Republicans pick Frasure for fall race

by Alisa Goodwill Staff Writer

Ron Frasure

A long-time political activist will try to steer the GOP into the county judge-executive's office in November...

Ronald Frasure, 55, of Middle Creek, announced he was running for the office Sunday during his family reunion...

Missing man is found dead; killer sought

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

Friends and family members were expected to gather Tuesday night at the Johnson County Courthouse in Paintsville...

A body found Saturday beside a roadway at Little Rock Castle in Martin County is believed to be that of Nelson, 21, of East Point...

Kentucky State Police have tentatively identified the remains as Nelson, who disappeared the night of June 28...

Several suspects living in Martin County who reportedly were seen with Nelson the night he disappeared have been interviewed by police...

State police lieutenant Paul Maynard declined to comment on the case Tuesday, but Maynard did say that rumors that other bodies have been found are false.

"I will say that no additional bodies have been found," Maynard said.

State police sergeant Lowell Ward reported Monday that officers believe the body is Nelson, but

Cooperative effort helps cops crack two-state ring

by Susan Allen and Alisa Goodwill Staff Writers

A joint investigation between local law enforcement agencies has apparently led to the discovery of an interstate crime ring stretching to Indiana and allegedly involved in drug trafficking...

Sheriff's Department, the Kentucky State Police and the Prestonsburg Police Department have been working since last week to piece together a maze of information...

The investigation began unfolding last Thursday when state trooper John Hunt and deputy sheriff Homer Neeley made a routine traffic stop on the Left Fork of Abbot.

Joe David Fraley, 33, of Decatur, Indiana and formerly of Floyd County, was arrested after officers searched his vehicle and found a quantity of marijuana and illegal fireworks...

Fraley was charged by Neeley with carrying a concealed deadly weapon by a convicted felon; possession of illegal fireworks...

Trooper Hunt charged Fraley with driving on a suspended license; no insurance; improper tags; failure to register the transfer of a vehicle...

Prestonsburg police sergeant Gerald Clark later charged Fraley with receiving stolen property in connection with the theft of a riding lawn mower.

After finding the contraband in Fraley's vehicle, Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson, chief deputy Linzie Hunt and deputies Neeley, Steve Toy, Rick Newsome and trooper Hunt executed search warrants at the home of Tommy Skeens at Adams Lane at Abbott and at a residence on the Left Fork

Charge reduced, plea is entered in rape case

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

A 25-year-old Floyd County man charged with raping a 14-year-old entered a guilty plea to a lesser charge prior to start of his trial on Monday.

David B. Keathley of Dwale was indicted in May 1993 on charges of first degree rape, first degree sodomy, and two counts of first degree unlawful transaction with a minor.

Keathley pleaded guilty Monday morning to a charge of third degree rape. In exchange for his guilty plea, prosecutors agreed to the reduced charge and recommended Keathley serve four and a half years in prison.

Floyd Circuit Judge John David Caudill set final sentencing for July 28.

Allen commission starts searching for new mayor

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

The City of Allen is looking for a new mayor and, if a sitting city commissioner takes the post, two new commissioners will also have to be named.

At Monday's city commission meeting, city clerk Bill Parsons announced the resignation of Mayor Chris Waugh and commissioner Ann Bentley.

Waugh had to resign as mayor before July 1, when he was hired as Floyd County deputy-judge executive. Under state law, a city officer cannot serve as a county officer at the same time.

In her resignation letter, delivered to Parsons Monday morning, Bentley said that she felt she had done "all she could for the city."

opened Monday's meeting and Commissioner Sharon Woods was named mayor pro tem.

Commissioners decided to recess Monday's meeting until July 17 in order to contemplate who will fill the mayor's and Bentley's vacancies on the board.

Under state law, commissioners have 30 days to choose a new mayor and if the board fails to do so during that time period, that duty falls to the county judge-executive.

Few items of business were discussed at Monday's meeting because, as Sharon Woods commented, "we're basically at a standstill" until a new mayor is appointed.

Discussions held were: to contact former city attorney John Coleman to get an interpretation of a zoning ordinance dealing with the sale of alcoholic beverages in the city; Virgie Woods will contact Waugh about arrangements made concerning a city-wide clean-up; and Parsons will investigate whether there are any funds allocated in the city's sewer plant grant that can be used to hire someone to go out in the field to acquire sewer hook ups.

Gubernatorial candidate brings campaign to Floyd

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

Larry Forgy brought his gubernatorial campaign to his opponent's backyard last week, urging Eastern Kentuckians to support his bid to change Kentucky's system of government and return that government "to the people."

Visiting Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Salyersville and Paintsville Friday, the Republican candidate for governor stressed that his conservative approach was the best way to affect needed change in a state government that has "been controlled by Democrats for 24 years."

"This state needs sweeping out worse than a 30-year-old slaughterhouse," Forgy said in an interview Friday. "The liberals in Frankfort have created an economic climate that will bankrupt this state."

Forgy, a Lexington attorney, said he had no reservations about bringing his message to Eastern Kentucky, the home of his opponent, Democrat Paul Patton.

"Folks need to realize that one of their own hasn't done anything for them," he said. "If people like things the way they are, Paul's their man. If they want change, Larry Forgy and (running mate) Tom Handy are their candidates."

Forgy vowed Friday to close a loophole in state law that allows the governor to hedge on a mandated return of 50 percent of coal severance tax revenues to coal counties if that return threatens the solvency of the state budget.

"I want coal severance funds returned as planned and I want that money spent for economic development," he said.

Forgy also suggested he would press for comprehensive tax reform, "to get taxes down," and to reform the state's Worker's Compensation program from "a welfare system" to a program that will deliver funds "only to the truly injured."

He pledged, as well, to rework the state's economic development program, "which has given $2 billion in tax relief to businesses coming into Kentucky, but nothing to Kentucky businesses wanting to expand."

"Kentucky is overtaxed, overgoverned and ready for a change," Forgy said. "I'm the candidate who will make that change happen."

Main Street funding will restore roof, build gazebo

by Alisa Goodwill
Staff Writer

Prestonsburg City Council learned during Monday's meeting that Main Street funds may be used for two proposed community projects.

Prestonsburg Tourism Director Fred James said Main Street money, in the form of loans, is available for the old fire department and gazebo projects.

"The Main Street office in Frankfort approved the use of Main Street funds as a loan to ourselves to restore the roof on the old fire department and to construct a living history structure (gazebo) on an archeological site," James said.

James said the renovation of the fire department is a step by step process and applications for other uses on the building will be made at a later time.

The old fire department will be renovated and then used as a research facility and home for the Floyd County Historical and Genealogical Society. The facility will house historical documents, artifacts, and records dating from the county's formation in 1800 to the present.

The idea for the research facility was first proposed by the Floyd County Historical and Genealogical Society when council was considering tearing down the old building.

The gazebo will be built near an archeological dig on the Salisbury Property on First Avenue.

City council is also utilizing Main Street program funds for street lighting and removing utility lines on Court Street. Work on this project will begin Monday.

In other business, council approved the finance and revenue committee's recommendation to help finance the county's 911 system up to $104,000, which is already budgeted for the city in the 95/96 fiscal year, as long as it is the city's proportionate share.

Mayor Jerry Fannin and all council members except for Robert Allen and Hansel Cooley were present.

of Abbott. Officers found lawn care merchandise and propane tanks believed to have been stolen from Wal Mart and K Mart department stores in Decatur, Indiana. Also recovered from the homes were a quantity of marijuana and drug paraphernalia; a police scanner; and a shotgun.

Skeens was charged with possession of illegal fireworks; and trafficking in marijuana, less than eight ounces. Skeens turned himself in at the Floyd County Court-house on Monday.

On Monday evening, trooper Hunt and Sheriff Thompson and deputies Hunt, Greg Clark and Ricky Thornsberry searched a Sugar Loaf residence and found several lawn care items, a large water pump and a small amount of marijuana.

Sheriff Thompson said Monday that the investigation is continuing and that a similar investigation is being conducted in Indiana.

Chief Deputy Bill Crone, with the Adams County Sheriff's Department in Decatur, Indiana, said Tuesday that Fraley's Indiana home was searched last Friday. During that search, officers found parts of a vehicle that was reported stolen from Floyd County, Crone said. The body of the vehicle was found burned in Adams County, the chief deputy said.

Also confiscated was an unspecified amount of narcotics and explosives.

Fraley is expected to be charged in connection with the search, Crone said. That investigation is also continuing.

police are awaiting a positive identification from the state medical examiner's office.

A person riding an all-terrain-vehicle notified the Martin County Sheriff's Office Saturday night that he found what appeared to be body on a strip mine road just off KY 2032. The body was found in weeds about 20 feet from the road.

Police notified the state medical examiner's office, which arrived at the scene at 1 p.m. on Sunday. The cause of death and a positive identification of the body are expected later this week.

Family members last saw Nelson Wednesday evening at Thunder Ridge racetrack, where he was employed. The man left the racetrack to meet friends at the Prestonsburg nightclub, where his locked car was found July 1.

Anyone with information about the case is asked to contact the Kentucky State Police; the Floyd County Sheriff's Office; or the family at 886-1089 or 886-6018.

Correction

In the Big Sandy Briefs section of the Friday, July 7, 1995 issue, Betty Gage, accomplice to Denny Gibson in the May 1994 robbery of a Shelbiana BP station, was incorrectly listed as having been indicted for first degree murder before her death. She was indicted for first degree robbery.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

This isn't supposed to happen here

by Scott Perry

The nightmare a Floyd County family is living following the disappearance and apparent murder of their son makes us want to gather up our own children...to hold them and shield them from the misery and evil in our midst.

These things aren't supposed to happen here...not to the son of dear friends, a young man we watched grow from child to adult.

Not here.

How do we comfort those touched by this unimaginable tragedy when we can't even imagine their pain?

How can we look into the eyes of our own children and assure them that they have nothing to fear when we fear for them ourselves?

What manner of world do we live in that takes the imaginary monsters from beneath our beds and puts them in human bodies to walk among us?

Is there no sanctuary?

A young man's life is gone, a family is destroyed by grief, needlessly, senselessly.

Our hearts are heavy with sadness and hardened by the stark reality that we are neither isolated from nor immune to the terrors this world can summon from the pits of hell.

If we could just turn back the hands of time to a day when the worries of the world seemed so far away.

Those days are gone and we can no longer afford to be carefree...or careless.

We can no longer turn our backs to the truth...that drugs, crime and violence are our problems as much as anyone's.

And, we must resolve to work together to face the threat so that no more families are forced to live these nightmares and no more young people are sacrificed because of our blindness to the evils among us.

