MISS DEADLINE

Sorry--but several correspondents reached us too late this week with their news.

DISILLUSIONED

So you've always wished you could see "bankers' hours," why I thought so, too, till I heard "Uncle" Jo Davidson recently bewail the fact that illness, on a recent morning, kept him from work at the Bank Joe--the latest he had been in a half-century at his post there. Uncle Jo turned up for the days work at 8:45 a.m.

HAND AND FOOT

Seven-year-old Lewis Mayo Stamer, one of Frank Stamer's many sons, is the hard luck kid of the week. Playing with "Feds" Howard on Third street, he fell and a nail passed almost through his hand. He jerked the nail out, wrapped it in a cloth and ran--and another nail was in his path. It passed through his third shoe and into his foot.

DUMB--THAT'S ME

I learned only this week that commodity distribution is not a WPA project and was working under the Agricultural Marketing Administration. Gosh, am I dumb? Dumb enough still to contend that it's a lot of damn-foolness to give away food to some folks who can get along without it when millions will starve this winter in countries of the United States and while tens of thousands are rationed on food.

VICTORY COMER HOME

From Test comes word that little Jimmie Douglas George still has his victory trophy. He found it in the day he did left to enter the Navy, and painted a V on its back. The terrain around it stayed a week but returned and now is one of Jimmie Douglas' prized possessions.

WHAT PRICE SENTIMENT?

Are those ornamental but unnecessary things worth your honor so rich in sentiment that you just can't bear to part with them and give or sell them for the scrap your government must have if it is to win this war?

Then you're a stranger to the way of thinking of Susanna Johnson, of Dony. Floyd teaching your honor so rich in sentiment that you just can't bear to part with them and give or sell them for the scrap your government must have if it is to win this war?

That fence, Miss Johnson wrote, "will do Mother no good, and it might be the means of saving the lives of some of her grandsons. Those Spartans were mountaineers, too."

Wrong Address Given In Listing Delinquent

George Prater, recently classified as delinquent by Draft Board 44, was erroneously listed as a resident of Pyramid. His correct address is Brimard, Ky.

The error is particularly regretted, since there is a George Prater who was a resident of Pyramid for many months has been in army service. The George Prater from Pyramid volunteered in March, 1941, and at this time is serving his country.

Bernest Thurston Hall, Betsy Layne, who also was listed last week as delinquent, has filed his protest with the draft board. Mr. Hall said he had previously mailed his questionnaire to the draft board, but the board has no record of having received it. He has a son now in U. S. army service, and desires that the public know he never had any intention of failing to comply with draft regulations.

Elliot's Induction Leaves Four Schools Minus Music Instructor

Departure this week of Jesse E. Elliot, Floyd county band instructor, for the U. S. army played mischief with county school music plans.

Maytown, Wheelwright, Auxier and McDowell may be without a music instructor for the duration. At Wayland Miss May Francis will continue glue club work, and at Garrett Miss Mary Roewe will teach elementary band. But only in Prestonsburg, Martin and Betsy Layne will full-time band work be possible, with Mrs. Chalmers Prater, Mrs. Palmer Hall and Miss Carlos Hale, instructors, respectively.

Mr. Elliot's post as chairman of the Floyd county Junior Red Cross will be occupied by Miss Edna Crockett, with Mrs. Goldia Porter Short, vice-chairman.

Mr. Elliot's army induction ends 14 years of service in the Floyd county schools. He came here immediately upon graduation from DePauw University, Indiana.

THURSDAY

SCHOOL RACES OFF; COUNCIL SCRAP LOOMS

Deadline Monday Night Finds Six Candidates In Council Election

There will be no opposing factions in either the election of two County Board of Education members or the three City Board of Education board members here, but a heated city election here is in prospect, the election line-up at the deadline for filing with County Clerk A. B. Meacham tonight showed.

Even the city election may fail to develop the expected fireworks if the present Council members appointed to fill vacancies are still contending an election cannot be held at this time and are upheld in the courts.

The election array here now appears. Bill Blackburn and Herbert Salisbury will be the opposing candidates for the City Council post in Ward No. 1 and vacancies. The clerk resigned. In Ward 2 James Morrill, Jr., and Gordon Francis will be opposed by B. S. (Bass) Howard and Mont Gibson for the City Council membership originally held by Fred Francis and Byron Nunery, both of whom now are in the Army.

MARTIN KILLED IN GLO MINE

Motorman Succumbs To Harts Sustained Tuesday Night

Crushed internally when pinned between the mine motor and a rock, the body of a motorman was found in the mine "rib," Delmas, near the entrance of the mine, Tuesday at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the mines of the Glogora Coal Company at Glo, and died at a Glenside hospital.

The victim was a son of Earl Martin, of Wayland, and was a member of the local fire department.

Surviving are his father, his mother, who resides in Ohio, his widow, Mrs. Marie Collins Martin, several brothers and sisters, available names of whom are Willie, James and Orla Martin.

Legion Commander Asks School Aid To Get Records

W. G. Africa, Commander of Floyd Post, American Legion, has asked County Superintendent Tom Hall to assist the aid of school children of the county in salvaging old records for use by the armed forces, and Mr. Hall this week asked every teacher to urge upon her pupils the importance of this work in maintaining morale.

The Superintendent said all old records accumulated at the schools if brought to his office, would be given to the American Legion Post. Any kind of photograph record, whether intact or in pieces, is wanted. Those no longer serviceable can be remolded, Mr. Africa said.

Given Medical Discharge, Prestonsburg Soldier Remains in Service

Three months ago, when Martin Leste, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Leste, Prestonsburg, was induced into army service, he relished the prospects of military life no more than others leaving with him.

