FIGURES INDICATE MARKED INCREASE IN WELL DRILLING

Warfield Report Shows Eleven Wells Drilling and Three Locations

TWENTY-SIX WELLS

Drilling activities, according to information received from the various gas companies handling production in this field and especially in Floyd county, have shown a marked increase since January of this year. At present five companies are drilling 21 wells and have locations for five more, for a total of 26 wells accounted for in early summer work.

The January report showed only 14 wells being drilled or planned in a short time of less than 90 days, the present report shows that the increase is almost double.

The Warfield Natural Gas Company, drilling 11 wells and taking three locations tops the list.

The report naming the companies and their wells, as contained in reports from them, are given below: Warfield Carbon Gas Company: Drilling four wells and have one location in Martin county; drilling four wells and have one location in Floyd; drilling three wells and have one location in Knott.

Inland Gas Corporation: Drilling one well in Floyd county; no additional locations.

Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company: Drilling two wells in Floyd and have two locations in Knott.

United Carbon: Drilling one well in Pike; one in Knott and one well in Martin county.

Columbian Fuel Corporation: An unconfirmed report from Pikeville indicates the Columbian is drilling one well in Pike.

These reports indicate that well drilling activity is drifting toward the Martin county sector of this field. Eight wells are being drilled there, six in Floyd, five in Knott and two in Pike.

Stories To Grand Jury In Martin Mystery Case Told

(Commonwealth), Attorney John L. Harrington, whose district includes Martin county, stated today in his office at Paintsville, "No doubt in my mind but what it was jealousy over the look," in indicating a possible motive for the alleged murder of James Watterson on the morning of May 31, 1913. Reviewing the evidence that prompted a Martin county grand jury to indict Harvey Hardin on the charge, he said: "We had Mrs. Harless, who was Viola Runyone before her marriage, before the grand jury on other matters, in particular, a recent mysterious death in her neighborhood. In the course of questioning she bluntly stated that she knew of only one man being killed. Further questioning revealed her name. Mrs. Harless told the grand jury, said Mr. Harrington, she was a little girl between 7 and 8 years old at the time and she and her sister were sleeping in a trundle bed in a corner of the room. Watterson was sleeping in the same room. "One day, Harless, "he came in with a little gun and a little light - he walked over to the bed, turned the cover down and shot. After the shot was fired he took hold of the old man and dragged him off to a saying, Harless: "I covered up my face and lay still all morning. I was scared." To a query of identity, she answered, "Yes, I went to school to Harvey Hardin and I knowed him."

WEEKSBURY WOMAN FACES CHARGE: MAN FATALLY WOUNDED

Trouble Occurred Tuesday Afternoon in Cafe; Sid Kenney Succumbs

A shooting melee, in which the women fired the guns, was reported by officers this week. In the course of the shooting, Mrs. Doris Mitchell is said to have fired one shot at Sid Kenney, mortally wounding him, and Mrs. Sid Kenney, according to the report, fired six shots at Winford Roberts, brother of Mrs. Mitchell.

The disturbance took place near three o'clock Tuesday afternoon in a restaurant operated by Mrs. Mitchell, and her husband near the lower limits of Weeksbury. Her husband, Bryan Mitchell, was in the Lackey hospital at the time.

Officers quoted Mrs. Mitchell as saying that Kenney and his wife had come into her restaurant and while sitting there they engaged in a bitter argument. She went over to stop them. Kenney, she asserts, threw beer bottles at her, hitting her on the side of the head with one and she retreated. Kenney then showed his wife out the door and picking up two beer bottles followed Mrs. Mitchell behind the counter. Mrs. Mitchell fired one shot into Kenney's abdomen.

Mrs. Kenney and Mrs. Mitchell's brother engaged in a scuffle in the doorway in which the gun of Mrs. Kenney was discharged. According to the information, neither of the men was armed. Six shots were fired from the gun in the hands of Mrs. Kenney, and Roberts entered from the melee unscathed.

