PORTAIT OF A HERO:
"Nothing has stood longer unless it be MacArthur, the hills and the devil." Believe it or not, that's an old Scotch proverb. The MacArthurs are the oldest Scotch clan. According to legend, the first MacArthur, Siomerie Mohr, was the son of King Arthur and the Round Table. (MacArthur means "son of Arthur"). Gen'l Douglas MacArthur proves once again that the Scots have what it takes. Previous yankee double heroes of Scotch origin include John Paul Jones, Andrew Jackson, Job Stuart and Guyton S. Grant. (Stoich and soldier, pan my soul!)

MacArthur is like this: When he commanded the Rainbow Division in France during World War I, his superior officer told him, "You will be called the Cole de Chaitillon (is strongly fortified German key position) taken by six o'clock the following morning. You will be called the Cole de Chaitillon by six o'clock tomorrow or report a casualty list of 6,000 dead. That will include me."

When MacArthur went over the top with his troops in France, the only head-covering he wore was his everyday service cap, displaying the standard helmet required by regulations. Called down once by his immediate commander, General Menoher, for taking that hat, MacArthur replied, "I can't be bothered with changing my hat when I'm busy!"

Shortly after the first American troops arrived in France under MacArthur, the French, who didn't think much of the Yankee scrapper, figured they put on a show and MacArthur an idea of what real soldiers were like. Placing MacArthur in a spot where he could safely watch the trenches do their big stuff, they staged a surprise raid on the Germans across the line. Machine guns started to bark, strayed men and men were dropping all over the place. MacArthur, armed only with a riding whip, jumped into the battle. He had seen the French, but he made a mob of enemies and he was branded a warmonger because he pleaded for preparedness. The campaign was over. MacArthur bit a peak half a dozen years ago when he retired, with Pres. Roosevelt's approval. "I wouldn't sell my sword."

The bitter irony is that when MacArthur was in France, he made a mob of enemies and he was branded a warmonger because he pleaded for preparedness. The campaign was over. MacArthur bit a peak half a dozen years ago when he retired, with Pres. Roosevelt's approval. "I wouldn't sell my sword."

Back in the early thirties, when he was Chief of Staff, MacArthur prophetically warned that the coming war would be a mechanized affair and repeatedly begged congress for a giant air force and a modern army. Instead of listening to his minds to let in some fresh air, the Rip Van Winkles quipped that the reason MacArthur was so far from the front was because of his well known dislike for riding a horse. Later, when he was busy training his boys in the Philippines, many Americans there referred to him as "Mac" as if he didn't know it, but they weren't kidding. Unlike the second-graders now beating the drum for the army they once belittled, Pres. Roosevelt was a MacArthur fan away back. When MacArthur retired as Chief of Staff for what seemed the military oblivion in the Philippines, Mr. Roosevelt told his aides: "I must always find a way to keep MacArthur close to me. If there is ever another G. I. P., he's the man to take it over!"

Newspaper men eat out of MacArthur's hand, and no wonder! When he was Commander of the Philippine Department and news of his discovery of the first, who reached Manila, the local newspaper men rushed to his headquarters and asked if he objected to their printing the story, adding they would suppress it if he wished. "No," was the reply. "Put it on the front page if you want it!"

MacArthur is one man who wasn't caught napping by the Japs on December 6—the day before the Pearl Harbor attack—he called the reporters in to his Manila headquarters and told them, "You mean here!" When news of a successful raid on the Japs reached Washington, an army officer remarked: "MacArthur is always in the thick of the battle." "You mean," corrected a Rainbow Division veteran, "the thick of the battle is always where MacArthur is!"

By R. H.

It seems to me that without some of the backwoods columns in the Times, it just doesn't seem to be the TIMES. It's just another paper if it has been so long since I could have given him a good column myself. Yes, sir, I spent last week in Norfolk, Va., in defense of Uncle Sam. Built one ship and one plane, so it turned upside down so they had to make a sub out of it. When I went over to Portsmouth, they had a ship and a plane. I wanted to know if I rode across the ferry boat. I told her I did not go the river—it seemed more like the Atlantic Ocean.

I saw our old friend, Dan J. Harman, in Wayland over the weekend. Couldn't he have a time on that ocean with his ship? I don't want to know if I rode across the ferry boat. I told her I did not go the river—it seemed more like the Atlantic Ocean.

A. E. Quinlan, better known as the Iron Man, was visiting friends in Wayland over the weekend.

If there is a defense, there surely must be an offense. So, from now on, I am on the offense side. I'm going to stay at home and buy all the Defense Bonds I can. But no more defense work for me, unless it comes to Floyd county.

Urges That Work Quiz Be Filled With Care

An urgent appeal to men in this area to aid the war effort by using more care in filling out their occupational questionnaires was issued this week by J. Hayden Roache, manager of the Pikeville branch of the United States Employment Service.

