

Former Supt. Grigsby Sues Board for Job Restoration

By Ron Marstin

It was the turn of former Superintendent E. P. "Pete" Grigsby, Jr. last week to make a charge sometimes leveled at him during his nine-year administration of Floyd schools: that, in speaking one's mind, a Floyd Board of Education employee risks retaliation by those in authority.

That, the former school chief said in an interview Thursday, was precisely what happened when the board of education decided in April to abolish the post it had created for him when he agreed to step down as superintendent in August, 1985.

The board confirmed its April decision after a mandatory due-process hearing last month. And, last Wednesday, it dealt Grigsby a humiliating rebuff by naming him itinerant principal of four small rural schools, none of which boasts a student census large enough to have a principal in its own right.

The demotion hurts more than his professional pride; it will cost Grigsby a reduction in salary from $47,000 to $40,500, Assistant Superintendent

Free Speech Said Violated By Demotion

Russell M. Frazier confirmed last week.

For Grigsby, it was the low blow in a series of slights that began shortly after he was named administrative assistant to the superintendent in 1985. After he was moved from the school district's central office to an unpretentious office in the school bus garage at Garth, he was assigned tasks that he felt never gave him the chance to make the contribution to the school system that he was able and willing to make.

Those behind the move to demote and exclude him, Grigsby charged, were Board Chairman Dr. J. D. Adams and Left Beaver board member Dr. Mary Hall. The two board members are named individually as defendants in a suit filed Friday by Grigsby's attorney, Ned Pillersdorf, in U.S. District Court in Pikeville.

Their motives, the former superintendent charges, were vindictive—stemming, in the case of Adams, from Grigsby's support last November for Maryland Burl Joseph, Adams's opponent in the Division 1 board race and, in the case of Hall, from Grigsby's opposition to the Mitchell property at Hi Hat as the site for a consolidated Left Beaver high school.

Adams said last week he would have no comment to make on Grigsby's accusation; Hall said the charge was groundless. In separate conversations, both pointed out that responsibility for personnel assignments belonged not to the board of education but to the superintendent.

Superintendent Ray Brackett noted that his recommendation to eliminate Grigsby's position as administrative assistant followed the advice of a state Department of Education management team called in earlier this year to assist local officials in streamlining the (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

Tackett Held On $40,000 Bond In Hall Death

Authorities won't speculate as to the motive, but Mickey Hall, 19, of Grethel, was shot and killed Saturday night following an argument. Charged with murder is Orville Tackett, 52, also of Grethel.

According to Detective Danny Stumbo of the Kentucky State Police, the shooting was witnessed by four people and took place near the Tackett house on Tackett Branch of Branham's Creek at about 7:30 p.m. Hall was shot once with a 12 gauge shotgun in the upper right chest and pronounced dead on arrival at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital.

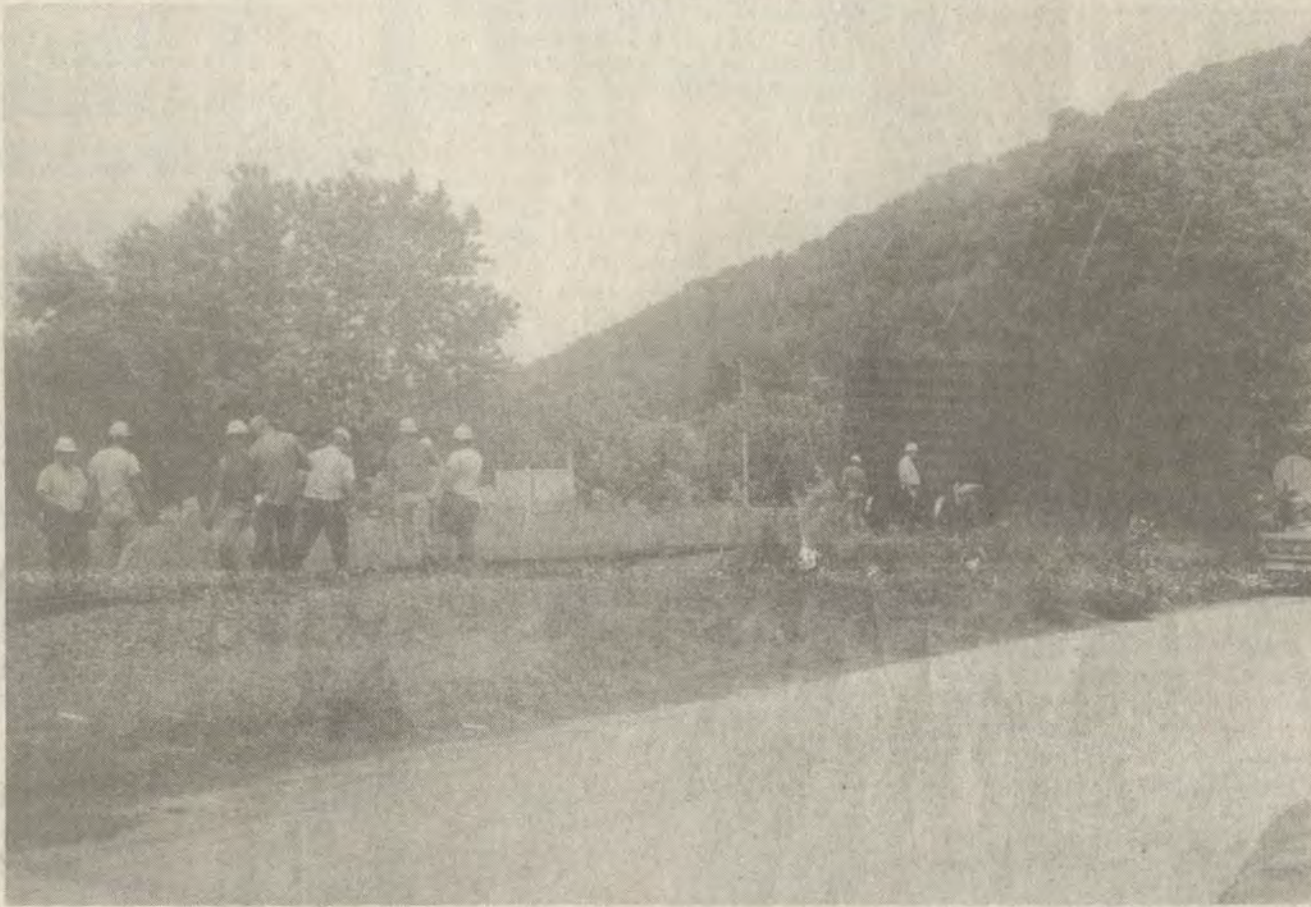

Floyd county coroner Roger Nelson, who ordered an autopsy performed, said Hall died within minutes of being shot. Tackett and Hall are believed to be second or third cousins.

Tackett is currently being held in Floyd county jail, and bail has been set at $40,000, not to take effect until after the funeral.

Born November 17, 1967 at McDowell, Hall was the son of Ruth Tackett Hall, of Grethel, and the late Carlos Hall.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by two brothers, Michael Hall and

Board Split on New Job Assignment For Grigsby

By Ron Marstin

For a second year, as the Floyd Board of Education faced the task last week of assigning next year's teaching and administrative staff, the thorniest question appeared to be what to do with former superintendent E. P. Grigsby, Jr.

More than 200 Left Beaver residents, many of them teachers at McDowell grade and high schools, packed the board's meeting room here Wednesday night to make it clear that Grigsby would not be welcome as principal at either school.

After returning from a lengthy closed-door session, Superintendent Ray Brackett drew applause from the audience with his recommendation that McDowell High School Principal Gary Frazier and Elementary School Principal Franklin Pack be retained in their present posts. The board approved the recommendation on a split vote, over the dissent of James A. Duff and Ray "Shag" Campbell.

Wheelwright residents who feared the board would replace Lonnie Stone, principal at Wheelwright High School, with former Assistant Transportation Director Adrian Bentley also went home satisfied: the board confirmed Stone in his position.

Betsy Layne Principal Gene R. Davis, whom some worried might also lose his post in an effort to accommodate Grigsby, was re-appointed to his position, as were Prestonsburg High School Principal Robert May and Allen Central Principal Don Daniels.

The 1987-'88 appointments list saw changes in the Betsy Layne High School coaching staff: Vincent Tucker was moved up from assistant to head football coach, replacing Jack Hall, and Karen Henry rose from assistant to girls' basketball coach, replacing Diane Robinson.

The board's dilemma over Grigsby apparent even last summer, when some school officials wanted to remove him from the administrative post created for him when he resigned as superintendent in August, 1985, was heightened this year by an April decision to abolish the position as part of a cost-cutting strategy.

Eliminated at the same time was Bentley's position in the transportation department and that of physical education coordinator David L. Turner. Turner's post was restored as the result of a due-process hearing in May, however.

To resolve its current quandary, the school administration created another new position for Grigsby, naming him as itinerant principal for four of the county's smallest schools—Prater Creek, Spruce Pine, Auxier, and Bonanza grade schools. Bentley was named, over Duff's objection, as assistant director of the school district's food service program.

The appointments list also saw two administrators promoted: Russell M. Frazier, installed last year as director of buildings and grounds and finance officer, was designated assistant superintendent for finance and administration. Assistant Food Service Director Wayne W. Ratliff was named co-director of the program, sharing that responsibility with the current director, Sharon Newsome.

Brackett said later that the question of salary increases for the promoted administrators had not yet been dealt with.

Moving Ratliff up to co-director of the food service program was designed to remedy an "inequity" caused three years ago, when he was transferred from his position as transportation director. Ratliff had then technically suffered a demotion without due process, said Assistant Supt. Ronald L. Hager.

Creation of an assistant's position to accommodate Bentley would allow closer monitoring of the food program in the schools, Brackett said. He also noted that, since the program is supported with federal funds, Bentley's salary will not be a charge on the school district's general fund.

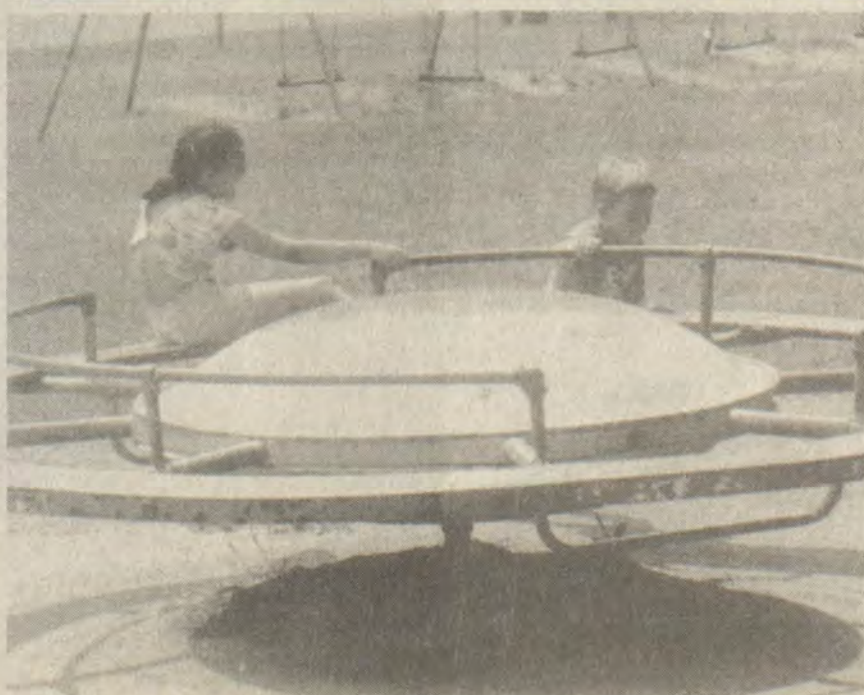

No other changes were made in the district's certified, central office staff.

Late Night Melee Results In One Shot, Two Jailed

By Louise Houghton

One man was hospitalized, another man and his wife were lodged in the Floyd county jail, and the couple's home was "a total loss" following a shooting incident late Thursday night on Mining Branch, off Bull Creek, according to law enforcement authorities.

Florence Nelson, 54, was arrested for first-degree assault in the shooting of Michael Fitzpatrick, 18, of East Point. Her husband, Ambers Nelson, 72, was arrested for first-degree arson after allegedly setting their house on fire.

According to Kentucky State Police, Fitzpatrick was visiting the Nelsons at their home at about 11:30 p.m. when an argument developed among the three. Apparently unarmed, he was shot in the back with a .22-caliber rifle, according to sheriff's deputy John K. Blackburn.

Fitzpatrick was taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center and subsequently transferred to Cabell-Huntington Hospital in West Virginia, where he was in the intensive-care unit until Sunday evening. His condition was reported to be good, Monday.

According to a statement taken from Florence Nelson, she had not intended to shoot Fitzpatrick, Blackburn said. Instead, she had been aiming at her husband in an effort to stop him from pouring gasoline on the house.

After the shooting, Blackburn said, Florence Nelson drove to West Prestonsburg and then returned home with her daughter, where she was arrested. Ambers Nelson fled up a nearby hollow where he was found hiding in a neighbor's trailer. Fitzpatrick was lying on the ground where he had been shot, but was being aided by a cousin when deputies arrived.

Bond was originally set at $25,000 for Ambers Nelson, but was reduced to $5,000 and he was released from jail following the couple's arraignment, Monday. The $50,000 bond set for Florence Nelson was not reduced at the arraignment, and she remained in jail Tuesday.

Black Bears On Left Beaver Provide Unique Entertainment

By Louise Houghton

At least two black bears, and possibly more, provided an evening's entertainment for a large crowd of people in the Weeksbury area last Wednesday, according to numerous reports. Area wildlife officials were not yet able to confirm the sighting, but said that it could be an indication that the animals have taken up residence in eastern Kentucky.

Wildlife biologist Larry Short said Tuesday that he had received only sketchy information about last week's sighting, and was not convinced that more than one bear had been seen. However, he added, if two or more bears were indeed seen, they were probably a female with a cub or cubs.

Furthermore, as Short and his colleague Rich Pais explained in an interview last month, mother bears with young do not range over a large area. So the spotting of a family group in Kentucky probably means that they spent the winter here.

Kentucky is not thought to have any resident black bears, but Short and Pais believe that situation may be changing.

"I saw two at once," stated Mary Hall, who lives on KY 466 about midway between Weeksbury and Melvin. Traffic was blocked in both directions in front of her house, she said, as people stopped to gaze at the animals roaming back and forth on the hillside across from her home.

"It looked like a mamma bear and baby bear," she added, estimating that the smaller of the pair was about the size of a large, shaggy sheepdog. "They were the cutest things," she chuckled, as they peeked out from behind the trees at the growing crowd of people lining the road and railroad track.

Homer Hall, her husband, said he was napping on the living room couch at about 7:30 p.m. when his wife woke him up to ask, "What's all that crowd of people in front of the house?" He didn't know, but a minute later she called in that the excitement was caused by a bear, so he got up to investigate.

Violence In County Said Above Average

By Louise Houghton

Blame it on the heat, although the last few days could hardly be described as scorchers. Maybe it's the phase of the moon, although that celestial body is only now approaching full. Maybe it's plain old spring fever, a little late, or summer doldrums, a bit early.

Whatever the reason for it, a wave of violent crime and miscellaneous mayhem has swept across Floyd county in the last week or so, setting law enforcement and courthouse employees to wondering what they will find on their desks when they come in to work each morning.

"This is supposed to happen in July!" exclaimed Sue DeRossett, a secretary in the Floyd district court office.

DeRossett and her co-workers began to wonder if something strange was happening on May 25, when a Bevinville man allegedly got drunk and assaulted his wife and son with a weed-eater. In the two weeks since then, and especially within the last week, Floyd county has been the scene of a bank robbery, three separate shootings, in one of which the victim was killed, the capture of three escapees from a nearby jail, a suicide, a derailed train, and an assault on a water-patrol officer.

In addition, a stray bullet reportedly slammed through the windshield of a car occupied by two people as they drove near the Goble-Roberts subdivision last weekend. Nine or 10 fistfights also erupted throughout the weekend at barrooms and other gathering spots in the county, according to Floyd deputy John K. Blackburn.

Baptist Kindergarten Graduation Exercises

The Baptist Day Care Center of the First Baptist Church, (Irene Cole Memorial) held its kindergarten graduation exercises May 31, at 2 p.m. in the church sanctuary. The theme of the celebration was "I Am Special." Jessica Stevens welcomed everyone, and Jonathan Dixon and Stephen Jurich led the group in the Pledge to the Flag.

Finger plays and songs were presented by the nursery and 4-year-old classes. The kindergarten class entertained with songs, nursery rhymes, and memories of the past school year. Each kindergarten child was presented with a diploma and a white Testament by their teacher, Mrs. LaDonna Patton. Nursery children and the 4-year-olds were also presented diplomas by their teachers, Mrs. Kathy McNabb and Mrs. Judy Allen. Other teachers present were Vernice Combs, Amy Kendrick, Loretta Ferrell, and Jewell Bayes.

The Rev. Steve Hopkins, pastor and director of the Day Care program, closed the program by recognizing the Day Care committee, teachers, and pianist, and led the group in prayer.

Names of the pupils, their teachers, and other helpers follow. Kindergarten: Brett Lee Bentley, Robert Joseph Capelli, Jr., Grant Nunnery Castle, Andrew Owen Caudill, Jessica Marie Frasure, Lauren Elizabeth Hites, Jennifer Allison Horn, Kelly Eden Hunt, Jon Thomas May, Elaine Carole Ousley, Kara Brook Sammons, Serabeth Sammons, Jeremy Roy Shepherd, and Jessica Adams Stephens. Owens Replies To Mr. Hall's Letter To the Editor

Dear Mr. Hall:
You had better be glad that I wasn't over the negotiations of the contract because I would have given you a break alright—from Perry county going to charge you $72,000 a year—yeah, I would have given you a break for about $60,000 a year, one year at a time, not eight—not like our Solid Waste board who let you have it for a measly $35,000 a year. Don't tell me, Mr. Hall, that Knott county doesn't have any level land because I have seen several abandoned strip jobs that would make an ideal landfill for Knott county. No wonder you want Floyd county to take your garbage, because you don't stand a chance of polluting your underground streams or drinking water in Knott county or filling up your landfill twice as fast. Besides this measly $35,000 a year you pay wouldn't even buy one junky dozer let alone the equipment it takes to run our landfill. No—it don't cost our Solid Waste any more when they break down, it costs our county road department when they take the equipment away from us to work the landfill when theirs is broken down. Who ends up paying this—The people of Floyd county. Who ends up not getting the cemetery roads fixed to the cemeteries? Who ends up not getting their creeks dipped? Who ends up not getting their roads repaired? The people of Floyd county—while our equipment is up there pushing your garbage. When we ask for it, we can't get it, because it's tied up at the landfill.

You said Knott county is so poor—it's not my fault that Floyd county has got a million ($1,000,000) laying down there in the bank. I have tried for a year and a half to get it out and spend it on the roads. I say it will probably be like all the other elections—the last three months we will see that million dollars come out. The people of Floyd county aren't a bit better off than the people of Knott county. Matter of fact, we're worse off. Our poor senior citizens are paying a dollar more per month than the Knott county senior citizens, and our residents are paying a dollar more per month than Knott county residents are paying.

Mr. Hall, you stated that if you lived in Floyd county you would vote for John M. Stumbo. Mr. Hall, you sound just like the type of guy that would vote for John M. Stumbo, 'cause you ain't got nothing to lose and everything to gain. Won't you see if Knott county will take Floyd county's garbage for about $75,000 a year and I will see if I can't talk them into letting you have it, since we spend about a million dollars a year to run our garbage system. That way we wouldn't need any heavy equipment for the landfill, or any operators for the heavy equipment, no fuel or upkeep, or compensation on the men. Maybe you can get lucky and find a hollow right near your house up there. I'll be glad to help negotiate the contract with you fellows. Then you can take the chance on polluting your all's water system and killing the fish in the creek. The worst part is that the Floyd County Garbage Board is talking about taking in two other counties' garbage. I don't think the people of Floyd county want this county to be a regional garbage dump.

This fight is far from over, Mr. Hall. I've not got anything against a good garbage system—just keep it in your own county. Floyd county has already got enough of it. If there is legal loophole where I can break this contract, I'm going to. We've got kids growing up in this county, and that's what I'm looking out for—The Future. All it appears to me that you are looking out for is the price of your garbage bill.

P.S.—You also talked about my kin in Knott county. I have got plenty of kin in Knott county. I'm sure they wouldn't want Floyd county's garbage dumped in their front door.

Being A Bug Isn't Bad Enough, Some Insect Names Are Insults

Calling someone a bug usually is insult enough, but the people who named some insects seemingly felt a little extra insult was needed.

Perhaps some farmer was thinking of a banker or a skinflint brother-in-law when he gave Triatoma sanguisuga its common name, bloodsucking cone nose.

