This Town-- That World

It has always been the duty of every citizen worthy of the name to support the Red Cross. Now, with the nation at war, it is a solemn patriotic duty.

SHORT QUERY Shortlisted letter this office has received in months is Pvt. W. E. Osborne's from Ft. Lewis, Washington. It reads: "Who's here from there?" We suggest our correspondent read "Floyd County Goes to War" in THE TIMES this week, if not every week.

SOFTER GARDEN AND SOFTER NOT GARDEN A Welfare Department official in answering an inquiry of an Old Age pensioner if raising a Victory Garden would jeopardize her status as a pensioner wrote the woman to the effect that it would be all right to raise such a garden just so the vegetables, etcetera, grown did not exceed half of her needs.

Which reminds us of the old-timer who bought a mule and home decided to try him out; sent his son down the road a ways with a blanket. The boy was told to jump out and shake the blanket as his father rode up on the mule. Obedient son did so. The rider did a Prince of Wales into a rock. The boy hurried to his father's side and said, "Pa, I shook it." "Yeah, son," growled the father, "I see you did. But, son, I told you to shake it. It and serrer not shake it!"

TEUB A HERO WROTE "Write a wartime slogan, one that will give the folks back home a 'kick' to work by" as well as something for the boys in the armed forces to live and die by? Here it is. It is what I learned J. Turfuro, Marine Corps pilot, wrote shortly before he was killed in action at Guadalcanal: "Always pray, not that I shall come home but that I shall have the courage to do my duty."

Say a share of mercy—contribute to the Red Cross Did you ever notice a plow point makes a fine V for Victory?

DOZEN DOGS DOCTORED County Agent Isbell and Wm. Hicks vaccinated 12 dogs against hydrophobia last Thursday. Not much news in that, eh? Well, one man owned all 12 of the dogs!

Floyd County Judge Notifies Roadhouse Operators in County

Strict enforcement of roadhouse closing hours fixed by County Judge R. E. Hill, Jr., and recently ruled legal by the Kentucky Court of Appeals, was ordered this week, effective immediately, by County Judge Hill.

County Attorney Woodrow Burchett said the Appellate Court's mandate will be put into effect Monday, March 8. "During these serious wartime roadhouses are not only unnecessary, but contribute to absenteeism and delinquency and should not be tolerated," Judge Hill declared in a prepared statement, which follows in full, addressed "To All Roadhouses": "A roadhouse, within the meaning of Section 138-026, of Kentucky Revised Statutes of 1942, includes places outside corporations, where liquor or beer is sold, or where dancing is permitted, or an electrical or 'honkytonk' are kept. "A mandate has been issued from the Court of Appeals approving the closing hours fixed by the County Court some time ago, which provided that places close all day Sunday. (See story No. 4, Page 8)

WATCH POINTS IS ADVICE

As Ration Set-Up Becomes Effective in Nation Monday

Mind your p's and q's, especially your p's, since they stand for points in the new rationing set-up on canned and dried fruits and vegetables.

First purchases were made under the new point rationing plan Monday. For a week sales of items covered by the system have been frozen in the nation's grocery stores. Housewives unfamiliar with the number of points which certain items of canned, dried foods and fruits "cost" them were in danger of exhausting their ration book capacity literally "before they knew it."

The new rationing set-up makes it necessary that housewives maintain close watch on ration stamps covering meat, coffee, shoes and canned and dried fruits and vegetables. The husband, in any event, is expected to keep up with gasoline rationing.

Readers of THE TIMES are asked to check the rationing set-up in a copy supplied by the Office of Price Administration.

In a few scattered communities of the county registration for "Watch Points" of the new Rationing Book was continued into this week, as provided by OPA. The ration book here said Wednesday that, except in cases of absolute emergency, Ration Book 1 (the Sugar-Coffee Book) will not be issued earlier than March 15.

Men Here Work As Volunteers In Making Surgical Dressings

Men, for perhaps the first time in the history of the American Red Cross, this week were preparing surgical dressings for use of U. S. army hospitals.

The men who made these dressings are members of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club. They were called upon for help last week after Mrs. Lillian Reardon, director of surgical dressing work here, had found the help of women workers wanting.

Mrs. Reardon had an idea that, if the men went to work making these dressings to meet the huge quota allocated Floyd county, the women would be put to shame and would take over from that point. Now, she is not certain if the men couldn't do the job better than the women.

Volunteer Army, 3,000,000 Strong, Serves Nation Through Red Cross

In cities and towns throughout the U.S., 3,000 Red Cross volunteers are contributing to the nation's war effort. Upper left, a Red Cross Motor Corps member adjusts the engine of her car. Right, complete confidence in this nurse's aide is registered by the infant she holds. Below, women like these last year produced $20,000,000 surgical dressings for the armed forces.