"Effective mobilization of our manpower for the war industry and agriculture must be accomplished if we are to win the war," Mr. Roache declared. "For this purpose it is essential that occupational inventories be completed speedily and accurately."

Preliminary reports indicate that many of the questionnaires coming into Selective Service boards and United States Employment offices are faulty or incomplete," Mr. Roache advised. "The occupational inventory is a vital part of the nation's war program, and it is of the greatest importance that registrants fill out the questionnaires clearly, fully and accurately."

Manager Roache urged all registrants who have any difficulty in filling out the questionnaires to go to their employer for assistance. Help in filling out the questionnaire is also available at any office of the United States Employment Service, posts and labor unions.

According to Roache's report, incorrect or incomplete questionnaires are running as high as 43 per cent of the total number submitted. "This is a very serious matter," he pointed out, "since it is necessary to call in the registrant for an interview in such cases in order to correct the errors or supply the missing information. This means not only inconvenience to the person called in but increases the expense and the time required for performance of this service."

With the closing of schools and colleges for the current term, increasing emphasis is being placed on the value that able-bodied, available students and teachers can go to the national all-out war effort, Mr. Roache said.

"The Food for Victory" phase of the war effort is of steadily increasing importance," he added. "Many farm workers formerly depended upon for agricultural production have gone into the army, many others have gone to the cities to war production industrial plants; and on top of these two exceptionally heavy drains on the needed supply of farm labor, the farm for the war production requirements of the nation have tremendously increased. There is a definite and critical shortage of needed farm workers."

All interested students and teachers are urged to make their availability immediately a matter of record in their nearest United States Employment Service office," concluded Mr. Roache.

Farm Purchasing Power Stabilized By Price Ceiling

The purchasing power of farm products will be stabilized at an opportune time if the price ceiling regulation recently announced by Price Administrator Henderson has the anticipated effect of generally reducing retail and wholesale prices at present levels, according to Dr. H. B. Price, head of the department of markets and rural finance of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Prices received by farmers since July, 1941, have been the most favorable in relation to the cost of farming and farm family living of any comparable period since 1919, he declares. In these past 10 months the relation of prices received to prices paid by farmers has averaged about 100, or parity.

In other words, continues Dr.

Price, the prices of farm products have been going up faster than the cost of farming and farm family living. This situation was especially true during 1941, which was a prosperous year generally for Kentucky farmers. More recently the prices of things that farmers buy have been advancing rapidly, thus tending to offset some of the earlier advantages of rising prices of farm products. The price ceiling regulation was issued in the expectation that it would stop this unfavorable development.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington, D. C. HOME-GROWN FAULTS After three months of tempering with native Fascist champions, Attorney General Francis Biddle is finally going to get tough on direct personal orders of the President.

Roosevelt directed Biddle to take vigorous legal action against certain factional leaders who have been publicly denouncing the war against the Axis and in some instances actually expressing pleasure over Japanese successes.

Complaints have poured into Washington from parents of boys in the armed services who demand that these domestic foes be jailed. But Biddle demurred on the ground of "preserving civil liberties."

Shortly after Father Barber, FBI agents arrested Robert Noble, rabid Los Angeles Fascist leader, on several charges involving statements concerning the war. Despite the FBI's evidence, Biddle ordered Noble released.

This brought down a storm of protests on Biddle's head that steadily increased as the hostile operations of these elements became bolder and more outspoken. Biddle refused to allow either the FBI or federal district attorneys, who were champing at the bit, to crack down.

"Hardly" while Biddle was alarmed over the situation, took the matter direct to the President. They laid before him a number of letters dealing with Noble, Father Coughlin, Francis P. Moran of Boston, Gerald L. K. Smith of Michigan and Charles B. Hudson.

One document shown Roosevelt was the March 16 issue of Coughlin's weekly publication which declared that a "worldwide sacred heart" was declared against Germany nine years ago. The publication also attacked aid to Russia and the British bombing of French plants making Nazi supplies.

"Unless the German forces can overcome Russia and successfully invade England by the end of September, there is every evidence that the entire world will have elected to experience a blood bath the like of which was never imagined by the most poetic nightingale."

After carefully examining the evidence, the President summoned Biddle, ordered him to get tough and do so immediately.

WHAT single mistake, error or so-called faux pas in the rocky history of sport cost the largest amount of money?

There have been more than a few slips, many of them normal mishaps, that ran the bill from $100,000 to $500,000. That's a fair chunk of loose change for one skidding act.

This argument came up in the wake of Billy Conn's misplunged left hook which happened to land on his pal-in-law's head in place of his pal-in-law's chin, nose or abdomen.

Conn, one of the sharpest of the snipers-labeled another Jim Corbett by Bill Brady—cost himself and Joe Louis, Mike Jacobs and the Army Relief fund from $500,000 to $700,000 in one fell swoop.

