and require substantial financial resources to obtain. Should values decline, staggering losses can occur.

The speculative approach is even more risky. It consists of buying relatively inexpensive items, hoping they will catch on. To be successful, the collector must have great insight into the collectible market, combined with generous portions of good luck and fabulous timing.

Whichever approach you take, specialize in a limited area. A weapons collector might stick with Colt Civil War revolvers, a philatelist with U.S. airmail stamps, and a furniture collector with Chippendale pieces. A complete, specialized collection is often worth far more than the total value of its individual pieces. However, should the collection amassed have little appeal to other collectors, it becomes more difficult to sell than individual pieces.

Where can you make the best buys? Reputable dealers represent the most reliable source for authentic pieces. Dealers are also the most costly though, and a sizable profit can be long in coming. Successful collectors are another good source. Collectors are aware of current market values, but are frequently open to negotiation and even more amenable to trading. Auction houses offer the least expensive alternative, providing the collector with an opportunity to purchase items at dealer's cost (about 50% of market value). However, the less knowledgeable collector is wise to stay clear of auction houses, as they have a tendency to buy pieces dealers and other collectors don't want.

The collector's dream is to uncover a fabulous treasure in an attic, flea market, or pile of garbage. As the public becomes more sophisticated, such opportunities diminish. However, who is to say what remnants of today's world will end up being fiercely sought after in tomorrow's? The most important advice for the beginning collector is never to over-extend himself financially. Once-in-a-lifetime opportunities have led many collectors to the poorhouse, and few to financial security.

Floyd County Health Notes

By JANET E. HICKS
Health Educator

Glaucoma is the second leading cause of blindness, affecting one out of every 50 Americans over age 50. Here in Kentucky there are more than 26,000 victims of this eye disease that damages nerve fibers, a major link in the seeing process.

Blurred vision and headaches, frequent change of glasses, poor adjustment to the dark, halos around lights and loss of side vision are all signs that suggest glaucoma. Pressure and pain in the eye are key symptoms of the disease.

The best way to prevent needless blindness from glaucoma is to be tested for the disease. You may be screened for glaucoma at the Floyd County Health Department on Friday, May 18, from 10 to 12 and 1 to 3. If higher than normal pressure is found in your eyes, you will be referred to an eye physician who can give you further tests and diagnose the problem.

If you are age 35 and older, it would be well worth your time to come to the health department to be screened, free of charge, for glaucoma—a disease that can slowly and painlessly cause blindness. Health department clinics for the upcoming week:

Wednesday, May 16, the monthly outpost clinic in Mud Creek will be conducted at Hamilton's Kentucky Food Store in Teaberry, where immunizations, TB skin tests, diabetes screening, and blood pressures will be available from 10 to 2 p.m.

Monday, May 21, the regularly scheduled Bypro Outpost Clinic will be conducted at Ethel Osborne's Store in Bypro. Clinic hours will be from 10 to 12 and 1 to 2. Services offered at this clinic will include immunizations, TB skin tests, diabetes screening, and blood pressures.

The two clinics listed above are a free service from the Floyd County Health Department for all persons in the Floyd county area. These clinics, in addition, give an opportunity for children living in the Bypro and Mud Creek areas to receive their immunizations and TB skin tests before entering school for the first time this fall.

Services available to migrant and seasonal farmworkers through programs instituted by the U. S. Labor Department include education, training, job referral, emergency services, residential support, self-help housing, legal services, transportation, and relocation assistance.

How to Cut Your Children's Hair

By Abigail Schade

Haircuts are expensive, especially for young children who rarely stand still long enough to run a comb through their locks. If you'd like to save yourself some money on barber bills, follow the step-by-step instructions below for doing the job yourself. When you begin, however, remember these special points about children's hair:

- Children's hair is more delicate than adult hair, so treat it gently. Never pull a comb roughly through snarls, which will not only make your child wince or cry, but is also likely to pull out a hunk of his/her hair.

- Equip yourself with a standard barber's comb, a pair of sharp, but small cutting shears, and a couple of large hair clips (3"-4" long).
- Before cutting, wash the hair with a mild or baby shampoo. One sudsing will probably be enough. Creme rinse is helpful in preventing tangles.

- Work with, not against, cowlicks. Figure out where they are and allow the hair to lay in its natural direction.
- Excessive blowdrying leads to dry, brittle hair. Set the dryer at warm, rather than hot, to prevent more damage, or let the hair dry naturally.

- Be prepared to trim kids' hair at least a 1/2" every 4-6 weeks.

For more information, see How to Cut Your Own or Anybody Else's Hair, by Bob Bent, from which these instructions are adapted.

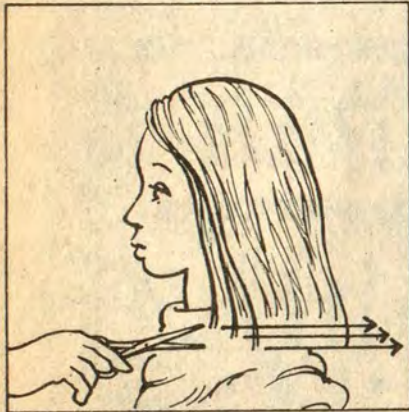

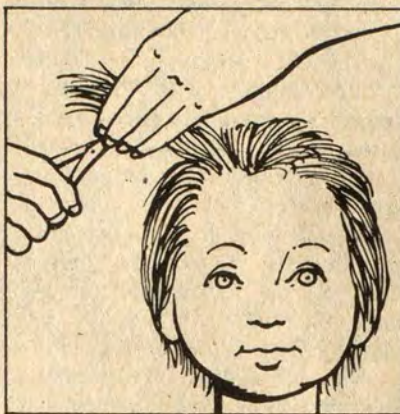

Long Hair

1. Comb the wet hair straight back from the face and make a part running from ear to ear around the back of the head. Comb this hair down and clip the rest out of the way.

2. Trim the hair to the length you wish all around, cutting it either straight across or slightly angled toward the back. Let down about half the hair from the clip, making a higher but parallel part to the first one. Cut this next layer about 1/4" longer than the first cut.

3. Unclip the rest of the hair and repeat the process, cutting this top layer 1/4" longer than the one below.

4. This should be the approximate result.

Short Hair

1. Stand behind the child and comb his wet hair straight back from his face. Taking one section of hair at a time, comb it straight up at the center of the head and cut off as much as you've decided on, until the hair on top is all the same length.

2. Do the same on each side, working again from front to back. Comb the hair straight out and cut it on an angle conforming to the shape of the head. Then start on the back section. Begin on one side and work toward the other, using what you've cut before as a guide to the length.

3. Comb all the hair straight down from the crown of the head and trim off the edges all the way around including the bangs. You can make this last cutting as straight or ragged as you wish.

4. This should be the approximate result (depending on the part and the length you choose).

DR. RALPH DARRELL JOHNSON

"AN HONEST AND TRUE FRIEND OF THE WORKING MAN"

"I know and sincerely believe that our economic system cannot function without the working man having a safe, healthy and productive working environment that also gives him secure financial rewards."

STRONG UNION FAMILY BACKGROUND—

"My mother's brother, Uncle Alben Cooley, is a member of the Chemical Oil & Atomic Workers, which is the organized union of his employer, Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company. Many of my cousins and relatives on my mother's side are members of the UMWA and the Chemical Oil & Atomic Workers Union. My great uncle, Fred Johnson, of Estill, Kentucky, has been a life-long member of the UMWA and is a retired union miner. Many of my relatives on my father's side have been supporters and members of the UMWA. My father-in-law, Elzie Campbell, of Mousie, Kentucky, has been a long-standing UMWA mine worker and presently is employed by National Mines in Knott County in a classified union job. His family has many life-long UMWA members. I come from a strong union background from both my mother's and my father's families, as well as from my wife's family."

SHARES AND UNDERSTANDS THE WORKING MAN'S PROBLEMS AND PLIGHT—

"I know the working man's problems and understand the plight of the insecurity that an unstable coal industry can bring to his family. I have and continue to dedicate myself to stabilizing the coal industry so that the working man and his family can have a secure and rewarding life, both now and in the future. I have had firsthand knowledge of the problems of all the working men in Eastern Kentucky who have been employed in the coal industry, the gas industry, the rail and transportation industries, as well as the supporting industries for these, through my being reared here in the coal fields of Eastern Kentucky and through my work as a dentist. I have also learned that you can't make any man join a union or any company accept the union. The only thing you can make somebody is "mad". I cannot dictate what relationship any employer will have with his employees or an employee will have with his employer, nor can anyone else. This is something to be worked out between them."