Accolade for saving old city building

Editor:

In Friday's paper, Polly Ward quotes Fred James Sr. as saying Prestonsburg's old fire station was built by the W.P.A. I believe Fred James was wrong. The building was constructed prior to August 1935, and the W.P.A. construction program came along later.

During August 1935, and the several previous weeks, the second floor of the building was occupied by the offices of the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration which was funded by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration.

The W.P.A. (Works Progress Administration) was created by legislation enacted by the U.S. Congress in 1935, and for the next five years or so provided funds for public works projects throughout the country.

Prestonsburg's Grade School was completed as a W.P.A. project as was most of Floyd County's rural road system. Some of the W.P.A. projects may have had their beginnings with funds supplied by the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration.

Incidentally, I think Fred James, Jim Daniels and anyone else who played a part in saving this old building and using it as headquarters for the Floyd County Historical and Genealogical Society are to be praised for their efforts.

No need to construct engineering school

Editor:

This letter concerns the ongoing discussion of a possible Engineering School in Western Kentucky. It is a subject of considerable interest and talk in the Jackson Purchase Area. While the rest of the state may not have such a deep interest, it is certainly of equal importance to taxpayers everywhere.

It would be nice to have all projects dreamed up by citizens seeking to advance their own communities, but we must proceed with great prudence in this day when taxes are already high and the demands on state funds regularly exceed the amount of money available.

Basically, this discussion is about whether or not to start an entirely new engineering school (at Paducah Community College), which would demand millions in the future, or to avoid duplication and link existing programs at nearby Murray State University, with the University of Louisville or the University of Kentucky. Strenuous preparatory courses like physics, mathematics, chemistry and computer science are already in place at 72-year-old Murray State University. If more should be needed, it would be simple and inexpensive merely to add to this excellent base.

The College of Industry and Technology is already in place at Murray State, housed in a relatively new Applied Science Building, and it is highly regarded both regionally and nationally. It might make sense to add a few courses here and there and save millions for the taxpayers of Kentucky rather than to reinvent the wheel at a new place.

Murray State University is only about forty miles south of Paducah. A fine Engineering School at Southern Illinois University is only sixty miles away in Carbondale. Community colleges certainly have their place, but to convert one to a full-blown engineering school will require some mighty fancy wrapping paper and involve costs, both present and future, that need careful consideration.

This is a proper subject for consideration by the Council on Higher Education and it is already addressing the subject. It would certainly be highly premature to deal with it on an emotional basis at a special session of the General Assembly, as proposed by some. Above all, Kentucky taxpayers do not need to pay for another "Four-year College" just forty miles away from a regional university.

Expresses appreciation for enormous support

Editor:

I want to express our appreciation for all of the tremendous support we received both for the effort to preserve the Stafford House as well as for the support of East Kentucky Woodworkers.

People like Wilma Eldridge, Scott Perry, Larry Martin, Tony Fyffe, Mary Preston, Ken O'Bryan, Ethel Colvin and many others contributed to make the effort a tremendous success.

Lowe's, Fouts Lumber, WYMT, and the Lexington Herald helped make the project both attractive as well as visible.

Workers like John Sparks and Troy Haight were second to none in their diligence and perseverance in the preliminary work.

And, of course, the exhibit wouldn't have been possible without the East Kentucky Woodworkers. Your debut was terrific as I'm sure the thousand who observed it will attest.

Get tough on tobacco sales to children

Editor:

Look carefully at the tobacco industry's most recent high-cost public relations campaign, "Action Against Access," aimed at allegedly reducing youth access to tobacco.

A 40-year public relations campaign by the tobacco industry has diverted attention from health issues and promoted their REAL agenda: protecting tobacco profits. In 1954 the tobacco industry said it would put "public health above corporate interests." Since then more than 10 million Americans have died from cigarette smoking; 8,000 Kentuckians last year.

In 1964 Philip Morris initiated "voluntary efforts to discourage youth tobacco use." The tobacco industry spends billions to advertise and promote addictive, deadly products!

This "new" initiative comes at a time when Kentuckians are learning how easy it is for teens to buy tobacco products. In a recent survey of 14 Kentucky cities, 37 youth, ages 12-17, found that 6 out of 10 businesses agreed to illegally sell tobacco products to minors. In almost all (98%), vending machines, cigarettes were readily accessible to children. In most places tobacco products were as easy for children to buy as a bag of potato chips!

To effectively reduce youth access to tobacco products we must: (1) Ban vending machine cigarette sales, (2) License retail outlets to sell tobacco products, (3) Stiffen the penalties for those who sell to minors, (4) Allow local communities to pass tough laws to stop illegal sales to children, (5) Ban promotional campaigns attractive to children (e.g., Marlboro Gear), and (6) Adopt a significant increase in tobacco taxes. If the tobacco industry is really concerned about this serious childhood addiction, it will put its money where its mouth is.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

A reader sent us a clipping from a mid 1980's magazine which detailed how a number of cities across the U.S. were dealing with tough financial times.

With tax revenues low and inflation high, those cities published brochures and "wish lists" of projects needed but unaffordable and they asked citizens to donate goods and services.

The responses were overwhelming.

In Baltimore, Maryland, city officials listed 2,500 wishes in the newspaper and more than half were granted by citizens. The total value of donated goods and services was something like $10 million.

A decade or so later, as we attempt to downsize government and do more with less, government leaders may want to put the call out for volunteers and donations as an alternative to service cuts and rate hikes.

Ask and ye shall receive?

Couldn't hurt to try.

The Kentucky Journal of Commerce and Industry, a decidedly conservative publication offered monthly by the Associated Industries of Kentucky, has made some interesting comparisons in its July edition, showing just how complex our lives have become.

For instance, as columnist S. Rayburn Watkins points out, our guiding principles have grown exceedingly verbose through the years.

The Lord's Prayer, for example, has just 57 words. The Ten Commandments have 197 words. The Declaration of Independence has just 300 words.

Meanwhile, the Federal Register, a daily report of new and proposed federal regulations, covers 70,000 pages and includes 100 million words.

Wow.

Too bad we can't flash back to the past, when we were taught eleven words to follow on most any occasion...

Do unto others as you would have others do unto you.

MTV, which has practically cornered the market on revulsion with programs like Beavis and Butthead and (gag) rap music videos, is taking its show to the big screen, where a full-length feature film is in the works that will star the most despicable creatures on Earth.

Cockroaches.

The movie, called "Joe's Apartment," will feature thousands of real bugs and some of the animated variety, but the most amazing thing about the show so far is that filming of all live-roach clips has been supervised by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Not one roach was injured during the making of the movie, the producer has noted.

Isn't that nice?

We hope movie makers did the right thing, though, and squashed every one of the nasty critters after the filming was completed.

We can give them their Academy Awards posthumously.

Another high ranking official with the state Department of Education has jumped ship in the wake of Commissioner Tom Boysen's resignation.

Associate commissioner Mary L. Dean, who was in charge of the the department's Office of Communications Planning and Governmental Relations, has taken a job in California.

According to acting commissioner Kevin Noland, Dean was hired in 1991 to increase public knowledge of Kentucky's education reforms.

Since we newspaper types are in the same line of work, guess we should say we'll miss her.

Funny thing is, though, we've never heard of her.

Meanwhile, back at the Mansion...

The Guv is on his soap box, urging the public to support his plan to spend an estimated $100 million state surplus on a variety of projects, but legislative leaders aren't too warm to the idea.

Now is no time to go on a spending spree, they say.

We'll have to agree.

Now is the time to fully fund the promised 50 percent return of coal severance taxes to coal counties, though.

How about it Guv?

It's a deal

Job Corps council meets

The Community Advisory Council of the Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center held its bimonthly meeting on Tuesday, May 16.

The major topic of discussion was the new Zero Tolerance for Violence, Drugs and Alcohol policy instituted at all Job Corps centers. The policy includes an initial drug screening for all incoming students and new stipulations for student termination.

Mike Gibson, Center Standards Officer, said that although the new policy may cause the center to lose student initially, it should "help enrollment tremendously in the long term."

The program year ended June 30. For the first eight months of this program year, the Carl D. Perkins Center was ranked #1 in the region. For the 9th and 10th months, it slipped to #2 by a narrow margin. Nationally, the program is ranked #39.

The CMI (Computer Managed Instruction) system was also discussed. All Job Corps classrooms now have at least two computers. Reports were also given on various community activities in which students are involved. The next Council meeting will be July 18.

In Memory of Meredith Allen Conn

Born: Dec. 28, 1963
Died: July 12, 1993

It's been two years since you've been gone, our love for you is just as strong. You're in our hearts and minds still yet today. Your children hold your pictures close to their little hearts and ask questions of, "Why did this have to happen?" And the Lord above is the only one with the answer. We all have special moments and times of things we've done together. On Decoration Day we placed an angel on your grave, and as our father said with tears in all our eyes, "Angels are hard to find." We miss and love you very much.

Dedicated to the Cherished Memory of Virgil Justice

Who died July 24, 1982

So many memories fill my head, of a little girl sitting on her grandpa's knee, Whose eyes were as blue as the sea.

His hands were big and covered both of her small ones, His laughter filled the room with light and joy.

His walk was stooped over and he shuffled his feet, He was a stocky, heavy man and he slumped in his seat.

I can still remember his games and his tales, the tales that got bigger each time they were told, So they never grew old.

His hat was mashed on top of his head of thin, gray/white hair, but he really didn't care.

When I was sick, I wanted him and mama there. He'd make me feel better.

I felt as though he was my protector, My admiration of him never diminished, instead it grew as I did.

And when he was sick he still had a laugh or a story for me still, His shoes in my eyes no one could ever fill, The day I lost Papa was when a part of me died, too.

I wonder if he knows how much a part of me he was, me naming my first son after him, is he looking from above?

Each day I feel his presence here and in my heart and head, I hold his memories and love near and dear.

Keathley, Kidd handcuff Beaver North; win 12-0

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Harold-Allen-Prater All-Stars scored seven times in the top of the fourth inning and coasted to a 12-0 mercy win over the Beaver Creek North All-Stars.

The two teams squared off at the Paintsville's Little League Complex Monday night with a duo of pitchers holding the otherwise hard-hitting North team to only three hits.

Brock Keathley started on the hill for the HAP All-Stars and worked the first three innings, allowing just one hit while tossing "goose eggs" at the North team. He had five strikeouts and issued one walk.

Josh Kidd hurled the fourth inning and gave up two hits before retiring the side. He fanned one batter and did not walk anyone.