Kenney, 27 years old, formerly of Shelby Creek in Pike county, had resided at Weeksbury a short time. He succumbed as the ambulance reached the Lackey hospital. Officers Willie Johnson and Harve Childers brought Mrs. Mitchell to Prestonsburg. Wednesday, the grand jury returned an indictment against Mrs. Mitchell. Bond was set at $5,000 and was executed.

Mrs. Kenney could be contacted for any other version of the affair. Mrs. Mitchell's trial is set on the docket for May 5.

Sunday School Lesson

THE OBEDIENCE OF NOAH
International Sunday School Lesson for April 25, 1937

Golden Text: "By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with godly fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house."—Hebrews 11:7.

The text upon which this lesson is based is familiar to everyone who has any knowledge whatever of the Bible. From our childhood on we have heard and read of Noah and his ark. Sometimes we are apt to question in our minds as to whether or not this story is fiction or if it really is based upon actual happenings.

Excavations made in recent years by expeditions sent out from various sources reveal that at some time many years ago there was a disastrous flood in the Euphrates valley. Whether it submerged the world we do not know, although there are evidences in widely separated places, of such a happening. These excavations show an eight foot deposit of silt far below the surface of the present valley, which archeologists agree must have been left by a flood, according to the excavator, marks a definite break in the continuity of local culture, destroying a former civilization.

In the latter season, beginning with Genesis 8:22, we have an explanation of the reasons which caused God to send such a disaster upon the world. Sin and wickedness had become so rampant that the earth was described as "corrupt" before God. So terribly wicked had the human race become that God, the cloud; and I will look up of what was going on in the world, decided that nothing could keep the small remnant upon the earth.

Through obedience by faith Noah not only saved himself but he was instrumental in saving the human race. He obeyed to the letter, not doubting, but accepting the commands of God as final. We are close enough to God to receive his commands unquestioningly as Noah did? Our trouble is not that we do not know what to do, but that we are unwilling to obey, perhaps because it does not suit our convenience to obey or because the task seems too hard or too unpleasant.

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class
Use one egg for each person served, and one tablespoon of hot water for each egg. Separate yolks and whites. Season the yolks with salt and with either pepper or nutmeg, according to taste. Beat the whites until stiff and fold in the yolks. Pour gently into a well greased pan and cook slowly until the underside is a delicate brown, then place the pan in the oven, keeping the temperature between 325 and 350 degrees. When the omelet responds to the touch it is done. Make 2 cuts part of the way down in the omelet at right angles to the handle of the pan, dipping the pan, slide a spatula under the omelet and fold it over as you slip it out of the pan onto a platter.

Although ridiculed by those who knew him, he kept at his task and finally completed it. When it was finished, God again spoke to him, inviting him, his family and all who would enter into the ark and be saved. It is significant to note that it was not until after the ark was finished that Noah was told the purpose it was to serve. He obeyed implicitly, acting on faith. Our lesson does not go into the details of the flood, which may be found in Genesis 7:10 to 8:12. However, God cared for Noah and his family during the flood and brought them to rest on Mount Ararat. When it was possible for Noah to leave the ark, the first thing he did was to build an altar and offer a burnt sacrifice to God, thanking him for His care. This act of Noah's was pleasing to God and, as a result, God made a covenant with him that he would not again destroy the earth thus. In this covenant there are six particulars. 1—there would be no more curse; 2—the order of nature is re-established; 3—the command to multiply is reiterated; 4—a man is given supremacy over the animals; 5—flesh which has blood is not to be used as food; and 6—the law of civil government.

As a reminder and guarantee that God would keep his covenant with Noah and his descendants, God gave a token—the rainbow. And, it shall come to pass, when I bring a rainbow upon the earth, that the bow shall be seen in the cloud. And I will remember my covenant which I have made between me and you every time I bring a rainbow upon the clouds and the waters shall not again become a flood to destroy all flesh.