Shortly after Father Barber, FBI agents arrested Robert Noble, rabid Los Angeles Fascist leader, on several charges involving statements concerning the war. Despite the FBI's evidence, Biddle ordered Noble released.

This brought down a storm of protests on Biddle's head that steadily increased as the hostile operations of these elements became bolder and more outspoken. Biddle refused to allow either the FBI or federal district attorneys, who were champing at the bit, to crack down.

REWARD

I hereby offer a reward of $25 for each arrest and conviction of any person or persons giving or selling liquor, with best of girl to my son, Edgar Stephens, on credit or otherwise. It is a severe penalty to give or sell liquor to another, who has been convicted for drunkenness more than three times. Liquor sold on credit, the account is illegal and cannot be collected.

I have had so much trouble along this line, I will appreciate the help of anyone. I think, if we women and others who are interested in doing an everlasting good for our county and children, would go to work and circulate a petition and get the required number of legal voters to sign it, and submit the liquor question to the people of this county, we could vote this county dry, if the election was not stolen as has been done in Harlan county.

The elimination of intoxicants would to a large extent eliminate roadhouses and save the life of many a boy and prevent ruining the character of our youth. It would also prevent and stop a lot of cheap constables and deputies from holding up and robbing people of a few dollars and also a great saving to the county in legal fees which the taxpayers are compelled to pay.

This would save thousands of dollars to the county alone, not counting the loss in time in preventing laborers from their work, and furnishing them in their homes, which they need.

I will take the time and secure the number of petitioners and will submit this question to the people of this county. I can get the cooperation and assistance of the citizens and different organizations of our county interested in this move.

I hope you may have an encouraging word from people who are interested in the disgraceful calamity now existing in our county and state. This is a heart-broken mother, brought about by the liquor business.

I am yours for a better, healthier, Floyd county and state.

THE HOME FRONT

HERE IS A RESUME OF IMPORTANT OPENINGS OPA AT PRIME:
More rent control coming.
Retail Compliance check starts.
Gasoline prices ordered posted.
Handicapped found useful.
WPB forecasts more scarcities.

Our nation at war on the seven seas is fast coming to grips with inflation at home.
With the General Maximum Price Regulation in effect, and rent control an actuality in an increase in number of defense rental areas, the Office of Price Administration now finds itself in the thick of the fray.

While merchants work to comply with the price ceiling regulation, landlords in rent controlled communities this week are trying, a few are succeeding, to outwit the OPA's fine minds to let them inflate rents.
The retailer and the landlord, therefore, these are days of drastic adjustment to the necessities of a total war economy.

Process of stabilizing pre-retail prices where retailers are being squeezed has begun. OPA is considering a "roll back" of wholesale prices of many commodities.
Government rent control is being gradually extended to include 24 additional defense areas were designated, bringing the total of designated areas to 368 with a population of 80,000,000 people.

Gasoline business is now brought into line with the General Maximum Price Regulation. Gas stations, by order of Price Administrator Leon Henderson, must post ceiling prices and the grade of gas, "premium, regular, third." The dealers must file their prices with the OPA on or before July 1.

A few days ago War Manpower Commission Chairman Paul V. McNutt released thousands of the United States Employment Service showing that a growing army of physically handicapped men and women is being hired in war industries.
McNutt "show" clearly that the "Permanence" records of handicapped men and women who have been hired in war industries."

We cannot afford to waste manpower, nor can a nation fighting for the freedom of all permit discrimination against any group because of race, color or creed.
The President's committee on fair employment practice, which has been hearing complaints that negroes being trained to meet the shortage of shipyard workers in the Southeast, has called on educational authorities in Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Florida to set up training courses for colored workers "in all major shipyard occupations."

Because we are pouring everything we have into the war effort, we are faced with shortages of vital materials, shortages which are being met by the War Relocation Authority. Materials will grow more serious as the war progresses. This has meant and will continue to mean less and less for the civilian side-spread substitution, and an increasing necessity for getting scrap metals and other materials back to the processing plants.
That last necessity, more than ever before, indicates a spare-time job for each of us. WPB stresses the urgent need for civilian collection of scrap, especially metals and old rubber. Only by scraping the bottom of the barrel shall we have enough for victory. That was true some months ago; today, it is a matter of pressing, immediate, continual need. Unless we get in the scrap furnaces will grow cold, and solid furnaces can lose wars.

USO QUOTAS REACHED

In Some Counties With Many Yet To Report
While the USO campaign will not begin in some of the Kentucky counties until about June 15, several counties in the state have already exceeded their quotas and many other county committees are now bringing their campaigns into full swing, according to Dr. Frank L. McVey, state campaign chairman.

