SHORTGUN WEDDING, THIS STYLE

There is no need for this column to take its ingenuity (7) to explain the value of the old muzzle-loader in action that the gun is doing right by. But some of you may not have heard that the shotgun wedding plays a big part, these days, in the sex life of apple trees. We give you the story in one blast:

The farmer loads a 12-gauge shotgun with a special shell containing pollen and a carrier, steps to the windward side of the tree, aims at the upper branches and lets 'er go. Each shell contains a fifth of an ounce of standard pollen gathered in the apple region. Five shots take care of a tree.

Of course, if the bees and the wind do right by the tree, a shotgun wedding isn't necessary.

BOBO'S GOT THE BLUES

There is one resident of Prestonsburg who is pleased not at all about Chester Porter's appointment to the state highway patrol. It's Bobo Chester's pet cat, which most of the time, occupies a tree at the rear of the county jail.

While Porter was an assistant to his brother-in-law, John Everett Collins, and during his subsequent employment at the Bus Station Cafe, Bobo was considered the best dressed weather prophet in these parts, and that included the old population, too. But that's all changed now.

Before Chester moved to Pikeville, approach of bad weather would send Bobo into the low-hanging branches of the tree and into the familiar haunts of his kind. And if a turn for the better was in the air, he would go Bobo to the upper branches to display himself in silent gratitude.

Now, he's blue and low down, all the time. And about the weather, he just doesn't give a hoot.

MR. AND MRS. MALROP

Heard a guy at the courthouse this week who was wanting to buy "a set of them double division glasses."

Quoting him to a friend, I was told of another fellow here who, referring to a well-known brand of glasses, wondered why somebody "couldn't put in that Blue Smoke glass" and sell like blazes.

All of which reminds us of the restaurant of a few years back in which the customer's order for poached eggs was invariably served back to the kitchen: "One order of poached eggs!"

They went on for some time until one day, the cook was out of sorts for one reason or another and wasn't willing to settle the "front man" right. "Now listen here, you fool," quoth the head of the culinary department. "I'm getting tired of hearing you yell, 'Patched eggs' when somebody with the brain of a goat comes in and asks for 'PROACHED' eggs you talk about!"

VA To Discontinue Visits to Wayland

The Prestonsburg Veterans Administration office announced this week that the inherent contact representative visits to Wayland, Ky., are discontinued after May 17. Claimants desiring assistance with, or information concerning, VA benefits are asked to come or write to Veterans Administration, Midland Bldg., Prestonsburg. The VA representative will be here every Wednesday and Thursday.

Agents veterans were reminded that G.I. Insurance cannot, under present regulations, be reinstated after July 1, 1946 without a physical examination.

DAVID MINE WINS AWARD

Holmes Safety Ass'n Cites Floyd Company

Second Year in Row

For the second consecutive year the Princess Elkhorn Mine No. 1 at David is on the "honor roll" of the Joseph A. Holmes Safety Association, which annually presents honor awards to coal and metal mines with outstanding safety records.

This year, it was learned Wednesday, the Princess Elkhorn Mine No. 1 has been awarded a Certificate of Honor for operating without a fatality from Feb. 1, 1944 to Feb. 29, 1945, a total of 974,000 man-hours.

Last year, it was Mine No. 1 so honored after having operated for a five-year period without a fatality. This year, Princess No. 2 was the only Kentucky coal operation to receive the Holmes award. Only 48 in the nation were cited for achieving outstanding safety records.

The record of the No. 2 mine dates back to the beginning of operation, Feb. 1, 1944. Its production for the period was 1,018,408 tons.

HALL WINNER OF NEW TRIAL

Judge's Jury Charge Found in Error; 2nd Trial Set Sept. 22

Motion for a new trial for Albert Hall, convicted at the April circuit court term here of the murder of Bill Bryant by Whistlewhir and given a life sentence, was granted Monday by Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill Jr.

His case was set for re-trial, Sept. 22.

In granting a new trial Judge Hill pointed out that he had in the original trial given erroneous instructions to the jury. He said that he failed to instruct the jury as to shooting and wounding. These instructions, which were given to the jury, were submitted to both the prosecution and defense attorneys who did not at the time discover the error.

