BAPTIST Simultaneous Revivals BEGINNING MARCH 25

CHRIST IS THE ANSWER TO OUR NEEDS AND TO THE NEEDS OF THE WHOLE WORLD. GOD'S WORD SHOWS THE WAY.
GOOD BAPTISTS BELIEVE EVERY WORD IN THE BIBLE, AND LOVE TO HEAR IT PREACHED ANY WHERE, AND LOVE TO TELL WHAT GOD HAS DONE FOR THEM.

More than 15,000 Baptist churches in the Southern Baptist Convention territory, east of the Mississippi River feel that now is the time to forsake folly, feed faith, and follow HIM who said:
"I AM THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD: HE THAT FOLLOWETH ME, SHALL NOT WALK IN DARKNESS, BUT SHALL HAVE THE LIGHT OF LIFE." Jn. 8:12.
Unbly fears, graining greed and silly schemes for security are wasting our wealth, empowering our enemies and placing pitfalls in the pathway of our people and our nation.
IS THERE ANY REMEDY FOR THE PRESENT FLEXIBILITY AND DISTRESS? CHRIST IS THE ANSWER.
Christ, as the answer, will be preached in the following named churches in Enterprise Association on simultaneous Revivals beginning every night at 7:30:

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH
By EWING GALLOWAY

Medical men and women stilled the proponents of socialized medicine. Did it by sheer denunciation. But they are badly mistaken if they think the issue is dead. The threat will exist until at least some of its causes are removed.

And so far as I know the medical profession has done nothing to reduce the inequalities which gave socialized medicine an issue. Overcharges by physicians and surgeons seem to be the main issue, with hospital service running second.

Though bitterly opposed to socialized medicine, I don't know what the profession can do to remove the issue from the public mind. It is for the big brass of the American Medical Association to come forward with recommendations. Also, ideas from individual doctors might start something.

If the A. M. A. worked half as hard to reduce abuses as it did in defeating temporarily the advocates of socialized medicine it is a pretty safe bet something would be accomplished.

The subject came to mind the other day. The 16-year-old daughter of my bookkeeper underwent an appendicitis operation. A surgeon on the hospital staff performed the operation, which was quite simple with no complications to bother him. Surgeon's fee, $250. Hospital was additional.

In Henderson a farm worker pays his physician $25 for delivering a baby. I can remember when town folks of means paid $20. Of course twenty would be absurd now, but to my way of thinking, $125 to a farm laborer is just as absurd. Prenatal advice to the mother is involved, of course, but a total of ten dollars probably would cover that service adequately in the average case of a healthy woman.

To a postman notes are sent about everything. The bookkeeper has voiced his complaint to all his relatives and friends. That might mean 30 votes for socialized medicine.

Regardless of my personal opposition to public doctors, I probably couldn't muster enough votes to prevent the farm hands from voting for socialized medicine.

And as the medical profession ought to now if it doesn't, politicians are always looking for issues that will catch votes.

As a rule enlightened people don't want to sit in long lines of patients and wait for a physician working for a salary. And they don't want to be carved on by a surgeon hired by the month. But those who want the best treatment regardless of rather high fees are a minority.

My own experience with physicians in the matter of fees has always been satisfactory. Most of the doctors I have known in a rather long life have been moderate in their charges. But if socialized medicine becomes a threat again, I probably will be out-voted.

This space welcomes constructive suggestions for eliminating the evils which bring socialized medicine to the fore again.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"BEAUTY AND RELIGION"

