FLOYD NATIVE IN PISTOL DUEL

Reported As Recovering, Other Duelist Succumbs; Charges May Be Filed

Orville Miller, 32, identified as a Mt. Sterling business and former Floyd county resident, is reported this week to be recovering from wounds suffered in a Mt. Sterling street gun battle which claimed the life of another man, Jan. 31.

According to authorities, the pistol duel was the outcome of an argument which started between the two men in a poolroom. Immediately following the shooting, Benjamin Carrington, operator of the poolroom, did not advise to Mt. Sterling hospital. Miller was taken to a hospital in Lexington.

Mt. Sterling City Patrolman Charles Keaster reported that the two men became involved in an argument and when the proprietor asked Miller to leave, both men went outside. The other said and when they reached the street, both pulled out pistols and opened fire at close range.

Carrington suffered bullet wounds in the throat, near the heart, lower abdomen and left leg and left arm. Miller was hit in the right arm and lower abdomen. Each man fired five times, Keaster said.

Mr. Sterling authorities said last week no charges had been placed against Miller. We are waiting to see how he comes out of the hospital.

Miller, relatives said here, is the son of Hiram Miller and resided on Middle Creek near the Floyd-Madison line before his family moved several years ago.

Mad Creek Men Sued For $8,075 In Pike Court As Result of Accident

Two Floyd county residents of the Mad Creek section are being sued in Pike circuit court for damages alleged to have accrued from an accident near Pikeville last fall.

Kenis P. Lowe, 72, filed suit Feb. 3, in Pike circuit court against Carl Mitchell, 28, of Logan, and John F. Hall, of Gretnah, asking $8,075 for damages received last December 10, when the Chevrolet sedan, owned by Hall and driven by Mitchell, he claims, ran into his truck near the Pikeville baseball park, just north of town, on U. S. 23.

Lowe says that five of his ribs were broken and that he received other injuries, and that he kept in bed eight weeks, the injuries resulting in pneumonia, almost taking his life.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KEESTING

The difference in a fisherman's luck is often only the difference between a well-designed hook and a poor one. The importance of using good hooks, efficiently shaped, and of keeping them needle-sharp cannot be overemphasized.

Unfortunately, most anglers judge hooks as they do women—by pretty curves. But commercial fishermen, who cannot afford to indulge in such aesthetic notions, know better. They use mainly hooks with the nearest thing to a plain round bend that they can find, and with the bend of the point parallel to the shank.

According to Jason Lucas, whose hook on bass is liable to win many fishermen, this parallel point is undoubtedly the best for setting; but for angling, where one must drive home the barb at just the right instant, he prefers a hook with very slight out point, this is not so efficient as a parallel point—but it starts in faster instead of sliding from the fish's mouth without pricking him.

A hollow point will penetrate better than a spear point. In some hooks, an inverted turn of the point or barb gives the illusion of a true hollow point, but it doesn't give as good results. Watch out for that.

When fishing, test your hooks frequently for sharpness by passing the ball of the thumb lightly down behind the barb—not across the top or if the point doesn't dig in easily, it is too dull.

For sharpening hooks at home use a small half-round file of "smooth" cut. When out fishing, carry one of the small whetstones made for the purpose.

For that first quick penetration, always sharpen from the inside and sides of the point only. Never touch the back except to remove a "wire edge." However, some people like a very slight wire edge for the quick start in deep water, but if you are in your sport or fish almost parallel to the tip to make a long, thin point, which will, naturally, penetrate much better than a stubbler point.

Burglars Enter Garage, Rain Safe, Get No Cash; Leave Prints, Crowbar

A safe valued at $700 was rumbled by burglars in their attempt Tuesday night to reach whatever sum of money was left in it at the Music Motor Company here.

Windows at the side of the motor company building, the safe, open structure and implements used in wrecking the safe were being watched Wednesday against arrival of police. The break, apparently the work of amateurs, failed to result in a haul for the burglars, it is believed. Tracing chisels, screwdrivers, hammers and a crowbar, they succeeded in ruing the door to the safe but failed to reach the cash drawers. The crowbar was left behind. Implements used belonged to the company's repair department.