"I am not blaming anybody but myself, however," he added. "And since that instruction should have been given, and its omission constitutes a reversible error, I must grant a new trial."

It was pointed out that the Court of Appeals had held that in murder trials in which two or more persons were involved, with doubt existing as to which actually killed the victim, instructions covering shooting and wounding must be given.

Hill, a deputy sheriff at the time of the Bryant slaying, testified at his trial that he shot Bryant while the latter was attacking the victim. Earl Blackburn, of Wheelwright, was acquitted at an earlier court term of a murder charge in the slaying.

MINE MISHAPS FATAL TO TWO

Singleton Is Victim In Mine Motor Wreck, Isaacs Fatally Hurt

Two Floyd county residents were fatally injured while working in a mine last night.

The dead are: Robert Singleton, of Garrett, 30, and Isaac Isaacs, 31, of Bevinville, carpenter for the Gibson Coal Company, Wilson Creek.

Singleton was instantly killed in the Wayland mine last Thursday when his motor hit a trip of ore which piled onto the motor. His skull was crushed and he died instantly.

Isaacs suffered a skull fracture when struck by a piece of wire cable he was said to have been winding at the Wilson Creek mine's loading chute. Friday, he died on the following day at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin.

A native of Magoffin county and son of James and Maggie Singleton, the Garrett victim was well-known in the Floyd county coal field where he had worked for years. He was a member of the Church of God and had many friends in this section. Surviving him are his widow, one son, one daughter, three half-brothers, Elmer Singleton, Burnside, Ky.; Warren Singleton, Epom, Ky.; Walter Singleton, Louisville, Ky.; and his father, Harrison Holiday, Holiday, Ky.

His funeral was conducted Thursday at the Church of God, the Rev. Ernest Allen officiating. Burial was made in the Mesado cemetery, Paintsville.

Isaacs, a native of Knott county, was a son of Hiram and Martha Isaacs. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Susannah Isaacs, of Bevinville, two sons, Edward, 10, and two daughters, Mrs. Perry Smallwood and Miss Wanda Lee Isaacs, both of Bevinville; also by three brothers, Isaac, 21, and two sisters, Mary, 19, and Lillian, 17, all of Bevinville.

1,100 PARADE HERE ASKING PLAYGROUND

Success of Drive Assures Court, Backers Believe

This community's 1,100 schoolchildren Monday afternoon staged a block-long parade to voice their plea for a playground; next morning, 41 business and professional men left a "kick-in-the-butt" at the Methodist Church to launch anew a fund-raising campaign—and effect of the two was such a graphic plea for playground success of the Floyd County Playground Center, Inc., appeared assured.

With an option already purchased on the B. L. Sturges property adjacent to that of the grade school, negotiations were under way for acquisition of low-lying parcels of property owned by five other property owners. Plans of a steadily mounted, and leaders in the playground movement began planning for the work of draining and filling the area the recreation center will cover.

Headed by the Prestonsburg school band, the parade of schoolchildren depicted every grade from first through high school, with floats, placards and tableaux the children, accompanied by their teachers, made a graphic plea for playground success of the Floyd County Playground Center, Inc., appeared assured.

President David B. Robertson of the firemen's union told Steinhilber, Ross continued, that "our committee have voted to comply fully with the terms of the restraining order signed by Judge Goldsborough."

Their lawyers, Robertson reported, went on to working out "terms to comply with this action of the committee."

Ross declared: "Robertson, speaking for the group, stated that messages are going out immediately notifying the railroad workers of the action just taken."

The first definite report that the strike was off came from Edward Gloss, press secretary for the firemen's union. He told reporters, camera men and railroad people:

"The three brotherhoods will comply with the court order. Steps to that effect are being taken immediately."

He said the "steps" consisted of notifying the union members not to strike.

The order to which the union spokesmen referred was a court order telling the three unions to call off the strike and further, to do nothing to encourage one.

To pave the way for this order (a type of preliminary injunction) President Truman seized the whole vast network of trucks and trains in the name of the federal government at mid-day Monday and turned them over to the army for operation.

Possibly severe penalties are the alternatives to disobedience. Monday night's order was issued by Federal District Judge T. C. Ains Goldsborough, the same man who fined John L. Lewis $100,000 and the United Mine Workers $100,000 for not calling off a strike quickly enough this year.