North used a trio of pitchers led by Larry Mullins, who hadn't pitched in two weeks after suffering an arm injury in the championship game of the Beaver Creek Little League Tournament.

Mullins lasted two and a third innings as he tried to hurl his team into the championship against Paintsville.

He allowed five runs on four hits, striking out three and walking one. Jeremy Hayes followed Mullins on the hill and could only retire two batters in the drastic fourth inning. He gave up five runs on four hits and walked three.

Robert Fitzpatrick was the third pitcher used by the North squad. He went the final inning and gave up two runs on one hit.

North missed a scoring opportunity in the second inning when they had runners at second and third on a walk to Tim Davis and Henry Napier's double. But Keathley got David Watkins on strikes to end the threat.

While the top and middle of the HAP order was silent through two innings, the bottom third made lost of noise in the second.

With two out and Keathley at first, Anthony Tackett lined a Mullins fast ball off the wall in left field, scoring Keathley with the game's first run. B.J. Kidd then hit a long drive that sailed over centerfielder Dwight McKinney's head, allowing Tackett to score. Robbie Johnson then picked on an high inside pitch and hit a

Tyler Burke's last second goal gives Whirlwinds victory over the Terminators

by Ed Taylor

The Whirlwinds of the new Youth Soccer League in Prestonsburg got a taste of victory this past weekend thanks to the heroics of Tyler Burke.

Burke kicked a last second goal to give the Whirlwinds a 1-0 victory over the Terminators (10 and under).

The win was a first in a twofold way: the first victory for the Whirlwinds (1-4-0) and a first time loss for the Terminators (4-1-0).

Burke kicked the point with about two seconds left to play. As the ball nestled in the net, time expired.

In the 14 and under division, Tina Hall tallied four goals to lead the Pythons to a 9-5 victory over the Blizzards. Tyson Wills had three scores and Aaron Neeley scored twice.

Billy Collins and Paul Wallen scored two goals each for the Blizzards. Bill Jones had one goal.

In the first game (14-under), the Wolverines kept hold of first place with a 3-1 win over the Blizzards. Drew Petry kicked two goals for the winners with Jeff Spears scoring once. Bill Jones had the only score for the Blizzards.

Two weeks ago, the Pythons scored a 6-0 win over the Blizzards. Aaron Neeley had three goals while Tyson Wills scored two. Daniel Raines added a goal as well.

The Terminators came away with a 6-3 win over the Whirlwinds behind the strong foot of Zachary Hilton. Hilton kicked four goals and teammate Kristi Barrowman had two.

Tyler Burke scored twice for the Whirlwinds and Rebecca Thomas scored one.

In an afternoon game, the Pythons won for the second time of the day with a 4-1 win over the Wolverines. It was the first loss of the season for the Wolverines.

Tyson Wills and Aaron Neeley had two goals apiece for the Pythons. Drew Petry scored the only goal for the Wolverines.

The new soccer league plays each Saturday at Prestonsburg Community College with games beginning at 9:30 a.m.

HAP eliminates Prestonsburg in All-Star tournament, 8-3

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Harold-Allen-Prater starting pitcher Nick Spears scattered six Prestonsburg hits and held the hard-hitting Blackcats to only three runs en route to an 8-3 win, thus eliminating Prestonsburg from the Area 2 Little League All-Star Tournament this past Sunday afternoon.

The two teams played close until the fifth inning when HAP exploded for four runs to take a 6-3 lead.

Josh Kidd opened the inning with a single and scored on Justin Hughes RBI double. Chase Gibson walked and came home on B.J. Kidd's single. Kidd later scored when Ralph King singled to right center.

HAP added another run in the sixth inning on a leadoff double by Josh Kidd and Gibson run scoring single.

Prestonsburg led 1-0 after the first inning on a leadoff triple by Josh Slone. He scored when Robert Hall grounded out to short.

HAP missed scoring opportunities in the first and second innings against starter Jake Fitzpatrick. But in the third inning, Hughes took care

Paintsville edges Beaver North 5-3 in tourney play

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Paintsville's Isaiah Ramey worked on a no-hitter against the Beaver North All-Stars last Saturday in the Area 2 Little League All-Star Tournament at Paintsville while North starter Henry Napier deserved a better fate.

Napier took the loss for the North team as his team committed seven errors behind him.

Ramey pitched a perfect game until the fifth inning when he walked the leadoff batter.

The big lefthander was in complete control of the situation as he fanned eight of the first nine batters he faced in the first three innings.

He retired the first 12 batters through four. Beaver North third baseman Patrick Martin worked the count to 3-2 and drew the walk to break the perfect outing.

Ramey lost his shutout in the same inning when Martin moved to second on a passed ball and was at third when Keith Crum grounded to first base.

Crum was called out at first when the pitcher tagged the bag. But the first baseman, who had gone into foul territory to retrieve the ball, had the baseball.

Ramey's shutout bid ended when Tim Davis launched a sacrifice fly to centerfield, scoring Martin to make it a 5-1 game.

An unusual double play in the bottom of the fifth took Paintsville out of a scoring inning.

With one out, Ramey singled sharply to left and Chris Harmon followed with a base hit. Kyle Jennings walked to load the bases with Tigers.

Leadoff batter Brandon Pack grounded to shortstop Dwight McKinney who threw home forcing Ramey. Harmon was then caught off base in some confusion and tagged out, ending the Paintsville threat.

In the bottom of the sixth inning, Beaver North plated two runs and left

Mullins, Holbrook power Prestonsburg past Morgan County

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Hank Mullins and Will Holbrook blasted two-run homers in the third inning to power the Prestonsburg Little League All-Stars past Morgan County 6-4 in tournament play at Paintsville this past Saturday.

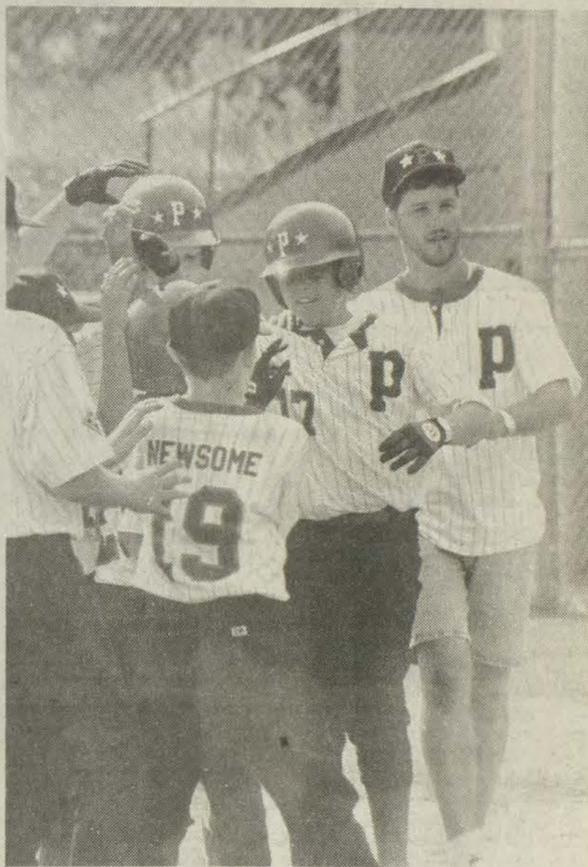

Elray Cline picked up the win for Prestonsburg in a route-going outing. Cline struck out six batters while walking two and hitting one.

Patrick McKenzie suffered the setback for Morgan County. He fanned 11 batters, striking out the side in the first and second innings.

Mullins and Robert Hall each collected two hits in the win for Prestonsburg.

Prestonsburg led 1-0 in the top of the second on a walk to Brooks Stinnett to start the inning. McKenzie got Holbrook and Jake Fitzpatrick on

Trio wins at Kentucky State Trap Shoot

Deanna Hicks

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Kentucky State Trap Shooting event proved successful for Prestonsburg's Deana Hicks as well as 15-year-old Matt Hagans and his father Paul Hagans of Langley.

The three dominated the State Trap Shoot at Berea two weeks ago.

Hicks, rated second highest lady's shooter in the American Trap Shooters Association in Kentucky, won the Jerry Racke Singles, Class C division with a score of 99.

Not only did she take home one event, but made it two in a row later in the day. Hicks, after tying with Lexington's Carolyn Hatton in the Dean DeBow Handicap, won the lady's trophy in the event following a shoot-off between the two.

Matt Hagans broke 89 of 100 from the 20-yard line to win the Junior High Trophy in the Hall of Fame Handicap.

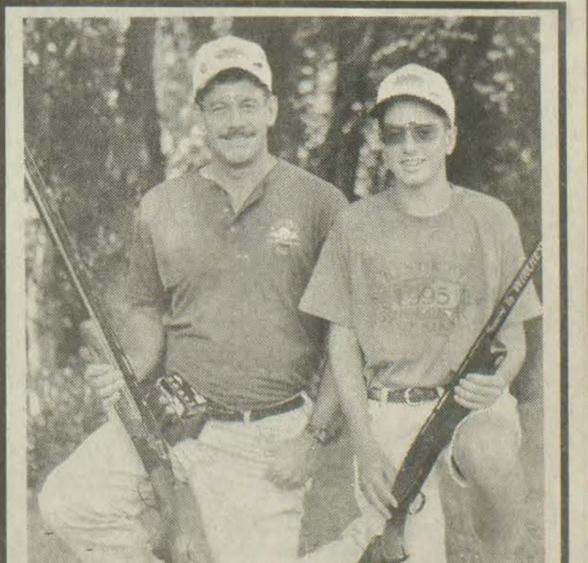

This is the third year of competition for the younger Hagans.

His father, Paul Hagans, broke 98 from the 16-yard line in Friday's Kentucky State Class Championship to (with eight other shooters) force a shoot-off.

Hagans was perfect as he broke 139 straight in the event 10 shoot off to win the Kentucky State Class B Championship.

This is the third year of competing in the Kentucky State Trap Shooters event.

The trio are frequent shooters locally at the Johns Creek Fish and Game Club on Stratton Branch.

strikes before Hall singled home Stinnett.

Morgan County took a 2-1 advantage with two in the bottom of the second. David Tate started the two-run rally with a base hit and, with two out, Kelly Steele doubled down the left field line, scoring Tate. Steele scored on an error at second base for the 2-1 lead.

Home run power sent the Prestonsburg team to a 5-2 lead. Both Mullins and Stinnett's roundtrippers came in the third when Prestonsburg scored four times.

Elray Cline reached on a shortstop error to begin the rally. McKenzie, after the error, looked as if he was going to get out of the frame by striking out Josh Slone and Chris Stevens. But Mullins drilled a towering drive over the left centerfield fence to make it a 3-2 game.