If starting life as a maggot isn't bad enough, little Hippoboscidae grow up to be louse flies. And baby Asilidae are destined for a life of crime, as they grow up to be robber flies.

Of course there are bugs, and then there are bugs. Someone apparently didn't think being called a fungus beetle carried with it enough disdain and approbation, so they decided to call Derodontidae tooth-necked fungus beetles, just in case you ever thought of dating one.

The navy isn't left out of all this. They have their tawny skippers, of the super family Hesperioidea, obviously outranked by the larger family member, the silver-spotted skipper. They boss around members of the family Evaniidae, ensign wasps, but in turn take their orders from Vanessa atalanta, the red admiral.

Doug Johnson, an entomologist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, said many insects' common names are based on where they are found, or what they eat. Shore flies and beach flies, obviously, are found near the shore. Grain beetles and flour beetles are found in stored grain and flour.

"In these instances common names give you some important information about the insect. But how some insects got their names, like the pleasing fungus beetle, or the earwig, is a mystery.

City Council, Here, Wrestles With Dwindling Funds, Budget

By Joe Porter

How do you slice the pie when the pie keeps getting smaller? The Prestonsburg City Council discussed its 1987-88 budget and tried to answer that question at Monday night's meeting.

"I'm not knocking the budget," said Fire Chief Thomas Blackburn. "I know we're tight for money, but I'm just trying to make you aware of the problem. There's no way I can keep giving you the level of service I have with the way it's going now." The fire department's budget has been reduced by $29,000 in the last year. Included in the slash, for example, was $8,000 for maintenance and repair of fire trucks. And it's been two years since Blackburn has been able to replace worn out fire hoses.

Blackburn's concern caught the attention of councilor Thomas Tackett who said it made him nervous to think that the fire department might be hindered from fighting a fire because of faulty equipment.

Mayor Ann B. Latta called this year's budget "stringent" and reminded the council that revenue sharing funds that once amounted to $100,000 a year are now dried up. City Administrator Fred James said that the department cut-backs have been made across the board. "If you're asking do we have money in the bank, the answer is no. We're broke," James said.

The council agreed that city will have to find new sources of revenue if they're going to better fund the departments. Mentioned was the possibility of raising the garbage collection fee, or saving money by collecting it just once a week instead of two times. The council is expected to vote on the budget at their next meeting, June 22.

One source of additional revenue will be the franchise fee collected from the cable TV company. The council signed an agreement with Consolidated Communications Group Two, Inc., whereby the fee will rise from three to five percent of the company's gross revenue.

A first reading was given to an ordinance allowing the city to continue the application process for the Kentucky Municipal League's insurance pool. Mayor Latta said that while its insurance rates may not necessarily be lowered by joining the pool, "We won't be looking at $10,000 jumps in cost every year the way we have." Nor will applying for the insurance pool exclude the city from taking bids from other insurance businesses, the Mayor added.

The city will be making improvements in the upcoming weeks on city streets and sidewalks. It plans to take bids immediately on street resurfacing work. For better handicap access, ramps will be put in where sidewalks are replaced on street corners. Also, Tackett suggested that a committee should be formed to advise the city on how to best serve the needs of the handicapped who use the city buildings and access ways.

Police Chief Elmo Allen reported that the department has purchased two used police cruisers in Frankfort for $1,675 and $1,900. Each has about 100,000 miles on them. The police department was commended for its work maintaining and the improvements it has made on its aging fleet of cars.

Archer Park Board member Randy Polk reported to the council that the park deficit has been reduced from $22,000 to $5,000. And Park Board Chairman Billy Ray Collins aired his displeasure over the harassment that he and other park officials have been subjected to by Councilor Harry Ray Porter.

According to Porter, he discovered a faulty and dangerous electrical box near a baseball diamond in the park, but when he reported the box to park director Ralph Little, the problem was not corrected. Porter then went to the fire department, asked for an inspection, and subsequently, the park facilities were ordered closed until the electrical wiring and other violations were brought up to code. The work was done in a two day period—May 28 and 29—and the facility was re-opened the following day—certified safe and within code.

Little said his action was delayed because it was never made clear to him where the electrical box was located. "We're saying if we knew about it, we would have fixed it," Collins said in support of Little. Collins said Porter overreacted and went for sensationalism when he contacted a radio and TV station about the problem.

Porter answered the charge by saying, "I didn't do it for publicity. 'I did it for the safety of the children.' Yet Collins questioned Porter's altruism and said that the councilor knew months back that the park had problems with its electrical system but never did anything before to remedy the trouble.

Mayor Latta has named Burl Wells Spurlock, Ted Nairn, and Dr. David White to the Prestonsburg-Pointsville Industrial Development Authority.

The council also gave permission for the VFW to set up two collection roadblocks July 4 and November 7. The money will be donated to VA hospitals and a children's Christmas party.

Roberts in Top Runners In W. Va. 5K Road Race

The second annual Baskin Robbins Bananna Split 5k Road Race was held in Kanawha City, W. Va., last weekend. The event is the biggest 5k in the state and attracted 563 entrants.

Jeff Trump, who set the course record last year with a 15:16 finish, held off Huntington's Tom Cherchuck to win in 15:00 this year. Trump, a senior at Alderson Broadus College won $100 for breaking the course record. Twila Taylor, of Charleston, won the women's title in 18:04.

Former Paintsville runner, Rick Roberts, of Allen, came from behind to finish in 10th place in 16:02. Last year, Roberts was fourth and has maintained his ability to finish in the top 10 in the Tri-state area this year.

Celebrate 70th Wedding Anniversary

Robert Lee (Bob) Pitts, 90, and Roxie Mae Pitts, 85, recently celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary at their home with a dinner prepared by family members.

Celebrating with them were their eight children still living, out of 11 children born to them. They are Dollie Branham Cox, of Martin; Lottie Crisp, of Louisville; Curtis Pitts, of Granger, Ind.; Sadie Shephard and Opal Hicks, both of West Prestonsburg; Clara Burklo, of Florence; Vertis Pitts, of David; and Forrest Pitts, of Buffalo. Also attending were 11 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren, as well as son-in-law Floyd Cox, of Martin; nephew Jimmy Ousley and his wife Edith; grandsons-in-law Crandell Slone, of Shelbyville, Jeff Lawson, of Garrett, and Darrell Mannard, of Pikeville.

Explore Clue To SIDS Mystery

Preliminary data compiled by two University of Kentucky Chandler Medical Center researchers indicates significant physical abnormalities in infants that have died of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS).

Dr. D. Larry Sparks, assistant professor of neurology at the UK College of Medicine, associate at the Sanders-Brown Center on Aging and chief biochemical consultant for the Kentucky Medical Examiners Office, and Dr. John C. Hunsaker III, assistant professor of pathology at the UK Medical Center and associate chief medical examiner for Kentucky, recently announced their preliminary findings at the annual convention of the American Academy of Forensic Sciences.

During autopsies of a limited number of SIDS and normal infants, Sparks and Hunsaker observed statistically significant differences in the sizes of the pineal gland. The pineal gland is one of the most underinvestigated organs of the human body. Located deep within the center of the brain, the pineal gland is believed to be involved in the regulation of body temperature and sleep cycles.

In the small number of cases studied, the average size of normal infants' pineal glands were larger than the pineal glands of SIDS infants. Microscopic evaluation of the pineal glands also revealed apparent differences. These differences were found in all autopsies.

"This is all very preliminary data, but it does represent an excellent framework for further investigation," said Sparks.

Hunsaker reiterated the preliminary nature of the observations and added, "Information from an expanded data base must be accumulated before scientifically valid conclusions can be drawn."

Currently, there is no specific physiological abnormality to identify a SIDS victim. Diagnoses have been made only after the elimination of other possible causes of death.

With the few findings, medical examiners may have a potential method of diagnosing SIDS deaths. The methodology employed by Sparks and Hunsaker is already being used by several medical examiners' laboratories in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and results are being communicated to the Kentucky researchers.

"This is one of the most significant SIDS findings to date," said Dr. Clause P. Speth, chief medical examiner for Gloucester County (New Jersey).

"If we can confirm these findings by enlarging the data base, we might have the first step in discovering a treatment and prevention of SIDS. At least we'll know why they're dying," said Speth, who was program director at the recent American Academy of Forensic Sciences convention.

Other researchers expressed optimistic caution, pointing out that various neural changes have been noted in SIDS victims in the past and that this evidence may or may not prove a cause/effect relationship between the pineal gland and the disease.

Jury Awards Are Slight In Blast Damage Suits

By Louise Houghton

Former school superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr., and his wife, Phyllis, should be awarded $5,000 for blasting damage to their $250,000 home at Minnie, while Phyllis Grigsby's brother, Sam Martin, Jr., and his wife, Marguerite, should receive $7,500 for damage to their nearby home valued at $175,000, a Floyd Circuit jury decided Monday.

The awards equalled about one-tenth of the loss in market value to the homes claimed by Arnold Turner, Jr., attorney for the Grigsbys and Martins. Both amounts were less than the cost of repairs estimated by a witness for defendants, Randy and Raymond Combs, owners of Pine Tree Coal Company.

Shortly before the trial began, the Combs brothers agreed to pay the two families $20,000 to settle claims against the brothers' personal liability, according to Turner. The trial involved only their company's liability, and the combined awards to both families totalled $32,500.

However, "we're still real disappointed," Turner said. "I felt that it was a clear case of them flagrantly violating the law."

The case arose after the coal company began stripmining on a two-acre site between the two homes, either in late December, 1983, as the plaintiffs alleged, or in early January, 1984, according to the defense. As company employees blasted their way down to the coal, eventually creating a lengthy highwall, Phyllis Grigsby and Marguerite Martin said they noticed pictures swinging back and forth on the walls and knick-knacks "walking" across flat surfaces. An ironing board fell over, and a large mirror was jarred loose from its place on a wall.

The two families met with company officials and obtained promises that the blasting charges would be reduced, according to Turner, but instead the explosions got worse. "They blasted in a way that had no regard for what they were doing," he told the jury.

Company officials, however, asserted that all of their blasting charges were within legal limits as shown by a blasting log and put a University of Kentucky engineering professor on the stand who denied that any of the leaks, cracks, loose molding or sagging doors at either home could have been caused by blasting.

"Notice the alignment of that crack. See how wavy it is?" Dr. Staley Adams asked the jury, pointing to a photograph of alleged damage. Blasting always causes a straight crack, whereas wavy cracks form slowly over a long period of time, he said. A specialist in structural mechanics, the professor went through a stack of photographs one by one, attributing each bit of damage to poor construction, settling of the house, or natural causes.

Although all of the blasts were below the threshold for causing structural damage, Adams said, the "human response" threshold is much lower. When people feel the vibration, hear the explosions, and fear that their property will be damaged, he said, they get "almost violent."

"They'll blame almost anything on the blasting," he testified.

In closing arguments, however, plaintiff's attorney Turner challenged the credibility of both the professor and the blasting log.

"They call him an expert. I call him a teacher," he said of Adams, who, he said, was paid by the defense to provide his opinion at the trial. "Did he come here as a witness, or did he come here as a salesman?"

The blasting log, which records the amount of each charge and the distance from the homes, was kept by Randy Combs, one of the defendants, and cannot be believed, Turner said. "It's contradicted at every turn," he asserted, citing conflicting testimony about the distance of the blasts from the homes.

In addition, Turner charged, Combs ordered his crews to mine an extra coal seam that had not been approved and to create a longer highwall than their permit allowed. "Does that sound like a man that's worried about violating the law?" he asked.

The blasts had wrenched loose the interior structure at both homes, the attorney said, making them "rickety" and reducing their resale value. Loss to the value of the Martin home was estimated at $75,000, while a $50,000 loss was claimed for the Grigsby home.

Dreams Continue

Four years ago, I wrote a letter to this paper telling the accomplishments of one young man, Winn Ford, and how he had defied the doctors who said he could never learn, could never go to school, and to put him in an institution and leave him for life.

On June 12, 1987, four years later, Winn Ford will walk across the stage with the graduating class of Prestonsburg High School and receive his diploma.

To Mr. May and faculty, looking back now, it seems only yesterday we began what seemed a very frightening experience, which I know for us, and hope for you, became a reward—Many thanks.

So many people have worked to mold the life of Winn Ford—far too many to mention by name—but I feel the halls of Prestonsburg will always hear "Hello, Mr. May" and "Congratulations, Coach."

To all the folks at Garth—A hardy thanks—you brought us a long way.

To the student body at Prestonsburg High for the last four years, thanks for your friendship and acceptance of one a "little different." Wish you all the best for your future.

My continued support to Ms. Ogie Slone—Keep the spirits up.

Mrs. Yates—we can't thank you enough for the pride you've show in your "star Pupil."

It takes an exceptional person to work with exceptional people—Prestonsburg High was most fortunate this year to have Brenda Cain on staff—I knew sooner or later God would smile down on us, Mrs. Cain, for you see, your talent for working with these students is a gift of God—built in—you don't learn it in college.

Superintendent Ray Brackett, we're on the count down. We've seen a couple of dreams come true. Who knows what the future holds?

For my family and friends who have cried with me when I've cried, laughed with me when I laughed, been patient with me while I bragged or complained—Thanks.

Kelli, I'm sure it has been the hardest for you—you're a great "little lady" and "sister".

BUT GUESS WHAT—it ain't over, we completed this stage of our education and now we move forward to that part of our life that prepares us for future employment.

Isn't it great to know there's always another hill to climb, and we have the opportunity to give it a try.

Will Be Vigilant

Allow me this opportunity to congratulate Superintendent Brock on his victory in the Democratic Primary for the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction. More importantly, I thank the more than 100,000 Kentuckians who joined me in an effort to bring the issues of education reform to the forefront during the past political campaign season.

While my personal goals fell short on May 26th, the goals of education reform remain. As Chairman of the House Committee on Education, I can assure the people of Kentucky that I will be forever vigilant to ensure that the educational advances of 1985 will continue.

I shall continue our quest on behalf of an academic bankruptcy program. Our goal is to see students in the least affluent school districts afforded the same programs enjoyed by students in the more affluent school systems.

I shall continue to insist on class size reduction. Only when class size is manageable, can teachers manage to give Kentucky's students the best instruction possible.

I shall continue the drive to identify at-risk youth in our schools. The time to locate those children with learning problems is in the early years—not later when they become dropout statistics.

The hope for a better Kentucky transcends any personal political goal. Therefore, let us join hands to bridge the gap between the educational deficiencies of yesterday and the educational needs of tomorrow. With an education program bold enough to question the past and pragmatic enough to challenge the future, our legacy to the next generation of Kentuckians shall surely be complete.

Literacy Push Not On Vacation

Contrary to Louise Houghton's article "Literacy Push Here Takes a Spring, Summer Vacation", Floyd county does have adult education classes going on during the spring and summer.

A coalition of county-wide groups already involved in adult education has formed the "Floyd County Adult Literacy Council". This organization has been committed to year-round service to the adults of Floyd county. The organizations involved are The David School, Christian Appalachian Project, and Mountain Comprehensive Care. This council is funded through the State Department of Education, The Kentucky State Literacy Commission, and in-kind support from each of the participating organizations.

The council has just received the services of an Adult Education Coordinator for the county, Miss Marcie Menster. The David School has offered an area to be used as the council's headquarters, as well as a resource library for students and other programs interested in learning about literacy and adult education.

Danny Greene, the Council's chairman stated, "The council is doing a tremendous work in comparison to what the county system is doing. This year we had 4,500 teaching hours funded through the State Department of Education and the State Literacy Commission. The county offered 600. Next year the council has applied for over 5,000 while the county applied for just 850. Our increase enables us to educate more students, but also provides a quality program year round."

Cosette Newsome, supervisor of adult education for the county, but just the county programs, says her program has a dozen adults on her waiting list. Four or five months is a long time to wait for a GED. If these adults, or anyone else would like to start now, they can call the "Floyd County Adult Literacy Council". Classes are offered all over the county, at numerous sites in nearly every town. The council will always adopt new sites if there is a need.

The council has an "Education Hotline" which anyone can call to receive information on our program, or set up classes in order to prepare for the GED. Please call at 886-8811. Join the 300 other county adults who have worked with the council.

MARCIE MENSTER
The David School

(Editor's note: The story referred to dealt only with the adult education program of the Floyd County Board of Education.)

Effort Pays Off

Interested Stonecoal and Turkey Creek residents are pleased to announce that the clean-up and beautification of their road is now underway. The area on the mountain once serving as a garbage dump was cleared last year and flowering shrubbery has been planted on both sides of the mountain roadway this spring.

Aid for this project has come and continues to come from many sources.

To be commended especially for help already given is our county magistrate Everett Owens, who provided the big machinery necessary for the clean-up, Solid Waste officials who furnished two trucks, Ralph O'Quinn, principal of Garrett Elementary School, who supplied a truck and driver to assist with necessary errands, and the Job Corps Center, whose members worked with shovels, rakes and hoes to collect and load unsightly materials and, later, to plant shrubbery along the roadside.

Food needed for workers on this project was supplied by Etta Scott, Beulah Wanda Lawson and Alice O. Martin. Cuttings and potted shrubbery for planting were donated by Thomas Martin at Langley, and M.C.C. Greenhouse of Prestonsburg.

While this particular project was accomplished by the concentrated effort of many, we are pleased to note what can also be done through the solitary effort of one lone citizen who is interested in a cleaner Floyd county.

A person of my acquaintance carries a garbage bag with her on her daily trip to the postoffice. She walks on one side going and on the other side coming back. Any refuse noted on either side is stashed into her garbage bag to be picked up at her home on the regular run of Solid Waste garbage collectors.

The logical conclusion? Why can we not all join in both community and individual effort to produce a cleaner and more beautiful Floyd county? We can produce a better Floyd county, both collectively and alone.

Seeks Family Information

I am trying to locate information about the Watson family.

A relative, Rachel Watson, was the daughter of a minister—I think Free Methodist Church, the church she belonged to in Park Rapids when she died. She was born in Prestonsburg June 28, 1835 and married Daniel Rowland in 1855, there.

Any friends, relatives, neighbors or information about this family will be greatly appreciated.

Spring—A Miracle

Spring awakens what autumn put to sleep. Isn't it wonderful—suddenly everything which has been seemingly dead comes to life. Spring breathes new life into everything. It is very much like God's plan for His people. They must die first in order to rise in His glory. Trees are budding out with new leaves, flowers are blooming and birds of every color have arrived. Some have traveled hundreds of miles. Their songs seem so cheerful.

We really have to say that Spring is a miracle. How can we account for all that has and is happening. When we see all the beauty that spring brings, we very well know that only God could create it. It has beauty that is all its very own. We find its beauty and loveliness in no other season of the year. It is the revelation of God's love. It is a symbol of His unchanging love.

Yes, spring is an amazing, unexplainable, wonderful miracle. Its feel is welcomed but its look lifts our hearts. The silence of the long cold winter vanishes and sounds of life are resurrected and heard. It truly seems that a voice of freedom is speaking and an old world is being made young again and this we know God is in charge—and after Winter comes Spring—and in God all things live again.

Floyd Health Department Schedules Rabies Clinics

Rabies is a disease that infects the brain and spinal cord, which is why it is so dangerous. The infection is caused by a virus too small to be seen with the ordinary microscope.

Although the rabies virus infects all warm-blooded animals, man receives it most often when bitten by a dog infected with the virus. This is why, when a human being is bitten by a dog, an effort is always made to find the dog and examine it to see whether it has rabies.

It is possible to control rabies effectively, especially in domestic animals, through rabies vaccinations. The Floyd County Health Department will be sponsoring rabies clinics in several Floyd county areas during the week of June 15-19. Vaccinations will be given by local veterinarians. There will be a $3 charge for the rabies vaccinations. Other vaccines will be available at an additional charge.

Use of Charter May Break Law

State Energy Secretary George E. Evans, Jr. might have violated conflict-of-interest law when a company he owned did business with the state, according to a report published Sunday.

Holly Holland, business writer for the Louisville Courier-Journal, reported that the state has used Sprite Flite Jets, Inc., a Lexington charter service, at least 73 times in the past 3½ years. Evans was half-owner of the company until he sold his share last July.

During Evans's tenure in the administration of Gov. Martha Layne Collins, Holland reported, Sprite-Flite has done more than $160,000 worth of business with the state—including about $105,000 when he was part-owner of the firm.

Evans said he didn't see anything wrong with the arrangement because the company made no profit on the business, Holland said.

According to state statutes regulating conflicts of interest for public officers and employees, a company in which a state officer owns 10 percent or more stock is prohibited from doing business with the state except when the contracts are awarded through competitive bidding. The state does not advertise for bids for air charter service.

To travel from Lexington to New Orleans for a coal exporters' meeting on Feb. 5 last year, Gov. Collins, Evans and his wife, and four other passengers flew on a Sprite Flite jet. Because Collins returned early on the plane, a second private jet flew to New Orleans on Feb. 8 to get the rest of the group. Holland reported.