The government invoked the power of the courts after the three railroad unions turned down Secretary of the Army Royalty's request that they call off the strike.

Mr. Truman said seizure was necessary in the public interest, that the nation could not stand "a nationwide tragedy" such as a crippling railroad strike.

Judge Goldsborough's restraining order is returnable before May 19. The unions can argue their case then, but in the meanwhile they are on notice not to strike. To do so would risk contempt of court action. When the order is argued, the government no doubt will ask that the temporary order be made into an outright injunction.

Judge Goldsborough's order said that any railroad strike would "impair national health and safety and interfere and obstruct the effective performance in discharge of vital and necessary government functions, and will frustrate the powers conferred by the Constitution and by the acts of Congress upon the executive branch of the government."

President David B. Robertson of the firemen's union told Steinhilber, Ross continued, that "our committee have voted to comply fully with the terms of the restraining order signed by Judge Goldsborough."

Their lawyers, Robertson reported, went on to working out "terms to comply with this action of the committee."

Ross declared: "Robertson, speaking for the group, stated that messages are going out immediately notifying the railroad workers of the action just taken."

The first definite report that the strike was off came from Edward Gloss, press secretary for the firemen's union. He told reporters, camera men and railroad people:

"The three brotherhoods will comply with the court order. Steps to that effect are being taken immediately."

He said the "steps" consisted of notifying the union members not to strike.

The order to which the union spokesmen referred was a court order telling the three unions to call off the strike and further, to do nothing to encourage one.

To pave the way for this order (a type of preliminary injunction) President Truman seized the whole vast network of trucks and trains in the name of the federal government at mid-day Monday and turned them over to the army for operation.

Possibly severe penalties are the alternatives to disobedience. Monday night's order was issued by Federal District Judge T. C. Ains Goldsborough, the same man who fined John L. Lewis $100,000 and the United Mine Workers $100,000 for not calling off a strike quickly enough this year.

The government invoked the power of the courts after the three railroad unions turned down Secretary of the Army Royalty's request that they call off the strike.

Mr. Truman said seizure was necessary in the public interest, that the nation could not stand "a nationwide tragedy" such as a crippling railroad strike.

Judge Goldsborough's restraining order is returnable before May 19. The unions can argue their case then, but in the meanwhile they are on notice not to strike. To do so would risk contempt of court action. When the order is argued, the government no doubt will ask that the temporary order be made into an outright injunction.

Hybrid Seed Corn Advised As Rains Handicap Farmers

Hybrid seed corn is due to come into its own in Floyd county this year, was the prediction made this week by County Agent S. L. Lebel in commenting on late planting of corn because of continued wet weather.

At the beginning of the week Mr. Lebel estimated that farmers had only 25 pct. of their corn crop in the ground. Because of the delay at ground was too wet to plow, he advised the quick-maturing hybrid seed, adding that many farmers already had turned to this type.

Floyd High School Students Take Part In State Music Meet

Prestonsburg and Betsy Layne glee clubs and quartettes, under the direction, respectively, of Mrs. Oval B. Hall and Mrs. Charles H. Haywood, participated last week in the state music festival at Lexington.

This week, Prestonsburg high school instrumentalists will appear at the festival. Among these are the trumpet trio which rated "superior" at the district festival at Pikeville, and the band which had an excellent rating at Pikeville.

Betsy Layne's glee club and mixed quartet, gained ratings of excellent last week at Lexington. The quartet consists of Pauline Robbins, Lois Conn, Donald Roop and Bill Brantman, with Mildred Flanery as accompanist.

Prestonsburg's mixed quartette, male quartette and boys' glee club were rated excellent at the state festival. The glee club obtained a rating of "good," as did William Runnels, piano soloist. State competition was from the larger high schools.

Lewis Issues Call For Policy Board To Map Demands

John L. Lewis summoned the United Mine Workers' 200-man Policy Committee Wednesday to meet in Washington, D. C. Monday and discuss the demands he proposes to place before the mine operators this year.

