This Town— That World

FOR A COLID DAY

Why to write about on a cold, snowy day? Frankly, I don't know. The city-dwelling novelist has been known to write his most vivid scenes of the city while in the quiet of the country; the writer on the seashore sees his mountains more clearly than while at home; the lover knows his sweetests to the loved one, far away.

Then, the month being January and the weather what it is, we might attempt matters such as these:— The hum of an electric fan, or an easier target waiting for it to swing back... or the vibrant shade of an old book and from that tiny book looks out to where the sun is shining in white... wading a ceiling street at the end of a rainy day but bringing the vibrant hues by blessing their cool shades...

The boss man's stenographer, spelled "steno" and when he is instructed "steno" wouldn't be better, "steno" has his hand on a record of a thousand letters from her sweet and he spelled "R" "steno" and it just might be "steno" "steno" the "steno" ready?

THINKING OF THE BOXINGERS If such a thing as orchids were hands, I had had 'em with a flourish to the city who had that idea last week... from Third to Sixth, and the training youngsters, a safe place in Kentucky. And any country I had a chapter out of such books, I had read. I'd give a credit book, but both my feet and already so busy, with all this snow and ice, trying to keep track of what the other is about to do.

SHOULD WORK

The new income collection on a voluntary process plan should work in Prestonsburg, we say. "Should" and it will, if the people are interested in the system of cents a month in buying their groceries and those of their neighbors kept free of refuse. The new measure will take effect Monday. And there's one thing about it you don't have to pay if you don't feel that you and your neighbors are getting the benefit, even if you simply pay 30 cents above clearness. If you can haul or have hauled, the new measure will not be permitted to accumulate, and the law passed by burning trash. It won't be so burdensome.

TO A FRIEND "Do you think," writes a new who concludes, "You're somewhat, and it's after breakfast, the non-de-plume, 'Friend' that the Democrats will go underground if they lose in 1948?"

Give up your artistic conceptions," he adds, the sarcastic suggestion, "you can give up the time, common education."

It is a good idea to give it an always and time to argue with a friend. He doesn't go to agreement about this. "There is a crisis, and it will drive the Democrats underground, and that is for of aid."

MARTIN CASE, TOPIC OF SUIT

Ryan Asks Mandamus Of Akers To Release Police Judge Records

First court hearing in the disputed Martin police judgment is scheduled for next Wednesday, at the Mason, attorney for G. D. Ryan, chairman of the office under appointment by Governor Earle C. Clements, said today.

In a suit filed in circuit court Tuesday, Mr. Ryan asked for a mandamus injunction directing Judge Akers, who claims the office by right of election, to surrender to him all the books in his possession, relating to the case. "There are also asked that Akers be enjoined from acting as Police Judge and from interfering with Ryan in the discharge of his duties."

Akers was elected to the office for a four-year term in November, 1945 and his term normally would not expire until Dec. 31, 1950. On Dec. 1, 1946, he was elected to the office of Police Judge, and subsequently was asked to fill the vacancy.

Akers maintains that he still is the legal holder of the office and will remain such until his resignation and is returned to jail here.

SIX PRISONERS BROUGHT HERE

As Johnson-co. Jail Held Unseen as Work On Interior Started Not only Corbett Conley, Jr., slayer of Jasper B. Blair, but five other Johnson county jail-all six Johnson prisoners facing felony charges have been brought here. The Johnson jail is undergoing plumbing, repairs and officials there have certain means of preventing escapes while this work is being done, it was explained.

Evacuation of felony prisoners to the county jail was completed by Oates Branham, charged with grand larceny, and Leon Meeks, with arson, were transferred. The other prisoners to be moved here are: Herchel Conley, breaking and entering; Will Joseph, forgery; and Nathan Cassel, rape.

Transfer of Blair's slayer, it was reported, was made by the sheriff of the county, and the slayer of Kressman of his victim for the same reason the other prisoners were brought here.