The burglars apparently remained in the building several hours. Soft bottle bottles they had emptied during their stay were left on the office desk. Desk and cabinet drawers were opened during the search for money, but except for the safe there was little damage.

Fingerprints on the windows through which entry and exit were made were plainly visible.

Thomas M. Hereford, Sr., Claimed By Long Illness Here Tuesday Afternoon

An illness of a year ended Tuesday afternoon in the death at the Prestonsburg General Hospital of Thomas M. Hereford, Sr., 73 years old, prominent resident of Cliff, near here. Cancer was given as the cause of death, which occurred at 3:30 p.m.

A son of James H. and Florence May Hereford, he was born and reared at Cliff. One of the county's best citizens, Mr. Hereford had a solo in the local business community of the section. His first work was hauling freight by wagon from the Big Sandy railroad at Whiteside to Prestonsburg. Later, in the days of rafting on the river, he engaged in the timber business at a time when that was the section's principal industry. Until failing health forced his retirement, he was in more recent years an employee of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company. Mr. Hereford was a member of the Methodist Church.

He was married to Miss Molly Nunley on April 23, 1896. She and the following children survive: Thomas M. Hereford, Sr., Prestonsburg, Mrs. Florence Lemaster, Prestonsburg, Mrs. Josephine Pack, St. Albans, W. Va., Mrs. Hope Spradlin, Cliff, Mrs. Maurine Wheeler, Paintsville, Misses Dorothy and Pauline Hereford, of Cliff. Also surviving are three brothers, George F. Hereford, Ft. Pierce, Fla., Sam Hereford, Pikeville, Burr Hereford, Milton, Ky., 14 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The funeral was conducted this afternoon (Thursday) at 2 o'clock from the Methodist Church here, the pastor, the Rev. Wm. Hugh Smith, officiating, assisted by the Reverend Johnston. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Cliff, the Carter & Callahan Funeral Home directing.

SOUTH COAL GROUP EXITS FROM PARLEY

Separate Talks Indicated; Sheriff, Operator In Tiff Over Violence in Pike-Co.

A few minutes after negotiations between coal operators and John L. Lewis were resumed, Wednesday afternoon, the Southern Coal Producers Association walked out of the conference room.

"We are not participating in the conference this afternoon," was the cryptic statement of Joseph Moody, head of the Association.

It was indicated that the Southern group desires to talk with Lewis on separate terms. The meeting was planned to confer with Federal Judge Richmond B. Keech to establish separate talks as possible. Meanwhile, over the coal fields there was complete idleness except for truck mine operators which have signed agreements with the union.

In this county there was no sign of unrest but in neighboring Pike County violence reported on Wednesday and Thursday, when James Helms, chief electrician for Eastern Coal Corporation, McAnally, was allegedly beaten.

Government officials indicated Monday that they will wait before making a new move to end the soft coal strike. Justice Department attorneys said they intend to mark time to give miners a chance to reject the federal court order to return to work.

These lawyers said they may visit the coal fields on Monday to seek contempt action, which could involve heavy fines and imprisonment. Lewis union treasury for disobe-

D. A. R. Names Delegates To State, National Meets; Announces Sesqui Meets

The John Graham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, in session Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. O. T. Stephens, in Garfield Addition, with Mrs. Stephens as hostess, named its delegates to the 1950 state and national meetings.

Named as delegates to the State Conference to be held in Louisville, March 23, 16 and 17, were Mrs. A. B. Coombs, Mrs. Lida Spradlin and Miss Frances Jones, alternates being Mesdames Henry W. P. Plummer, E. P. Arnold, Guyette, O. T. Stephens, Everett Sowers, Jo M. Davidson, Winnie P. Johns, and Mrs. M. J. Leete. Miss Yvonne Combs was elected as page.

Delegates appointed to the National Congress which convenes at Washington, D. C. April 16-22, were Mrs. Jack Ribble, Jr., and Miss Maurice Mayo, Washington, D. C. A vicarious service presented the appointments. Mrs. M. J. Leete, vice-regent, presided.