The state's cost for the two round-trip flights was $10,027, which was paid to Sprite Flite. Standard coach fares at the time would have totalled about $3,500.

JOHN PHILLIP SAMMONS, of Prestonsburg, seated, seemed pleased with the results of his oxygen saturation test at Well Fest '87 held here recently under sponsorship of the Big Sandy Area Development District. The test was a service of Allcare Medical Co., of Betsy Layne.

REBEKAH LODGE MEETS

Members of Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 met in regular session Tuesday evening, June 2, with the Noble Grand, Mrs. Mabel Jean LeMaster, presiding. The routine of business was taken care of, and those who were on the sick list were noted. Mrs. Pauline Owens was presented as Page to the State Assembly. A proclamation from the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the I.O.O.F. on Memorial Day was read. There was a discussion on the selling of advertisements for the State Assembly program book. Persons interested in purchasing ads should contact a member of the lodge before July 7, and those wishing to have their names listed in this program book should send a check to Mrs. Beverly Hackworth, 432 Riverside Drive, Prestonsburg, 41653.

A memorial service for departed members was presented by Mesdames Virginia Goble, Norma Stepp, and Maman Leslie. The theme of this presentation was "Eternal Light."

The charter, which had been draped in memory of Melda Messer, was undraped by Mesdames Pauline Owens and Lorena Wallen.

Eleotive officers were honored by the Noble Grand, Mrs. Mabel Jean LeMaster, and each was presented a gift. These officers are Teresa Maynard, vice noble grand; Beverly Hackworth, secretary; Pauline Crisp, treasurer; Hope Whitten, degree captain, and Mary Zemo, lodge deputy.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Teresa Maynard was surprised with a baby shower. She received many attractive and useful gifts. Refreshments were served to Mabel Jean LeMaster, Teresa Maynard, Beverly Hackworth, Lorena Wallen, Paulene Owens, Hope Whitten, Virginia S. Goble, Emma Lou Horn, Violetta Wright, Venelia Rinehart, Effie Hopkins, Margaret Baldrige, Maman Leslie, Myrtle Allen, Norma S. Stepp, and Dolly Hyden.

The densest substance on earth is the metal osmium. An ingot of osmium the size of a dollar bill and an inch thick would weigh thirteen pounds.

Crafts Center Marks Anniversary

David Appalachian Crafts will celebrate its 15th anniversary this week. The program, sponsored by St. Vincent's Mission, has been in existence since June, 1972. The members of David Crafts come from six surrounding counties. They produce a large variety of handmade crafts, which include patchwork quilts, pillow covers, wallhangings, woodworking, carving, pottery, weaving, split oak baskets, knitting, sewn items and more. Many of the members have passed from being good craftspeople to artisans of state and national recognition.

The Crafts Center is a member of the Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen, the Southern Highland Handcraft Guild, and the Kentucky Department of the Arts. It has participated recently in the Pure Kentucky Buyers Market, Lexington; the Governor's Derby Breakfast, Frankfort; a garden party at the home of John Y. and Phyllis George Brown, Lexington; the Spring Kentucky Guild Fair, Berea, and a marketing trip in the South.

The Center is having its third annual SummerFest, June 27. It is open Monday through Friday, on Highway 404 at David.

Alternative School Has 10th Graduation

Ten students received high school diplomas and nine received junior high diplomas at the David School's 10th graduation ceremony recently.

The commencement address was given by Rod Bussey, vice-president for alumni relations and development at Berea College, who was raised in David.

Mark Sohn, a Pikeville College psychology professor and chairman of the David School board of directors, congratulated the graduates; a student/faculty chorus and band led a packed house singing school favorites: "Amazing Grace," "Green Pastures," "I Will Arise," and "Will the Circle be Broken."

The David School is an alternative school for public school dropouts. It was founded in 1974 by Danny Greene, its current director. Emma Kriz, the school's first principal, returned for this year's graduation ceremony.

The high school graduates were Michael D. Hopkins, Ralph L. Jacob, Ronald Joe Owens, Paula Michell, Prater, Jeffery Scott Potter, Scott Ramey, John Sears, Calvin Howell, Sharrie Grimstead, and Anna Leedy. The junior high graduates were: Clifford Lee Brown, Bill David Collins, James E. Crisp, Stephen Lee Frasure, Michael Dean Haney, Shawn Patrick Prater, Tim Watkins, Louise Lewis, and Carol Sue Williams.

Jefferson Scholar

Laurel County senior, Todd Bruner, has received a Thomas Jefferson Scholarship from Transylvania University, Lexington. This scholarship is worth approximately $40,000 over a four-year period.

Bruner has maintained a 4.0 grade point average throughout high school and scored a 30 on his ACT Test for which he received a certificate from President Ronald Reagan. At the recent Senior Awards Program, he received awards in math, journalism, English, and a Semper Fidelis Award in band. He also is a Kentucky Distinguished Scholar and was a Governor's Scholar in 1986.

Among his extracurricular activities include membership in the Math, French, Beta, and MU Alpha Theta Clubs. He was also on the Computer and Math Teams and the lead percussionist in the high school band. He is a member of the Mount Zion Church of Christ.

Bruner is the son of Orville and Jennifer Bruner, of London, and is the grandson of Harry and Norma Hopper, of Melvin, and Mrs. Tom Dusina, of Bypro. He is the great-grandson of Alvin and Lula Johnson, also of Melvin.

He will major in physics while at transylvania University and hopes to enter the NASA Space Program.

ACCLAIMED MAESTRO CONDUCTS BEETHOVEN

Internationally acclaimed maestro Carlos Kleiber conducts the Concertgebouw Orchestra Amsterdam in two towering works by Beethoven, Symphonies No. 4 and 7, when "Great Performances" airs Monday, June 22 at 8 p.m. on KET.

Kleiber, an elusive and painstaking perfectionist, makes a rare appearance with one of Europe's most lauded ensembles. The precision playing of the Concertgebouw Orchestra Amsterdam has been described as the sound of a large chamber music group.

Ludwig van Beethoven's nine symphonies were written over a 23-year span. Interestingly, Beethoven generally cast his odd-numbered symphonies in his well-known epic mode—thundering, sweeping and majestic. The even-numbered ones, conversely, are of lighter mood and slighter texture.

This dichotomy is perfectly illustrated in the two works presented in "Carlos Kleiber Conducts Beethoven." Symphony No. 4 in B major, op. 60, written in 1806, is a gentle, peaceful idyll. By contrast, the spirited Symphony No. 7 in A major, op. 92, written six years later, pulses with rhythmic energy and culminates in an outburst of savage power.

JACKIE EDFORD OWENS

MAGISTRATE—DISTRICT 2

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

I want to thank everyone that came out and stuck with me on May 26 and voted for Dave Armstrong for Lt. Governor. I knew he couldn't carry the county against a guy from eastern Kentucky and a neighboring county. Out of 48 precincts in Floyd County, my man ran in double digits in 46 out of the 48 precincts. He picked up over 1600 votes in Floyd County. I only got actively involved in this election 18 days prior to the election, but I want to thank all the volunteers that helped me with the phone banking, sign hanging, and campaigning in general. By sticking together, Dave Armstrong ran second in both Floyd and Knott Counties, as well as coming in second statewide for Lt. Governor. His opponent that beat him spent over 3 million dollars to win the Democratic nomination for Lt. Governor. I voted for a guy who has 19 years of experience of serving the people of Kentucky and who I thought would do the most for Eastern Kentucky and Floyd County.

P.S.—I don't feel a bit bad about losing my vote to a good man. I believe just about everybody in eastern Kentucky did on one person or another—except for a very few. If we are going to change things, we are going to have to stick together and vote together. Thanks again to all who helped in any way.

Mayo Mechanics Program Certified

The Auto Mechanics Program at Mayo State Vocational-Technical School was recently certified by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence. After a complete evaluation of the automotive technician training program, Ronald H. Weiner, president of ASE, informed Mayo Principal Jesse Conley of the certification in a letter, saying, "This is the highest level of achievement recognized by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE). Many educational institutions strive for this certification, but only a small percentage have achieved it. Both the educational and automotive communities should be proud of your commitment to quality automobile training."

Above, Principal Jesse Conley presented a plaque of certification to Auto Mechanics teachers James Calhoun, Joe Stewardson and Willie Conley, Jr.

Appalachian Program Scheduled at MSU

Music will fill the air as part of the Appalachian Celebration at Morehead State University, June 21-27.

Throughout the week, Gerry Gray, a southern Indiana native who plays the dulcimer and autoharp, will give free lessons in the Adron Doran University Center. Gray performs in state and national parks and has a new album called "Second-hand Heart."

Kentucky Arts Council Artist-in-Residence David Musser will present a workshop, Thursday, in ADUC from 1 to 2:30 p.m. for elementary teachers and parents. The workshop deals with teaching elementary students traditional music on scaled-down instruments. Musser's program has been featured on KET's "Education Notebook" and in a KET documentary "Drop-Out Prevention Works."

Noon concerts will be featured daily, outside on the Camden-Carroll library lawn or in the Button Drill room if there is rain. Gray will perform on Monday along with cloggers from Rowan County Middle School. Pat Cleary, a balladeer from Fleming County, will perform on Tuesday. The C. Roger Lewis Group is scheduled for Wednesday.

Thursday, the Berea Dancers will be featured. They perform regional folk dances displaying the heritage of the Appalachian area. Three acts are scheduled for Friday's noon concert. They are the White Horse String Band, the Rocky River Express from Fairborn, Ohio, and Milta Fryman of Oxford, Ohio who plays the banjo and sings old-fashioned tunes.

Capping off the week's events will be an Open Outdoor Stage on the Laughing Health Building lawn, Saturday, June 27, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. WMKY FM 90.3, public radio from MSU's campus, will broadcast the concert live from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Scheduled to appear are the Rocky River Express, Reel World String Band from Lexington, Morehead's own True Grass Band, Cleary, Dan and Zachary Brock from Lexington, Bob Watkins from Flemingsburg, Fryman, John Skaggs and Johnda Skaggs-Poynter and Rob McNurlin, all from Ashland.

Except for the lessons by Musser, all events are free. Additional information may be obtained from Pete McNeill, University Regional Development Services, MSU, Morehead KY 40351. Telephone: (606) 783-2077.

D.A.V. Service Officer To Be at Betsy Layne

Disabled American Veterans state service officer, Eugene Akers, will be at the Betsy Layne Grade School, June 13, from 10 a.m. till 1 p.m. to do service work for veterans, widows and their dependents.

For more information, call Eugene Akers at 478-9674.

All-Star Game Is Big Opportunity For Area Sophomores

Paul David Brown had two goals he hoped his area all-star sophomore squad could accomplish Friday night.

"We've practiced all week with the attitude of winning, or at least being competitive," Brown said of playing a squad of Kentucky junior all-stars. "We worked on pressure defense in an attempt to combat their size. Of course we are a lot smaller than they are so we have to play good defense and push the ball up and down the court."

Winning is what competing is all about, but Friday night at Paintsville High School, Paul David Brown and his youthful group may have been playing for other reasons than to win.

Brown headed a team consisting of sophomores from the 15th region, a talented squad in it's own right, but was put up against the best junior players in the state of Kentucky.

State tournament most valuable player Ritchie Farmer was there to team with Paintsville guard Keith Adkins in the backcourt. Scott Boley, 6'8" center from Larue county, and 6'7" Chris Bowles combined to form an intimidating low post tandem. Swingman Rick Henry also posed a problem with his quickness and size.

"From top to bottom they may have a better team than last year's was," Brown noted. "They don't have the three or four superstars that they had last year, but in overall talent, they may be better."

It didn't take long for that dominating basketball ability to express itself. The Kentucky union all-stars took a 23-13 lead after the first quarter, and cruised to a 128-89 victory over the area sophomore all-stars.

Brown's squad failed to reach one of their coach's goals, but luckily winning isn't everything in these summer exhibition games.

"The idea for this game is to give Coach Ford an opportunity to see these local sophomores play," Brown said, explaining his main area of interest. "We've got what we consider four area boys on this year's squad, and hopefully we can get one or two more on next year's team."

Some of those hopefuls may include a trio of 15th region guards. Paintsville's Chris Collins led the sophomore squad with 21 points, tying the game high output. Virgie and Bobby Osborne also produced talented guard prospects in Freddie Bowling and Darcy Adkins. Bowling tossed in 17 points, including two three pointers, while Adkins added 15 points, and an extra flare to his team's play.

Tim Pelphrey, yet another Paintsville product, added nine points with his inside play, and Jim Leveredge, a bulky forward from Hazard, contributed eight points to the local all-star squad.

Although Paul David Brown wanted his team to at least play competitively, Kentucky all-star coach Eddie Ford approached the game as an opportunity for his players to learn each other, and the Ford system.

"We don't put much emphasis on these games," Ford said. "We're looking at it as an opportunity for the players to get to know each other. We usually give equal playing time to each player, and just get them familiar with each other, and our style before we go to Europe."

Even though they haven't played together enough to perform as a team, the Kentucky all-stars did thrill the capacity crowd that packed the Paintsville High School gym.

Most of those thrills were provided by Rick Henry who led Kentucky's squad with 21 points and several slam dunks. Mr. Basketball candidate Ritchie Farmer also displayed the talent that led Clay County to a state championship.

In pre-game warmups Farmer, listed at 6'0", put on an impressive show with a variety of dunks then proceeded to hit four of four attempts beyond the three point line during the game. Farmer finished with a total of 18 points.

"Ritchie Farmer is a better player than most people give him credit for, even though he led Clay county to a state title, and was named most valuable player of the state tournament," Eddie Ford said. "I suppose they sell him short because he is small, but Ritchie plays like a 6'2" player, and that's what makes him a major college prospect."

Keith Adkins, a Mr. Basketball prospect himself, tossed in 14 points, including two three-pointers. Adkins also brought on oohs and aahs with his fastbreak passing ability.

Greg Napier, 13 points, Kip Ellington, 12, and Brandon Baker, 10 points, all hit double figures in scoring for the Kentucky junior all-stars.

After a quick trip through Kentucky, this group of Bluegrass performers will tour Europe, something last year's squad didn't get an opportunity to do.

With the threat of terrorism, Ford decided not to take the 1986 team out of this country, but says this group can adequately represent the United States and Kentucky.

"They would be on par with last year's team, but our big men aren't as far advanced as John Pelphrey, and Deron Feldhous were," Ford said of comparing this team to the last one.

"Our 6'3" to 6'5" players are probably a bit better than those of last year. From top to bottom, this group may be more talented than last year's group."

From the all-star squad of 1986 three players, Pelphrey, Feldhous, and Sean Sutton, signed with the University of Kentucky. This year's team, according to Eddie Ford, should produce at least five major college basketball players.

If playing on this squad isn't a direct link to bigger and better basketball things for the individual players, it makes the opportunity more realistic.

"It gives the players an opportunity to play against tough competition, and to learn to utilize other aspects of their game," Coach Ford explained. "In college they will be playing alongside other good players so they have to learn how to expand their playing rolls."

Last year's squad also claimed summer rights to John Pelphrey, who went on to play his way to Mr. Basketball honors.

The same is expected to become reality this time around. One of the junior all-star players should become the next Mr. Basketball in Kentucky.

Both Eddie Ford and Paul David Brown mentioned Ritchie Farmer as the leading early candidate with Scott Boley, and Keith Adkins not far behind.

SHORT SPORTS

Floyd county's senior Babe Ruth baseball squad will open its summer schedule today with a scheduled doubleheader on the road against Knott county.

The first game is set to begin at 5:30 on the Knott County Central High School field. Anyone wishing to travel with the team should be at Allen Park by 4:15, Wednesday afternoon.

Nathan Shelton, a lefthander who produced effective results on the mound for Allen Central, has been selected as Floyd county's opening game pitcher.

The junior southpaw mixed an array of offspeed pitches with an improving fastball to prove why Donnie Daniels felt Shelton will be one of the region's top hurlers in 1988. The second game pitcher has not yet been announced.

Floyd county will once again be in action, Sunday, and once again on the road. The group of county diamond performers will travel to Ashland, taking on a squad of 16-year-old all-stars.

The team is scheduled to leave Allen Park between 10:30 and 11:00 a.m. The doubleheader is set to begin at 1:30.

It is rare when a person can get something for nothing, but this Saturday the Cincinnati Reds organization will conduct a tryout camp free of charge.

Area baseball prospects will have an opportunity to display their talents for a group of Reds' scouts. The age group is to be between the ages of 16 and 22.

Players like Doug Flynn, and Dan Dresen, both former Cincinnati players, were discovered by tryout campus just like the one that will be held this Saturday at Central Park in Johnson county.

Area players are encouraged to take part. The experience will certainly be a learning one, and nothing is lost but your time. Registration will be conducted at 9 a.m. with the workout set to begin at 10.

Two teams will begin next season under new direction after last week's hiring of Del Harris, and John MacCloud.

Harris, a former assistant coach at Milwaukee, has been named by that club as it's new head coach, replacing Don Nelson who resigned following the Bucks' loss to Boston in their recent seven-game playoff series.

John MacCloud, a former head coach at Phoenix, has been named as the new basketball boss in Dallas. MacCloud, by being named the new Maverick coach, may have received the best job in the NBA.

Dallas is a team exploding with young talent, and John MacCloud is a coach known for getting the most out of his teams. The Mavericks, come June 1988, may be where many expected them to be this year, in the NBA finals.

Paintsville infielder Mike Minix, although he was drafted by the New York Yankees, isn't about to become a Yankee yet.

The Tiger third baseman-short stop was selected by New York on the 42nd round, but Minix says he isn't going to pass up a college degree for a team that didn't show more interest than the 42nd round.

Minix had already signed a letter of intent to play baseball at Vanderbilt, and plans on carrying out those intentions. In his last season at Paintsville, Minix hit .510 with 10 homers and 41 RBIs.

Prestonsburg Fans May Watch Different Team Under Parido

For the past two basketball seasons, Prestonsburg fans have watched a Blackcat team contented with patient, tempo controlled play.

Under Jeff Riley the Blackcats utilized their inside game, rarely willing to run, and certainly not a perimeter team.

Riley is gone, and new coach Gordon Parido has already expressed his interest in a running, full court type team which will attempt to take advantage of the three-point jumpshot.

"I like to get it up and down the court, and play full court pressure defense," Parido said. "We will probably be more suited for wide open style rather than being a control team."

"We will try to utilize the three-point shot, too," Parido continued. "The kids like to shoot it, and I always like new ideas and experience with new things."

Parido was given an opportunity to bring his style to Prestonsburg High School last week when principal Robert May recommended him, and the Floyd County School Board agreed to hire him.

"He's impressive. I think he'll do a good job," Robert May speculated. "He impressed me as both a teacher and a basketball coach."

Experience isn't a problem. Parido served as an assistant coach at Mullins for four years, before accepting the head coaching chores at the Pike County school this past year. Parido led Mullins, a school not exactly known for it's tremendous basketball program, to a 12-14 record.

Making the switch from Mullins to Prestonsburg is a move Gordon Parido looks forward to.

"I'm tickled to death about coming here," Parido said this past week. "Prestonsburg is a bigger school, and a school that has a better chance of winning a regional tournament. This isn't something that I think will happen this year, but it is certainly a future possibility."

Prestonsburg is a school experiencing a possible transition in it's basketball program. Only two players who drew starting assignments this past season will return for the 1987-88 year. Thomas Nairn, a fiery 5'10" guard-forward, and Todd Justice, a 6'1" forward, will bring experience to next year's squad, even though both will be only juniors.

"I'm somewhat familiar with the program because we played them three times this past season, but their big guns, David Martin, Brian Wallace, and Brent Music, will be gone. "It looks like this will be a young year, and a rebuilding year."

"It's going to be a tough year because we will be young, and we will be playing possibly the toughest schedule in the region," Parido explained.

Although the new Blackcat coach isn't expecting any great accomplishments in upcoming season, he does say that the material to build with is available.

"Prestonsburg is a good athletic school, even though it is known as a football school," Parido said. "They have enough good athletes to go around, because to play football you have to be a good athlete."

Prestonsburg High School has in fact earned the reputation as a football school, but the basketball program isn't exactly a side attraction. From 1983 through 1985, the Blackcats advanced to the regional tournament all three years, and finished with a winning combined record the following two seasons.

Parido, however, isn't looking just to make an appearance, he is hoping to win a regional tournament, something that has never happened at Prestonsburg.

"To get that done you have to have the community involved," Parido said. "The kids have to want to play, and we'll need to get the grade schools involved in our program."

"I'm not going to go in and try to tell anyone how to do their job, but we'll need their support, and to get their players familiar with our program. "In order to have a successful program, we'll need the whole community behind us, and we'll have to have their support."

The Prestonsburg program may not take on a totally different look. Jeff Burchett, an assistant under Jeff Riley for two years with the Blackcats, is expected to be once again offered an assistant coaching position.

Parido says he hasn't talked to anyone about who his assistants might be, but adds that Burchett will more than likely be the first in line for the job if he desires the position.