At least a small part of the need of the armed forces for typewriters is being met by Commerce departments of Floyd county high schools. County Superintendent Town Hall said this week.

Every high school yet called upon by the War Production Board for typewriters has given its quota of machines manufactured since 1935, he said. All are to be delivered after the close of the current school term, and will be paid for by the federal government. Prices to be allowed for used typewriters will be the factory trade-in allowance as of Feb. 1, 1941.

The need for typewriters remains great, and business firms and citizens in every walk of life are asked to contact the War Production Board if they have typewriters manufactured after 1935 which they might sell.

See Coupon on page 7. Wheelwright high school's Commerce department pledged seven typewriters for delivery at end of the 1942-43 term. Marvin, five, McDowell, four, Prestonsburg, three, Maytown, one, Wayland and Garrett.

See story No. 2, Page 8. Woodrow Meade, who was recently accused of burning the home and barn of Mrs. Mary Bays Miller on Abbott Creek, was returned Tuesday from the Floyd county jail by military police to Indian Town Camp, Pa., where he will face charges of army desertion.

Affidavits of citizens of the Abbott Creek section where Mrs. Miller lived are circumstantial evidence to the accusation that the deserter burned the home, and two youths stated that he threatened to do so after Mrs. Miller had refused him lodging, but county officials doubted that evidence at hand was sufficient to gain a conviction.

Meade was a two-time deserter and sold officers here that he had deserted while serving a guardhouse term for an earlier desertion. Mrs. Miller, widowed mother of seven, was not only left homeless by the fire, but all her belongings except a mule and a cow were destroyed.

Walter J. Hasbuhl, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Kentucky, will speak at the Methodist Church here at 2:30 p.m. March 29. Mr. Hasbuhl urges that pastors of all churches in the county attend, as well as other ministers throughout the county, as well as all other interested persons.

The story of one man's triumph over physical handicaps was told here this week by Mayo Vocational School officials in a discussion of the rehabilitation program conducted at the Painsville school to fit handicapped men and women for useful occupations in connection with the war effort.

William Earl Stephens, 23, of Evelyn, Lee county, has no hands. When he was 13 he was terribly burned; his left arm is off at the shoulder, his right, above the wrist. Yet he is taking a welding course at the Painsville school by night, checks tools by day to earn $40 a month, and antedotes his instructors by his facility. A metal hook fashioned by the young man himself serves for a right hand. He drives an automobile or truck through a hole in the ground, using his pen or pencil in the crook of his elbow, he writes a fine hand—"better handwriting," declared J. M. Taylor, head of the school, "than I can produce."

In fact, declared a Mayo official, there aren't many things young Stephens can't do. He was one of a group of 11 who went to Lexington recently to take a test. His was the highest grade of the 11.

John Mullins, of Moxie, Knott county, crippled by paralysis, is in training at Painsville under the rehabilitation program. If a leg is replaced, he will be able to do an artificial leg, at government expense. Men in 4F draft classification have in several places been employed. At Pikeville a partially blind boy was hired Friday as a packer, Willard Mullett, Abbott Creek, a rehabilitation program trainee, was employed this week.

Here this week, Bryant G. Davis, civil service representative, hired 55 of 90 persons interviewed for war jobs at Dayton, O. Mrs. Minerva Spradlin of the Prestonsburg NYA Vocational School said, "It was the best bunch I have interviewed."

FIRE ORIGIN IS UNKNOWN EARLY TODAY

Loss May Be As High As $50,000, Hall Discloses Here

Lackey's 10-room brick school building was destroyed by fire Wednesday night, County Superintendent Town Hall was notified early this morning.

Preparing to leave for an inspection of the property, Mr. Hall said that origin of the blaze was unknown, except for the statement of the janitor, Mrs. Patton, who was quoted as telling Miss Geraldine Allen, principal of the school, that she had forgotten to turn off the gas stove in the principal's office Wednesday evening. The building was heated by gas stoves.

The two-story structure was erected in 1930 on a contractor's bid of $17,777. The building and its contents were insured for $28,000. Superintendent Hall said. He added that he doubted if the loss could be replaced for $50,000.

Lackey citizens were unaware of the blaze, it was reported here, till the roof was collapsing. The school, which employs seven teachers, has an average attendance of 150. It had been in session six and a half months, and two more weeks of school must be provided the students, Superintendent Hall said, to meet state requirements. Either the nearby gymnasium will be used for school purposes or students will be transported to other schools.

Sunday gasoline service for motorists in or visiting Prestonsburg will be suspended this week as the town's service stations enter an agreement whereby they will alternate in closing one day during the week and remaining open on Sunday.