Dr. McVey stated that a total of $43,177.95 has been collected and officially reported to state headquarters by committees in 23 counties in Kentucky up to noon, June 8.
The counties that have raised or exceeded their quotas to date are the following: Bath, quota $50, raised $66.55; Bullitt, quota $25, raised $13.33; Carroll, quota $60, raised $61.25; Grant, quota $30, raised $56.98; Hardin, quota $1,200, raised $2,178.25; Mason, quota $2,875, raised $4,508.11; Mercer, quota $1,000, raised $1,006; Nelson, quota $800, raised $807; Pendleton, quota $600, raised $600.

Other counties that have made reports but have not reached their quotas are: Barren, $21, Bourbon, $79, Boyle, $1,680.85, Caldwell, $715, Gallatin, $238, Harrison, $601.10, Henderson, $9,798.67, Leake, $500, Madison, $400, McCracken, $1,000, Monroe, $31.13, Montgomery, $386, Nicholas, $131, Owen, $418, Pike, $1,252, Powell, $25, Putnam, $662.92, Rowan, $425, Todd, $479, Tyng, $278, Woodford, $515.
In addition to Boyd, Fayette and Jefferson counties which will have their USO campaigns in the fall, Dr. McVey said there are 70 counties in Kentucky preparing for the USO campaign that have not made their preliminary reports and that the grand totals reported from week to week should show an increased amount as these additional counties are heard from.

President S. Bush, national campaign chairman, announced that $2,020,858 had been raised in the USO campaign throughout the nation through June 8. This is more than 25 per cent of the $8,000,000 spring goal. The balance of the $2,000,000 national goal is to be raised in fall campaigns.
Among the many services rendered men in uniform by USO is the "distribution of testaments. The national USO headquarters reports the requests for testaments by service men to chaplains and clergymen at USO centers has increased nearly 50 per cent in the past few weeks. The American Bible Society reported that its daily issuance is now $9,000 or $4,000 more than in previous years.

The U.S.A. is going to have less melody so that our aviators may sing songs of destruction over Germany and Japan. WPB ordered stop manufacture of almost all musical instruments in order that more guns may be fired, more tanks produced, more aluminum for 40,000 aircraft frames.
We're going to get along without any new sets, pen and paper in it knives and manicure scissors. WPB decided they weren't necessary in wartime, ordered their production stopped after June 30. WPB also cut and sharply manufacture of tableware and other cutlery.

Here's what the saving means in terms of metals and materials being needed in the fight for freedom: 6,000 tons of iron and steel, 2,000 tons of stainless steel, and 800 tons of copper alloy, and smaller amounts of nickel, chrome, rubber and plastics.
The U.S.A. has put more materials and finished products into the United Nations' pool than any other of the democracies, because we have had more to give. We've sent and are sending vast quantities of weapons and supplies to our allies in the form of lend-lease shipments.

Now, however, the adventure in cooperation is working both ways. We're getting help from those allies as well as giving it. Lend-Lease Administrator Edward R. Stettinius, Jr. has the other day disclosed that the British are feeding our troops in Northern Ireland, furnishing them with supplies and building their own equipment. We've sent them a long list of supplies and equipment to us, including a complete gun factory.
The U.S.A. has sent its valuable data on building tanks and technical experts on explosives. Australia is serving our forces in the Far East. American warships are being repaired in British ports, just as British warships are being repaired in American shipyards and American airplanes are supplied to Australia.

It's one for all and all for one, in the fight to lock the Axis.

Several Whitley county farmers are growing 2 1/2 acres of castor beans.

Casey county club members have bought 10 purebred Duroc gilts in their better livestock campaign.

Every garden in Owsley county is larger or has more variety than previously, reports the county farm agent.

Prestonsburg's 'Night Life'

ENFORCEMENT of this town's ten o'clock curfew for children under sixteen years and of the loitering ordinance
"rolling up the sidewalks" last night for those who would prowling the place, the night through, is a splendid move on the part of city officials.

Nobody's trying to invoke "blue laws," and nobody is objecting to these ordinances who want to see an orderly community. Children at home after ten o'clock at night, and older persons loitering
on the streets after midnight belong in jail.

Continued enforcement of these ordinances will result in a sharp reduction in the number of burglaries committed.
By those who loiter in dark corners after law-abiding folks have long since been in bed.

WAR OF NERVES
BRIANT'S open warning to the French people
to evacuate coastal areas subject to invasion is a further step in a continuing process that points eventually toward invasion of this country. One immediate effect of such warnings is to give the German high command further notice that an invasion is coming. This may induce the Nazi leaders to divert more strength to the western shore of Europe.
And while that will make the task of invasion somewhat harder, it will give immediate relief to the hard-pressed Russians
in some degree.

But the warning given by British Broadcasting Corporation in a French-language broadcast is much more than a volley fired in the new war of nerves. It is a shrewd bid for the cooperation of the French people, especially those who live adjacent to the coast. Perhaps most of them are unable to move inland. But if some do leave the threatened areas, it will make the task of the United Nations easier.

