Gov. Wallace Wilkinson and his wife, Martha, attended the Jenny Wiley Summer Theatre Friday night as part of the governor's tour of the state's outdoor theatre productions. Wilkinson went on to Pine Knob in Grayson County Saturday, and to My Old Kentucky Home State Park Monday.

Floyd Units Receive $70,000 In ADF Funds

By Anne Chaney

Six Floyd County emergency services operations will receive $70,000 in area development funding, following Monday night's Big Sandy Area Development District meeting in Prestonsburg.

According to Holly Leach, project officer with Big Sandy ADD, $25,000 was allocated to the City of Prestonsburg for payment on the purchase of a new fire truck; the county rescue squad received $20,000; Toler's Creek Volunteer Fire Department received $10,000; the City of Martin Fire Department received $5,000; the David Fire Department received $5,000; and the Middle Creek Volunteer Fire Department received $5,000.

Leach said all of the funding will be used by the various departments to purchase fire fighting and rescue equipment.

Pike County received the largest single allocation by far—$143,619 for start-up costs for a new landfill—and a total of $165,519 in ADF funding. The City of Coal Run Village received $6,900, and the City of Pikeville received $15,000. Leach said the county's landfill is expected to cost nearly $1.1 million. Coal Run will use its funding for a storm sewer project, while the City of Pikeville will use its funding for sewerage system improvements.

In Johnson County, the City of Paintsville Fire Station received $86,619 to build a new sub-station at the US 460-US 23 interchange near Mayo Plaza. The station will house two engines, said Leach. The project was the only application by Johnson County.

Hueysville Residents Will Live With Tipple

By Tim Sizemore

After more than two years of legal battle and red tape, residents of Hueysville may have to settle for a coal tipple in their midst.

"I think it is unbelievable and outrageous," commented attorney Ned Pillersdorf, who represents opponents of the tipple opening. "What really galls the petitioners is that the Craft estate managed to creep by the law with this sleazy exception that you can't be within 300 feet of a residence."

Pillersdorf went on to chide the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet for its claim that although the tipple was illegal before 1977, the coal processing facility was in operation before that time, and the state should sanction the Craft estate's claim of pre-existing rights.

Under the present law, a coal tipple can't be within 300 feet of a residence unless it was in operation before 1977.

Pillersdorf said the tipple did not exist in 1977 within the meaning of state law, and therefore had no valid existing rights. The Prestonsburg attorney said according to the state's attitude in this case, "everyone was acting illegally, so it's OK." Pillersdorf went on to say that the state's ruling promoted lawlessness.

The state contends that tipples were not considered surface coal mining operations until July of 1984, when a federal court construed the law to include tipples.

Opponents of the tipple claim that the operation, besides being illegal in 1984, also constitutes a hazard to their homes and community because of the noise and dust generated by the coal loading facility. The Environmental Protection Cabinet agreed with the resident's claim that conditions around the tipple were hideous, and went on to say in their report that "if the previous operator and the new permittee were the same people, the permit should be denied."

Glen Craft, who will operate the tipple, says he is pleased with the cabinet's decision. "I will be a small operation. I'm not going to have any noise or dust," he said, adding his brother lived near the coal processing plant and both would keep a close watch on the operation to be sure it complied with the law.

Craft admitted that in the past, the tipple had been a nuisance to the community, but that he had not controlled its operation. "I'm not going to do anything to hurt anybody," he said, adding "I don't have anything against anyone there."

Garbage Rates Being Studied

City officials are currently studying Prestonsburg's garbage rate schedule, and changes may be made in the near future.

According to Mayor Ann Latta, the city may switch to a cost-per-minute pickup rate. Businesses will be timed during regular garbage pickup in the near future, added the mayor.

Liquor By Drink Discussion Upcoming

The Prestonsburg City Council will continue to deliberate on an ordinance to allow liquor by the drink sales within the city limits at its meeting Monday, Aug. 22.

While the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce passed an endorsement of the ordinance Monday, others in the area have gone on record opposing the measure.

Alzheimer's Awareness

Aug. 22-26 has been designated "Alzheimer's Awareness Week" in the Big Sandy Region. The Development district, along with key county leaders, will be coordinating and directing activities to publicize Alzheimer's Disease, its signs and symptoms, its affects on families and primary caregivers.

One county will be designated each day of the week to observe the event. "Alzheimer's Awareness" day will be Monday in Pike County; Tuesday in Magoffin County; Wednesday in Martin County; Thursday in Johnson County; and Friday in Floyd County.

For more information on the week's activities, contact the Big Sandy Area Development District in Prestonsburg, 886-2374.

Restaurant Tax Is Legal, Says Prestonsburg's Mayor

By Anne Chaney

The City of Prestonsburg is on firm legal footing with its 2 percent tourism and recreation tax, according to Mayor Ann Latta, who said the city will continue to collect the revenues despite threat of a lawsuit by the Restaurant Association of Prestonsburg.

Responding to an article in last week's Floyd County Times, Latta questioned allegations that the tax was unconstitutional. "The state law has been on the books since 1984—and it isn't unconstitutional," said the mayor. "I don't know what possible grounds it could be ruled unconstitutional on."

The city collected approximately $50,000 during the second quarter of this year (April, May and June). The tax, passed earlier this year, took effect April 1. Latta said the city has budgeted this year's total receipts at approximately $133,000. "We will experience two summer quarters that will be higher than the two winter quarters, due to tourism," said Latta.

Funds go to the Recreation, Tourism and Convention Commission under a separate bank account. This year, the commission has contributed $5,000 to Jenny Wiley Summer Theatre, and will contribute an additional $5,000 in November. In addition, $2,000 has been given to the Kentucky Highlands Festival, and $25,000 to the Prestonsburg Park Commission, which administers Archer Park, Goble-Roberts Mini-Park, and the Floodgate Park.

Latta said the $25,000 received by the park commission constitutes approximately one-fourth of the agency's annual budget. She disagreed strongly with Restaurant Association President John Carey's assertion that 75 percent of the tax proceeds go to Archer Park, and only 25 percent to tourism promotion.

The mayor also added that the funds distributed—especially to the park commission—should not be viewed as used solely for physical improvement.

"Part of those dollars are being spent on the park itself, but others are being used for the park to promote itself, and to promote tourism through improvements and advertising," said Latta.

She also pointed to Jenny Wiley Summer Theatre, which has had 21,000 visitors this year. "That's probably the biggest attraction we have here, outside of the park itself. They do thousands of mailings and advertise in this region, so when we make a grant to Jenny Wiley Theatre, we're really increasing the value of or the tourism dollars we have to spend."

Latta said that Carey's assertion that restaurants are paying concessionaires at Archer Park to compete with downtown facilities is untrue. "We do have the grill, but many people go elsewhere to eat after the game. The grill isn't new—and they are paying the tax the same way the others are."

"The thing that's fair and right about this tax is that its being paid by the visitors to our area, as well as by the residents who live here. The more visitors we have, the more the restaurants profit, the more tax is generated, and the more promotion dollars we have—it just keeps building."

First Day of School

Floyd County students attended their first day of school Monday, Aug. 15. Teachers, administrators and other personnel got an earlier start, attending in-service workshops last week.

Martin Sewerage System Hearing Will Be Held At School August 30

A public meeting will be held Tuesday, Aug. 30, at 7:30 p.m. at Martin Elementary School's auditorium to acquaint Martin residents with a proposed sewerage system grant.

The hearing is one of two required to file a Community Development Block Grant application, according to Holly Leach, project officer with the Big Sandy Area Development District in Prestonsburg.

Leach explained that Martin's sewerage system was built in the 1960s and is situated not only in the flood plain, but in the floodway itself.

"It is almost 25 years old, and it needs to be renovated," said Leach. "However, state law prohibits that because it is in the floodway, so it must be relocated." Additionally, she said, the already-overburdened system serves only 90 percent of the city's 1,000 residents.

Leach said the system, at present, cannot accommodate new customers, because the state has a tap-on ban in effect.

With the Community Development Block Grant of $700,000, if approved, Martin officials may be able to build a new treatment plant, and make changes in the location of some lines. Leach said Environmental Protection Agency officials have set aside an additional $700,000 for the project, bringing the total funding to $1.4 million.

If received, the funds will be considered grants; residents will not have to repay the money, said Leach.

The CDBG application is expected to be filed Oct. 10.

Prestonsburg Police Apprehend Robber Within 2 Minutes Of Tuesday's Theft

Two minutes after the holdup of United Federal Savings and Loan Tuesday afternoon, Prestonsburg police had the suspect in custody, charged with strong-armed robbery in the first degree.

Paul Richard Wright, 37, of Prestonsburg, allegedly entered the bank and demanded money by holding his hand in his pocket and pretending to have a firearm.

Police say the suspect had been driven to the bank by an unsuspecting couple, whom he supposedly told he wanted to go to the bank and draw out enough to get a bus ticket.

Money in the amount of $6,958 was found in the suspect's possession; his two companions were released.

The officers who responded to the call were Police Chief Dickie Campbell and Patrolmen Gerald Clark and Roy Roberts.

Authorities Confiscate 7,600 Marijuana Plants

Chester Stone, 54, was arrested Monday, Aug. 15, and charged with cultivating marijuana in a field near his home at Blue River; according to Kentucky State Police Trooper Kenneth Frost, additional charges are pending.

Frost added that although 7,600 plants were confiscated, Stone was charged with cultivating 10 plots containing 817 plants, averaging 9 feet tall.

"The raid at Blue River is part of the Green-Gray Sweep program, a ratification program by the Kentucky State Police and the Kentucky National Guard," Frost said.

The guard unit uses helicopters to regularly patrol the county, searching for fields of the illegal plant. When a field is spotted, the unit contacts the Kentucky State Police and the ground-work begins, Frost explained.

Kentucky State Police officers destroyed the marijuana plants Monday evening near the Pike-Floyd county lines with a bonfire that burned for three hours.

In an unrelated raid at Open Fork of Middle Creek, near David, Floyd County Deputies George Hale and Anthony Castle confiscated 110 marijuana plants Monday and Tuesday. No arrests had been made Tuesday.

Revenue Bond Readings Held

By Tim Sizemore

Representatives of both the Floyd County School Board and Our Lady of the Way Hospital came before Wednesday's special meeting of the Floyd Fiscal Court for the first reading of revenue bond ordinances.

Floyd School Superintendent Ronald Hager and Terrell Ross of the Merit Financial Corporation of Lexington represented the county school board's request for $4,025,000 in Floyd County building revenue bonds. Hager said the bonds would be used to start work on the Prestonsburg Middle School project, which is slated for completion by the beginning of the 1989 school year. The educator told the members of the court that the middle school was the district's number one priority, as required by the state.

District 2 and 3 Magistrates Jackie

Edford Owens and Eddie Caudill questioned Hager about when construction could be expected on the new schools slated for their districts. Hager explained to the squires that work on the schools would begin on schedule, but the state required the projects to be started in order of their priority.

Cincinnati Attorney Francis v. Gudorf represented Our Lady of the Way Hospital in their request for revenue bonds, explaining the $1,075,000 in bond funds would mean a lower interest rate for the Sisters of Charity Health Care System, which operates the hospital. Gudorf said presently, the interest rate is 10 percent and that refinancing with the bond money would constitute a substantial savings in interest payments.

Residents of Emma once again came before the court to ask that the road leading into the small community be fixed and paved. County Attorney David Barber said there was a question as to whether the road belongs to the county or is railroad property. Barber said the county could find itself in "hot water" with the state if they paved a privately-owned road.

Residents from Emma claimed the railroad had granted an easement to the property, but Barber said they would have to be more specific about the name of the road before he could look up the transaction in the county clerk's office. He told the residents that the railroad had granted hundreds of easements to property owners for access roads and it would be a slow, if not impossible, process to look through all of them.

Emma residents contended that the county had blacktopped the road before, and that the railroad had always been cooperative with the small community.

While not committing the Fiscal Court to any specific time frame, Floyd County Judge Executive John M. Stumbo did say the county may take action to repair the Emma road next month.

In other routine business, the court agreed to pay the $4,080,000 timber tax and to advertise for a storage site for the county's voting machines. As a last action, the court agreed to take into the county road system the lower Wolf Pen Road on Mud Creek, and the Hill Street Road at the Lancer Addition in Prestonsburg.

The next meeting of the Floyd Fiscal Court will be Monday, Aug. 22, at 2 p.m.

Shocking Experiment

Prestonsburg firefighters help Kentucky power lineman Danny Hamilton from a precarious position Thursday after Hamilton suffered a severe shock at a pole on South Central Avenue.

A Prestonsburg man escaped crippling injury Thursday on South Central Avenue after receiving a serious shock while working on a street light; he later barely escaped injury Tuesday when a live power line fell on his service truck while he was eating in a local restaurant.

Kentucky Power employee Danny Hamilton was released Friday after a night of observation at Highlands Regional Medical Center due to the shock he received while attempting to repair a dusk-to-dawn streetlight on Thursday.

Chuck Ferguson, a spokesman for Kentucky Power, said Hamilton received 110 volts of electricity, and although he was uninjured, the victim was briefly stunned.

"Danny was not doing anything wrong," Ferguson said, and added that the accident had been due to faulty equipment. Ferguson said that after the shock, Hamilton managed to hang onto the pole but he needed assistance.

A former South Central Bell employee, James Goble, climbed the pole to help the stricken Hamilton. He stabilized the victim until the fire department arrived to effect the rescue.

"I was amazed how quickly the fire department responded to the emergency," stated Oliver Webb, who alerted the firefighters, and he added Hamilton was rescued within a matter of minutes.

Ferguson was full of praise for the actions of Goble, Webb and the fire department. "We think they all did a super job," he added.

Prestonsburg Police Chief Thomas Blackburn said that a 240 volt power line supplying the Playhouse Restaurant fell on Hamilton's truck Tuesday afternoon, causing no injuries. Blackburn said that the line had been overloaded and had burnt into

David Damron Extradited To NC

By Tim Sizemore

The fight to avoid extradition to North Carolina for a 1987 murder ended Thursday for a Pike County man, when he waived his rights of extradition.

David Damron, 27, signed the papers Thursday in Floyd District Court that have allowed police officials from Asheville, N. C., to extradite him to stand trial for the 1987 murder of a Kingsport, Tenn. man.

Captain William Ammorina says a conviction for the murder could mean the death penalty for the accused.

Damron's waiving of rights ended more than two months of struggle by the accused to avoid extradition. The paperwork to allow the extradition only awaited the signature of Gov. Wallace Wilkinson.

STORE-BOUGHT PILLS

It wasn't until 1863 that Americans started to take drugs in commercially made pills. Jacob Dunton, a Philadelphia wholesale druggist, originated the machine. His entire production from 1869 until 1876 was less than that now made daily in U.S. laboratories.

$89,544 in total ADF funds, will spend the money for four vehicles, a compactor for the landfill, and recreation facilities maintenance equipment, said Leach. A sanitation truck will be bought, as well as a county vehicle for the solid waste enforcement officer, a vehicle for the sheriff's department to transport prisoners, and a 4x4 vehicle for the water district.

Martin County received $77,133 in ADF funds. Inez garnered $3,500 for a public safety vehicle; Warfield received $3,500 for street improvements; the Martin County Water Facilities Improvement Project received $57,074; and $13,059 was allocated for a county vehicle. Leach said the water facilities money will be used to put a fence around the water treatment plant at Inez, and to sandblast and paint some of the storage tanks.

Leach said the annual disbursements are made to the five-county area served by Big Sandy ADD, with county judges from each county serving on the executive board. Funding amounts are determined on a per-capita percentage basis by county.

out that the tippie would employ 30 to 40 people. "It will be a benefit to the community and create jobs," Craft said.

Pillersdorf has filed an exception to the hearing officers' ruling, stating that the officer adopted a "very distorted view" of the evidence and also ignored unrefuted evidence in making his findings. Pillersdorf says in his complaint that the site of the tippie was abandoned in 1976 and 1977. He said that the tippie had been operating in defiance of the law and now benefits.

Pillersdorf says he will fight the cabinet's ruling to the Supreme Court if necessary, and at his own expense.

"I challenge Mr. Glen Craft to come and live next to the tippie operation," he said.

Tidbits By Janice Shepherd

Grandpa was a storyteller. His magical words peopled the hills with indians, settlers, animals and ghouls. He created visions so real, wagon wheels could be heard rolling down a bumpy county road.

Children of all ages would gather around him and beg to hear once again the stories they knew by heart. His tales have been passed from generation to generation by word of mouth.

Some of his stories may have a familiar ring as in the following story of Jenny Wiley Wee-hoo which grandpa told to his children long before the book was written.

Grandpa told two versions of the tale: in one, Jenny Wiley's little dog died when she emerged from the hollow log; in the second, which delighted the children, the dog and Jenny Wiley emerged triumphant. The second version, my personal favorite, follows.

JENNY WILEY WEE-HOO

Jenny Wiley was a pioneer lady who lived in a cabin in the hills with her family.

One day she went out to the berry vine to pick berries with her little dog trotting behind her. While she was picking berries the Indians slipped down out of the hills and kidnapped her.

The Indians took her across many hills and valleys to their camp. Someone always guarded her closely so she couldn't run away.

Jenny Wiley had to cook, clean, gather firewood and tote water for the indians. After a long time, they started letting her go to the river by herself to gather the water.

One day she saw her chance and ran away with her little dog following her. She ran through the woods as fast as she could go but she could hear the indians behind her chanting "Jenny Wiley Wee-hoo, if we catch you, we will kill you."

Jenny Wiley found an old hollow log, wrapped her edge of her dress around the dog and crawled into the log. She heard the indians getting closer and closer. They stopped in front of the old hollow log where she was hiding and began beating on it with their tomahawks calling over and over, "Jenny Wiley Wee-hoo, if we catch you we will kill you."

After a long time, the indians went away. When it grew dark and all was quiet, Jenny Wiley crawled out of the log with her little dog. She ran through the forests for many days; the briars and brambles scratched her.

Finally one day when she was very, very tired, she looked down from a hilltop and spotted her little cabin all safe and sound in the valley below.

Jenny Wiley: Tourism Increases

There is one good thing that has come out of this year's dry weather for Floyd County—an increase in tourism. "We've just had a very good tourist season and the weather is an attributing factor because there has not been a lot of rain," said Jenny Wiley State Park Superintendent Leon Russell.

Business is good for the park this year—the lodge has been 95 percent full since May 1, the golf course has "overflowed" and all the outdoor facilities are doing well, Russell said. Advertising by Jenny Wiley and the state and the recent remodeling of the lodge are the other contributing factors to the increase in tourism, he said.

"It just seems that people have discovered the Eastern Kentucky Highlands this season," he said. Russell also added that many of the visitors are from West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Russell expects that the increase in business will be six or seven percent higher than last year, which he adds "is great growth for a hotel business."

During the summer the park has had about 50,000 people a month visiting, including daytime visitors and local residents, he said.

The boom in tourism has also caused increased employment at the park.

"We've been able to hire a few more people and keep them on a little longer," Russell said. There are 130 people employed this season, an increase of 10 percent.

Plans for the state park should boost business even more.

In the 1988-1990 state budget, a portion of the capital construction budget will go towards the building of the Jenny Wiley Convention Center.

Although all the plans are not finished, everything is "in hand and going to happen," Russell said. Construction could begin as early as spring of 1989.