The service, it was explained, is being provided in accordance with OPA regulations. Citizens motorists are asked to make other arrangements for their weekend accommodations here.

Collins Service Station will be open Sunday, March 7, on Street. The Service Station will be open in the order following: E. C. Kentucky Service Station, E. C. Broadway Service, Gibson Service Station, Major Service Station, Smith's Gulf Service, Greenwald Service, Garage, Goshel Service Station, M. P. Hughes Service, Garage, T. E. Neeley's Service Station.

Folk's working six days a week, with only one day left for motorist, and those profiting as well in an emergency in case of illness and the like are entitled to service on Sunday, and so we decided to arrange a special one-day service for the group said Wednesday.

Floyd Soldier Wounded In North Africa, Feb. 1

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Kendrick of Emma, were notified this week by the War Department that their son, Pfc. Billie E. Kendrick, 21, had been seriously wounded in action in North Africa, Feb. 1.

No other details of the Floyd soldier's condition or whereabouts were made available. When last heard from by relatives, he was connected with an infantry division.

Here this week from Betsy Layne, Hawk James reported he had learned that his son, Luther James, reported missing by the War Department in Mar., 1942, is now a prisoner of war of the Japanese. He and "Bud" Reynolds, a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Reynolds, of Martin, were reported missing at the same time. Both were on Corregidor and, unfortunately, it is held possible that both may have become Japanese prisoners.

At the same time, the Board ordered that the audit of its financial affairs for the 1941-42 school year be published, according to law, in THE TIMES. The audit will appear in this newspaper next week.

General fund of the budget adopted amounts to $412,128, broken down into $203,504 state per capita tax due the county.

The budget provides for payment this year of the amount unpaid from last year's funds on approximately $30,000 worth of 6 per cent warrants issued between 1930 and 1935 by previous school administrators and now held by the two Prestonsburg banks. The budget adopted Tuesday also provides for an expenditure of $20,000 on repair and improvement of rural schools, as compared with the $4,000 set aside for that purpose last year.

Main portion of the budget, the general fund of $412,128, broken down into specific items, follows: General control, $13,000; instruction (including salaries of all high school teachers and teachers of other schools for a period of longer than seven months), $288,504; operating school plants, $6,000; maintenance (including rural school auxiliary), $20,000; insurance, $6,000; rent, $2,000.

To Stop Fires In Woods and Fields

A lot of destructive fires start in March and April, when farmers are cleaning up fields. Concerning the burning of brush, W. E. Jackson, of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, makes the following points in a leaflet called "Stop Fires in Woods and Fields."

For the positive relief of irritating nasal congestion, irritation, sneezing, sniffing, and watery eyes—the pollen of Autumn Farmacia, take BUD-PAK. A real medicine to attack nasal tissues, relieve congestion, and soothe the system. With vital BUDS and CALORINE. Take BUD-PAK for two days, if not 100% satisfied get your money back. HUGHES DRUG STORE Prestonsburg, Ky.

Put brush in small piles at a safe distance from woods and fences. Pile a clean strip all around the field wide enough to keep the fire from getting out of control. For an emergency have axes, axes, shovels and water ready. Call neighbors if needed. Test the wind by firing a small pile. Start the brush pile on the uphill side of the field. Pile only as much as you can pile at one time as can be controlled. Keep one man on the job until every spark is out. Burn after 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the air moisture is increasing. Don't burn in a strong wind. Be particularly careful during the first months of March, April, October and November, when there are strong winds and much dry matter on the ground. BUY WAR BONDS!

A GOOD WORD —IN BAD COMPANY—

By the REV. W. B. GARRIOTT, Pastor, Prestonsburg Methodist Church

"Obedience is better than sacrifice." (Old King's) chapter, is interesting reading). To come to God is not enough. "Ye call me Lord and Master, and do not the things which I say," is the accusation Jesus brought against those who had professed to be his followers. Is it not a fact that we have made religion mean so little that the people do not want it? The forerunner of Jesus preached repentance with such effect that people from all of the surrounding countries came to hear his message. Jesus followed up what John had said by preaching repentance. "Bring forth therefore fruits meet for repentance." "Repent for the kingdom of heaven is at hand."