McKenzie walked Stinnett and he rode home on Holbrook's blast over the left field wall to give Prestonsburg a 5-2 lead.

Morgan County added two runs in their half of the fourth to pull to within one run at 5-4. David Gevedon and Anthony Hutchinson collected consecutive singles to start the fourth. Steele lined a rope to right center, scoring both runners. Morgan County left the bases loaded in the inning.

Prestonsburg got an insurance run in the fifth when Slone reached on an error in center and scored on Mullins RBI single.

Morgan County had the tying runs at second and third in the fifth inning with one out. After McKenzie went out on strikes Cline gave up a double to Tate and walked Gevedon. But he came back and struck out Hutchinson and Steele.

Cline retired Morgan County in order in the bottom of the sixth.

the bases loaded in the attempt to come back.

David Watkins and McKinney struck out to start the North's sixth. With his perfect game and shutout gone, Ramey allowed a scratch infield single to Larry Mullins in losing his no-hitter.

Mullins stole second and moved to third on a catcher's error. He scored when Brandon Click dumped a can o' corn into right field, making it a 5-2 game.

Jeremy Hayes grounded sharply to second and the ball was bobbed by the second baseman. Keith Crum came to the plate with the bases loaded and ripped a line drive single to center. Only Click scored because of the sharpness of the hit.

North catcher Tim Davis ended the game when he went down swinging.

Paintsville, a very strong team, did all their damage in the first inning when they scored four times against Napier.

Pack beat out an infield hit to start the inning. After Brad Turner popped out to the catcher, Will Lauffer ripped a double to left center, scoring Pack and Steve Cox followed suit with a ground rule double to left center scoring Lauffer.

Matt Brown made it 4-0 with a long drive over the left centerfield fence, scoring Cox ahead of him.

Napier got Nathan Haney to line hard to the mound to end the inning.

Paintsville scored their final run in the second inning. Pack led off with a single. Turner popped to shortstop but McKinney dropped the ball with Pack safe at second.

Lauffer grounded to third baseman Patrick Martin, who stepped on third to force Pack.

Turner scored when Cox's bouncer to short was overthrown at first. Napier walked Brown. But Jason Kinner popped to the pitcher with Brown on the move. Napier tossed to first to double up Brown.

Napier got stronger from the first inning. He began to find the strike zone and kept Paintsville off the base paths over the final three innings.

Ramey finished with 13 strikeouts in the game. He walked one batter and allowed three runs on four hits, all in the sixth inning.

Napier, in going the distance, allowed five runs on seven hits. He fanned two batters and walked one.

of business when he drilled a three-run home run over the fence in left field.

Brandon Hansford and Kidd, who doubled, scored ahead of Hughes.

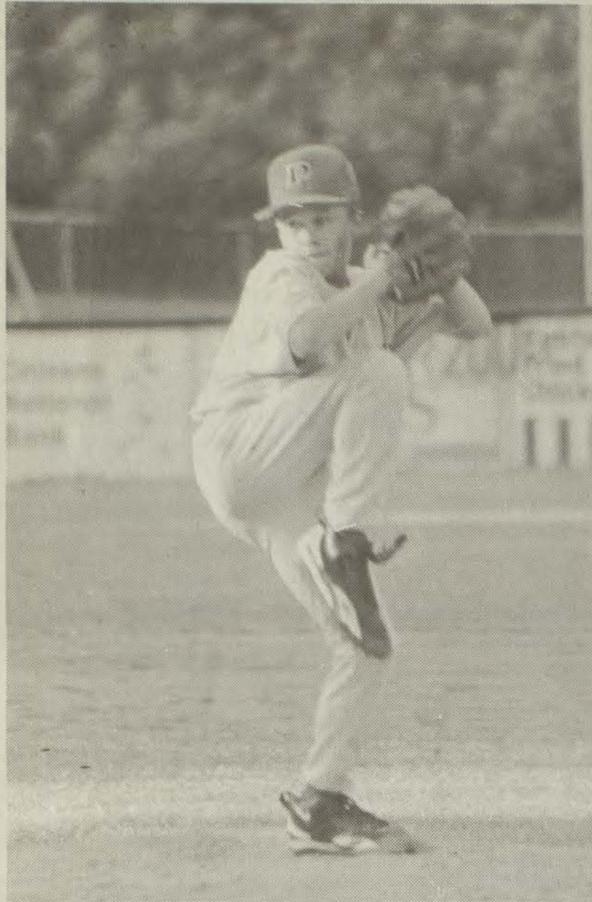

Prestonsburg tied the game at 3-3 with a two run fourth. Mullins doubled and scored on Stinnett's RBI single. Stinnett later scored on a passed ball.

Betsy Layne divides two with Pikeville

On separate nights, the Betsy Layne Big Sandy Babe Ruth team and Pikeville divided two games between themselves.

Pikeville won the first game last Sunday 9-3 and Betsy Layne won Wednesday night's encounter 6-5.

By winning Wednesday night, Betsy Layne became the league's regular season champions.

Sunday night's loss was the first for Betsy Layne after winning their first eight games.

Pikeville scored five runs in the top of the eighth inning to pull out the win. Pikeville had scored twice in the top of the fifth to lead 3-2 but Betsy Layne got a run in the bottom of the fifth to tie.

In the fifth for Betsy Layne, Sammy Nelson singled and moved to second on an error and to third on a passed ball. He scored on Mike Roberts' RBI single.

Pikeville retired Betsy Layne in order in the sixth and seventh innings before exploding for five in the eighth.

Betsy Layne helped the visitors greatly by committing five errors in the eighth inning alone.

"We couldn't catch anything, especially in the final inning," said Betsy Layne coach Tom Holbrook. "It was awful."

Casto reached on a double and moved to third when the ball eluded left fielder Jamo Jarrell. Casto scored on two-error play. Barone grounded to third and the ball was booted by Jerry Lafferty. On a pickoff play by catcher Greg Hunter, the ball sailed into right field and Casto scored with Barone moving to third base.

Lynch then doubled home Barone and scored on a two-run single by Childers.

Pikeville took a 1-0 lead with a run in the second on a lead off single by Childers and Wilenghart's RBI double.

Betsy Layne went in front 2-1 in the second when Barone walked the bases loaded and Doug Keathley singled home two runs.

Base hits by Wilenghart and Batton in the fifth scored two runs for Pikeville for a 3-2 lead.

Brandon Castle was the losing pitcher for Betsy Layne and Barone picked up the win.

Wednesday night was sweet revenge for Betsy Layne in their 6-5 win over Pikeville.

"We had to win in the last inning," said Coach Holbrook.

Betsy Layne scored three times in the bottom of the seventh inning to pull out the one-run win.

Trailing 5-3, Castle singled to lead off the seventh and Lafferty roped a hit, moving Castle to third base.

After Greg Hunter struck out and Keathley bounced back to the mound, left fielder Sammy Nelson drilled a triple to right center, scoring Castle and Lafferty to tie the game at 5-5. Mike Roberts collected his second hit of the game with a line drive to left field, sending Nelson home with the winning run.

"Sammy is starting to hit the ball for us," said Holbrook. "Mike is playing some good ball for us as well."

After Betsy Layne took a 1-0 lead in the first on a one out double by Jason Burke and Lafferty's RBI single, Pikeville plated three runs in the top of the third inning for a 3-1 lead.

Deskins had a one-out single and Casto followed with a base hit. Deskins came in to score the tying run on Lynch's single. Barone then had a two-run double to give Pikeville a 3-1 lead.

Betsy Layne caught Pikeville in the third inning on a single by Burke and Castle's triple. Castle scored the tying run on Hunter's double.

A base hit by Deskins to start the Pikeville fifth allowed Casto to send him home with a triple. Casto came in to score on Barone's single and Pikeville led 5-3 after five.

Burke started for Betsy Layne and worked the first four innings. Hunter came on and hurled the final three.

Hunter picked up the win for Betsy Layne. Batten was the losing pitcher in relief for Pikeville. Casto started and pitched the first four innings.

Betsy Layne collected 15 hits in the contest. Castle and Nelson had triples for the winners.

Betsy Layne will close out their regular season schedule this Saturday at the Allen Park with a double-header. Betsy Layne will face Beaver Creek in the first game at 2 p.m. and they take on Prestonsburg at 4 p.m.

The new league will select their first all-star team Sunday.

Keathley

clothesline to left center, bringing home Kidd to give HAP a 3-0 lead.

HAP tacked on two more runs in the top of the third to lead 5-0 after North failed to score in the bottom of the second.

Brandon Hansford lifted a high fly ball deep to center, but the ball, which was catchable, fell between McKinney and rightfielder Watkins for a double.

Justin Hughes and Keathley drew one-out walks to load the bases before Chase Gibson's scorching ground ball got past shortstop Patrick Martin scoring both Hansford and Hughes.

Keathley retired the North team in order in the bottom of the third and HAP went to work against Hayes in the fourth inning.

Ten batters paraded to the plate in the fourth with two highlights. Highlight one was the daring base running of Josh Kidd who stole home while Hayes was in his windup. The second highlight came when Anthony Tackett blasted a three-run home run to make it a 12-0 game.

Kidd and Keathley each had RBI singles in the inning. Keathley doubled home a run.

Patrick Martin had a one-out single in the fourth for North. Keith Crum lined the first pitch to right field for a base hit but Kidd retired Tim Davis on a pop up to second and got the third out when Crum was forced at second.

Delk to point, Bennett says

My two cents' worth.
Given Denny Crum's financial interests in the long-distance telephone business, ironic, isn't it, that if University of Louisville basketball gets an NCAA spanking it will stem, in part, from athletic department telephone records?

History. Larry Gay's confirmed telephone contacts with Jimmy Thompson proves the UofL assistant leaned nothing from history -- his colleague Dwane Casey's dealings with Ohio native Bill Chupil (Lawrence Funderburke's babysitter) led to an NCAA investigation and eventual probation for the University of Kentucky.

Damage control. Bill Olsen's calling in Louisville television sports media-types in a preemptive strike attempt to scoop the Courier-Journal's investigation was tardy and gave the appearance of desperation (guilt?).

His neatly stacked athletic department records for cameras was reminiscent of Richard Nixon's display of hard-bound Watergate Tapes.

Olsen's ploy didn't work of course for a number of reasons. Blood was already in the water. Readers/viewers love a good scandal, especially in this case, chortling fans at Kentucky. Second, television sports-types are typically young or passing through or both, and have neither the resources or know-how to match the newspapers'. They must content themselves with soft features, ball scores and "reading the morning Courier," then calling in afternoon dispatches from the Associated Press wire for the six o'clock news.