"This convention center will not help just us (the state park) but everybody in the area," he said.

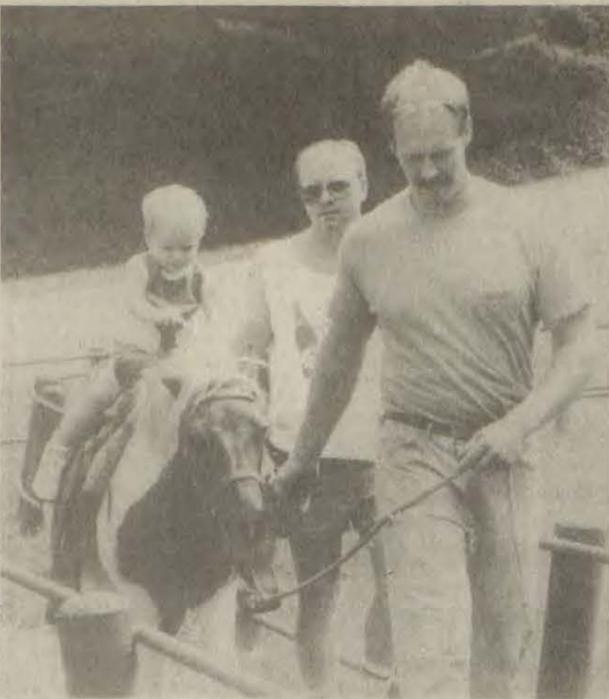

Attractions at Jenny Wiley are still going full speed. The theatre will be open until Aug. 21, the pool until Labor Day, and the skylift, stables, campground and golf course will stay open as long as weather permits.

Floyd County had the largest increase in tourism spending in the Eastern Highlands-North region of the state during 1986-1987, according to a report released in May by the Kentucky Tourism Cabinet.

Tourism spending in the county amounted to over $13 million after inflation adjustments in 1986 and over $18 million before inflation adjustments in 1987, the report said.

Overall tourism spending during 1987 in the region totaled $106 million and $4 billion statewide before inflation adjustments.

Taking A Ride

Wayne Sargent and his son, Terry, both of Wolfe County, visited the riding stables at Jenny Wiley State Park recently. The youngster is shown enjoying his first pony ride.

'Temptation Of Christ' Won't Be Shown Locally

By Tim Sizemore

Martin Scorsese' film, "The Last Temptation of Christ," is causing quite a stir nationally with almost equal crowds either trying to see it, or protesting its showing.

In area theatres, the flick won't make an appearance, according to the manager of Absher Enterprises.

"We feel it is offensive to Christ and should not be shown," stated Paul Spencer, who manages a chain of theatres belonging to Absher Enterprises.

Spencer says he has received a petition with more than 15,000 signatures, as well as numerous phone calls and letters. Spencer said the theatres owned by Absher in Williamson, Pikeville, Paintsville, Prestonsburg and Somerset have a commitment to serve their communities. "We want to get first run movies that will be the best for our community and suit our patrons," he said.

Spencer said as soon as the controversy about the film began, he was inundated with phone calls from local ministers and the general public.

The movie, based on a 1955 novel by Niko Kazanizokis, depicts Christ as a human tortured by desires. His final temptation occurs on the cross when he dreams he has avoided crucifixion and has settled down to marriage and fatherhood.

City Receives Grant Funds

By Anne Chaney

The City of Prestonsburg has received a $3,600 matching grant to help fund the salary and office operations for a paid, part-time Main Street manager.

According to a letter from David L. Morgan, director of the Kentucky Heritage Council and State Historic Preservation officer to Henry Mayo of the City of Prestonsburg, the funds were approved recently. The city must return a letter of agreement to the state council by Sept. 6.

City officials are hoping to receive yet another grant to fund the matching portion of the KHC monies, bringing the total salary and in-kind office donations to about $10,000 annually, according to Mayor Ann Latta.

"We are very pleased, after two years of being a demonstration city, to have this funding," said the mayor. "We feel having one person doing all the work will make it a much more dynamic program for the downtown. It's a big step forward in our downtown revitalization progress."

OPINION

Reader Opposes Liquor By Drink

Dear Editor,
I do not live in Prestonsburg but my family of four work, attend church, and two attend PCC so I feel I have a right to express concern about the "liquor by the drink" issue.
This letter is directed mainly to the mayor, city council and the citizens of Prestonsburg; to appeal to you to put a lot of thought and soul-searching into the decision you are facing on Aug. 22, allowing liquor to be sold by the drink in our city. Having been a former liquor store owner in another state, I feel I can speak from experience of what this can and will do to our city and surrounding area.

First of all, we do not have liquor by the drink now, and haven't for years. Why do we need it? What benefits will our citizens gain as a whole to allow a cancer of this nature to come upon our city? Are we so weak a society of people that we must have in our public marketplace a place to go to satisfy our thirst for alcohol? Are we so weak a people as to think we must take the risk of so-called progress to allow intoxicated individuals to roam our streets and highways? It's bad enough traveling our roads without this threat of facing a drinking or drunk driver.
How can we pass laws allowing someone to go to a public place to drink, and then pass laws that don't allow him to leave? Is it not against the law to be publicly intoxicated and also, is it not against the law to drink and drive? Who analyzes whether a person has had too much to drink before he leaves a restaurant? Our law enforcement officers have to have sophisticated equipment to establish whether one has had too much, but now we're going to leave it up to a drinking individual and a bartender or waitress to establish whether one has had too much before he enters our highways.

Is this a progress that we are willing to accept the risks that come with it? Did the growth and progress of other cities come as a result of selling liquor by the drink? I think you will find that instead of progress, there would have been regress—or maybe a better word would be regrets. People live, move and go to and fro in our country, not because a certain place has liquor to drink. Why don't we put more effort in our schools, jobs and better roads for progress? Liquor by the drink should not even be an issue to waste our time considering. If people want to drink and must, let them drink at home. Don't bring this problem to our city where other people have to look at their drunk faces and worry about them getting on our roads and killing someone or a whole family. Does it makes sense?

Liquor is a by-product of a sick society, bent on the lust for personal gain and a desire to satisfy one's self at the expense of all others. Who pays?
We sat on our duffs and allowed the wet forces to bring liquor to the front. So let this be an education and fight to keep it out of our restaurants or anywhere it can be sold by the drink.

Thumbs Down For Movie, Up For Times

Dear Editor:
First of all we would like to thank Absher Enterprises for not showing the movie, "The Last Temptation of Christ."
Also we'd like to compliment your new lay out in the want ads and sports sections. Keep up the good work.
Thank you very much:

Dear Editor,
I am pleased to report that several local theater owners and operators have decided to not show the movie "The Last Temptation of Christ". They feel that some scenes in the movie are obscene, offensive, insulting and degrading to the nature and divinity of Christ and that the movie does not represent the type of good entertainment they wish to provide for the people of eastern Kentucky.
I thank and commend the following theater owner-operators for having the business sense spiritual sensitivity and good taste to not show this movie:
Jack Absher, Plaza Cinemas, Pikeville; Southside Theater, South Williamson; Mayo Plaza, Paintsville, and Strand Theatre, Prestonsburg; and Larry Mullins, Weddington Theater, Pikeville, London, and Somerset.
I urge all readers and movie-goers to support our local theaters by their attendance and by letting the theater managers know what movies they want to see.
Sincerely,
(Name Withheld By Request)

Pastor Opposes Drink Ordinance

Dear Editor,
Recently, elected officials have been quoted in this paper saying that "liquor-by-the-drink" would be good for the economy of our area. Either these people are greatly misinformed, or they are ignoring the facts. According to a recent journal study, almost four times the tax revenue generated by the sale of alcohol is spent for increased police protection, legal fees, property damage, jail facilities, etc., made necessary by the sale.
According to the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism report to the U.S. Congress, over 74 billion dollars is lost to the American economy each year due to alcohol consumption, including lost production, health and medical costs, motor vehicle accidents, violent crime, remedial efforts, and fire losses. This means one thing to the people of Prestonsburg—increased tax burden.

Has it been so long since the recent bus accident in which 27 innocent people, most of them teenagers, lost their lives due to alcohol consumption? According to "Monday Morning Report, Alcohol Research Information Service," a federally-funded study, over half of the arrests for driving-under-the-influence of alcohol named restaurants as the place where the drinks were purchased. No amount of tax revenue is worth the lives of our young people! This issue is larger than the city of Prestonsburg, the people of Floyd County will be effected by the tragedies it causes.

The effects of on-premise consumption of alcohol are tragic. We take it from the home and put it on the roads of our city and county. Allowing "socially acceptable" places to serve alcohol increases the pressure on our teenagers to drink. Alcohol is the number one killer of teenagers.

I ask the members of our City Council to act responsibly. They have the responsibility to protect the citizens of Prestonsburg from such a parasite on the community and county. I encourage the people of this city to contact their council members, asking them to vote against the sale of liquor-by-the-drink in our fine city.
Respectfully,
STEPHEN D. HOPKINS

The City of Allen's board of trustees announced Tuesday that it had at its August 8 meeting voted to discharge its five water commissioners and abolish the city ordinance establishing a commission. The Floyd Fiscal Court voted unanimously last Tuesday to serve 10-day notice on Big Wheel, Inc. through its representative, Mr. Fish, that its contract on Phase I of the Floyd county park at Allen will be terminated. The filing recently by the Biltmore Coal Corp. and its directors, Clifford Bevins and Joe D. Weddington, of Prestonsburg, of a suit asking damages totalling $46,124,500 of the Lexington-based Ford Energy Corp. and others was followed last week by Ford Energy's own suit against the Prestonsburg firm and its directors, claiming $61,850,000 damages. Ex-Sheriff Joe W. Lewis this week reacted sharply to action taken last Tuesday by the Floyd Fiscal Court to freeze his salary, alleging that the real purpose of the trip made to Frankfort by the county attorney and four magistrates was to check on his authority to make arrests in Floyd county. There died: Ola Gayheart, 68, of Allen, died August 4 at Mountain Manor Nursing Home here; Cynthia Fitch Howard, 88, of Gunlock, died Friday in Highlands Regional Medical Center; Kennel Hayes, 92, of Langley, died Saturday at his home; Will Shepherd, 72, formerly of this county, died last Thursday at Bronson Hospital, Kalamazoo, Mich.; James Ernest Jayne, 56, of Flat Gap, died last Wednesday at home; Isabelle Campbell, 68, formerly of Knott Co., died July 31 at the Highlands Regional Hospital here; Vernis Martin, 51, formerly of Floyd Co., last Wednesday at Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington; Millard Seals, 96, of Litt Carr, Knott County, died August 8 at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; Mrs. Emogene B. The Comprehensive Medical Care program, which was initiated in this county last year as a pilot program to reach the most isolated low-income residents with needed examination and medical care, was assured a second year of operation Monday when the White House informed Congressman Carl D. Perkins that OEO had approved the expenditure of $1,204,622 for continuance and expansion of the work. State Senator Clifford B. Latta said Wednesday that Commissioner of Highways W. B. Hazelrigg has set Nov. 22 as the bid opening date on the proposed bridge to span the Big Sandy river at Lancer. Heaviest damage blamed on last Wednesday's power failure here was in the air-conditioning system at the courthouse where it was said repairs will cost between $6,000 and $7,000. The Floyd County Board of Education announced this week the signing to a contract as new Prestonsburg high school football coach, George R. McClellan, of Bristol, Tennessee. Announcement made Monday that the Department of Labor is extending the Neighborhood Youth Corps program in Floyd county schools for another year. Two contracts for Floyd roads—one from the Dewey Lake boat dock to the Stratton Branch recreation area, the other on Jack's Creek—have recently been awarded. It began as a joke, but at Whitesburg Friday night talk of secession from Kentucky by Eastern Kentucky counties grew more serious, and as the days wore on "secessh" became a word heard here and in other counties over the entire area. The threat to withdraw and form a new state was qualified. The mountain counties would do this "unless the rest of Kentucky stops treating us like second-rate citizens". A slatefall at an Inland Steel mine took the life of Virgil E. Blevins, 42-year-old section foreman at Wheelwright, Monday. Miss Frances Howland will assume her duties as Floyd county home demonstration agent, Sept. 1, filling the vacancy created in this county by the resignation of Mrs. Dixie T. Higgins. One of two mines operated by Wes Vance, of Wayland, on Little Doty Creek, Left Beaver, was dynamited Tuesday night, and a case of dynamite placed in the driftmouth of a second mine operated nearby by Vance failed to explode, the Sheriff's office here was told Wednesday. Born: to First Lt. and Mrs. Ronald H. Smiley, of Ft. Riley, Kansas, a daughter, Carol Denise, Aug. 14; to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stumbo, of Prestonsburg, a daughter, Marsha Kay, Aug. 7 at Cabell-Huntington hospital, Huntington, West Virginia. There died: Green Gayheart, 79, last Thursday at his home at East McDowell; Ruth Burchett, 54, of Prestonsburg; Friday at the Prestonsburg General Hospital; Martha J. Patton, 78, of Hueysville, last Friday in Xenia, O.; Mrs. Bessie B. Rivers, native of Cow Creek, Aug. 2 at her home in Willard, O.; Mrs. Matilda Centers, formerly of this county, Aug. 2 at the home of her daughter in Waynesburg, Ky.; Mrs. Elizabeth Chaffins, 66, last Thursday at her home at Garrett; W. Irvin Crain, 85, of Martin, Tuesday at the McDowell Memorial Hospital.

"Rocking of a widow's home and the whipping or threatened whipping of an unemployed man have given rise to talk of the Ku Klux Klan in the Cow Creek section where both incidents occurred. John Stephens, former Superintendent of Floyd schools, and retired teacher, has been appointed by Solon F. Russell, state director of Selective Service, as clerk of the draft board soon to be formed to handle the induction to military service of eligible Floyd countians. Mack Harmon, constable in Magisterial District No. 1, Wednesday removed from office all seven of his deputies, and at the same time Sheriff Troy B. Sturgill discharged six of his deputies. Work was begun here this week on construction of a funeral home for E. P. Arnold, the building and equipment of which, it was estimated, will entail an expenditure of $50,000. Appearing Thursday "in person on stage," is Tex Ritter and his horse White Flash. There died: Willie Smith, 80, last Thursday at the home of his son at Wheelwright; Mrs. Charity Johnson, 80, Tuesday at the home of a daughter at Vevinsville; William B. Fitzpatrick, of Garrett, Wednesday at the Beaver Valley Hospital, Martin; Sheridan Wesley Rice, 71, last Thursday at his home on Little Paint; Mrs. Ida Burger, 65, last Thursday at the home of her son at Melvin; Thomas Wayne Blackburn, 74, of Cow Creek, Wednesday at the Prestonsburg General Hospital.

Fifty Years Ago

(August 18, 1938)

Declaring that an emergency exists in Floyd county due to recent floods which have left few parts of the county untouched, and the "condition warrants the cooperation and support of all governmental agencies to prevent the people from starving," the Floyd Fiscal Court in its meeting here Monday approved a resolution in an effort to secure aid for the flood-stricken. In answer to a recent request from the Kiwanis Club that telephonic service in Prestonsburg be modernized, two Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph officials met with a small group of citizens in City Attorney Woodrow Burchett's office Wednesday and formulated a plan whereby dial system telephones might be put into service here. One day recently after 11-year-old Clifford Steele had skinned a one-pound bullfrog which he gigged in the Big Sandy at Boldman, he found in its innards, not only two bull moose nickles, but a small gravel and two .22-caliber rifle shells. Five gallons of moonshine whiskey and parts of a still—but no moonshiners—were netted by three Floyd county deputy sheriffs last Thursday in a raid at Garbage Hollow near Wheelwright. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ribble, a son, J. F., III, last week at a Paintsville hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Clark, a daughter, Barbara Ann, Monday night. There died: J. H. Kimbler, 47, of Wayland, last week of typhoid in a Paintsville hospital; Mrs. Frances Williams, of Grethel, last Thursday at the Beaver Valley Hospital, Martin.

Sharon Hicks of Prestonsburg sustained minor injuries in a three vehicle accident Thursday, Aug. 11. The accident occurred at the corner of Branham Street and North Lake Drive near Shepherd's Complex.

P'burg Officers Investigate Several Minor Auto Accidents

Prestonsburg police officers investigated several accidents this week, one of which resulted in minor injuries to a Prestonsburg woman.

Sharon Hicks was injured Thursday, Aug. 11, in a three-vehicle accident near Shepherd's Complex at the corner of Branham Street and North Lake Drive. Hicks was transported to Highlands Regional Medical Center, where she was treated and released.

Also involved in the accident were Steven Fenchel, Prestonsburg, the driver of the second vehicle; Angie Rice of Dwaile, a passenger; and Elizabeth Everly of Prestonsburg, the driver of the third auto.

Prestonsburg Police Officer Greg Hall investigated the accident. No citations were issued.

Two citations were issued later Thursday, Aug. 11, to the drivers of two vehicles involved in an accident near Western Sizzlin' Restaurant. Marie E. Hoeker, 74, of Ashland, was cited for "operators license to be in possession," Prestonsburg Police Chief Dickie Campbell said. Campbell added that Ronald R. Johnson, 28, of Jenkins, was also cited for driving on a suspended license.

The investigating officer was Woodrow Lafferty of the Prestonsburg

Police Department.

Lafferty also investigated an accident Friday, Aug. 12, at the intersection of U.S. 23 and Arnold Avenue.

Rebecca Arnett of Salyersville and Sharon Jones of Hueysville, drivers of the vehicles involved, were uninjured. No citations were issued.

An unusual accident involving a boat and a van occurred Saturday, Aug. 13, near Hobert's Pizzeria. A van driven by John P. Hunter of Harold backed into a vehicle driven by Elizabeth Lyons, 17, of East Point. Hunter was towing a boat.

According to Prestonsburg Police Officer Ricky Conn, Hunter had three passengers in the van and no injuries were sustained.

Two citations were issued to Hunter; they were for no insurance and failure to register and transfer a motor vehicle.

A Manning Transport truck made a right turn onto US 23 from North Lake Drive Monday afternoon, when all eight rear wheels of the 18-wheeler came off. No further accidents occurred from the rolling wheels. Investigating officers said no citations were issued to the Glasgow-based firm.

Flagging Accident Near McDowell Results In Death Of Local Man

A Water Gap man was killed instantly Friday while flagging traffic near McDowell, as the result of a tractor-trailer coal truck turning over.

Pronounced dead on the scene was William Richard (Lum) Lafferty, 21, after a truck driven by Dale Stumbo of McDowell overturned, pinning the victim under its bed.

Floyd County Coroner Roger Nelson, said Lafferty was pinned down and a loader in the area had to be used to lift up the truck.

State police have not determined the cause of the accident, according to public information officer Ken Frost.

The accident is being investigated by State Troopers David Jackson and Jerry Provence.

William Richard (Lum) Lafferty was born July 9, 1967 and worked for Driftwood Construction of Lancaster. He was the son of Willard and Linda Lafferty of Water Gap. He is survived by three sisters, Tammy Lynn Osborne and Michelle Leigh Lafferty, both of Prestonsburg, and Kimberly Renea Smith of Eastern.

Funeral services were held Monday at 11 a.m. at the Floyd Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Steve Hopkins officiating. Burial followed in the Lafferty Cemetery at Water Gap.