The Blackcats will graduate four of their starters from last season's team, and with it goes most of their height. Parido doesn't have much experience or physical size returning but expects to compensate for this with fast tempo play, and tough defense.

at the boy, he immediately knew the young man was as shocked as the father himself.

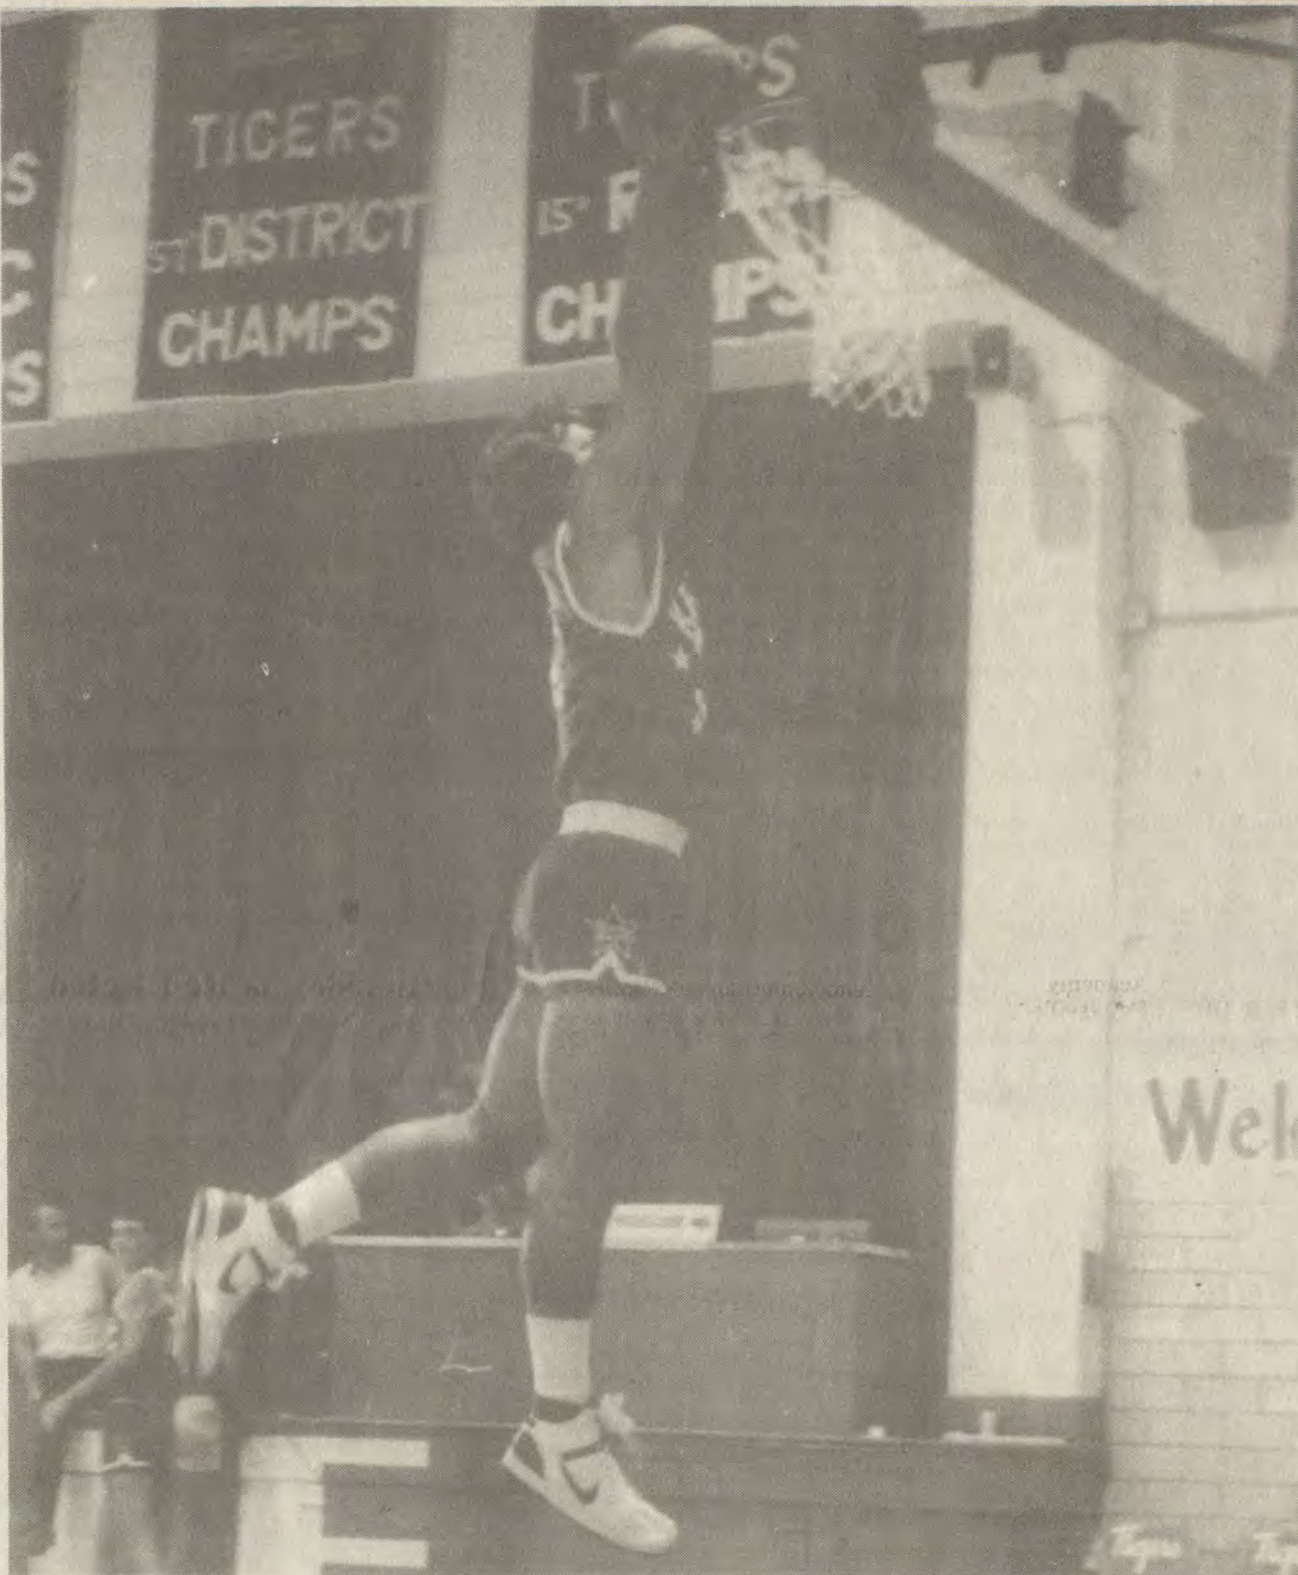

Inside the cozy house, the girl finally regained her composure. "We went to the football game, or that's what they called it," she began to explain.

"First of all they played it on a pasture, something like where Grandpa keeps his cows, but this pasture had things to sit on around one side, and a building around the other side."

"All of a sudden, the girl continued, some of the people there rose to their feet, and began to cheer as a bunch of boys ran out of that building and began jumping on each other."

"Not long after that some other people rose to their feet as another bunch of boys ran out of that building, and

Johnny Ray Turner Selected As McDowell Basketball Coach

It was considered by many to be a routine action. The Floyd County School Board was expected to confirm what most people had rumored to become reality, the acceptance of Johnny Ray Turner as the new McDowell Daredevil basketball coach.

The school board had different intentions. Pete Grigsby was the school board's choice for coach, athletic director, and grade school principal.

McDowell residents won their battle, and Johnny Ray Turner is in fact the new Daredevil basketball coach for the 1987-88 season.

"He was the one I wanted. He's the one I recommended," Frazier continued. "He is a good individual, and he knows basketball. The students already respect him, and I think he will do a good job."

Turner, a former head coach at Salyersville High School, will replace former coach Ricky Hall, who resigned his post immediately following the regular season.

"I'm excited about it," Turner said about his new job. "I coached at Salyersville, and I coached the girls' team here. I'm enthused about getting back into it."

Enthusiasm about joining the McDowell basketball program at this point is easy to understand. The Daredevils, although they suffered down seasons over the past several years, have a talented squad to work with.

Led by Lenny Hall, and Dickie Joe Shannon, McDowell could have their best prospective team of the 1980s. Hall, a senior to be, averaged almost 15 points and 10 rebounds per outing. Shannon, as a sophomore, scored in double figures while serving as a strong rebounder from his guard position.

"I don't think we'll have a state tournament team, or anything like that, but we should be competitive," Turner said about the team he is inheriting. "I would hope that we can win somewhere around 15 games, and have a good showing in the district tournament."

Turner isn't expecting himself to make drastic changes in McDowell's basketball success, but admits that the Daredevils' future looks bright.

"Two years from now is when we should have a really strong team," the coach projected. "We've got only one junior from last year that started, and Lance Hall also played some as a junior, but other than that we are pretty much a sophomore, and freshman team."

"They've got a big freshman, the Shelton boy, who is about 6'5", and he really impressed me," Turner complimented. Dickie Joe Shannon is only a sophomore, and prospective point guard Henry Webb will be in his second year next season. Also Jesse Osborne saw playing time this past season as a sophomore.

This group, along with senior Scott Tackett, is expected to battle for playing time next year on a team that Johnny Ray Turner says will run, and run some more.

"Every coach has his own style, so we may change a few things," Turner revealed. "We will be more of a running team than they were the past couple of years. We'll get it out, and move it up and down the court."

Turner brings to McDowell his experience of being a head coach at Salyersville, and the main man with the Lady Daredevils.

At Salyersville High School, he earned the respect of his players, even though talent and support was not on his side.

"I'm glad he got the job," Harrison Helton, a Turner coached player, said. "He's a fine coach and a fine man."

After leaving the Magoffin County school, Johnny Ray Turner took command of McDowell's girls program where, in six years he led the Lady Daredevils to five regional tournament appearances.

"Coaching the girls' team just isn't the same as coaching the boys," Turner said. "The interest, and support isn't as great as it is for the boys' program."

If it's crowd support Turner wants then he came to the right place. McDowell basketball fans have earned the reputation as being among the best in the state.

"They just like basketball here," Turner explained. "These fans do a great job in supporting their team, and if they will support a losing team then they will certainly support a winner."

"I don't expect any problems from the fans, because I know most of them. I'm sure there will be some negative people, but hard work and a winning team will change that."

Turner has already made some moves that he expects will improve McDowell's quality of play. The new head man has, in his words, scheduled a tougher schedule than McDowell has played in recent years, and thinks this should help in the long run.

The talent is there. A capable coach is on hand, and if each can combine as one the McDowell Daredevils may just in fact regain what their fans have been waiting for, the success of the 1970's.

The Sporting Times

A boy from Prestonsburg, along with his Magoffin county girlfriend, departed from Salyersville early one Friday evening in search of some fun and good times.

The girl, a Magoffin County High School student, had never seen a football game and actually knew nothing about football. In fact, she had never heard of the sport.

In light of these factors, the Prestonsburg boy thought it would be an excellent idea to take his date to a Blackcat football game.

Not long after they left, the two returned to the girl's Salyersville home. Much to the surprise of the father, his daughter was sobbing, looking as if she had just faced death, or something even worse. "Oh father, it was terrible," she exclaimed, falling into his arms. Looking

Senior Babe Ruth Announces Roster Change, Tough Slate

The Floyd county senior Babe Ruth roster took a sudden and unexpected change in personnel this past week.

Betsy Layne pitcher Randall Spurlock, after going through the initial tryout, announced that he would leave the local squad in favor of Pikeville's American Legion team.

Spurlock was expected to be one of Floyd county's top pitchers, but the blow was lessened when Roger Horne decided to play in his home county this summer.

Horne, a shortstop and pitcher for Donnie Daniels and Allen Central this year, should add defensive strength up the middle, strong mound performances, and a potent bat.

Another Betsy Layne product, Dwight Jarrell, also left the local senior Babe Ruth squad, but under different circumstances. Due to a change in family plans, Jarrell returned to his Ohio home for the summer, taking with him a strong arm in the outfield and solid offensive capabilities.

To fill Jarrell's spot on the roster, McDowell's senior pitcher Mark Perkins arrived on the scene. Perkins enjoyed success this past season as a Daredevil, and could strengthen Floyd county's catching corps.

Horne, however, joined the senior Babe Ruth squad before the final roster had been submitted, making the total of players to be carried an even 20.

With both Spurlock and Jarrell going elsewhere, and due to a lack of any interested county players, Frank Osborne has been added to the final list of senior Babe Ruth players.

Osborne, Paintsville High School's cleanup hitter this year, is a heavy hitter who has expressed interest in playing for Floyd county.

With Osborne joining the squad, the roster has been finally filled, totalling 20 players.

The Charlie Adkins coached performer is a heavy hitter who could spell offensive relief as a designated hitter and probable part-time first baseman.

Osborne could very well be the second first baseman, spelling Brad Hall, while seeing considerable action as a designated hitter. One of the top left-handed hitters in the region, Osborne is certainly a nice addition to an otherwise Floyd county squad.

Floyd county's senior Babe Ruth squad will open it's summer season tonight (Wednesday) with a doubleheader with Knott County on the road.

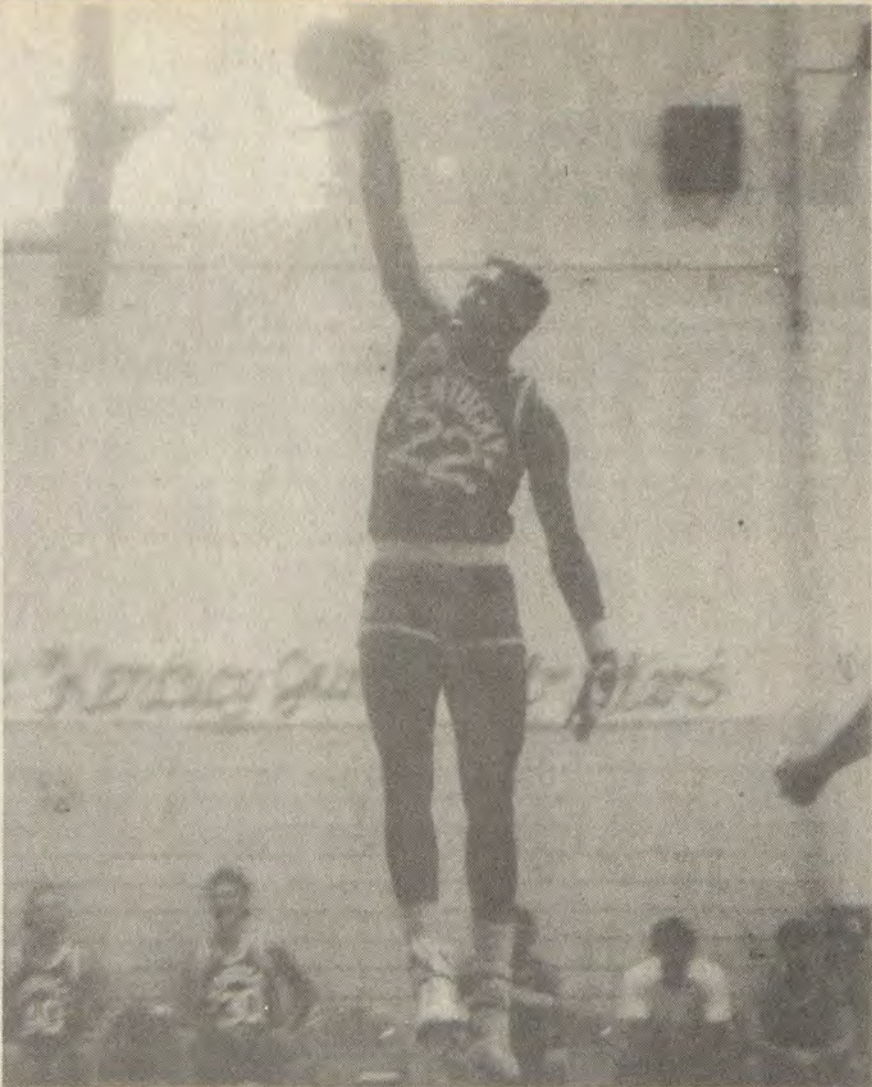

Today will mark the beginning of a tough 1987 schedule which includes a pair of doubleheaders against Ashland, two doubleheaders with one of the state's top American Legion squads, Morehead and Coach Don Harden.

The local squad will also hook up with Pikeville's American Legion squad in a late season double-header, and possible games with the Catlettsburg-Boyd County.

Only 14 games have been scheduled thus far, but at least 20 are hoped to be played before the summer comes to a close.

Floyd county's senior Babe Ruth program, for players between the ages of 16 and 18, was established for the sole purpose of giving local talent an opportunity to play this summer.

All reports confirm that the program, in it's initial year of existence, has gotten off to an impressive start. Although no games have been played yet, the team has been well supported by area businesses, but continued support is a necessity if the program is to progress.

TWO IN A BIG WAY: Kentucky Junior all-star Rick Henry slams in two of his team high 21 points Friday night. Henry, a 6'4" swingman, plays regularly for Louisville-Waggoner.

Kentucky Afield... Deer Harvest Sets New Record

Ten Kentucky counties reported over 1,000 deer taken by gun or bow during the 1986 deer season. A new statewide harvest record was also set for the 10th consecutive year.

The 1986 total harvest was 43,524 deer, including wildlife management areas, Land Between The Lakes (LBL), Ft. Campbell, Bluegrass Army Depot and Ft. Knox. Of these special public hunting areas, Ft. Knox was by far the highest reporting area with 2,148 deer taken.

Of the 10 counties reporting over 1,000 deer harvested, eight are located in the western part of the state. Ohio County was the top harvest county with 1,915 deer taken, followed by Christian, Hopkins and Muhlenberg counties each reporting over 1,500 deer harvested. The other four Western Kentucky counties where over 1,000 deer were taken per county were Breckinridge, Butler, Crittenden and Logan counties.

Over 10,000 more deer were taken in 1986 than in 1985. Although this seems a drastic harvest increase over a period of one year, John Phillips, deer program coordinator, feels that the program "has been surprisingly successful in this short period of time." It is this success that will allow more liberal deer harvest regulations in some zones for the 1987 season.

The remaining two counties found in the northcentral part of the state were Henry County, which reported 1,327 deer harvested, and Owen county, which tallied 1,171 deer harvested.

Many counties in the western and northcentral portions of the state have been zoned to allow from three to 10 days of either sex hunting at the beginning of the 1987 season. This is an effort to reduce the deer herd in those counties.

According to Phillips, there are two major reasons why these counties were zoned with more doe days to reduce deer numbers. First, deer populations and reported incidents of crop depredation are high in these areas.

Second, and more important, Zone One counties which will have 10 doe days, and Zone Two counties which will have six doe days, have relatively low deer hunting pressure. Since there are fewer deer hunters in these areas, more doe days are needed to effectively reduce the herd.

Zones 4-5 are designed to stabilize the deer herd and zones 6-9 are designed to allow an increase in deer populations.

"In a lot of those counties (western) I look for the deer harvest to peak next year and maybe never be higher than it will be in 1988," said Phillips.

Phillips also said that the greatest area of growth is happening in the north-eastern part of the state right now and that he is projecting between 58,000-61,000 deer to be harvested statewide in 1988.

"Our resident statewide herd is about 295,000 currently. We want the rest of the growth to come from the southcentral and eastern portions of the state, which seems to be what we're getting," Phillips said.

The peak of fawn birth comes this week. Young deer, although they sometimes seem to be lost or abandoned, should be left alone. Phillips said that the does will take care of their offspring and that fawns should not be captured and kept as pets.

Hensley Is Re-Elected To 7th District Post

Doug Hensley, of Hazard, was recently re-elected as the representative of seventh district hunters on the state Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission, a citizens' panel that oversees the state Tourism Cabinet's Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. He received 651 votes, while the second-place candidate, John Redwine, of Sandy Hook, received 181. The election was held June 1 at Knott County High School.

jumped on each other too."

With a deep breath the girl continued her story.

"After we came back from getting a pop, 11 of those people from each bunch lined up across from each other, and started exchanging growls."

"One of those boys walked up and straddled over this funny looking round thing. Then one of his buddies came up and pinched him on the rear. This must have made all the other boys mad because the biggest fight I ever saw broke out. What made it worse was when everyone there stood up and clapped because they were fighting."

In an unrelated story, a Louisville Cardinal defensive lineman went in search of employment for the summer. His search took him to a paving company just three miles from his dorm room.

Looking down at the owner of the paving company the big lineman growled, "I want a job for the summer."

The boss looked up from his desk, and directly into the deep set eyes of the football player. Closely examining the massive body that shadowed over him, the boss quickly added him to the company's payroll, assigning the big guy to the paint crew.