Plumbing improvements have been started at the county jail here, but the jail has sufficient room for the housing of prisoners to sections where work is being done. A two-inch water line is being laid to the jail, and commodes inside the usual bath house will be installed. The work, it is explained, are a favorite target for drunks bent on destruction, and this has resulted in a major plumbing problem inside the jail.

Drys Cite Police Court Data In Three Floyd County Towns As Proof Local Option Helps

Police court records of three Floyd county towns were submitted by the Floyd County Christian Dry League, following its meeting at the Allen district Christian church here, as proof of improved conditions under the county's dry law.

The figures, covering a period of three months, showed that during three months of 1946, when the courts were legally sold, arrests for drunkenness in Prestonsburg were three times the number for the same period of dry 1947. In Allen the arrests were legally sold, arrests for drunkenness in Prestonsburg were three times the number for the same period of dry 1947. In Allen the arrests were legally sold, arrests for drunkenness in Prestonsburg were three times the number for the same period of dry 1947.

The resolutions also provided for the League encouragement and assistance in carrying out the prescribed instruction. The League proposed to furnish material pertinent to the subject for distribution among both parents and school children, and to submit for publication articles, both actual and statistical. On special occasions, the resolution stated, handbills or posters, which the public may be aware of the truth concerning the evil effects of liquor.

The Schools' Needs Are Greater

Representatives Henry C. Hale and John Milton Stumbo, of this county, and through them, the Kentucky Education Association, are not at all unreasonable in asking the Kentucky legislature to cut back the fee for collection of school taxes from four per cent to the original one per cent.

First of all, the schools of the state need every cent available from taxes. Moreover, their needs are more urgent than those of the sheriffs of the state.

Were the Sheriff's hard put to make "ends meet," we would say the collection fee should be higher. But this situation, apparently, does not obtain.

Let the People Elect

THE Kentucky Education Association has served notice that it will oppose any legislative move to provide for election of school superintendents by popular vote.

This opposition apparently is based on the theory that the "board system" eliminates politics.

This newspaper would be the last to suggest that a school head be chosen under a party emblem. But it has never been able to see, try as it has, how the election of a man or woman by members of a board who run for office as his or her avowed supporters in taking the matter out of the shadows.

For politics is a relative term. Even as a rose by another name would smell as sweet, politics other than Democratic or Republican may be as rampant.

Higher qualifications demanded of superintendents, not the manner of their election, would do more to make the office more efficient than the boards who elect the Superintendents, then serve, for the most part, as their errand boys.

Retain all the present qualifications of a Superintendent, let the people elect him or her by direct vote on a non-partisan ballot—and wherein is the cause of education damaged? Politics to the realist would in this wise not be eliminated, but would exist no more than in the election of Board members representing a candidate.

The Times believes that no middle-men are needed as sounding boards for the voice of the people.

Commander of Self

ONE of the great personalities of our time has definitely removed himself from the race for the Presidency, and in so doing Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has displayed such moral integrity as this country has too seldom known in its national figures.

It is evident that General Eisenhower is a man not without ambition; otherwise, he would never have attained the military position he reached and in which he served his country and the world so well.

Then his self-denial in quitting the lists for the Presidency just when it became apparent that he not only could win the Republican nomination but also the office itself becomes all the more monumental.

His statement, beacon-like in the murky atmosphere of politics, should be required reading for every school child. The style is indicative of the native nobility of the man—an individual who places country above self, a military man whose mind embraces the greater cause of peace as well as the exigencies of war. The words deliberately write for the highest office in the land a declaration of independence from the military.

While their spirit should be heartening to every citizen who hopes to find high thinking and lofty ideals in high places, these words of the General's are such that the reader fears his refusal to seek the office of President has deprived the nation of the man it needs for the place.

"It is my conviction that the necessary and wise subordination of the military to civil power will be best sustained, and the people will have a greater confidence that it is so sustained, when lifelong professional soldiers, in the absence of some obvious and overriding reason, abstain from seeking high political office. This truth has a possible inverse application."