Scott Challenges Perkins To Debate

GOP Congressional Candidate Will Scott has challenged incumbent Chris Perkins to three separate debates, according to Scott campaign officials.

"It is our duty as candidates," Scott says, "to inform the public and the press as to where we stand on the issues. Because the 7th district is the largest in the state, I feel we should give all of our constituents an equal chance to attend the debates, by conducting them in the northern part at Ashland, the southern part at Hazard and the central part at Paintsville."

Scott proposed that one debate be held in late September, and the other two in October.

Paintsville Is Site Of East Ky. Democratic Rally Aug. 26

Paintsville and Johnson County will be the scene of an Eastern Kentucky Democratic Rally on Friday, Aug. 26, when Gov. Wallace Wilkinson and U.S. Sen. Wendell H. Ford accompany Congressman Chris Perkins and a host of state and regional dignitaries to the Johnson Central High School Gym at 6 p.m.

Johnson County Democratic Chairman James A. Coleman this week announced the rally and its theme "Dukakis, Wilkinson, Ford and Perkins: A Great Team for Eastern Kentucky."

Joining Wilkinson, Ford and Perkins for appearances at the rally will be Kentucky Democratic Chairman Jerry Lundergen, Cabinet Secretary Richard Smith, Natural Resources Secretary Carl Bradley, Transportation Secretary Milo Bryant, Superintendent of Public Instruction John Brock, Agriculture Secretary "Butch" Burnett, State Auditor Bob Babbage, Local Government Commissioner Bill Patrick and Deputy Secretary of Natural Resources Charles Martin.

Regional officials scheduled to be present for the rally include State Senator David LeMaster, Martin County Judge Executive John B. Callahan, Pike County Judge Executive Paul Patton, Paintsville Mayor Robert Wiley and 97th District Democratic Legislative nominee Hubert Collins.

In addition to remarks from several of the leading Democratic officials, the Johnson County Democratic Executive Committee has prepared live entertainment, food and refreshments for the event.

"We are looking forward to a typically rousing, good, old-fashioned, shirt-sleeve political rally as the people of Eastern Kentucky prepare to support a great Democratic team this fall," Coleman said. "Clearly, everyone is welcome, regardless of party affiliation, from throughout Eastern Kentucky."

Hall Named To Workman's Comp Board

By Tim Sizemore

An Allen man has been appointed to a judgeship on the Workman's Compensation Board, one of only three such positions in Eastern Kentucky.

Eric David Hall was named as one of the 10 judges on the board. Hall says he is pleased by the appointment because he feels that it makes the compensation process fair to the employer and employee.

"Before the new compensation law enacted in October 1987, the claim went before a board in Frankfort and they never saw the litigants in the case, but simply read the statements and decided," said Hall. Now, he explained, "the judges will conduct trials in different sections of the state and the employer and employee will have a chance to present their evidence in person."

Hall says after the litigation stage, the employer and employee will meet informally; if, in 60 days, there is no settlement, a hearing will be held.

"I am anxious to assume my duties," Hall said, and added Workman's Compensation is an area of the law he is familiar with.

Hall says that he has worked for 16 years in the law offices of Arnold Turner and has seen both sides of the fence. Hall believes a fairer decision can be rendered in compensation cases if the judges can be "eyeball to eyeball with the litigants."

It is the job of compensation judges to see that if a case is decided in an employee's favor that he is rehabilitated both physically and mentally. Hall went on to say that the process would also weed out fraudulent or misrepresented claims.

Receives Plaque

'Chinquapin Bill' Honored For Service To Club, Region

By Tim Sizemore

What Johnny Applesed was to apples, Chinquapin Bill Pettrey is to the nut-bearing chinquapin tree.

Pettrey, who is a founding member of the Dewey Lake Fish and Game Club, has spent a lifetime promoting and planting chinquapin trees, which are small shrubs that can reach a height of between 15 and 30 feet.

In 1971 Pettrey was named Kentucky's Forest Conservationist of the year for his efforts to create food plots for wild animals and for planting not only chinquapins, but also sugar cane, buckwheat and olive seedlings.

Pettrey is quick to give credit to all club members and especially to Miles Whitaker and the late Arthur Hughes for the success of the conservationist club. Pettrey says that it has been a team effort.

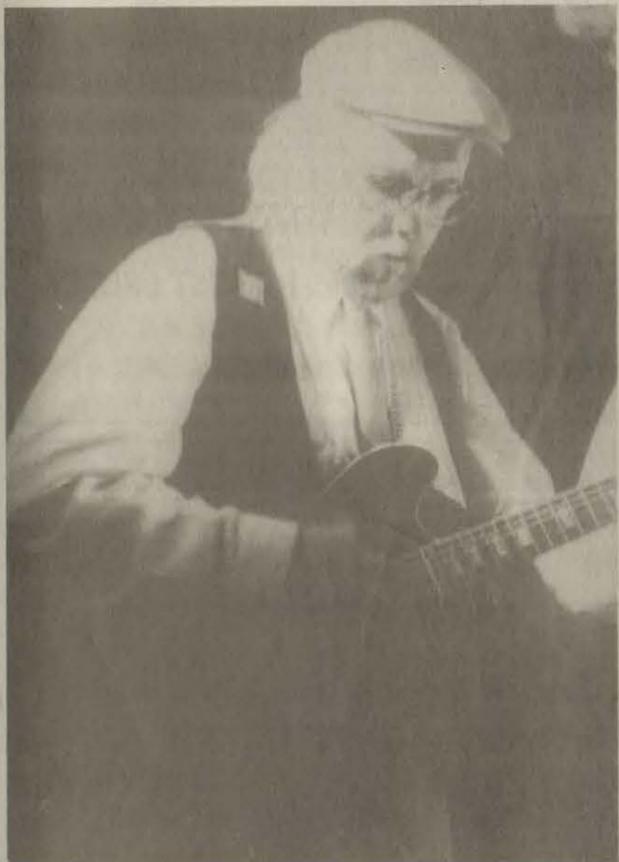

"He is one of the most progressive conservationists in the state," according to club officer Chalmer Howard. Howard also pointed out Pettrey attended the annual Kentucky League of Sportsman's convention for 15 years.

Not only is Pettrey a founding member of the Dewey Lake Fish and Game Club, he also holds membership in the Irene Cole Baptist Church and Shriners. Besides belonging to these organizations, Pettrey also served many years as the city's Santa Claus, to the delight of many youngsters.

Last Friday, the Dewey Lake Fish and Game Club presented "Chinquapin Bill" with a plaque in recognition for a lifetime of service.

"Bill sold more fish fry tickets and memberships than anyone in the club," said Howard, and he went on to say that "we hope he'll be with us a long time in the future, because we need him.

Raising Funds

PBA To Buy Lights For Downtown Buildings

If the Prestonsburg Business Association has its way, downtown Prestonsburg will be seen in a new light this Christmas. The association is raising money to purchase new Christmas lights that will outline and light up all the buildings on Court Street, according to Rosemary McCoy, president of the Prestonsburg Business Association.

The project will cost about $10,000, McCoy said.

They are bringing the Famous Cole Circus to Prestonsburg High School on October 22 to raise money for the project, she said. Tickets for the circus will go on sale next week at downtown stores.

"Any tickets bought by businesses as donations will go to underprivileged children in the area so they can see the circus," McCoy said.

They plan for this to become an annual fundraising event.

The business association is also sponsoring a "Back in School" giveaway for students this week. First and second prizes will be a $100 and two $50 savings bonds respectively. Entry forms are available at downtown stores.

The association is made up of about 60 percent of the downtown merchants, McCoy said. The association supports local business as well as charities.

Some of the promotions sponsored by the Business Association include the Santaland toy drive for underprivileged children, the Easter "Eggs-stravaganza," flowers for moms on Mother's Day and Midnight Madness.

"We try to provide entertainment for people," McCoy said.

The association brought in craftspeople to sell their goods along Court Street during the Jenny Wiley Festival last year, she said.

"Most of the people had never heard of Prestonsburg before the festival, but they loved it and want to keep coming back," she said.

They are also going to develop an annual Christmas parade for the city, McCoy said.

"We want to make it a big event, and hopefully bring back the Snow Queen pageant," she said.

"We hope to create excitement in people with our activities," she said.

City's Youth Center Is Closer To Being A Reality

By Laura Cooley

Prestonsburg area kids may soon have a place to call their own, because the proposed youth center is coming closer to being a reality.

A fundraiser street dance is planned for Saturday, Aug. 20, to kick off community support for the center, said Councilman Mike Vance, chairman of the Youth Center Advisory Board.

"This (the center) is not just an idea; it is going to happen," Vance said.

A building at the corner of Third Avenue and Graham Street has been leased, a teen board was formed in May to begin making plans, and renovations on the building should begin soon, he said.

A youth center advisory board was established by the city two years ago, but they were not sure what they really wanted, Vance said.

There was a need to find something that the city can do for kids because it seemed that there was no one particular place that they could go without spending money, he said.

The city council decided to use money previously budgeted for Archer Park to fund the youth center, Vance said.

The council appropriated $15,000 in the 1988-1989 city budget for the center, but about $50,000 will be appropriated each year in the future, he said.

A 12-member teen board was appointed by the advisory board and Mayor Ann Latta, Vance said. In the future applications will be solicited from students and two representatives from each grade in area grade schools and the high school will be selected.

Prestonsburg, Clark, Auxier and Allen grade schools and Prestonsburg High School are the area schools.

The teen board is responsible for establishing rules, deciding what the building will look like and developing programs, Vance said.

Some of the plans that the teen board have for the center include a dance floor and game room for the building, making the center available for community youth group meetings, and an after-school elementary program where kids can be supervised and tutored, he said.

"Some of the kids just come up with the ideas themselves, and we get ideas from other groups in other states," said Chris Bailey, an eighth grade student from Clark.

One of the places the board is using for ideas is "The Neutral Zone," an Ashland youth-only dance club.

The youth center will be supervised by the advisory board, a paid director, adult volunteers and teen board members, Vance said.

"The center will only work if everyone gets involved," he said. "Even though the city puts in money, it still won't cover all the costs. We want people to become quickly aware of the need for community support."

"It may take some time for the kids to find out about it," Bailey said. But Jeri Kinzer, a Prestonsburg

High School sophomore, added, "I think my friends are going to come to the youth center. Bowling is out and the movies get old."

The street dance for the youth center will be Saturday, Aug. 20, beginning at 8 p.m. at the Municipal Parking Lot. Admission is $1.50. Tickets are available from teen board members or can be purchased at the gate.

Miners' Re-Training Program Is Available

Three offices of the Department for Employment Services serving a five-county area have received $250,000 to fund the region's Coal Miners Re-Employment Project.

According to Thomas Hereford III, field officer with the Prestonsburg DES office, the project will focus in Prestonsburg, Hazard and Pikeville—all located in the 7th Congressional District.

At least 300 unemployed and former coal miners are expected to participate. They can receive employment counseling services, participate in job search workshops, take part in classroom training for demand occupations, occupational classroom training and on-the-job training.

According to state DES officials, the unemployment rate in March 1988 for the major coal-producing counties in Eastern Kentucky was 17.7 percent, compared with 9.4 percent for the state and 5.9 percent for the nation. That translates into 6,486 unemployed coal miners, explained Hereford. Department officials estimate that an additional 8,500 former coal miners have become discouraged and are no longer seeking work.

Hereford said that although Kentucky coal is being mined in rather large and steady volumes, the industry's over-capacity and domestic and foreign competition have caused many mines to close or operate at lower levels of production. Coal experts expect the trend to continue for some years.

Hereford said departmental officials in Eastern Kentucky estimate that a minimum of 500 coal miners are not only eligible for the re-employment program, but are also in need of the services and training offered.

DES will operate two Coal Miners Re-Employment Centers in conjunction with local offices; both of the proposed centers are in this region (Pikeville and Prestonsburg).

"We want to encourage more miners to take us up on this program," Hereford said. "We hope to enroll as many as 300 in the total project."

Hereford said a major obstacle DES is encountering is the approach unemployed miners use to re-training.

"Often, they want to draw unemployment, then go to school," he explained. "It's better to do both at the same time. They may draw their full unemployment benefits, then find we can only pay for tuition and books. Then they can't support their families," said Hereford.

He added that employers are often skittish of employing former miners because many can't match the wage scales, and are afraid workers will be called back to the mines.

Hereford said the program will help re-train miners for new jobs, and provide them with related skills, as well. With job search assistance, participants will be given a minimum of five hours of instruction in dealing with stress, will be provided information on budgeting their reduced income resources, and will be given instruction in job search skills such as finding sources of job leads, application techniques, and interviewing techniques.

For more information on the program, contact Hereford at the Prestonsburg office of the Department for Employment Services.

In-Service For Educators

Teachers gather around noted Kentucky artist Doug Adams of Morehead, who helped conduct last week's in-service for Floyd county teachers.

Job Opportunity Knocks For Mining-Related Fields

At least two unemployed coal mine workers have an opportunity for employment—a tippie mechanic in a gold mine and a truck driver with experience driving a 75-ton or more off-road truck are needed in Elko, Nev.

According to Thomas Hereford III, field office manager for the Department for Employment Services in Prestonsburg, there are also other jobs available in different career areas a little closer to home.

Current openings, and the amount of experience necessary, are:

Cocaine. The party's over.

It probably started with occasional use at parties, a line or two at concerts and other special events, perhaps a gram or so on weekends when some of your friends came over.

Now, you're using all the time.

And like thousands of others, you're suspecting that cocaine isn't the safe, non-addictive, recreational drug that everyone was saying it was a few years ago.

You're right. One in ten people who snort cocaine become addicted within four years. And half of all cocaine smokers end up totally unable to regulate their use, often in a much shorter time.

How can you tell when you've stopped being a social user? Well, if you find it difficult to refuse cocaine when it's available, or you use it even in inappropriate circumstances, then you've already started down the road of addiction.

What happens next is you completely lose control of your use. When you have coke, you do it until either you or the drug is exhausted.

If you continue, you get so you don't care what happens, as long as you have cocaine. You steal, lie, cheat, deal and risk prison to get it.

You'll likely put everything you once valued at risk. Your job, home, possessions, family, friends, and of course your health.

Even if you're mentally stable, continued use will probably make you paranoid and may give you terrifyingly real hallucinations.

But most frightening of all, despite all this, you may still feel you're totally in control.

Don't believe that feeling. It's the drug talking. And cocaine lies.

At CareUnit, we help more people overcome their problems with drugs and alcohol than any other private treatment program. Over 55,000 came to us last year alone.

Our program includes careful medical supervision, education, group sessions and free lifetime aftercare.

And because cocaine addiction is a special problem, CareUnit doctors and therapists are experts in this field.

CareUnit's initial consultation is completely confidential, it costs nothing, and our treatment is covered by most insurance plans.

Call for yourself, or for someone you care about, but call.

Because when the party's over, you can be sure the nightmare is only just beginning.

Trojans Struggle With Offense In Gridiron Defeat Saturday

A game in which Wheelwright's only points came from their defense, and their biggest gainer was a fumble recovery and return, left head coach Roger Johnson talking of time, a new offense, and an inexperienced line.

"We're inexperienced on the line. We're going with a new offense this year and anytime you try to install a whole new offense it's going to take time," Johnson said following his team's 22-7 loss Saturday to Fleming-Neon.

The Trojans, who struggled with their offensive attack, scored their lone touchdown in the first 12-minute period when defensive tackle Vic Cotton scooped up a Neon fumble near the 40, and dashed untouched into the end zone.

With Chris Thornsberry's PAT, Wheelwright evened the game at seven. Fleming-Neon, under the direction of former Betsy Layne head coach Jack Hall, had earlier scored when tailback Jimmy Taylor rambled 84 yards for a touchdown.

"The defense played real well," Johnson said. "I'm pleased with the way our defense played. We were fooled on a couple mis-direction plays, but that's something that is easily corrected."

Wheelwright got fooled, and out ran on the Pirates' initial scoring play. Taylor, a 6'1" 180 pound running back, took a handoff, headed up the middle, but cut outside, and left the Trojan defense behind as he raced 84 yards down the sideline.

Taylor's score came with 4:38 remaining in the gridiron contest held at Jenkins. His run was the first play of the drive which Fleming-Neon had started after holding the Trojans.

Wheelwright's Handy Jackson had recovered a Fleming-Neon fumble on the Pirates' 16 yard line, but after three running attempts and a pass play, the Trojans found themselves forced to give up the football on downs at the exact spot they had taken possession.

"It's going to take time. Anytime you try to learn the wishbone it's going to take some time. Some teams that have been running it all their lives still have trouble with it," Johnson said in regard to his team's lack of offensive punch.

The Trojans compiled a net total of 26 yards offensively, all coming on the ground. Their longest offensive gainer was a 14-yard run by junior fullback Chad Hall. That was also their only first down.

On most plays, the Fleming-Neon defense arrived in the Trojan backfield almost as quickly as did Bobby Hood. The Wheelwright quarterback ran the offense with defenders constantly ripping at his Jersey, or pulling at his shoe laces.

"We've got one lineman back from last year, and we're playing him at end," Johnson said, referring to senior tight end Chris Thornsberry. "We had a freshman at center; I thought he did a good job, and the rest of the guys are new."

With his one good run, Hall proved to be Wheelwright's leading rusher, gaining 17 yards on three carries. Handy Jackson ran for six yards on three carries, and Vic Cotton squeezed out nine yards while toting the pigskin three times. Hood kept the football eight times for minus eight yards. Todd Jackson had one carry for no gain.

Fleming-Neon scored what proved to be the winning touchdown with 11:29 remaining in the second and final period when Taylor capped off a 60-yard drive by dashing 11 yards for the score.

Taylor, who scored the other Pirate touchdown on a 24-yard scamper, rushed for 165 yards on nine carries. "I was really impressed with them," Johnson said of Taylor and his backfield mate David Brown. Brown also enjoyed a successful night, running the football four times for 49 yards. He had one run of 33 yards, and was looking at a clear path to the end zone until Handy Jackson ran him down from behind.

Fleming-Neon's last score came with 18 seconds remaining in the contest when Taylor broke loose for a 24-yard run.

The night wasn't exactly an impressive one for the Trojans, but Johnson says that nothing was lost, and better play is ahead.

"It was just a scrimmage game," he said of the EKMC sponsored gridiron. "We didn't come up here to show anything (special plays and the sort) and we didn't."

"I've got a feeling it will be there. After the first couple of games we should have it under control," Johnson said of mastering the new offense.

Wheelwright will open its 1988 football season, probably the last ever for the school, Friday night against EKMC foe Elkhorn City. The Trojans will be playing on the road.