His first day of work brought great reviews. The big lineman had painted 10 miles of highway stripes. The boss was thrilled, but it didn't last long.

The second day brought only five miles, and his third day of work produced two miles and a half.

"Whats wrong," the boss asked after calling his newest employee into his office. "The first day you painted 10 miles. The second day you painted only five miles, and today you only painted two miles and a half."

"Huh, you should already know the answer to that," the football player shot back. "The further I paint means the further I have to walk back to the paint bucket."

In baseball news, a young pitcher, fed up with his financial standing, decided to take his contract requests to the top himself.

Storming into the general manager's office the pitcher stated, "If I'm not paid a million dollars a year I'm going to leave this dump behind. I'll demand to be traded."

With all the seriousness he could muster, the general manager lifted his eyes to meet those of the disturbed young hurler. In a soft but stern voice, the man began to speak.

"How did this team do this past season," the general manager asked.

"Well, we finished last in our division," answered the pitcher.

The general manager leaned back in his chair, put his hands behind his head, and said, "If you want to leave, just take off. We can finish last without you."

In yet another baseball item, a player was hoping to make a summer league tryout. After going through the workout, the player and coach sat down to talk.

Although the coach was impressed with his ability, he still wanted to test the player's common sense. "If I took my finger and poked it in your eye what would you be?"

"I guess I would be half-blind," the player answered.

"Okay. If I took two fingers and poked them in both of your eyes what would you be then?"

"I guess I would be totally blind," the player answered.

"Okay. You're on this team," the coach told the player. "Come back day after tomorrow."

The player went home happy, even though he was a bit confused. The line of questioning had left him wary of the coach.

Upon arriving at home the player was bombarded by questions from his brother, who had a tryout with the same team the next day.

"They are so dumb up there," the player told his brother. "Whatever they ask you, just answer, half blind and totally blind."

After his workout the brother began fielding questions from the coach. "If I took my knife out and cut your right ear off what would you be?"

"I guess I would be half blind," the brother answered.

The coach was stumped, but he continued his questioning.

"If I took my knife out and cut both your ears off what would you be then?"

"I guess I would be totally blind," the brother answered again.

To the point of total amazement the coach asked, "Son, I cut your ears off. How does that make you blind?"

"Well, without my ears I wouldn't have anything to hold my hat out of my eyes and I wouldn't be able to see."

Join us again next week as we will once again publish a story for your enjoyment, and information.

And once again, thank you for your support.

With his Vandy scholarship intact, he represents the third player from the 1987 Paintsville squad to sign with a major college baseball program.

Rightfielder Jarred Gray, and catcher Lance Daniel this past week signed with Western Kentucky University.

Vince Tucker has been named as Betsy Layne High School football coach, replacing Jack Hall who was fired recently by the Floyd County School Board.

Tucker served as an assistant to Hall this past season, the first ever winning one for the Betsy Layne Bobcats.

Last Wednesday the school board made Tucker his own boss when they selected him as the man to replace Jack Hall. Tucker's football experience can't be challenged, although he has not served as a head coach before.

Tucker, during his playing days, served as an intimidating linebacker in the Ohio Valley Conference while playing with the same fire he is expected to drill into his players.

The youthful coach is stepping into an accomplished program at Betsy Layne. The Bobcats are coming off their most successful season ever, and even though the Bobcats will be entering one of the toughest districts in the state, plus making the transition from single A to 2A, they are expected to enjoy another solid season.

Tucker, with the exception of quarterback Bud Newsome, will have returning all his skill position starters.

The new Bobcat head football coach was unavailable for an interview.

Ivan Lendl, the number one seed, and the number one ranked player in the world, proved why he is rated as the best in the world of tennis.

Lendl captured his third French Open title, Sunday, defeating Mats Wilander 7-5, 6-2, 3-6, 7-6, in the championship match.

In the women's final round, Steffie Graf upset Martina Navratilova to capture that title in Saturday's championship match.

Golf pro Tom Kite enjoyed Sunday afternoon's results, as both a player and a fan. Kite, a big Boston Celtic supporter, enjoyed the news from the Boston Garden as his Celtics defeated Los Angeles 109-103 to climb back into contention with the Lakers.

After Boston at least prevented a sweep, Kite proceeded to further his successful day by winning the Kenper open by seven strokes.

Bassin' With the Pros... Paying Attention To Protection

Bass have a six month spawning season: it starts in February in Florida and Alabama and continues through June in the northern U.S. and southern Canada. It's also important to know that largemouth bass need a water temperature of 62 degrees and small-mouth 59 degrees to spawn.

Additionally, all bass in a given body of water don't spawn at the same time. There is generally a five or six week period in which they spawn, so the three periods of pre-spawn, spawn and post-spawn can be found on any given body of water during the six week period. Another rule of thumb to remember is that six out of 10 bass spawn on the first full moon, and the spawning on the moon cycle generally starts three days before the full moon.

This is one of the best times of year to catch a trophy bass. Both the males and females are on the nest. The female, the larger of the species, is only on the nest for about five days; the male guards the nest for nearly a month. It is at spawning time that the protective instinct works to the advantage of the bass angler. This protective instinct makes both the male and female hit intruders out of a sense of protection of the nest area; they do not hit out of hunger or anger necessarily. The exception to this is at dawn when the bass tries to eat.

According to David Wharton, member of the Johnson Outboard Pro Staff, the best way to present a lure to the bass on the nest is to throw it in the nest and leave it there.

"You don't have to do anything with it, you just throw it in the nest and leave it there until the bass does something with it. Sooner or later, they're going to pick it up and move it out of the nest or they're going to hit, or they're going to do something with it," Wharton states.

What are some of the best lures to use? "There are two different lures that work on spawning bass," Wharton stresses. "One of them is a lizard, a plastic lizard. That's one of the standby lures. Another one that has worked very well and will probably continue to do so is a bait called a Fat Gitzit." Of course, several pros also suggest using a plastic worm and crawling it through the nesting area.

Getting a heavily loaded bass boat with two fishermen on board up on plane on a hot day can be a real problem with many three-blade props. OMC Parts & Accessories has introduced a solution to the problem with its new OMC Shooter four-blade propeller. The OMC Shooter features a combination over-and-through the hub exhaust design that allows a controlled amount of exhaust gas to ventilate around the entire circumference of the prop hub. The result is higher r.p.m. on take-off for faster "out-of-the-hole" performance. Johnson® and Evinrude® Outboards dealers offer the OMC Shooter in 23-, 25- and 27-inch pitches.

“Run-By-The River” Plans Finalized

The tenth running of the "Rail City Run-By-The-River," a 10,000 meter foot race sponsored by the East Greenup County Kiwanis Club and the Super-America division of Ashland Oil, will feature added awards and prizes this year. SuperAmerica gift certificates will be given to each of 13 age-group division winners, and each entrant will be eligible in a drawing for a $100 Super-America gift certificate. Medals will be awarded to the three top finishers in each age group, and trophies to the overall male and female winners. T-shirts will also be given to all entrants.

The race begins at 9 a.m. on June 13 at the Russell Elementary School in downtown Russell. Registration will start at 7:30 a.m. The course is flat, and winds through downtown Russell, then along a scenic riverside road to Worthington. The finish is in front of the school, and features computerized results. SuperAmerica Man will be on hand to participate in the awards ceremony.

Entry forms are available at local SuperAmerica stores, running clubs, YMCA's and schools. Information and entry forms can also be obtained by calling Grant Jensen, Race Chairman, at 606/329-5591 during the day or 606/836-8594 in the evening. The proceeds from the race, as in years past, will be used by the East Greenup County Kiwanis Club to buy shoes for underprivileged children.

Reds Watch '87

Dave Parker Leads Cincinnati Down Exciting Comeback Trail

The Big Red Machine of the 1970's was known as a comeback team, a team that was down but never out of a baseball game, regardless of the score.

Those Cincinnati Reds' teams that combined to form the Big Red Machine era of domination is still recognized today as some of the best teams ever assembled.

Many people in professional baseball circles enjoy comparing the 1987 version of the Reds to the Big Red Machine, and with accomplishments already achieved, who is to disagree?

One area that can't be disputed when the comparison is mentioned...the ability to come back after being way down.

Twice in four games the Cincinnati Reds came from six runs down to earn a victory, once over Los Angeles, and again against second placed San Francisco.

Friday night the Dodgers beat up on Cincinnati pitching ace Bill Gullickson, knocking out the Reds righthander after two and one third innings while jumping out to a 6-0 lead.

A six-run deficit wouldn't have bothered the Big Red Machine, and it didn't bother the team that has been compared to the Reds of the golden past.

Cincinnati scored three runs in the fifth inning, and one in the sixth to get close. Eric Davis' three-run homerun in the seventh inning supplied the big blow in the four-run scoring frame as the Reds went on to post an 8-6 come-from-behind victory.

Davis' 20th home run also enabled Guy Hoffman to earn another victory out of Cincinnati's potent bullpen, his fourth of the season.

Saturday afternoon Cincinnati also came back, but from only one run down. After Los Angeles managed one run off starter Ted Power, the Reds scored five of their own in the third. Barry Larkin, with a rare but key hit, doubled in two runs, and later scored when Dave Parker singled in the same inning.

Nick Esasky, probably Cincinnati's hottest hitter, capped the rally off with another two run double, the Reds second of the inning. Esasky, since his callup from Nashville, has hit almost .300 with six homeruns and 18 RBIs.

Ted Power did the rest.

In gaining his first complete game performance of the season, and only the Reds third, Power surrendered only three hits, struck out six, and walked two as Cincinnati stretched their winning streak to four, downing Los Angeles 5-2.

Basketball Camps Held At Alice Lloyd

The First Annual Sharpshooters Basketball Camps will be held on the campus of Alice Lloyd College where Joe Stepp, ALC head basketball coach, and Jim Stepp, assistant basketball coach, will conduct a high quality basketball camp for local students.

The first camp began Monday, June 8, and will continue through Friday, June 12, for boys in grades 1-6. The second camp begins Monday, June 15, and will run through Friday, June 19, for boys in grades 6-9. The last camp will be held Monday, June 22, through Friday, June 26, for girls in grades 3-9.

According to Coach Stepp, "We are very pleased with the response to our first Sharpshooters Camps program. The participation from parents in our area has been great. We think the camps will be beneficial to the boys and girls who attend. Jim and I also think they will have an enjoyable time while they are learning the fundamental skills of basketball."

The camps are designed to offer high quality basketball experiences in which youngsters can learn fundamental basketball skills in a competitive atmosphere, while at the same time making the sport entertaining and enjoyable. Some of the activities provided for the participants are: 5 on 5 play, 3 on 3 play, Hot Shot competition, and free throw competition. In addition, the participants have daily access to the college's swimming pool. At the end of the week, special awards will be given to those who excel in the various skills categories.

The camps are averaging about 28 students per camp. If there are students who wish to participate in one of the remaining camps, they should contact Coach Stepp at (606) 368-2101 ext. 211.

PAN BOWL AND FISH POND LAKES LOOKING GOOD FOR BASS

Following an electrofishing session at Pan Bowl and Fish Pond lakes, Eastern Fishery District Biologist Ed Carroll reports that both lakes have good bass populations and should provide eastern Kentucky bass anglers with some excellent fishing this season.

Carroll also said earlier spring studies showed that walleye stocked in Paintsville Lake exhibited spawning movement into the headwaters of Paintsville, although most of these fish were subadult. This is good news for walleye fishermen and the Eastern Fishery District if these fish will begin to reproduce naturally.

The most popular dessert in American restaurants is apple pie.

Their streak didn't last long though, mainly due to another unsuccessful outing from Jerry Reuss.

Reuss, 0-4 with over an 8.00 earned run average, has yet to produce for Cincinnati, and against the team, LA, that released him, the veteran lefthander was shelled again.

The Dodgers sent Reuss to the showers after two and two-thirds innings, then proceeded to thump Cincinnati 13-7.

The 13 runs, and 17 hits were both single game highs for Los Angeles this season, and were the most hits and runs the Reds have given up in any one game this year.

Bob Welch, the recipient of the Dodgers generous offense, won his eighth game against only two losses. Although the Dodgers gained a game on Cincinnati, the Reds continued to stay two games up on second placed San Francisco, who were shutout Sunday by Houston and Nolan Ryan 3-0.

The thrashing that the Dodgers gave Cincinnati didn't have any lasting efforts, not on anyone but Reds starting pitcher Tom Browning.

Browning is another Reds pitcher that has had his problems getting people out, especially over the course of a nine-inning game. Monday night against San Francisco, Browning retired the Giants on four pitches in the first inning, but the two frames that followed wasn't as favorable for the Cincinnati lefty.

The Giants scored four runs in the second inning, and two more in the third to send Browning to the bench, and the Reds down by six runs.

Over the next six innings, the Cincinnati bullpen threw nothing but scoreless innings, giving the Reds' potent offensive attack a chance to get after Mike LaCoss.

LaCoss, a former Red himself, has enjoyed success with the Giants, 6-2 this season, and the lanky righthander easily handled his former team through four innings, giving up a single run in the fourth, but LaCoss failed to survive the fifth inning.

Cincinnati scored four runs on four hits in that fifth inning, two on Dave Parker's 14th long ball of the season, to pull back to within one run of San Francisco.

While Frank Williams, Rob Murphy, Ron Robinson, and John Franco were holding the Giants intact, the Reds were waiting for their final time at bat.

Against Scott Garrelts in the bottom of the ninth inning, Cincinnati sent up the top of their order. After Kal Daniels coaxed a walk, and Barry Larkin collected his second sacrifice bunt of the game, Eric Davis worked Garrelts for his second walk of the inning.

Roger Craig then went deeper into his bullpen, bringing on lefty Keith Comstock to face the lefthanded hitting Dave Parker. On Comstock's first official pitch to the plate, Parker drilled a line drive off the center field wall, scoring both Daniels and Davis to give Cincinnati their third come-from-behind win in their last four games. This time it came at the expense of the Giants, 7-6.

John Franco, 3-1, worked a scoreless ninth inning to pick up the victory.

With the win Cincinnati, 33-23, moved another game up on San Francisco, now leading the Giants by three games. (This was before last night's game with the Giants.)

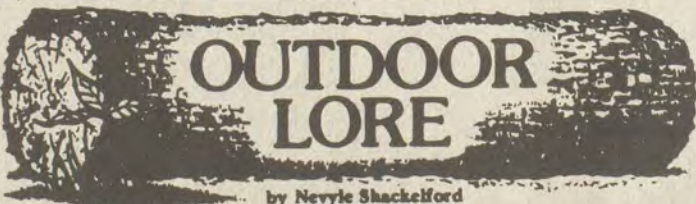

The Reds will wrap up their three-game series with San Francisco tonight, before welcoming in the Atlanta Braves, playing the Braves four games this weekend.

Cincinnati, with the exception of some bad starting pitching outings, appears to be playing their best baseball of the 1980s, and one reason is outfielder Eric Davis. The no longer budding young superstar has hit 20 home runs already, and has stolen 25 bases.

With over 100 games left, Davis, if he remains healthy, is a sure shot to rewrite baseball history books. No player has ever hit 40 home runs, and stolen 40 bases before. Davis is well over the pace in both areas.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Did you ever sit in the shade of a tree on a hot summer day and wonder why it was so much cooler there than in the shadow of a building?

According to experts in this sort of thing, the cooling of the air under the tree is caused by the continual evaporation of water from the leaves. The hotter the day, the more rapid the evaporation. Scientists estimate that a good-sized tree will give off over 25,000 gallons of moisture during a summer season. This is enough to cover the ground under the tree with more than a foot of water. So the moral of this item is—if you would have a cool house in summer, plant trees around it. They will serve as natural air conditioners and save energy.

All of us gardeners talk about manure and generally we think of it as something that comes from the barnyard. The derivation of the word, however, indicates something different. Etymologists say the word "manure" comes from the two Latin words, "manus" (hand) and "operor" (to work). Combining the words, the Normans called it "malnooperer," meaning "work the soil by hand."

Incidentally, according to soil specialists, the meaning is still sound. Thorough and frequent cultivation of the soil is excellent manure.

Because of its nature, this column is often on the receiving end of requests for information concerning the outdoors, one of the most recent was, "Why on earth does an old hen turn her head from side to side when she looks at you?"

Not knowing the answer exactly, the question was passed on to a colleague who is a veterinarian. He wasn't sure of the answer either, but passed along the educated guess that ran something like this: (If we misquote, we are sorry).

The reason a hen turns her head from side to side when she looks at you is that her eyes are so positioned that direct vision in front is impossible. Therefore the head must be turned so that the object to be viewed is within the angle of vision of one of the eyes.

The head is again turned to check the accuracy of that eye's vision with the other eye. Then, too, the turning of the head enables the hen to get a complete view of the immediate locality. By looking at a person or an object first with one eye and then with the other the old hen accomplishes two things—she verifies what she sees with each eye and she satisfies the age-old instinct of self-preservation by constant watching for possible danger.

Tennis Tourney Slated July 1-5 at Archer Park

The First Commonwealth Bank of Prestonsburg is sponsoring a tennis tournament July 1-5 at Archer Park. Players may enter mixed doubles and one singles and one doubles event. Separate classes will be set up for males and females.

Trophies will be awarded to first and second place finishers and souvenir t-shirts for each entrant. Events must have six entrants or the classes will be combined, and combined events with less than six entrants will be cancelled.

All matches will be the best of three sets. A 12-point tiebreaker will be used for any set that is 6-6 in games. All time conflicts must be forwarded to the tournament committee at the time of resignation. Parental consent is required for participants under 18 years of age.

Class B & C events will begin Wednesday, July 1. Mixed doubles will be July 2, and A events, July 3. Players should be available for matches from 5:30 to 11 p.m., Wednesday through Friday; from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m., Saturday, and from 2 to 9 p.m., Sunday.

Deadline for registration is 6 p.m., Monday, June 29. For more information contact Kaye Willis at 886-2552, or mail to Don and Kaye Willis, 670 Burke Avenue, Prestonsburg 41653.

Babe Ruth Baseball News

The race for 1st seems to be between Prestonsburg and Harold. Prestonsburg hitter Floyd Compton this week has 3 over the fence home runs. Two of which was in one game against Wheelwright. While Brian Meadows hitting average is .786 going 11 for 14. Brian also is 3 wins and no losses as a pitcher. Harold who is in 1st place had a near death score put in them Sunday as the 6th place Lackey team had a 1 run lead going into the last of the 7th. But Harold's hitter's come thru and scored 2 runs to take the victory. Lackey is getting experience and will get better. B.J. Aldrich and Robert Thacker had a good day at the plate with B.J. going 3 for 4 and Robert going 3 for 3. Joey Gray pitched an excellent game with 5 strike outs and 4 walks. Lackey's young team collected only 4 errors. Sorry no stats given for Harold or the rest of the teams.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., June 8—Fishing activity over the June 6-7 weekend was reported light to moderate across the state as unusually hot weather and bright, sunny skies discouraged many anglers and drove fish into deeper water. Fishing was best early and late in the day or at night. Black bass, catfish, bluegill and trout were reported as the species most often caught. The lake-by-lake rundown, as reported by conservation officers or creel clerks at each lake:

KENTUCKY: Creel Clerk Buddy Boyd reports that white bass were hitting deep running crank baits in currents around sand bars in 7-15 feet of water; black bass were hitting plastic worms and jigs off deep rocky points 8-12 feet deep; clear, stable at summer pool and 82 degrees.

BARKLEY: Creel Clerk Norman Brantley reports that black bass were hitting plastic worms along drop-offs 5-15 feet deep; white bass were hitting slab spoons over old river banks from the surface to 15 feet deep; clear, stable at summer pool and 83 degrees.

BARREN RIVER: Creel Clerk Ralph Shipley reports that black bass were hitting plastic worms and top water lures off rocky points from the surface to 12 feet deep; bluegill were hitting crickets off steep bluffs 6-15 feet deep; in the tailwaters, trout were active on red worms and catfish were hitting minnows and nightcrawlers; clear, stable at summer pool and 85 degrees.

NOLIN: Conservation Officer James Shipp reports that bluegill were hitting crickets off rocky banks 3-5 feet deep; black bass were hitting plastic worms and spinner baits at night off banks and points 3-8 feet deep; clear, stable at summer pool and 84 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER: Conservation Officer Gerry Rau reports that bluegill were hitting red worms and crickets off rocky banks 2-4 feet deep; crappie were hitting minnow and jigs in open water 10-15 feet deep; in the tailwaters, some crappie were being caught on jigs; clear, stable at summer pool and 83 degrees.

TAYLORSVILLE: Creel Clerk Bruce Raine reports that black bass were taking plastic worms and crank baits anywhere in the lake from about 2-8 feet of water; bluegill were hitting red worms and crickets off shallow banks 1-3 feet deep; clear to murky, stable at summer pool and 82 degrees.