The Germans are attempting to use the civilian population of Holland, Belgium and France as a shield to protect themselves against invading British and American troops. The Nazis would not hesitate to use the women and children of the unfortunate coastal regions as hostages to prevent allied landings. The British recognize this and are making their appeal to the French directly in their own language.

One cannot doubt that this broadcast is a highly significant one. It defines the pattern of Anglo-American strategy for coming months. Yet it gives the Nazis no valuable information, because it reveals neither the time nor the place of the coming invasion. It invites the enemy to fortify the entire shore of Europe, which he cannot do while fighting the Red armies in the east. And it gives the French new hope for the ultimate liberation of their country.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

IS LITTLE BUSINESS SAFE?

WE are willing to stand our share of the taxes
which must be levied to finance the war.
But we, also, are aware of the statement that "the power to tax is the power to destroy." An illustration of that is the proposal to tax excess profits up to 100 per cent, or to allow only a 6 per cent return.

Big business can stand this. But what about the tens of thousands of small businesses? Even if they could operate on that basis, would their future not be practically frozen and their ability to expand and grow destroyed?

Many little businesses are already feeling the onslaught of the current crisis. With a large number of products frozen and their production stopped, garages, electric supply shops, oil stations, etc.,
will have a difficult time keeping their doors open.
With an extra heavy tax burden on these businesses, too, there would not be much future for them.

It little business is too badly handicapped, big business will get bigger and the next thing we know the country will be dependent almost entirely on big business for its existence. When that day comes, the stage is set for state socialism, for the cry would go up that private enterprise should not exist for the sake of the expense of the many.

The insidious danger in taxation to the point of confiscation is not only that individual business will be destroyed but our whole free economy which we are fighting a war to protect may be gone in the twinkling of an eye.

Congress has a tremendous responsibility to balance its tax program so as not to kill private enterprise that has made the United States.—The Kentucky Standard.

WAR FLASHES
Belgian anti-Nazi saboteurs have blown up one of the largest synthetic fertilizer plants in their country. This is a serious blow to the Nazis, who have been using the output of this plant for food production in Germany.

For more than a month there have been no exports of any kind save the Sols market. Also the lack of feed, commanded by the Nazis,
is so severe that thousands of horses have died of starvation.

Five small Buffalo concerns are demonstrating that where there is a will there is a way to aid war production. Following the close of their contract, manufacturers, have obtained contracts to manufacture castings
for ballistics and machine gun mountings.

The latest shortage in Italy has become so acute that all males between 16 and 70 and all females between 16 and 60 have been required
to register for "work service."

CONGRESSIONAL GRAB
Even Washington, where congressional hoodlums in an old story, was startled when some 800 senators and representatives took "X" rationing
cards giving them an unlimited supply of gasoline.

The capital will know that few members of congress have sufficient funds to cover the cost of an "X" rating. Also, after the way the boys got their fingers burned in the attempted erude "bundling"
of rationing cards, it was thought they had learned their lesson
—for this session—at least.

But it seems they haven't, for the latest part of the rationing
duking story.

OPA has said nothing about it,
but it is a fact that a number of the congressionals' statements have privately demanded that the drastic fuel restrictions be lifted for a lot of time to allow congressmen to campaign for reelection.

Further, none of these politicians said anything about extending such a rationing to their own families. They will stress for themselves, but their rivals
must abide by the regulations
of the rationing board.

So far OPA has turned a deaf
ear to the demand.

Note: One reason why "X" cards
should be distributed to congressmen
is that a number of congressional wives acted as registrars.

PAINTBRUSHER
Popular painter—Selective Service is swapping stories about draftees. Here is the latest making the rounds.

Orders have been issued that the physical examination and the doctor directed him to "look at the toe on the wall and tell me what numbers you see."

"What wall?" asked the draftee
blankly.

The doctor took him over a few minutes into the locker to read the register the army couldn't use him. He put on his clothes and departed with an order that he be stopped off to see a movie. When the lights went on at intermission, he was startled to find the examining physician seated beside him.

NAVY JAP OIL
Navy experts are closely watching Jap efforts to rehabilitate the destroyed oil wells and refineries in the Dutch East Indies and Burma.

Orders have been issued that samples of oil, grease, gasoline and fuel oil from captured Jap equipment be rushed by the fastest route to the Engineering Experimental Station, Annapolis, where analysis will attempt to ascertain from what region,
and from what refinery, the oil is
the original crude was obtained.

Nearly all oil wells and refineries were destroyed when the Allies were forced to leave the Netherlands Indies and Burma, but the Japs are working feverishly to get the fields back in production. So far there has been no sign of any Jap
use of this oil.

Note: A quart is needed for a through analysis, but if no more than a sample can be found, the navy wants it.

THE HORSE-POWER THRESHER
TODAY we are to go back into a past that seems almost as remote as the threshing-floors of ancient Egypt. And yet it was scarcely less than 1900 that the old horse-power thresher was still going as strong as ever.