The soft coal contract expires June 30. Negotiations with bituminous mine operators begin Tuesday. The anthracite contract has no expiration date, but Lewis has suggested he plans to end the agreement July 10. Negotiations with anthracite producers will begin May 20. About 80,000 Eastern Pennsylvania miners are in the anthracite group.

Committees from various union districts already have suggested demands for presentation to the soft coal operators, but Lewis has not indicated what he will ask.

Mrs. Lillian Keenon, of Prestonsburg, received a pleasant surprise when she was selected from the studio audience at a recent "Hint Hunt" broadcast.

When questioned as to her favorite household hint Mrs. Keenon told Chuck Acree, the "Head Hunter," "To peel tomatoes without scalding them, take the back of a paring knife and go over the tomato just like you would peel an apple—then prick the skin and peel right off—leaving the tomatoes cold and firm for table use."

For this useful hint, Mrs. Keenon received a Parker Pen set.

"Hint Hunt" is heard Monday through Friday at 3 p.m. (EST) over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Mrs. Ada B. Hyde, 91, Former Resident Here, Succumbs in Virginia

Mrs. Ada Burgess Hyde, the former Prestonsburg resident from whom Mrs. Douglas MacArthur received tutelage in her girlhood and who was the friend of the late Nicholas Murray Butler, famed educator, died Monday morning at the age of 91 in a hospital at Woodstock, Va.

Mrs. Burgess, who left here only a few weeks ago to visit her daughter, Mrs. A. O. Rice, at Tom's Brook, Va., suffered a stroke recently. Until her last illness she retained her faculties to a marked degree, continued her interest in world events with the keen intellect which in other years made her prominent in the field of education.

She and a Miss Hopkins for 15 years directed Soule College, Murfreesboro, Tenn., and it was there that Mrs. MacArthur was her pupil. From there she went to Barboursville, W. Va., where she was a member of the faculty of Morris-Harvey College, and later she moved to Paintsville where she taught in the old Mayo College. Here she resided with her daughter, Mrs. P. D. Ward, and Mr. Ward, and more recently at the Prestonsburg General hospital. Her brother held the chair of International Law at Columbia University and through him she became acquainted with Dr. Murray.

Mrs. Hyde was a native of Nashville, Tenn., and was a member of the Methodist Church. Burial was made Wednesday at Woodstock, Virginia.

Funeral rites were held Sunday from the Helton residence at Wheelwright. The Reverend Williams officiating. Burial in the Johnson Memorial cemetery, Pikeville, was directed by the Baker Funeral Home.

ular judges for the time they serve. Robert B. Hensley, executive secretary to Governor Clements, said none of the special judges has served on either the appellate or circuit courts.

The allowance bill would grant the seven appellate judges $150 a month and the 38 circuit judges $100 a month in addition to their regular salaries.

The appellate officials and most of the circuit judges draw $5000 annual pay. Some of the latter get $4,800.

The additional money would come from increasing from 50 cents to $1 fees for filing suits in civil cases and from $3 to $5 for appeals to the Court of Appeals. The increase would apply to cases in which more than $50 is involved.

Samuel M. Rosenfield and former Attorney General Charles E. Dawson both of Louisville, argued in circuit court at Frankfort the General Assembly had authority to make the change. They pointed out other states with salary limits have done so. Kentucky's constitutional maximum pay is $5,000 a year.

Former Attorney General Hubert Meredith, of Owensboro, argued that the act violates six sections of Kentucky's constitution. He agreed with opposing counsel that judges' pay is insufficient, but argued the act is an evasion of the constitution.

RUNNING WATER FOR GREATER PROFITS

EVERY time you grab the handle of a pump, you are lowering your earning power... every time you utilize electrically pumped water, you are increasing it.
To say nothing of the added physical strain that affects your health, pumping outdoors in all kinds of bitter weather, carrying the back-breaking loads. It's bad enough for the menfolk, but for farm women, it's just too much.
Profits from almost any one of the many uses around the farmstead, especially watering the poultry and cattle, pay many times over for the cost of the pump and the power to run it.
Speaking of profits—cows watered two or three times daily drink almost 40% more water than those watered but once and produce up to 20% more milk... for plenty of egg production, poultry require 2 1/2 gallons a day for each 100 chickens... hogs need about 2 gallons, and a horse, 15 gallons daily. And the desperate need for running water to control flies in those vital first three minutes needs no stressing by us. See your farm equipment dealer today and install electrically pumped water.