HERRINGTON: Conservation Officer J.O. Burkhead reports that catfish were hitting worms and cut bait over river channels on the bottom; black bass were fair on plastic worms during the day and spinners and crank baits at night off points 1-6 feet deep; bluegill were hitting crickets and meal worms off steep banks 4-9 feet deep; clear to murky, six feet below summer pool and 78 degrees.

GREEN RIVER: Creel Clerk John Williams reports that bluegill were taking nightcrawlers and red worms off rocky banks 6-12 feet deep; crappie were hitting minnows over submerged cover in 5-15 feet of water; murky stable at summer pool and 82 degrees.

CUMBERLAND: Conservation Officer Mike Bowman reports that walleye were hitting nightcrawler/spinner combinations trolled along muddy banks 10-20 feet deep; black bass were hitting crank baits and plastic worms off points and drop offs 5-10 feet deep; clear, falling, two feet below summer pool and 83 degrees.

DALE HOLLOW: Conservation Officer Marvin Edwards reports that black bass were hitting plastic worms and jigs at night off rocky points in 5-20 feet of water; catfish were hitting nightcrawlers and cut bait in the tributaries and were being caught on trotlines and limb lines; clear, stable at two feet above summer pool and 82 degrees.

LAUREL: Conservation Officer Bob

Delph reports that trout were hitting worms and corn at night in open water 10-30 feet deep; bluegill were active on worms and crickets over submerged cover 2-6 feet deep; some black bass were hitting spinners and surface lures late in the evening and at night; clear, falling, three feet below summer pool and 80 degrees.

CAVE RUN: Creel Clerk Sonny Kearns reports that bluegill were hitting nightcrawlers around brush piles 1-8 feet deep; musky were hitting deep running crank baits off points and over creek channels 10-20 feet deep; in the tailwaters, crappie were active on minnows and catfish were taking nightcrawlers; clear, stable at summer pool and 80 degrees.

PAINTSVILLE: Creel Clerk Jim Marshall reports that black bass were hitting crank baits around stump rows from the surface to 20 feet deep; trout were hitting nightcrawlers and red worms over submerged creek channels about 20 feet deep; clear, stable, one foot above summer pool and 81 degrees.

BUCKHORN: Conservation Officer Billy Joe Napier reports that crappie were being taken on minnows over submerged cover 4-10 feet deep; catfish were hitting live or cut bait over creek channels at various depths; clear, stable at summer pool and 79 degrees.

GRAYSON: Conservation Officer Kenny Skaggs reports that bluegill were hitting red worms off mud banks 3-4 feet deep; black bass were taking crank baits early and late long mud banks and off rocky points in about 3 feet of water; clear, stable at summer pool and 82 degrees.

DEWEY: Conservation Officer Jimmy Goble reports that bluegill were active on wax worms in the heads of creeks 1-2 feet deep; catfish were hitting cut bait over creek channels 6-8 feet deep; in the tailwaters, catfish were also taking cut bait and crappie were hitting minnows; clear to murky, stable at summer pool and 84 degrees.

FISHTRAP: Conservation Officer Don Bevins reports that black bass were hitting plastic worms off rocky banks and over drop offs 8-10 feet deep; catfish were hitting cut bait and chicken livers in the backs of coves on the bottom; clear to muddy, stable at summer pool and 80 degrees.

CAVE RUN BASS MANAGEMENT PLAN SEEMS TO BE ON TARGET

From all indications, it looks like the black bass management plan implemented at Cave Run Lake is working.

The removal of a size limit on Kentucky "spotted" bass seems to be helping the largemouth bass both in size and population, according to preliminary data collected by department biologists.

According to Lew Kornman, Northeastern Fishery District biologist, 45 percent of the largemouth collected during a recent electrofishing session were over 12 inches, and 17 percent were over 15 inches.

While there is still a good population of spotted bass, studies show that anglers are beginning to harvest these fish in good numbers after they reach about 10 inches, which is contributing to less competition for forage for largemouth and smallmouth.

Kornman also said that about 76 percent of the bass collected in the upper end of the lake were largemouth versus 14 percent in the lower part of the lake, so if you're fishing largemouth at Cave Run, your chance of catching them is better towards the headwaters.

9 YEARS EXPERIENCE

452-2078 or 452-2059ACHS Outstanding Teacher

Outstanding Teacher of the Year chosen by the student body at Allen Central High School for this year is Lowell Martin.

Mr. Martin, who teaches biology, anatomy and physiology courses, has been at ACHS since the school opened in 1972. His teaching methods involve lab, lecture, and field trips. One example was of his innovative "academic bingo" which he used with his classes during the school's week-long emphasis of Academic Spirit.

To the school, Mr. Martin is known for his school pride. He has involved students, faculty, administration, staff, and the community in a variety of projects to enhance the physical environment of the school while fostering unity and pride within the school over the years. This year, the two major projects have been the construction of two mini-parks. The first park, named by Mr. Martin, "AC Shines", is a limestone rock display which reads ACHS. These letters easily distinguish the school from the road or the sky. The second park is a teacher retirement park, called "Leader's Lane", with commemorative plaques giving the name of retired teachers and their number of years of service at ACHS. Flowers and shrubs border this mini-park.

This year, activities initiated by Mr. Martin to help with funding of these projects have included a "Shoot-a-Thon" where students shot 100 baskets for sponsor-pledged money, a Christmas drawing for different community donated prizes, and a "pie splut" where students had a chance to throw a cream pie at their most beloved teacher.

In addition to these activities, Mr. Martin initiated the planting of an eight-foot Colorado blue spruce in the center of the campus for a Christmas tree and was responsible for the annual shrub and flower spring planting beautification project. In addition to holding their annual science exhibits, his students covered the school's hallways with anti-drinking and driving posters during the national alcohol/drug awareness week.

As part of his extra-curricular services, Mr. Martin keeps a record of the perfect attendance awards within the school and assures that these students receive recognition and awards. This year, he secured enough community support to give a disc drive to a graduating senior who had maintained perfect attendance for seven years.

After receiving the Outstanding Teacher Award, Mr. Martin commented that the award was not expected and that he enjoyed doing these extra projects because of their overall benefit to the students and to the school.

Mr. Martin who is completing his 24th year of teaching, attended Caney Junior College (now Alice Lloyd College) and graduated from the University of Kentucky with a double major in history and biology. In addition, he has studied at the University of Missouri at Kansas City, Mo. He taught one year in Lexington and eight years at Maytown prior to teaching at Allen Central.

Presently, Mr. Martin resides at Langley with his wife, Patricia, who is also a teacher at Maytown Grade School, and his son, Kevin.

The Outstanding Teacher Award was presented during graduation ceremonies, May 29, by Danny B. Slone, president of the Student Council and Brian Handshoe, vice-president of the Student Council. This award was initiated last year by the school's Student Council because students wanted to recognize one teacher for his or her overall contributions to the school. Criteria used for choosing the recipient included effective classroom teaching, participation in extra-curricular activities, and overall contribution to improve the school.

Stewart Is Delegate To NEA Convention

A Morehead State University graduate student in education was elected Kentucky's representative to the National Education Association convention.

Judy Stewart, of Langley, will attend a leadership conference at the University of California at Los Angeles. Stewart also will serve as a delegate to the representative assembly in Los Angeles during the last week of June.

Stewart, a 1986 honor graduate of MSU, was recognized as the Outstanding Education Graduate Student for spring 1987. She is the daughter of Frank and Joyce Stewart, of Langley.

Did you know that for centuries even ordinary glass windows were restricted to churches and castles? From 1697 to 1851, Englishmen were taxed for each window they had in their homes over the allotted six.

National Award Winner

The National Secondary Education Council has announced that Johnny Ray Harris has been named an Academic All-American.

The NSEC has established the Academic All-American Scholar Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the Academic disciplines. The Academic All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade point average.

Harris, who attends Prestonsburg High School, was nominated for this National Award by history teacher, Frank McGuire. Harris name will appear in the Academic All-American Scholar Directory, which is published nationally.

The Council selects Academic All-American Scholars upon the exclusive recommendations of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors. Once awarded, the students may be recognized by the NSEC for other honors.

Harris is the son of Brenda and Joe J. Harris and the grandson of Mrs. Anna Belle Harris, of Prestonsburg, and Dewey and Evelyn Akers, of Dana.

Water Treatment Expansion Clears First Political Hurdle

By Ron Marstin

A proposal to spend $6 million in federal funds to expand two water treatment plants and extend water lines in this county passed its first hurdle Friday, when it received the approval of a Congressional panel.

Congressman Chris Perkins announced that the Interior Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee had approved the plan, which would double the capacity of both the Prestonsburg and Beaver-Elkhorn water treatment plants and would see water lines laid on Clear Creek, Arkansas Creek, and Sizemore Mountain.

Although the plan must yet clear the full committee, and then both the House of Representatives and Senate, Perkins said the subcommittee approval was significant. "Generally, if the subcommittee approves the funds they are also approved by the full committee as well as the House," the Seventh District congressman said.

Big Sandy ADD water specialist Holly Leach predicted a political tussle in Congress over the proposal to fund the water projects out of the federal Abandoned Mine Lands (AML) reserve. The reserve is funded by coal operators to reclaim stripmines worked out and abandoned before stricter environmental safeguards were imposed in 1978.

While AML funds may be used for water projects in areas where the water table has been altered or water polluted by old mining activity, program administrators currently give higher priority to repair of landslides and other hazards of more immediate threat to life or property, Leach said.

Even so, approval of the Floyd water projects by the House subcommittee is a promising sign, the ADD official agreed. "If a project gets subcommittee approval, it often means most of the politicking has already been done," she explained.

If the appropriation is finally approved, the first phase of the Floyd project would see a $1 million extension of the Mud Creek water system down Clear Creek, from Ligon to Price. The connection would link the Mud Creek and Beaver-Elkhorn systems.

At the same time, $507,000 would be used to lay a water line from Wayland to Minnie and $529,650 to run a pipe up Arkansas Creek, both projects extending the Beaver-Elkhorn system.

Completion of the projects would bring public water service to 1,200 households, Perkins said.

In a second phase, $2.6 million would be used to run a raw water intake from Dewey Lake to the Prestonsburg Utilities water plant, doubling its capacity to six million gallons a day; in addition, a $864,000 project would almost double the capacity of the Beaver-Elkhorn plant at Allen, to two million gallons daily.

Prestonsburg currently draws all its drinking water from the Big Sandy River. Installation of a second water intake for the city system has been proposed in view of decreased river volumes expected when a new water plant begins operation soon in Pikeville. Leach said. The ribbon is scheduled to be cut June 30 to open Pikeville's six-million-gallon plant.

Mrs. Willie B. Parker

Mrs. Willie B. Parker, 86, of Princeton, died Saturday at the Highlands Regional Medical Center following a short illness. Mrs. Parker was visiting her grandson, Charles Miller, of Lancer, and was here to attend the graduation ceremonies of her great-grandson, Cliff Miller at Prestonsburg High School.

She was born May 14, 1900 at Sturgis and was a daughter of the late J.W. and Annie Quierey Carter. She was a member of the First Baptist Church at Princeton and was also a member of the Eastern Star there. She was preceded in death by her husband, Charles Arville Parker, in 1974.

Additional survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Nell A. Stone, of Clarksville, Tenn., and Charline Montgomery, of Wadesville, Ind.; a brother, Earl Carter, of Clarksville, Tenn.; four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 2 p.m. at the Morgan Funeral Home with the Rev. J. Bill Jones officiating. Burial was made in the Cedar Hill cemetery there.

Justin W. Slone

Three-year-old Justin Slone, of Hudson, Indiana, died last Thursday, at the Lutheran Hospital in Ft. Wayne, Indiana.

He was born November 25, 1983 at Angola, Indiana, a son of Wilgus Jr., and Janet Blankenship Slone, of Hudson, Indiana, formerly of this county.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his maternal grandparents, Mitch and Alpha Blankenship, of Hudson, Indiana, paternal grandmother, Maggie Slone, of Halo, and one sister, Jennifer Slone.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. at the Pentecostal Church of God at Weeksbury with Leonard Kiser officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at McDowell, under the direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

Obituaries

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ORVILLE PARSONS

Orville was born Feb. 18, 1943. On June 12, 1986, a day I will never forget, we lost a part our life that we can never replace. Life without him is so lonely. For six months he battled with cancer. He fought so hard with so much pain. But it was all in vain, with each day that passed you could see him weaken. The pain was more than he could stand. He was a brave man; he never once gave up. When friends and family came by he would always smile and say, "I'll soon be better and back at home and back at work in my store again." This was his dream and it helped to keep him alive longer.

We kept your store open just like you said! But it is just not the same. It seems so bare without you there. Everyone misses your smiling face and longs for you to be there. Our home is empty and full of tears. We will never forget you. We speak your name many times a day. The kids want to know why God took you away. We know you are in heaven and suffer no more pain. We hope some day we can be with you again. I visit your grave every day and bring pretty flowers just to say we love you and miss you in our kind of way. Yes, you were the sunshine of our home. Our lives will never be the same. You were a wonderful man, a kind and loving husband and father. Your memory will never die for us. We love you.

YOUR FAMILY, GAIL AND KEVIN AND ROBERT

PALLBEARERS LISTED

Active pallbearers for the funeral of Teddie Howell, Jr. were: Elmo Varney, Paul Chaney, Wesley Williams, Ricky D. Varney, Bobbie Williams, Larry David Chapman, Kenneth Gooslin, Mike Chapman.

Honorary pallbearers were Bruce Williamson, Brian McGuire, Mitchell Chapman, David Williams, David Parker, Rick Chapman and David Mullins.

METHODIST WOMEN MEET

The monthly meeting of the First United Methodist Women was held Monday, June 1, at 7 p.m., in the church parlor. Mrs. Dot Marshall, president, called the meeting to order and Mrs. Fannie Runnels read "The Shepherd's Psalm" with commentary, and concluded with prayer. Mrs. Nancy Holler was welcomed to the meeting, and it was noted that the District Overnight Retreat would be held at Jenny Wiley State Park, August 21-22.

Mrs. Vera Ford presented the program entitled, "Hear Us when We Pray." She was assisted by Mesdames Elizabeth Ramey, Mable Brown, Shirley Callihan, and Mabel Jean LeMaster.

Mesdames Inez Hereford and Ruth Worland, hostesses, served refreshments to Dot Marshall, Vera Ford, Shirley Callihan, Elizabeth Ramey, Mable Brown, Hope Whitten, Nancy Webb, Edna C. Greenwade, Virginia Jeffries, Geneva Carter, Victoria Spradlin, Fannie Runnels, Alice Harris, Rose Glenn, Nancy Holler, May K. Roberts, and Mabel Jean LeMaster.

The next meeting will be July 6 with Mesdames Mabel Brown and Elizabeth Ramey as hostesses and Mrs. Rose Glenn as program leader.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The City of Prestonsburg will be accepting bids through June 19 for the paving and patching of various city streets. For project information and specifications, bidders may contact Fred James, City Administrator, at 886-2335. The City reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

THANK YOU

I want to thank George Brown for writing this tribute to my Dad, Marion Setser—a son, Millard Setser.

Tribute to Marion Setser

His passing at the age of 92 years marks the end of an era beginning over three generations ago, when the timbermen came into the Big Sandy Valley. 'Tis sad to believe that in a few, short years none will be left to tell the story of how the loggers came with saw and ax to lay low one of the greatest hardwood forests in the world.

Timber companies bought from early landowners these giants of the forest for a song, sometimes setting their own price. But getting the logs to market was quite another matter, and this is where our oldtime friend came into the picture.

Born of pioneer stock, strong and hardy, he delighted in floating the big rafts to Catlettsburg and returning home via steamboat or later on the train.

I remember as a small boy, while standing on the banks of the river near Lost Creek shoal, Lawrence county, the oar of a large raft splashed the water loudly as the logs plowed through the treacherous waters. At first I was alarmed, then came the loud, clear voice of Marion Setser: "How is your grand-paw?" It was always here that he would tie up for the night, for it was here he could expect ham and red gravy with homemade biscuits and other vittles.

But the best part of the story comes last—how, in later years, Marion accepted Christ as his personal savior and became a Christian. Somehow I am made to believe there is a special place in the Great Beyond for men like Marion.

An old friend,

My Dad

I had a sweet daddy, named Sam. If you think I'm crying, I am.

On his dear old shoulder, he carried me around. How well I remember my sweet old dad, Sam.

He was my dearest friend and pal; He always called me his little gal.

When mom would spank me, I knew where to go.

I'd go to my dad, everytime, don't you know!

ANNIE ALLEN CIRCLE MEETS

The Annie Allen Circle, W.M.U., of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) met at the home of Mrs. Sarah Laven at Allen, Monday evening, June 1, at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Patsy Evans, president, conducted the meeting, and Mrs. Faye Patton led the group in prayer. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, treasurer, gave both reports.

It was decided that the story of the life and religious work of Miss Annie Allen, for whom this group is named, will be given by Mesdames Rebecca Rasnick and Lucy Regan during the August meeting. The nominating committee reported that the selection of officers for the year 1987-88 would be reported during the next meeting.

The Prayer Calendar was read by Mrs. Myrtle Allen, and the Scripture reading was by Mrs. Julia Curtis. Mrs. Ruby Garrett led the group in prayer and presented the program on "Friendship Evangelism."

The meeting closed with Mrs. Evans reading a poem entitled, "Out of the Shadows," and Mrs. Sarah Laven leading in prayer.

The hostess, Mrs. Laven, assisted by Mrs. Faye Patton and Mrs. Ruby Garrett, served a dessert, coffee and punch to Mesdames Patsy Evans, Myrtle Allen, Julia Curtis, Dolly Pettrey, Roberta Sloan, Lucy Regan, Maman Leslie, and Rebecca Rasnick.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Teddie Howell Jr. would like to take this opportunity to thank each one who helped in any way during the death of our beloved son and brother. We would especially like to thank those who sent flowers and provided food. We would also like to extend a special thanks to: Mr. Charles Morris, the staff of Johns Creek Funeral Home; the McDowell Hospital; the Regular Baptist ministers and to all the special friends of Teddie Jr. that acted as pallbearers.

Here's a fact you may find far from boring: many boards are called a sounder.

BEVERLY HILLS COP II (R-Paramount) Starring Eddie Murphy ★★

By J.T. YURKO

Eddie Murphy made enough money from "Beverly Hills Cop" to buy a good chunk of Beverly Hills. A lot of people made money on the film, and the chance to make more dictates a sequel. Re-enter Eddie Murphy as the streetwise Detroit cop Axel Foley, a stranger lost in a sea of wealth and glamour. The original "Beverly Hills Cop" did a great job of satirizing the ritz and glitz, while presenting a serviceable story of cops and robbers. And Murphy's comedic talents made the most of every gag.

But the premise is fragile, one that barely lasted through the first film. Once again, there are shots of Murphy driving down the main street of town gazing at the local inhabitants - the gorgeous women, the limousines, the bejeweled poodles. The visuals have a gaudy absurdity, but they've been seen before.

There's a new story here, but it seems strangely familiar, as if only the names were changed to protect the plagiarists. The formula is readily recognizable - a Teutonic villain, a few well-armed but closed-mouthed henchmen, a scheme involving arms smuggling, a new Beverly Hills police chief who is wrapped up in his own self-importance, etc. etc. For a little spice, throw in Brigitte Nielsen as the villain's super-woman sadistic sidekick.

But forget the story. People will go to this movie because of Eddie Murphy, not the screenplay's nuances. But even Murphy is too Murphy here - too showy and too burlesque. At least half a dozen times, Murphy "goofs" on the Beverly Hills snobs. He is a building inspector duping a construction crew, he is a dynamite delivery man, he is a parking violations officer. These little sketches amount to character shticks. All are overlong, and together they become tiresome.

The action is fast and fiery, the car chases screechy and metallic, the women all scantily clad and giggly. Welcome to summer movies at their most inane.

Cable movies run gamut — from silly to superb

By Marianne Meyer

Movies, movies, movies! If you look to cable to bring you the best of the silver screen, this is your week to pig out on popcorn and catch up with a slew of interesting titles.

Molly Ringwald

YOUNG AT HEART — The Movie Channel is targeting teens with prime-time presentations of five youth-oriented films, one for each night of the week. Starting things off on Monday, June 15, it's a blast from the past, the classic 1960 beach-party movie "Where the Boys Are," in which Dolores Hart, Yvette Mimieux, Connie Francis and Paula Prentiss travel to Ft. Lauderdale in search of sun, fun ... and guys. Next up, on June 16, is a sensitive comedy/drama, "The Sure Thing," which Rob Reiner directed before he hit it big with "Stand by Me." Molly Ringwald looks "Pretty in Pink" on June 17, in an exclusive presentation of John Hughes' rich-boy/poor-girl romance. It is followed on June 18 by Hughes' strange-boys/computer-girl sci-fi comedy "Weird Science." Last and probably least comes Emilio Estevez's overwrought adaptation of the S.E. Hinton novel "That Was Then ... This Is Now" (June 19).