STRONG ECONOMY FOR EASTERN KENTUCKY—

"I am for a strong economy for Eastern Kentucky, recognizing that the coal industry, through a partnership of employers with employees, has to provide a stable, safe and rewarding environment in which to live in Eastern Kentucky for today and provide the means to have a diversified economy for our children in the future; and I will work with all the people, regardless of the type of employment, to assure that we have a better place in which to live, not only for ourselves but for our children and grandchildren. This is my pledge to all the people of Eastern Kentucky."

ELECT DR. JOHNSON STATE SENATOR

(Pol. Adv. Paid for by Committee To Elect Ralph Darrell Johnson, Jim Turner, Treasurer)

NEWS OF THE BETSY LAYNE COMMUNITY

The Church of God completed a week's revival with many people taking part.

Mrs. Lorraine Smiley has returned to her position in Pikeville after recuperating from major surgery at a Lexington hospital.

Mrs. Cohen Campbell has been visiting her daughter, Frieda, who is school librarian at Flemingsburg.

Rev. Cornette and Rev. Clyde Layne have resumed prayer service and Bible study at the Mt. Zion Mission on Thursday evenings. People of Betsy Layne are pleased to hear of the church. Which was organized around 1930, opening its doors again.

A son, named Wesley, was born May 6 at the Methodist Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Bryant. Mr. and Mrs. Butch Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Allie Bryant are the grandparents, Mrs. Willie Caldwell is the great-grandmother.

Calvary Baptist Church is happy to have Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hardwick transfer their membership there.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Layne have as houseguest their daughters from Florida, Mrs. Henrietta Pinson and Mrs. Betty Jo Green.

Larry Hale and sons, Jim and Ray Brian, of Ypsilanti, Mich., were here for a few days visit with their grandparents and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim George and Mrs. Glen Hale.

Mrs. Lacy Barb, who has been ill at her home for some time, is improved. Friends and neighbors hope she will soon be up and well again.

Jack Tomlinson, owner and operator of the Kentucky Oil and Refining Co., is recuperating at home after spending several days in the hospital. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. James George would appreciate knowing who the kind persons were that lifted a large family marker into place recently, so they might be able to thank these persons personally.

Mrs. Alice Collins spent Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lynch.

The Betsy Layne Fire Dept. was host to the Floyd County Fire Fighters Association Tuesday, May 10, at 7 p.m. The purpose of the monthly meeting was to learn and plan better ways for improved fire protection for all people.

The Eastern Floyd County Kiwanis Club held its annual picnic and meeting at the picnic shelter back of Calvary Baptist Church, last Thursday evening.

The United Methodist Women held their monthly meeting May 10 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Blackburn, with several members in attendance. Visitors were Glen Blackburn, Pastor Kaminski Robinson and his son, Wesley.

Mrs. Angeline George ordered from Ky. Heritage Foundation, a framed copy of the Ten Commandments, furnished to any school by a private donor for $10. Mrs. George chose the copy for the Harold Elementary School for her 18 years of teaching and as an expression of appreciation and a desire that a reminder of God's laws, upon which our laws were originally based, might be of some help to the pupils. Hillard Newman, principal and the teachers to place the copy in the hallway of the newest building.

After reporting last week of the improvement of Dennie Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Daniels, at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital, we learn he was returned to surgery and was not doing too well this past week. He was seriously injured in a car wreck.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Davis have returned home from Lexington. They accompanied Mrs. Lorraine Martin home after the death and burial of her husband, John L. Martin last week.

We were sorry to learn of the death of Alvin Lewis, Mt. Liberty, Ohio. His body was returned to Floyd county for burial.

Mrs. Mary Green, who has been ill at her home, is some improved.

Thanks to the leaders of the Little League ballplayers of this county for helping boys find something to do and also helping them to become better ballplayers. Our young boys needs some one, who will take the time to help them become good citizens.

Mrs. Lucille Helen Tabler, of Washington, and a visitor of Mrs. Kelsa Elliott, is improved at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital. As soon as she is able, a member of her family will accompany her home by plane.

Mrs. Elizabeth Spears is able to be out again after a fall at her home recently.

Mrs. Vivian Kimmell is ill at her home. Friends and neighbors wish her a speedy recovery.

Carl Mahan, formerly of Prestonsburg, now of Lexington, was chosen to represent his company for a week in New York, N. Y. Mr. Mahan is employed by I.B.M. He is the son-in-law of Mrs. Robert Jones and the son of Mrs. Jess Mahan.

Mrs. Beth Jones Mahan has received her B.S. degree from the University of Kentucky and is employed in Lexington.

M-Sgt. Randell L. Jones, son of the late Robert Jones and Pauline Jones, is now at the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D.C., where he teaches radiology to army personnel. He is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School and has almost completed 20 years service.

Mr. and Mrs. Cambridge Blanton, of Grethel, visited Mrs. Robert Jones and Bobby, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Collins, of Albion, Mich., have a new son, Jason Allen. This is their first child. Mr. Collins is from Floyd county and is employed by the Albion police department. Mr. and Mrs. Castle Collins are the grandparents, Eliza Collins and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lynch are the great-grandparents.

Glen Stanley Layne and his wife, Christina, visited his father, the Rev. Clyde Layne, for a few days last week. Mr. Layne is employed by Federal Electric International, Inc., and will have a few days vacation with his wife at their new home in Greensboro, North Carolina. He has just completed an assignment in Belgium, and recently was located in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia for about two years, supervising construction of an air base for that country. He has been employed since his graduation from Ohio University.

Three from County Among 100 Honored

Three students from Floyd county were among more than 100 recognized at the recent Morehead State University Academic Awards Breakfast.

The students honored are: John Ferguson, Prestonsburg, junior, outstanding vocational industrial education award; Linda Boggs, Langley, senior, outstanding student in Spanish and academic honors program graduate; Beverly A. May, Langley, senior, academic honors program graduate.

VISIT HERE

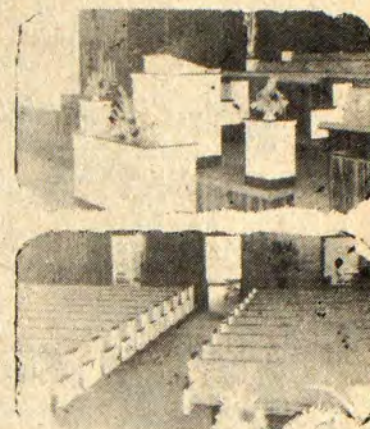

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Isaacs were her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Adams, and son, David, of Baileysville, W. Va.

ELECT DR. JOHNSON STATE SENATOR

(Pol. Adv. Paid for by Committee To Elect Ralph Darrell Johnson, Jim Turner, Treasurer)

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Granville (Cooge) Setser, who died December 31, 1978, Prestonsburg.
Dear God, please take this message to our loved one up above. Tell him how much we miss him and give him all our love.
Until then Dad, please remember we all love you very much. We're so anxious to see your smile when Jesus opens the gates for us all, and says, Welcome home, one and all.
Sadly missed by his wife, Dora Chapman Setser, her daughters, Irene Spence, Vesta Burk, Benny Munsey, David and Nancy Setser; his grandchildren; brother, Everett; sister, Pearl Crisp, and a host of friends and relatives.

Welcome Senior Citizens

A poem written for senior citizens who were honored at Sunday services at the Highland Avenue Free Will Baptist Church, Sunday, May 13.

Welcome Senior Citizens! We're glad to have you here at Highlands Freewill Baptist Church to show you are so dear. We take this time of year to show our appreciation, and tell others that Senior citizens are a great sensation.

If we take the time, we can learn so much from you, but so many people say, "I have too much to do". "Later, not now!" That's what some people say. They don't realize it, but they'll be old some day.

Oh! To be so wise and to see so many things, to know that God is with us, makes our hearts sing. To know that Heaven is near, must be a wonderful thought, just to believe in Jesus was the only price you bought.

You're still only a child in our Father's eyes, but to us you're still a young person who is very wise. Sixty years and older and to be such a "go-getter", just remember, you're not getting older, you're getting better.