But Pvt. Martin Leste, Jr., is not coming home. Since the day of his induction, he has become long of spirit. He has refused to accept to remain in the army. And he told officers as much--told them he'd serve anywhere, in any position, but who are in the 18-19 year group advising them to volunteer now while they can and have their choice of service branches.

BARNETT BOND SET AT $5,000

Two More of Family Sought in Slaying Aired Here

Mells and Riley Barnett, last of their family wanted in connection with the slaying of Walter Watkins, Monday joined their kinsman, Warren and Lacey Barnett, in the county jail here.

Wednesday, examining trial for the four was held, and $5,000 bond was set for each of the four. Barnett, who admitted to officers that he threw the rock which fatally injured Watkins, got release on $500 bond. None of the four had executed bond Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Watkins, widow of the slain man, was the only witness to testify at the hearing. She claimed that the Barnetts were waiting for her husband as he came up the road, carrying a sack of dynamite home from the Prestonsburg commodity warehouse. On his approach, she testified, Mrs. Mells Barnett said, "There comes one of those chaps I thought to unburden himself of his baggage and 'let's fight,' and began throwing stones."

In the examination, the widow testified, her husband and some of the others fell into the creek. Emerging, Watkins started on one of the Barnetts with a rock and was struck by Warren Barnett.

Warren Barnett told Deputy Sheriffs A. C. Carter and T. J. Salisbury, as they were returning him last week from the county jail, that he struck Watkins in Ohio, Tennessee.

Mells and Riley Barnett were arrested Monday by Sheriff T. J. Salisbury at their home on Cold Water Branch, near Brimard.

County Judge Hill Wednesday asked the aid of school children of the county in salvaging old records for use by the armed forces, and Mr. Hall this week asked every teacher to urge upon her pupils the importance of this work in maintaining morale.

CATS MAY BE MINUS COACH

Branham in Baltimore; Hazard Cancels Tilt Slated Saturday

The Prestonsburg Black Cats this week were at least temporarily without a coach as Coach Estill (Eck) Branham sought to regain the city in a Baltimore war production plant which he resigned to accept employment in the schools here.

In the absence of the coach, the team prepared this week to accept to Hazard Saturday for his scheduled game with the Hazard Bulldogs, but were notified Wednesday by Hazard school authorities that the game must be cancelled because of their inability to procure the services of a referee and other game officials.

Sister of Dr. Dotsen Succumbs Thursday To Long Illness

Mrs. Hattie Dotsen Allen, 68 years old, wife of Levi Allen, Iyndon, died at the home of Dr. M. T. Dotsen, Prestonsburg, died at 12:15 o'clock Thursday morning following several years of suffering.

Mrs. Allen was born at Brimard, this county, but had resided in Magoffin for a number of years. She was a devoted member of the United Baptist Church, who had not been completed at home Thursday.

RESIGNS TEACHER POST

Mrs. Agnes Reynolds of Lackey, has resigned her position as teacher in the Floyd county schools, and left last week to join her husband, Robert Reynolds, who is stationed with the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station in Louisville.

LADD SUES TO COLLECT

Salary Under Contract Made with Wayland As Town Marshal

Suit filed here Saturday by Dave J. Ladd, former marshal of the town of Wayland, seeks to enjoin his successor, Troy Mullins, from acting as marshal and to collect from the town the sum of $190 a month for the remainder of 1942 and all of 1943. The petition, filed against Mr. Mullins, the town and its board of trustees, Oakie Mullins, Tracy Clifton, Crit Wells, Dr. Ira J. Francis and Orel Branch, it is claimed that Ladd was employed Jan. 1, this year, for a two-year term at a salary of $190 a month. Plaintiff alleges that Ladd was removed from office at a special session of the town board of trustees attended only by Oakie Mullins, Crit Wells and Tracy Clifton, and that Dr. Francis and Mr. Howard were not notified of the meeting. He also contends that his "attempted" removal from office was made without charges being preferred against him.

Draft Registrants Warned To Keep Board Advised Of Their Addresses

Officials of Local Board No. 45 here called attention this week to a prime Selective Service law which requires each registrant to keep his local board advised of his mailing address at all times.

Because of increased office work, draft board officials are more insistent that registrants keep their local board notified of address in a more serious light. They point out that the wise registrant notifies his local board immediately of a change of address or dependency.

Navy Day Observance October 27 Urged By Arnold, Hall

Observance here and in the schools the hour of Navy Day, Tuesday, Oct. 27, was asked this week by Mayor E. P. Arnold in a proclamation and by Superintendent Tom Hall in a statement to teachers.

The Mayor's proclamation appears elsewhere in this edition of THE TIMES.

Mr. Hall asked that all high schools, at their chapel periods next Tuesday, devote at least a portion of the program in honor of the American navy.

"Those boys are fighting on every ocean, that our free schools and other cherished American institutions may survive," Mr. Hall said. "They should be proudly remembered on this day set aside for remembrance throughout the nation."

TRUCK OWNERS TO REGISTER

War Necessity Certificates Required After Nov. 15 For Truck Operation

The Floyd County Transportation Committee will hold meetings in the county town, Oct. 22, 23 and 24, for the purpose of receiving applications of farm truck owners for War Necessity Certificates, James Stedfast, chairman of the county USDA War Board, announced Monday.

Certificates of War Necessity must be carried on all operating commercial vehicles, including farm trucks, after Nov. 15, and to aid farmers in procuring these certificates, the meetings will be held.

Representative District Party Chairman Picked Without Opposition

Edward B. Leslie, Wheelwright teacher, was elected chairman of the county Legislative District No. 2 at a Democratic caucus held at McDowell Saturday afternoon, and Morton McClocher, Printer, was elected secretary.

Mr. Leslie and John May, Langley, chairman of Legislative District 1, will select a party chairman for the entire county to succeed Mr. May. It was considered a certainty that Mr. May will continue at the County Chairman post.