Many of the religious sects of early America condemned beauty as a sin. Thus we find in those times of the appeal of our forgers and our scenery, our flowers and our birds. Travelers in more recent times have told us that we have as much of Europe here as any that will be found in a literature that takes advantage of this natural beauty. A very few writers in the period of the Revolutionary War dared to praise scenery for its own sake. I have known many people who would have bitterly condemned Don de Crevecoeur of that time if he had, or could have, read his writings on American scenery, plants and animals. They would have called it paganism. Some of the early sects went so far as to call a love of beauty idolatry, loving an object in nature was supposed to detract from one's love of the Creator Himself, quite the opposite view of the mandate poets on whose works you and I were reared. Dr. Warren H. Wilson in his masterly study QUAKER HILL, calls attention to the fact that although the Quaker settlement are among the finest in America, no Quaker, during the more than a century and a half of its history, had ever written a poem inspired by this scenery or of its sights from the lovely plants of which the town is built. Similarly, our ancestors occasionally had a profound regard for flowers and trees, but it is a queer fact that many a person who set out trees and shrubs, and every forest on his estate. Wise, I was reared, it was quite the thing to love roses and carnations and tulips and hollyhocks, but it was thought rankly for any one to love jack-in-the-box or water lilies or gold-crocus. I believe it was an evidence of insanity for any one to speak feelingly about the glory of a sun-hill. Some of the best great things I ever heard were uttered in condemnation of people who loved music or painting or who wandered aimlessly in the woods without rod or gun.

Many times I have been amazed at the cultural richness of ignorant immigrants, a richness that certainly made our bleakness look even more bleak. I recall watching a crew of skilled Italians, none of whom could speak a connected English sentence or read one in very artistic making. Even the boss of the crew had to communicate with the workers in a half-English, half-Italianese. But, as they worked they hummed or whistled strains of Italian opera which were so beautiful that rich people who have time and money to learn great music. Many a person who passed by the workers probably felt a sort of contempt for fellows who labored in some ungodly language utterly unimpaired that these same ignorantes had treasures that many of us never even suspect exist. Of course, not all immigrants have brought culture and art with them. Some have used their eyes when they brought them, but we have usually lumped all foreigners into a single category like the small boy whom I taught forty and more years ago, who could think of nothing extraordinary about the people of Holland except that they could not talk plainly.

In spite of a good deal of wisdom some change for the better in the more than a half century that I remember well. It is still in many circles, a bit dangerous for a boy, especially to declare his love for anything artistic, unless it be the lines of a new car or a new TV set. Many of my students who are musicians or artists tell me that they have to be artists of culture, whose show their process to be let alone to study things that more primitive men condemned as bad and more modern ones have condemned as silly or useless. I am sure that I could take you on a short drive in my own town right now and find plenty of people who doubt the morality of any one who would stop to draw a picture or to play an instrument or to know the name of some way-side flower. But in general, these dis-fascinated people are hardly so vocal as they and their ancestors were and are not likely, I hope, to have you jailed as a vagrant for studying birds, for instance.

Resolutions of Respect

In Memory Of
BROTHER BALLARD M. JAMES
Who died March 4, 1951.

One again death has summoned a Brother Old Fellow, and the golden gateway to the Eternal City has opened to welcome him to his home. SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

Does shooting have a future?
You might as well hazard a guess as to the future of our latest sporting food, claims Edward Brown, noted arms authority. He says shooting won't end, but it could develop to the point where it is no longer a sport.

Stop for a moment and think. What has happened to our constitutional right to bear arms? Is it no longer a right of a law-abiding man in most parts of our country, it is prohibited from having a gun in his car ready for the protection of his life?

If you are stopped by a bandit on the highway, of course you can't have to submit. Instead you can choose to be clubbed or shot to death. Naturally—and here's the thing—the bandit can have a gun because he isn't a law-abiding citizen!

Most of us are engaged in shooting because we're interested in it as a sport, a vast majority of our hunting enthusiasts into hunting because it gets them out in the open air. They like the sport of the slow killing game does not breed a desire to kill—most humans feel a pang of sympathy for game they have killed.

Many who are against hunting try to outlaw guns because they regard them as dangerous. But are they as dangerous as many household risks—steps, bathtubs and butcher knives? Accident records indicate that they are not. Frankly, we'll never eliminate a few accidents with guns—but legislating against them isn't the answer.

If you love shooting, only you can do something about preserving its future. The answer to the firearms question is not narrow-minded gun legislation. The answer is education. Teach everyone—boys, young men, adults—how to use a gun. Then gun handling will be safe.

Two days ago an officer's report from Korea complained about the lack of GI experience in gun handling. If ever there was a time when Americans should be able to handle a gun—then it is now!