The Sporting Times

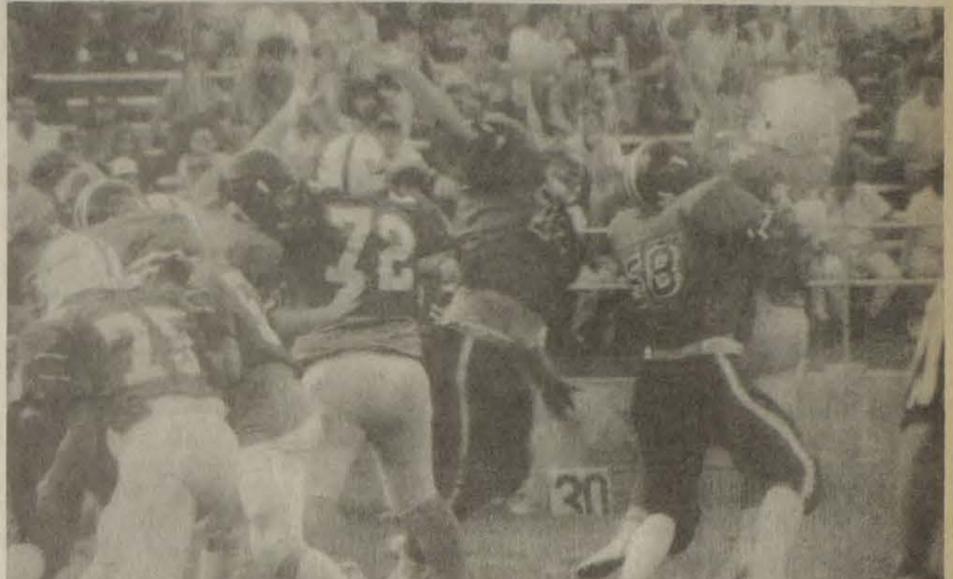

It had been a long time since the last one, and not many more may follow, but for that fast fleeting moment, Ken Griffey produced baseball ecstasy in the Queen City.

The Reds' pitiful attempt at defense didn't take away from it. Even their costly loss to Los Angeles failed to take away from its glamor and the flood of memories it represented.

Griffey's homerun in the second inning Wednesday gave Cincinnati a brief one-run lead, but for some veteran fans its purpose ran much deeper.

It might be that this season hasn't exactly created a flood of future memories. It might just be that Reds' fans will take any kind of light to HIT HEAD: Allen Central quarterback B.J. Aldrich takes a hit during first quarter action against Whitesburg Saturday night.

The Sporting Times

(Continued from Previous Page) else, the Reds brought him back to the city where he had performed so admirably for eight seasons.

Later in the game Wednesday, Griffey, playing first base, dropped a routine throw. His legs won't carry him around the bases or across the outfield grass the way they once would, and to say he is a defensive liability is being kind.

As a pinch hitter he could help the Reds, but probably not much. His career, a brilliant one, is drawing to a quick close, but the fans will remember one hot night in August when Ken Griffey returned to give them hope, let them live the good life once again.

With Cincinnati's troubles in this

SHORT SPORTS

Golf has been good to Woody and Mike Blackburn. So has Eastern Kentucky, and the brother combination of professional golfers has decided to give a little back to both while honoring their parents all at the same time.

The Blackburn brothers, natives of this area, are holding a tournament Monday in memory of their parents, and proceeds from the event, which will begin at 9:30 at the Paintsville Country Club, will go to area high school seniors to aid in their future education.

The Blackburns, both members of the Professional Golfers Association, will conduct an exhibition at 9:30 Monday morning, and play is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m.

Proceeds from the tournament will go toward sponsorship of two scholarships, one to a senior wishing to further their golf career, and another student in need of financial assistance.

Woody Blackburn won two PGA tournaments recently, and Mike is enjoying his initial year on the professional tour. Both are natives of Pikeville, but graduated from the brighten what has been a dark two-thirds of the season.

But regardless of the reasons, when the baseball left the bat it all came back. 1975, 1976... The Big Red Machine, World Series championships, and domination of Major League baseball; they were all fresh as an early morning snow.

Griffey, picked up recently from Atlanta, played through all those winning seasons. Since his callup in 1973, Griffey was a fixture in the Cincinnati lineup. He and Ed Armbrister were brought up from Indianapolis on the same day, and the talk around the Reds team consisted of their two impressive outfield prospects. But Armbrister is remembered for a controversial sacrifice bunt play in the World Series. Griffey made an impact on more than just one occasion. In fact, he was a major reason why Cincinnati won those back-to-back championships.

The homerun off Orel Hershiser recreated it all. Pete Rose greeted Griffey with a half hug, half shake, adding to the memory, reuniting the former teammates in just one more special moment.

Settled comfortably in the Reds' dugout, Griffey made one more appearance, a fan-demanded curtain call that was more for his fantastic season in 1976 than his homerun. It, in all truthfulness, was maybe the final chance for the fans in Cincinnati to say thanks. Thanks for the memories, and thanks for letting them relive the glory one more time.

The Big Red Machine had their best season ever in 1976, sweeping through the National League playoffs and defeating the Yankees in four games in the World Series.

Griffey was an offensive star on that team, hitting over .300, and helped it become one of the best ever assembled.

He, at the age of 38, was released by the Braves last week, and as a gesture of sentiment more so than any thing decade, the once dominating Reds have been forgotten, lost among this current group's lack of hitting, and inability to make a routine defensive play.

Griffey made everybody remember. He said to Chris Sabo, Barry Larkin, and Kal Daniels, "this was the way we did it."

He no doubt hit it for Johnny Bench, George Foster, and Sparky Anderson. He hit it for the die hards, the ones just waiting for the return to glory—and he hit it for himself. Griffey always seemed to do most of his damage in the clutch, just when Pat Zachary or Clay Carroll needed it the most.

Of course, he wasn't the only star the Big Red Machine had, but that was yesterday, and except for rare occasions such as Wednesday night, they are all forgotten.

What they had worked years to build, Dick Wagner tore apart in a short exercise of belt tightening. Morgan left, Rose was gone, and Anderson was fired. All had plenty of baseball production left to give.

The youth movement was in full force, and it continues today with little to show for it in between. Oh, most younger fans didn't pay much attention to it... just another wasted homerun in a season of wasted effort. Just some old guy struggling to make a contribution.

But for others, it was a blast from the past, a reminder of just how good baseball in Cincinnati can be. Just a flash of domination from the greatest team in their memory.

Here's one for you—"Is this kid really an athlete" category: A young lad, near the age of 14, enters his home all aglow from a day at school. With his face decorated with a smile of hope he asks his mother, "Mom, can I play basketball?"

The child merely sought permission to participate on the basketball team at school. But the mother, a comic in the making, said, "No, son, you can't play basketball."

"But why can't I play basketball?" the boy responded.

The mother, with a half-grin, replied, "I don't know why, son, you just never have been able to."

That's all fine and dandy, but when the world gets you down, don't look for a joke. Just take a peek at what Billy Sample has done this season, and realize that hope remains for all of us.

Sample, when he first began the year in the broadcast booth, had trouble just running through a starting lineup. But from his embarrassing, incapable start to the Dog Days of late summer, Sample has worked out the hitches and made himself a decent color man.

No, he isn't award-winning material, but compared to his horribly-mechanical beginning, he isn't above being listened to.

Maybe working with Skip Carey loosened him up just a bit.

Mathews Too Much As Rebels Fall Victim To Whitesburg

Whitesburg tailback Charles Mathews is regarded as one of this state's top running backs, and Saturday night he gave Allen Central a full lesson in why.

Mathews, a senior, rolled up 127 yards and scored three touchdowns, all in the first eight minutes of the game, to lead Whitesburg in a 26-0 gridiron victory over Allen Central, scored on each of their first three possessions, and each time Mathews was the one carrying the pigskin over the goal line.

Whitesburg drove 60 yards on its first offensive set, helped along by runs of 13 and 29 yards from the talented and speedy Mathews.

"Probably one of the best in the state if—not the best," Allen Central head coach Donnie Daniels said of Mathews. "He plays up here and doesn't get a lot of publicity state wide. He's got the athletic ability to be a good back. Heck, he's been playing since he was in the eighth grade. He should be good."

Mathews scored his first touchdown with 11:07 remaining in the first period, sprinting 29 yards for the score. He had earlier run 13 yards to get Whitesburg into Allen Central territory.

"We didn't stop him many times. I don't know where we even touched him or not," Daniels said later, commenting on his team's defensive effort against Mathews.

The elusive runner added touchdown runs of two and six yards later in the opening period, and when he crossed the goal line with 4:27 remaining, Whitesburg found itself in front, 21-0.

"I think we had a lot of jitters early, but after the first couple of series, we settled down and played pretty good defense," Daniels said. "Our offense looked good too, at times."

The Rebels' offense, which operated without top returning runner Mickey Parsons, struggled to maintain a drive, and one turnover led to Whitesburg's final touchdown. However, Daniels is confident that his team will manage to move the football later in the season, especially if Parsons can stay healthy.

"He's got to play, he's going to play a lot for us. He's got to for us to be effective on the ground," Daniels said of his junior tailback.

Parsons ran for over 50 yards last season despite missing four games, and on the first play of the game he suffered an injured shoulder which prevented him from seeing any further action.

Remis Addington led Allen Central in rushing with eight yards while fullback Bear Halbert ran for five yards. Quarterback B.J. Aldrich hit on two of his six passing attempts, but had three catchable throws dropped. His one completion for a gain was a three-yard pass to senior end Jamie Hall. "We're still young, and it showed tonight that we're still young," Daniels said. "We'll be all right. We've still got a lot of work to do, but we'll be all right."

Daniels didn't have much to talk about when it came to offense. The Rebels had 14 total yards and did not make a first down. Their biggest play was a six yard run, and the offense committed a costly turnover on its own 37 which set up a Yellow Jacket score. After taking over on their own 35, Allen Central took the pigskin to the 40 on a five-yard run by Kevin Hall, but they turned the football over on the next play. Whitesburg immediately took advantage of the mistake by mounting a five play drive, capped off by a 10-yard William Bledsole run.

The touchdown came with 9:34 remaining in the second and final period. It was Whitesburg's only score after their touchdown with 4:27 left in the opening period. Defensively, though, the Rebels made impressive stands late in the contest, and recorded three quarterback sacks. Anthony Martin, Bear Halbert, and Kevin Hall all got to Whitesburg quarterback Dale Conley.

The Rebel defensive unit held the Yellow Jackets to 85 yards and one touchdown in the last 16 minutes and 27 seconds of the game.

"We played some people that we'll have to take a long look at," Daniels said, referring to the main purpose of the game. "We used 22 kids. I wanted to give them a look to see how they are going to help us depth wise."

The Rebels open their season Saturday night when they take on Jenkins at Betsy Layne High School's field. Game time is set for 8 p.m.

Allen Central's first-ever varsity football win came last year when the Rebels defeated Jenkins in the season opener. Saturday's contest will be the season opener for each school.

Danny Wood of Wise, Va., emerged as the victor from a field of 102 participants, winning three of six events in the Kenneth Huffman Memorial Scholarship Tennis Tournament held last week at Pikeville College.

Wood defeated Oscar Neece of Pound, Va., 6-4, 6-3, to win the Men's A singles, then teamed up with Neece to defeat Donald Compton Jr. and Russell Music Jr., both of Prestonsburg, Ky., in the finals of the men's A doubles, 6-3, 6-4.

To finish his run of wins, Wood and his sister, Sharon Beverly, also of Wise, defeated the team of Cathy Thacker of Grundy, Va., and Jerry Cantrell of Mouthcard, Ky., in the final round of mixed doubles competition Sunday afternoon, 6-1, 6-0.

Beverly also took the women's singles trophy after defeating Frances Smith Coleman of Pikeville in the Sunday afternoon finals, 6-3, 6-0.

The first place trophy for men's B singles was awarded by Pikeville College Dean Charles Whittle to Denny Thacker of Grundy after he defeated David Casey of Phelps, Ky., 6-3, 6-4.

Two Pikeville College alumni, Bobby Hamilton of Prestonsburg and Darryl Clark of Stanville, Ky., took the honors in the men's B doubles by a score of 6-2, 6-4 over Willie Elliott of McDowell, Ky., and Benjie Caudill of Prestonsburg.

"We'd like to extend a special thank-you to the First National Bank of Pikeville for providing all the trophies, to East Kentucky Beverage Company for providing each participant with a Pepsi T-shirt and cold Pepsi, and to WYMT-TV for the gift certificates they provided," said Jeanne Williamson, tournament director.

Over $700 was raised by the tournament to be added to the Kenneth Huffman scholarship fund, according to Gary Thrash, president of the Pikeville College Alumni Association.

After a gridiron here and a scrimmage or two there, county football teams are preparing to go to work for real as the 1988 high school football season is scheduled to kick off Friday night.

Two county teams, Prestonsburg and Betsy Layne, open their seasons at home, while Wheelwright plays on the road, and Allen Central plays at Betsy Layne on Saturday night.

Prestonsburg, beginning what is expected to be a successful season under first-year coach William Letton, plays at home Friday night against Lexington power Tate Creek.

Betsy Layne, in what could be an emotional contest for all involved, welcomes Fleming-Neon to Mile High Field. Neon, which defeated Wheelwright in a gridiron contest Saturday, is coached by former Bobcat head man Jack Hall.

Hall, who coached two seasons at Betsy Layne, led the Bobcats to their only winning season ever in 1986, but was removed by the school board that summer.
Wheelwright travels to Pike County

Friday for a battle with Elkhorn City, which is one of the area's better passing teams.

Mile High Field will also serve as host Saturday night when the Allen Central Rebels open their season against Jenkins. Allen Central, which is currently trying to erect lights on their new field, will play their home games there on Saturdays, but the heat is preventing day games now.

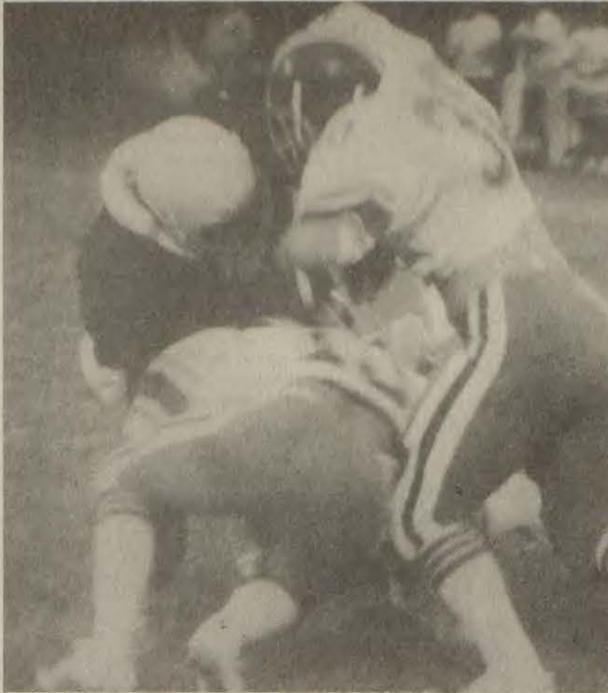

The Boston Red Sox set a new record for the most consecutive wins at home for the American League extending it one more game Saturday, but ended it in a big way Sunday.

The Red Sox, one of baseball's hottest teams, defeated Detroit 9-4 Friday to run its home winning streak to 23, surpassing the Philadelphia Athletics' 22 in a row in 1931.

Saturday, they ran the record-setting streak to 24 by pounding Detroit 16-4. Somewhere between Saturday and Sunday, the Tigers got tired of all the records and such—they took all their frustrations out on Boston Sunday.

Detroit scored four runs in the first, five in the second, five more in the third and went on to score 18 runs while bringing to an end the Red Sox home winning streak.

Undisputed heavyweight boxing champion Mike Tyson will get at least $5 million dollars for his October fight with Frank Bruno, according to

NFL News And Notes

NFC Central: It seems as if, regardless of the question, the Chicago Bears always find an answer. Walter Payton, the NFL's most successful running back of all time, retired after last season, but nobody seemed worried.

Neal Anderson, drafted two years ago out of Florida, has been groomed as an heir to Payton's throne, and the 5'11" 210 pound speedster proved his readiness last season. Anderson led Chicago in rushing with 586 yards and a 4.5 per carry average. Payton had 533, but only just over a three and a half yard per carry.

If Anderson, for some unexplainable reason, doesn't fill the need, the Bears can give Brad Muster, a bright running prospect from Stanford, a chance. Muster, in his rookie season, will at least be a qualified backup.

Anderson also caught 47 passes last season, third best among NFC running backs. He may not be the emotional leader Payton was, but his physical performance equaled some of Sweetness' better ones.

All-pro linebacker Wilbur Marshall took the free agent trip to Washington, but Chicago gave Ron Rivera plenty of action last year. He isn't expected to replace Marshall totally, but the fifth-year player from California should ease the pain of his leaving.

For some added insurance, the Bears drafted highly regarded Dante Jones of Oklahoma, on the second round, and Troy Johnson, another Sooner linebacker, three rounds later.

Chicago also got speedy LSU receiver Wendell Davis, which made Willie Gault expendable. The Bears traded him to the Raiders for a pair of future draft choices.

Two former all-pro players are gone, along with one of football's top deep threats, but Chicago is still the team most people are taking as the NFC Central champion. Their defense is the main reason why. Last year, Chicago was the best NFC team at stopping the run, and seventh against the pass.

The Bears will need a full season from Jim McMahon, and another balanced performance by Neal Anderson to keep that dominating defense from wearing down, and to keep Minnesota in second place.

The Vikings made an incredible run through the playoffs year ago, but didn't get much help from the draft—least not enough to overtake Chicago. Minnesota gave up 52 sacks a year ago, and recorded only 43. The linebacking corps isn't strong, and the kicking game is weak. That is why the Vikings were 8-7 in the regular season.

Tampa Bay is expected to be the most improved team in the division, but it shouldn't be hard to improve on a 4-11 record. The Bucs went for line help in the draft, taking two offensive linemen and two defensive linemen with their first seven picks.

Neither Tampa Bay, Detroit, or Green Bay are figured as division contenders, and will more than likely battle each other in an effort to stay out of the cellar. Last year the Lions and Buccaneers tied for the spot, each finishing 4-11.

Two of Detroit's wins came in the final three weeks when they defeated Tampa Bay and Atlanta.

AFC Central: Once the class of the AFC, the Central Division is making strong steps toward regaining that dominant stride which made it the strongest in the conference, if not the NFL.

Pittsburgh owned the AFC in the 1970s, making it to the Super Bowl five times, and Houston and Cincinnati made it in the early 80s. Now, though, Cleveland is the team bringing pride to the division. After reaching the conference championship game the past two seasons, the Browns may be ready to reach one level higher.

They own the best backfield combination in the NFL when Earnest Byner and Kevin Mack stay healthy, and Bernie Kosar was the AFC's highest-rated passer last year. Two years ago, Byner and Mack each ran for over 1,000 yards, and last season, even with the strike and injury problems, they combined for almost 1,200 yards.

Kosar who isn't praised for his mechanics or methods, threw enough wobbly passes to rack up over 3,000 yards. He also threw 22 touchdowns, and had only nine passes picked off.

Cleveland, coming off a 10-5 season, led the AFC in total offense, averaging over 29 points per non-strike game, and gave up the second fewest points in the conference. Byner and Mack, in addition to their running exploits, caught 84 passes between them. Webster Slaughter and Brian Brennen, the two starting wideouts, hauled down a total of 90. Slaughter averaged 17.1 yards per catch, best on the team.

If the Browns have a weakness, it could be along their defensive line, but their linebackers and defensive backs are more than capable of filling any defensive holes.

In the past three years, Cincinnati has drafted defensive people early, and this season the Bengals are hoping it pays off. All-Americans such as Jason Buck, Mike Hemmerstein and Jim Skow join tough nose tackle Tim Krumie on a defensive line which has many big-name players, if not many big plays.