Safety Improvements Suggested At Floyd Mine by Inspectors

Pointing out further steps that should be taken for the safety of employees, John J. Fries and Albin V. Paull, federal coal mine inspectors, in a report to Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes commended the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company at David on several features. These commendable features included adequate ventilation, use of permissible explosives for blasting coal, use of electric cap lamps, enforcement of the no-smoking rule underground, an insulated car to haul explosives into the mine, the wearing of protective hats and safety shoes by all employees, efforts of the management to protect the mine from the possible liberation of explosive gases and the mine's safety-promotion organization. Haulage operations were responsible for one death and nearly half of the disabling injuries in the mine during the first half of 1942. Dr. R. R. Sayers, director of the Bureau of Mines, said in quoting from the formal inspection report. "The report offered recommendations for safer haulage, more frequent roof-testing, better control of coal dust, and other changes designed to correct hazards which were observed by the two Bureau representatives during a routine inspection on July 1-8, 1942. The completely-mechanized mine employs 239 men and produces about 2,200 tons of coal daily from a 38-inch bed, the inspectors were informed. The 1941 output was about 333,000 tons, while approximately 248,000 tons were mined in the first six months of 1942. The mine was opened in June, 1941. Since company figures showed that haulage conditions among the 21 lost-time accidents reported for the first half of 1942, the inspectors urged the management and employees to correct transportation hazards which were intensified in this mine by low roof and insufficient haulage roads. Because of the low roof, men were required to lie down in cars when riding man-trips, the report said. "If a reasonable amount of roof were 'brushed' (removed), along the haulageways," the inspectors said, "conditions would be much safer for transporting men and for the haulage crews and other employees who have regular duties in the haulageways." They noted with approval that slate and other obstructions were being removed from the haulageways during the inspection. They stated that adequate clearance be maintained in the future. For additional protection against men being squeezed against the sides of cars by moving equipment, the report recommended the establishment of shelter holes at regular intervals along the roads. "The present practice, which should be abandoned, the inspectors listed the following: men jumping on and off moving trips, excessive 'backing up' of locomotives, failure of brakemen to use signal whistles to control movement of cars."

When Naaman went to the prophet Elisha to be healed of his leprosy, he took with him ten talents of silver, six thousand pieces of gold and ten changes of raiment. This was a large amount of money and many expensive clothes, but neither of these could heal him. He stood high in the political world and in the army, for he had a letter from his king to the king of Israel. His prestige could not heal him. The trip to see the man of God was rather disappointing, for he expected to go in grand style, pay the price in money, receive healing and return. If we are to honor God we must humble ourselves and in obedience and faith accept what he offers. Elisha did not so much as come out to see Naaman. You can imagine how his pride was hurt. Elisha sent his messenger, saying, "Go wash in the Jordan seven times and thy flesh shall come again to thee, and thou shalt be clean." There was no healing power in the waters of the Jordan any more than there was healing in the waters of the Abana or the Parpar of Damascus. Money was of no avail, for the prophet refused both the money and the raiment. There was only one way—"Go wash in the Jordan seven times." No amount of complaining, being offended because the prophet did not show him the proper consideration or pray as he wanted it done, could bring the healing. If he had not obeyed he would have never received the healing. We want our way, but God said in his word,

Other recommendations to promote health and safety in this mine proposed various permissible explosives instead of dynamite for blasting rock, using lemniscate fracture units for filling multiple shock, better installation of cables and power wires, equipping electrical equipment with fuses, requiring workers to wear protective goggles when their eyes are exposed to hazards, and training all workers in first-aid course and a related group in mine-rescue work. The Bureau was informed that the management had been so completely satisfied with recommendations by drawing plans to protect workers from the mine's gas, and were to close to the mine parallel and were fire hazards, recommendations for first-aid and mine-rescue training in the near future, mount underground battery charging station to several parts of surface machinery. The inspectors commended favorably upon the mine's safety-promotion organization which included a full-time safety engineer, monthly meetings for officials to discuss accidents and safety, regular maintenance of haulage boards. They suggested that workers be invited to meet with the officials at the monthly safety meetings to discuss safety. The use of much permissible-type electrical wiring and sparking in the haulage areas was commended in the report. However, the inspectors found the inspection plates loose on several pieces of equipment thereby nullifying the permissibility protection. They urged that all permissible equipment be maintained in a permissible condition.

THERE is a way to keep your golf game going to improve your play, to be a better golfer after the war is over and still not encroach in any way upon any part of the war effort...

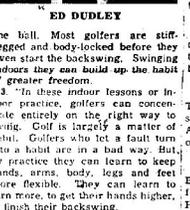

After all, there will someday be a peace—and when peace returns golf with all other sports will come back with a tidal-wave effect that will dwarf the rush after the last war.

We look this matter up with Ed Dudley, president of the Professional Golfers' association, known as the PGA.

Tips From the Top

Here are a few suggestions from Ed Dudley, one of the finest swingers golf has ever known—

1. "How many golfers think in terms of results, in place of correct swings. They are packed with tension because they haven't a good swing and they know it. They at least improve their swing indoors."

the ball. Most golfers are stiff-legged and body-locked before they even start the backswing. Swinging indoors they can build up the habit of greater freedom.

