GROSS RECEIPTS LEVY IN EFFECT

Tax in Force Since Saturday at Midnight, Rules Not Complete

At midnight Saturday the three per cent gross receipts tax enacted at the current special session of the State Legislature went into effect. The tax went into effect without the state tax commission, which is administering the tax, having completed its task of drafting rules and regulations for its enforcement. These rules will not be complete, it is believed, before Monday of next week.

Meanwhile, hundreds of applications for permits to operate under the law poured into the tax commission office from all parts of the state. The permits are being acted on as quickly as possible. The only regulation thus far approved by the commission applies to the brackets in which the tax will be collected. The commission has decided that articles retailing for less than 10 cents will be tax free. Those selling from 10c up to and including 35c will be taxed 1c. From 36c to 70c inclusive the rate will be 2c, and from 71c to $1.09 inclusive the rate will be 3c. On sales exceeding $1.09 the full 3 per cent rate will apply.

The law will expire automatically at midnight, June 30, 1936, unless re-enacted by the General Assembly meeting in January, 1936.

The first of the monthly reports due under the act must be filed with the tax commission not later than August 15.

Exempt from the law's provisions are charitable and educational institutions, casual sales by a person not regularly engaged in making sales, sales of materials which enter into and become a part of a finished product to be offered for sale, sales of commodities by farmers, sale of coal by producers in quantities of not less than 40 tons, sales of newspapers or the space therein, retail sales of gasoline, and sales of time on the air by radio broadcasting stations.

The tax is to be collected from the consumer at the time of sales. It will be unlawful for retailers or others affected by the tax to advertise that they are absorbing the levy. For collecting the tax, retailers will be allowed to deduct from the amount due the state each month 3 per cent for the expense of reporting and remitting the tax. Sheriffs of the various counties are allowed 2 per cent of the tax collected and reported by their respective counties.

Patriarch of Stills Captured by Raiders By Sheriff's Party

A still of pre-prohibition vintage was captured and cut to pieces Friday on Johns Creek by a raiding party led by Sheriff M. P. Stumbo. Said by old residents of that section to be between 40 and 50 years old, the first "run" made from it as a government licensed distillery, the still was worn thin by long use. And when found it was still in use—a "run"—being underway. Willie Burchett was captured at the still.

The outfit was of 90 gallons capacity, of copper, with all modern conveniences. A kerosene heater was used in heating the still, thus eliminating the blue smoke which often in this section has caused many a moonshiner to forego his chosen occupation.

With Sheriff Stumbo on the raid were Deputies J. D. Fitzpatrick, W. J. Vaughan and Elson Kendrick.

RELIEF PROJECTS HERE SANCTIONED

Highland Avenue Paving, City Hall Completion Approved; Other Work Seen

Only relief work projects approved to date for Floyd county are completion of the city hall and paving of Highland avenue here, though applications for other projects may be approved. Applications already sent to Louisville for approval are for paving of Railroad street, Martin, from the crossing near the depot to the bridge across Beaver Creek leading onto the Allen-Lackey highway, and completion of the bridge at Banner. Main piers for the bridge had been brought to bank level when work was halted.

Another important project application is expected to be made within the next few days.

This is construction of 5.4 miles of the Brush Creek road from the Allen-Lackey highway near Midas to the Magoffin county line as a part of the Boynton road. Estimated cost of the project is around $4,500. Signatures of two magistrates and the county judge to the application is necessary before its submission to the state relief headquarters in Louisville, it was said.

On the two projects approved for Prestonsburg, 18 men will be placed at work on the city hall and 24 men on the Highland avenue paving.

FARMERS ASKED TO MARK LANDS RENTED TO THE GOVERNMENT

Farmers who signed AAA crop adjustment contracts should measure and mark the land which they have rented to the Secretary of Agriculture, says a statement from the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

The designation of rented acreages should be done as soon as possible, so that the official measuring and checking by compliance agents may be facilitated and done at less expense.

Where farmers are renting tobacco, wheat or cotton land to the government, they should measure off and mark the land of average production or representative of the kind they usually put in these crops. In the case of corn, farmers may designate as rented acres any land on which corn has been grown at least once in the last five years. Benefit payments will be made on the estimated production under 10-year average conditions.

tribute to Kentucky written by Frederick A. Wallis for the annual tourist edition of the Herald published this month has elicited widespread comment. Returning to Kentucky after having spent years in New York City, Mr. Wallis points out that the dominant characteristic of every Kentuckian is his unwavering loyalty to the state. He knows he lives in God's country. For him, no sophistry can dispel or disparage this innate belief; no calumny can deny nor traduce it.