LUMPS NOT ALWAYS CANCER
About two-thirds of the lumps found in the breasts are not cancers, the American Cancer Society points out in its campaign to detect cancer in its early and curable stages. But any lump should be examined by a doctor, the ACS stresses in its 1951 educational and fund-raising Crusade.

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Ex-Marine Robert Feather, who has tried twice without success, to get on the Columbus police force, thinks he will make it now. Feather is five feet eight, and three-quarters inches tall. The city yesterday lowered its height requirements for policemen from five feet nine to five feet eight.

One million volunteer recruits are being sought by the American Cancer Society. The 1951 Cancer Crusade needs your help. Join now.

BANNER

A Stanley party was given by Fern Hale, of Prestonsburg, at the home of Mrs. Alice Roberts, March 15. Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Fannie Cecil, Mrs. Ella Hall, Mrs. Edgar Hamilton, Mrs. Leonard Jones, Mrs. Edwin Owen, Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs. Bill Jones, and Mrs. Tina Meade. Mrs. Jim Meade, Brenda and Jimmie Meade, Sylvia Castle.

The Barmer P-T-A met March 16 at Banner school for the last time in this school term. The parents wish to thank Mrs. Esthelle Burchett, Miss Betty Lou Hall and Mrs. Ballard Gull for the wonderful things accomplished.

Mrs. John Burchett was a business visitor in Prestonsburg Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes Meade are the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Burchett.

Marvin Boyd, who has been employed in Detroit, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boyd, because he isn't a law-abiding citizen!

STUDY CAUSES OF CANCER
Researchers at a world-wide cancer conference in Paris, reported that cancer results from many rather than a single cause. Such factors as degenerative changes in tissue are believed to combine with outside agents of this modern industrial era to cause cancer. Research into cancer's cause is supported by funds from the American Cancer Society. Give to the 1951 Cancer Crusade.

Jest Among Us...

By Jack WIM

High food prices and all the palaver going on over price "ceilings" made me think I was in the right place—above the ceiling, in the air—when I glanced upon a grocer's handbill the other night. Then I read it.

"IT IS OUR AIM" the cogder proclaimed, in letters bold and brave, "TO CARRY A FULL LINE OF GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES AT POPULAR PRICES, 5 AND 10 CENTS." The handbill was done in black and blue, no doubt, the advertiser being that he was going to take a beating at each individual's low prices.

Well, best this scolding announcement comes under swoning in the house, the 73 better tell you now that the handbill was printed in 1924 in that dear dim distant day, the whoddy grocery store was advertising such bargains as fresh country eggs at 10 each, extra fancy dried peaches at 10c lb., whipping cream at 10c half-pint, large can corn, 5c, and California seeded raisins at 5c a box. Lard was 8c lb., pork and beans 5c a can, sugar 10c lb., bread 5c a loaf. With every large box of oatmeal at 10c you got a green glass dish free.

The eggs were so cheap that some of the boys bought a sack of them one day and had an egg fight out in front of the store. I thought I'd never get that mess off the sidewalk. Yes, it was my store, and you can see from the above that my "ceilings" was just about high enough for the cat to squeeze under.

WAIT ON YOU, MAAM?—The Kentucky Future Retailers Association is a group of high school juniors, several hundred of them, who learn on the job. The organization is directed by the D.K. Division of Industrial and Distributive Education, and this month the cooperative merchants will have their annual convention at the University. These boys and girls learn a lot about human nature in serving the public. Howard Griffin, for instance, who has been working for two years at an Owensboro market, reports in Kentucky Future Retailer:

"I work at the meat counter most of the time. There are some people who come in that want to give us a lot of trouble, but the majority of the time they are pretty good. They like to ask if we have pig feet. We usually tell them that we were born that way. They ask if we have brains and we say, 'No, if we did we wouldn't be here.' The most trouble we have is with women who want you to give them fresh cuts. 'I don't want what is on display but something different.'"

Six Men from Floyd With 17th Infantry, Kentucky Volunteers

Frankfort, Ky., March 22 (Sp.)—Six men from Floyd county are members of the U. S. Army, 17th Infantry Regiment, which has been adopted for Kentucky by Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby, and which will be known as "The Kentucky Volunteers."