Announcement was made of a Silver Tea to be held by the Pikeville Chapter, D.A.R., on Saturday, Feb. 25, from 2:30 to 5 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Sidney Trivette, Mrs. Winnie P. Johns made announcement of some of the plans that were being formulated by the Sesqui-Centennial Committee—for the celebration to be held here at "A Home-Coming," July 1-5th. She stated that Floyd county was founded in 1800 about three miles below the present site of Prestonsburg near the home of James Brown on the Big Sandy river. The cottages that were later formed from Floyd county were Rowan, Elliott, Morgan, Lawrence, Manfies, Johnson, Martin, White, Magoffin, Braithite, Pike, Knott, Letcher and Perry. The Chapter pledged its support in helping with the plans for the celebration.

Mrs. Johns urged everyone in the county to plant petunia seeds to beautify their homes. The petunia was designated years ago by the Women's Club as the county flower. Antiques and old relics will be a feature, she said, of the Sesqui-Centennial celebration and Floyd County veterans are asked to lend their treasures to the committee who will safeguard them for the period of five days. A contribution of $100.00 to the National Building Fund was reported from the family of the late Mrs. Josie D. Harkins. The memorial service was given through the Foggie and John Graham Chapters.

The hostess served a delicious salad course to Mesdames M. J. Leete, Everett Sowers, Jo M. Davidson, Winnie P. Johns, Herbert Salisbury, A. B. Coombs, Guyette P. Plummer, Osa F. Ligon and Lida Spradlin.

Whether the state's coal miners were ignoring the orders or had not received them in time to report, was not made clear. There was strong indication, however, that many miners had refused the return-to-work orders.

ABOUT 372,000 miners stayed idle in nearly a score of states.

The steel industry scheduled new layoffs due to coal shortages, and the state of Virginia acted to give the Governor power to seize and operate the coal mines.

As the miners watched for the showdown between Lewis and the federal government, now that the coal fields have been invaded by President Truman, resumption of coal contract bargaining was assumed. The coal fields have been invaded by President Truman, resumption of coal contract bargaining was assumed.

The Southern Coal Producers Association, headed by Joseph Moody, accepted a bid from Lewis for a revised operating, starting Wednesday.

The Northern and Western operators followed suit a few hours later.

Chiefly Roy Conway of Pike county, last Friday charged contemptuously over law enforcement in a feature, she said, of the Sesqui-Centennial celebration and Floyd County veterans are asked to lend their treasures to the committee who will safeguard them for the period of five days.

A contribution of $100.00 to the National Building Fund was reported from the family of the late Mrs. Josie D. Harkins. The memorial service was given through the Foggie and John Graham Chapters.

The Story of the Stratton Bible

BY HENRY P. SCALF

Solomon Hunter Stratton, son of Tandy, was born Sept. 14, 1866, in the town of Virginia, was one of the earliest people to claim Big Sandy nativity. He married on Nov. 30, 1890, Jennie Shannon Larrea, daughter of James E. and Cate Hager Levee.

Solomon lived and died on what now the Ben Maynard farm, one-half mile up Mrs. Creek. He and his wife died in 1883 and 1885, respectively. They are buried nearby.

In the year 1855 Solomon H. Stratton bought a large leather-bound Bible and began recording the long roll of his children's names and date after name and date were duly recorded until the faded roll, the earliest entries written with a goose quill pen, in a long, genealogical record of Strattons. Some of those whose names are written there emigrated westward to Oregon, others to Kansas.

Some of the writing is very legible. "This Book is the Property of Solomon H. Stratton," and again, "James W. Stratton, 1850." Evidently this latter date is the year it was given to James Washington Stratton, son of the first paragraph relating to birth and marriage dates of Solomon H. and Jennie T. Stratton, born Nov. 30, 1891. It seems from this entry that James W. was his eldest child and Tandy Levee Stratton, born Feb. 16, 1892, is not so recorded in the old book, is identified as the Tandy L. and C. P. Stephens, Miss Yvonne Combs was elected as page.