Big Sandy Church League To Begin Season Saturday

The Big Sandy Junior Church Baseball League, composed of teams representing eight Floyd county churches, will begin play Saturday, May 15. Ben Allen, president of the league, announced this week.

The league, it is explained, was formed to serve the dual purpose of a recreation program for youngsters under the age of 18 and also to stimulate Sunday School attendance. Teams for which a full season schedule has been prepared, are:

Allen Missionary Baptist, Dinswood Baptist, Prestonsburg, Methodist, Presbyterian, and Martin.

TWO TEAMS SHARE LEAD

In Big Sandy Loop
After Sunday Games;
Harold Is Undeclared

After Sunday's flock of doubleheaders, Harold and Painville held joint possession of first place in the Big Sandy league standings with an unblemished record of four consecutive wins, while Prestonsburg and Van Lear shared the dank precincts of the cellar.

Prestonsburg lost its fourth straight in the doubleheader at Harold, 12-5 and 12-10, in games marked by hard hitting, loose pitching in 190's and faulty fielding which was helped along by rough spots in the Harold outfield. In the first game of the afternoon Elkins held Prestonsburg to seven hits while striking out 11. Rice started that contest but gave way to Castle. The former was charged with the loss. In the second game, Bradley started but gave way to Castle. The latter was charged with the loss. In the second game, Bradley started but gave way to Castle. The latter was charged with the loss.

Garrett and Weekday split a doubleheader played on the neutral Prestonsburg field Sunday afternoon. The Right Beaver Creek boys made a run away of it in the opener, scoring 12 runs on 17 hits and eight Weekday errors. The team from Left Beaver won the nightcap, 5 to 1, behind Skiles' three-hit twirling. Burchett was the losing hurler in the first game, and Adkins was charged with the loss of the second. In the first game Mullins, Garrett, schoolboy hurler, held Weekday to two hits, fanned 11 while sailing only one base on balls.

Elsewhere in the league, Wayland defeated Elkhorn City, 12-6, in the first game, and dropped the second, 7 to 1. Painville swept a doubleheader over Van Lear, 15 to 1 and 7-3, and Pikeville divided their twin bill on which no figures have been recorded.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

For years the quail population of this county has been steadily decreasing. No one quite knew why. No-hunting laws, refuge systems and release of pen-raised and wild birds failed to result in more quail.

Now an answer has been found by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. According to Verne E. Davison, biologist with the SCS, we have grossly overestimated the food supply. Quail have been starved out. Or maybe we have only failed to realize what food conditions a covey requires. At any rate, while experimenting with bi-color lespedeza, now acknowledged as one of the best foods for bobwhite quail, the SCS has proved that a serious food deficiency exists in almost every field, pasture and woods from Texas to Virginia.

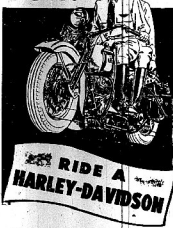

It has been within the last two years that the value of bi-color as quail food has been recognized by both wildlife and agricultural circles. Today, bi-color strains hold the distinction of being the first plants developed and improved for the primary aim of benefiting an American game species. The future of quail throughout the south is getting brighter and brighter as new strains are introduced, and there soon will be harder varieties for northern planting.

The SCS began gathering superior strains in 1940, and by careful selection several new strains have been developed that are much better than common bi-color. Four million plants of these new strains—enough for 4,000 cover of quail—were planted afield this year. A perennial shrub, it grows from six to 10 feet high. It can be established by transplanting nursery-grown plants or by direct seeding. It has proved to be a most dependable and inexpensive shrub for erosion-control purposes—a fact which is helping farmers recognize game production as a farm problem they can solve.

The Prestonsburg batting attack is led by Williamson (.487), Porter (.467), W. Brannham (.441), and H. Burchett (.357).

VAN LEAR BOY WRECK VICTIM

School Net Star
Killed, Two Hurt
At George's Creek

Louis, Ky., May 10.—Preslin William, 18, star basketball player at Van Lear, Ky. high school, was injured fatally Sunday at 2:45 a.m. when the auto in which he was a passenger hit a bump and ran off the highway at George's Creek, about 10 miles south of Louisville.