They are Pfc. Feimer R. Clifton; Allen; Cpl. Earl Collier, Gto. Col. Raymond C. Farrell, Whitewright; Pvt. Brison Howard, Garrett; Pfc. Bob Stambaugh, Estill, and Cpl. John Willis, Lancer.

Gov. Wetherby issued an order naming the adoption official after a request that the act be taken by the 17th Infantry's commanding officer, Col. William Quinn. The outfit is now fighting in Korea.

In requesting that Kentucky adopt six men of his command, Colonel Quinn pointed out that many of the original members of the regiment were Kentuckians. The unit was organized by an act of Congress in 1812 and at that time was officially known as the 7th U. S. Infantry (Kentucky). Colonel Quinn said the first commanding officer was Col. Samuel Wells, who was appointed from the Kentucky Militia.

The regiment has had an illustrious history, Col. Quinn said, and during the offensive in Korea, last fall was the only American regiment to fight its way to the Yalu River and the Manchurian border. The commander requested a Kentucky flag and said it would be carried into combat by the regiment.

When the request was made by Colonel Quinn there were 97 Kentuckians in the outfit.

CHICAGO — Burglars attempting to crack a safe with an acetylene torch got only a good soaking for their trouble. Police said the torch set fire to papers, touching off an automatic sprinkler system, which in turn sent in a fire alarm at the offices of the Hibbard, Ewell Co. The burglars, their enthusiasm damped, fled before flames arrived.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD
BY WILMAY

At the approach of Easter many think of how its real significance has been destroyed by commercialism. The season is noted chiefly for its fashion parades and unfortunately it is the only day of the year when many enter God's house.

Saw one of my favorite persons, Elizabeth Hayes, in her nice, new car. Would I like to go west with her in the summer? Would? With a sister in Houston and another in Portland, plus other relatives and friends in almost every state out there, but alas, the May budget, both gross and net, with two youngsters in college.

An orchid to Prestonsburg for its initiative in night education. That night class in Home Ec. sounds too good to be true. Some of the men must have had started sooner, so we old fogies who missed cooking and sewing in high school days, might have learned to sew a straight seam and how to prevent indentation.

The Saturday C.J. listed Kentucky as having the highest literacy of any state, according to army reports. What are we going to do about it, and when?

Ever feel sorry for kids whose parents prefer True Story to other magazines, while the youngsters choose comic? The diet of the human mind is a fair index to most of us. There is a slight difference between folks who have taste and good books and magazines and those whom without such necessities. Books still are the major source of knowledge.

Children form homes that are planned as well as planned are lucky. Be it ever so simple, landscaping discs for a frame what a frame does for a painting.

With the wealth of native shrubbery and evergreens in our beloved hills, the grounds of every public building in this section should be more than beautiful. Perhaps some of the scenic beauties of this country will make the dogwood trail a reality. Twin Spring tourists to Dewey Lake will carry home a never-to-be-forgotten picture.

Many rejoiced to note the Burma Court of Appeals freed Dr. Gordon Sengwa.

If you want something done, and some well call on the best person in town. Chances are he will do it in the time others spent making excuses for their inability to do so.

When someone remarked last week the Wets may differ for another vote in Floyd, the joke Rev. Carl Sectors of Betsy Layne used to tell in Dry campaigns came to mind.

Smantly's mistress had prayed for years that the ancient saloon across the street would meet with some disaster, but her prayers went unanswered. One day she asked the colored woman to pray with her to that end, and Smantly agreed. Next morning the saloon was in ashes.

"How is it, Smantly, your prayer was answered the very first night?" her mistress demanded.

"It's this-way," confided Smantly. "All this gets laid on my prayers, ma'am."

Drys are optimistic over the outlook for Floyd. If we have lost a vote it is unknown, but we now count in our ranks many former wets who have voluntarily changed sides in all sincerity.

WATER BOY MODERNIZED — Coach Sax Elliot of the Los Angeles State College basketball team is proving that even the job of the water boy can be brought up to date. Elliot has the team mascot roll out an oxygen tank to the players during all breaks. He says a whiff of the gas will not only help the men physically, but also give them a psychological boost. Perhaps he would call it a scientific pep talk.