Meat Filling
Put through the meat grinder 1-2 pound of cooked beef, chicken liver of ham—or a mixture of these—with 1 bay leaf, 1 small chopped onion, a teaspoon of parsley and a teaspoon of chopped cucumber pickle, with salt and pepper to taste. Brown this mixture in a little fat and blend with enough sour cream to make a paste. One heaping teaspoon of this beef filling is enough for each roll.

Browned Rice
Cut 6 slices of bacon into narrow pieces, put into a skillet with 2 chopped onions and cook until the onions are tender and well browned, add 1-2 cup chopped boiled ham, 1-2 cup of grated cheese and 1-2 cup of diced chicken or veal, and 2 cups of cooked rice. Mix together lightly and turn into a hot greased omelet pan. Heat and brown carefully on both sides over low

HALL TELLS WHY WILEY JONES WAS NOT RE-EMPLOYED BY BOARD

Sometimes it is necessary for a superintendent of schools to explain to a certain group or to the public in general his public acts in connection with the public schools. Sometimes it is necessary to spend a few minutes in explanation to disgruntled individuals just why the board of education acted in a particular way in a particular instance. This word of explanation comes from the superintendent of schools in response to the handbill printed by Maytown students entitled "We want Wiley Jones Back" and in response to the article appearing in the Floyd county paper last week on the subject, and published by the school.

In the first place the handbill purports to represent the sentiment of the entire student body at Maytown. This is a gross misrepresentation and the fact is that three or four Maytown students whose names are known but not listed, are leading this "Campaign" for Mr. Jones. No comment is made as to whether Mr. Jones himself is the instigator of the movement. Let us dismiss this idea by saying that he is not.

It will be remembered from the handbill and from the article in the press that four reasons were given why "We next morning of the massacre of the tournament, Clayborne Stephens, and to the county superintendent, saying she would have to have the coach and his boys ejected by police unless they quieted down, that her hotel furniture had been damaged, the room torn up with accompanying signs of intoxication of the floors and in the commodes, and that Mr. Jones himself had talked disrespectfully to her. Mr. Jones and his boys will hardly admit this, but if called upon, Mrs. Selwars will make an affidavit to this effect. Mr. Jones will admit that he slept most of the next day (Friday) when he should have been teaching school at Maytown. In the fourth place, two of the boys who are now espousing Mr. Jones' cause became so intoxicated in Prestonsburg on their way from an Austerlitz basketball game that the driver of the school bus and Mr. Jones himself put them off the bus near Aiken, Ky. Mr. Jones was along, and responsible for their conduct. In the fifth place, a basketball coach has more duties than merely to coach. He is a combination of a teacher, a disciplinarian, a disciplinarian with superiors and neglects his teaching duties, he is not a desirable coach. He is responsible for the mauling of young lives and should be an example to them. Mr. Jones has outlived his usefulness in the Floyd county school system.

Wiley Jones Back. Below are reasons set forth by the board of education why "We did not re-employ Mr. Jones." The public may be correctly informed in the matter. In the first place, Mr. Jones did not apply for any position in Floyd county. To this Mr. Jones will testify.

In the second place, Mr. Jones, we are reliably informed, failed to cooperate with the faculty, and with the school—all of which was in derogation to a good school system. He would rarely attend faculty meetings, which all teachers should gladly do. He was more interested in trading cattle or transporting a load of calves to Mt. Sterling, or in farming, than in teaching school. These facts are well-known to the Maytown people, and this were brought to the attention of Mr. Jones himself by the superintendent of schools, as Mr. Jones will also admit.