"I would regard it as unalloyed tragedy for our country if ever should come the day when military commanders might be selected with an eye to their future potentialities in the political field rather than exclusively upon their judgment as to their military abilities.

"Politics is a profession; a serious, complicated and, in its true sense, a noble one. In the American scene I see no dearth of men fitted by training, talent, and integrity for national leadership. On the other hand, nothing in the international or domestic situation, especially, qualifies for the most important office in the world a man whose adult years have been spent in the country's military forces. At least this is true in my case."

Hall Taken Tuesday, Ending Long Search in Storehouse Break

It is such since last May after the incident in the robbery of the P.K. Kidman Coal Company commissary at Tram, Jackie Hall was arrested on Prater Creek Tuesday night by Deputy Sheriffs Harold Ginn and J. B. Hall, who brought him to jail here.

The officers said Hall was drinking from a quart bottle of gin when they entered the room he was occupying. He is also wanted, they said, for connection in connection with the theft two months ago, of the Pikeville Coal Company's office safe, since the safe was found in the yard of the Ed Sandy river below bed, near where Hall had been found.

Otherwise, the Democrats will be very much above ground, yelling their heads off about a damnable country that would elect a Republican for President, just like my 'Friend' & Company have been doing for to these how many years—about the Democrats.

Between shudders, I have been trying to give this matter serious consideration as my correspondent suggests. But I can't bring myself to think seriously on it. Perish the thought!

At Betsy Layne Monday night, the team as a whole played its best possession game, downing the hard-fighting Red Devils, 68 to 33. Correction on last week's game: The Ramblers defeated the Red Devils, 69 to 56, instead of 69 to 26. Tommy Blackburn, born hitting from all over, pushed through 23 points for the Ramblers as Roark, Francis, Marston and Addison Blackburn helped the cause with 12, 11, 11 and 8, respectively. For the Red Devils, W. Cozart and L. Conn found the range, getting 14 each, with Gearheart and J. Martz each dropping in 8. Red Clarke got 3 and E. Martin 2.

Next Monday night, the Ramblers play the Oklahoma Indians here. Last year, the Indians were featured in some magazines that rated them with the original Celtics in showmanship and ball-handling. Game time is 8 p.m.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

By Anderson; Office To Handle Recruiting Of 1948 Farm Labor

A gain in total employment of 5 per cent in the 14 railroad mines in this area from Sept. 15 to Dec. 15 is noted in the report recently received by Glenn S. Anderson, manager of the Kentucky State Employment Service office here.

The gain in veteran employment during the same period was 11.6 per cent. The labor turnover in many of these mines is still high, and there is a current shortage of more than 300 men in Floyd county mines alone, the report adds.

Other items of the report follow. While accurate information is not available the number of men employed at the smaller rail mines and the many truck mines in the counties comprising the Prestonsburg area, it is believed that this figure will amount to at least 2,500. A slump in business has been experienced by truck mines in some parts of the area because of their inability to market local coal. However, many of the operators are taking steps to improve conditions at their mines and sales of coal from these mines should soon be back to normal.

A renewed interest in the natural gas industry has resulted from the drilling of large wells in Magoffin county recently. It is reported that leases near the site of these wells are bringing good prices, and that an expanded drilling program is planned.

A total of 76 men are now employed by the Riverwood Paper Company, Van Lear. This includes men who work in the log woods as well as the sawmill. No additional help is needed.

Prevailing wage rates for common labor on construction projects in the area vary from 60 cents per hour in rural sections to 90 cents on jobs located near large coal mines.

Construction of the railroad from Wayland to new coal fields in Floyd, Magoffin and Boone counties is expected to be completed by April 1, or earlier if weather conditions permit. About 2 1/2 miles of steel has been laid at the end of the line as of December. Approximately 30 men, including employees of the C. & O. Railway, are working on this project as a surplus of men of this type of labor in the vicinity of operations.