Cadillac

Its Great Name is Free!

If there were some way to strip a Cadillac of every identifying emblem it possesses, and judge it solely by the way it rides and handles and performs—it would still be quickly recognizable as the "Standard of the World."

But think what a Cadillac brings you in addition to the solid value of its engineering and performance and comfort and handling ease—the wonderful Cadillac name!

Perhaps in all the world, there is no inanimate object which speaks so eloquently as the Cadillac shield. It talks of background, of progress, and of faultless workmanship.

It proclaims a promise of years and years of the utmost motoring satisfaction. It speaks of its owner, and identifies him as a man of accomplishment and discrimination.

In fact, there is nothing good and wonderful a motor car can bring that isn't promised or implied by the beautiful Cadillac shield. And it speaks a universal language, which is understood and appreciated the world over.

And remember, you pay no extra penalty for the pride and pleasure of having this great and distinguished name. They come as a "special dividend" with every Cadillac car.

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

We deeply regret that we are unable to deliver new Cadillac cars without some delay. But the demand for the car is unprecedented—and much of the company's energy and material are now being devoted to the needs of national security. Once the car is delivered into your hands, however, we know you'll agree that—patience never brought a richer reward.

BREAST CANCER SAFEGUARD X-RAYS KILL CANCER CELLS
The American Cancer Society recommends that women examine their breasts methodically once a month by help detect breast cancer at its early stages when the cure rate is nearly 80 per cent. Later breast cancer is only 40 per cent curable.

Rays from the high voltage x-ray machines or from radium destroy cancer cells. This is one method of curing early cancer, the American Cancer Society points out. Help to cure cancer by giving to the 1951 Cancer Crusade.

CHANGES HIS MIND—Thirteen-year-old George Raymond, shown at left as the recently received a physical checkup prior to discharge from the Army, was asked if he would enlist when he reaches the proper age. "They gotta draft me," was the reply of the Brooklyn youth. Raymond, who was examined at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., was in the service three weeks.

The body of the ancient Egyptian chariot, was mounted directly on the axle, with no springs.

CANCER PROGRESS MADE
The cancer death rate among women now shows a slight decline when adjusted for an aging population, the American Cancer Society points out. The overall death rate continues to rise but you can help reverse this trend by supporting the 1951 Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society.

Family Living, Topic At Women's Club Meet

Betsy Layne, Ky., March 16 — The Betsy Layne Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting March 15, at the home of Mrs. A. K. Robinson.

Mrs. J. Williams read a Creed for clubwomen, by Mrs. Hiram C. Hough; on taken from the General Federation Clubwomen magazine. This Creed was based on our duties as patriotic citizens and brought out the fact that we must have faith in God and see His guidance and to live in victory, think victory and work for it.

Mrs. Edward Lykins was leader of the program on "Management in Family Living." Family solidarity was stressed in the discussions. Mrs. W. P. Howell opened the program by reading a poem, "Fundamental," by Grace Noel Cresswell. "Strengthening Family Life" was not discussed by Mrs. T. J. Chandler. The main points of her discussion was that mothers have a great influence on the lives of everyone and that there must be a full understanding between parents and children. Miss Alice Williams presented a brief talk on the article, "Show Them Life Can Be Happy." The thought in this article was that if we act as though growing up was nothing but work and no play, our children may not want to grow up. Mrs. "Annette" followed with a talk, an "Ely Courtesy." She talked about how we could treat our children and showed the necessity of being as successful in our children as we would be to guests in our home.

Mrs. Arthur Van Kammen gave a review of an article, "Are You Raising an Ideal Man?" The theme of this article was that we should encourage a child when he shows creative tendencies.

Mrs. Williams presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Harwick and Mrs. Chandler reported on their recent attendance at the meeting held by the Floyd County Council on Education. Mrs. Howell read a letter from Governor Weatherly, in which he assured the club that Kentucky had instituted a broad highway safety program. A letter from the Kentucky District YWCA was read and discussed. Cards of thanks from the Heart Fund and the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children were passed around to the members. A letter from the chairman of Civil Defense was read and discussed and it was decided to study the problem and to make definite plans later. The contest, "Bible Previews with Youth," sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs with the cooperation of the Trotter Company, was discussed and it was voted to discuss the contest further at the special business meeting to be held Tuesday, March 26, in the basement of the Methodist Church.