So, welcome Senior Citizens, and have a happy day. Please come back next Sunday, and together we will pray that no matter where you go, and where you have to search, you'll always remember, The Highland Freewill Baptist Church.

By Cheryl Tussey Shepherd

Easter at Riverview Manor

The Easter celebration at Riverview Manor Nursing Home began Friday, April 13, with a Good Friday Devotion directed by Father Moultrie McIntosh from St. James Episcopal Church located in Prestonsburg.
On Easter Sunday, 70 patients, staff, and visitors attended the church services held at the facility. Reverend Daniel Rispress, of Charleston, West Virginia, conducted the service. All the ladies at Riverview Manor were furnished with Easter bonnets as shown in the above pictures of Mary Music and Edra Griffith, patients of Riverview Manor.

Re-elect JAMES "JITTER" ALLEN State Representative

(Pol. adv. pd. by the candidate)

Honored on Birthday

A birthday dinner was given in honor of Mrs. Lee Cecil (better known as Mamaw) of Harold, on her 80th birthday at her home. Mrs. Cecil has been a Sunday School teacher for 52 years and a Christian for 69 years. She retired as Sunday School teacher at the Boldman Free Will Baptist Church this month and although she regretted her retirement, she has been reassured by seeing many of her pupils go on to lead a good Christian life. She received many gifts on her birthday and had five of her children present for the occasion, along with their husbands and wives, seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Four generations were present.

To Conduct Workshop

Mrs. Rick Hedrick, of Charlotte, N.C., is in Atlanta this week to accept an invitation to conduct a workshop on neuromuscular proliferation for the Department of Physical Therapy, Division of Allied Health Services, School of Medicine at Georgia State University. Mrs. Hedrick received her training in this program in Vallejo, California from Maggie Knott, the originator of the technique, and is currently a physical therapist at Charlotte Memorial Hospital. The former Marsha Watson, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Watson, of Prestonsburg.

White Hall Unique for Its Day

By JOD NEACE

Rising majestically from a gently sloping hill in the Kentucky countryside of Madison County is White Hall, once the home of Kentucky's antislavery leader and fiery politician Cassius Marcellus Clay (1810-1903). Surrounded by few trees, the stately mansion reflects the loneliness of the later years of the old fighter's life.

The main part of the mansion remained unoccupied for 65 years after Clay's death. In 1968 the home was deeded to the Commonwealth of Kentucky. It took three years and more than a million dollars to restore the place to its regal splendor. Vandals and neglect had taken their toll throughout the empty years.

White Hall is a house within a house. Cassius' father, Green Clay, built a two-story house in 1799 which he called Clermont. Later, in the 1860s, Cassius built his home around and on top of Clermont, creating five floors, and renamed the home White Hall. Because there are 12-foot ceilings in Clermont and 16-foot ceilings in Cassius' addition, the house floor levels are split. The addition of Cassius' home to Clermont resulted in a 44-room manor house. Thomas Lewinski was the architect of the Italianate-design addition.

Clay was in Russia during the time White Hall was being built. He depended on his wife to direct the work, sending his plans, ideals and instructions to her. He worried from time to time during the construction of the addition to the house because his wife spent more money than he had planned and made the house more elaborate than his instructions detailed.

The library in the older section of the house was Clay's favorite room. It was in this room that Clay, when 84, married his second wife, a 15-year-old daughter of a sharecropper, and here he spent his last days. Clay had his bed moved to the library when he could no longer climb the stairs. He died at the age of 93, July 22, 1903.

White Hall was unique for its day. It had a central heating system and indoor plumbing. The heating system was in the basement with vents in the fireplaces of the main rooms. Three small rooms, the size of closets, comprise the bath area. One room contains the toilet, one the wash basin and a larger room holds a wooden bathtub which was once lined with zinc. The tub on display is the original, but it is lined with copper.

The tub and the basin were fed water through a copper pipe from a huge rainwater storage tank between the second and third floors. The tank has been reconstructed and is visible through a glass panel.

White Hall is surrounded by 14 beautiful acres that have a gift shop and a picnic area some distance from the house, shaded by trees. The wares sold by the gift shop are made by Kentucky craftsmen. The lawns behind White Hall provide a beautiful setting for family and group picnics. There is no admission charge to the grounds; however, a small fee is charged for tours of the house, which is open seven days a week, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

White Hall is easily accessible from I-75, via the Boonesboro-Winchester exit west a few miles south of Lexington.

Psychology Honorary Installed at Transy

Miss Elizabeth Ann Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Martin, of Prestonsburg, was initiated as one of 15 charter members at the installation of Psi Chi national psychology honorary at Transylvania University in Lexington last week.

Dr. James S. Calvin represented the National Council of Psi Chi at the ceremonies. Student members were selected on the basis of a major or minor in psychology and if they ranked in the upper 35 per cent of their class in scholarship.

ELECT DR. JOHNSON STATE SENATOR

(Pol. Adv. Paid for by Committee To Elect Ralph Darrell Johnson, Jim Turner, Treasurer)

Letters to the Editor

We have had a tragedy at Prestonsburg High School. Some fine people were badly hurt. But for the grace of God children were not included in the casualties.

There is always a lesson to be learned when a crisis strikes. I hope this one is not the exception. I, as a parent, have been working for a year to try to get some problems in the school corrected. There have been some other people involved, but by no means can we call ourselves a majority.

There are some 800 students in Prestonsburg High School. When the asbestos issue was a topic of discussion and the focus of attention, we had approximately 75 people involved. Again, I say, there are 800 students at Prestonsburg High School, 1600 or so parents!!!!

An ugly monster is in this county and its name is apathy. Not only is this monster seen in regard to Prestonsburg High School but also at Clark School, Prestonsburg Grade School and throughout this county. I wish I knew why.

Our school system is deplorable, our buildings are in terrible shape. Yet, we have but a handful of people at People for Better Schools, P.T.A. and school board meetings. Why!

I hear time and again from janitors, cooks and teachers, how bad their own situations are with regard to the school and administration. If things are as bad as they say, why aren't they at PBS, PTA and school board meetings, with the rest of us, trying to correct these many serious problems.

I sincerely hope that the explosion that ripped through the kitchen at Prestonsburg High School has finally destroyed this ugly monster "Apathy" and has opened peoples eyes to the fact that we can do something if we just ban together and work for a better school system.

Come with me and join these organizations, and we can get our schools out of the dark ages.

JOYCE A. EVERLY

Litter—Everyone's Job

We would like to offer a few words of encouragement to all who feel hopeless about ugly, littered roadways. Just a little time from a lot of people makes a world of difference.

The first time we picked up cans and bottles on Abbott Mountain was a big job, but each week thereafter the amount of garbage has been less and less. Truly, if everyone cleaned up their own, soon the whole neighborhood would look great.

Show kids how to put small plastic bags on bikes and big wheels—keep one in your car and the idea that litter concerns us all will soon spread. "Cleaner places makes happier faces."

Trash gathering can be fun and is good for the waistline—even profitable at times. We almost always find enough returnable bottles to buy the next batch of bags! Many nice folk stop to say—"Good for you—think I'll join in."

Try it and see just how happy, litter-pickers can be!! "Lovely" means just a little bit less. Please join the club!

Asks Effort by All

As bad as the accident was at Prestonsburg High School last Friday, we can still say "thank God". You know, we all say "why me Lord", but in time of tragedy we have a need also to look at it on the other side and still say "why me, Lord". I hope all the people who were hurt are now better and will soon be back to their normal health.

With all the problems at our schools, I hope we can draw together and work as a team and try to put some pride in our school and help make it a safe and clean place where we will be proud to say, "That's Our school."

Says People Divided

My name is Harlos Hall. I'm from Drift, Kentucky, where I presently reside. I left my home town of Drift in 1960 to seek employment, and then when the coal boom came on I returned to Eastern Kentucky with confidence of building a foundation for my kids and the people of Eastern Kentucky. I had confidence in our leadership at that time.

Now the coal boom is over, seems like our political leaders are dividing us. Let's get together and stick with the people that's for our kids and the future of Eastern Kentucky. Thank you.

HARLOS HALL

'Vandal . . . Sportsman'

For many of us the words of Joseph Wood Krutch says it all:

"For me it is inconceivable how anyone should think an animal more interesting dead than alive."