The J. M. Hart Construction Company, Lexington, began work Dec. 31 on a contract calling for gravel surfacing and minor changes on about three miles of the road between Prestonsburg and Olive Hill. A very few men will be used on this project.

One hundred twenty-five men were employed by the Ryan Construction Company and 29 by the U.S. engineers on the Dewey dam at the end of December. Very few, if any, additional men are needed.

A contract has been awarded to the George H. Citick Construction Company for an additional four miles of the Patton-Adelle road in Johnson fork in Magoffin county. A total of about 30 men will probably be needed on this job, which is just now starting. Most of the operators were brought in with the equipment.

Effective Jan. 1, the recruitment and placement of farm labor was transferred from the United States Department of Agriculture to the United States Employment Service and affiliated state and local employment service offices. The demand for farm labor in 1948, expected to be the greatest in peacetime history, comes at a time when the total national employment will be extremely high. According to the best information available to the United States Employment Service, the 1948 total employment will probably again hit the 1947 peak of around 60,000,000.

Farmers in this area who expect to need additional help during the farming season, and workers who are interested in this type of employment, should notify the Kentucky State Employment Service, Prestonsburg. This office serves workers and employers in Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin and Morgan counties.

It is estimated that at least 7,000 men and 3,000 women would be willing to accept suitable jobs if they were available in this area.

The Kentucky State Employment Service will be glad to assist Junior Chambers of Commerce or other civic organizations in any town in the area which desires to conduct a detailed survey of the available labor supply for the purpose of bringing a new industry into the town. Surveys of this type have recently been completed in Olive Hill, Grayson and Metchard.

MEADE OFFERS PENSION BILL

For War I Veterans Reaching Age of 62; $42.20, Starting Pay

A bill designed to have the government pay to veterans of World War I the same pensions which already are provided for veterans of the Spanish-American War was introduced in the House this week by Representative W. Horne Meade, of Paintsville. Meade is a member of the Committee on Veterans' Affairs and a veteran himself of World War II.

Under the Meade bill a veteran of World War I would receive a pension of $42.20 a month when he became 62, regardless of his physical condition. The pension would increase to $90 a month at the age of 65. Veterans unable to care for themselves and who must be attended by someone else would receive $120 a month.

A veteran under 62 who suffers from any mental or physical disability of a permanent character which was not caused by his own misconduct and which was not incurred during service in the armed forces would be pensioned at the following rates: $38.80 for 10 per cent disability; $26 per 25 per cent disability; $72 for 50 per cent disability; $74 for 75 per cent disability; and $90 for total disability.

A widow of a veteran who married before Meade's bill becomes law would get $48 a month. A widow who married a veteran before July 3, 1941, would get $50 a month. A widow also would get $7.20 a month for each child under 16.

Meade pointed out that many letters have appeared in the Court-Journal Point of View from those who served in World War I, claiming they are the "forgotten veterans."

"You can quote me," Meade said, as saying that serious consideration will be given immediately to this problem of pensions for World War I veterans, their widows and dependents. There are today some veterans of World War I who saw much greater service and made much greater sacrifices than did their brothers in the conflict with Spain, who are older than some of the Spanish-American War veterans who have been provided for by our government.

"The time has come when it is the duty of our government to give the fullest consideration to those veterans of World War I who have apparently been forgotten through the years. I am confident that the Committee on Veterans' Affairs will take this legislation under consideration immediately."

Immediately thereafter, he began the practice of law here, where he was recognized as a young lawyer of much promise. In 1941 he was named County Attorney, succeeding Henry B. Burke who resigned after having been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of County Attorney Forrest D. Short. His legal practice was interrupted by World War II, in which he saw service as a lieutenant, attached to the Judge Advocate General's section. Discharged from the army in January, 1946, he moved to Lexington.