Meanwhile, the newspaper had long since deployed its termites done a good portion of an investigation and was apparently well into the writing stages.

Olsen knew the rocks had already been turned over in this creek and had revealed some interesting dirt. Sometimes no news conference is better than a bad one.

Whatever happens in this debacle, UofL fans who waved those $$ placards at UK players during warm-ups at Freedom Hall in 1988, better get ready for the Cardinals visit to Rupp Arena this December. Methinks we will see how a phone bill magnified 1,000 percent and pasted to a placard for CBS Television looks like?

Footnote: Has anyone at the Louisville newspaper recalled it is 10 years since the Lexington Herald-Leader began digging into UK basketball's laundry that led to a scandal, probation and culminated into a Pulitzer Prize?

DELK TO POINT, BENNETT SAYS

In what already looks like a traffic jam, Tony Delk will see action as Kentucky's point guard during the Wildcats' trip to Italy next month.

"We're working him to improve his ball handling skills and he's showing good flashes," UK assistant coach Winston Bennett said last week. "We're expecting to use Tony at point some next season."

Other items:
Bennett clarified, somewhat, UK's jayvee plans. "I think we're going to have a jayvee team, yes," he said, declining to discuss who will be on the team, nor the schedule.

"Right now we're working on a schedule. We will probably play mostly JUCO teams," he said.

Delray Brooks may be in line to coach the team.

A year ago, Bennett told Sports In Kentucky his summer progress reports were that Jeff Sheppard was the most improved during summer workouts.

"Shep's looking good again," he said. "And, Antoine Walker has been doing very well also. And so has Tony (Delk)."

Bennett declined to discuss who might be redshirt candidates and Rodrick Rhodes future.

UK IN GREAT EIGHT

Final details are not complete yet, but UK will play in the Great Eight November 28-29 at the Palace at Auburn Hills near Detroit. Defending champion UCLA and Connecticut will not participate, and either Arkansas or North Carolina will decline also.

However, organizers were pleased to get UK "undoubtedly the consensus preseason number one team," a spokesman said.

Others who will play: UMass, Oklahoma State, Wake Forest and Virginia. Kansas and Villanova are probables.

GOOD FOOTBALL SERIES: KENTUCKY-WEST VIRGINIA

It is time for (radical) change in the Kentucky high school football all-star series with Tennessee (Vols lead series 10-2).

Using an old Bill Battle treatise as he was being fired as University of Tennessee coach -- "When you're being run out of town, make it look like you're leading a parade." -- Kentucky officials should put a good spin on it, announce "We are dropping Tennessee" for lack of support (barely 4,000 fans) showed up at Neyland Stadium for the game last month.

Next, Jimmie Reed, executive director of the Coaches Association, should contact his counterpart in West Virginia. Kentucky-West Virginia is a pine knot-tough, border war natural.

Establish a trial series over three years. A 1996 game at UK's Commonwealth Stadium; 1997 in Huntington, at Marshall University. Dates for the game would be crucial. 1996 -- Saturday, April 20 as a preliminary to UK's Blue-White spring games; 1997 contest -- third Saturday in April, as a preliminary to Marshall U's Green-White spring game.

The series' third game would go to the state with best gate receipts numbers from the previous meetings.

Kentucky's rosters and coaches? Decision-makers should select a crusty proud, cantankerous and quotable winner -- Joe Jagers of North Hardin. Allow Jagers to pick his staff who would then choose a core group of players, say 10. Then, to learn who really cares about state pride, hold tryouts for another 50, to fill 25 slots.

Kentucky-West Virginia, a natural. So, for that matter, would be a UK-West Virginia series.

IDEAS DEPT.

Women's college basketball in Kentucky needs to do itself a favor. As a way of showcasing its product, and as a deterrent to losing too many of its best players to out-of-state schools, directors of athletics at Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky, Louisville, Western Kentucky should negotiate the establishment of an annual Big Four Classic to be played in December. For starters, a four year pact with first year's tournament in Frankfort followed by Classics in Bowling Green, Louisville, Richmond and Lexington at Memorial Coliseum.

DIS 'N DATA

-- Conference-USA, or C-USA, as America's newest college basketball league is called, may not have caught the fancy of many fans yet, but the conference lineup is attractive enough to have earned a regular Thursday night spot on ESPN ($13 million package over six seasons). Louisville, Memphis and Cincinnati are obvious headliners in the new league, but the coaching personalities make for excellent marquee too -- Hall of Famer Denny Crum, firebrand Bob Huggins, animated Perry Clark at Tulane, and the Spoon Man, Charlie Spoonhour of Saint Louis.

First season favorite to win C-USA? Louisville.

-- Incidentally, the UofL Cards, along with the Western Hilltoppers, will play in the San Juan Shootout Thanksgiving Day weekend, joining Illinois State, Auburn, LaSalle, James Madison and VCU.

-- Rex Chapman seems to have landed on his feet once more in what has been a spotty NBA career. Plagued by injuries the Owensboro native and ex-UK star was traded to Miami from Washington on NBA Draft night. Chapman hopes to play another two seasons in the NBA before retiring to the Lexington area....

-- A good situation for Tony Hopper, the intense (and successful) boys basketball coach at Muhlenberg-North, taking an option to step down for a season then return if he wants. "Battle fatigue" caused Hopper to put himself on the shelf for the 1995-96 campaign.

Says here Hopper will miss being on the sidelines only a little at first. By mid-January he will enjoy a feeling of relief. Then tournament time will come around and withdrawal will set in.

KY PREP STARS

Heading into the critical July summer camps month, as expected, 6-9 Lamont Barnes of University Heights and 6-5 Daymeon Fishback of Greenwood are getting most of the summertime hype as the state's best seniors-to-be basketball prospects. However, Bart Miller, 6-4 point guard at Meade County is rated 59th among Dave Bones Top 100.

Also, Van Coleman, who runs Future Stars recruiting service says Miller, "...has really improved his overall game." All of which has brought interest from Syracuse, Western Kentucky, Tennessee, Stanford, North Dame and Marquette.

As the July summer camps opened, Fishback was the only guard-prospect in Kentucky who rated ahead of Miller.

Footnote: Said in this space a year ago that (gym rat) Miller -- who plays for this dad Larry at Meade County -- would be one of the state's best prospects by 1995-96.

UK HOOPS RECRUITING...

"Can't talk about recruiting," Winston Bennett said last week. But, at the shopping list stage, UK is doing well.

As July summer camps rolled around, a dozen of the country's top 50 prospects have UK among schools they're considering. With Kentucky at or near the top: 6-11 Jermaine O'Neal of Columbia, S.C.; 6-11 Jason Collier of Springfield, Ohio; 6-11 Tim Thomas, Paterson, N.J.; 6-9 Charles Hathaway, Nashville, Tenn.; 6-10 Malik Allen of Medford, N.J.; 6-3 Ronnie Fields of Chicago Farragut; 5-11 Shaheen Holloway of Elizabeth, N.J.; and in-staters Lamont Barnes and 6-6 Daymeon Fishback.

With as many as four seniors on next season's roster, UK needs a reload kind of campaign and is poised to have it.

WORTH REPEATING...

Bob Hammel, sports editor of Bloomington, Indiana, Herald-Telephone, and inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame, made a statement that left me saying, "Amen."

"I can never give our readers enough about basketball. Their appetites are insatiable. If I write seven stories I know they'll read everyone and clamor for more. This state's relationship with the game is remarkable."

Amen.

PARTING SHOT

Chicago Cubs' shortstop Shawon Dunston was not chosen to play in the All-Star game despite having a career season going, .338 batting average. His reaction to not being selected: "I'd rather be an All-Star father than an All-Star baseball player."

Dunston will take his three children to an amusement park during the break.

And so it goes.

Roundtripper!

Hughes' homer sparks HAP over Magoffin

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Anthony Tackett pitched no-hit baseball and Justin Hughes provided the firepower as the Harold-Allen-Prater All-Stars posted a 10-0 win over the all-stars from Magoffin County.

The two teams met in the losers' bracket of the Area 2 All-Star Little League Tournament at Paintsville Friday night.

Hughes belted a second inning two-run home run as HAP scored eight times in the second inning.

It was the second straight game that Magoffin County had been no-hit.

Brandon Hansford collected two hits for HAP.

Tackett, in picking up the win, struck out eight batters while walking two.

Josh Young started on the mound for Magoffin County and worked the first inning. He pitched in the second, failed to retire a batter and was relieved by Jerry Allen.

Young allowed five runs on four hits. He walked five batters and struck out three. Allen went three innings and gave up five runs on three hits. He walked three and fanned two.

Magoffin managed five base runners in the game. Two were results of errors. Tackett hit a batter leading off the fourth inning.

Josh Kidd had an RBI single in the first inning when HAP scored twice. His single scored Hansford, who reached on an error in left field.

Kidd, who stole second and third, scored on an error by the Magoffin County catcher.

Young walked the first three batters he faced starting the bottom of the second. Tackett walked and scored on a passed ball and Hansford doubled home a run to make it 4-0. After Kidd walked to fill the bases, Brock Keathley got an RBI single and Hughes then unloaded his home run to break the game open.

After Young departed, Allen walked Chase Gibson and Ralph King. Centerfielder Jerry Allen misplayed Tackett's fly ball to center and two runs scored. Robbie Johnson hit a sacrifice fly for the final run in the inning.

Poor base running costly to Beaver South

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Some poor base running for the Beaver South All-Star team in the final three innings proved costly as they dropped a 9-8 decision to the Morgan County All-Stars last Thursday evening.

The two teams squared off in the losers' bracket of the Area 2 Little League All-Star Tournament being played at Paintsville.

Patrick McKenzie's two-run home run in the bottom of the fourth inning proved to be the winning margin.

However, the South team had their chances to pull out the win.

In the fourth inning, Josh Bentley led off the inning with a single and moved to second on a wild pitch. He stood at third base after another wild pitch.

With Joe Skeens at the plate, Nick Skaggs uncorked a wild pitch and Bentley went three-fourths of the way home and returned to third base when he could have walked in the rest of the way.

In the fifth, Leslie Slone walked and went to second on Bentley's infield hit. On his own, Slone broke for third base and was thrown out by four feet, ending the fifth inning.

In the sixth inning, after the South team scored twice to pull within a run, Mike Hall took off for third base on his own and was caught stealing easily to end the game.

The South team appeared to be on their way to an easy victory when they plated five runs in the first inning to lead 5-0.