The linebacking crew has Joe Kelly, an all-American from Washington, and this year the Bengals added Rickey Dixon, the nation's best defensive back, to its pass coverage corps. If their young defensive talent can live up to earlier expectations, the Bengals will be tough to handle because their offense can score points.

Although Boomer Esiason had a disappointing year in '87, he is a former all-pro quarterback, and has fast receivers with good hands. Eddie Brown and Tim McGee are one of the NFL's fastest wide receiver duos, and Chris Collinsworth is still effective.

The Bengals average almost 300 pounds across their offensive line, and they should have a healthy James Brooks, the conference's yardage leader in 1986, to block for.

The Steelers have improved, but still need a quarterback, and their draft was one of the weakest in pro football.

Pittsburgh was third in the AFC in rushing, and close to the bottom in passing. If new quarterback Todd Blackridge can fill the hole at quarterback, the Steelers could move up from their third finish of one year ago.

Houston made the playoffs in 1987, but they didn't beat a team that finished with a winning record. They also lost 40-7 to Cleveland, and 51-27 to Indianapolis. Two of their nine wins came during the strike.

Tyson, undefeated as a professional boxer, is scheduled to take on the European champion October 8 at Wembley Stadium in London, England. The fight will be aired by HBO.

The Cincinnati Bengals proved Saturday night that they may be capable of finally playing defense when they held the Buffalo Bills to only 33 yards rushing in a 24-13 Bengal victory.

Cincinnati, 2-1 in the pre-season, has long suffered from defensive problems, but apparently all their high drafts of the past four seasons are poised to fulfill their expectations in 1988.

The Bengals have been selected by some to finish in the cellar of the AFC Central, but thus far in pre-season they have proved their ability to perform on the same level as the NFL's best.

The NFL again this week ordered a suspension due to illegal drug activities. Tony Collins, a former running back with the New England Patriots and now with the Indianapolis Colts, was suspended for one year due.

Collins, a valuable part of the Patriots offense two years ago, was picked up by Indianapolis recently after New England released him. The third leading rusher in Patriot history, he was released by them last spring after that club suspected him of using illegal drugs. He is the eighth player suspended this summer by the NFL.

Kentucky Athletic Hall Of Fame Scheduled To Honor Inductees

On September 26, in a day-long, all-star, multi-sport induction event, the Kentucky Athletic Hall of Fame will welcome nine sports standouts into its respected ranks.

All Kentuckians, or with a strong Kentucky sports connection, these players and coaches are, alphabetically: Alfred "Butch" Beard—Led Breckinridge County High to the 1965 state tournament championship. The 6-foot-3 guard played his college ball at the University of Louisville, averaging 19 points for Cardinal teams that had a combined 65-18 record. Named to the 1968-69 Helms Foundation All-American team. Enjoyed a 10-year pro career and now a pro coach.

David Russell "Gus" Bell—A left-handed power hitter, the Louisville native hit 206 home runs and batted .281 during a 14-year big-league career. While playing with the Reds from 1953-1961, Bell made the National League All-Star team four times. A member of the Reds' Hall of Fame since 1964, Bell and son Buddy are closing in on the big-league record for most homers by a father and son.

Paul "Bear" Bryant—The winningest coach in college football history, Bryant had a 323-85-17 record. (.780) at Maryland, Kentucky, Texas A&M and Alabama. His 60-23-5 record in eight years at UK (1945-53) included trips to the Cotton, Orange, and Sugar Bowls. His best Wildcat team had a 10-1 record in 1950 before ending Oklahoma's 31-game winning streak with a 13-7 victory in the Sugar Bowl.

Ralph Carlisle—A brilliant basketball tactician, Carlisle won Boys State High School Tournament championships at Lexington Lafayette High in 1950, 1953, and 1957. In 24 years at Lafayette, Highlands, Kavanaugh and Madison, Carlisle had a 488-144 record before retiring in 1962. As a player, Carlisle made All-Southeastern Conference for Adolph Rupp at Kentucky.

Billy Evans—An outstanding amateur tennis player, the native of Berea is better known for his basketball achievements. He was a starting guard on Kentucky's unbeaten 1953-54 team and the captain of the next season's 23-3 team. His biggest honor was being named captain of the 1956 U.S. Olympic team that won the gold medal in Melbourne, Australia. Also was a member of the 1958 U.S. team that won the gold in the Pan-American Games.

Letcher Norton—In two stints as Clark County High coach spanning three decades, Norton developed some of the finest teams in the state's history. His team won the Boys State Tournament in 1951, finished second in 1950, and were third in both 1952 and 1958. A firm believer in the fast-break attack, Norton had a 603-140 career record in 23 years of coaching. Betty Rowland Probasco—The finest female golfer of her era, the Lexington native won the Kentucky Womens' Amateur four times in five years from 1949 through 1953, including three straight titles (1951-52-53).

S.T. Roach—A leader in the integration of Kentucky high school basketball, Roach had a 512-142 record in 21 years at Lexington Dunbar. After Dunbar became the first all-black school admitted to the Kentucky High School Athletic Association in 1957, Roach took six of his next eight teams to the State Tournament, finishing second twice. Prior to KHSAA membership, Roach coached Dunbar to two Kentucky High School Athletic League titles.

Mike Silliman—The 6-foot-6 center led Louisville's St. Xavier to the 1962 Boys State Tournament championship, then went to the U.S. Military Academy, where he became the finest basketball player in West Point history. An unselfish player who emphasized rebounding and defense as much as scoring, Silliman was named captain of the 1968 U.S. Olympic team that won the gold medal in Mexico City under coach Henry Iba.

Induction ceremonies will begin with the Fourth Annual Kentucky Athletic Hall of Fame Golf Tournament at Hunting Creek Country Club in Prospect, Ky. The field will be restricted to 90 players, and the entry fee is $215. Tee off will be at 11 a.m., with a shotgun start.

The Kentucky Athletic Hall of Fame Banquet follows the tournament.

Proceeds from golf tournament entry fees and banquet ticket sales will go to Kosair Charities, who will apply them to the furtherance of youth sports medicine.

AN EMBARRASSING CONDITION

The person who experiences a mild case of diarrhea can turn to over-the-counter remedies for help. First, however, he should give up solid foods and start drinking clear liquids. This dietary measure will help in the replacement of water loss. Diarrhea is water that stays in the intestines instead of being absorbed by the body. It is also wise to give up caffeine and alcohol, two drugs that only add to water loss. As for over-the-counter relief from mild diarrhea, a popular absorbent-type uses kaolin and pectin to bind with the excess water. Another uses the active ingredient polycarbophil, an indigestible resin. This antidiarrhea medication is recommended by the FDA for administration to children.

Whether dispensing the prescription your physician has ordered or advising you about over-the-counter products, everyone at COOLEY APOTHECARY will serve your needs with the utmost professionalism and understanding. Hazard Communication Standard In Effect Now, Say Labor Reps

The Kentucky Labor Cabinet has announced that the expanded hazard communication standard, which affects all industry, as well as state and local governments, which was previously under a stay of enforcement, is in effect.

The standard was expanded from standards which applied to the manufacturing sector, to all those industries where employees are exposed to hazardous chemicals.

The expanded standard, published on August 24, 1987, was adopted by the Ky. OSH Standards Board and was to go into full effect in May 1988. However, in response to requests from construction industry groups challenging the federal standard, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit issued a stay of the standard. On July 8, the U.S. Dept. of Labor received a clarification to the Third Circuit's order stating that the stay only applied to "...construction employers in the non-manufacturing sector." With this clarification, Ky. Labor Cabinet officials, in addition to the federal officials, will be enforcing the newly expanded standards.

As of August 1, 1988, federal OSHA resumed inspecting for compliance with the hazard communication standard in all programmed inspections in all industries, with the exception of construction. Labor Cabinet Secretary Carol Palmore stated "...staff of the OSH Compliance Division will begin enforcing these standards in their inspections now that the question of the stay has been clarified." The manufacturing sector has been covered by the standards since 1983.

Additional information concerning the expanded hazard communication standards may be obtained from the Ky. Labor Cabinet's Division of Education and Training. Douglas J. Peek, Director of the Division stated that "seminars covering the expanded standards have been offered at various locations across the state and plans are underway to schedule another series in the near future." Peek encouraged anyone with questions to contact his office at 502/564-6895 or by writing to the Division of Education and Training, The US 127 Building, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Marriage, Divorce May Stop Most Benefits

Most Social Security benefits to dependents or survivors of retired, disabled, or deceased workers end if the person divorces or marries, Jim Kelly, Social Security Director for the Big Sandy Area, said recently. But benefits to disabled widows and widowers 50-59, and to widows and widowers 60 or older can continue upon remarriage.

This same rule applies to disabled surviving divorced spouses 50-59 and to surviving divorced spouses 60 or older, Kelly said.

Benefits to a child getting checks because he or she is under 18, or 19 if a student in high school, or disabled will generally end if the child marries. Checks to a spouse getting benefits on the record of a retired or disabled worker will end if the marriage ends in divorce unless the spouse is 62 or older and the marriage lasted 10 years or more.

Checks for a widowed mother or father getting benefits because she or he is caring for an entitled child will end if the parent remarries.

There is an exception to these general rules, Kelly said. If an otherwise eligible person receiving benefits as a widow, widower, or adult disabled in childhood marries a person also getting one of these benefits she or he can continue to get benefits.

Benefits will also continue if a person receiving benefits as a widowed mother or father or adult disabled in childhood marries a person getting benefits as a retired or disabled worker. A retired or disabled worker's benefits are never affected if he or she marries or divorces.

More information about how divorce, marriage, or remarriage affect Social Security benefits can be obtained at the Big Sandy Area Social Security office, located on U. S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in the telephone directory under U.S. Government.

ARC To Sponsor Technology Conference In SC Sept. 28-29

Appalachian Regional Commission Federal Co-Chairman Winifred A. Pizano and States' Co-Chairman Carroll A. Campbell Jr., have announced that the Commission will sponsor a major regionwide conference, "Taking Technology Home to Appalachia," in Greenville, S.C., Sept. 28-29.

The conference will explore ways to help small and medium-sized businesses in the Appalachian Region modernize through the use of new technologies to increase their competitiveness in world markets.

In announcing the conference, Pizano said, "By making the full benefits of technology available to small and mid-sized companies we can offer real economic opportunity to parts of Appalachia facing more advanced competitors in our increasingly global economy. Our goal for this conference is to help spur the growth of technology transfer initiatives across Appalachia, so that more of our smaller manufacturers—many of them in mostly rural areas—can reap a full share of the benefits made possible by rapid technological advance."

South Carolina Gov. Carroll A. Campbell Jr., said, "South Carolina welcomes the opportunity to host this important conference. Not only does technology transfer enable manufacturers throughout the Region to compete in the world marketplace; new technologies create new jobs, and that's our long-range goal."

The conference, to be held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Greenville, will be attended by 250-300 state and local economic development and technology program officials, state legislators, trade association and other business leaders, community college officials and others concerned with technology transfer programs.

Several recent studies sponsored by ARC have stressed the importance of new technologies to the future growth of the Region's industries. Many Appalachian states, such as Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania, have already invested heavily in the development of these technologies.

The challenge is to build on this development by "taking technology home" to Appalachia's small and mid-sized manufacturers and other industries.

A series of panels and plenary sessions featuring speakers from Appalachia and other states will explore such topics as: how government can supplement, rather than supplant, technology diffusion in the private sector; the need both for "high" and "low" technology; relating modernization to non-manufacturing as well as manufacturing industries; working effectively with companies far outside major urban centers; and roles for universities, community colleges and technical schools.

The conference will be followed on Sept. 30 by a meeting of the Appalachian Regional Commission.

The Pikeville Review is accepting poems, essays, interviews and short stories for possible publication in the winter 1989 issue, according to Dr. James Alan Riley. "We're looking for quality material from writers all over the country, whatever their subjects and settings might be," said Riley, who edits The Pikeville Review and teaches writing at Pikeville College. "We especially want to encourage writers in Appalachia and throughout Kentucky to consider The Review as a possible forum for their work." Riley noted that the first issue of The Pikeville Review included contributions from Meredith Sue Willis, a New York University writer who has twice won the PEN Syndicated Fiction Contest; Karen McElmurray, who teaches at the University of Virginia; R. T. Smith, alumni writer-in-residence at Auburn University; Michael C. White, editor of the American Fiction series; and Daniel J. Langton, whose poetry has appeared in such publications as The Atlantic, The American Scholar, The Nation and The Paris Review. Deadline for submissions is March 31, 1989. Manuscripts should be submitted to The Pikeville Review, Humanities Department, Pikeville College, Pikeville, Ky. 41501. State Craftspeople Attending 1988 New York Gift Show

From country to contemporary, Kentucky's crafts industry has rapidly grown into a small business leader in the Bluegrass State. The state that's "open for business" continues to expand the market for its quality handcrafts. Noted newly appointed Arts Commissioner Lanette Thurman, "Kentucky, under the leadership of Gov. Wallace Wilkinson, is moving ahead in its economic development efforts to recruit new industry, but, more to the point, we have recognized the importance of strengthening the potential among small businesses already here. Crafts are leading the way." Kentucky again is presenting displays by a number of top craftspeople at the New York International Gift Fair, Aug. 14-18, and representatives from the Kentucky Department of the Arts Crafts Marketing Program are manning a booth that displays an additional variety of the state's top crafts. They will also supply information and

DON'T LET WINTER TAKE YOUR HEATING BILLS FOR A RIDE.

When temperatures take the plunge this winter, your heating bills needn't climb. Not if you're on Columbia's Budget Payment Plan. The plan averages your bills into 12 equal payments, so there are no peaks and valleys because of the weather. Instead, the monthly amount stays the same... higher than you now pay in the summer, but a lot lower in the winter. Rather than ups and downs, your gas bills stay on a smooth, even track all year round. It's easy to be a Budget Payment customer, too. All you do is pay the "Budget Amount" on your August bill, and you'll be billed that amount every month. Your meter will continue to be read as usual, and each month's bill will continue to show the amount of gas you used. A review in March determines if your budget amount needs to be adjusted because of weather. Another good idea: sign on for Checkfree® too. It automatically makes your gas payment from your checking account each month, so you save time, postage and check charges. Join the Columbia Budget Payment Plan. You'll take the ups and downs out of your heating bills...and leave the high cost of winter behind.

COLUMBIA GAS

KP Customers Set New Record

The 150,000 customers of Kentucky Power Company established new all-time summer peak demands for electricity on three succeeding days last week, according to company officials. On Tuesday, Aug. 9, customers set a new summer peak of 961,000 kilowatts during the hour ending 5 p.m., exceeding a peak of 959,000 kw that had been set last July 15. But then, during the hour ending 2 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 10, the demand for electricity vaulted to 967,000 kw. It went even higher—to 974,000 kw—during the hour ending 3 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 11. Peak demand is defined as the total amount of electrical energy required by all customers at a given point in time; for example, during a one-hour period.

State Student Loan Corp. Earns Additional $5 Million

The Kentucky Student Loan Corporation approved a bond sale recently that allowed the corporation to earn more than $5 million on the last day such earnings were permitted.

According to state Finance Secretary L. Rogers Wells Jr., limitations on investment earnings for tax-exempt bonds were proposed by Congress on Monday, Aug. 1, that would have limited the corporation's earnings on the $90 million bond sale to about $100,000. "When proposals are made in Congress concerning bond markets, any bond transactions must be treated as if those proposals are law," Wells explained.

The state learned of the impending proposal three weeks ago. The corporation had the bond sale originally scheduled for October, but Wells decided to move with the corporation's issue as quickly as possible before the investment earning limits were proposed. "Putting together a bond transaction of this magnitude in such a short period of time is just short of a miracle. We had to use every resource available to meet all the preliminary demands required of a large bond sale.

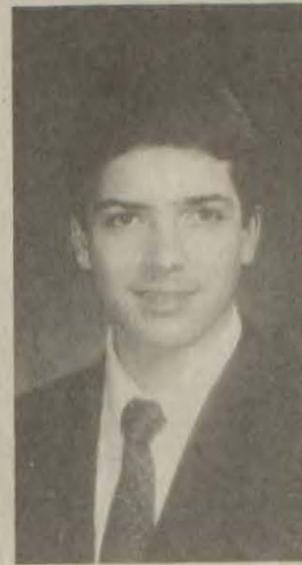

"We have developed a 'can-do' attitude and the flexibility within the Finance Cabinet that allows us to take the offensive when things must move fast. This aggressiveness combined with the impeccable reputation of the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority allowed us to meet this challenge," Wells said.

Wells said the bond sale guarantees the corporation is able to meet all the loan demands of eligible students. The average cost of a student loan authorized by the corporation is about $2200.

The New York investment firms of Shearson, Lehman and Hutton and Drexel, Burnham and Lambert teamed up to serve as underwriters of the bond sale. Wyatt, Tarrant and Combs served as bond counsel.

Job Training Program To Aid 35,000 Ky. Food Stamp Recipients

Kentucky's pilot project directing food stamp recipients into employment, pre-employment vocational training or courses leading to an employment-enhancing high school equivalency diploma (GED) will be expanded to cover roughly one-fifth of the adult Kentuckians on food stamps.

The Kentucky Food Stamp Education and Training Program will be operated in a dozen counties beginning Sept. 1 jointly by the state department for Employment Services—Kentucky's primary job placement agency—and Social Insurance—which administers the federal food stamp program in Kentucky.

"The major goal of this push is to help food stamp recipients find jobs that will enable them eventually to leave the welfare system," said Social Insurance Commissioner Mike Robinson.

"We had 25,000 participants in the first year in Daviess, Campbell, Fayette, Jefferson and Kenton counties," Robinson said, "and we expect to add 35,000 by extending coverage to eligible food stamp recipients in Boyd, Christian, Hardin, McCracken, Perry, Pulaski and Warren counties this year."

Although most adult food stamp recipients in those 12 counties are required to participate or lose their eligibility, the program's value comes in removing some of the barriers many people on food stamps face in looking for a job.

"Each food stamp client is notified by Social Insurance if he or she is to report to the local Employment Services office to enroll in the program," said Robinson. "Employment Services staff are the experts in placing people into jobs and they have a good working relationship with vocational school and other job training agency staff."

Once an evaluation is done by DES staff, the food stamp client, assisted by the counselor, makes a decision on which component of the program—job placement, vocational training or GED study—best fits the client's needs.

For those electing to further their education, Robinson said that recipients who have a high school diploma or GED may participate in the community college courses.

"The GED classes will run for a minimum of six months, while participants choosing college courses must attend at least one semester," he said. "Since Campbell, Kenton and Warren counties don't have community colleges, that specific option can't be offered there."

The skills training option will be provided through a minimum of six months on-the-job training (OJT) or through vocational school courses selected by the participant.

"After satisfactorily completing any classes or training, participants enter the job search portion of the program," Robinson said. "Before any actual job-hunting begins, however, about nine of every 10 participants will undergo up to a month of additional training on the skills necessary in a successful job search."

While looking for new employment, program participants will be required to make an average of three job contacts a week. They will also take part in bi-weekly group discussions about the results of job interviews and contacts made.

Robinson said, "Clearly, this program is designed to assist our clients in finding a job—to help them help themselves up and out of Kentucky's welfare system and not to continue their dependence on the food stamp system."