He lived and died near what was ever afterwards called the Tandy Stratton Branch of Lower John's Creek, about 1885.

There are others and hundred legible entries and half a faded list of illegibility over a century of time.

In the year 1889 when the flood waters of Big Sandy River reached a height never since attained, the old book was seriously damaged by water, coming from close examination, it must not have been submerged, for only the glue binding the leaves has loosened. The print-

D. A. R. Names Delegates To State, National Meets; Announces Sesqui Meets

As I looked at the old signature of Solomon Hunter Stratton written nearly one and a quarter centuries ago, I recalled the writing, by some one, the name forgotten, just the back of an old document, the chapter of 1784, in Staunton, Augusta, county, Virginia, which read: "Lord, whose eyes will read this when I am in eternity?"

KITCHEN SHOWER HELD FOR MISS WILLIAMS

Mrs. Woodrow Burdett complimented Miss Eloise Williams with a kitchen shower and dinner on Saturday evening at her home "Norwood" on Cow Creek at eight o'clock. Bouquets and paper flowers were arranged throughout the house. "Tiny" tables held miniature brides, the place cards had metal wedding rings which bore the names of Miss Williams, Misses Marion Salisbury, Charlotte Salisbury, Susie Clay, Stephen, Barbara Jean May, Jane Clarke and Mesdames "Doc" Ferrell, Wm. G. Allen, Helen Stansifer, Henry D. Fitzgerald, Paul Combs, Donald Lee Meade, Tom G. Dlugos, Belvid Friend, Richard Webb, James Camacia. Following dinner, Miss Williams was presented with useful kitchen utensils with accompanying recipes from each guest which she graciously acknowledged. Bridge was enjoyed the remainder of the evening. Prizes were awarded Mrs. James Camacia and Miss Charlotte Salisbury. A guest token was presented the honoree by Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Burdett was ably assisted in serving by Mrs. R. P. Hill, Jr. and Mrs. J. B. Clark.

Arthur E. Hughes, Irvin Harris and James E. Goble were Saturday night guests of Mr. Goble's brother, Charles, in West Liberty.

Dr. J. A. Stumbo, of Martin, recently underwent an operation at the Veterans hospital, Huntington, W. Va. His condition is satisfactory, and he next week to return home within the next few weeks.

Thurman Clark, of Prestonsburg, is recovering at Veterans hospital, Huntington, W. Va., from a recent operation. He will return to his home here within the next few days. Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Clark visited him at the hospital Sunday.

PROPOSALS OF NOTHING There is a space of ten inches or so on this page which is expected to be occupied by this column, and at the moment it yawns at an inky, miserable void. I might say, it's an aching void. There isn't any ink in the well. Not an idea in the old bean. So to small talk.

If you've been on pavement so long you've forgotten how country roads are, try walking on it. You'll see the difference. And I mean real country roads, not the farm-to-market kind. Heard this week a description of a high-toned doctor whose garage was suffering from a rather high mortality rate among his patients: "Thirty-Eight Special" (in technicolor).

It's so heavy bridges up this way wouldn't make it. Or would it be more interesting to gaze upon the guy who turned in this wad of paper? A few of many words I like to see in print: waddy, precious, sequestered, sanctuaries, melancholy, somber, dolorous, hope, equivocal, peaceful. Words I like to see: "Soup's on!"

county who would give a fair and impartial trial.

The statements also mentioned the raising here of a reward fund and the hiring of detectives by a committee of Citizens' League, and advised that several county officers and officials had contributed to such a fund.

"There is now in and around the courthouse," the petition continued, "and, in fact, throughout the county an atmosphere of hatred against him (the defendant) so dense that it is, and can be readily observed by visitors, that jurors will be affected thereby and intimidated."

Continuing, the separate petitions alleged that feeling is so high in this county that if a verdict of not guilty were returned, the defendants felt mob violence.

In the course of the statements both defendants declared they are not guilty of the murder charge.