MAX-IMUM MOVIES — If you've got Cinemax, you're in for a two-day movie treat as three critically acclaimed "sleepers" make their debut on this network. Wednesday, June 17, brings "My American Cousin," a gentle coming-of-age film told from the female perspective and featuring hot young Canadian actor John Wildman in the title role. Thursday, June 18, brings both "Letter to Brezhnev" and "Stranger Than Paradise," two quirky films that break from the Hollywood norm.

THE BEST FOR LAST? — Showtime caps off the week on Saturday, June 20, with an exclusive presentation of "Kiss of the Spider Woman," director Hector Babenco's brave and beautiful adaptation of Manuel Puig's celebrated Brazilian novel. William Hurt's Academy Award-winning portrayal of a self-indulgent homosexual sharing a prison cell with a revolutionary (the equally impressive Raul Julia) is an absolute must.

SOAP BEA

A Martinez shows what he can do with a lead

By Marie Michaels

The daytime soaps aren't known for presenting enduring story lines about minority characters. "Santa Barbara"'s Cruz Castillo, who is portrayed by Hispanic actor A Martinez, is an exception.

A Martinez

"I think the story line continues to mean a lot to Hispanic people," says Martinez, who has portrayed Cruz since the show's debut in July 1984.

While Cruz has remained crucial to the "Santa Barbara" story lines, an entire Hispanic family, the Andrades, disappeared just months after the show began. "A lot of things happened that were beyond the control of the Dobsons (Jerome and Bridget Dobson, who created 'Santa Barbara,' and were also co-writing the show at the time), and this tended to sabotage their efforts to put an emphasis on the Andrade family," says Martinez.

"But they did have good intentions," he insists.

One of the primary reasons that Martinez was attracted to the role of Cruz was because he's a leading man. Before landing the role, Martinez had played street-wise characters and victims for many years, but never had played leads.

"I think what sold me on the role of Cruz was that the character presented me with a rare opportunity to play a leading man," he says. "The role gives me a chance to reveal my capability to play a romantic character."

"Up to a certain point, I was thrilled just to get a job," Martinez adds. "But after I lost that blind enthusiasm, I started to need the role to be special and challenging in order to get excited about it. I think that's the wonderful thing about playing Cruz; he lets me stand in that light."

Cruz has been going through a rough time recently, since he thinks that his lady love, Eden Capwell (Marcy Walker), died in a plane crash.

"I've had an enormous amount of fun playing Cruz in his current unhinged state," says Martinez. "It's been nice to blow the edges of the guy out and not have to be nice or well-groomed or responsible. The man's been badly hurt."

Slone, Hamilton Are Wed

Shelia Ann Slone, daughter of Edward and Ogie Slone, of Ligon, and Rusty Ray Hamilton, son of Ray and Zetta Hamilton, of Beaver, were married March 14 at the First Baptist Church of McDowell. The Rev. John Adams officiated.

Music before and during the ceremony was provided by Elizabeth Hall and Joan Chaffins. Matrons of honor were Ogie Slone and Zetta Hamilton, mothers of the bride and groom. Bridesmaids were Wenny Vance, Shirley Hall and Terri Lambert. Best man was Ray Hamilton, father of the groom. Groomsmen were Robert Newsome, Alan Pack and Randy Vance. Flower girl was Alexis Maldonado, niece of the groom. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Edward Slone.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church.

The bride is a graduate of McDowell High School and Eastern Kentucky University, where she majored in business administration and marketing. She is employed as assistant manager by Fashion Shop in Lexington.

The groom is a graduate of McDowell High School and is attending Eastern Kentucky University, majoring in industrial computer technology.

The couple reside in Lexington.

Contest Winners

Katya Lynn Tackett won the 19-24-month-old baby contest held in Sturgis during Trade Days, May 14-16. Katya, 22 months old, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Tackett, of Sturgis, formerly of Prestonsburg, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gillis Conn, of Teaberry, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tackett, of Beaver. She is the great-granddaughter of Kenis Martin, of Teaberry.

MSU Students To Get Theatre Experience

Fourteen Morehead State University theatre students will work in professional theatre in seven states this summer.

Dr. Travis Lockhart, assistant professor of theatre, estimates that these 14 students represent approximately 40 percent of the active students in the program.

The students received the positions through auditions and interviews, competing against students from across the country. Dr. Lockhart believes the exposure these students receive builds on the reputation of the MSU theatre program.

"Being in a smaller program, they get more experience and they get to do more than a student at a larger school," he said.

Among the students is Doug Salisbury, MSU graduate student from Wheelwright, who will be putting in a second summer as lighting technician at King's Island in Cincinnati.

Legacy Of Black Church

It's 8:00 a.m. on a Sunday morning in Chicago. At Trinity United Church of Christ parishioners are lined up 90 minutes early to get a seat. In a poorer section of Chicago, the storefront Rising Sun Missionary Baptist Church is only half filled.

"Frontline" takes a look at these two diverse services which share the common legacy of the Black Church in America when "Keeping the Faith" airs Thursday, June 18 at 9 p.m. on KET.

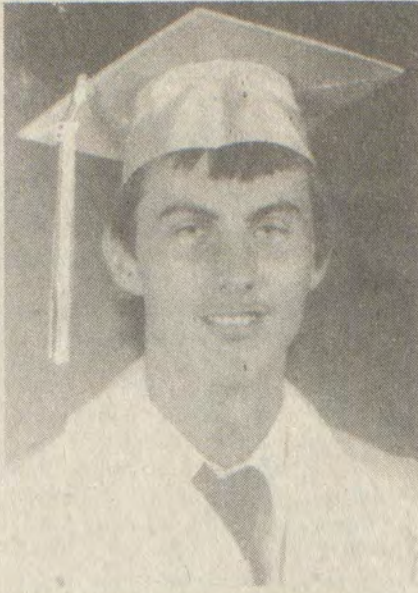

From its earliest days of secret slave meetings to its central role in the Civil Rights Movement, the Black Church has served as an instrument of liberation for its people.

Middle class blacks are returning to their spiritual and cultural roots. At Trinity Church the coffers have swelled with the numbers. In 15 years, its congregations has swelled from 87 to 4,500 members.

In contrast to Trinity is Rising Sun Missionary Baptist Church. Its pastor, the Rev. Cleveland Whittington, strives to help the young people in one of Chicago's poorest neighborhoods.

The issue "Frontline" correspondent Roger Wilkins confronts: Will churches and individual blacks reach beyond their membership, beyond their successful lives to those who need help?

Brother, Sister Receive Honors

Dannette and Danny Brian Slone were both honored recently. Dannette being named as an Academic All American Scholar by the National Secondary Education Council and her brother being listed by the U.S. Achievement Academy as an award winner in leadership. An honor student at Garrett Elementary for eight years, Dannette was nominated for her award by teacher Daniel O'Quinn. An Allen Central High School senior and president of the student council there, Danny was nominated by teacher Joyce Watson. He will attend Morehead State University this fall. Brother and sister have both also received many honors in music. They are the children of Danny and Ellen Slone, of Hueysville.

Station Will Host Drug Abuse Benefit

On Sunday, June 14, WLSI (900 AM) will host a radiothon to benefit recovering addicts and their families, and to provide information about addiction and recovery.

The station will sponsor a fundraising radiothon that day for the Big Sandy Serenity House, Inc., from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Big Sandy Serenity House, Inc. is a private, non-profit corporation whose sole purpose is to provide services to alcohol and other drug addicts. The organization has provided a place to stay, or monies to pay rent, for addicts who are leaving treatment with no home to which they can return. Big Sandy Serenity house, Inc. has also given a one-time grant to a local spouse abuse shelter, to be used for utility hook-ups for families broken up by the addiction of the breadwinner.

During the radiothon, panels made up of recovering men and women and recovering family members will be featured. These addicts and family members will share their stories and will respond to questions from the listening audience. In addition, a panel of local service providers will tell about the work each local service agency does and how persons wanting help may find it.

To contact the Big Sandy Serenity House, Inc., Box 244, Dwale, Kentucky, 41621.

Kentucky Kingdom's Grand Opening "Crystal" Clear!

The setting was perfect as the crowds gathered to share in the excitement when Kentucky Kingdom opened its gates to the public on May 23rd. From the east side of the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center a 20-unit parade marched toward Kentucky Kingdom to the sound of the Dixieland Dandies. In a horse-drawn carriage special guest Crystal Gayle waved to the visitors who came to get a glimpse of the country music star. State and local dignitaries, stiltwalkers, clowns, Kentucky Kingdom showkids and park mascots, Casey B. Jones and Daniel R. Boone joined in the procession.

From a staged area in front of the theme park congratulatory messages and greetings were delivered as the crowds anxiously awaited entrance into the park. While Crystal Gayle sang "My Old Kentucky Home" skydivers fell from the sky. With the wave of a wand, the singer announced "The Fun Has Just Begun" and brought to reality a dream that has been in the making for the past decade. As 5000 balloons were released Kentucky Kingdom opened its gates for a summer of fun and adventure.

In the 1970's, a 20 year master plan was submitted for the redevelopment and expansion of the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center. Part of this plan included the concept for a theme park. It was discovered that many people were leaving the area to go to major parks in the region. The main goal was to develop a project which didn't compete with those existing major facilities, but was unique and served as an exciting addition to the entertainment package of Kentucky.

As guests enter the front gate, their attention is immediately captured by a unique two-story carousel. The "Crystal Carousel" was designed especially for Kentucky Kingdom and imported from Italy. It's striking hand painted panels were beautifully designed to reflect the beauty and diversity of the regions across Kentucky. Scenes of the Kentucky Derby, Belle of Louisville, the countryside around Bowling Green, the State Capitol Building and Keeneland Race Track are only a few which grace the breathtaking attraction. Over 2000 lights and mirrors give it a magical "crystal" effect. The detailed fixtures include stately horses, swinging benches, scalloped chariot seats and turning teacups.

Beyond the "Carousel Plaza," guests begin their pleasurable journey into a world where time stands still. Strolling through the beautifully landscaped grounds, guests find the air filled with many scrumptious "tummy-tempting" smells. Taste experiences at Kentucky

Kingdom are to run the gamut from familiar fun foods to moderately priced gourmet burgers and meals offered at the "Brass Ring Bistro," the park's main restaurant.

The rides in the park are well-balanced to provide a thrill for all. Among the favorites is a fast and furious speed coaster, "Starchaser," which enters a darkened world of thrills traveling at speeds up to 50 miles per hour as 3 G's of force torpedo riders through special effects at each new curve. The "Ohio River Adventure" is a wild and wet water adventure which allows its riders the classic adventure of gliding along a twisting waterway and dropping over a cascading waterfall to a splashy conclusion. Many other rides round out the package, including a special "Enchanted Forest" area, which contains several rides and attractions especially designed for children.

In keeping with the emphasis on entertainment for all ages, a number of live shows are slated which reflect many musical styles. Auditions were held in November of 1986, with over 1,000 people attending 10 separate auditions. 75 exciting young singers, dancers and musicians were chosen to fill this new showcase of Kentucky talent. The park's 1800 seat amphitheatre, "Celebration Station," will feature a lavish production, "Come Follow the Band," which takes a musical journey beginning in antebellum Louisville, moving down to New Orleans, through the West, and ending with the glamour of Broadway.

"Sing Your Country Song" will be showcased in the frontier section of the park. Fourteen pickers and singers will keep guest's hands clapping and feet stomping as they highlight the popular sounds of Bluegrass and Country Western music. "Steppin Out" will be performed in the Pepsi Plantation Playhouse several times each day. This popular review will "step out" into many eras of music which have made this land sing! Wrapping up the entertainment package will be Kentucky Kingdom's "Dixieland Dandies," a brass band who will be found strolling through the park to a cadence performing their many antics.

Many of the games and attractions will also carry the "Kentucky" theme. "Derby Race", a group activity game, was chosen because of the important emphasis in the area on horses and horse racing. Another game, "Up, Up and Away," is representative of the Great Balloon Race during the annual Kentucky Derby Festival. Road signs in the bumper cars pavilion give the distance in miles to points in Kentucky with colorful names such as Monkey's Eyebrow, Summer Shade, and Strawberry, Kentucky.

One of the philosophies of the developers of Kentucky Kingdom is that every element of the park should be an attraction in itself. Therefore, the theming is being carried throughout all areas, including the merchandising. Kentucky crafts get top billing at several of the outlets. Handmade crafts and giftware are only a few of the items which will be featured in the park's shops.

If there's one place promising "pure Kentucky" fun, it's Kentucky Kingdom. Admission to the park entitles one to enjoy all the rides, live shows, entertainment and attractions for one low price. During the 10 days of the Kentucky State Fair (August 20-29) individual ticket prices will apply for various rides, attractions and shows. Special rates are available for groups and tour operators who arrange for their tickets in advance.

Strategically located at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center in Louisville (Intersection of I-65 and I-264), the park will be open daily in the summer and weekends in September and October. For more information, call (502) 363-6633.

HRMC Seeks Approval For Cost Overruns

The Cabinet for Human Resources is reviewing a Floyd hospital's request for approval of cost overruns on two projects.

Highlands Regional Medical Center is seeking approval of a cost overrun of $451,552 on an expansion and renovation project. The original project involved an $8,599,100 capital expenditure.

The hospital also is asking approval of a $34,041 cost overrun on a $1.3 million project to replace a computer system.

Persons affected by the proposal may request a public hearing on the application. Requests must be submitted in writing before June 10 to Jack S. Lesshaft, Chairman, Commission for Health Economics Control in Kentucky, 275 E. Main St., Frankfort, Ky. 40621.

The applicant also seeks the cabinet's approval for federal Medicare/Medicaid reimbursement of interest and depreciation expenses related to the capital expenditure.

The agency plans to complete its review by July 10.

Earns M.D. Degree

David Lee Hall was awarded a Doctor of Medicine degree from the University of Kentucky College of Medicine at special commencement ceremonies held on Saturday, May 16, 1987. Robin D. Powell, M.D., Dean of the College of Medicine, presided during the ceremony, which was held at the Otis A. Singletary Center for the Arts.

Hall was among 80 members of the Class of 1987, the twenty-fourth graduating class of the UK College of Medicine. The class received greetings from Dr. Peter B. Bosomworth, Chancellor for the Medical Center.

Hall is the son of Bill Hall, of Lexington, and the late Marie Short Hall formerly of Wheelwright. A 1977 Wheelwright High School graduate, he received his B.S. from Berea College and his M.S. in chemistry from Eastern Kentucky University. Upon graduation, Dr. Hall plans his residency training in family practice at the University of Alabama Hospital, Birmingham. He will reside in Birmingham with his wife, Rebecca Munson Hall, of Houston, Tx. and their two children, Christopher Gordon and Claire Marie.

Business Taxes Are Topic Of Seminar; Begins Today

Representatives from the Internal Revenue Service and the Kentucky Department of Revenue will conduct a business tax seminar today and tomorrow, June 10-11, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Kentucky Power Company auditorium on U.S. 23 north, next to the Magic Mart. Speakers will be Louise Bevins of the IRS and Al Brown, a Kentucky State Auditor.

Topics will be quarterly taxes, business taxes, and withholding taxes. The seminar is free, sponsored by the Small Business Development Center, the Pike County Chamber of Commerce, Morehead State University, the U.S. Small Business Administration, and the Internal Revenue Service.

Coal and Cattle—Compatible Mix for Eastern Kentuckians

Eastern Kentucky has been known for its coal production for the past 70 years. But if two Perry county entrepreneurs are proved right, cattle may be added to the list of what the region is known for.

The investors—John Chaney and Orbin "Sweet" Childers—in the mountain county about 100 miles southeast of Lexington formed the Southern Mountain Grazing Association a little over a year ago to buy and graze cattle on mine spoils. Their early ventures are proving a success.

Last year, the association grazed 47 head of cattle on about 120 acres of mined over land that had been hydroplanted with fescue, clover and sericia lespedeza. Locust trees also had been planted to increase nitrogen in the soil.

The land had been divided into five paddocks for controlled grazing. While they didn't make tons of money from their investment, they did show enough profit to continue grazing cattle on the stripped over land.

This year, the association bought 79 feeder calves for the pasture land and has plans to increase that number to 150 yet this summer. Next year, the two investors plan to increase the number of calves grazed as well as the number of acres managed.

Curtis Absher, University of Kentucky Extension beef cattle specialist, has been working with the association since it was formed and helps with management of the cattle to increase profits.

Absher is enthusiastic about the association's early successes. He believes that controlled grazing of cattle on strip mined land may be a big business in years to come.

"From what we've seen so far, it looks like we could increase the number of cattle in Perry county by a factor of 20."

Perry County Extension agent David Adams estimates that there are about 1,000 to 1,200 head of cattle in Perry county now and about 20,000 acres of stripped over land that could be used as pasture.

Most of that 20,000 acres is "old law" spoils, which means that the mine operators were required to reseed the land to grass and locust trees to prevent erosion and increase soil quality.

"All that is needed is fencing around the area for cattle to be turned in on it," Adams said.

Southern Realty, a subsidiary of Cyprus Minerals that owns the land and the mineral rights, provided fencing and facilities for the project.

Absher said that grazing cattle on the land appears to increase its value.

"By grazing the pasture last year, we are able to increase its quality. There may be some erosion control benefit by having the animals traffic over the pasture. We suspect that the hoof prints the cattle leave behind tend to stop the flow of runoff water and allow it to percolate into the soil," Absher said.

Absher said that if the Perry county project turns out to be a profitable venture, others in eastern Kentucky may take advantage of the some half million acres of strip mined land that is now idle.

A Life Saved, A Trooper Honored

Trooper William H. Burch was awarded the Kentucky State Police
Trooper's Medal recently in Frankfort during the Kentucky State Police Awards Ceremony.
The citation, which accompanied his award, read in part: "...Burch began pursuit of a suspected drinking driver in Floyd county when the suspect fled in an attempt to elude Burch. During the pursuit, the man lost control of his vehicle and slid into a creek where his vehicle overturned and submerged into waist deep water."
"Burch stopped and plunged into the almost-freezing water and made several attempts to shatter a window in the overturned vehicle. Water was filling the passenger compartment of the car..."
"Seeing his efforts were futile, he immediately sought permission from a supervisor, then fired one well-placed shot from his revolver into the vehicle's side window, shattering the glass. The man was extracted single-handedly by Burch, thus saving the suspect from drowning."
"The immediate and positive action by Trooper Burch preserved a human life; and, in so doing, has given the highest credit both to himself and to the Department of the Kentucky State Police."
Burch, 24, is a native of Louisville and has been a trooper since 1986. He is currently assigned to the Pikeville Post. The incident for which he was honored occurred on Feb. 5 this year.
In the picture, KSP Commissioner Morgan T. Elkins and Justice Secretary
Norma Miller present Burch with his award.

Citizens' Groups Set "Coal Summit"
Coalfield residents from throughout the United States will gather in Lexington, Kentucky, June 19-21 for the "Citizens Coal Summit: Organizing for Community Control."
"The summit provides the first opportunity for citizen leaders from the coal producing states to come together on this scale since the passage of the federal Surface Mining and Reclamation Control Act 10 years ago," said
Mary Jane Adams, chairperson of the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition, one of the host groups.
More than 150 people are expected to attend, to discuss the most recent strategies and skills used to implement environmental protection and citizens' rights provision under the federal law.
Speakers from local, state and national organizations will address the history of coalfield activism and the current state of the coal industry.
A variety of workshops are planned at the conference, to share ideas on how citizens can be involved in the processes of permitting and oversight of mining activities, how they can monitor water quality in the coalfields and how they can bring about land reform and tax reform. Other workshops will focus on developing organizational and media skills.
"The coalfields are in a mess because the federal Office of Surface Mining has failed to uphold the rights of citizens during the past 10 years," said Connie
White, president of Save Our Cumberland Mountains in Tennessee, the other group co-hosting the summit.
"The summit will provide a way for members of citizens groups throughout the country to share ideas and work together," White said. "People have to learn how to protect their land, their water and their communities because the government has failed in its job."