There are currently approximately 380,000 Kentuckians, including 170,000 adults, receiving food stamps.

Why Not A New School For McDowell and Wheelwright?

If the school board would do away with the seven fat office positions and didn't pay one man several hundred thousand dollars to oversee the new school at Hi Hat, then there would be enough money to build a new school at Wheelwright and McDowell!

According to the paper, the new Superintendent didn't know what recommendations the state had made before he was hired. I find this hard to believe as he certainly is not new in the main office.

When I am elected I will do everything possible to see to it, that your money is spent on your child's education instead of political allies.

The bonds will be awarded to the youngest infant present born at Paul B. Huge circus tents will be erected on the lot adjacent to Paul B. Hall, according to Pat Van Hoose, Chairperson for the event. Van Hoose said that more than 1500 infants have been born at the medical center since its opening nearly five years ago.

The celebration Aug. 27 is just one of several activities planned between now and Sept. 30, Van Hoose explained. Other events include an employees recognition awards program and an open house scheduled for September.

Van Hoose emphasized that, although the birthday celebration is intended for infants and children, "parents, grandparents and the public are invited."

Dani Smith Named STAY Coordinator

Dani Smith has been named the coordinator for STAY, a dropout prevention program developed by the Floyd County Education Forum and funded, in part, by a grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission.

Smith, a native of Allen, received her educational training at Prestonsburg High School, Prestonsburg Community College and the University of Kentucky, College of Social Work.

As STAY coordinator her duties will be to coordinate all activities to significantly reduce the dropout rate in Floyd County. STAY includes three objective strategies to meet this goal, according to Forum officials.

The first objective is to develop a public awareness campaign using the different types of media available in the area. The development of prevention programs tailored to each school needs are also being developed.

The second objective is to develop a program geared toward the ninth and 10th grades, to increase the awareness of both students and their parents of the dropout problems. Counseling, as well as other support mechanisms, will be used. Career planning programs will also be developed to help inform students about the future.

The last objective develops a referral and support system in the schools to identify and assist at-risk students. Group counseling and peer counseling programs will be developed to help these students. Better communication between students and teachers will be encouraged.

The STAY program officials hope to lower the dropout rate in Floyd County by developing the three objectives with the help of principals, teachers, businesses and the community.

32 Attend Reunion Of Gray Family

Slone-Stephens

Richenna Ann Slone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richmond Slone of Blue River, and Timothy L. Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvin L. Stephens and grandson of Minnie Allen of Dwale, were united in marriage July 30 at the Christ United Methodist Church at Allen. The Rev. Kenneth R. Lemaster officiated. The matron of honor was Teresa Trout; Shawn Stephens was best man, with Vincent Stephens serving as usher. The newlyweds will be residing in Lexington, where they will be attending the University of Kentucky.

Thirty-two members of the family of Mae and Richard Gray met in July for a family reunion; four generations were represented.

All of the children of the Grays grew up in and around Wayland and attended school there. The couple was married 52 years before Richard, a former miner at Wayland, died two years ago from complications resulting from black lung. They were married on the old Prestonsburg Bridge, a beautiful old landmark between Prestonsburg and West Prestonsburg.

Mae and Richard, along with his brother, Josh Gray, and his wife, Gladys, were on their way to find a minister and met one in the middle of the bridge. They stopped him and he performed the marriage ceremony right there.

Richard and Mae are the parents of seven girls and two boys. They have 25 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren. Seven of these children were present for the reunion, held on Carr Creek at the park. Janice, the oldest drove up from Fruitland Park, Fla., where she has lived for 17 years, she went there after her husband, Hobert Johnson of Garrett, retired with over 20 years in the United States Army. Loretta flew in from Stillwater, Minn. Jeanetta and Virginia drove in from Shelby and Willard, Ohio. Juanita lives in Prestonsburg, Libby in Vicco and Tim in Kite.

Everyone brought covered dishes, the great-grandchildren enjoyed playing in the lake and the sand pile, while the adults made video movies and caught up on what had been happening in each family since they had last been together.

After the weekend was over, most of the families had to return to their homes. Hobert Johnson went berry picking. He looks forward all year long to going back to the hills of Kentucky and picking wild blackberries and making jelly to take to friends in Florida.

BE SURE YOUR CHILDREN'S VOCABULARY
INCLUDES THE WORD "NO"

It's time to send your children off to school again, to prepare them for the world they must one day confront. The school will do a good job of this, but your cooperation is also needed in order to make sure that they don't learn the wrong things. As everyone knows, we are living in an era where drug abuse is rampant, and the children are being lured into this trap at a shockingly early age. Don't fail to warn them about this, as a part of their preparation for the new school year, for it can be vastly more important than their clothes or books. Moreover, you can reinforce your efforts by enrolling them in the Sunday school at your House of Worship. With all this, you can rest assured that the vocabulary your children develop in school will include the proper use of the word "NO", as the password to a happier, healthier and longer life.

Books And Things: Review Of PCC Magazines

This column is entitled "Books and Things." So far, I have been guilty of treating the former to the exclusion of the latter. The PCC library has books, but it also has other things. For one, it has over 150 current subscription to magazines—popular, professional, historical, technical and literary. Following is a sample of the magazines held by the PCC library.

SOUTHERN FLAVOR
Just as "down the street" news holds more interest than news from across the nation, so the magazines that feature state or regional news and authors hold a special place in our library. Some of the popular reading titles are: Southern Magazine, with an article on Southern women and success; Southern Outdoors, the magazine for anglers and hunters; and Southern Living, this month with a special section on microwave cookery.

The library also subscribes to Successful Farming in the South which is, predictably, covering the drought of '88 and The Kentucky Coal Journal, which is the monthly newspaper of the coal industry.

For history buffs there is The Filson Club History Quarterly, the Kentucky Historical Society Register, The Kentucky Explorer, Think, from the humanities in Kentucky and, for genealogy searchers, Kentucky Ancestors, the quarterly of the Kentucky Historical Society.

For the place to find offerings by your favorite Appalachian author, the library subscribes to two of the most important journals in this budding genre—Appalachian Heritage, published by Berea College, and Now and Then, put out by East Tennessee State University. These journals feature works by Wilma Dykeman, Loyal Jones, Jesse Stuart, Denise Giardina and Rodger Cunningham, along with a host of other regional writers. These journals are always interested in good writing by residents of Appalachia and tell where to submit original manuscripts.

CONSUMER HELP
This is the age of consumerism. Television ads scream at us to buy this product or that special—salespeople give us their best pitch. We have to be smart shoppers to keep cousin Harry from saying afterward that he could have bought it cheaper. To meet this growing need, the library subscribes to the popular Consumer Reports and the Consumer Research magazine. Consumer Reports This month tests sports sedans, rates boom boxes, follows up on the Suzuki rollovers, and gives you the scoop on all-purpose cleaners. Consumer Research, in the August issue, tells you how to buy a computer modem, get a building permit, earn money and grow fish—it reports the crash test results for '88 model cars and tells you what you need to know about contact lenses. Both of these magazines are non-profit organizations established to provide the public with tested consumer information. They are not supported by any manufacturers or government agencies.

DO-IT-YOURSELF DEPARTMENT
For the do-it-yourselfer, the pride in a well-crafted project is worth more than any store-bought item. The library provides three magazines for those who might need a little help to accomplish their ideas. Homeowner this month offers five ways to expand your home, 12 ways to beat the heat, and 15 types of trees to add to your immediate environment, as well as directions for a build-it-yourself shed.

The Family Handyman offers a section on installing ceramic tile, dressing up a room with wainscoting and building backyard play structures. For those who like the click of needles over the pounding of hammers on nails, the library has Needlecraft for Today, a magazine of home crafts. There's a section in the August issue covering quilting—for beds and bodies. There's full instruction for traditional quilts and for the wonderful things you can do with the technique in clothing design. There's also instruction for cross-stitched, knitted and embroidered items.

HEALTH, WEALTH, WISDOM
Not to forget the serious side of life, the library has periodicals to keep you healthy, wealthy and wise. On the health scene, Prevention will help you lower your blood pressure and your weight while Health will tell you how to read a food label, prepare an elegant picnic and benefit from sleeping. To help yourself on the way to wealth,

Hall Participates In Leadership Class

Malissa Hall, a senior at Wheelwright High School in Wheelwright, attended a leadership conference held by the Kentucky Appalachian Foundation at Alice Lloyd College July 29-31.

The program is the Kentucky Appalachian Foundation Volunteer Leadership Corps. The Corps has been established by the foundation to enable the students to learn valuable leadership skills, become involved within their schools and with their peers, to work on the high dropout rate and low college attendance rate and to become directly involved with the foundation.

"I learned that if I have enough faith in something, I can achieve it," said Hall. "I also learned about communicating, the responsibility of leadership, and by cooperating and working with others, I can achieve and be a success with them as being a part of their team."

Hall is involved in Beta Club, FHA, SADD, and the literary magazine, Mountain Magic. She enjoys reading, writing, and working with animals.

SOAP BEAT

Julie struggles to avoid Nico on 'All My Children'

By Marie Michaels

Robert Duncan McNeill, who played Charlie Brent on "All My Children," is off looking for other acting jobs now that he's no longer with the soap. Since Charlie has gone off to college, his former fiancée, Julie Chandler (played by Lauren Holly) will have an even harder time avoiding Nico (Maurice Benard). Nico, on the other hand, has no intention of letting Julie get away from him.

• New to the cast of "AMC" is Neil Bonin, who plays Jonathan Riseley, the right-hand man of Phoebe Wallingford (Ruth Warrick). Bonin was enrolled in college as a marketing major when a friend convinced him to audition for an industrial video. Bonin got the part, and he's been acting ever since. Phoebe has big plans for Jonathan to become romantically involved with her ward, Cecily Davidson (Rosa Langschwadt), who currently has her eye on ex-con Sean Cudahy (Alan Dysert).

• New members of the "Days of Our Lives" cast include Silvana Gallardo, who is playing Rosa Ramirez, mother to Emilio (Billy Hufsey) and April (Lisa Howard); and Michael Bays, who is playing the younger Ramirez son, Julio.

• Actors often have ideas about their characters and story lines, and Michael Storm, who has played Dr. Larry Wolek on "One Life to Live" for the past 19 years, is no exception.

• "I'd really like to see Larry become involved with Sarah Gordon (played by Jensen Buchanan)," he says. "We work well together, and I think she's a wonderful actress. Besides," Storm adds with a laugh, "I'm getting lonely. Larry hasn't had a love interest in sooooo long."

• Alan Coates, who recently joined "OLTL" as Garth, feels right at home on the soap, since the cast includes several veterans of "Edge of Night," on which Coates played Ian Devereaux. Coates has been reunited with Sharon Gabet (Raven Whitney on "EON"), who plays Melinda Cramer, and Lois Kibbee (Geraldine Whitney on "EON"), who plays Elizabeth Sanders. And a close friend of Coates', Larkin Malloy (Schuyler Whitney on "EON"), plays Travis Montgomery on "All My Children," which tapes across the street from "OLTL."

IN THIS WEEK

Hughes, 'Cavanaugh's' are starting over again

By Paul Elie

"They won't let us go," says Barnard Hughes, the star of "The Cavanaugh's," which is airing Mondays on CBS. "Us" is the cast of the half-hour sitcom about a family of Boston Irish, and "they" is CBS, which aired the show briefly in 1987, and now has brought it back for an end-of-summer run.

Barnard Hughes

"We taped these episodes 18 months ago," Hughes says. "Eight shows at the end of 1986 and the beginning of 1987. Those eight are going to start us off. Then, if the strike ever ends, we'll do eight more. We have a pickup date of February."

Hughes, 73, plays Francis "Pop" Cavanaugh, the nominal head of the Cavanaugh household. Pop's pronouncements about faith, morals and the good old days meet with constant disagreement from the rest of the family: a former dancer (played by Christine Ebersole), a smart-alecky priest (John Short) and enough nephews and grandchildren to fill several bunk beds.

The series' new run has forced Hughes to start the promotional grind over again. "I had to go down to New York to do some TV spots, and appear on 'The Morning Show,' as a kind of kickoff for the summer and fall season," he says. "Then I went to Montreal to film 'Day One,' a thing by Aaron Spelling for CBS about the making of the atomic bomb. I play Henry Stimson, the aristocratic secretary of state. Television's been over the territory before, of course."

Hughes has grown accustomed to playing old roles over again. "Da," a drama for which he won a Tony Award in 1978, ran in regional and road productions after closing on Broadway. And earlier this year "Da" was adapted for a film starring Hughes and Martin Sheen.

"I had given up hope long ago that the film would ever be made—with me in it, anyway," Hughes says. "Ten years ago I first heard rumors that someone wanted to do it. It fell apart though, it always does. It was only when Martin Sheen got involved that things started to happen. I said I wouldn't believe it until they handed me my airplane ticket (to Ireland, where the movie was filmed). That was last year, almost 10 years after I closed the play."

"It was a great relief to all of us," he adds. "We met in the Algonquin Hotel while they were running off copies of the screen treatment. I've never seen such anxious people as the people waiting for copies in the dining room that morning."

MARQUEE

COCKTAIL (R - Touchstone) Starring Tom Cruise. ★★

By J.T. YURKO

As "Cocktail" opens, Brian Flanagan - Tom Cruise, that is - is just out of the Army, and he wants to make it big. But Army life obviously isn't all that it can be: Cruise hasn't been trained for a career. So, after being turned down for seemingly every job in New York, Cruise decides to work nights tending bar while attending business classes in the daytime.

Knowing only that he wants to make a million bucks, he reads books with titles like "How to Take Your Idea and Make a Million Bucks." Meanwhile, his school days slip away in the daze of alcoholic evenings. No: he's not a big consumer, of course - just a distributor. But under the tutelage of Doug Coughlin (Bryan Brown), he quickly becomes a cocktail acrobat. Doug is looking for the quick strike - the wealthy socialite, the sucker businessman - and he gets his wish. But Cruise finds that his own wish was just a Cocktail Dream - the name of the bar he opens in the end.

For all of its glittering nightlife and scenic splendor, "Cocktail" is a black-and-white movie. There are no shades of gray in this fable about a young man's pursuit of the American Dream: The film has the emotional depth of a shot glass.

There's also very little gray - as in gray matter - to be found between the ears of the Cruise character. As a guy looking to make it out of Queens, he hasn't half the imagination of John Travolta as he struggles to get out of Brooklyn in "Saturday Night Fever," a similar film in many ways.

Cruise, however, will set hearts aflutter just as Travolta did. Looking more and more like Christopher Reeve's younger brother, Cruise makes the most of every close-up on his boyish, mischievous smile. He even cries in close-up, tears rolling into those million-dollar dimples.

In the end Cruise realizes that if he can't find happiness in his own back yard, then he never really lost it - the deepest social comment in this teen parable of greed.

HABITVIEW

Showtime's 'Gotham' uses detective-film staples

By Denise Gorga

A ghost isn't always what he or she appears to be. That rule applies doubly for the voluptuous spirit in Showtime's detective thriller "Gotham," which airs on Sunday, Aug. 21. And by the time its two hours have run their course, "Gotham" isn't what you expected, either.

The film starts out staunchly within its genre, with the pock-faced Tommy Lee Jones as private eye Eddie Martel Mallard. Like Sam Spade and Philip Marlowe, Mallard is not terribly ethical, neat or successful. His shabby office contrasts with the other detective-genre staple: the overlooked love interest, Debbie (played by Denise Stephenson).

In one respect, "Gotham" refutes its film-noir roots early on. One scene pokes fun at the 40-year gap in vernacular: "What are you doing here?" demands Mallard. "Bringing a bag of bagels to my favorite bleep," explains Debbie, using a once-popular euphemism for detective. "Gumshoe," mutters Mallard with annoyance. "Favorite gumshoe."

Just as Mallard is about to be evicted for not paying the rent, he meets Charlie Rand (Colin Bruce), a nervous millionaire who wants to put a tail on his thought-dead wife, socialite Rachel Carlyle (played admirably by Virginia Madsen). Armed with the assurance that "ghosts can't lie," Mallard tracks Carlyle, who, conveniently, is alive and stalking Rand.

Predictably, Mallard falls for Carlyle, thinking she is a very alive subject of a very deranged husband's imagination. The intrigue is compounded by jewels, which Rand used to get his wife to grant him sexual favors during their marriage.

Once Mallard and Carlyle consummate their relationship, "Gotham" turns into a confused jumble. Mallard sees his girlfriend's morgue pictures and takes to drinking. Carlyle, no slouch herself, turns up naked and submerged in his bathtub, a la Glenn Close in "Fatal Attraction."

At any rate, it takes a Russian priest and a quickie course in ghost lore to set this thing straight. But even if there are too many gaps in "Gotham," the film's intriguing premise and wistful nostalgia for a film genre long past are enough reason to tune in.

Two Floyd Countians Are On Cover Of EKV Bulletin

Two Floyd County alumni members are pictured on the cover of "Eastern Today," the summer edition of Eastern Kentucky University's Alumni Association bulletin.

Mrs. May Kenney Roberts, who was attending her 60th class reunion at front of Burnham Hall where she lived while a student there. The pamphlet states, in part: "May Roberts, '28, of Prestonsburg, was determined to return to the campus despite an illness. Sitting beneath the statue of Daniel Boone, in the Keen Johnson Plaza, she brought the University's history to full life as she described in detail the Eastern of the 1920's. One student discovered, to her surprise, that she lived in the same Burnham Hall dormitory room that Mrs. Roberts occupied 60 years earlier."

The other Floyd countian shown on the pamphlet's cover was Dr. F. Douglas Scutchfield, son of Dr. Beecher L. Scutchfield of Martin and the late Mrs. Scutchfield. Dr. Douglas Scutchfield, a 1963 graduate was named Outstanding Alumnus of 1988. He graduated from Eastern magna cum laude and earned a medical degree at the University of Kentucky. AC Blocker-back Combo Good

When most people talk about the prospects of Allen Central High School's upcoming football season, they begin their conversation with offensive lineman Brian Wallen.

They mention his size, his ability, and how good the experts say he can be. After all that, they let their words slowly drift on over his helmet, and down his back to where tailback Mikey Parsons will more than likely be doing most of his running.

Wallen, a sophomore, and Parsons, a junior, along with end Jamie Hall and fullback Bear Halbert, are the only returning offensive starters Allen Central has.

But Wallen and Parsons could very well prove to be one of the top blocker-back combinations in Floyd County, and possibly all of Eastern Kentucky before their careers are over. Wallen, a 6' 2", 285 pound lineman, is capable of opening holes in just about any defense, and Parsons, a speedy runner, can hit those holes with repeated effectiveness.

"Mickey's got to stay healthy for us to be successful," Donnie Daniels, Allen Central's head coach, said. Parsons missed the equivalent of four football games last season, but he still gained over 500 yards, averaging just over 80 yards per contest. He is expected to get the bulk of Allen Central carries this year.

Parsons, 5'9", 160, is expected to join huge fullback Bear Halbert, and sophomore Remus Addington in the Rebel backfield.

Halbert saw action along the Allen Central line last year, and exploded across the goal line to score touchdowns on what Daniels termed the "Bear play".

Daniels, when Allen Central got close to a score, gave the football to Halbert, a burly 255 pounder, and let him rumble. Most of the time he rumbled all the usual yard or two into the end zone.