Sheriff A. B. Meade said, shortly after the hearing ended, that he would deliver Males and Dotson to the Pike county jailer, Wednesday.

Tuesday's action places the case in the hands of Circuit Judge E. D. Southanson, of the Pike circuit court. When motion for bond is made, he will conduct whatever hearing is held, and he will set the date for the trial.

Special Judge Adams commented, after the hearing, that in selecting Pike county he considered the matter of raising a fair trial and that of convenience to the public.

Males was represented by W. A. Daugherty and Edward L. Allen; Dotson by Grove C. Allen and his partner in the Jackson, Ky., law firm of Allen & Williams. Commonwealth Attorney John Chris Corcoran was assisted by E. B. Barker and County Attorney W. W. Burcheit.

RAMBLERS GET 1ST DEFEAT AS CLOWNS TRIUMPH, 73-66

Th Prestonsburg VFW Ramblers, the state champion VFW quint for two consecutive years, suffered its first defeat in nine starts for the current season here Monday night.

The touring New York Colored Clowns obtained victory number 51 at the expense of the champs 73-66, before a good crowd in the Prestonsburg high school gym. The Clowns have lost only four games this year, while playing top flight competition in twenty-five states.

Billed as a merry-making troupe of hard-core "comic" players, the visiting squad found no time for unsavory papers as they were extended in the serious business of disposing of the fast-stopping Ramblers.

Merriment, however, was seen well worth the price of admission as "Juggling Joe" Taylor and "King Mayo" entertained the spectators before the game and during intermissions. The stunts of "Juggler Joe" were especially amusing.

WIN ONE, LOSE ONE

Morgan County Picked Morgan County high school from West Liberty, veteran leader from last year's regional entry and holder of an impressive record this year, is unopposed in the 60th district and very likely will repeat as district champ. Cannel City's Raiders, who have handled all district opposition in a satisfactory manner with the exception of Morgan County, looks favored as a runner-up with a trip to the regional. Cannel City, former Maytown, Carl Stewart returns as principal, not only drew favorably but also has a good season record to back up this belief. The 60th meet, to be held at Salversville sees Salversville and Cannel City battle with Beel in the upper bracket. In the lower bracket, Sandy Hook sees against Oil Springs and Morgan County meets Roycroft.

OPEN LETTER TO PARENTS

To the Parents of Floyd County: In behalf of the Policy Forming Committee of Floyd County I wish to extend sincere thanks to you for the interest you have shown in the campaign to secure increased funds for Kentucky's schools.

It is, after all, you, the parents, who are the backbone of the school system. The qualified teachers who are still with us have shown their devotion and loyalty to the welfare of your children. They have shown that money is not the only thing which they care for, but the welfare of your child is the looser, not the teacher. Whether Kentucky ranks 47th, 48th or 50th in education generally, we know that there is a serious need for increased financial support—and that most of this will have to come from the state. Most local districts are now levying the maximum tax rate and have brought up their assessment to a reasonable level, but are still far short of their educational needs.

There are only 19,000 teachers in Kentucky. There are many times this number of parents. The fact that the parents have entered into this matter for their children's benefit is making a great impression on the lawmakers and executive officers of our state. Please continue to make known your interests and your wishes. It is a fight for what YOUR CHILDREN need and deserve.

Sincerely and educationally,
PALMER HALL, Chairman,
The Policy Forming Committee for Floyd County.

Dear Friends and Neighbors People!

THOSE who have prayed so long of the cost to the taxpayers of canalization of the Big Sandy river have some more praying to do if they are truly interested in the matter for the good of the taxpayers' pocketbook in relation to what the public pays in return.

For there is a bill pending in Congress which would authorize an irrigation and reclamation "desert" law in Arizona, which will cost the dear taxpayer a mere $1,258,780,000.

Kentucky taxpayers bear 1.20 per cent of the federal tax burden, and so the cost of this one-and-a-quarter-billion-dollar "desert" law would be $15,105,360.

This is a project planned to redeem by irrigation Arizona's wastelands. It would permit the desert land a garden spot, if it's garden spots we need.