Scrap Drive Workers Injured as Truck Is Overtaken

Two men employed in the WPA collection of scrap in this county were in the Beaver Valley hospital suffering from injuries sustained Wednesday morning when the truck they were riding overturned near Boldman.

LAST PHASE OF DRIVE STARTED

Schools, Labor, Industry To Join in An 'All-Out' Effort Next Week

Floyd county's scrap pile this week weighed a total of 123,000 pounds. Floyd Scaife Chairman S. L. Isbell announced, as county schools and industrial firms prepared for an all-out assault during the remaining 10 days of the month in a never-say-die effort to reach the county's scrap quota of 528,800 pounds--100 pounds for every man, woman and child in the county.

Added to the county junk collection since last week were 257,514 pounds metal and rubber.

Betsy Layne's second school junk drive, held Tuesday, netted 15,000 pounds to bring that community's total to 280,000 pounds. The Home Economics department there sponsored an amateur program, charging admission prices of 50 cents for children and 100 pounds for adults. The results were surprising. Dr. W. Howard, principal of the school, said:

See Editorial, "Will Floyd County Fall?"

By Allen's school on Middle Creek reports 4200 pounds collected in a second drive, bringing its contribution to a total of 7,000 pounds.

Prestonsburg's schools this afternoon (Thursday) were making their second drive.

Courthouse Happenings

To aid the schools and facilitate scrap transportation, Salvage Chairman Isbell called for volunteer trucks. "There is a serious need for help in getting the scrap, after the drive is over, to places later to be designated," he said.

Using as complete participation in next Wednesday's drive as in the first, County Superintendent Tom Hall said, "The children should get into the work again, and I know that, with full co-operation of grown-ups, they will do a splendid job."

GUARDIAN BOND

Oscar Banks, gdn., of Dingsu Banks.

Businessmen — Let's talk about death! Let's not dodge the issue — let's face facts. A lot of good American fighting men may soon have to die for want of scrap!

IF YOU FALL SOME BOY WILL DIE!

WERE talking facts, remember! Such as the fact that steel for every tank, ship, and gun must be made of 50% scrap. And the terrible fact that America's mills are starving for this scrap — without enough on hand for even 30 days more production!

Which puts it up to you!

Monday starts the big scrap metal drive. And you, as a businessman, have a double job to do. Clean out your home — and scour your place of business, factory, office or store — for every single bit of scrap.

And when you see the stockpile grow — for the mills to take when it's needed — be glad that you've done your part... that your work may have saved some boy from a needless death!

VETERANS — You men who fought the last War — make this your job. To see that no American boy shall fall because a lack of scrap deprived him of a fighting chance.

SCRAP SLACKERS CAN LOSE THIS WAR!

It's squarely up to you. The mills need scrap to make the steel to go across the sea as ships, and tanks, and guns. They need it now — and in the months to come. For all new steel must be 50% scrap — and the mills are running out. They haven't enough for even 30 days more production — then they'll be shutting down.

Unless you get to work! Unless you go into your basement and your attic and root out the junk that's there. Talk about it to your friends and neighbors — you men who know what war is like. Tell them... "Don't be a scrap slacker. Get your scrap ready for the drive that starts next Monday!" Then get to work and help them do it.

We're out to fill the junk yards — so make every salvage depot a towering tribute to our fighting men. And don't think the job is done when the scrap starts piling up. Because the war must end before the need for scrap is over.

Do this to help make sure it ends our way!

Red Cross Mercy Ship Not To Sail as Japs Deny Safe Conduct

Because the Japanese government has refused to allow any neutral vessels to cross the western Pacific, the American Red Cross is cancelling the charter of the S.S. Kananowaka, a Swedish ship originally scheduled to carry supplies for American military personnel and civilian addresses held in Japan, occupied China and the Philippines. Norman H. Dixon, American Red Cross chairman, has announced.

The two 4,000-ton S.S. Kananowaka will be returned to the owners, and the supplies, already on board will be unloaded and held in San Francisco until other arrangements can be made. Mail and packages for identified prisoners in Japan, which already had been accepted through the postoffice, are being transferred to the neutral exchange ship, the Grisholm, Mr. Davis said.

It is expected that the Grisholm will sail shortly on another voyage with Japanese to be exchanged for American non-combatants at the neutral port of Lourenco Marques in Portuguese East Africa. Her mail and other supplies for prisoners of war also will be transferred to Japanese exchange ships and carried to Japan where Dr. Fritz Paraviehl, International Red Cross committee delegate, will supervise distribution throughout the Far East.

The Red Cross supplies to be carried by the Grisholm include more than 60,000 standard 11-pound food parcels, 10,000,000 cigarettes, over $33,000 worth of drugs and medical supplies, $85,000 worth of blankets and toilet articles, and large quantities of underwear, shoes and other articles amounting to more than half a million items, including provisions of war relief supplies carried for the War and Navy Departments.

The Grisholm also will carry hundreds of messages filed through the Red Cross chapters for American men reported missing after the fall of Britain and Crete, but whose fates have not yet been reported by the Japanese to the International Red Cross Committee on official prisoner war lists.

The Japanese government has agreed to accept and deliver this material in Manila and other regions where there are American prisoners, Mr. Davis said.

NEWSPAPERS' UNITED SCRAP METAL DRIVE

THE HOME FRONT

THESE THINGS AFFECTED YOUR HOUSEHOLD

- Washing Your Food. It's the limit. Calling Investors. Sugar Stamp News. Condensed Prices. Films Available. No Sixth Tire. Cheaper Containers. Plan to Hunters. Victory In Tin. 2,880 Miles. Don't Hold Pennies.