Mr. Caudill was a member of the Baptist Church and took a prominent role here in the life of the community. He was married to Miss Marie Myer of Lexington. His widow, a daughter of Catherine Elman, both his mother and two sisters, Mrs. Vivian Shannon, Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Mrs. Bennie Mae Combs, Lexington, survive.

The body was taken to the W. B. Millward mortuary, Lexington, from the chapel of which funeral rites were conducted this afternoon (Thursday). Burial was made in Lexington.

Mrs. Lon S. Moles returned the latter part of the week from Huntington where she received medical treatment. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schindler returned last week from Cincinnati where they spent several days on business.

Home, Contents Lost In Wheelwright Fire, First for Department

Wheelwright, Ky., Jan. 25 (Sp.)—Wheelwright's new firefighting equipment and volunteer fire department had their "baptism by fire" at 2:25 a.m. today when the home of Olney Collins was razed.

Although the fire department quickly responded to the alarm and did excellent work, the flames had gained such headway that the building, property of the Inland Steel Company, was a total loss, as were its contents. Firemen prevented spread of the fire to nearby buildings.

The fire was discovered when Mrs. Collins took her husband to the hospital, she thought the fire had started in the building. He investigated and was met by the flames. After rescuing their two children and carrying a trunk outside, the couple spread the alarm. The building was insured, but loss of the family was unproportioned.

Telephone Folks really did a job in '47

In spite of the continued scarcity of materials and equipment and in the face of rising costs all along the line, Southern Bell went right ahead in 1947 improving and expanding your telephone service. It was a year of lumming activity as telephone folks went all out to bring you better telephone service.

There's still a tremendous job to be done. More buildings and vast quantities of equipment are needed to further improve and expand the service. If telephone earnings are such as will attract the necessary new capital to pay for continued construction, you can look forward to further progress in meeting your telephone needs in '48.

1947 ACHEIEVEMENTS 2,411,000 More local calls handled each day—bringing the average daily total to 18,820,000. More than 8 out of 10 long distance calls were completed while the customer held the line. 590,800 New telephones installed. 29,000 Telephones installed in rural areas. Completion of $125,000,000 of new construction to improve and expand telephone service.

Pike Minister Declares 'Boots Your Best Friend' in Hills

By E. V. MARK
(In The Courier-Journal)

The Rev. C. B. Stephens, in his own words, is "just a country boy." But for a country boy in Pike county, Mr. Stephens knows his stuff.

The little man with a big grin has baptized 116 persons in the last year to hold the record among Baptist missionaries in Kentucky.

His record was applauded at the joint meeting of the state workers' conference and state-wide evangelistic conference at the Walnut Street Baptist Church (Louisville).

Attending the conference were some 500 workers from such places as Johns Creek, Big Leatherwood, Hell-or-Sartin, and Wolf Island.

And they heard plenty of good news. Dr. W. C. Boone, general secretary for the Baptist State Board of Missions, told how Kentucky Baptists broke all previous records last year.

Some 20,159 members were added to Baptist churches, its total of Missionary Baptist churches now stands at 2,200 in Kentucky, and missionary contributions exceeded $500,000 in November and December alone.

Mr. Stephens was a little embarrassed at all the attention he received.

"You must remember," he said, "that I'm just a country boy. I even look for paths in the city."

But the 30-year-old father of six sons, ranging from 2 to 12 years of age, wouldn't trade the two churches he organized in the last year in Pike county for the largest Baptist Church here.

"The mountain folks are sincere," he said. "They're outspoken and they mean everything they say. Why, many a time I've had my prayer meetings interrupted by someone asking me to 'pray for my brother who is in jail.' Folks around here wouldn't say things like that."

Mr. Stephens' two churches are at Shelbiana and Johns Creek, some 24 miles apart in Pike county. At Shelbiana he preaches at the Grace Baptist Church bought recently by the Kentucky Board of Missions. But at Johns Creek he preaches in a one-room schoolhouse, the first Baptist church along the 100-mile creek.