The First Commonwealth Bank of Prestonsburg, KentuckyPlaintiff
VS: NOTICE OF SALE
Gary and Evelyn Debbie Allen; The Administrator of the Small Business Administration, an Agency of the Government of the United States of America; Edwin Meece and Floyd County, KentuckyDefendants

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the April 28 term, 1987, in the above styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 11 day of June, 1987, at 10:00 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of three (3) months, the following described property, to-wit:

BEING the same property conveyed to Gary and Evelyn Debbie Allen by Warranty Deed from the Most Reverend William A. Hughes, Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Covington, Kentucky, dated October 20, 1982, and said deed is recorded in the office of the Floyd County Clerk, Floyd County, Kentucky, in Deed Book 272, page 259, and the property being more particularly described as follows:

BEING lots numbers 9 and 10 in Block NO. "1" in New Martin Addition to Town of Martin in Floyd County Clerk's Office Book 62, page 223, as shown on map filed as #424 on October 9, 1922, based on survey of Townsel Combs, Engineer, Langley, Ky. on October 7, 1922, having approximate frontage of 25 feet each and depth of 100 feet.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $45,613.07, accrued interest of $3280.39 and interest thereon at 12% annually from the 28 day of April, 1987 until satisfied, and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 22 day of May, 1987.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Floyd County School District has recently prepared an application for the use of federal funds for the education of handicapped children in the Floyd County School District. This application specifies that a free and appropriate public education will be provided to all handicapped children ages five through seventeen who are residents of the Floyd County School District. P.L. 94-142 provides priorities for the expenditure of funds. First priority is given to those children who are not being given any educational services. P.L. 94-142 also requires that the school district plan for the implementation of identification, location, evaluation and appropriate educational placement of all handicapped children. Guaranteed procedural safeguards for handicapped children and their parents in decisions regarding educational programs and confidentiality of files of those children identified as being handicapped will continue to be instituted. This application will be on file in the Office of the Superintendent of Floyd County Schools for a period of two (2) weeks beginning June 10, 1987 and ending June 24, 1987. Any interested persons may review copies of the application and make comments concerning the application to Ogie M. Slone of the Floyd County School District. Consideration will be given to all comments prior to the submission of the final copy of the application to the Department of Education.

RAY BRACKETT, Superintendent,
Floyd County Schools

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant To Application Number

836-5100 Revision #1

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that V & M Mining Company, of Paintsville, Inc., Box 1276, Second Street, Paintsville, Ky. 41240, has filed an application for a major revision to their existing permit for an underground mining operation. The originally permitted area affected a surface disturbance of 1.75 acres, this revision will add 1.0 acre of surface disturbance. The operation underlies an area of approximately 80.15 acres. (No change from original permitted area). The operation is located 2 miles northwest of Harold in Floyd county.

The operation is located approximately 1.0 mile east from KY 1426's junction with Sugarloaf Branch Road and located 0.5 mile north of Sammy Clark Branch. The latitude is 37° 32' 35". The longitude is 82° 40' 30". The surface area to be disturbed is owned by Fred Conn. The operation underlies area owned by Fred Conn, Green Kidd, John Boyd Heirs, Aaron Boyd, Debbie Sue Boyd, Mart Boyd, Emmitt Howell, Manuel Watson and Willie Akers.

The proposed operation is located on the Harold U.S.G.S. 7-1/2 minute quadrangle map. This revision is for reclamation purposes only and will affect an area located within 100' of KY 1426. No relocation of this road is involved.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653. Written comments, objections or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections and/or requests for a permit conference must be received within thirty (30) days of today's date.

Get Advance Info On S.S. Benefits

People who plan to retire in the near future naturally are concerned about their post-retirement income once they are no longer employed. Jim Kelly, Social Security District Director for the Big Sandy Area, said recently.

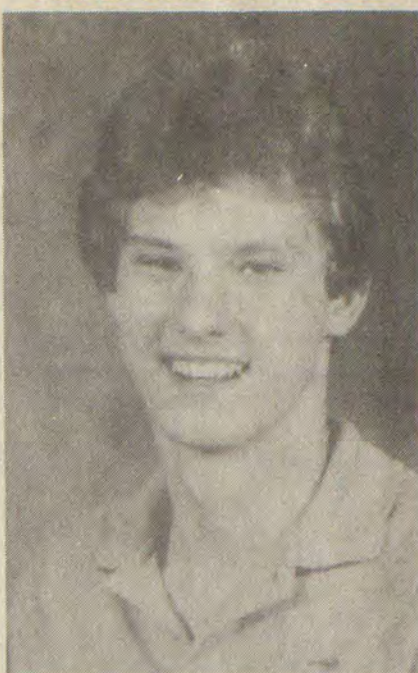

Social Security can tell you the amount of your Social Security before you retire. This is of course very valuable to your retirement planning.

A retired worker and his or her spouse can get full monthly payments if they wait until 65 to start receiving benefits. The length of time a person must have worked in employment or self-employment covered by Social Security to be eligible for benefits depends on the person's year of birth. But no one ever needs more than 10 years of credit for work under Social Security, Kelly said.

The information on your birth certificate, marriage certificate, W-2 forms and tax returns of course is important in determining your Social Security, so have these papers available.

People who would like more information about estimating benefits should contact the Big Sandy Area Social Security office located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in your local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

USAA Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Mark A. Kidd has been named a United States National Award winner in history and government.

Kidd, who attends Betsy Layne High School, was nominated for this national award by Shirley Harmon, U.S. History teacher at the school.

His picture and personal biography will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

Kidd is the son of Sina and Edward Kidd, and grandson of Bill and Minta Kidd and George and Margie Kidd, all of Honaker.

Kidd attended grade school at Spruce Pine Elm and gives credit to his grade school teachers, Mazie Tackett and Coyette Lawson, and high school teacher, Shirley Harmon, for his study habits.

Two Floyd Students Win ALC Scholarships

Bill Melton, director of admissions at Alice Lloyd College, has announced the recent recipients of ALC's most prestigious scholarship. Cassandra Leigh Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hamilton, of Craynor, and Vanessa Ann Stratton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Stratton, of Ivel, have accepted the Memorial Scholarship for the 1985-86 school year as incoming freshmen.

The Memorial Scholarship guarantees the students will have no out-of-pocket expenses for room, board, or tuition at Alice Lloyd College for the academic year. The scholarship is the equivalent of a $7858 yearly grant. It is renewable each year the students are at Alice Lloyd College and as long as they maintain a "B" or better average while completing a minimum of 15 hours each semester.

Academic All-American

John Ratliff, son of Barbara and Johnny Ratliff, of Auxier, has been named an Academic All-American Scholar, according to the National Secondary Education Council.

A student at Paintsville Independent School, he was nominated for the honor by teacher Teresa Petot. He will be included in the 1987 national awards yearbook of the United States Achievement Academy.

His grandparents are Rev. and Mrs. John Frank Ratliff, of Staffordsville, and Grace Goble, of Auxier, and the late Henry Goble.

'Fingerprinting' Roses Is Deterrent to Piracy

By HUBERT KELLEY

Why fingerprint a rose?

Answer: to protect it from piracy.

Here's the story. New hybrid varieties of rose can be patented, entitling the patentee to royalties from nurseries that grow and sell his creation. Consumers now pay from $4 to $20 for a patented rose plant, depending on the variety.

Unfortunately, pirating patents in the rose game is anything but rare. All that a rose pirate has to do is buy a popular hybrid, snip off some cuttings, root them, and he's in business. With thousands of hybrid varieties on the market, it's often difficult for the patent holder to prove in court that a particular rose is his.

Now, however, a U.S. Department of Agriculture scientist in Ohio has found a way to identify each variety of rose beyond question. Charles W. Krause, a plant pathologist with the Agricultural Research Service, used an electron scanning microscope to magnify the leaves of rose varieties as much as 20,000 times. When he did, he found marked differences among varieties in the shape of leaf openings, called stomata. There were additional differences in leaf hairs and waxy deposits on leaves and thorns.

Photographs of the distinctive openings can serve as "fingerprints" to settle questions of patent ownership easily. "For the first time," says Krause, "we can accurately distinguish one rose variety from another."

The researcher has opened the fingerprint file with photos of 20 hybrid varieties, including South Seas, Antigua, Color Magic, Spellbinder, and Promise. He also has written a fingerprint manual.

Krause emphasizes that using the electron microscope to identify plant varieties is not limited to roses. He plans now to fingerprint patented varieties of trees and other nursery plants.

Is plant piracy really that common? Judging by the volume of mail from all over the world that Krause has received since first reporting his discovery, it is. A major Israeli exporter of new breeds of roses, carnations, and other flowers wrote that "the more we develop, the more we are pirated."

Thanks to Krause, maybe gardening won't be such a dirty business from now on! (Agricultural Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture)

Week of June 14-20, 1987

ARIES

(March 21-April 20)

You may have many projects going on at the same time. Tackle them one at a time. Do not try to do everything at once.

TAURUS

(April 21-May 20)

Concentrate on being productive at work. Tend to tasks that may have been neglected. Be punctual and reliable.

GEMINI

(May 21-June 20)

Sibling relationships are stressed. Make the effort to keep in touch and that will help you to avoid any misunderstandings.

CANCER

(June 21-July 22)

A personal obligation or limitation may be lifted at this time. Consider giving some serious thought to where you want to go from here.

LEO

(July 23-Aug. 22)

Trust your intuition in personal relationships. Remaining a little distant right now might give you the perspective you need in order to make a decision.

VIRGO

(Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Your standing in the community takes on added importance. Engage yourself in charitable activities.

LIBRA

(Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

Business associates are impressed with your abilities. Remember to present yourself in a professional manner.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 23-Nov. 22)

You are feeling independent and eager to receive recognition for your present efforts. Do not be too aggressive or people may be put off.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

Your sensitivity makes you appealing to new acquaintances. They may appreciate your viewpoint and enlist your advice.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Communication of all sorts may be delayed. Meetings may be postponed or canceled. Try to be flexible and patient.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

You have an urge to get away from it all. Plan for a vacation or take a day trip to a new place.

PISCES

(Feb. 19-March 20)

Be more cooperative with co-workers. Offer to be of assistance. It will be appreciated.

"We Care!"

"I bet we're pickier than you are about your ice cream."

"When you buy Flav-O-Rich ice cream you don't have to worry about whether it was made with fresh, good ingredients. Or think about cleanliness. Or check for things like whether the fudge ripple has just the right ripple pattern to it. That's my job. Our lab checks everything we make to make sure it's right. All you have to think about is how good it tastes. Oh, and I've already checked that, too."

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

THE CHILD-PROOF LID

Although the introduction of child-resistant lids back in the early 1970's created frustration for some adults, this safety measure has dramatically reduced accidental poisonings among children. Pharmacists must put medications in child-resistant containers unless the patient specifically asks for "ordinary" lids. Child-resistant lids are designed to prevent children under the age of five from opening them. A "perfect" child-resistant lid, however, does not exist. In tests, 85 percent or more of the participating children must not be able to open them, while 90 percent of the adults involved must be able to do so. Of course, there will be some young children who can open these containers, and some adults who cannot.

You will always find the staff at COOLEY APOTHECARY friendly, courteous and very knowledgeable about our vast inventory of merchandise. We are a full service pharmacy offering you everything you would expect to find in a well-inventoried drug store. You'll find us located at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106 and open Mon.-Fri., 9-5:30, Sat. 9-4. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments.

HANDY HINT: Because of heat and steam, the bathroom is probably the worst place to store medications.

Summer Dance Workshop Marks Another First For Pike College

By PEGGY DAVIS

Pikeville College is inaugurating another 'first' for Pikeville: an intensive professional summer dance workshop. For six days, August 3-8, two outstanding professional performers, choreographers, and teachers in ballet and jazz will be conducting daily classes on the Pikeville College campus. The classes will be graded according to age and dance experience, and everyone age 7 and older—whether seasoned dancer or hoping-to-be-a-beginner, is invited to participate. A performance will be presented for the public on Saturday, August 8, in Faith Chapel Auditorium.

The ballet classes will be taught by Donna Delseni, of Ballet Mississippi, the company which gave the Pikeville community such a wonderful performance last fall as part of the concert series. Delseni is Director of the Mississippi Youth Ballet, ballet instructor at the Ballet Mississippi School, assistant company teacher and resident choreographer for the entire company.

She received her training from Helena Baron, Finis Jhung, and the School of American Ballet in New York. She has danced professionally with the Eliot Field Ballet of New York (including a PBS broadcast on Dance in America), with Finis Jhung's Chamber Dance USA in New York, with the Omega Liturgical Dance Company, the Baron Ballet, and as a soloist with the Frankfurt Ballet in Frankfurt, Germany.

She was a production assistant for the International Ballet Competition held in Jackson, Mississippi.

Delseni is an outstanding choreographer, having produced works for several companies including Ballet Mississippi, and having won the prestigious "Monticello" Award for choreography. She has also won two first-place awards for choreography at the 1986 Panoply Festival in Alabama.

Delseni will be offering both elementary and advanced classes daily for children and adults. She also expects to choreograph a piece especially for the dancers who attend the Pikeville College workshop.

The jazz classes will be taught by Dino Anderson, founder and director of the La'Mont Dance Theater in Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Anderson describes himself as being "born to dance", and is described by critics and reviewers as "a talent of unusual dimension", and "as dynamic as the world of jazz dancing itself."

His dance background includes jazz, modern dance, ballet, and ethnic styles. His training has been guided by such notables in the world of dance as Gus Giordano of Jazz Dance in Chicago, Alice Rubinstein of Footpath Dance Company in Cleveland, and Leslie Anderson of Pittsburgh Black Theater Dance Ensemble.

Anderson has extensive performing experience throughout the Midwest, including industrial shows and television appearances. He has taught for several midwestern dance schools and companies such as Les Danseurs Noir and Cambridge Civic Ballet in Ohio. He has also taught at the Pittsburgh Black Theater Dance Ensemble and the Afro-American Dance Center in Pennsylvania. He is a popular teacher and guest artist at dance workshops and conventions.

Anderson has also choreographed works for several companies in Ohio and Pennsylvania, and was recently selected as the national choreographer for the Professional Trade Association Managers.

Anderson will be conducting both elementary and advanced classes in jazz dancing for both children and adults and also expects to produce a production number for the public performance at the conclusion of the workshop.

Interested individuals may preregister or obtain further information about the Pikeville College Summer Dance Experience by calling the Continuing Education Office at 606/432-9389, or stopping by Room 109 in the Administration Building at Pikeville College.

Plan Aimed To Curb Retail Store Crime

In an effort to curb crime, the Kentucky Grocers Association and the Kentucky Office of Vocational Education have developed a robbery awareness and crime prevention program. Its aim is to reduce retail store crime and protect the safety of both employees and customers.

According to data from Kentucky law enforcement agencies, retail store crime is on the increase nationwide. "The Kentucky food industry has a vested interest in improving the safety and security of both employees and patrons," said Patrick Hicks, Kentucky Grocers Association president.

The program is built around a series of 14 workshops scheduled across the state. Teams of specially trained vocational educators will provide the short-term instruction.

How Animals Are Brought To Zoos

From the barren tundra of Iceland to the bustle of Chicago, an expedition brings young puffins to Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo. Their travels are told in "Arctic Window," airing Sunday, June 21 at 8:00 on KET.

Wildlife caged in zoos throughout the world undergoes a complex process when transferred from their native habitat to the simulated environment of a zoo. "Arctic Window" documents the initial research for and construction of Lincoln Park Zoo's Penguin and Seabird House; capture of baby and adult puffins in Iceland; and the birds' arrival in Chicago. The puffins' transition from life in Iceland to the zoo is a lesson in the precise care that must be taken to ensure the future of the world's wildlife.

Puffins are seabirds with white breast feathers, black coats and colorful bills. To capture the birds, the zoo's expedition team must travel through a country of rolling hills, protruding rocks, tremendous glaciers and waterfalls. The puffins are embedded in tiny burrows located on a jagged shoreline of majestic cliffs.

The property described in parcels 1 and 2 above shall be sold subject to ad valorem taxes presently due and owing and hereafter accruing on the property which the purchaser shall assume and agree to pay; easements and restrictions of record in the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office; any assessments for public improvements against the mortgaged property, and rights of the owners to use for road purposes so much of the subject property as may lie in any roadway; the rights of Wal-Mart Stores and Winn-Dixie Store, Inc., Louisville, Kentucky, as tenants in possession under existing leases and subject further to rights of ingress and egress in favor of the owner of the adjoining property covered by the mortgage of The Bank Josephine of Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

The purchaser shall pay One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00) down payment at the time of the sale with the balance of the purchase price due and payable in cash within sixty (60) days. The purchaser shall execute a bond for the unpaid purchase price with good surety approved by the Special Commissioner, said bond to bear interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale until paid, which bond shall have the same force and effect as a Judgment secured by a lien on the mortgaged premises until fully paid.

The construction materials described in parcel 3 will be sold on the following terms and conditions:

(a) The purchaser shall be required to pay the sum of ten percent (10%) of bid price down in cash at the time of sale.

(b) The balance of the purchase price shall be on a credit of sixty (60) days at the rate of twelve percent (12%) from the date of sale until paid.

(c) The property is sold without any representation as to the condition or quantity of the construction materials.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale is the sum of Two Hundred Eighty-Seven Thousand Nine Hundred Twelve Dollars and Eighty-Four Cents ($287,912.84), plus interest at the rate of twelve percent (12% per annum from February 15, 1984, until paid: Forty-Four Thousand Five Hundred Seventy-Five Dollars and Eighty-Six Cents ($44,575.86), plus interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from September 25, 1984, until paid: Ten Million Eighty-Eight Thousand Seven Hundred Twenty-Seven Dollars and Seventy-Five Cents ($10,088,727.75), plus interest at the rate of eleven percent (11%) per annum from November 11, 1985, to January 22, 1986, then at thirteen (13%) per annum from January 23, 1986, to May 14, 1987, and thereafter at twelve percent (12%) per annum until paid; the sum of Fifty-Three Thousand Six Hundred Fifty-Seven Dollars and Ninety Cents ($53,667.90), plus interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from December 14, 1985, until paid; the sum of Eight Hundred Ninety-Eight Dollars and Forty-Two Cents ($898.42), plus interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from January 8, 1986, until paid; the sum of Two Thousand Five Hundred Thirty-Nine Dollars and One Cent ($2,539.01), plus Five Dollars ($5.00), plus interest at the rate of Eight-Three Cents (.83) per day from January 29, 1986, until paid; the sum of Forty-Three Thousand Five Hundred Ninety-Six Dollars and Five Cents ($43,596.05), plus interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from May 5, 1986, until paid; the sum of Twelve Thousand Five Hundred Fifty-Three Dollars and Fifty-One Cents ($12,553.51), plus Two Dollars Seventy-Five Cents ($2.75) per day from January 31, 1986, until paid; the sum of Fifty Two Thousand Twenty-Eight Dollars ($52,028.00), plus Eleven Dollars and Forty Cents ($11.40) per day from January 22, 1986, until paid; the sum of Twenty-Four Thousand Five Hundred Eight-Eight Dollars and Twenty-Four Cents ($24,588.24), plus interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from December 14, 1985, until paid; the sum of Forty One Thousand Six Hundred Fifty Dollars ($41,650.00), plus interest at the rate of eight percent (8%) per annum from August 2, 1986, until paid; and the court costs for these consolidated cases, including the cost of advertising this sale, and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand this 22nd day of May, 1987.

Law Officials Run For Special Olympics

More than 15,000 law enforcement officers will log some 35,000 miles across every state in the U.S. and in several other nations in torch relay runs for Special Olympics, the world's largest program of year-round sports training and competition for children and adults with mental retardation.

The officers will run across their states or nations carrying the lighted Special Olympics torch. Each run culminates at the opening ceremonies of the state or nation's Summer Games with the lighting of the Special Olympics cauldron. Special Olympics athletes, local celebrities and civic leaders in many states will team up with the law enforcement officers to run segments of the charted course. With the support of the Armour Food Company, the official sponsor, the International Association of Chiefs of Police and The Good Sam Club, the Law Enforcement Torch Run for Special Olympics is expected to raise $4 million over a two-year period.

1986-87 Valedictorian

April Michelle Reed, 14-year-old daughter of Gary and Geraldine Reed, of Hueysville, was chosen to be valedictorian of her 1986-87 graduating class at Garrett Elementary School.

In addition, she has been selected as an Academic All-American Scholar and is on the school's academic team. She has won two class spelling bees and one school spelling bee, and has been an honor student for the past eight years.

Bonds Will Finance Computer Equipment

The State Property and Buildings Commission has approved a $6.5 million bond sale which will cover the cost of new computer equipment for agencies in state government.

Dr. James R. Ramsey, director of the state Office for Investment and Debt Management, said that the bonds were sold to a group headed by the Chicago investment firm of Blunt Ellis and Loewi Inc. based on a true interest cost bid of 6.58 percent.

Other investment firms submitting bids on the bonds were Merrill Lynch Capital Markets, 6.65 percent; Paine Webber Inc., 6.66 percent; Prudential-Bache Capital Funding and Associates, 6.69 percent; and Goldman, Sachs and Co., 6.71 percent.

The successful bid to serve as counsel for the bond sale was submitted by Peck, Shaeffer & Williams of Cincinnati.

The commission also approved a $5 million economic development project for the Louisville and Jefferson County Regional Airport Authority which will be funded by economic development revenue bonds to be issued by the commission.

The Standiford Field project will include a new "airside" terminal with connecting transportation facilities to the main terminal and construction of additional airport aprons and taxiways.

Bob Vila
HOME IMPROVEMENT EXPERT

A regular central air conditioning system only works for you during a few summer months.

But the modern electric heat pump operates 12 full months of the year. In the summer, it's an efficient central air conditioner. In the winter, it teams up with your furnace to help heat your home. And because of its high energy-efficiency, it can help you cut your total heating bill.