Several developments on the food front can be reported this week. In the first place, OPA acted to end the grocers' cry of "Out of stock today!" A new pricing regulation permits a fair ceiling increase for those retail grocers who were caught with such low March price maximums that they had to remove certain food products from their shelves.

If the housewife wanted to buy these items, she had to stop at stores where the ceilings were high. This operated to protect the stores with the high ceilings, because they had no competition.

Tuna fish prices in Cleveland furnish a good illustration. A certain grade of canned tuna handled by five of the largest independents and chain stores in the city had ceilings of 26, 27, 28, 47, and 48c per can. The wholesale cost was about 31c per can. Obviously, the three largest retailers with the lower ceiling prices wouldn't handle it at all, so if people bought it, they had to pay 47 and 48c a can, and so distances for it. The new pricing regulation won't reduce the higher ceilings, but it will enable competing merchants to stock and sell the product at a lower price.

Also on the food front, the OPA created a food price division to take care of price research and analysis and care for the technical details of price regulation.

OPA's attempt to bring all prices into line will bring, as stated last week, possible mark-ups in 11 categories of foods which represent about 15 per cent of all food purchases. These are, for the most part, seasonally-packed goods, and the present ceilings in some cases are considered unfair to the sellers. Therefore, OPA will allow the computation of new ceilings according to carefully-prescribed regulations on breakfast cereals, canned fish, hydrogenated shortenings, coffee, sugar, other shortenings, cooking and salad oils, canned vegetables, rice, dried fruit, and lard.

Everything that rolls on rubber-tire military vehicles excepted—is now under a 25-mile speed limit. Beating it is likely to mean no escape or new tires for you.

The WPB has asked for development of more containers, which would not use critical materials.

War ration stamp No. 9 will be good for the purchase of three pounds of sugar between Nov. 1 and Dec. 15. Stamp No. 8, which calls for five pounds, expires at midnight, Oct. 31.

In order to relieve cordwood shortages wherever they may appear, the OPA has authorized all its state offices to make price adjustments in their areas whenever necessary to assure an adequate supply.

Four motion pictures on subjects related to the government's fuel rationing and fuel conservation program are now available for release to schools, industries, defense organizations, church committees and other groups. They are "Heat and Its Control," "The Story of Rock of Petroleum," and "Coal for Industry." All are available in 16-millimeter size in both sound and silent versions, except the coal film, which is in sound alone. For the first three, write to the Bureau of Mines Experiment Station, 4800 Forbes Street, Pittsburgh, Pa. For the other, write to the U. S. Bituminous Coal Consumers Council, Box 483, Washington, D. C.

Idle passenger car tires will go to work under the new gas rationing program. Car owners, to get gas cards, must register their tires by number and dispose of all over-riding tires. The government already is purchasing the extra new and used tires. The Railway Express Agency will collect the tires and at that time, an expert will appraise them and forward a check. Damaged, but repairable tires, will be appraised at ceiling prices, less cost of repairs.

Acting to encourage the substitution of cheaper containers to replace steel and other critical materials, the OPA has informed the chemical industry that, except in special cases, it will not permit producers to pass on to consumers increases in container costs.

About 5,500,000 pounds of fat could be saved if hunters this year would cut and trim in the excess fat of their big-game kill. Hunters also have been called upon to turn in their discharged shotgun shells, rifle cartridges, and the down feathers of waterfowl. It is estimated that 2,000 tons of brass could be saved for the war effort.

Collection of tin and steel scrap have dried and re-doubled in two months, the WPB reports. Eight thousand tons of tin cans were reported for detinning in September. (Housewives: Please read that last item again and boost the collection of tin cans again and again.)

Your A-book for gasoline rationing will provide 2,880 miles of driving per year at the rate of 15 miles per gallon.

The United States mint seeking to conserve vital war metal has curtailed production of pennies by half in recent months. However, 50,000,000 were produced last month. Get the pennies out of your bank or your child's bank and into War Stamps—and into circulation. If each of 33,000,000 families would put 10 back into circulation, the result would amount to one-third of last year's record production.

The coal mining industry, with a shortage of manpower, has begun to hire women. The Union Pacific Coal Company has taken on 22. Half work in the shops and half plant operate on mine tips.

The first rent-enforcement suit in the brain-Blyvia, O., defense rental area has been filed in U. S. court.

Fifty-five retail merchants, found by the OPA in the Cleveland region to have sold refrigerators at higher-than-ceiling prices, have been ordered to refund to 420 customers a total of more than $6,900.

The ODT has sent a message to high school students: "When schools are over, go home." Stagger-systems of easing peak-hour transportation loads have failed in some places because students did not go home when school was let out.

A national salvage campaign is being planned for used silk and nylon hosiery. The materials are useful in the manufacture of powder bags.

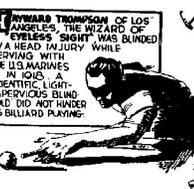

During the week beginning Oct. 21, the ODT will conduct a survey of inter-city rail and bus travel in 10 cities. The Census Bureau will interview a number of passengers on each train or bus to determine how and why travel habits have changed since Pearl Harbor. Names will not be asked. A number of the cities are in this area, and public co-operation is requested.

SOMEBODY FORGOT TO GET HIS NOVEMBER FIRST

U.S. Marines —

GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING

COLONEL HENRY ROOSEVELT, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF DEFENSE, HAS BEEN AWARDED THE DODGE CAR FOR HIS SERVICE AS CHIEF OF THE FINEST BODY OF TROOPS IN FRANCE.

WARD TRIMPHON OF LOS ANGELES, THE WIZARD OF "EYELESS SIGHT" WAS BLUNDED BY THE U.S. MARINES WHO SERVED WITH "THE U.S. MARINES" IN IOWA. A "SCATHING LIGHT" IMPROVED HIS BLIND FOLD DID NOT HINDER HIS BILLIARD PLAYING.