But, if you are going to talk about canalization, consider that there already is a surplus of agricultural products. Be advised that this would be the great thing for Arizona, but remember that the Big Sandy river project, costing around $100,000,000, is that one-third of the irrigation and power job, would help not only Kentucky but the nation as a whole by opening the vast coal and industrial resources of the Big Sandy valley to the use of the nation in normal development of in any time of emergency.

Although the Arizona project has been refused endorsement of the Army Corps of Engineers, the Agriculture Department and the Federal Power Commission, it has been reported favorably by the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee and is now pending in the Senate.

The Big Sandy project has been approved by the Army Engineers, not once, but twice—and by the Mississippi Valley Association, Kentucky's General Assembly, the city Councils of communities directly affected and by other groups. Yet it faces a fight to get even committee approval, with a powerful and selfish minority as its foe.

Don't you think it's time Kentuckians get their "dander" up and fight for this needed project here at home as only they can fight, once they get started?

A Cheaper Route Suggested

It has been suggested to The Times, and with good reasoning, that Paintsville and all other downriver communities could be served in the matter of access to the Dewey reservoir by the widening and surfacing of the East Point-to-Auxier highway and the construction of a safe bridge across the river there to connect with the Prestonsburg-Auxier road.

This, it is argued, could be done at a savings of thousands of dollars over the cost of new highway construction from Paintsville up the east side of the river to join the Auxier-Prestonsburg route; at the same time would benefit Auxier, a Floyd county community, and replace an inadequate bridge across the river.

Thus, too, would be supplied a by-pass to hazardous Abbott Mountain.

The State Highway Department will doubtless give this route consideration as a matter of pure economy, if for no other reason.

HAYS OFFERS SAFETY BILL

Would Make State Law Included Federal Code Features for Mining

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 12—A proposal to incorporate the Federal Safety Code in the Kentucky mining laws and strengthen them generally was introduced in the State Senate today.

There was talk, meantime, that other proposals for altering mining laws would come in the House. They were said to bear the endorsement of the State Department of Mines and Minerals.

The Senate bill was introduced by Senator Doug Hays, McDowell Democrat, and others from Kentucky mining districts.

Hays said he understood it was an agreed bill, presumably between mine operators and the United Mine Workers.

Main points in the bill call for better ventilation, sufficient rock dusting to reduce coal-dust explosion, more clearance in mine haulways, and increased powers for Mine Department officials.

The bill proposed a minimum of one cubic foot of air a minute for each person and 200 for each animal in the intake end of the pillar line pumping air into the pits. The present law requires 100 cubic feet for each person and 200 for each animal in the mine.

Regular checks on the air intake also should be required.

Another section would provide for rock dusting in sufficient quantity to make at least 65 per cent of the mine coal dust non-explosive. The present statute sets out no specification on this.

The definition on a gassy mine has been strengthened. The new bill defined it as one in which methane has been found by air analysis in an amount of 25 per cent in any open workings. The old law figured a gassy mine as one in which the percentage of explosive gas is 50 per cent.

The 74-page bill makes numerous other changes in the safety regulations.

It called for stringent records for the State Mines Department and for annual reports.

The bill also would call for 25 district inspectors, raise their pay from $4,000 to $5,000 a year and allow them to hold office "during the period of capable, efficient service and good behavior."

The law now calls for a "adequate number" of inspectors for terms of four years each.

The measure also would raise from $250 to $5 the fee for taking the inspectors' examination and set minimum age requirements of 26 for all inspectors, 23 for a mine foreman, and 21 for a fire boss.

Duties of the mine inspectors would be increased, including making of weekly reports, as would his powers in inspection duties.

BETTER GRADING PAYS

Fred Smith, of the Little Cat community in Lawrence county, sold 1,178 pounds of tobacco from seven-acres of an acre for an average of 58 cents a pound. This crop was about average for the community, said County Agent James F. Moore, but it sold for at least a 10 per cent premium because it was properly graded and prepared for market.