The Case of Bobby Jones

"Tension, of course, is the great curse of golf. Movement alone can check tension. Bobby Jones is the only golfer I ever saw who kept in motion as he started to address the ball. He was never locked. I have never seen a golfer who kept the ball as the vast majority do. Either his feet or hand were in some form of motion. Golfers, through indoor practice can work over this feature...

Interesting If Work

"This is all interesting work," Dudley continued, "because golf is about 75 per cent mental. In golf you are not playing against an opponent. Your main opponent is yourself. You keep trying to make yourself do things that seem comparatively easy—such as smooth swinging, keeping your head steady. Each person is more interested in himself than in anyone else. The golfer usually beats himself. And he knows that. No opponent can ever keep you from making a two, a three or a four."

Someone once gave the reason for Willie Hopper's great record. The answer was this—the others played Hoppe-Hoppe played billiards. Hundreds of thousands of golfers know what to do—but they won't do it often enough.

"They all know they should take a comfortable stance, with a comfortable grip. They know they should never hurry the backswing, or hurry the downswing. They know they should keep their eyes steady. Their minds on the target they are swinging at. Never mind the bunkers and the ponds on ahead."

(The views expressed herein are those of the writer and not necessarily those of this newspaper.)

Well, after all, this canned food rationing has its good points—it will save a lot of fellows from having a "cold storage stomach" from eating out of cans.

Rationing will sure hurt Garrett Tackett, for he ate a can of pork and beans every day.

And a lot of fellows will miss their six cans of tomato juice every Monday morning.

Well, we've heard of man being mistaken for almost everything, but it remained for Mack Hull to be mistaken for a mule. While driving up the creek Green Elliot was admiring a young mule over on the hill and Lawrence Mende, glancing in that direction, didn't see the mule but saw Mack going to work. He said, "Green, that's not a mule—that's Mack Hull."

Gas rationing has sure cut down on Chub's trips. He just took one trip and now can't get any more gas till March 22.

Town-World was absolutely right. There is no danger of the Congressional building being bombed by the Axis—they don't want to hurt any of the isolationists.

Just received a letter from Pfc. Bernard Howell—sole Rehimin— from somewhere across the pond. He sez that his outfit is now not only shouldering the gun but is also buying War Bonds. I thought that made a lot of fellows look sick that quit buying bonds when the victory tax came on. More power, Lightnin'! Send me an "Axis-bar." It's a good thing I was writing "Axis-bar," not saying it.

The biggest blow to strike the miners in the rationing business was when they started rationing "miners' strawberries." Pinto beans are the "stuff of life" to us miners. I'll admit that I didn't like them until about the ten-thousandth meal. Anyway, at eight points per pound it's plenty of ammunition. I guess.

A HOUSE IN ORDER

When personal budgets don't balance, there results a telling setback to future financial plans. Just as you must keep your house in order, so must the bank that you may live and work free from economic worries. It is the same principle on a slightly larger scale. We at the FIRST NATIONAL BANK realize that this nation faces post-war readjustments. For that reason we re-affirm our pledge of a House in Order. Maintenance of the quality of our assets, protection of our resources, and the practice of our doctrine to WORK and SAVE.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"You know, Judge, I was thinking. It just don't seem fair, some counties having these Local Option elections while our boys are not here to vote for what they want."

"I think you're right, Sam. It's worse than unfair. It's the same kind of thing we fought our Revolutionary War to prevent. Legislation without representation." Yet here they're voting whether or not to have legal control and sale of alcoholic beverages—when just about ten percent of our male population can't protest about it, because they're away in the Service."

"Judge, I'm against that sort of thing, and against the kind of people who try to put that sort of thing over on us. To me it seems just plain un-American to dictate to people—and most especially to do it behind people's backs, when they can't even wear a word against it."

beans, peas and turniplogs. This brings close to 86 per cent of the nation's food stuffs under price curbs.

The average person spent $141 for food in 1940. Of this sum $20.50 went for fresh and dried fruits and vegetables.

The WPB has cut the builders' finishing hardware items that are allowed to be manufactured from 3,500 to 2,000 articles. Before Dec. 9 last year about 27,000 were being manufactured.

The WPB is working on a plan by which state and local governments will be assured of equipment to maintain streets and highways for the duration of the war.

Americans won't be short of matches. The WPB has ordered makers to ship 1.36 to 1.4 of an inch from the nearly 500,000,000 matches which will be produced this year. This will save about 380 carloads of lumber.

A reduction of about 75 per cent in the number of fabrics for men's suits and children's knit underwear has been ordered. The number of models also has been restricted.