James "Bub" Goins belted a two-run home run with Hall and Slone picking up RBIs in the inning.

Morgan County starter Brandon Evans didn't stay around long as he was relieved by Skaggs in the first inning with two out.

Ditto for starter Ken Childers for the South team. He lasted four batters as Morgan County scored six times in the first to take a 6-5 lead.

The South team continued their bad play on defense as they committed five errors in the first. Braxton Collins and Nick O'Neil reached on errors to start the inning. McKenzie singled to load the bases and David Tate sent two runners home with a double.

Two unearned runs scored when Skaggs grounder to third was misplayed. He later scored on an error at shortstop. Kelby Steele had an RBI single in the first inning.

Morgan County added a run in the second inning with some help from the South defense. McKenzie came home on an error at shortstop.

South picked up a run in the third to make it a 7-6 game. Mike Hall singled and scored on a second baseman's error.

Hall got Morgan County in order in the bottom of the third and South had a chance to tie the game in the fourth but poor base running prevailed.

In the sixth, Jerry Bailey reached on an error at third base. He scored on Goins' one-out double. Goins' hit to right field was not handled properly and he continued to third base. He came in to score on a passed ball.

Hall drew a one-out walk to keep the inning alive for the South team. Coach D.I. Henson looked to find a runner for the slower Hall and, in much confusion, decided to leave Hall at first base.

The move proved a mistake as Mike Hall ripped what would have been a solid base hit to right field. The right fielder fielded the ball and threw to second, forcing Anthony Hall.

Hayes hurls, bats Beaver North past Prestonsburg

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Beaver North All-Stars survived the home run power of the Prestonsburg All-Stars and posted a 10-7 win in the Area 2 Little League All-Star Tournament at Paintsville last Friday night.

Righthander Jeremy Hayes went the distance for the North squad in picking up the win. He also added a home run in the second and had two hits in the game.

Hayes walked six batters in the game but came up with 12 strikeouts. He also hit a batter.

Kyle Calhoun went to the mound for Prestonsburg and lasted three innings. He was followed by Jake Fitzpatrick who worked the final two frames.

Calhoun allowed seven runs on five hits, walked seven batters and fanned five. Fitzpatrick gave up three runs on three hits. He walked two and fanned four.

The two Floyd County teams were tied at 7 when the North team came to bat in the bottom of the fifth. Eight batters went to the plate as Beaver Creek scored three times to assume a 10-7 lead.

Larry Mullins reached on a walk to start the inning but was erased on a fielder's choice off the bat of Brandon Click. Hayes singled, sending Click all the way to third. He came in to score on Patrick Martin's RBI single.

Both Hayes and Martin scored on an error at shortstop.

Prestonsburg had a runner on base in the person of Brook Stennett but he was forced at second on a tremendous stop by Dwight McKinney, who dove for a roller off the bat of Will Holbrook, came up with the ball and, lying on the ground, flipped the ball to Martin for the force to end the game.

Prestonsburg raced to a 3-0 lead on the strength of Holbrook's three-run home run in the first inning.

Josh Stone walked and Stennett drew a two-out walk just ahead of Holbrook's blast.

The North team got two of the runs back in their half of the first on leadoff walks to Mullins and Click. Mullins scored on a passed ball and Click came home on a wild pitch.

Prestonsburg left a runner stranded in the second inning as Beaver North came to bat. McKinney walked and scored on a throwing error at shortstop when Mullins' ground ball was errored on. Mullins came around to score on a passed ball and a throwing error by the catcher.

Click lined a double to right but excellent execution on defense nailed him at third. Hayes then hit his solo home run to give Beaver Creek a 5-3 lead.

Prestonsburg tied the game at 5 in the top of the third against Hayes.

Hank Mullins walked and rode home on Stennett's home run.

Calhoun retired the North team without any difficulty in the bottom of the third and Prestonsburg looked to score in the top of the fourth, putting their first two batters on base.

Robert Hall reached on an error and Calhoun walked. But Hayes got the next three batters on strikes to end the threat.

Two runs scored for North in the bottom of the fourth for a 7-5 lead. Click reached on an error, moved to second on a passed ball and scored when Hayes bounced back to the mound and Calhoun threw wildly to first base for a two-base error.

Calhoun issued consecutive walks to Martin and pinch hitter Robert Fitzpatrick. Coach Denny Ousley brought on Jake Fitzpatrick to face Tim Davis. He struck out Davis but gave up a RBI single to Henry Napier.

Prestonsburg tied the score at 7 with two in the top of the fifth. Stennett scored an unearned run after walking to start the inning. Fitzpatrick singled and scored on Calhoun's RBI single to tie the game.

North then scored four times in the bottom of the inning for the 10-7 victory.

Log home is a surprisingly contemporary home

by Associated Designs

If you thought log homes went out with Abe Lincoln, the Ridgeline's contemporary design may come as a delightful surprise. Stacks of peeled logs, punctuated by wide expanses of glass, form the exterior of this home. Corners are overlapped in the traditional scribe fit.

What's not traditional is the hexagonal shape and the bright interior. Every room is richly windowed and oriented to allow full appreciation of a view to the rear, be it lake, mountain range, river or canyon. At the back two sets of sliding glass doors in the great room open onto a wide, railed deck that wraps around three sides.

A pot-bellied stove on a hexagonal stone hearth is at the heart of the spacious great room. Exposed roof beams sweep up to a lofty central peak, over the stove. The kitchen is in the left wing, out of the great room but open to it. Range and oven face into the open space, across a long eating bar.

For a small kitchen, this one has plenty of counter and cupboard space, and even a built-in dishwasher. Utilities are tucked into an alcove hidden by folding doors.

Both bedrooms are private, located on the far ends of the rectangular wings up front. The master suite has a large closet, linen storage and a private bathroom with an oversized shower. The second bedroom shares the main bathroom, which is outfitted with a combined tub and shower.

A railed, covered entry porch extends a warm welcome to family and guests. Coat closets and storage space are just inside the Ridgeline's front door.

Don't worry men, we can't lose what we've never had

I suppose everybody's got a junk drawer... that special little space into which everything that can't be readily recognized or immediately used is dropped. Of course, it can be anywhere; in the kitchen, in the dresser in your bedroom, or even in your desk. Where it's located, though, is unimportant. The main thing is to try to remember that if it was junk when we put it in, it'll be junk when we take it out.

I wish I'd realized this little truism last weekend before I found an old newspaper clipping that I'd junked five or six years ago. Since I bothered to clip it in the first place, I may have already devoted a column to its contents. But, if I did, I don't remember.

The item was regarding a group of researchers from the University of Pennsylvania who, using a technique called magnetic resonance imaging, has discovered that aging in a woman's brain is not as rapid as it is in a man's. It all has something to do with hormones or something.

Now here's the interesting part. As a result of all this research, this group has apparently decided that as men grow older, they lose their ability to talk faster than a woman.

Huh? Say what?

I sure hope nobody spent an excessive amount of money just to find that out. Goodness, was this point ever in question? I mean, how could we men lose the ability to do something that we've never ever had the ability to do in the first place?

Even in the Garden of Eden, before Adam could say, "Don't bother the fruit," Eve was saying "Wish I had a little salt to go on this green apple."

Anyway, particulars of the report state that the left side of the brain controls language and verbal abilities, and the left side of a man's brain deteriorates two or three times faster than a woman's.

In other words, what they're saying is that when it comes to arguing with our wives, the older we men get, the more disadvantaged we become.

Poison Oak

Clyde Pack

We sure needed to hear that, now didn't we?

If there's a positive side to all this, it's that both sexes reason with the right side of our brain, and it isn't affected by aging the way the left side is. That means that we men are still smart enough to love and appreciate the little gals we married...and, yes, even smart enough to realize that our failure to win a little old argument is not all that important anyway.

But then again, that same reasoning keeps posing this question: "What's the point of out-thinking her if you never hope to out-talk her?"

It's kind of like the old cowboy-movie scenario that we've all watched so many times at the Saturday matinee at the old Royal Theater when we were kids. You know, where the handsome young stranger was a dead shot but was so slow on the draw he was shot dead before he shot.

I'm afraid that what it all boils down to, then, is this: If you've never before won an argument with your wife, it's now been scientifically proven that as each day passes, the odds become greater and greater that you never will.

Summer program previews medicine, dentistry professions

Mustafa Badrudduja of Prestonsburg and Kathy Hall of Martin are participating in the Professional Educational Preparation Program (PEPP) at the University of Kentucky Chandler Medical Center. Fifty-six recently-graduated high school seniors from across Kentucky are in Lexington for the six-week summer program that gives students from health-care shortage areas, as well as minority students, a jump on a career as a physician or dentist.

PEPP offers a wide range of activities to hone each student's academic, social, and emotional adjustment to the college atmosphere. Students receive academic enrichment through prep classes in chemistry, pre-calculus, anatomy, study skills, and test-taking strategies. Rotations through many areas of medicine and dentistry provide clinical experiences and seminars on health-related topics ranging from hypnosis to kidney transplants.

"The focus of PEPP is to increase the number of minority students and those from underrepresented areas in medicine and dentistry," said Don Frazier, Ph.D., director of the UK Outreach Center for Science and Health Career Opportunities. "We want to foster their interest and give them a better foundation on which to build a successful application into a health professions school," said Frazier.

PEPP students are also offered supportive activities throughout their undergraduate career. Personal and academic counseling is provided as well as tutoring and assistance with the application process for professional school.

The program is sponsored by the Council on Higher Education. Information concerning PEPP can be obtained by calling the Office of Health Careers Programs (606-257-1967) or the toll free number of the Outreach Center for Science and Health Careers Program (606-257-1967) or the toll free number of the Outreach Center for Science and Health Career Opportunities (1-800-955-9500).

School for the arts expands to 164 students

Governor Jones recently announced the expansion of the Governor's School for the Arts to a total of 164 students, up from 130 in 1994. This increase in the number of students results from additional funding for GSA initiated by the Governor and Arts; Education and Humanities Cabinet Secretary Sherry K. Jelsma and approved by the Kentucky General Assembly for the 1995-96 biennium.

With the announcement of the expansion, Governor Jones also released the names of students who attended the Governor's School for the Arts this summer.

These committed artists participated in the areas of creative writing, dance, drama, instrumental music, visual art and vocal music. Two Prestonsburg High School students, Jason Daniels and Michael Halfhill Jr., were among the students in attendance.

"Kentucky is very proud of these young artists for their high achievements, hard work and talent," said Governor Jones. "With more than 1,400 applicants this year, it is especially gratifying that GSA can accept 25 percent more students. We join their parents, schools and communities in congratulating them."