"The best products of Kentucky are her men and women. The Kentuckian himself is the living solvent through which all other attractions are felt and appreciated. The very qualities that our people are supposed to most admire, and which—deep down in their hearts they do most admire, such as courage, heroism, chivalry, sacrifice and service are the very qualities to which Kentucky most appeals, and for the exercise of which she forever calls.

"Kentucky's sons and daughters know no sweeter place to live and her guests can find no friendlier or more enchanting place to visit.

"Let us have laws that are fair and just and liberal toward capital, toward business and toward all the people of the state. Let us do what we can to attract and welcome settlers from without, bring new enterprises and new capital within, and thus beautify and enrich our already wonderful attractions and resources to the property, contentment and happiness of the people of Kentucky." Lexington Herald.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless you place the life before you daily in the hands of your Maker, you will never be able to win the favor of other men. You will never be able to win the favor of other men unless you are first won by your Maker. You will never be able to win the favor of other men unless you are first won by your Maker. You will never be able to win the favor of other men unless you are first won by your Maker.

MRS. COMBS ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF GUESTS

On Thursday evening of last week, Mrs. B. F. Combs entertained a large number of her friends very delightfully to a bridge party, honoring her guests, Mrs. T. J. Prichard and daughter, Miss Laura Ellen, of El Paso, Texas.

The Prichard family were special friends of Leroy Combs during his stay in El Paso, having also met and entertained other members of the family on their visit to El Paso.

Prestonsburg's social circle enjoyed to the utmost acquaintance of this charming young mother and her daughter, one who feels a deep delight in an invitation to the home of Mrs. Combs, she herself being such a beloved hostess and her spacious and beautiful colonial home lending itself as well to large parties. On this occasion it was decorated throughout with garden flowers of daisies, roses and gladioli. After an evening of bridge, delicious refreshments were served to the following:

TOO BUSY

By Rev. Josef Nordenhaug.

Time is a mysterious thing. Our human intellect cannot grasp its beginning, nor can we visualize its end. But it comes to all of us moment by moment and departs from us as soon as it arrives. We have only 24 hours of time each day. Some people could wish the day to be longer, others shorter. Many tasks have to be deferred or left undone for lack of time.

How important then to use our time aright! It is tragic to see a man squander his time on trifles while he leaves the really important things of life undone. Our time is gone in such tragedies. Why do people use their precious time to read cheap pulp magazines while the world is blessed with books of real merit? The answer is that they have a wrong sense of value. Why do many people spend an hour on their daily newspapers while they have not even a minute to spare for the Bible? The answer is the same.

Why do some people gladly spend several hours viewing a film product from Hollywood, while they are "too busy" for the Holy Word? Why do they have time to chat "about the busyness" while they are "too busy" to talk to God? Why do they have time for their favorite program over the radio, but are "too busy" to go to church? The answer is still that they have a distorted sense of value.

Any man or woman who is too busy to read the Bible, is too busy. Any one who is too busy to worship God in fellowship is too busy. Any one who is too busy to pray is just too busy.

Let us take time to get acquainted with Christ. Some day His presence will be more important than all the world's newspapers, films, radio programs and weather reports together. We must find time to die, when then be "out busy" to live. Remember that time is the currency of eternity.

INDIAN REMAINS SENT TO U. OF K.

The mortal remains of 300 Indians who once roamed the Tennessee valleys and hills, have been shipped to the University of Kentucky by Prof. W. Webb, head of the department of anthropology and archeology, who is director of archaeology for the Tennessee Valley Authority, and is removing prehistoric remains from the valley preparatory to its being flooded.

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, head of the department of Zoology at the University of Kentucky and dean of the graduate school, who unpacked each of the skeletons, said that there are many interesting specimens among the lot, about 15 "long-headed" skulls which he characterized as probable "Dillingers of 600 years ago, who came from the north-east to collect tribute from the Southern Indians but who failed to get away with it."

Dr. Funkhouser said that he will have some of his advanced students assemble the bones and help him in making measurements and other tests which he expects to add considerably to the existing knowledge of prehistoric man in the central southern states. The University dean says that "With the arrival of two more truck loads from Alabama and one from Texas, the University of Kentucky will have the largest osteological collection in the United States."

Professor Webb was appointed director of archeology for the TVA, in charge of excavations, at the recommendation of the Smithsonian Institute and the Research Council and is on a six months' leave from the University of Kentucky at the request of the government.

BULLET VICTIMS BURIED THURSDAY

Nolen and Allen Buried in Same Cemetery, Bradley at East Hill

Victims of last Wednesday's gun battle at Lackey were buried the following Thursday, two in the same cemetery near Lackey, and the other at East Hill, less than two miles away.

Malcolm Allen and his brother-in-law, Len Nolen, who is said to have died in Allen's defense, were buried in graves only a few feet separated in the Collins cemetery below Lackey. Funeral rites were conducted by Revs. M. C. Wright, W. M. Wicker and Marion Chaffins, and burial was made under the direction of E. B. Arnold. The three men are survivors by their widows. Nolen and Bradley each leave three children.