Here's What To Expect as Gas Rationing Starts Next Month

Plans for the rationing of gasoline are expected to follow these lines: If you own an automobile you will be allowed to drive 240 miles a month.

If you do "essential" driving and can line up companion riders and qualify on a score of other rules, you can drive up to 470 miles a month. The ration board will be the "yardstick."

If you can qualify in one of the rigid qualifications you can get more gasoline than people in the other two classes, but "the barest minimum you require."

Rationing date will be November 22, based on the fact that rationing cards expire in the East on that date and the "government probably will start the program everywhere at that time to avoid confusion."

The three classifications—non-essential, essential and preferred—are explained in this manner: "A" cards—owners of all cars in the country will be entitled to an "A" card, regardless of how many are owned by one family. Each book contains 14 rigid coupons, good for 2,880 miles a year, and based on an average of 15 miles per gallon. Two-month quotas will be set out each period, and based on driving each period. The entire two-month quota can be paper or magazine delivery, carried on the same day or spaced over the entire period. An "A" sticker must be pasted on the rear window. No questions will be asked on how you use "A" quotas unless application is made for "B" or "C" cards. If you lose your "B" or "C" card, you can be obtained on application to the rationing board.

"B" cards—persons making application for this card must designate need, list miles driven last year and answer seven other questions indicated to show "essential" nature of car's use. If you can obtain the "B" card you will be allowed to drive 470 miles per month, the maximum yardstick. Books will be issued every three months and a new application must be made at the end of every three-month period. The board will subtract 50 miles from the total of the "A" card to arrive at the 47-mile total, using 500 miles per month as the maximum "B" allowance.

"C" cards—you must fit one of 14 classifications, and every case will be handled individually. The classifications are: "Official government business," transportation of U. S. mail; public school officials traveling to and from school; wholesale news- and magazine delivery; carrying news cameras or photographic equipment for dissemination of public information; physicians, surgeons, nurses, veterinarians, ministers, priests or rabbis serving congregations; transportation of farm products and supplies; transportation of farm, marine, and transportation workers, or commercial fishermen or between their jobs, or recruiting or training of such workers; transportation of members of armed forces to or between jobs; construction, repair or maintenance services; transportation of equipment or materials, specialized services to agricultural, extractive, or industrial establishments; maintenance of farm or industrial machinery, medical supplies and foods essential to the war effort; motorcycles used to the war or messenger service. A three-day period will be designated soon during which all car owners will register.

WILL FLOYD COUNTY FAIL?

NEVER yet behind in its War Bond quota, one of the most patriotic counties in the nation when the call came for young men to fight in their country's battles, Floyd county nevertheless may fail to reach the quota assigned it in the nationwide endeavor to supply war production plants the scrap metals and rubber they must have if they are to keep working.

Disturbing? If this gloomy prediction does not disturb you, read no further.

Floyd county will fail of reaching its scrap quota—while others are surpassing theirs—unless those patriotic school children, teachers and a relatively few adults in other walks of life who have been working are given more help by the rest of us.

Floyd county's farms cannot produce the scrap necessary to reach the quota of more than five millions of pounds we set out to reach. Floyd's farms are not mechanized; the cast-off farm machinery on them is a pitiful mite in the face of this mountain-sized quota.

Then, if the county is to hold up its head along with those others "going over the top" in this all-important drive, industry and industrial centers must provide a large, perhaps the larger, portion of the more than five million pounds which is our goal.

Underground, in a score or more mines, in old, deserted workings, are tons of iron and steel that are needed to bring the scrap weight total from Floyd county above the quota. Getting it out within the next ten days is, however, a big job.

Unless the immediate help of miners is given, the scrap drive will fall short of its objective. The help of the miners is particularly needed, because they know their way about these mines of ours.

With the help of owners of sources of scrap willingly, patriotically given, the miners can save the situation.

But whether all of us help or not, whether we co-operate with those who are working in this patriotic undertaking, whether or not Floyd county gets only half way up the long climb to the five-million-pound mark—this scrap drive has not been a failure. You can't mark down as a failure the work of thousands of children, pulling and tugging at rough iron and steel too heavy for their young muscles. For theirs is the victory spirit, a spirit all America needs to win this war.

Even now the schools are making ready for another scrap drive. The children know they will not be able to gather the four millions of pounds necessary to bring the total above the five-million figure—but they're itching to have another go at it, anyway.

BRIAR BUCK'S SCRATCHES

(The views expressed herein are those of the writer and not necessarily those of The Times.)

IS IT, OR AIN'T IT (EXCLUSIVE)?

I have just read Mrs. Wm. J. Ford's letter to the editor, in the October 18 issue of THE TIMES. It is thrice, pathetic, even great. Her attitude is friendly, hopeful and fair.

If the Woman's Club, the Red Cross, the missionary workers and the P.-T.-A. of Wayland are for officials and bosses' wives only, as could vote or not. But we will just trust every woman in the county and aren't worthy of their names and are for ourselves. Betty and Jim shouldn't be regarded as an asset to any community.

However, if Mrs. Ford's attitude goodly is based on misunderstanding which I hope is the case, then it is the duty of every member of the aforementioned organizations to erase this and create a new one. Mrs. Wm. J. Ford, a Juniper Creek, Ky. resident, is a member of the P.-T.-A. at Wayland, Va., attended the week-end dances at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., Oct. 18.

THAT KAISER MAN

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (In The Courier-Journal)

SO Mr. Henry J. Kaiser heard there was unemployment in New York. He sent a man named Murphy into the big city, Mr. Murphy rented a store room on Fourth avenue, and said loudly that he was willing to hire 20,000 men to go to the West Coast and build ships. Five men showed up in the first half-hour, and the next day there were 10. By mid-afternoon there were long lines of New Yorkers trailing from the store room. Hired Tuesday, first train Friday, all aboard.