The Governor's School for the Arts is a program of the Kentucky Center for the Arts and the Governor's Office through the Kentucky Cabinet of Education, Arts and Humanities. This year's program took place at Bellarmine College in Louisville from June 18-July 8.

During the three-week session, students received individual and group instruction in their chosen artistic discipline, worked together in interdisciplinary classes, attended cultural events and prepared for a final showcase which placed them, quite literally, "in the spotlight" on the stages of the Kentucky Center for the Arts.

Benefits of attending the Governor's School for the Arts extend beyond the three-week program and include opportunities to interview and audition for college scholarships at the annual fall College Day.

Annual Berea Craft Festival slated for July 14-16

The 14th Annual Berea Craft Festival will be held the weekend of July 14, 15 and 16 in Berea, an area which has become internationally acclaimed as a major center for American crafts.

This year's festival will feature the largest number of craftspeople ever to exhibit in Central Kentucky.

There'll be over 125 artists for approximately twenty states converging on Berea to exhibit and demonstrate their craft at Indian Fort Theater, a scenic wooded arena and outdoor amphitheater nestled at the foot of the Pinnacle Mountains which were once a natural Indian fortification.

All participants in the Berea Craft Festival have been juried and invited to exhibit in the Festival on the basis of the quality and originality of their work. Only a select few are chosen from the hundreds of applications received each year.

Basketry, woodcarving, jewelry, knives blacksmithing, photography, painting, pottery and weaving will be among the many craft media to be demonstrated and exhibited by those craftspeople who will travel from across the nation to Berea for the 14th year of this major craft showcase.

Over twenty percent of the exhibitors will be in Berea for their first time, while for others this is an eagerly anticipated return engagement.

Among the newcomers will be stone and wood sculptor Karen Terhune of Louisville; Roberta Elliott, a lady blacksmith, "The Velvet Hammer" from Illinois; Berea College graduate Steve Summerville of Bumpass, Virginia, showing functional pottery; leatherworker Marty Schwartz of Dedham, Massachusetts; Pinon Silver Jewelry Designs by Leslie Heath of Mechanicstown, Ohio.

Also on exhibit will be Pewter Sculpture by Ross and Judie Parker, Columbus, Georgia; "Ou-La-La" jewelry by Louise Mahoney of Gaithersburg, Maryland; wooden bird houses with old license plate roofs by Linda Fox; basketry and herb arrangements by Eagle's Nest, Herbs and Vinery Crafts, Morehead; framed screen prints of fish and lures, Cat-Fish Nature Graphics, Denton, Maryland; and Moon Dance Arts, jewelry by Gary and Kathy Arnold of Texas.

While all craftspeople are encouraged to demonstrate some aspect of their craft during the 3-day weekend, there will be special demonstrations by eight featured craftsmen, four new ones, and four returning.

Robert Baucom of Virginia will carve carousel horses from his Brass Ring Studio; Sid and Pam Tibbs of Middlesboro will do "Mountain Made" baskets, knives and do carving; Tom and Pam Thompson of Paxton, Florida, will do storytelling and make white oak baskets; and, rounding out the newcomers will be Berea's own "Wolf Gap Mountain Forger," Bob Montgomery.

Returning demonstrators will be Bob Bellamy of Ohio, who makes and plays hammered dulcimers; Shannon and Terry Monroe of Pawly Prints in Louisville; John Martin's raku pottery firing from his Berea shop; and hand-carved wood kitchen utensils by Weyerworks, Sperry, Iowa.

Entertaining the approximately 10,000 visitors who travel from all surrounding states and Kentucky to attend the 14th Annual Craft Festival will be "Mandala" starring Mitch Barrett and Nathan Wilson of Berea; Early Light Music renaissance/classical duo from North Carolina; the Lemmon Brothers, Zack and Shawn, old-time music makers; Efrim McDowell, a banjoist and fiddle player from Lexington; Bob Bellamy and Brad Westall of Ohio, who entertain with handmade hammered dulcimers and rhythm guitar; and the Berea Contra Dancers.

There will be special music and entertainment throughout the three-day event.

Festival hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, and there are plenty of food and drink booths. Parking is free. Admission for adults is $4; children 11 and under, free; senior citizens, $3.50; and group rates for 20 people or more.

For further information, call Berea Tourism, 606-986-2540 or 2550. Berea is located just 40 miles south of Lexington with two exits off I-75.

THE GREEN ALLEN BROOKS STORY

Sheriff Robert F. Giles left his Jonesville office and arrived at the farm of Green Allen Brooks on the western edge of Lee County a scant thirty minutes following the telephone call saying that officers Arch Redmond and Bob Bailey had been killed in June of 1935.

Giles was devastated when he checked the bodies of his two slain officers. He stood looking up at the Brooks residence from the road for several minutes. Alongside was Deputy Robert Ball who said he thought Brooks was still in the house.

Finally, unflinching, Sheriff Giles started trudging up the path to the cabin with Ball following behind.

Giles rapped on the door while Ball stayed at the corner of the building. Green Allen's wife answered the door and allowed him inside where he saw two of the Brooks daughters.

"Where's Green Allen?" Giles asked. "He's not here," the older woman said. "Sheriff, don't harm my husband. He did what he thought he had to do."

"What happened here?" he asked directly. "The officers came here and they were drunk," Luther Poore's wife, Bea, answered. "They were beating up on Luther. The pushed Daddy and almost knocked him down and then were dragging Luther down the hill. Daddy came in here and got his rifle and went back out. Then we heard the shots."

Giles looked at Brooks' wife and asked, "Where's your husband?"

"Sheriff, I'm afraid you all would shoot him," she retorted. "I told him to hide in the mountains. He went up that little dreen with a mule. Now Sheriff, he left his guns right here so there's no needing you to kill him."

Giles picked up the rifle and smelled the burnt gunpowder on the weapon before walking back onto the porch. He told Deputy Ball that the 80-year old man had slipped away into the mountains on a mule leaving his weapons behind.

After a search was made without Brooks being found, Giles requested bloodhounds be brought in from LaFollette. The dogs seemed to follow a scent for over an hour, with the officers following along, before they lost the trail at a mountain cabin a few miles from the Brooks farm.

A report came that Brooks had been seen in the Colmar neighborhood in Bell County. He was gone from the area when deputies went there for him. Officers were dispatched to Loyall, Kentucky, where a daughter of Brooks lived but they found nothing. Lawmen also interviewed family members in Claiborne County.

Brooks had seemingly vanished into the thin mountain air.

A large, heavily-armed posse continued searching for several days but Brooks could not be found.

Sheriff Giles had hundreds of wanted posters printed and sent to every sheriff in Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and to hundreds of others throughout the United States.

It read, "Wanted, Green Allen Brooks, six feet—one inch, clean-shaven, dark eyes, high cheek bones, slender, good physical condition, expert marksman, 80 years old, reward offered."

The months passed one after the other without any word from Brooks although each time a dead body surfaced or bones were found, rumors started that the old man had been found. Giles checked into every possibility and verified that Brooks was still unaccounted for.

Late one afternoon two years later the phone rang in the Sheriff's Department in Jonesville.

"It's for you Sheriff," a deputy said. "They say they might know something about the whereabouts of Green Allen Brooks."

Editor's note: Green Allen Brooks' trail leads Sheriff Giles to Texas next week in Jadon's From The Mountains in the Floyd County Times.

WHY FLOSS?

The basic objective of flossing is to mechanically remove plaque from between the teeth, especially near and under the gumline. Flossing does three things: 1) Cleans teeth of plaque and food debris, 2) freshens the mouth, and 3) fights plaque buildup.

Why floss? Why not just do a thorough job of brushing and be satisfied that your teeth and gums are really protected? Well, even careful brushing reaches only three of the five tooth surfaces exposed to the damaging effects of plaque and plaque microorganisms. If you brush but don't floss, you are really just doing part of the job! Those inside surfaces between teeth are the real problem areas. Brushing effectively cleans only to top, front, and back of your teeth. This means that 40% of your tooth surfaces do not have plaque removed from them if you only brush.

Once gum disease gets a head start, it is precisely in these between-the-teeth areas that it is the most severe.

Jack May's War

Part Three: The Cause of Civil Freedom

According to Nelson, the battle at Ivy Mountain lasted for an hour and twenty minutes. The Confederates weren't dislodged from their position until a third Federal regiment under Colonel Norton climbed the northern side of the mountain, reached the crest, and descended on the rebels from their rear.

When Norton's men pressed their attack, May's company and the other Confederate units gave ground and beat a hasty retreat across the Ivy Creek bridge. In the confusion, some were pushed off the bridge and into the shallow water. By and large, however, the retreat was an orderly one. Henry Scalf, in his account of the battle in Kentucky's Last Frontier (Prestonsburg, 1966), says "the retrograde movement did right itself enough to prevent utter disaster." After the Confederates had gone several miles up the road toward Pikeville, they blocked their retreat by felling trees and destroying bridges.

Reports of the battle published in Northern newspapers were wildly inaccurate. On November 13th, for example, the New York Times reported that the Federals had "gained a glorious victory," and that four hundred rebels had been killed and four thousand taken prisoner. Nelson, however, in his official report, didn't mention any prisoners and noted only that thirty-two enemy dead had been found on the field. On November 19th the Cincinnati Gazette published a report based on an interview with Brigade Surgeon Bradford, who claimed that eleven enemy dead had been buried by Federal troops. This is probably an accurate figure. Colonel Williams, in his official report of the battle, listed his losses as ten dead, fifteen wounded, and forty missing.

According to Marshall Davidson of Prestonsburg, the battle was fought on and around the farm of Samuel Davidson (1800-1854), Jack May's father-in-law. It enclosed land now occupied by the present-day town of Ivel. Oldtimers say that the battleground was located several hundred yards west of the present Ivel post office and immediately west of the Wagon Wheel restaurant. When Highway 23, the main route between Prestonsburg and Pikeville, was widened in 1971, most of this site, which had formerly been marked by a cemetery and a flag pole, was destroyed.

During the ante-bellum period, the Davidson farm rivaled the May farm in size and importance. The farmhouse was located immediately east of the old section of Davidson Memorial Gardens, one of the oldest cemeteries in Floyd County, where Samuel and his wife Judith are buried. We can form some estimate of Samuel's wealth from the fact that in 1860, according to the U. S. Census, Judith owned seventeen slaves. Henry Scalf claims that during the Ivy Mountain fight, General Nelson positioned his cannon "almost at the foot of the cemetery hill." Marshall Davidson preserves the tradition that during the battle, Samuel's children crossed the Big Sandy in order to avoid being hit by rifle fire.