In a month, Mr. Stephens averages 2,000 miles traveling in this mountain country. His car is equipped with a public-address system which he uses to attract new members.

"I have a seven-passenger car," he said, "and I pick up people along the way for services. Many a time I've carried 20-21 to be exact—children in it. I can carry my own Sunday School class with me."

On week-ends alone, Mr. Stephens travels between Johns Creek and Shelbiana about four times. Saturday nights he preaches at Johns Creek, Sunday morning at Shelbiana, and Sunday nights at Shelbiana.

During the week he conducts prayer meetings and chapel services at various schools. He speaks to about 1,200 children each week. He spoke to 2,500, "but that was an exception."

Mr. Stephens is most proud of his conversion of a 16-year-old girl whose parents are non-Christians.

"She interested her sister in becoming a Baptist and also interested the younger sister to attend their own Sunday School on Red Creek. Thirty-one attended last Sunday although the mud was deep and the weather was bad."

"They had to walk two miles to the school where services are held. You know, in the mountains your best friend is a pair of heavy boots."

Carl and Jimmy Rucker spent the week-end in Ashland, visiting their sister.

Miss Beryl Stewart came home last week because of ill health. She will not be able to resume her studies at the University of Kentucky this quarter.

Donald May, Miss Dorothy Dieton and Dickie May are spending their between-semester holidays at home with their parents.

Miss Elizabeth Boughton spent last week-end in Prestonsburg, guests of Mrs. A. B. Patrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Taylor Begley and children, of Blackey, visited his mother, Mrs. Amy Begley, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Hatfield have moved into the Claude May home on Wilson Creek.

Mrs. Alice Collinsworth, of Indiana, was called here to the bedside of her father, "Uncle" Bogue Crisp, who has been seriously ill in the Berry Valley hospital. Her daughter accompanied her here.

3 Unions Block Labor Peace—Refuse Wage Boost Already Accepted by 19 Other Railroad Unions.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Switchmen's Union of North America, representing 125,000 railroad employees, have refused to accept the offer of the Railroads of a wage increase of 1 1/2 cents an hour.

This is the same increase awarded 1,000,000 nonoperating employees by an arbitrator's board in September, 1947.

This is the same increase accepted by 17,900 conductors, trainmen and switchmen by agreement on November 14, 1947.

Agreements have been made with 1,750,000 employees, represented by nineteen unions. But these three unions, representing only 125,000 men, are trying to get more. They are demanding also many new working rules not embraced in the settlement with the conductors and trainmen.

Incidentally, the Switchmen's Union of North America represents only about 7% of all railroad switchmen, the other 93% being represented by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and covered by the settlement with that union.

Strike Threat
The leaders of these three unions spread a strike bulge, while negotiations were still in progress. This is not a secret vote but is taken by union leaders and votes are signed by the employees in the presence of union representatives.

When direct negotiations failed, the leaders of these three unions refused to join the railroad in asking the National Mediation Board to attempt to settle the dispute, but the Board took jurisdiction at the request of the carriers and has been earnestly attempting since November 24, 1947, to bring about a settlement. The Board on January 15, 1948, announced its inability to reach a mediation settlement. The leaders of the unions rejected the request of the Mediation Board to arbitrate. The Railroads accepted.

What Now?
The Unions have refused to arbitrate the Railway Labor Act provides for the appointment of a fact-finding board by the President.

The railroads feel it is due shippers, passengers, employes, stockholders, and the general public to know that through-out these negotiations and in mediation, they have not only exerted every effort to reach a fair and reasonable settlement, but they have also met every requirement of the Railway Labor Act respecting the negotiation, mediation, and arbitration of labor disputes.

Reasonable that these three unions, representing less than 10 per cent of railroad employees, and those among the highest paid, can successfully maintain the threat of a paralyzing strike against the interests of the country—and against 90 per cent of their fellow employes.