But size isn't all Halbert has. As a junior, and in his first year of high school play, Halbert averaged nearly 10 points per game for Allen Central's basketball team, which explains his athletic ability.

Addington, 5'11" 185 pounds, came on late for Allen Central, and enjoyed success in the Rebels' last few quarters of play.

The three backs will also have Brian Meadows, a transfer from Prestonsburg, to run behind. Meadows, 6'3", and over 300 pounds, is expected to start at either a guard or tackle position.

"Nobody is going to move him out of there, I don't care what anybody says," Daniels said matter of factly, praising his newcomer.

Jamie Hall, a senior end, is the only other offensive starter Allen Central has back from last year's 2-8 team. Hall, in addition to being a quality receiver, is the Rebels' number two quarterback, and will serve as B.J. Aldrich's backup for 1988.

Aldrich, a sophomore, is Daniels' early choice as the first string passer, and he figures to give freshman Brad Scott a long look.

"We've got a lot of sophomores and juniors out. We may still be a year away," the coach mentioned. But Daniels isn't exactly writing this season off.

"We've got one goal," he said. "We want to have a winning season." It sounds simple enough, but people like Paintsville, Race-land, Hazard, and Fairview on the schedule, it might be tough.

Last year, only the Rebels second of varsity football, Allen Central reached several milestones in an attempt to move up. They won the school's first ever varsity game, beating Jenkins in the season's opening game.

The 1987 squad also earned the school's first ever district win when they defeated Wheelwright late in the year.

But most of that team is gone, and now Daniels is faced with rebuilding a program that remains in its building stages.

"The biggest thing is, we've got new people at new positions and we're just learning it," Daniels mentioned.

"The good thing about this year is that we'll use about 18 or 19 kids. We'll have maybe three going both ways," Daniels said. "Out of the 38 boys, about 25 are that close in ability," he continued, measuring off about an inch between his thumb and finger to show how close the talent is matched. "Of the 25, we could use all of them and not lose a lot in ability."

Three years ago Don Daniels, principal at Allen Central, began the football program, and after their initial junior varsity season, son Donnie took over. Since then, the younger Daniels, a former graduate assistant at the University of Kentucky, has run the program with some occasional assistance from the elder family member.

Probably the biggest improvement in their program, and certainly their most important addition is their own football field. Last season Allen Central played their home games on whatever field was available in the county, and they practiced in cramped quarters beside the school.

Now, though, Allen Central has a place to practice big enough to run a complete pass route, and come September they won't be forced to travel to Prestonsburg for their homecoming game.

The team will feature a new facelift on the field with seven new starters on offense and nine on defense, but Daniels says aggressiveness and intensity shouldn't be a problem.

"Right now I like the way they hit," Daniels said. "Even when they miss an assignment they're still looking for someone to hit. They're real aggressive."

"It's just a teaching process," he added. "They're still busting assignments, but hopefully we'll have mistakes like that worked out before the season begins."

Last year Allen Central won its first-ever varsity football game. This year they will play their first-ever home game. Daniels is looking for a winning season, but regardless of wins and losses, the Rebel football team has shown marked growth.

One improvement that Daniels would like to see the most this season is the Allen Central special team's play. "I've finally found somebody that can catch a punt," Daniels said with a painful smile of remembrance.

"Our biggest weakness may be our kicking game. We've worked hard on it, and if we can improve our kicking game it will mean a couple more wins," Daniels said.

Allen Central has only five seniors, Hall, Halbert, Steve Sturgill, Marty Gibson, and Norm Thornsberry, but 17 sophomores has Daniels hopeful of the future. And the future is where an infant Allen Central football program is building toward.

Bobcats Plan To Field New QB

Even though he's had almost a year to review it, Vince Tucker still can't figure out what went wrong last season. In a year when Betsy Layne was supposed to dominate, they struggled to a 2-7 finish.

"With the talent we had, it definitely wasn't what we expected," Tucker said, playing last season over just once more. "I don't really know what it was."

Although Tucker may never forget his initial year as Betsy Layne head coach, he is more than willing to trade it for some high expectations of the upcoming campaign.

"We're going to be young starting out," Tucker said. "We've got a lot of new people playing new positions, which makes it tough starting out. Once we start getting everything down pat we should improve... Once we get some scrimmages and games under our belts."

The Bobcats return only six starters from last year's team, and though only a couple of them can produce stats telling of their importance, Betsy Layne is counting heavily on them.

Tailback Chris Kidd, a three-year starter, returns to head what will be an inexperienced Betsy Layne backfield. Brian Osborne, a sophomore, is the only Bobcat runner with much varsity experience.

The other four returning starters will try to make sure that Kidd and Osborne enjoy successful seasons.

All four play along the offensive line, which is expected to be the strong point of Betsy Layne's offensive attack.

"Our line will be in good shape this year. We've got some good size up there," the coach said.

"It makes a big difference when you've got a line that's up there blowing people away," Tucker added. "It makes it a whole lot easier on the backs."

Betsy Layne brings back both their tackles, their starting center and tight end from last year's squad. Size shouldn't be a problem with this group.

Cody Blackburn, 6'2" 235, and David Recznik, 6'3" 230, return to their tackle positions; while the center slot will be filled by Mark Hunt, a 5'10" 210 pound senior.

Jody Cecil, who was listed as a center prospect two years ago, is back to give Betsy Layne experience and size, 6'1" 190, at the tight end position. The Bobcats also have three players, Gary Shortridge, Floyd Compton, and Jim Ousley, from Prestonsburg who are expected to lend some support to both the offensive and defensive lines.

"Those three play the line also, and their size is definitely a plus," Tucker said, praising the transfer players.

The offensive line, which is expected to be both talented and deep, will be trying to open holes for Kidd, Osborne, and new fullback Morris Adkins.

"He had a pretty good year last year as far as yardage is concerned," Tucker said of Kidd. "He was one of our key backs, but one problem he has is his size."

Despite Kidd's physical stature,

5'6" 155 pounds, the Bobcat tailback has proven himself an effective runner both inside and outside.

Osborne, who also played cornerback and safety last year, is a 5'9" 165 pounder who Tucker says will probably be a multi-purpose back for Betsy Layne in 1988.

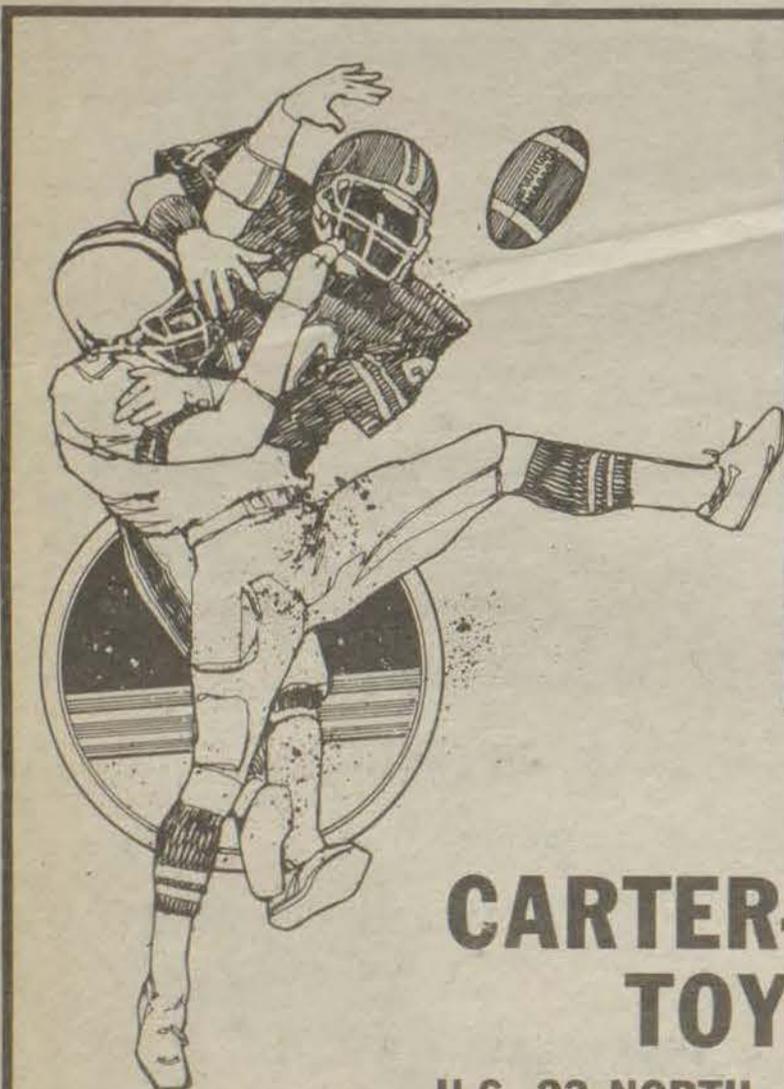

The Bobcats will be breaking in both a new fullback and quarterback this season, but the Betsy Layne coaching staff thinks the two will fill the positions effectively.

"As far as a quarterback goes, he doesn't have that much experience," Tucker said of junior Craig Hunter, his QB selection for 1988. "He's learning right now, and when he gets some experience in scrimmages we'll know how he can do against someone other than his own team. Right now he's the main one."

Adkins will give the Bobcats good size at fullback, something offensive coordinator Chuke Williams enjoys.

"That's what we like about him," Tucker said. "Coach Williams, who will be running the offense, said he'd been waiting for a fullback with that kind of size." Adkins is 6' and weighs 215 pounds.

Williams, also from Prestonsburg, is another newcomer that Tucker is relying on to make a major contribution. "A big plus is having an ex-head coach as an assistant," he said.

"He'll basically have the run of the offense," Tucker added. "He was a quarterback in high school so he understands a lot about offense. I was pretty much a linebacker, so with him taking the offense it frees me up to work with the defense."

"The main difference in last year is the help out here. It's like night and day. We've got key personnel up here that knows a lot about the game."

Last season Tucker did not have the assistance (at least not in numbers) that he has this year. Williams, who served several seasons as Prestonsburg's head coach, and Donnie Ray, a former defensive lineman at Union College, have joined the coaching staff.

Betsy Layne will run the wishbone this season—a run-oriented attack—but Tucker says they will throw the football occasionally as well.

Defensively, the coach is again looking toward his line to shoulder much of the work, especially until an inexperienced linebacking corps gains playing time.

"With the size people we have, hopefully we'll be able to get in there and play with some people," Tucker said of his defensive line. "Hopefully our line will do the job until the other people came along."

Tucker said his linebackers lacked aggressiveness, but expected them to improve by the time they open the season at home against Jack Hall's Fleming-Neon team.

Last year wasn't a pleasant one for Tucker, and he says leadership needs to appear for the Bobcats to make a better showing in 1988.

"Leadership definitely has to be better than it was last year. From the seniors on down, in basketball, football, in any sport, the leadership has to be there."

"It doesn't necessarily have to be someone screaming and yelling. We need some guys to go out there and get the job done. Lead by performance; that's what we need."

P'Burg Won't Be Pushed Around

Last year Prestonsburg High School got pushed around some, especially in the trenches where most games are won or lost.

A lack of size and strength in their offensive and defensive lines, according to former head coach Chuck Williams, led to most of the Blackcats' four football losses.

But that won't be the case this season, or so says new coach Bill Letton.

"I don't really think so," Letton said, answering the question of where Prestonsburg would suffer from a lack of line strength.

"I don't know how hard they worked during the winter, but we hit the weights hard this summer. Actually, I think our line is one of our biggest plusses. Our pass protection in our first scrimmage was outstanding, really."

If size is the question, then the Blackcats can answer it with a large amount of bulk, which also brings many quarters of varsity experience with it.

Prestonsburg's offensive line, from tackle to tackle returns intact to lend protection to what should be an effective Blackcat backfield and receiving corps.

Averaging just under 220 pounds, the offensive line should do more pushing than being pushed this season, and Coach Letton says they are already on top of an important rule change.

"Linemen can use their hands this year, similar to the way they can in college, and our guys have really picked up on that. I think that will really be a big plus for us."

The offensive line features four seniors: 6'1" 254 pound John Herin; Tommy Thornsberry, 5'10" 219; Richie Campbell, 5'9" 215; and Bill Smith, a 6'2" 231 pounder.

The only junior projected as a probable starter is Jimmy Nelson.

At 5'8" and 172 pounds, he is also the smallest.

Danny Hamilton, one of the Blackcats' best receivers a year ago, and one of the area's top tight end prospects, is another senior who brings good size to the line.

Hamilton, a big target at 6'2" 192 pounds, can both block and catch the football. He was one of quarterback Tim Trusty's favorite targets a year ago.

Trusty connected with Hamilton on several big pass plays a year ago, and the same is expected from the duo this season. In fact, the Blackcats have more than one receiver that Trusty is confident in going to. The senior quarterback won't hesitate in complimenting his big tight end, and split end Jamie Howell.

"He's got real good hands," Trusty said of the 6'3" 167 pound receiver. "He can run too," Trusty said in a conversation earlier in the summer.

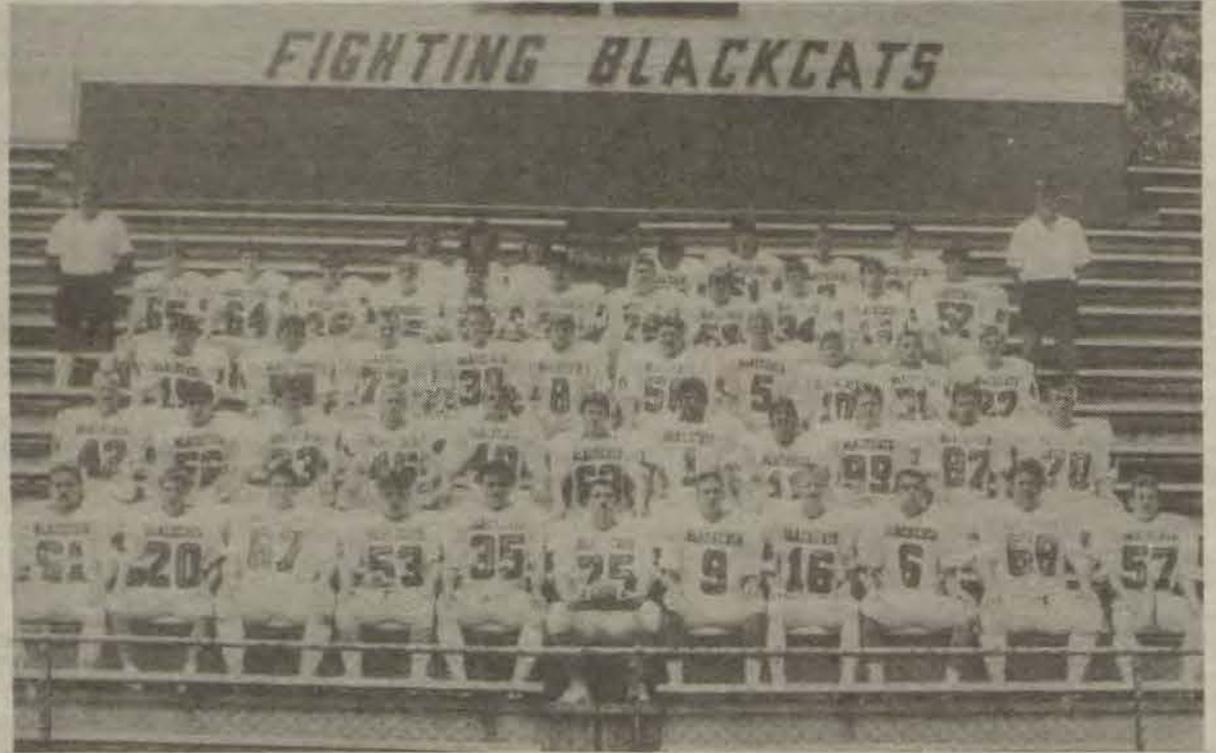

Mike Crace, a 5'10" 136 pound junior, will be Prestonsburg's starting flanker while Kevin Adams and Jeff Sloan will see action at the tight end and wide out positions respectively.

Kevin Dotson, a senior, is at the top of the depth chart at the fullback position, and Letton is expecting big numbers from the 6'0" 195 pound runner.

"He's going to carry the ball a lot more this year," he said. "I think we'll get a lot out of him. He's put forth a real good effort."

The Blackcats are counting on a trio of players to fill the tailback slot. Senior Dennis Smith and juniors Aaron Flannery and Ryan Porter will all see action at the position.

Trusty, though, is expected to be the glue that holds Prestonsburg's offense together. He stepped into the picture two games into the season last year and breathed new life into a struggling offense.

The lanky senior, 6'2" 155 pounds, owns a powerful arm and, when healthy, proved to be an effective passer in 1987.

But don't look for him to run much...Although he has decent speed, Trusty certainly does more damage throwing the football than he does running with it.

This year he is expected to give some leadership to the team as well. "He's throwing the ball real well," Letton said. "He's really taking charge too.

"We've put in a totally new offense this year, and it's important for everyone to learn it quickly," the coach added. "He's the guy that has to understand it, and he's picked up on it real quick and now he's passing it on to the other guys."

With time to throw and some quality blocking—which they should get—the Blackcat backfield is expected to post impressive numbers.

The offense returns eight starters from last year's 6-4 team, and the defensive side of the line of scrimmage has just about as many first stringers back.

Led by huge Paul Thompson, and an aggressive trio of linebackers, the Prestonsburg defense is expected to be much improved over last year's group that proved vulnerable at times.

Thompson, 6'4" and 309 pounds, is expected to anchor the line while Bill Tom Compton, a three-year starter, will head up the linebacking corps.

New Coach

Letton, who takes over this year as head coach, hopes bigger size on the line will help the Blackcats' trench play during the 1988-89 season.

Dotson and Nelson are slated as the other two starting linebackers while Porter, Smith, Trusty, and Flannery will make up the defensive backfield.

"I'm real pleased with what I've seen so far," Letton said. "We're starting to get in good shape and the kids are working real hard."

"Our kicking game right now is our biggest question, but it's improving. I think the key is keeping everybody healthy. We really can't afford to lose anybody," Letton said.

Three years ago, after Prestonsburg graduated all 22 of its starters, the school began a major and painful rebuilding process. After a 2-year combined record of 7-12, the process is expected to pay off.

Bill Letton won't make any promises. The Blackcats face one of their toughest schedules yet, but Letton thinks some hard work will take care of most of it.

"We just want to take 'em one at a time, and see what happens. If we do our best in every game, then everything else will take care of itself."

WHS: No Pre-Season Predictions

Pre-season optimism is always high in high school football camps, but this year Roger Johnson has taken a somewhat subdued approach toward the upcoming season.

The Wheelwright High School head coach has a good reason, too. The past couple or three seasons started out with Johnson talking of big things to come, but they ended up in bitter disappointment.

"That is one of our goals...to make the playoffs," Johnson said, echoing standards he has set for the Trojans the past few seasons.

Last year, Johnson figured his Wheelwright team would be in the running for a playoff position. He let his feelings be known too, but in 1988 he has taken a lessened approach.

"If we get the breaks back that we lost last year, then I feel that we can make it," the coach said, mentioning the team's possibility of achieving its goal.

Wheelwright, 1-10 in 1987, lost its first five games by less than a touchdown, and in each case it was a wrong bounce of the football, the incorrect call of an official, or just one missed assignment that made the difference in winning and losing.