Mrs. Nolen, who was in the building which contained both the Nolen home and restaurant, said that Bradley shot Allen first and without provocation other than that when Bradley asked Allen to go with him, Allen said that he could not, that it was time for him to return to his home at Dinwiddie. After Bradley shot Allen, Nolen is quoted as saying, "You have killed my brother-in-law" whereupon Bradley is said to have turned his revolver upon Nolen. The latter drew his pistol and Bradley fired one shot, both firing at a distance of only a few feet until they dropped, this version of the shooting says.

Another report received here from East Hill, where Bradley lived, is that when Bradley asked about the bus schedule, Allen told him, "You've lived here as long as Leonard has and ought to know." Bradley replied accordingly, "This report," "I wasn't talking to you in the first place, mister," whereupon Allen is said to have shoved him through a screen door. Bradley then shot Allen and in the meantime Nolen, this version of the shooting continues. He and Nolen then fired till both fell.

EX-SERVICE MEN!

VOTE FOR

A. J. "JACK" MAY FOR CONGRESS

Democratic Primary, August 4th

A Representative from this District who voted an hesitating "YEA" on every bill introduced in Congress for the benefit of the ex-service man.

An unfounded rumor has been circulated to the effect that Congressman May did not support the ex-soldiers by his vote in Congress. As undisputable proof of the falsity of that rumor, the following letter from Congressman J. E. Rankin, of Mississippi, chairman of the committee on World War Veterans' Legislation, is printed here:

Washington, D. C., June 29, 1934

Hon. Andrew J. May, M. C., Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

Dear May:

I wanted to see you before Congress adjourned and to thank you personally for your support of veterans' legislation.

I particularly wanted to express my thanks for your support of my Widows and Orphans bill, H. R. 9936, which passed right in the dying hours of Congress, and which President Roosevelt has just signed. It is one of the most meritorious pieces of veterans' legislation ever passed by the American Congress. It will take relief into the desolate homes of 13,900 dependent widows and orphans of World War veterans, a vast majority of whom received their disabilities in the firing line on the Western Front. The disabled ex-service men and their dependents owe you a lasting debt of gratitude for your splendid services in their behalf.

Thanking you again for your assistance and support, and with very best wishes, I remain

Sincerely your friend,

JER:R

J. E. Rankin, Chairman, Committee on World War Veterans' Legislation.

The Congressional Record also will show that Congressman May voted for every measure in favor of the veterans.

COAL COMPANY 9 TIES 1, WINS ONE

After playing a 12-inning tie with the Shelby nine here Sunday, the Prestonsburg Coal Company team of the Big Sandy Elkhorn League came back for a thrilling independence day celebration victory over Drift, 5 to 4. The tie with Shelby will be played off here next Sunday.

Each team in Sunday's tilt made 11 hits, and the game was halted by darkness. Each nine made four errors. Shelby was held scoreless by Lumber, local twirler, until the seventh, when three singles, a hit batsman and two bases on balls resulted in five runs. Prestonsburg had been steadily chopping away, measurably, at Wallace's delivery, scoring two in the second, one in the fourth, again in the sixth and the fifth run in the seventh, to start the teams of into the scoreless through the eighth and ninth. Then Shelly scored in the tenth. Prestonsburg came back to tie it up in the same inning. The same thing happened in the seventh. And Shelly made its eighth run in the twelfth, after which the coal company nine apparently was out of the running, with two out. But O. Curnutte, star catcher for the local team, brought across second and was brought across with the tying run by a double from the bat of his brother, A. Curnutte.

Before a big fourth of July crowd, Drift started off on Honeycutt, local pitcher, with a bang. The bases were filled as the result of two errors and a single. Then Big Roe Turner, Drift first baseman, whammed one over the left field fence for a homer and the visitors' only run of the game. Thereafter, Honeycutt held Drift at bay, and his successor, Patton, was equally effective in the last two innings. Prestonsburg Coast hit Allen, Drift starting pitcher, in the second for four hits, two triples and as many singles to score three runs. They tied it up off Crisp, a southpaw who pitched good ball, in the fifth, and in the seventh Julian Harlow, substitute in right, singled to deep short and later scored the winning run from third on a grounder to the box.

The crowd was kept in suspense right up till the end of the game when Hall hit a double to right with two gone and Crisp was hit by a pitched ball. But Shelton grounded to short for a final out and to the great relief of local fans, Crisp's arm was found to be injured by Patton's pitch and time was called while the first aid was administered before the last man was out.

Music and Montgomery hit triples for the coal company team, while Hall's two-bagger and Turner's towering homer were Drift's mightiest blows. Crisp fanned eight in seven innings.