The American Red Cross campaign for this community is under the direction of the club and members reported on their progress to date. The club voted to donate to the Red Cross and to send a Bible to Japan. A gift will be sent to Mrs. Lon Roberts, a club member, who is ill.

Officers for the new club year were elected as follows: Mrs. Beecher Harwick, president; Mrs. Glenn Blackburn, vice-president; Mrs. W. P. Howell, secretary; Mrs. Chandler, treasurer.

The club welcomed Mrs. Norma S. Layne and Mrs. C. W. Watkins as new members. A salad course was served the following: Mesdames O. J. Williams, Beecher Harwick, T. J. Chandler, Edward Lykins, Arthur Van Kammen, W. P. Howell, Miss Alice Williams, Mrs. Robinson, the Messes and Jean Robinson.

Floyd County Historical Notes

BY HENRY P. SCALF
ORIGIN OF GRAND SIR

The title of Grand Sir, came to Floyd county, not by order of any governmental authority and documented by the usual appendages of official directive, but came as a part of the social heritage of a people, up out of the deep recesses of their mores.

These people, the pioneers and settlers of the Sandy country, as well as their ancient antecedents, always recognized the intrinsic worth of aggressive leaders in every walk of life. The acquisition of property never was sufficient for bestowal of the title by the people
if a man had the virtues idealized in the masses, particularly the virtues of truth, integrity, and leadership.

The etymological origin of the appellation is of the dim past. Sir, defined as "A man of social authority and dignity; a lord; a master;
a gentleman," is one of the modes of address given, technically, to a knight in England. It is bestowed by royal directive. The French Seigneur, abbreviation from Seigneur, is practically the same. Seigneur is old French, applied to the lord in a manner and this mode of address was common to Southern Europe.
No essential difference exists between Sir, Seigneur, or Seigneur.
Turkey the Sultan was the Grand Seigneur. The French used the word Sire in addressing their sovereign, but previous to this had used it in addressing any lord, master, elderly or official person.

Came the period of exploration and discovery in America and after that the settlement of the new lands. These settlers in a land where the lords of the manor and the aloof aristocrats were absent, had no need to use the old modes of address, and simply retained the piblican Goodman, Goodwife, or Goody.

The decades passed. The Revolution, that violent upsurge of a people's anger and resentment against arbitrary power, was scarcely consummated when the westward urge, unsatisfied until it was blocked by the western sea, moved these veterans of change and social upheaval to spread out over the land of western waters. Nothing like this westward movement was ever before known to history. These people cutting themselves off from the past had been full of all those things intrinsic to the dignity of man, fell upon the western wilderness and created from a native potential a society wherein all persons "were free and equal." And "free and equal" they were before lowering forests and wilderness of nature. Equal were they under the savage arrows of the red skins;
equal they were in every-day life,
for in the hunt, on the hunters trail or in the meeting house, the coonskin cap, the hunting shirt, and the moccasins were the invariable dress.

But change is of the essence of history. The uniformity of life under pioneer conditions changed to the differences, fast becoming apparent, under log cabin development. In this new period the aggressive, the strong, the leader began to reap the fruit of their labor in pioneer days. They accumulated property, attained, soon, a social dignification and bearing incident to their inherent worth. The people found themselves at a loss properly to designate or address this new class that had so soon appeared after the waning of the initial struggle of the frontier. Goodman or "Goody" had been left on the eastern seaboard. Sir was too remisiscent of the titled of old Europe.
They found the answer, here in the Sandy country, in the etymological roots of their languages. They had always used grand sire to designate a grandfather or, in general, any ancestor. These grand sires, having earned from the new generation, the proper respect due to their virtues of leadership and wisdom, had also incident to their long years of thrift and labor, accumulated a competence in property. To their descendants they were grandfathers.
To others, they were grandfathers, too,
for the designation was universally used.

As the years passed, the universality of the appellation waned, and grandfathers rippled only in the cloudy twilight hours around the pe-