Johnson says that 1987 was easily the worst year of his coaching career, but even though he isn't making any major predictions, Johnson thinks that Wheelwright has the talent which could produce a playoff-caliber season.

"I feel like we do," Johnson said when asked if the Trojans had the tools needed to build a playoff team. "But it's just a break here and a break there that makes it."

One thing, though, that you can guarantee Wheelwright having is a potent backfield. Since the beginning of high school football, it seems, the Trojans have had success running the football.

This year will be no different, but they may be able to add a quarterback who can throw. "That's one of our strengths," Johnson said of his backfield. "Right now we've got the possibility of Benjy McKay and maybe Chad Hall stepping in to replace Doug Little."

Little, Wheelwright's top ground-gainer last year, was the only member of the Trojan backfield not returning for the 1988 season. "We've also got three freshmen to put back there, so we can go about seven deep in our backfield. It's certainly one of our strong points," Johnson added.

Either McKay, a senior, or Hall, a junior, will join returning starters Handy Jackson and Vic Cotton to form what is expected to be a potent wishbone running attack.

Jackson, a 5'8", 175 pound half back, ran for over 700 yards last year despite missing the final six quarters of the season. He is expected to be the Trojans' main outside attack while Cotton, a powerful inside runner, will probably do most of his running in between the tackles.

Cotton, the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference special teams player of the year, also possesses breakaway speed.

The 5'10", 190 pound senior returned several kicks for touchdowns last season, and also ran for over 700 yards from the line of scrimmage.

Bobby Hood, a junior, returns for his second full year as Wheelwright's first string quarterback. He also has good speed, and also owns a strong throwing arm. Johnson says that will be used more this season.

With the backs we've got we'll mostly run the ball, but we'll throw the ball more this year than we did last year," Johnson said, describing the team's possible offensive philosophy. "We've got the guys who can catch the ball, and we'll have to use those guys to open things up for our running game."

Wheelwright's backfield is proven, but Johnson says a good back is good only if his offensive line is good. That is one factor that concerns the coach.

"A lot of concern will be with our offensive line," he said. "I feel that that's what hurt us last year. That's why we've worked so hard on it this year." A back can't do anything if his offensive line isn't doing the job.

The lineman get down there and do the work then the back comes along and gets all the glory," Johnson added.

The Trojans got a couple big breaks this summer, though, and as a result they may have the makings of a solid line, especially if a couple key youngsters step forward to fill important spots.

The biggest break came in the form of John McCoy, a 245-pound lineman that left Wheelwright two years ago, but came back this summer. McCoy, who had been counted on heavily last season, moved to Madison County, but is back, much to the pleasure of Johnson.

McCoy, a senior, is expected to start at right tackle. He will put his helmet down right beside Adam Hall, a 6'2", 220 pound transfer from Knott Central. Hall will probably be the team's first string player at right guard.

Brent Huff, the other probable starting guard, is said to be an impressive prospect for the Trojans. Huff was a valuable product two years ago, but did not play last season.

Marty Tackett, a freshman, and Mikie Justice, a sophomore, are two youngsters Johnson is counting on to fit in along the offensive line.

Chris Thornsberry, a lineman last season, is expected to move out to tight end, giving the Trojans plenty of size there. Thornsberry, 215 pounds, will team with probably Chad Hall, 190 pounds, or Shawn McKenzie in the two tight end set.

McKenzie, a 6' 185 pound senior, is expected to be the team's top outside receiver. Johnson says that he will be the one moving outside in Wheelwright's spread offense. McKenzie is also one of the team's top pass defenders.

Johnson was quick to praise the soft hands possessed by McKenzie and Hall, saying that they were two reasons why Wheelwright might throw the football more this season.

Hood, according to the coach, is capable of getting the football to them. "That's another position where we're deep," Johnson said about the quarterback spot. "Steve Johnson came in and did a good job for us last year, and we've got a freshman, Eddie Shelton, who probably knows the offense as well as either of them."

But Hood is expected to be the number one signal caller when the season kicks off August 19. "He's got all the tools," Johnson said. "I'd like him to be about 6'1". If he's got any disadvantage about being a quarterback, it's his height."

Defensively, about all Wheelwright does is turn their offense around when the other team takes over. This year they start the season with 28 players, and most of their starters play both ways.

"Depth is what I'm concerned with the most," Johnson said. "That's why we've worked so hard this year. The attitude has been great so far, but we have to stay on top of them. I feel like we kind of let up last year and that's when everything fell apart."

On several different occasions last season Johnson pointed out that his team struggled with teams that had more numbers. He was quick to mention that it wasn't the lack of talent that got Wheelwright beat, but sometimes it was the lack of numbers.

"That's one thing about a small school," Johnson said. "Not many of us are like Pikeville. They can select their players, but we pretty much have to go with whoever comes out."

Wheelwright has long been going with "whoever" came out, and for the longest time they have been competitive. And when the last installment of Wheelwright High School's football team takes to the field in 1988, they will more than likely butt heads with the hardest of them.

Spotlight: Bill Letton

Prestonsburg High School isn't exactly the easiest place to begin a career, especially when it's a career as a football coach, but it doesn't seem to bother Bill Letton.

Letton, one of the state's youngest head coaches, left his position as an assistant coach to assume his present post at Prestonsburg replacing Chuke Williams, who resigned in the spring.

Football fans at PHS are among the most supportive in Kentucky, but they seldom earn praise for their patience.

Although Letton is beginning his first year as a head coach, he says he doesn't feel any pressure to produce an immediate winner.

"Just whatever I put on myself," he said of the applied pressure. "The community has been really receptive. I'll start worrying when they lose interest."

Prestonsburg returns eight starters on offense and eight on defense from a team which finished at 6-4 last season. They are expected to be competitive, but they also face one of their toughest schedules ever. That doesn't bother Letton either.

"I don't think there's a team on that schedule that we can't beat. I'm not saying that we'll beat everybody, but we do have that opportunity," he said.

"Hopefully, we can show some improvement throughout the season, eliminate our mental mistakes, and at the end of the year we'll add up our wins and losses. Hopefully we'll have enough wins to get into the playoffs."

The Blackcats haven't been to post-season play since the 1985 campaign when they barely missed a state final appearance. That may have been one of the reasons leading to Williams' resignation.

Prestonsburg is regarded as a gold mine considering the talent and possibilities Prestonsburg has for 1988. But that glitter may explode in his face, and the gold mine could turn into a land mine.

Already this decade Prestonsburg has disposed of two head coaches, even though their records were winning ones and their playoffs appearances were frequent.

Letton, though, is looking forward to the challenge, and more importantly he is looking forward with the possibility of a successful season.

Backfield: Highlight Of Season?

Any coach will tell you that defense wins football games. But strike up a conversation with a local head man about his team and more times than not, the talk will begin in the backfield.

Not with the cornerbacks and safeties though. The backfield everyone is talking about is filled with runners, passers, and blockers...the offensive backfields.

At least in Floyd County, the hot topic is running backs and quarterbacks. A quick look around tells everyone why.

"Our backfield will be our biggest strength. We've got about seven guys we can put back there," says Roger Johnson, whose Wheelwright team might have the most talented duo of runners in the county.

Wheelwright, a school rich in running tradition holds bragging rights to a pair of runners who have both speed and power, quickness and aggressiveness.

Vic Cotton and Handy Jackson, both seniors, combined for almost 1,500 yards rushing a year ago, and that came despite Jackson missing the last game and a half of the season.

Cotton, at near 200 pounds, would just as soon run over a would-be tackler as around him, and can do both effectively. Last year he displayed break-away speed by returning several kickoffs for touchdowns on his way to becoming the EKMC's special teams player of the year.

Cotton, although he possesses good speed, finds most of his running assignments designed to go up the middle, which is complimented by Jackson's frequent bounces to the outside.

To give Jackson a predesigned direction is as futile as some tackling attempts defenses has thrown at him.

Wheelwright:

Vic Cotton, Handy Jackson and Bobby Hood

Allen Central:

Mickey Parsons, Bear Halbert, Remis Addington

Betsy Layne:

Chris Kidd

Prestonsburg:

Kevin Dotson, Tim Trusty

Jackson, short but powerfully-built, proved to be a tough runner to bring down last year, and he thrives on creating missed tackles, making quick cuts, and gaining yards in exciting form.

The two talented backs are expected to be a valuable part of the Trojan scheme of things, and not because Cotton starts on the defensive line, and Jackson serves as a starting cornerback.

Running backs appear to be the strength of the county this season, and the wealth has been spread around.

Roger Johnson holds high expectations for his backfield, but he isn't by himself where handling out of offensive compliments are concerned.

Donnie Daniels, Allen Central's gridiron boss, says if his Rebels are to be successful this year tailback Mickey Parsons will need to play a full season.

Parsons, Allen Central's top returning back, ran for over 500 yards in 1987 despite missing close to four games. He averaged about 80 yards per game a year ago.

Not big in stature, Parsons will join Bear Halbert, 255 pounds, and Remis Addington, 190 pounds, in the Rebel backfield.

"That's the idea," Daniels said of Parsons' lack of size compared to his two running mates. "We'll hide him back there then let him break through."

Parsons proved last season that he is tough enough to run up the middle as well as out running the defense down the sidelines. He is durable too, carrying the ball over 30 times on several different occasions in his career.

"Mickey will have to stay healthy for us to be successful," Daniels said mentioning the value Parsons means to his team.

Another small back, Chris Kidd of Betsy Layne, is also expected to produce big numbers this year.

Kidd, a three year starter, was one of the Bobcats top rushers last season, and head coach Vince Tucker expects even more from the tiny tailback this year.

"He had a pretty good year as far as yardage is concerned," Tucker said of the 5'7" 155 pounders performance a year ago. "He was one of the top backs we had."

If the convention is about running backs then someone should mention Prestonsburg's Kevin Dotson, probably the county's most underrated rusher.

Dotson was overshadowed last year by a pair of talented senior running backs, but his performance did not go totally unnoticed.

At close to 200 pounds, Dotson gives the Blackcats good size at fullback, and it would take a long search to find a tougher, harder runner.

"He's going to carry the ball a lot more this year," Prestonsburg coach Bill Letton said. "I think we'll get a lot out of him. He's put forth a real good effort so far."

Prestonsburg could have one of the area's best throwing quarterbacks in lanky senior Tim Trusty. The 6'2" 155 pound Trusty has a strong arm, and Letton says he has thrown the football "real well" in practice and scrimmage games.

Wheelwright also brings back its starting quarterback. Junior Bobby Hood returns to lead the Trojan offense, and add even more quickness to the backfield.

Johnson says the only thing Hood lacks is size, but adds that he has all the other tools required for a solid quarterback.

All this backfield talent is fine and dandy, but as Johnson says, a back can't be good if the line doesn't do its job. "The linemen are the guys that get in there and get the job done then the backs come along and steal all the glory."

The season county-wide isn't expected to produce any great results, but with several talented and experienced offensive backs, it could be one filled with long runs and frequent passes.

Greene Among UC Leaders

When John Ross finally encouraged Pete Greene to sign with Union College, the Bulldog head football coach said it had capped off a more than successful recruiting year.

"He was the one we wanted," Ross said then. "His signing caps off our recruiting up there, and its been a real fine year."

Greene, a receiver and defensive back from Prestonsburg High School, signed with Union in the summer of 1986, and since then the agreement has worked out just fine for both parties.

John Ross has since left Union, but he stayed around long enough to see his prize recruit post some impressive numbers, and earn special rewards for it.

In his previous two years as a tight end for the Bulldogs, Greene has caught 79 passes for nearly 1,000 yards. Last season he averaged 14 yards per catch on 52 receptions.

Midway through the 1986 season, Greene cracked the Bulldog starting lineup, and went on to haul down 27 passes. He also earned all-district and all-conference honors following his freshman campaign.

Last season the 6'2" 205 pound tight end led the 24th and 32nd districts combined in receptions while again earning all-district and all-conference honors.

He also won the respect of his coach. "Pete Greene is an outstanding student and an outstanding leader," former Union coach John Ross said. "He's a great kid with a great attitude. His work habits, his leadership, his attitude—if there is a model athlete, then Pete Greene is a model athlete."

Ross, who announced plans to move Greene to wide receiver, was replaced after last season by Matt Ballard, assistant under Ross.

With Ross gone, Union is planning on keeping Greene inside, and their reasoning for it is sound. "He's going to stay at tight end. He does too much inside to move him out from tight end," assistant coach Greer said.

Greer coached Greene last season when he served as the Bulldogs' receiver coach, and he fully appreciates the junior right end's talents.

"Playing-wise, we want Pete to play the way he has the past two years, and continue the next two years, this year and next year, doing what he has done in the past," Greer said.

"With Pete's playing, you can't do much with that because playing-wise, Pete does just about everything you can ask for," the coach added.

But one thing Union College is hoping Greene can add this season is valuable leadership for younger Bulldogs. "We want Pete to step up and be a leader for us," Greer mentioned.

"With his play, and the way the younger kids respond to him and the way they respect him, he needs to step up and be a leader for this team."

Union, which added former Blackcat standout John Gilliam to their coaching staff, is looking toward the 1988 season as a rebuilding one, but Greer figures it won't be one of great sacrifice.

"With the coaching chance it's hard to say," he said about the upcoming campaign. "We're looking at rebuilding the entire program, although it was ran well in the past, and that makes it tough."

"Some people aren't expecting much out of us, but we're going to play hard. I can say that. We'll go out and play as hard as we can and the wins and losses will take care of themselves," Greer added.

Gilliam, a former linebacker for PHS and Morehead State University, will serve as an assistant coach and is expected to handle most of Union's recruiting for the Floyd County and surrounding areas.

Donnie Ray, another ex-Blackcat who took his football talents to UC, will not be attending the Barbourville school this year.

Ray, a starting lineman and linebacker last season, is sitting out the 1988 season due to knee problems. He says he may attend Pikeville College this fall.

Greene, who also started in the defensive backfield at Prestonsburg, is regarded as one of the nation's top Division II tight ends, and many say All-American honors aren't beyond his grasp.

State's Universities Previewed

The University of Kentucky rarely shows interest in the state's better high school basketball players, going out of Kentucky to find their hardwood talent.

Players from all across the nation dream of becoming a basketball Wildcat, giving the school a choice of the country's top prospects.

The University of Kentucky can't attract the interest of the state's better football players, allowing them—year after year—to ease out of the Bluegrass to attend Notre Dame, Ohio State, or another of the nation's top football schools.

Players statewide pass up a chance to become a football Wildcat, leaving the UK to hunt for players other programs have turned away.

It is just another example of basketball's dominance as the number one sport of Kentucky colleges. UK rarely produces a winning team, and the University of Louisville is in the same situation.

Louisville's basketball program has been second to none in the 1980s, but its football team often falls short in trying to compete with even this state's smaller schools. But when it comes to football, one school puts it second to none: Eastern Kentucky University, which owns a permanent spot in the nation's top 10, takes great pride in its football program.

Following is a brief preview of the state's bigger universities, and their prospects of 1988:

Eastern Kentucky University: Gone is top defensive player Aaron Jones, who went to the pros as a first round draft choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers. ECU will also be without talented running back James Crawford, but 11 starters return to make sure the Colonels will again find themselves in the Division IAA top 20.

Defensively, Eastern, which is again selected as the Ohio Valley Conference's pre-season favorite, will be led by senior defensive end Jessie Small.

- Eastern Kentucky University
- Morehead State University
- Western Kentucky University
- Murray State University
- University of Louisville

Although he is 5'10" and 215 pounds, Harris runs a 4.54 40-yard dash, and could become ECU's all-time leading rusher this season. He carried the football 239 times last year, but will get even more attempts in 1988.

Lorenzo Fields, a starter as a freshman, returns to quarterback the offense. He ran for almost 500 yards last season.

Since 1979 the Colonels have ended the season ranked high nationally, all but one year. 1988 isn't expected to be much different.

Morehead State University: "We have depth and experience across the board, more so than we've had at any other time," head coach Bill Baldrige said. "We have competition at nearly every position and that helps everyone get better."

The Eagles return 17 starters from last year's 2-8 team and, led by sophomore quarterback Chris Swartz, MSU is expected to be much improved over a year ago.

Swartz, from nearby Owensville, threw for over 1,700 yards in 1987.

Small, certainly not fitting his name, is 6'4" and 240 pounds. An all-OVC performer last year, Small recorded 39 tackles, 34 assists, and recovered three fumbles. He is a projected All-American.

Tim Tomaszewski, 6'0", 226 pounds, will start at the other end spot, and after getting in on 108 tackles a year ago, should be another all-OVC selection for Eastern this season.

Linebacker Ron Jekel, a graduate of Pleasure Ridge Park, had 130 tackles last season, and is regarded as one of the conference's best at his position.

The Colonels return two starters to their defensive backfield, including interception leader Kelly Cutright of Ashland. The Paul Blazer grad picked off four from his safety spot.

Offensively, Eastern will rely heavily on Elroy Harris, but Harris can handle the load. He ran for 1,423 yards last year while scoring 17 touchdowns.

That was better than Phil Simms' performance when he was a freshman at Morehead State.

"Offensively, our strength is obviously at quarterback where we have both Chris Swartz and Lance Jansen. Defensively, we have experience at every position," Baldrige added.

But even though the Eagles have one of their best teams of the decade, they still won't be in contention for any post season play.

Western Kentucky University: The Hilltoppers lost four games last year, two of those coming against Eastern. They were ranked 11th in the final Division IAA poll, but lost 21 lettermen from that squad, including quarterback Jeff Cesarone.

WKU brings back talented tailback Joe Arnold, 901 yards rushing in 1988, and leading tackler Mike Carberry. Rob Weinle, 6'5" 270, is a possible all-American offensive lineman.

The rebuilding process may not take as long if these guys can live up to pre-season expectations. But the consensus report is that it will, and Western might struggle to finish above .500.

Murray State University: Yes, this school is in Kentucky, and they own one of the Bluegrass state's top quarterbacks in junior Michael Proctor. He set an OVC single season record by throwing for 2,373 yards last year.

Proctor may be alone where Murray offensive threats are concerned. The Racers lost their number one receiver, their best offensive lineman, and their top three running backs.

The Racers were 6-5 last year, but in 1988 they will be as good as Proctor can make them. That might be good enough to finish close to Eastern in the OVC race.

University of Kentucky: The backfield will be talented, but they will be operating behind a rebuilt, inexperienced offensive line.

Tailback Ivy Joe Hunter has shown flashes of brilliance, but is inconsistent. Running back Al Baker has all the tools, but has never produced with them. Glen Fohr returns to quarterback the offense, which will miss four of last year's starting linemen.

Six-foot-seven junior Mike Pfeifer is the only returning starter to the offensive line, which may be the offensive's only question mark.

UK returns only eight starters from a team that struggled in the tough SEC last year. They've been picked to finish near the bottom in the conference again this season.

University of Louisville: Three defensive linemen return to head what should be a much improved unit, and highly-touted quarterback Jay Gruden returns to lead the offense.

U of L also returns their top rusher, Dean Booker, and leading receiver, Joey Hamilton, to what is expected to be an explosive offense.

The Cardinals haven't had a winning season since 1979, but if Gruden lives up to expectations, he may just lead Louisville to more wins than losses in 1988.