The OPA has extended eligibility lists for rationing of all new passenger automobiles, and liberalized the rules for rationing of convertibles, 1941 models, and cars in high-priced brackets.

Prevailing prices for used bicycles will be substantially reduced by a coming WPB order.

Not a single OPA restriction is going to take one minute longer than necessary. Prentiss M. Brown, OPA administrator, said last week in announcing the restrictions which wish to have their tires re-capped with reclaimed rubber no longer have to apply to their War Price and Rationing Boards for permission.

The OPA has reiterated that it would continue grade labeling of the 1943 pack of canned fruits and vegetables.

OPA is stepping up its war on the black market in meat.

Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, will bring a series of weekly 15-minute broadcasts on Friday, March 12, from 10:45 to 11 p.m. Eastern War Time. These will be carried by NBC, CBS and the Blue networks, and will be re-broadcast each Saturday at 4 p.m. by the Mutual Broadcasting Company. The program will carry news which has not already been available to newspapers, but will attempt to summarize and clarify important war developments.

Rationing of processed foods to restaurants, hotels and other eating establishments on a basis designed to restrict consumption by their patrons on approximately the same basis that the individual is restricted in his home, has been announced by OPA. Their allotments of processed foods will be based on a maximum allowance of 0.6 of a ration point for each person served during December 1942. This compares with slightly over .25 of a ration point per meal in the case of individual holders of War Ration Book Two.

With a limited group of play shoes being released from rationing, along with certain other types not generally used for street wear, the OPA has appealed to consumers to limit the purchases of these shoes to one pair per person.

Housewives again will buy sugar in the familiar 5-pound sacks and boxes when ever stamp No. 12 becomes valid March 12. However, the five pounds must last from that date until the end of May—a period of 14 weeks.

Farmers may obtain gasoline for their tractors, engines and other non-highway equipment for a period of six months instead of three months under a change in rationing regulations.

Re-claimed rubber passenger car tires—so-called "war" tires—which are being made in limited quantity, have been reserved for needed replacement on cars with a mileage ration of more than 560 a month.

You may not give away ration stamps of rationed food, but you may give away up to 50 square of home-canned foods, jams and jellies are not rationed.

VICTORY GARDENS FOR FLOYD COUNTY

By S. L. ISBELL
Floyd County Agent

The present rationing of canned foods has brought home to us very forcibly the problem of procuring our own food supply and also the necessity of growing a supply for home canning this summer for next winter's use. The story of the soil and the crops must happen in every family in Floyd County this year, except we must all be ants and none of us criminals, who sang all summer and had nothing to eat when winter came.

John S. Gardner, general specialist, University of Kentucky, estimates that for a family of five, one-third of an acre or a plot of ground approximately 100x15 will take care of all the vegetables needed for a family of this size. Good cultivation and fertilization is practiced, and, of course, the vegetables protected from insect injury and weeds. Present government reports indicate that there will be an adequate supply of fertilizer and garden seeds for all Victory Gardeners. It is especially important that we get our gardens started early (the first two weeks in March, if possible) as this will permit us to get a few freeze, which help improve the soil conditions. Good manure or barnyard manure should be used on the garden, if at all possible. If not available, complete fertilizer should be used at the rate of 400 pounds per acre. Even if barnyard manure is available, a complete fertilizer should be used with Irish potatoes at the rate of one pound of fertilizer to each pound of seed.

Victory Gardens of the above size should contain peas, onions, mustard greens, cabbage, beets, carrots, bunch beans, tomatoes, sweet corn, turnips, radishes, lettuce, sweet potatoes and Irish potatoes. This will give a wide variety of nutritious foods and there will be vegetables that can be readily stored or canned for winter use. All of our farm families are planning to grow bigger and better gardens this year and also our non-farm families are planning Victory Gardens this year as is shown by the large number of requests for information, which the agent has received recently.

During the worst depression years when the coal miners at Weeksbury were partially unemployed, more than 85 per cent of the families had excellent gardens and this also happened in most of the other mining communities. This year the shortage is in food and it is expected that all those mining communities will do even a better job of raising their own food than they did in those depression years.

The agent has sufficient garden leaflets for every farm and non-farm family in the county and is making plans to have one leaflet in the hands of every Victory Gardener this month.

Poultry producers in Jessamine county are planning a big increase in flocks this year. Many take pride in having fyers the year around.

A quiz program concerning 4-H club work and personalities in Christian county was an interesting part of the annual 4-H club banquet. The quiz was held in the evening and was a very interesting feature. The total number of correct answers was approximately 100,000,000 points less than 1942's record production.

The OPA has allowed a seven-day over-lap period for the first and second period food stamps. Stamps A, B and C will be valid through March 31 and the second period stamps will be valid from March 25 through April 30.