What was cut with a scythe, tied by hand, and shocked. Then when it had had time to dry sufficiently, say by the fourth or fifth day, the thresher started. Threshings were neighborhood affairs and constituted one of the big events of the year, balanced by hog-killing later in the season. The machine itself was owned by a few neighbors, who threshed their own and the wheat of a whole side of a county, charging toll in kind.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Patrick and daughter, Emma Louise, have been in New York City for several days and are expected to return home next Sunday.

The man who fed the gin was the real boss of the whole gang; his speed determined the speed of the others. When the seasons started straining at the power, the wheels would squeak and start, reluctantly.
After the machinery was going at a normal speed, the bind-outer cut a bundle and the feeder fed it into the wild-turning teeth. If the sound indicated that everything was right, he fed the gin with a rhythm that everybody envied. I can still see him away with the left-to-right and right-to-left movements that resulted from his skillful feeding of his hands into the maw of the machine. It was regarded as a sort of disgrace if the boy or man who was passing wheat to him, with the heads turned toward the gin, got behind and had to be ramed in a loud voice.

The meanest labor of the whole thing was that on the stack. The old thresher did not have a device to blow the straw out of the gin.
Straw and dust were dumped on an endless belt which operated a thing like a gangplank. This device could be moved around, but it was necessary to go up the straw and place it all over the stack. In the blinding dust the men working at this got as dusky as negroes. Though everybody hated to do this manual labor, always somebody would volunteer to do it to save a reputation; laziness or taking the easy job was too much of a disgrace for any to shun dirt or grime.

But not all of the wheat-threshing was work. Dinner-time came by and by. The women and girls of the neighborhood were on hand with quantities of food ready. Ablutions in the washpans removed some of the grime, enough to make faces resemble whiteness. And how we gobbed in our loads of strong, simple, good food!

The horsepower thresher disappeared long ago. In general the threshing now is not the neighborhood affair it used to be. But lots of us remember the sort of thing that Grant Wood has so deftly pictured in "Wheat-Threshing."

MONEY TALKS
By FREDERICK W. STAMM,
Economist and Director of Adult Education
University of Louisville

CONGRESS is now working on the new income tax law, and from all indications we are all going to turn over to Uncle Sam a much larger share of our incomes than ever before.

This proposed law will lower exemptions for single persons to $500 and for married couples to $1,000 a year. When this law passes, as it undoubtedly will, from seven to ten million persons who now pay no taxes at all will be taxed, on the average, about the equivalent of half a month's salary. The single person now making $600 a year, or $60 a month, will pay a tax of $14 under the proposed schedule while a single person making $1,200 a year will pay $19 tax. Last year a married person with two dependents who earned $2,400 annually paid only $6 federal income tax; if he made $2,500 he paid only $12 tax. Under the proposed law these persons would pay $56 and $75 respectively.

The married person with no children who earned $2,500 last year paid only $60 tax, but under the proposed law he will pay $216 next year.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A LETTER TO THE POLICE AT HOME

Editor, The Times: Please print one of the dearest letters ever read from a son, or brother. This letter was received from Glenn Stumbo by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stumbo and family, McDonough, Ky., immediately after learning he was to be sent across. He was in Camp Crowder, Missouri, for three months with the signal corps; took the examination with three hundred others. Then passed and he was one of the ten. He is one of the first from Floyd county to pass this examination and go across so soon. He is very fond of this kind of army work. I hope this letter will influence other mothers' sons who are being called upon and will enable some of them to have more courage and take a better attitude toward the work of our country in the time of need.

MRS. C. C. STUMBO (Other address and date omitted)

My Dear Family: It was rather a shock to me, as well as it will be to you, to learn I am going across so soon. Really, I thought I was being called to another camp of higher learning, until I find myself here on an island (name not mentionable). We have already received our inoculations and readily prepared to go across and have also been informed we are leaving. Just when and where to go, however, we don't know. If we should, we couldn't say, because one slip of the tongue would do our enemies good.

I realize how how serious all of you are going to take this, but please, may I beg you not to worry about me. This is the first time I have really been able to relax in my war, but I don't feel happy to have the opportunity to be of service and help preserve this beautiful country of ours, which has always had a desire for peace and freedom. We can't all stay in the U.S. and win this war. The sooner we go, the sooner we get back home. I don't feel my name is marked on any of the enemy's ammunition. I feel I shall be O.K. and I really don't want any of you to worry about me. I don't see to come home and see all of my family together again. I realize what this war is to me and my father, mother being in such poor health, but don't look at the worst side of this, look at the good I can do for my country. Don't get worried if you don't hear from me for it may be some time. I can't say just when I am leaving, but I am going soon. So farewell to the U.S. for awhile and God bless my family.