"The killer for sport—gets nothing but the satisfaction of saying, 'Something which wanted to live is dead. There is that much less vitality, consciousness and, perhaps, joy in the universe. I am the spirit that denies.'"

"When a man wantonly destroys one of the works of man we call him Vandal. When he wantonly destroys one of the works of God we call him Sportsman."

The thought of any living creature being wounded—killed by bow and arrow is revolting in the extreme.

Samons-Kidd

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Samons, of Banner, announce the engagement of their son, Lowell Sammons, Jr., to Miss Evelyn Kidd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kidd, of Honaker.

The wedding will be solemnized May 19, at 6 o'clock in the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Samons. The gracious custom of open house will be observed.

Lawrence-Holbrook

Miss Gloria Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Lawrence, of Pikeville, and Mr. Stanley Holbrook, of Lexington, son of Mrs. Clara Holbrook, of Somerset, formerly of Wheelwright, were united in marriage Saturday, April 28. The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Raymond Gibson, of Barbourville, Ky., at the summer cottage of Mrs. Alma Souleyrette, of Wheelwright, at London, Ky.

Best man was Rodney Souleyrette of Wheelwright. His wife, Mrs. Mary Souleyrette was matron of honor to the bride. The flower girl was Miss Kimberly Chaffins, niece of the bride.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Lawrence, Pikeville, Mrs. Clara Holbrook, Somerset, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chaffins and daughter, Kimberly, Knoxville, Tenn., Tracy Salisbury, Lancaster, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Holbrook, son Jimmy Howard and daughter Robin, of Hyden, Kenneth Innes, Rosa Whitton and Rebecca Lewis, all of Lexington, Alma Souleyrette, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Souleyrette, all of Wheelwright.

The couple will reside in Lexington.

Republican Woman's Club Names Mrs. Combs Head

Mrs. Duna Combs, of Langley, was named president of Floyd County Republican Woman's Club at its organizational meeting Monday evening at May Lodge.

A second meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 22 at the Floyd County Library, and a member of the group said all Republican women are urged to attend.

Prestonsburg Office Among 28 in Ky. To Improve Access for Handicapped

Handicapped persons will have easier access to state government services in Prestonsburg, Ashland, Pikeville and Morehead soon, when the Department for Human Resources completes construction projects to make its offices more accessible.

The work planned here at the state-owned office building on North Lake Drive includes a ramp and restroom renovation.

The four cities are among 28 communities where Human Resources offices are being renovated to improve access for handicapped persons.

Announcing the project, Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn said, "Our purpose is to serve all the people of Kentucky, and these renovations in our local offices will help us do just that."

The first facilities planned for improvements are among the busiest, Conn said.

Future improvements are planned for all state-owned, department-occupied offices and facilities that need changes to accommodate persons with physical handicaps.

Improvements in 30 Human Resources offices are expected to begin by mid-June and will include installing ramps and modifying restrooms, doors, sidewalks and curbs. Some buildings will get elevators. The entire project will cost $745,000.

Section 504 of the federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973 requires states to eliminate structural barriers which create problems for physically handicapped persons.

Former Floyd Agent Named Director of Extension Area

Gene Ball, of Ashland, former Floyd county agricultural agent and a 26-year veteran in the Cooperative Extension Service, is the new director of the Northeast Kentucky Extension Area.

Ball's appointment to the Extension administrative position was announced by Charles E. Barnhart, dean of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and director of the Cooperative Extension Service. Barnhart said that the new area director brings to the position 26 years of valuable experience working in the 10-county area.

For the past nine years, Ball has served as an area Extension specialist in community development, headquartered in Ashland. He began his Extension career in 1953 as assistant agent in Pike county, transferred to Martin county in 1957 as Extension agent for agriculture, and moved to Floyd county in 1965 as the agricultural agent and a community development specialist for five counties.

Under Ball's leadership the 10-county Northeast Area has 95 community development clubs, compared with 59 in 1970. The clubs, organized in the smaller communities of eastern Kentucky, work toward many local improvements such as building community centers, organizing clean-up drives, and developing water systems.

Ball said that the clubs have had as many as 140 projects in a year to serve community development needs.

Ball succeeds Logan Louderback, Lexington, as director of the Northeast Extension Area. Louderback now is serving in that capacity for the Lincoln Trail Area.

A native of Lawrence county, Ball grew up on a farm and is a graduate of the Blaine High School. He holds B.S. and M.S. degrees from the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

He is married to the former Lois Cain, of Salyersville in Magoffin County. They have two daughters, both students at Eastern State University. Ball and his wife will move to Lexington, where all of the 14 area directors of the Cooperative Extension Service are headquartered, when arrangements can be made.

Ball has received widespread recognitions for professional achievement. They include the Meritorious Service Award from the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources, Community Development Leadership Award from Pennsylvania State University, Award for Outstanding Service in Community Development from the Ashland Chamber of Commerce and the Meritorious Service Award from Epsilon Sigma Phi, national fraternity for Extension workers.

He is vice president and president-elect of Epsilon Sigma Phi of Kentucky. Ball is a director of the Kentucky Association of County Agricultural Agents, and in the past has held a number of positions in the organization.

1904 — 1979

Our 75th year

On May 12, 1904, The Office of the Comptroller of the Currency of the United States of America issued Charter No. 7254, which declared, "The First National Bank of Prestonsburg, Kentucky is authorized to commence the business of Banking as provided in Section 5169 of the Revised Statutes of the United States."

On May 21, 1904, the First National Bank's first Board of Directors composed of Beriah M. Spurlock, A. J. May, O. P. Powers convened and appointed R. E. Stanley to be President of the Bank. Other officers appointed were James Goble, Vice President, J. M. Weddington, Cashier, and L. P. Mayo, Assistant Cashier. The First National Bank served its first customer on the official opening day June 8, 1904, in offices located in the May and May Law Office Building on Front Street (now First Avenue).

Seventy-five years later there are 104 First National Bankers doing their best to provide their expanding service area with friendly, modern, and competent banking. Our customers are served by three full-service branch offices located throughout Floyd County, and the Installment Loan Center and Main Office on North Lake Drive in Prestonsburg; all opened since 1953. Like their turn-of-the-century predecessors, today's First National Bankers are dedicated members of the community devoting their time, energy, and talents to provide the Floyd County area with a vital service.

As an institution whose own growth is linked to our community's growth, we readily admit to a great measure of pride and optimism in our anniversary year. Throughout 1979, we'll be marking our 75th every day—in service to our friends and friends-to-be.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the Floyd Fiscal Court recognizes that this County has a dire garbage and litter situation due to the fact that garbage and litter is being thrown into our streams and along out public roads, thereby creating both hazards to health and safety; and,

WHEREAS, the Floyd Fiscal Court also recognizes the devastating effect this litter and garbage problem can have upon the tourist industry in Floyd County;

IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED, that the Floyd Fiscal Court, by this Resolution, requests the aid, assistance and co-operation of the Floyd County Sheriff's Dept., Kentucky State Police, Kentucky Dept. of Fish and Wildlife Resources, and all other authorities with competent jurisdiction in enforcing the litter and garbage laws of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, especially but not limited to KRS 512.070 (Criminal Littering) in sighting, apprehending and investigating all those violations which may be reported to it, or which are observed. In addition, the Floyd Fiscal Court is hereby making a special request of the Floyd District Court to diligently and sternly deal with those littering and garbage violations coming before it.

Through a typographical error in the birth announcement of Sarah Susanne Vickers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Vickers, the name of Mrs. Lucille Davis, of the Abbott Road, who is the baby's great-grandmother, was omitted. We regret the omission.

New Alice Lloyd Coach

Lonnie Morris, who for the past two years was men's basketball coach at Lynch High School in Harlan county, has been named men's basketball coach and physical education instructor at Alice Lloyd College.

Morris has a win-loss record of 27 and 18 at Lynch, and last year the men's team moved from 13th place to third in the 13th region.