RATIONING CALENDAR
Processed Food Stamps A, B and C valid through March 31; Coffee Stamp 25 good for 1 pound through March 31; Sugar Stamp 11 good for 3 pounds through March 15; Shoes Stamp 11 good for 1 pair through June 15; Gasoline No. 4 stamps in A-book good through March 31. The A-book holders must have tires inspected by March 31; deadline for B-C and T-book holders was last Sunday.

Living costs of city workers increased 9.2 per cent in January, the smallest monthly advance since February, 1941.

Copper scrap is the No. 1 salvage problem of 1943, although iron and steel scrap collection must be maintained at high levels.

The OPA has set a price ceiling of $1.85 per bushel on top grades of soybeans. This figure is slightly above recent transactions on the cash market.

Daily and weekly newspapers of your OPA region did an outstanding job in helping tell you about the registration for point rationing.

North Africa has yielded 50,000 tons of raw materials to the United States and Great Britain. Materials include manganese, cobalt, iron, tarbark, red squill and phosphate rock.

New York Heartbeat

The Wireless: Eric Severid, analyzing the news of the night, got pretty bold. He mentioned that the British were more outspoken than we are—more articulate. He thought that the articulate Britons would stay mum if they found as much Fascism creeping into its of fiscal places as goes on over here. Wm. Shier also got tough—wanted to know how come that Edgar Mower, one of our best Fascist-haters, couldn't get a passport to North Africa.

The Magic Lantern: "The Siege of Leningrad" is reminiscent to the heroism and courage of the Russians—and, better yet, plenty of proof that the Nazis blundered when they lacked the Soviet Union. It makes it like that can't be licked with armies. The facts of how the Nazis failed to take Leningrad even though they had a better army, more hunger, disease and suffering on their side are familiar. But the facts don't show up in another Andy Hardy installment, called "Andy Hardy's Double Day" which has a very accurate account of Andy and his lady friends, corner than an Iowa farm, but what of it? The West Coast is the agent of the world in the east, is another supposed to be heading for burials.

The Magazines: Clifton Fadiman has found a small title for the war. He has mounded it Germany's First Against the East. It would look good in the memos of the peace "angers." The New Republic's "scraper" figures it out that Hitler isn't really dead, but only wishes he were. Just how tough a job Elmer Davis underlook when he headed the OWI is described in Harper's by Michael Barroo and Joseph P. Dorn. He has succeeded admirably, they write, in providing the agent with the best information. The ironical part of it is, the authors, both employed in Washington, chose to buy-line the piece with personality. You have to like C. B. DeMille for his shrug-off of the critics' opinions of his super-colossal "The Sign of the Cross." A. M. Miller in the SEP. "Every time I make a picture, the critics' estimation of the public drops another ten degrees." "It was established in the SEP that a good tongue-in-the-cheek version of H. Wood's headcases under rationing. "Apparently movietown is worried that it might have to live normal, ordinary lives." Recommended: Jimmy Young's "Japan's Last Week" and Howard Brubaker in The New Yorker. "It is reported that 'Puzat' Hanstangl, once Hitler's personal piano player, is giving our State Department helpful hints. Mr. Hull would naturally like to know just what kind of music Adolf cannot face."

Men of a First-Nighter:
John Barrymore was one of the great actors who had a mind just as alert as those of his severest critics. Some of his admirers enjoy recalling the time a famed actress, sitting down front, asked him throughout his performance... Her audible remarks to her companion distracted the audience's complete attention, when she wasn't demonstrating some point by waving her arms... Barrymore waited until the play ended to answer her. In a brief curtain talk he mentioned that a famed actress had honored him by attending the play... "Please stand up, if you would, and take a bow"... Which she did... Then he bowed to her and fang'd: "I want to thank you for co-starring with me this evening."

This one has been pinned on many pulp persons, but when Alexander Woolcott was tipping the scales in the 30's he liked telling it on himself... Two actors, who had suffered from the Atlantic City surf... "Let's go swimming," said one... "I don't know," asked the other... "Woodie's using the ocean."

Mark Twain was once guest of honor at an opera by-party given by a duvager... She was talkative throughout the performance, when to Twain's irritation... When the opera was almost over she quipped: "I so want you to be with us Friday. Mr. Twain, I'm certain you will like the opera with a great favorite of mine, Tosca!" Twain coldly replied: "I never heard you in THAT!"

Quotation Marks-manship: Ed Murrow: Rationing means that everyone has bread before anyone has a car. O. H. Brown: Their angry eyes met, each containing an invisible clenched fist... Punch: For three-quarters of an hour he lay awake all night... H. Wood: Trouble had scribbled its autograph all over her face... H. Wood: Oh, he had the good clothes when the only fan we had to worry about was rheumatism... Wm. O'Brien: He felt as deserted as a cigarette butt.