In our card-index civilization, this way of doing business seems almost illegal. In fact after a day government agencies took the hiring job away from "Mr. Kaiser" to "restore order."

For there is a branch of the United States Employment Service in New York, and a regional office of the War Manpower Commission. Mr. Kaiser had neglected to tell either agency of his plans. Though I don't know everybody connected with both outfits, I must put it on the record that for an entire day New York snickered at the go-by he had given them. Men went about nudging each other and saying: "Look, if you want to hire somebody, just hire them," as if they had seen a great marvel.

THIS IS the same Henry J. Kaiser who is building himself a steel mill on the West coast. When, recently, he needed 250 tons of steel, anchor bolts stock to finish his plant, and found that it would take him four to eight months to get it in the official manner, he bought it with both ends out. He is under legal charges as a result, accused of being a "scrofflaw" and indulging in "black market operations." The 250 tons, Mr. Kaiser explains, will put his plant into operation sooner, and ultimately save the country 200,000 tons.

Now, if you look at all this carefully, you will see revealed one of the secrets of the Kaiser method. When he needs steel, he goes where steel is, and buys it. When he needs labor, he remembers he has read in the papers that New York is suffering from unemployment, and he goes to New York. He goes to the steel, and he goes to the labor. All this resembles Mr. Kaiser's previous startling contribution to current thought, which is that if you need cargo planes, the way to get them is to build them.

Washington has been set on edge by that idea for two months now, considers it fantastic, but is sure there must be some other way. I cannot quite understand Mr. Kaiser, a mysterious man who believes the thing to do when you're hungry is to eat, and when you're sleepy, to go to bed. These novel notions of his are making a lot of trouble. One could sense a certain tartness in the air at the Manpower Commission offices, which has been set up to force labor to work, by gosh, if necessary, and looked out the window to see labor waving good-bye on its way to Oregon. Somebody had forgotten to offer it a job before arranging plans to compel it to toil.

I think I've said before that we don't need spectacularly bright ideas to fight and win this war. The government knew of the existence of the 250 tons of steel which Kaiser bought from that Cleveland warehouse, or it should have known. All it had to do was to have a look into all warehouses, and seize the steel, and send it where needed, a brilliant conception, but just a useful idea, dull as ditch-water. The government has known about New York's idle, too, knew about them before Mr. Kaiser did. All it had to do was count heads, give out railroad tickets, and send the men where needed, an unimpaired little enterprise, which could have been put in the hands of any decent, average man, but most useful toward winning the war.

WET the search for the bright idea continues, such as our talk about needing 40,000,000 more tons of steel than exist, coupled with our transparent unwillingness to go into the warehouses and seize unused steel which does exist, a pedestrian job whose only virtue is it might help us win the war.

Or take the dull little idea of making sure that our factories don't turn down negro workers; I know that's not nearly so fascinating as registering every negro in the country and finding some transferable ones, but I do hope we don't compel people to work where they don't want to, before we have compelled employers to stop turning down those who want to.

Floyd County Goes To War

Where Floyd Counties in Armed Forces Are, What They're Doing Told

David Marrs, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David Marrs, of Austin, Mo., is enrolled in an aviation cadet in the huge army air forces pre-flight school for pilots at Maxwell Field, located on the outskirts of Montgomery, capital of Alabama.

At Maxwell Field Cadet Marrs will receive nine weeks of intensive military, physical and academic training preparatory to beginning his actual flight instruction at one of the many primary flying schools located in the southwest. Army air forces cadets, Cadet Marrs is a graduate of Martin high school and was a student at the University of Kentucky before he entered the army. Nov. 15, 1941, he served with the 1st aviation cadet in the army air forces at Camp Wheeler, Georgia. He began his preparatory flight course at Maxwell field on Sept. 30.

Glenn E. Hayes, son of Mrs. Rebecca Hayes, of Langley, Va., was promoted to the rank of sergeant to staff sergeant. It is announced by Col. R. E. L. Chouteau, commanding officer of the army air force basic flying school.

Sgt. Hayes joined the air forces in July, 1940, and is now an airplane mechanic at Bainbridge Field, a military flying school. He served with the army air forces training center.

Private Combs, however, two weeks ahead of Mr. Allen, since the two were under the jurisdiction of different draft boards. So, to keep up with the army, Mr. Combs was transferred to the 1st aviation cadet in the army air forces at Maxwell field on the same day Allen was inducted at Huntington, Va. The latter departure was a little later than the former. A few days later, all of this seemed unending, since Combs was hustled off to Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., leaving Allen at Fort Thomas. But now comes word from Fort Thomas that Private Allen also has been transferred to the same camp.

A technician in the air corps at Dallas, Texas, is Earl Donald McCown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hueysville.

James Harper, formerly of Smackey Bottom, was here last week getting birth certificate papers for himself, his wife and son, James, Jr. The boy was born in the county, but were cut off on account of no birth certificates.

Bayard and Teamon Combs, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Teamon Combs, are visiting homelets last week-end. The boys are attending Berea College.

Alvin Hutton and Curtis Handshoe left Friday for Fort Thomas, Ky., to enter the army.

P. P. Hays has had "Old Red," his foxhound, tied up for over a week and the dog has barked over half the time. Capt. Craft says P. P. must either feed him or turn him loose.

Several of the boys and girls of this vicinity visited the high schools between Northern and Hueysville Sunday.

A report came from Handshoe last night that Ervin Coburn is very sick. He has just returned from Indiana where he was being worked.