The threat of a strike cannot justify grants of more favorable conditions to 125,000 employes than have already been put in effect for 1,175,000, nor will it alter the opposition of the railroads to unwarranted wage increases or to changes in working rules which are not justified.

A glance at the box shows what made employes represented by the Engineers and Firemen make. They are among the highest paid in the ranks of labor in the United States, if not the highest.

FLOYD BROTHERS GET KNOT-TYING HELP

Omira, Japan—Obi tying, the art of properly winding up the wide sash worn with a Japanese kimono and making a neat bow in the back, is a complicated business when all four extra pieces are in place. The American Red Cross "Club Hitching Post" at Camp King, home of the 1st Squadron, 8th Cavalry Regiment, includes a tie-up session in its recreational program for service men who plan to send souvenir kimono and obi to their families and friends. Two brothers, Pvt. Hershel center and Clovis Hacksaw, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Hacksaw, of Brainard, are pictured learning the fine points from Red Cross club girl Betty Symonds, of 73 Cottage street, Melrose, Mass., and a Japanese woman employee.

Howard's Bill Would Ban Fireworks Sale

Rep. Maurice Howard, Corbin (R.), last week introduced a bill to forbid retail sales of fireworks in Kentucky.

The measure excludes cap pistols and gun-combusting paper caps which contain 25/100 grains of explosive compound or less.

Conviction under the bill for retailing fireworks would carry a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 20 days.

Another fireworks bill, introduced by Representatives E. H. Martin, Radlow, and Paul Jones, of Covington, Democrats, seeks to empower the cities, mayors and county judges to grant licenses for supervised display of fireworks. It would allow Kentucky wholesalers of fireworks to sell to out-of-state firms and to public exhibitors.

Howard's bill did not mention wholesalers.

MEDICAL MIRACLE

Today Your Pharmacist Drops A Few Facts About...
ANTIFERIN
One of those "lucky" mistakes where a patient was given a remedy which the doctor supposed was something else proved Antiferin an excellent fever fighter. Dr. Paul Hepp, a German doctor, in 1898 gave what he thought was Naphthalene to a man suffering from bowel infection. When he found the patient's fever had gone down he reported the investigation showed he had given him Antiferin by mistake.

The January meeting of the Home-makers Club was held at the home of Mrs. G. H. Blackburn last Thursday evening. The meal was prepared and served in keeping with the lesson on "Proper Table Service," which was presented by Mesdames C. H. Blackburn and James George. Following the meal, a group discussion of table service and table manners was conducted, after which club business was disposed of.

It was decided that the February meeting will be at the home of Mrs. M. M. Morris, which club members are urged to attend and to which new members are cordially invited.

It took just one week for 10 Million excited Americans to say, "This time it's Hudson!"

SEE THIS AUTOMOTIVE TRIUMPH AT THE HUDSON DEALERS LISTED BELOW:

WHITTEN MOTOR SALES PRESTONSBURG, KY.

In one short week 10,000,000 people jammed showrooms to see the amazing, beautiful new Hudson—a new kind of motor car—only five feet from ground to top, but with more inside head room and roomier seats than in any other mass-produced car built today!

Hudson is the only American-built car you step down into when entering, not up on—yet it maintains road clearance.

Hudson's new, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame is the only motor-car construction that completely encircles you, even outside the rear wheels, with a rugged, box-steel foundation frame.

You ride within this frame—cradled between axles—not on top of the frame as in other cars. And as you ride, Hudson's combination of unique construction and comfort features gives you a sensation of snug safety and serene, smooth going unlike anything you've known before!

Meet the new Hudson—get all the facts about Hudson's all-new Super-Six engine, the power-packed Super-Eight engine, and Hudson's "Drive-Master" transmission that provides automatic gear shifting in forward speeds. Drop in at the nearest Hudson showroom. Find out why millions of Americans are exclaiming, "This time it's Hudson!"