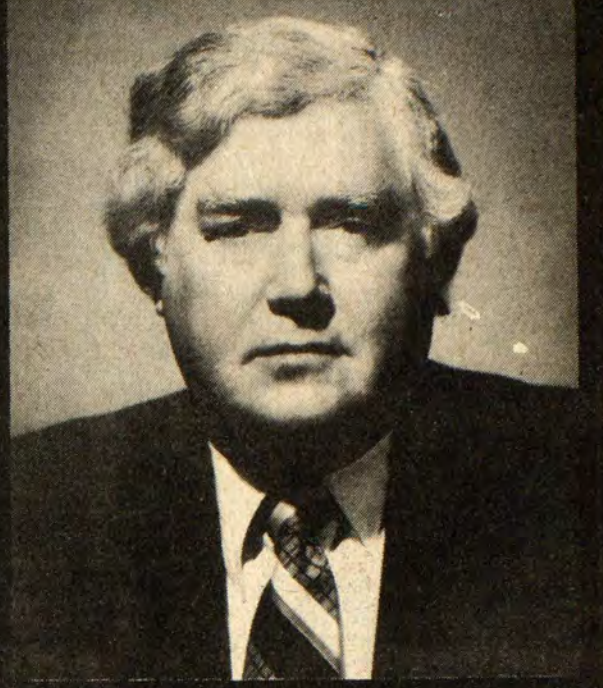

A 1973 graduate of Breathitt County High School, Morris played high school ball, was named all-state. After high school, he enrolled at Southern Technical Institute in Marietta, Ga., and then transferred to Cumberland College, Williamsburg, Ky., where he earned a bachelor's degree in 1977 in business administration and physical education. He played basketball for three years as a college student, both at Southern and Cumberland.

Morris said that although he doesn't officially begin work until next fall, he will spend most of his time for the next two or three weeks recruiting for next season.

COMPLETES TRAINING

SAN ANTONIO—Airman Sidney T. Coulter Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney T. Coulter, Sr. of R.R. 2, Cox's Creek, Ky., has graduated at Lackland AFB, Tex., from the U.S. Air Force technical training course for law enforcement specialists. Now trained in security and law enforcement, he is being assigned to Little Rock AFB, Ark., for duty with a unit of the Military Airlift Command.

The airman graduated from high school in 1977 and received an A.A. degree in 1978 from Eastern Kentucky University at Richmond. His wife, Roselee, is the daughter of Lee E. Caudill, of Martin, Ky.

College Honors Mrs. Rosenberg

The Faculty Assembly Service Award made annually by Prestonsburg Community College to an individual in the community services area of the college who has made an outstanding contribution to both college and community this year has been presented to Mrs. Jean Rosenberg, wife of John M. Rosenberg, attorney and executive director of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund.

The award to Mrs. Rosenberg was presented at last Friday's 14th annual commencement exercises of the college.

The recipient came with her family to Prestonsburg in April, 1971 from Washington, D.C. She has a bachelor's degree in history from Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., and is a certified childbirth educator with the American Society for Psycho-Propylaxis in Obstetrics.

She began conducting prepared childbirth classes in 1974 and has continued teaching the classes, coaching parents in the delivery room and making presentations on prepared childbirth since that time. She has given talks and led discussions on prepared childbirth for the psychology and nursing students at Prestonsburg Community College, has given presentations to the Kentucky Nurses' Association, sororities in Pikeville and Paintsville as well as home-economics classes at McDowell, Betsy Layne and Paintsville high schools.

As an offshoot of the prepared childbirth classes, Mrs. Rosenberg helped organize a local Breastfeeding Support group. She was instrumental in getting baby care classes established as part of the Community Service Program at Prestonsburg Community College, and is a co-founder and member of the board of directors of the Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association.

She also was active in establishing the Meals-on-Wheels program in Floyd county and served on its board of directors for several years. She is a charter member of the advisory board of Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin, and continues to serve as secretary for that group. Mrs. Rosenberg is presently serving on the Nursing Advisory Committee at the college here.

Coal Panel Hears Testimony From Three Floyd Countians

By RON MASTIN

Three Floyd county witnesses spoke at a hearing in Lexington last Friday the effect of government regulations on the coal industry. The hearing was chaired by Sen. Walter "Dee" Huddleston.

In a lively defense of the small coal operator, whom she referred to as "an endangered species," Judge-Executive Yvonne S. Jones lashed out at confusing government regulations and contradictory interpretations of the regulations by inspectors. "If we can look after the snail darter," she said, referring to a small fish whose survival has been the object of environmentalists' concern, "why can't we take care of our smaller, community-based employers?"

Judge Jones told the panel that most of the mining and hauling of coal in Floyd county is done by independent operators, "born and raised up the hollers." The fact of regulation is not a problem in itself, she explained, adding that "the responsible operator takes safety seriously." But she called for local hearings to give small operators an opportunity to participate in the drafting of new regulations and to have them explained in clear language.

The other two local witnesses diverged sharply from each other in their testimony.

Joe McCauley, executive director of the Big Sandy Area Development District, strongly criticized sections of the new federal strip-mining regulations. In an attack that went even further than most of the coal industry witnesses who provided the bulk of Friday's testimony, McCauley described the regulation concerning the stockpiling and replacement of topsoil as "impossible to comply with" in eastern Kentucky, and that concerning the disposal of excess spoil as "making no sense."

Rather than having to build hollow fills up from the bottom as required by the regulations, McCauley said, "it is often more reasonable just to push the spoil over the side." This method of disposal is "cheaper," he explained, "and you get it over with."

The need for government regulation, and for strict enforcement, was stressed by Prestonsburg Attorney John Rosenberg, head of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund. In response to repeated criticism of the cost to the coal industry of complying with government regulations, Rosenberg urged the panel to "recognize the incredible cost at which coal has been mined to date—in terms of lives and limbs lost; in terms of damage to homes, mountains, streams, and aquatic life; and in terms of haul roads that cannot stay paved and are a permanent source of dust." He added that "regulations are the only tool we have to minimize this cost."

Rosenberg charged that regulations designed to protect the environment are being made the scapegoat for a coal industry slump that is in fact due to overproduction. As causes of the oversupply he cited the failure of the utilities to switch from oil to coal-fired production as had been anticipated, their failure to provide coal suppliers with accurate information about the real state of the market, and this year's mild winter.

The answer to "feast or famine" coal cycles, Rosenberg argued, was not to weaken the regulations, but to help the small operator better predict the needs of the market.

C. Frank Harscher, III, deputy secretary of the state Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection (DNREP), criticized the federal Office of Surface Mining (OSM) for allegedly failing to address the "cost impact" of the federal regulations, and for permitting the states no latitude in adapting the regulations to local conditions.

Rosenberg replied that the state agency had shown itself unable to effectively regulate the coal industry, citing as an example the 1974 Kentucky law requiring the state to adopt regulations for reclaiming surface areas disturbed in the course of deep mining. The regulations, Rosenberg pointed out, were in fact never adopted.

Moreover, he added, while the 1977 federal Surface Mining Act imposes similar regulations, and while DNREP has set up a permitting process as required by the new law, compliance by the coal operators has been very poor and DNREP secretary Eugene Mooney has extended the application deadline three times. (Mooney revealed at a meeting of coal operators at Jenny Wiley Park on April 13 that he had extended the deadline most recently from February until June 4—shortly after the May 29 primaries—as a result of "political pressure" originating from the coal industry.)

"We need the laws and regulations," Rosenberg concluded in his testimony before Friday's panel, "they are the only hedge against further unnecessary devastation. And we need coal. No one denies it. But the nation must be willing to pay for it. If compliance with the regulations means a higher cost for coal, that will be a cost well spent."

Chamber Meet Set At New Time-Place

The Prestonsburg-Floyd County Area Chamber of Commerce will hold its next meeting May 21 at 7 p.m. at the new Prestonsburg municipal building. The change of time and location of the Chamber's meeting schedule is in accordance with discussion at previous meetings.

Celebrates First Birthday

James Owen Maxie, son of Roy and Joetta Maxie, of Crothersville, Indiana, celebrated his first birthday on May 9. A birthday party was given May 12, with his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Meade, of Ligon, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Maxie, of Crothersville, Indiana, in attendance. Cake and ice cream were served with James Owen receiving many nice gifts. He is the great-grandson of Charles Hamilton, of New Carlisle, Ohio, formerly of Ligon.

Rural Child Care Seeks Handicapped

The Rural Child Care Project is recruiting handicapped children to take part in the program.

The children are being enrolled to use the full range of Head Start education, health, and other program services under a Congressional mandate providing 10 percent of Head Start enrollment nationwide for the handicapped.