Although the Battle of Ivy Mountain was a Confederate defeat, it did delay Nelson's progress enough to allow Williams to withdraw his troops from Pikeville and establish a winter camp at Pound Gap. After occupying the town for a week or so, Nelson decided not to pursue the rebels any farther, reasoning that their lack of supplies and the lateness of the season would make a counter-attack unlikely. He then withdraw his troops from the region. According to an article published in the Cincinnati Gazette on November 19th, one of his regiments was loaded aboard rafts and sent down the river to Catlettsburg, and the other four were marched back to Maysville and loaded aboard rafts and sent down the river to Catlettsburg, and the other four were marched back to Maysville and loaded aboard steamboats bound for Lexington. One of the rafts was wrecked in the rapids sixty miles above the mouth of the Sandy, and one man was drowned.

Union sympathizers in the region were dismayed by Nelson's decision to withdraw. On December 1st the New York Times published an interview with Mr. Thomas Turner, "an intelligent citizen of Mount Sterling," who predicted that "the whole fruits of General Nelson's victory at Ivy Mountain, and of his fatiguing and extraordinary march through a mountain country and over miserable roads, and in despite of high waters, will be lost by the removal of all his troops; and I fear, the Union cause in this section will be greatly injured."

If the future looked bleak from the loyal citizens of Mount Sterling, it looked even bleaker for the men of the 5th Kentucky camped in the snow at Pound Gap. On December 13th, the Abingdon Virginian published this appeal to the ladies of the region, written by someone who had visited to the camp:

Ladies of Little Tennessee, we saw on Sunday last over one hundred barefoot, thinly-clad, but heroic Kentucky soldiers near Pound Gap, shivering with cold and marching to and fro over the frozen ground, with feet as red as those of pigeons, assisting to keep off from your hearths the Vandal scoundrels who have already invaded their own. Can you not spare them a few pairs of woolen socks, flannel shirts, and other necessities?

Accents of fuschia

The bright pink fuschia petunias that accent the landscape of Dr. Blake and Sandy Burchett's home North Arnold Avenue were winners in the eyes of Prestonsburg Woman's Club judges. The attractive landscape was named the July "Garden of the Month." The petunias are planted in front of a variety of evergreen foundation plantings and around two trees in the front yard, presenting a colorful contrast. "We thought the landscaping was absolutely beautiful," said one judge. "The petunias added color to it. The yard was very nice." (photo by Polly Ward)

Fly control

Kentucky Veterinary Medical Association

Flies are high on the list of major pests irritating pastured cattle, as well as high on the list of things difficult to control.

Most common are horn flies and face flies, only one of which is relatively easily controlled.

The two have some similarities. Adult flies of both species lay their eggs in cattle manure, where they develop into adult flies. Adult flies of both species feed on adult animals.

They also have some fundamental differences which affect efforts to control them.

Horn flies feed on blood, which they obtain by sitting on the back or sides of cattle and using piercing mouthparts to obtain the blood. They spend most of their life on the animals.

Face flies, however use sponge-like mouthparts to soak up secretions from around the eyes and face. The rough surface of the mouthparts stimulates more tear flow and thereby provides even more food.

They are confined mostly to the head and face area and do not spend much time on the animal, appearing only briefly to feed.

Horn fly control is relatively simple, because of the habits of the fly. Because they spend so much time on the animal eating, insecticide ear tags have become a popular method of control.

The insecticide in the tag rubs off on the shoulders and sides and is spread even further when animals have contact with one another. Even though the entire surface of the animal may not be treated, most flies come in contact with a treated area when they fly and then resettle.

The ear tags, however, tend to create a resistance in the fly population, so it is advisable to use different killing agents each year.

They do not much affect face flies, though some reduction is possible.

A forced-use dust bag placed where the animal must come in contact with it daily is often best for face fly control. The bag distributes the insecticide over the area where the flies settle, thus reaching the face flies, and often spreads enough insecticide over the back of the animal to assist in horn fly control as well.

Your veterinarian can explain to you how to use these methods properly for maximum effect and for minimum development of resistance.

He or she is trained in control of flies and other animal pests, as well as trained to control these pests in a way which does not threaten human safety.

Big Sandy Area Community Action Program has openings in its senior training program. To apply, participants must be 55 years of age or older. For more information, call 874-2965.

American Electric Power gets Best of Class

American Electric Power (AEP) has received the American Economic Development Council's (AEDC) Best of Class award for its new ProCure® computer application, which helps existing companies to expand and new companies to locate in the electric utility's service territory.

Kentucky Power Company, an AEP subsidiary that serves 20 Eastern Kentucky counties, began using ProCure in January when it was installed at each AEP operating subsidiary.

"We're delighted to be recognized for this new computer application so soon after we introduced it across our seven-state region," said Mark J. James, director of economic development for AEP Service Corporation (AEPSC), the management and technical arm of the AEP System. "We're particularly proud to have developed a proprietary system that meets our distinct needs, rather than simply purchasing an off-the-shelf product."

The computer application helps AEP and Kentucky Power attract key business prospects by using lap-top computers and printers. Economic development professionals enter and retrieve site and building information that will help companies make informed business decisions. The information is stored on a wide area network computer server and is retrievable by modem at each operating subsidiary.

ing subsidiary.

"ProCure is yet another valuable tool in our economic development arsenal," said Delinda Borden, Kentucky Power's economic development consultant. "It places an enormous amount of data at our fingertips, whether we are in the office, in another county, another state or another country."

"If a company is looking for a place to locate, ProCure allows us to promote our area."

ProCure provides community profiles, site features, printed color photographs of sites and buildings, and topographical maps.

Other economic development groups have joined AEP in using the system, including the Ohio Department of Development, Columbia Gas of Ohio and a number of chambers of commerce around Ohio. In addition, economic development groups in Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia are interested in using the system.

AEDC, one of the nation's foremost economic development organizations, presented the award to AEP in the Computer-based Applications/Research category. The annual competition recognizes the best efforts of economic development organizations in creating marketing materials and tools that will attract and retain business and industry and promote tourism in communities.

Last year, AEP won Best of Class awards for its international Trade Fair Assistance Program and its Business Opportunity advertising campaign.

The AEP System's seven operating companies serve seven million people in seven east-central states: Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia, Indiana, Michigan and Tennessee.

Survey Reveals Baby Boomers Getting Late Start On Parenthood

(NAPS)—According to a national survey of OB/

Nearly three-quarters

And while parents may be getting older, they are tak-

the birth process, as 66 percent of the OB/GYNs said fathers today are more likely to be present at the birth of their child.

The telephone poll of a mine what they feel are women's biggest health concerns, gauge women's knowledge of pregnancy and how women's childbirth habits compare to five years ago.

Here are some of the other results of the survey:

- Most parents (71 percent) want to know the sex of the baby before birth.
- Most (64 percent)
actually exhibit healthier eating habits and controlled weight gain during pregnancy. (Doctors

Senior citizens, we have certainly experienced some hot days lately. More than once this week I have driven past outdoor thermometers that have read in the high 90s. One afternoon, at 5 o'clock, I saw on a bank thermometer that it was 100 degrees.

During hot and humid weather, a buildup in body heat can cause heat stroke or heat exhaustion. As we grow older we must be mindful of this danger. It can hit us before we know it. The consequences can be serious, even fatal. Especially vulnerable are those in our age group with a history of heart disease, stroke, circulatory problems, or diabetes.

Heat stroke is a medical emergency requiring immediate attention and treatment by a doctor. Among the symptoms are faintness, dizziness, headache, nausea, loss of consciousness, elevated body temperature of 104 degrees or higher, measured rectally, rapid pulse, and flushed skin. If you allow yourself to become overheated to the point that you experience heat stroke you may not be able to help yourself.

Heat exhaustion takes longer to develop than other heat-related illnesses. It results from a loss of body water and salt. The symptoms include weakness, heavy sweating, nausea, and giddiness. Heat exhaustion is treated by resting in bed away from the heat and drinking cool liquids.

In hot weather the best precaution is to remain indoors in an air-conditioned room. If you live in town you should consider spending the hottest part of the day in a cool public place like a library, movie theatre, or store.

For those who don't live in town, shaded mountains can protect us from direct sun rays during the hottest part of the day. Sitting in the shade and reading a book, doing crossword puzzles, or handiwork that doesn't require a lot of exertion can be beneficial.

My mother and father-in-law often sit on their front porch during the hottest part of the day, with a box fan blowing on them. One must always be careful to avoid electrical shock, and not have the fan running on a semi-enclosed porch during damp or rainy weather. Also, one must always be careful that the cord is heavy enough for safe operation of the fan and that it is not positioned where it can cause a fall or where little hands could get caught in it. The fan, of course, does not cool the air but it circulates it, which helps to make our summer heat bearable.

Some people take their baths or showers in the heat of the day and then they lounge around for a few hours until the temperature drops. Others place ice bags or wet towels on their bodies. This makes the heat more manageable. People who do this say it gives them a refreshing lift.

During the hottest part of the day it is important to avoid direct sunlight and strenuous activity. (Remember the medical reports we hear about ultraviolet rays and skin cancer.) Too much sun at one time is not good for the body. Tans are beautiful, but cancer is deadly.

Wear lightweight, light-colored, loose-fitting clothing that permits sweat to evaporate. To sweat is nature's way of cooling our bodies. Perspiration controls our body temperature much like a thermostat controls how hot the water gets in a car radiator.

Drink plenty of liquids during hot weather. As you sweat your body uses liquids rapidly. To keep your internal thermostat working properly you must fuel it with water, juices, tea, etc. Salt is helpful but be careful of your own personal health. Salt can complicate existing medical problems such as high blood pressure. Salt tablets are used, especially by younger people who do laborious outdoor work. Salt tablets should not be taken except on the advice of your doctor.

Before you get into your car on a hot day roll the windows down and let the heat escape. I have known of people who go from an air conditioned dwelling to a car where the entrapped heat is 120-130 degrees. This shock to one's body can be avoided by opening the doors or windows several seconds before getting in.

People who live in mobile homes should leave windows open for cross ventilation. Heat in closed trailers builds up much as it does in closed vehicles. Fans to circulate the air in your home is important.

Caution, common sense, and prompt medical attention can help older people avoid illness due to extreme heat. If one must be outside in the sun, wear a cap or bonnet. Hoing and other garden chores can wait until the cool of the evening or until the refreshing early morning hours.

We can beat the heat before it beats us. Senior citizens, we're not as young as we used to be.