INCOME TAX MORATORIUM

Improbable, Glenn Says; Early Payment Advised On Taxes for 1942

S. R. Glenn, Collector of Internal Revenue, last week ventured the guess that the delay in filing returns this year may be attributed in part to an erroneous impression that the legislative proposals before Congress, commonly known as "pay-as-you-go" plans, will relieve taxpayers from filing their income tax returns for 1942 and paying the first quarterly installment on or before March 15. He referred to a recent broadcast in which Secretary Morgenthau, Chairman Doughton of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Chairman George of the Senate Finance Committee, made it clear that there is no pending tax plan which will relieve individuals of the necessity of filing income tax returns and paying the first quarterly installment on or before March 15, Chairman Doughton, of the Ways and Means Committee, stated the matter succinctly when he said: "Let me make this fact clear. There has been no cancellation of taxes on 1942 income. There has been no postponement on taxes on 1942 income. There has been no change in the time or place of payment. The first quarterly installment of the income tax is due on or before March 15."

The Collector urges taxpayers to file their returns as soon as possible. He said that if any should require assistance of members of his office in preparing their returns, they will be able to get assistance with the least delay by going to his office and paying the tax until a few days before March 15. Taxpayers who make arrangements to file their returns promptly assist themselves as well as their government. Taxpayers have everything to gain by early filing was emphasized by Senator George when he said: "By paying your taxes on or before March 15, you have nothing to fear. Your payment will be credited to your account, reducing by as much the taxes you will later have to pay. This is an important consideration to keep in mind. The more you pay now, the less you will have to pay in the future. You have everything to gain by paying; and you have everything to lose by not paying."

Pretty, blonde Visini, soprano on "Hour of Charm" (Sunday, over WLW-NBC) was all set to follow a teaching career, but decided to take a flier at singing. Results: a stint with Toscanini, leading part in Broadway musical shows, and finally top billing with Phil Spitalny's all-girl orchestra.

high schools had not been contacted Tuesday, it was said.

Explaining the urgent need for typewriters, the War Production Board pointed out that every communication, order, report, purchase requisition—for ammunition, food, uniforms—depends upon legible, accurate, permanent records to bring order out of chaos that mass production, mass delivery and mass movement under wartime pressure might otherwise entail.

In the active services and on the battlefronts alike, the need for type-writers is enormous. A typewriter is an essential piece of equipment on every bomber. In the navy, before recent restrictions, such ships normally carried 59 typewriters; every aircraft carrier, 55; every cruiser, 30; every destroyer, 7.

Every message sent or received by all radio operators in the service must be typed. A request for shore leave or an admiral's order of the day to his battle fleet are both typed in the modern hieroglyphics of typewriter print.

Betsy Layne Closes Season with Victory; Has Average Record

Betsy Layne, Ky. March 4 (Sp.)—The Betsy Layne Bob Cats closed their regular season's play Friday night of last week with a victory over Martin high school by a slight margin. Neither team looked too impressive in their final game of the season.

The cats have had an average season this year, splitting games with Wayland, Garrett, Prestonsburg, Painisville, Pikeville and Elkhorn City. They defeated all other Floyd county teams except Wheelwright, which they did not meet. Audier, McDowell and Maytown held them to close margins, however. They will enter the tournament at Martin this coming Friday, when they meet Martin's Purple Flash at 3 p. m. The Bob Cats are in average condition at present, with some of the reserves showing marked improvement.

The team is coached this year by Arthur Jones, a former Bob Cat, who succeeded Arthur Haywood, who is now staff sergeant in the U. S. air force.

partment, health and dental clinic work and school bus operation), $33,000; tuition (for cripples receiving treatment elsewhere and continuing in school), $200; capital outlay (new equipment), $5,000; debt service, $40,425.

The $47,711 remaining from the total budget after the general budget is deducted is the budget of the 14 consolidated schools, County Superintendent Town Hall explained.

The budget, as adopted by the Board of Education this week, provides for salaries of teachers at the present salary schedule, although a school census decrease of 500 for the year is predicted, Superintendent Hall said. Approximately $22,000 will be paid teachers out of the consolidated school budget above the item set out in the general fund for instruction.

Commenting on the school system's debt, Mr. Hall said it was, with the exception of $3,000, entirely incurred by previous administrations between the years 1930-1935; that the school debt, as of last July 1, was $130,000 and now is $114,000.

All five members of the Board of Education, chairman, Dr. J. H. Allen, chairman, Dr. W. D. Osborne, T. N. Newsome, H. N. Cooley and Ray Fraley—attended Tuesday's meeting.