The mixing of handicapped and non-handicapped children is expected to give all the children a valuable experience in learning to understand and respect differences among people.

For more information or to enroll a child, call 886-3548 or come by the Rural Child Care Project, Floyd County Office, Prestonsburg, Ky.

In the program, a handicapped child is encouraged to think less about his disability and more about his strengths as he relates to other children. By learning and playing with children who are not handicapped, the child improves his self-image, overall development, and sense of belonging.

Rural Child Care Project staff workers are trained to work with handicapped children and their families. The program also works with other agencies in the community to provide the full range of services a handicapped child may need.

The Congressional directive defines handicapped as "mentally retarded, hard of hearing, deaf, speech impaired, visually handicapped, seriously emotionally disturbed, crippled, or other health-impaired children who require special education and related services."

Head Start began in 1965 under the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare as a program for preschool children of low-income families.

FLOYD MENTAL HEALTH MEET SLATED HERE TODAY

The Floyd County Mental Health - Mental Retardation Association will hold a reorganization meeting Wednesday evening, May 16, at 7:30 at the Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, 18 South Front Street, Prestonsburg, Kentucky. All interested residents of Floyd county are urged to attend.

Conservation Group Asks Diversion Of $300 Million in Highway Funds To Other Projects in Appalachia

The Natinal Wildlife Federation has asked Congress to amend the Appalachian Regional Development Act (ARDA) to permit 13 Appalachian states to divert $300 million a year from "costly and destructive" highway construction into alternate transportation projects "more in line with the nation's energy and inflation problems."

"When the ARDA was passed in 1965 to aid the Appalachian states economically by improving access to the area, highway construction was an obvious choice," said Thomas L. Kimball, executive vice president of the NWF. "This road system is now 56 percent complete and has provided a valuable economic stimulus to the area. However, the remaining segments of the highway system will not only be the most difficult to construct, but will threaten destruction of scenic, recreational, and natural areas. As a result, industries in Appalachia based on tourism and recreation will also be threatened."

According to NWF, the nation's largest conservation organization, those areas which would be affected by completion of the highway system include bear and deer habitat in western Pennsylvania, on Lake Chautauqua and along the Allegheny River in New York, trout streams, a fish hatchery, and parts of the Monongahela National Forest in West Virginia, proposed wilderness areas and the Nantahala River in North Carolina, and several sections of the Appalachian Trail.

An amendment to the ARDA prepared by NWF and distributed to members of Congress would allow the transfer of funds equal to the estimated cost of finishing the highway system to other transportation projects within the Appalachian region. The transfer would have to be requested by the governor of the state affected and approved by the Appalachian Regional Commission.

Eligible alternative transportation projects spelled out in the proposed amendment include road resurfacing and rehabilitation, rail rehabilitation, airport development, rural public transportation, bikeways, and bridge replacement.

"Our proposed amendment to the ARDA would not result in any loss of revenue to the Appalachian states," Kimball pointed out. "Nor do we suggest that no additional highways be built in the region. We simply urge that the ARDA be made more flexible so that Appalachia is assured of a modern, non-inflationary, and fuel-efficient transportation system which conserves the integrity of the region's valuable natural resources."

District Nurses Meet Set Thursday at College

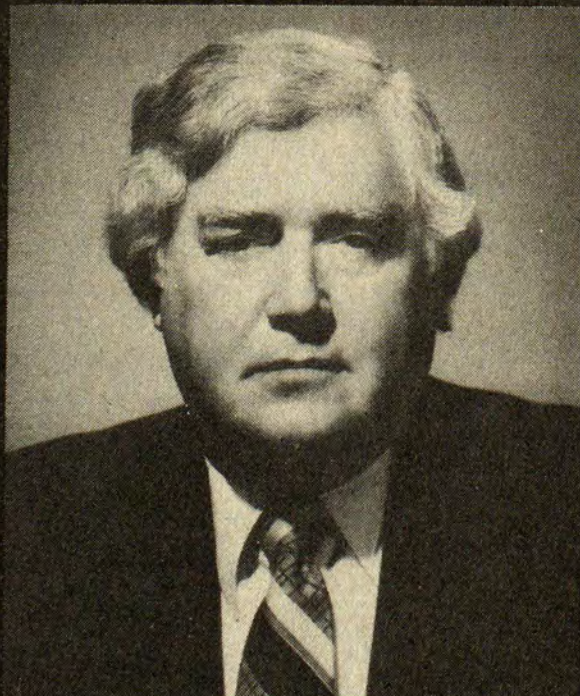

The Kentucky Nurses' Association, District 11 will meet tomorrow (Thursday) at Prestonsburg Community College in Pike Auditorium. The business program will begin at 7 p.m. A special called meeting of the board of directors will be held in the auditorium at 6:30 p.m. All members of the board are requested to attend this meeting.

Due to an excessive amount of business, there will be no scheduled program for this month's meeting. A major item of business will be the nomination for positions to be submitted to the KNA Nominating Committee for the fall 1979 KNA elections.

Area Bands in State Festival

Music filled the air at Pikeville College April 28 when 800 regional high school band students gathered to participate in the annual State Music Festival.

All bands performed in the concert performance in Faith Chapel and also in the sight reading competition in Chrisman Auditorium. The sight reading session consisted of performing a musical composition which the band had never before seen.

Bands are classified with ratings of one through six, according to the level of difficulty of the music selected for performance, with Class 6 being the most difficult. Ratings of superior, excellent, good and fair were awarded on the quality of performance.

Regional bands received the following ratings in concert performance:

Class II—Feds Creek High School, William Minckley, director, excellent.

Class III—Belfry High School, Robert Foit, director, excellent; Virgie High School, Helen Colley, director, superior; Whitesburg High School, Ron Lester, director, excellent.

Consumers Warned About New 'Eraserable Pen'

Consumers should beware of offers of free ink pens with merchandise purchases or using other people's pens to sign legal documents, says John E. Sparks, county agent.

The reason for the warning is that a new pen called "Eraser Mate" is being marketed by the Paper Mate Company. The pen's ink can be erased several days after it is used, depending on the paper. A warning on the pen's package warns consumers not to endorse checks or other legal documents with the pen.

Unfortunately, in a matter of months people will be reading about consumers ordering merchandise from an unscrupulous door-to-door con artist offering a free pen with the merchandise. Or, they may supply their own pen with which the purchaser writes a check.

If the pen is an Eraser Mate, the con artist will later erase the amount the purchaser wrote on the check, substituting a higher amount, Sparks warns. By the time the consumer finds out, the con artist will be in some other state.

Class IV—Allen Central High School, Kay Halbert, director, excellent; Elkhorn City High School, Alan Siegal, director, excellent; M. C. Napier High School, Barbara Martin, director, superior; Prestonsburg High School, Wally Ratliff, director, good.

Class V—Paintsville High School, Ken Price, director, good; Johnson Central High School, Brad Daniels, director, superior.

The sight-reading ratings for the bands follow:

Feds Creek High School, excellent; Virgie High School, superior; Whitesburg High School, excellent; Allen Central High School, good; M. C. Napier High School, excellent; Paintsville High School, good; Prestonsburg High School, good; Johnson Central High School, good.

Of Life in Kentucky Appalachia

A child's view of life in the mountains of Southeastern Kentucky—in words and pictures—will be featured in an exhibit that opens Friday, May 11, at the International Center for Photography in New York City.

The collection of stories and photographs are the work of children from Cowan, Kingdom Come and Campbells Branch elementary schools in Letcher county and were produced through an artist-in-the-schools program in photography.

The exhibit, which will continue through May 30, is being presented by the center and Appalshop, an Appalachian arts and media center in Whitesburg, with funding from the Kentucky Arts Commission.

Wendy Ewald, who has been conducting the photography program for the past three years, said six children who have works in the exhibit will go to New York for the opening. They are Marty Brown, 12; Jeff Brashears, 13; Robert Gatton, 12, and his sister Melissa, 9, all of Cowan Elementary School; Luke Smith, 13, who participated in the program at Kingdom Come and now is at Whitesburg Middle School, and Valerie Ison, 14, who was formerly in the Cowan program and now is a freshman at Whitesburg High School.

The youngsters will be accompanied by Ewald, Cowan Principal Robert Gatton and Mrs. Gatton.

Ewald said the exhibit, which has previously been shown at various libraries in Kentucky, includes about 90 photos and 20 stories. Framed quotes from the stories are displayed with the photographs.