Leonard Barker, driver of the car, was slightly injured and Kenneth Preston, a passenger, received critical injuries and was removed to a Paintsville, Ky. hospital. Paul Brickley, the vehicle's other occupant, was not injured.

Dr. Henry S. Young, Lawrence county coroner, said Williamson died of a broken neck and crushed chest, and that Preston suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, cuts and bruises on the head and a crushed chest. He added that Barker received only minor cuts and bruises on the hand and head and was dismissed from the Louisa hospital after emergency treatment.

The coroner asserted that Brickley told him the following version of the tragedy:

The group, all residents of Van Lear, had started to Huntington, W. Va., but when it was discovered that there was something wrong with the automobile they turned around and were headed back toward Van Lear. When they were crossing the bridge at George's Creek the auto hit a bump causing it to weave and go over a 40-foot fall and turn over the times. All were thrown from the car with the exception of Brickley.

Funeral services for Mr. Williamson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Aulion Williamson, will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the residence. The body is at the Jones Funeral Home, Paintsville. Surviving are the parents, two brothers and four sisters.

DU PONT HOUSE PAINT CLEANS ITSELF!

Outside surfaces stay fresh and clean-looking when finished with Du Pont House Paint. Dirt and grime can't get a grip—falls just wash them away!

SELF-CLEANING Du Pont House Paint is so formulated that, as time goes by, a microscopically fine white powder forms on the surface. Heavy rains wash the surface, taking dust and dirt with it, and leaving the surface clean and white again. Excessive accumulations of dirt (particularly in sooty industrial communities or in heavily shaded locations) may delay or interfere with this process. Because this "self-cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected. SELF-CLEANING Du Pont House Paint is as durable as it is beautiful... protects against rust, rot, and decay... gives lasting beauty and protection. Costs no more than ordinary paints—saves repainting bills! Call on a reliable painter for your painting jobs, and ask him to use Du Pont House Paint!

FLOYD STUDENTS MENTIONED AT ANNUAL U-K. HONORS DAY

More than 800 outstanding University of Kentucky students, representing virtually every county in the state, were cited Wednesday for superior academic achievement and named recipients of special honor awards and scholarships at the fourth annual U.K. Honors Day convocation.

Honors Day is held each year by the University as a means of recognizing students for outstanding scholarship, campus leadership and other honors which have entitled them to membership in honorary societies. A common practice at leading universities in the nation, the special day was first observed at U.K. in 1945.

Dr. William Jesse Baird, president of Morehead State College, was the principal speaker on the convocation program. University President H. L. Donnan presided.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

The certificate of eligibility issued to a veteran upon his entrance into a job-training or school study course under the G.I. Bill loses its validity if the veteran discontinues his training or school study course.

The trainee who has discontinued his training and later desires to resume his studies under the G.I. Bill must obtain a supplemental certificate of eligibility from VA.

Application for the supplemental certificate may be made through any VA office.

Veterans who lose subsistence, compensation or pension checks should notify immediately the appropriate Veterans Administration regional office. VA officials said recently.

VA said a veteran losing such a check should write a letter giving his full name and address, his claim number and the date and amount of the check. He should state for which type or benefit the check was issued and the circumstances surrounding its loss.

On being notified of the check's loss, VA determines first if it may have been found and returned to the U.S. Treasury. If so, the check will be mailed to the veteran. If not, VA will request the Treasury to stop payment and take necessary steps to reimburse the veteran.

A veteran who finds his check after reporting its loss should notify VA and hold the check until he has been advised by the Treasury that action to stop payment has been withdrawn.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Q. Who is entitled to the compensation or pension check received prior to the death of a veteran?

A. The check or checks received prior to a veteran's death become a part of his estate.

Q. I am a World War II veteran and have been totally disabled for a few months. At the end of my sixth month of total disability, will I have to continue paying my National Service Life Insurance premiums or is a waiver granted by law?

A. No automatic waiver of premiums is ever granted. A veteran must be totally disabled for six months before he may apply for a waiver of premiums. You are entitled to file a claim for refund of those premiums you paid from the date on which the waiver became effective.