Van Lear Man, Victim Here of Heart Disease

T. J. (Jeff) Meade, 52 years old, Van Lear miner, died here Friday night at the home of Oscar Banks, a victim of valvular heart disease.

Surviving are his widow, one daughter, 2nd Lieut. Helen Meade, army nurse at Camp Campbell, Ky., and two sons, Merle and Earl, of Van Lear.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday from the West Van Lear Christian Church and burial was made under direction of the Jones Funeral Home.

CHILD IS VICTIM

Alma Jean, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bascom Horn of Logan, died at the Martin General hospital, Thursday, last week, after a brief illness. The child had been most of the time in the grand father, Walter Horn, of Cliff, since Mrs. Horn has been in ill health for the last two years. The funeral was conducted Saturday at Logan and burial was made there under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

McCown, of McDowell. He entered the army about three months ago.

At Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., when football was recently instituted, the Sixth division training regiment had 65 men out for practice. Wrote a sports writer in a newspaper published there: "The best-looking back on the new squad is Clyde Blackburn, a fast 183-pounder. Blackburn, a son of W. M. Blackburn, Hays, and a former player on the Prestonburg baseball team, is playing football with a number of ex-collegiate grid stars.

Clay Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stephens, Prind street, Prestonburg, was recently promoted to the rank of corporal at Camp Campbell, Ky.

Ready to begin his basic training course which, when completed, will qualify him for duty with the army. Mr. Stephens was served with the 1st aviation cadet in the army air forces at Maxwell field on Sept. 30.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D. Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

THE DEATH OF THE OLD COMMUNITY

IT grew we must, even if we outgrow all we love," said Oliver Wendell Holmes. I cannot help thinking of this when I recall how the old-time, self-sufficient neighborhood has died, not violently but gradually, through changing social, economic, intellectual, and religious conditions.

As far back as I can remember, we needed very little from the outside world to make our lives complete according to the demands of the time. We grew our own food, with the exception of the few things that we could buy at the country store. Often we bartered surplus things for these groceries, receiving a tin of whatever we did not trade out at the time. By buying bolts of cloth, we had materials for our clothes, and there were even a few homespun clothes left over when I was very little. We made our own soap, loam mills ground our corn and had formerly ground our wheat, and the blacksmith did all of our necessary repair jobs. The small country churches were all we had and were attended by most of the people of whatever faith. The one-room schoolhouse, the most democratic thing in the world, dispensed learning through the grades and with a smattering of high school. We lived, worked, ate, worshipped, married and died in a small area, learning of the big outside world only through books and an occasional pack peddler or clock tinker who came in.

The manner of this change, so slowly that probably few of us could remember when the change really set in. I do recall how I helped put up the first wire fence of the neighborhood, just as I had previously been present at the making of the first paling fence, that is, the one made with wire, for pallings for yards were old. The mail which used to come twice a week and then three times suddenly changed to a daily schedule. That is, the taking of a daily paper, once some time ago, has now become a proud of our twice-a-week St. Louis Republic with its news a bit stale by present-day standards when it arrived. When I was almost grown, I helped put up the first telephone line in our area and was introduced to that excellent country institution that still survives, the party line. By 1908 or thereabouts an automobile actually negotiated the roads between us and the county seat, but I had been gone from finally two years and was not the taking of a daily paper, once some time ago, has now become a proud of our twice-a-week St. Louis Republic with its news a bit stale by present-day standards when it arrived. ANDREW MAY FACING DEFEAT

W. C. Bailey, our Frankfort correspondent, who does a Sunday article for Kentucky readers of the News-Sentinel, reports the striking news that Andrew Jackson May, the Seventh District Congressman, is threatened with defeat by Dr. Elmer G. Gabbard, president of Witherspoon College and a former pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in Knoxville. Dr. Gabbard has the Republican organization in that once strongly Republican district functioning to the maximum. And at Cincinnati last week before the United Mine Workers' convention, John L. Lewis personally called on Mr. May's defeat. In fact, Lewis' vote in the county was the deciding vote in the election.

We have previously taken exception to the exerting of pressure by labor leaders to sway the independent voter. But we believe here that one time at least John Lewis is right.

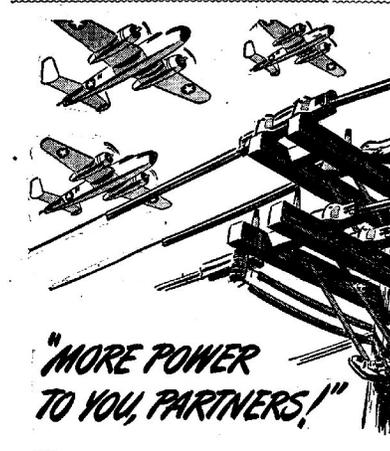

Andrew May, the TVA hater, has made himself a laughing stock by his recent utterances. He predicted the war would end early in 1943 and that it would not be necessary to draft married men or youths. As Chairman of the important Military Affairs Committee of the House, Mr. May holds an important position, but only by virtue of the silly seniority rule. His foolish remarks have been met for the Axis radio propagandists. It would be well for this country, we believe, if the voters of this district were to rid us of this inept leader in Congress.

Dr. Gabbard and Tom Raney, president, District 34, U.M.W. of A., will address the voters of Floyd county at the following places: Prestonsburg (courthouse), Monday, Oct. 26, 7 p.m.; Garrett, Tuesday, Oct. 27, 6 p.m.; Wayland, Tuesday, Oct. 27, 7 p.m.; Wheelright, Wednesday, Oct. 28, 7 p.m.; Martin, Thursday, Oct. 29, 7:30 p.m.