TEACHING VETS (Continued from page one) Kimbler's staff still is working on voluminous files of individual cases, but 57 of them were available for review Monday. The annual pension range from $100 to $380, to be paid quarterly. Average of the 57 studied is $221. One out of every 10 teachers is 60 years or older, and one out of 15 will draw the annual minimum of $100. The $630 pension, highest on the list, will go to J. B. Cotter, veteran negro teacher at Louisville. "They can't live on an average of $223 a year," Kimbler said, "but it will help." At the beginning, many of them thought they would be lucky to draw the minimum of $100. The $223 average is not bad, however you consider it will be drawn by teachers who have invested only 4 per cent of their salary for two years. Service records of the older teachers show many of them started teaching in the 1870s and 1880s. They started mostly in one-room country schoolhouses, where the term of six months and one day was $55 a month, or $213 a year. Checks for the first quarter will be mailed on or about October 1. Kimbler said, and will continue quarterly so long as the teachers live.

BAILEY GIVEN LIFE (Continued from page one) Taft Moore while their attorneys hastened to prepare a motion for a re-trial. The verdict came on the fifth day of the trial, and only a few hours after Special Judge Joseph D. Harkins, of Prestonsburg, instructed the all-male jury to disregard the testimony of eight defense witnesses—including that of Elsie McCoy, for whose love the state contended Bailey engineered the slaying. A motion was entered by the defense for a new trial, but Judge Harkins overruled it. Counsel for the defense took exception to the ruling, but did not discuss whether there would be an appeal. Bailey and Jarrell were then brought into the courtroom and sentenced. Judge Harkins told them that, if their conduct was such as to warrant it, they would be eligible for parole in eight years. Three months of each year for good conduct would be deducted, the judge added. Bailey was held in jail here "for safekeeping" for two weeks after his arrest in 1941.

Names of the Floyd countians on the 13-man jury follow: Willis Wallen, Henry Spafford Jess Patrick, Abe Green, Charles Lafayette R. M. Hall, Joe Miller, Dennis Whitton, W. J. Vauznan, B. M. Oustley, Jim Crater, Tooz Sharp-herd, Lee Robinson.

BECAUSE of the scarcity of certain critical metals needed for our armed forces, the Government has been compelled to curtail their use for new electric line construction.
The order of the War Production Board forbids us to extend our lines to new customers other than defense housing for a distance of more than 250 feet from existing facilities.
Even where the distance is less than 250 feet we are restricted in the amount of money we may expend for the new construction.
If you plan to build or occupy premises not now supplied with electricity or if you contemplate changes which would necessitate enlargement of our facilities to serve you, please consult us. We shall be glad to give you full information concerning the restrictions and in this way you may save yourself unnecessary disappointment and expense.

SHIKE'S POKES

(The views expressed herein are those of the writer and not necessarily those of this newspaper.—Editor.)

I saw Perry Osborne Sunday—and was he "hot"? He sat there and went back over the Sugar Rationing Board, as per instructions, and that the "top cop" was working there treated and talked to him like he was a prisoner of war. He said that he felt so badly that, if he had been a "G.I. Man," he would have surrendered. But he sees everything worked out O.K. when he got hold of the gentleman in charge.

Everyone sees we're going back to the good old days. With the tire and gasoline rationing, we'll be riding "hoss-back." But it seems that "Chub," Tilton, Mitch, etc., et al., have gone "way back. From reports, they have gone back to cave dwellers—but Chub says they won't make a "go" of it. It's too "top cop" to and from the cave—and hard on old clothes.

What's this I hear about Fortune Magazine taking a poll of the people to find out where our complacency was? They found "it" right in Congress. We know that all the time. The people are all out to win this war regardless of what it takes, and a bunch of isolationists are just sabotaging our efforts. I even believe we've got fifty-somethings in Congress. Just look how they are bungling the soldiers' pay raise.

I'll bet that when those British bombers got through with Cologne—that small wasn't even Emden-Colgate.

I read it somewhere—"Cold feet" usually carry "hot heads" away from trouble.

Rationing or no rationing, we never heard of a Senator running out of gas. But in "Happy" we sure have a "flat tire."

Two years ago the Nazis were gloating over the bombing of open cities. Now the shoe is on the other foot. The Germans are quaking in their boots. They can't get out but they haven't got the guts to take it. And they're going to get it, anyhow.

Just why should members of Congress raise more gasoline than men going to and from work in jobs vital to defense? Why this country needs is a lot more Walter White's—and a lot of a lot less Nye's, Wheeler's, Chandler's and Tamm's. Winchell is an American first, not an American firster.

We have a report that Harve and "B. H." have a job as "coffee men." Mack almost took a job with them.

Kel's "gang" hounded turned out to be a flop. After the dog had staved treed all night, Kel went to him and—you guessed it—he had treed a rattle weed.

According to The Floyd County Times last week, it looks like Dr. A. Boyd will have to draft them a bodyguard.