In the third place (and we are loath to mention this) Mr. Jones allowed his ball players to act disorderly at the Valley Inn hotel at Prestonsburg during the recent regional basketball tournament. A general roughing-up of the movement. Let us dismiss this idea by saying that he is not. It will be remembered from the handbill and from the article in the press that four reasons were given why "We next morning of the massacre of the tournament, Clayborne Stephens, and to the county superintendent, saying she would have to have the coach and his boys ejected by police unless they quieted down, that her hotel furniture had been damaged, the room torn up with accompanying signs of intoxication of the floors and in the commodes, and that Mr. Jones himself had talked disrespectfully to her. She said that she had been told her mother and Hardin left together some time later. Commonwealth's Attorney Hardin said he understood they went to Gal River, W. They had two children, he said, and the children are being cared for by Hardin's parents at Inez, according to reliable reports. "I have been reliably informed that the girl's mother and Hardin separated, and she later married a man named Kaknoskey. She is supposed to be near Logan, W. Va., now.

Following the charter presentation the regular meeting was reconvened with a brief history of Floyd Post 129, by Len S. Moles, beginning with the year 1921 when the Post was formed, extending to 1925—memorial days gone in the history of the Post were brought back—ears not so sharp as in 1921 when the Post was formed—were tuned to hear of the days of the Post, hair graying over temples was noted, missing faces, good soldiers gone to their reward, buddies who will be and are sadly missed. It was brought out at this meeting that a complete list of world war veterans was being assembled by the Post; that this would be available for information of the Post and for publication within a few weeks. Ed Sutton brought up this very important subject.

Tom Watkins, retired Government Gauger, who spent over 40 years supervising American distilleries, says:

"Nowhere did I find more rigid standards of scientific accuracy than at Glenmore"

"I've been assigned to a good many distilleries at one time or another. What I remember best is Glenmore. I like their way of making their popular priced Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey—Mint Springs. They use the same grains, same process, same experienced men—as in making their most costly whiskeys."

Tom Watkins' judgment is sound—Glenmore was one of only seven distilleries permitted by the Government to make medicinal whiskey throughout Prohibition.

What an acorn needs

is management

If the wind manages to drop the tiny acorn in the right spot... and rain and sun and Mother Earth manage to nourish it properly... you get a mighty oak.

If the finest barley Nature produces manages to get together with the costliest of domestic and imported hops... and they in turn manage to have the guidance of priceless brewing skill... you get a mighty fine beer. THE COWBOY

Within the last few years, since the radio has assumed the role of one of the necessities in the average home, the cowboy has staged a comeback comparable with his revival a few years earlier in the movies.

Get Along Little Dogies, and the like. Very rapidly there have grown up other songs based on these genuine cowboy ballads, so that it is already pretty hard to tell the one from the other.

Due to the fact that some of the schools feel that they cannot compete in the oratorical contest of the Floyd Foristic League if held Saturday, April 24, it has been decided to set the date over to Wednesday, April 28. The contest will, therefore, be held at Garrett school, on Wednesday night at 7:30.

At the present time the following schools have indicated intention to participate in the contest: Wayland, Bonanza, Garrett, Martin, Auxier, Prestonsburg, Wheelwright, Maytown and McDowell.

1937 Ford V-8

• If you think that "all low-price cars cost about the same" — forget it! They don't.

Ford makes a car — a 60-horsepower economy Ford V-8 — that sells from 30 to 60 dollars under the prices asked for any other car of comparable size. The lowest Ford prices in years!

• Check delivered prices in your town and see for yourself.

• Of course, first cost doesn't prove "low cost" — you must consider operating cost also.

The "60" has definitely established itself as the most economical car in Ford history. Ford cars have been famous for economy for 34 years, so that means something!

• Owners who have driven it thousands of miles report that the Ford "60" averages between 22 and 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

You can prove those figures — on the open road — in a car provided by the nearest Ford dealer.

• When you've finished your personal check-up, ask yourself: "Do I want to save money the day I buy my car and every mile I drive it?"

"Do I want a safe, roomy, comfortable car of advanced design — created from the finest materials to the highest precision standards?"