"They're mostly just things written about themselves, their families, how they feel about living in Kentucky," she explained. "Some of them kept diaries, and there are excerpts from them."

Ewald said the group hope to raise funds to publish a book of the children's photography and writings. One purpose of presenting the show in New York is so it can be seen by representatives of private foundations that might be interested in providing funds for publication, she explained.

Appalshop is funded by the Appalachian Regional Commission and has also received grants from the Kentucky Humanities Council, the Ford Foundation and the Kellogg Foundation.

The Kentucky ARC program is administered by the state Development Cabinet. Ralph Coldiron, executive director of the cabinet's office of community and regional development, said Appalshop has been awarded a grant of $190,000 for construction of a headquarters.

The organization's activities include crafts, recording, film-making, photography, and a theatrical group. Ewald is working on a photography project at Appalshop.

She said the children's exhibit, which is also scheduled to tour Ecuador later, represents the work of about 80 students during the three-year period.

The children in the photography classes used Instamatic cameras in most cases and did their own developing and printing, she said. However, because there was no space for a darkroom at the small Kingdom Come School, the students there used Polaroid cameras, she said.

Ewald, a native of Detroit, Mich., received her bachelor's degree in art with a major in photography at Antioch College in 1974. Before moving to Letcher county four years ago, she spent several summers teaching photography to Indian children in Labrador and New Brunswick, Canada.

Advisory Council

Elections Slated

A series of meetings to elect members for the School Advisory Councils is scheduled May 21 through May 31 at all schools. A representative to serve on the District Advisory Council will be elected at that time from each school.

Title I is a federally funded compensatory education program designed for school children who are not working at the educational level that is appropriate for them, considering their age and grade level. The Title I program operated by the Floyd County Public School System for the 1978-79 school year is Special Reading.

According to the new Title I law, all parents of school age children in Title I attendance areas are invited to participate in the election of the Title I School Advisory Council. The majority of members on the committee must be parents of children enrolled in Title I programs for the current school year. Anyone who is a resident of the school attendance area may be elected to serve on the School Advisory Council. Those who wish to have their name placed on the election ballot should contact the Title I teacher at their respective school.

For Better Roads

As I drove up Arkansas Creek this week, my heart really ached for those people who had spent their lives working for what they have, and it has to be marred with dust from the road. I don't see how people can stand that much longer, especially the ones who have black lung and asthma. There is no reason for that mess. What are they using the coal severance tax for? Not only that but other taxes. There are a lot of working people on Arkansas, and I know what taxes they have to pay, and there are property taxes. All I can say is some fat cats are getting fatter off poor people and doing nothing for them. It's a shame and a disgrace.

The ones of you who vote, change your voting record, vote for the man instead of the party and you may get a good road. Your tax money may be used to benefit the payer instead of the payee. Let's get out this fall and vote for Ronald Frasure. I believe he will have a little mercy on poor people, and try his best to help them. I know that is our only hope to ever get a bridge on Cusaw. We don't want any more promises. We are looking forward to getting a man who will put things to moving and get the job done.

You people on Arkansas deserve a good road—it's more like the road they use to test tires on, or vehicle endurance test—you certainly don't deserve what you have.

Let's support Ronald Frasure. We may not regret it like we have in the past.

Thank you

Application for $20,000
On Work at Allen Park
Approved by O'Daniel

Commissioner William S. O'Daniel, of the Department for Local Government, has announced approval of an application for $20,000 in area development funds to Floyd county for park development.

Big Sandy Area Development District recommended funding of this project from its area development allocation.

The project includes construction of an all-aluminum, prefabricated-type swimming pool at the Floyd County Park, near Allen. Work will include a wading pool, pool equipment, site preparation including foundation and paving, fencing and lighting. A bathhouse administrative building is also included in the construction plans.

Other funding has been secured from the Coal Severance Economic Aid Fund and from an Historic Conservation and Recreation Service grant.

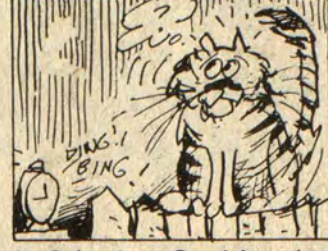

When people are out of work, or seek new work, they can receive training, placement services, transitional public service jobs, or unemployment compensation from a state or local agency under policies and guidelines developed by the U.S. Department of Labor's Employment and Training Administration.

To The Voters of Floyd County: From Rosetta and Homer Samons

Terry McBrayer has the courage to stand up for his principles and the things in which he believes. McBrayer is the candidate that we support. He has more to offer us in Floyd County because he is from Eastern Kentucky and knows what our problems are. With your help, he will go to work to solve them.

Remember this when it counts, on election day. A vote for Terry is a vote for all of us.

Floyd County Health Notes

By JANET E. HICKS
Health Educator

The month of May is high blood pressure month in the state of Kentucky, as well as in the rest of the nation. One in every ten Americans has high blood pressure. Attacking all ages and people, but presenting a special problem to blacks and women, high blood pressure is one of the major causes of sickness, disability and death in this country.

The disease has no symptoms until it explodes into stroke, heart disease or kidney failure. The key to controlling high blood pressure is convincing people to get and stay on treatment.

The first step is getting regular blood pressure checks. Everyone, even children, should start their regular check-ups during May. Blood pressure screenings may be obtained, free of charge, at the Floyd County Health Department every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Health Department clinics for the upcoming week:

Friday, May 11, a pap smear clinic will be conducted at the Floyd County Health Department from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The pap test is a painless procedure recommended by doctors for women to have at least once a year so that they may have continuing protection against cervical cancer.

This clinic is a free service and the public is welcome to attend.

Wednesday, May 16, the regularly scheduled Mud Creek outpost clinic will be conducted at Hamilton's Kentucky Food Store at Teaberry. Clinic hours are from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The following free services will be offered at this clinic: immunizations, TB skin tests, diabetes screening, and blood pressures.

The Floyd County Health Department will not be offering nursing services on Wednesday, May 9. Nursing services will resume Friday, May 11.

Auburn Lists Gearheart On Winter Honor Roll

Auburn, Ala.—Deans of the nine undergraduate schools at Auburn University have announced the names of students appearing on the Honor Roll for the winter quarter.

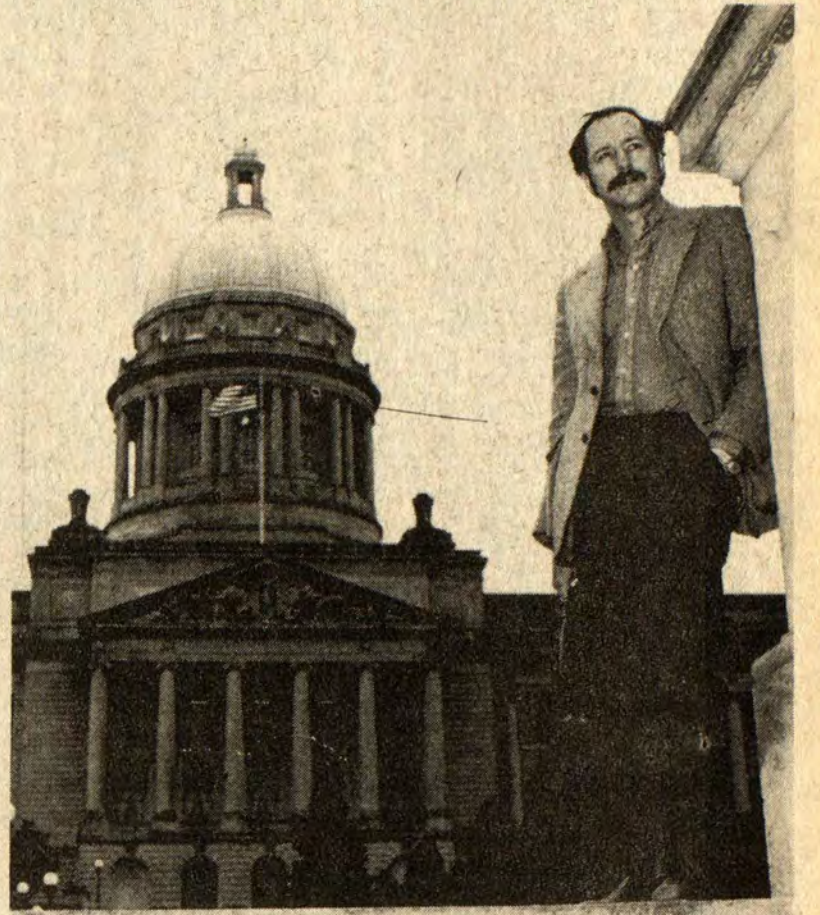

Included in the list of honor students is Leo Gayheart, of Eastern, Ky., veterinary medicine student.