It's an ill wind that blows no one good. The women were selling their heads off about the giraffe shortage. But the sugar shortage is liable to make the giraffe unnecessary—least less girl will be worn in them.

In the Matter of David Voting Precinct:

Whereas, in voting precinct No. 53 known as Jack Allen precinct, a mining camp has been established, and the voting population therein has increased so that at this time more than three hundred fifty voters reside therein; and Whereas, the convenience and public good require that a new precinct be created and said precinct as heretofore existing be divided;

THEREFORE, it is ordered by the Court, that from Jack Allen, No. 53, there be carved a new precinct, with the following boundary: Commencing at the branch, at the lower end of the Black Hawk Shepherd line, thence running up the right hand side of the hill, to the top of the ridge; thence running around the ridge to the Masonoff line; thence with the county line to the top of the ridge between Link Creek of Middle Creek and main Link Middle Creek; thence down Stewart to Norris. The best and most fish that the writer saw was caught by Paul Jarrell and his brother from Kenova, W. Va. L. J. Gerlach, Winkle Burke and I were fishing from the bank with soft craws one morning and a fish took Winkle's line and hung on a snag about 20 feet out in the lake and in eight feet of water. Winkle could not get his line loose, so he took off his clothes, swam over to the snag, dived down in the eight feet of water, broke the snag and came back up with his fish in his hand. Try it some time and see if you can do it.

OUR GREATEST INSTITUTION

By the REV. W. B. GARRIOTT Pastor, Prestonburg Methodist Church

With appreciation for a kindly statement last week from the editor of The Times regarding a statement I made to him about writing an article about church attendance, I am writing these lines.

I would like to stand out in your thinking one question: What institution offers you more in the community than the church? When you start in the morning, you more than any other institution, for it opens its doors to you, whether you are rich or poor, small or great, educated or uneducated, whether you have friends or whether you do not have friends. Other institutions may "blackball" you for some unknown reason, but never the church. For she has her doors wide to you to attend her services, contact the best people of any community, to worship God by singing, praying or by the military R. H. E. If you are love sick, she offers you a place at her altars for marriage or will lend you her preacher for this purpose. When children have come into your home she will help you with their religious education by offering you a good church in their hands. If you are sick, she offers you a place at her altars to seek God and the best religious people of the community to instruct and pray for you. If you are in trouble, there is no one who has greater influence to help you than the members of the church. If you are sick or one of your loved ones is sick, she lends you the sympathy you so much need under such circumstances.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Our army spells and pronounces it "pon-tion," as you do. It's the bridge that's all the way from $15,000 to $700,000. The smaller bridge using individual metal pions is pictured here. The largest pion bridge is 1,000 feet long and is made of rubber instead of aluminum.

One small bridge has a weight capacity of 22 tons, using about 2,000 individual metal pions. The smallest is used only to take troops over small streams. But whether our army uses the smaller or largest pions, our engineers need plenty of them. If you and every American invests at least 10 percent of income in War Bonds every pay day we can supply our fighting forces with these essentials to a victorious war.

Emergency Call For Stenographers And Typists Issued

Cincinnati, O., June 9 (Sp.)—An emergency call has been issued by the United States Civil Service Commission for stenographers and typists for duty in Washington. "The demand for intensified war effort both in our battle lines all over the world and in production at home, to sustain that aggressive action which General Marshall stated is at hand, has resulted in a shortage of stenographers and typists in Washington, which, unless relieved immediately, may seriously delay our war program." D. C. Whelan, acting manager, Sixth U.S. Civil Service District, Cincinnati, stated today in a most urgent appeal to stenographers and typists to offer their services immediately. "Appointments of qualified applicants will be made at once at $1,400 a year for Junior Stenographers and $2,000 for Junior Typists."

ANNUAL FISH FRY

The date set for the Annual Fish Fry for this year is Sunday, Aug. 2. On the program again this year is the world-famous team of fancy shooters, Mr. and Mrs. "Ad" Topper, representing the Winchester Repeating Arms Company, and Tony Accetta, five times U. S. professional champion in both fly and bait casting. These two attractions are the world's best in their lines.

RED FOXES BEING LIBERATED

The club has just received a shipment of 24 fine red foxes. These are as fine as the writer has ever seen, and any one interested in a pair of these foxes can call at my home.

FISHING SEASON OPENS

The waters of Floyd county have not been fit for bait casting since the season opened on June 1. The first couple of days were only fair, and the catch light. Several of our members have hooked up in Herndon and Norris Lakes. Myself, son Winkle, Paul Jarrell, Mrs. Jarrell and two children, L. J. Gerlach, Richmond Adams, A. C. Harlow, Russell Peirrey, Russell Hagewood and family, Woodrow Greenwood and family have fished at Herndon and L. J. Gerlach and Robert Stewart went to Norris. The best and most fish that the writer saw was caught by Paul Jarrell and his brother from Kenova, W. Va. L. J.