"MORE POWER TO YOU, PARTNERS!" Well, keep things humming long hours while you're fighting up there. We'll see it that there's plenty of electricity at every switch at the air field—and plenty of power for the production lines that are pouring out airplanes, tanks, guns, supplies and ships. That takes a lot of electric power—but we've got what it takes! We have for more power than all the Japanese—five times as much as we had in the last war! American business management is producing 7% of that flow of power. The same practical business management under public regulation that has increased electric service and decreased electric prices so much that the average American family today enjoys about the same amount of money it did 10 to 15 years ago. More power to you, partners! Once this war's won, we'll provide the power to build a better world! KENTUCKY AND WEST VIRGINIA POWER COMPANY

Carl Hancock, son of Bill Hancock, was home last week on a ten-day leave from the navy. Carl is a radio man and is studying to be a chief operator. He has not been home for two and a half years, having spent most of his time in the Canal Zone.

Pvt. Hollie Allen, son of Millard Allen, was home on a three-days' leave last week.

Pvt. Denver Robinson, son of Branch Robinson, is home this week from Tampa, Fla.

Lt. Harry Lyons, son of Ora Lyons, was home last week on a few days' leave.

Sgt. Winfred Bentley, son of Has Bentley, was home on a short leave last week. He is stationed at Spangsbury, S. C. His older brother, Allen, is "somewhere across the Pacific."

Elmer Ratliff, son of Rhoda Ratliff, was home for the first time in 11 years on a week's leave, but he made his mother happy to see him looking so well and strong.

Home Ratliff, who is stationed at St. Petersburg, Fla., was visiting his father, Jim Ratliff, and Mrs. Ratliff last week.

There are many more boys in the service from this place and if parents of these men serving their country will call Wayland 38-W and give information as to their whereabouts or obtain any other lackey written statements, we will be glad to see that their names are among the many soldiers, sailors and marines mentioned in The Floyd County Times. And they should have first place. I think this is a wonderful thing to have the boys of our county give their names and addresses, so that others may know where they are. It is a pleasure to write anything for a soldier boy or his parents. They read our paper and we should all try to put the news in it and make it interesting for them.

Raymond Rice, son of E. G. and Sarah Rice, is still in the Canal Zone. He has been there for nearly three years. Pvt. First Class Kenyon Felix, who is now stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Brady Marshall Collins has been stationed at Ft. Belvoir, S. C. with the Marines, but is now being transferred "somewhere."

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, the United States Navy is fighting the battle for freedom in the waters of the aggressors, and whereas, the United States Navy, conjomed with its famed coordinated arm, the United States Marine Corps, has established a foothold upon soil held by the enemy, and is battling heroically to extend that advantage, and

Whereas, by national tradition the debt the people of the United States owe their Navy is annually emphasized through the setting aside of one day to acclaim that branch of the armed forces;

Therefore, I, E. P. Arnold Mayor of the City of Prestonsburg, do hereby proclaim Tuesday, Oct. twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred and forty-two, as "NAVY DAY" and call upon all citizens of Prestonsburg to take part in observance of this day through the many channels open to them and to join in a salute to the United States Navy and its coordinated sea power—the Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Naval Aviation, and the Merchant Marine.

Whereunto, I have set my hand this 19 day of October, nineteen hundred and forty-two.

TOWN-WORLD

DELINQUENT, B'GOSH!
It took a lot of legal masterminding before the FBI could find an excuse under the law to join state officers in the search for Roger Touhy, Cecil 'The Owl' Baughart and those other desperadoes who escaped from Illinois state prison recently. Finally, some bright boy came up with a federal violation the fugitives had committed. They had failed to notify their draft boards of their change of address!

YE POOR EDITOR
A subscriber who keeps her subscription paid—Mrs. Wm. Hagans, Prestonsburg—handed me the following fable of unknown origin this week:

Once upon a time a male child was born. It goes without saying that he was born very young. After running the gauntlet of chicken pox, mumps, and measles, he fell in love with a school teacher old enough to have been his mother.

At the age of sixteen he started working in a print shop for a publisher who had a wooden leg and a torpid liver. Later, he reneged on his age and took a homestead in Montana. Still later, he acquired a Washington press and a shirt-tail full of type and started a newspaper. It was a flat tire. He tried farming and it didn't rain; some folks who knew him said still had confidence in him leased him a real newspaper on his own terms. The shock soon killed him.

The funeral was a honey. Most everybody was there. Slow music and everything. But after 1,200 cars had filed by the rough plug-box, they shook their heads and said: "He was a good man, but he never paid his debts."

WHO WANTS TO KEEP FLOYD COUNTY WET?
The brewers and distillers of Louisville, New York and Cincinnati along with the local liquor dealers who are making the money out of the business and are standing to spend thousands of dollars in an attempt to keep Floyd county in the clutches of the traffic by intimidation and devious tactics. IT IS THE SAME OLD SALOON OUTFIT!

DON'T BE DECEIVED
Very Little Revenue Is Lost to Floyd County
Dry Floyd county will receive her full share of the $9,137,253.20 pouring into the state's general fund from the 64 distilleries, 7 breweries, 100 wholesale liquor distributors and 5,000 beer and whiskey saloons over the state. THE ONLY STATE REVENUE PER PERSON The local fees Floyd county will lose HAS NEVER PAID FOR TAKING CARE OF THE DRUNKS. YES, FLOYD COUNTY WILL SAVE THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS BY GOING DRY.

Liquor Traffic Does Not Pay Its Own Damage
The liquor stores and beer joints of Floyd county paid the county in license fees for 1942 $1,479.94. The jail bill for the county for taking care of a host of drunks this year will cost thousands of dollars. THIS IS ONLY THE JAIL COST. THINK OF THE COURTS, ECONOMIC LOSS, WASTED MONEY IN DRINKING, HOSPITALS AND PENITENTIARIES! THE TAXPAYERS PAY. (Adv.)