Daniel Webster (1782-1852), the great orator, was so shy as a child he could not stand up in school to recite.

Re-Elect Bill WEINBERG STATE REPRESENTATIVE KNOTT, MAGOFFIN AND LETCHER COUNTIES

What Has Bill Weinberg Done In Sixteen Months As Your State Representative?

1. Selected by news media as Outstanding First Term Representative in General Assembly.
2. Led severance tax fight in 1978 legislature leading to millions more dollars to coal-producing counties for roads beginning in 1980.
3. Led fight for salary increases for educators, including vocational education teachers.
4. Sponsored and chairs Special Committee preparing legislation to assure greater acceptance of mountain students in state's law, dentistry, medical and pharmacy schools.
5. Initiated investigation into state maintenance system seeking to obtain more effective use of road funds in Eastern Kentucky.

TRUST

From traveling and talking with people throughout Floyd county, Greg Stumbo, candidate for State Representative, has found that a great number of citizens have lost their trust in government.

It is easy to understand why. Some politicians believe they can fool the people by spreading a few loads of gravel, patching a pothole here and there, laying an inch or two of blacktop, and making a whole bagfull of promises ALL JUST PRIOR TO THE ELECTION.

This type of politician also believes he can claim credit for all sorts of projects that he had nothing to do with and the people will be fooled into voting for him on his so-called "record."

If these tactics are successful, the Representative is re-elected and things return to the way they always were (bad), until time comes for another election. If you can fool them once you can fool them twice, right?

Greg thinks this is wrong. Throughout his campaign Greg Stumbo has offered new, positive ideas that we believe can make Floyd Countians trust their Representative again. He will work for all the people during his ENTIRE two year term, and not just two months before the election. Greg doesn't need to claim credit for other men's accomplishments, he intends to PROPOSE and SPONSOR AFFIRMATIVE LEGISLATION that WILL RETURN our Coal Severance Tax Dollars to us, where they legally belong. With these dollars we can repair our roads, establish an adequate garbage disposal program and upgrade our educational system. These things must be done to make our area attractive to new industry, and to make a better, cleaner place to live for all the people.

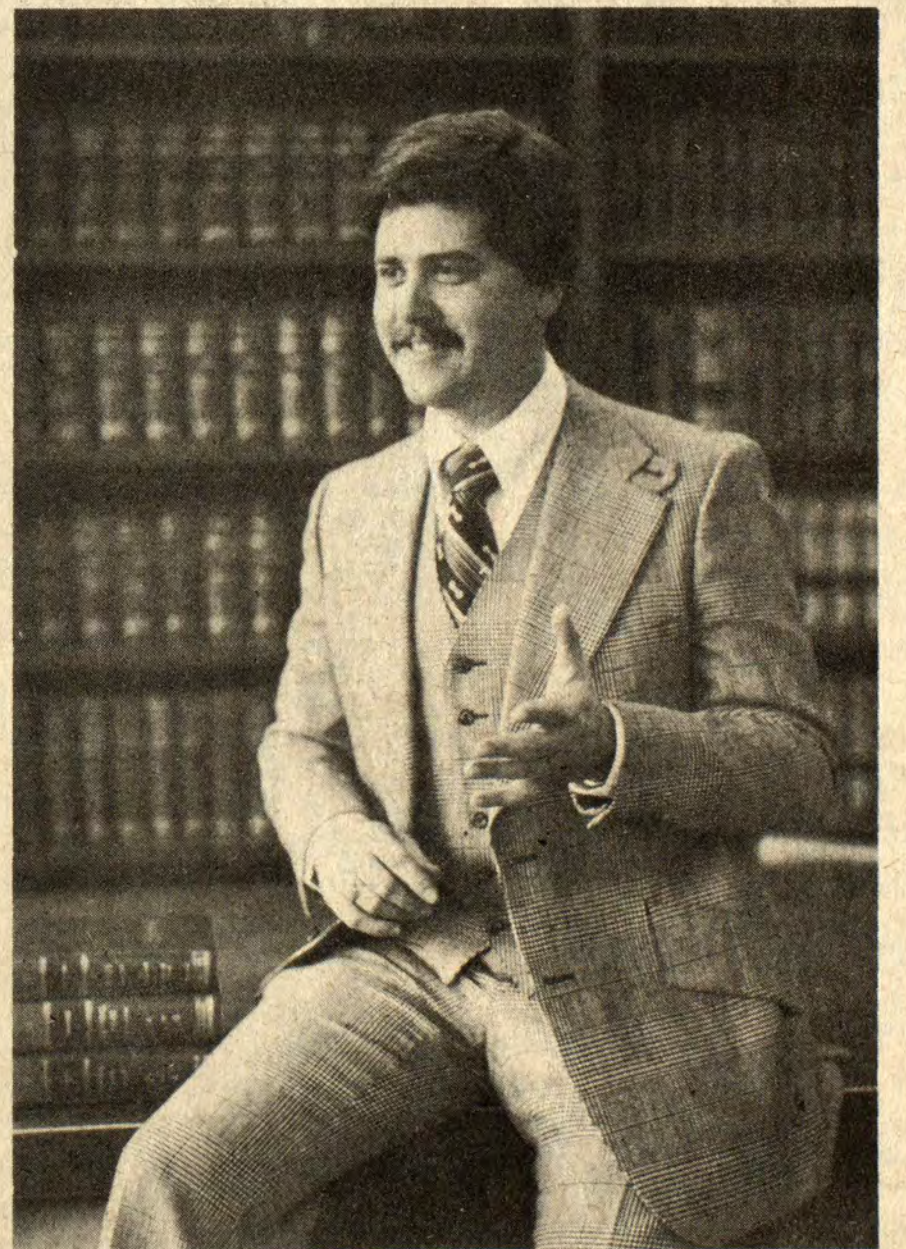

You don't need to use your imagination to see what can be accomplished with proper leadership in Frankfort. The voters in both Pike and Knott counties have elected young qualified men as their State Representatives, and the difference is plain to see. The progress being made in those counties has far surpassed that of Floyd county. While our sister counties move forward we slip farther behind.

The State and Federal agencies that allocate money for public improvement programs have complicated legal rules and regulations. Greg Stumbo has demonstrated his ability to deal with these agencies and utilized them to get the money Floyd county needs.

On May 29th Greg Stumbo is asking for your trust in the form of a vote. That day may be a landmark in Floyd county's history. The choice is clear, the future or the past? By electing Greg Stumbo, you, the voters, will send the message to Frankfort, and to the GOVERNOR'S OFFICE: "You can't fool all of the people all of the time."

Allow $22,600 On Pike Slide

The U.S. Interior Department's Office of Surface Mining (OSM) has approved spending $22,600 to begin work on alleviating a slide danger that is threatening four homes and U.S. 23-119 near Dorton, Pike county.

David C. Short, regional director for OSM's Region II, which includes Kentucky, said in Knoxville, Tenn., that his staff would draft a cooperative agreement with the state of Kentucky to carry out the project.

In January, OSM authorized the expenditure of $100,000 in emergency funds to relieve an immediate threat to the homes as a result of the slide, which is the result of strip-mining operations in 1970 and 1971. That immediate threat subsequently was relieved as a result of the emergency project but more water-saturated material has a potential to move downslope, still creating an extreme danger to the homes and motorists traveling on the highway.

The $22,607 approved by OSM now will fund Phase I of a long-term solution to the problem. Specifically, it will make it possible to obtain geological and engineering data which then will be used to design a project to stabilize the area and control the water.

The homes threatened by the slide are those of Mrs. Susie Burke, Mrs. Patricia Goodson, Mrs. Goodson's father, Sammy Wright, and her grandmother, Mrs. Winnie Looney.

The $22,607 comes from the federal share of reclamation fees levied on coal under the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977, as part of a program to reclaim abandoned mine lands.
