ing. They were the first colored people to live in the valley. Today this acreage constitutes the colored settlement of Camp Branch.

As said, the excellent relationship between the two races began, principally with Will Honaker. He was honest, sober and a hard worker. Sometimes during a middle life a stroke left him semi-paralyzed on one side. But he continued to work, earning his living and the respect of his white friends by his industry under such handicaps. Then the great tragedy occurred. While working at Kennel, he was injured near absent Banner, his clothing caught in the machinery and a hip was dislocated. He was ever afterward crippled. For 16 years he was bed-ridden. But at last he grew able to work again. Survival had been because his white neighbors had aided him and when he was able to return to work, the energy with which he applied himself further carried the respect of his white friends. For years the stouped figure could be seen along the road or in the field as he paraded through the country. They speak of his industry as evidence of the lack of racial discrimination, she was buried in the Layne family cemetery.

The colored folk of Camp Branch have the names of their ancestors' masters—respected names like Justice, Amyx, Gardner, Honaker, Mackey. They speak of the Mayos. There was Phyllis Mayo, colored, who lived to be 83. She was the daughter of a slave, the property of the earliest Mayo. Wilson Mayo was the original owner of the slaves that took his name. While the same Mayo has died out with them in recent years, there are descendants of the Mayo slaves who tell of the tradition of the first court held in Prestonsburg. John Wilson Mayo, colored, who had contributed generously in labor, put on one of the biggest "reeds" in the community's history. There, on the rolling lawn, beyond the giant trees, nut, beef and numerous items of food were passed around to the visitors, some of them from the state department of education at Frankfort.

While it is Gardner, spiritual leader of his community who understands and relates of the almost ideal racial situation, it is Peter Justice who can tell you of the valley's history. He goes back long before the colored came and relates the traditions of the white and colored people.

Camp Branch earned its name from the fact that here, decades ago, were held some of the largest meetings in Big Sandy country. In the fall the meeting was, and was, whoppers, hoppers, and hangers-on. The colored and white came to camp and listen to the preaching. The site was under a large beech tree and near a spring that furnished water for the throngs. The trees and the spring determined the campsite. Those meetings lasted, sometimes, six days and were a wild scene of religious fervor. Amid the preaching and the singing converts were seized with the "jerks," as old-timers called it, a form of bodily rigidity induced by emotional excitement.

The custom of camp meetings died out the colored folk bought the valley, but the name remained. The old beeches yielded to the years and died. A gas well was drilled near the spring and its waters sank into subterranean depths, never to reappear. Peter is, as well as James Honaker, representative of the propertied middle class. He owns six houses, a large herd of cattle, land and a large area of timberland. "Uncle" Jim Honaker, his neighbor, is a student of a large college. But it is in Ohio State University that he is securing their education. They are here because someone told them of the excellent racial relationship of the whites and colored. There is some talk and they disappear down the country for years.

One wonders if both Ohio and Kentucky when it comes to certain things, do not have the same thing. One is Ohio's educational system, Kentucky's goodwill among its people.

Photographer James Mellon Unites Pastime and Work

The following article appeared May 16 in Signets, a publication of the Lexington Signal Dept. James C. Mellon is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Mellon of New Louisa, Ky.

At some time or other you are almost certain to have been connected with some activity here when a man bobbed up with a camera, took temporary command of the situation and obtained a picture that was later to add interest to a write-up for the Signets or a commercial publication. There is no time when a group of people resemble sheep quite so much as when they are milling about just before a picture is taken. No doubt you have been amazed to see James Mellon, the Signets photographer, and also the post-photographer, in a way that is widely self-conscious man and come up with a striking, well-balanced photograph in a matter of seconds. For years the stouped figure to look at first and then it became apparent that a steady performance of such picture production doesn't just happen.

Mellon hails from Prestonsburg. In his high school days he obtained a supply of chemicals and started developing pictures in the kitchen. Photography became a hobby that occupied his off-duty hours in the navy and the home outside the classroom at college where he majored in psychology. Maybe that explains how he transferred from the highway. A representative of the Rosenwald Foundation said that it was the most beautiful of any building they had constructed.

Harry N. Cooley recalls vividly the celebration that followed the completion of the structure. The colored people who had contributed generously in labor, put on one of the biggest "reeds" in the community's history. There, on the rolling lawn, beyond the giant trees, nut, beef and numerous items of food were passed around to the visitors, some of them from the state department of education at Frankfort.

45 from Floyd County Summer Term Students

Pikeville, Ky., June 9 (Sp.)—Ten men and 35 young women from Floyd county are among the 162 students registered for the week of the first summer term at Pikeville Junior College.

The college delegation is, as usual, the second largest county group. Only Pike county's 62 outnumber it. Dr. A. A. Page, college president, said today.

The summer student body, 10 per cent larger than it was a year ago, also includes representatives of Johnson, Martin, Lawrence, Knott and Letcher counties, Kentucky. Others are from West Virginia, Virginia, Ohio and Guatemala.

The lone Guatemalan is Margarit Hoch, Rio Bravo. She is enrolled in the college's pre-medical course, preparing to enter nursing's training. All but two of the Floyd county students take the whole number, are teachers or prospective teachers in the public schools, working for the Provisional Elementary Certificate. Of the 149 enrolled in the two-year teachers course at Pikeville, about 30 will complete it in one or two terms. They will become eligible for the certificate when they are graduated at summer commencement, August 8.

There are, of course, many cases where a hobby has led to full-time employment and Mellon is the perfect example. Now in charge of the post-photographic laboratory, he has become a professional photographer. You may wonder how he spends his off-duty hours now that his favorite pastime has become his regular work. At five o'clock each afternoon he reports to the Lexington Herald where he is also employed as a staff photographer. In common with most news photographers, he uses either a Speed Graphic or an Anscomatic Roliflex. Having two photographic jobs, he decided three months ago to adopt a hobby that would be a little different from his regular work. You guessed it. It's still photography. As a pastime he is going in for more serious composition and salon prints.

Rev. Anderson, Speaker At Fellowship Supper

"Christian statesmanship is the need of our world," declared the Rev. R. L. Anderson, pastor of the Betsy Layne Methodist Church, Tuesday night, at a meeting of the Men's Fellowship at the Presbyterian Church.

"The Russians are right when they state every man needs bread for it is the common denominator of existence. The Russians are wrong because they assume that man can live by bread alone. We need to realize the social, economic and religious implications of bread—the having and the sharing of it, he added.

The meeting was attended by approximately 25 members and guests and an excellent dinner was served.

Temporarily Unguarded on the First Day at about the time Judge Hill was overruling motion of John Young Brown, defense attorney, that the jury be unguarDED.

The penalty for armed robbery is life in the penitentiary or death. Early efforts to empanel a jury did not include a demand by the Commonwealth for capital punishment. Motion of the defense for a reduction in bond was denied by Judge Hill, who exacted the original $22,000 total in bond for Henry's appearance here Sept. 2 when second trial of the case is slated.

The body was taken to Burdette where funeral and burial were directed by the Craft Funeral Home. Greer was the fourth drowning in Yellow Lake since its impounding.

This week, Fire Chief Blackburn began a drive to raise by public subscription here, with county and city, aid, $2,500 to help equip a rescue boat to be kept at the Brandy Keg dock, ready for instant service. The fire department here already has a rescuistator, and this, under-water lights, grappling hooks and other items would be the boat's equipment.

At the examining trial in April, Stephens testified that Henry held a pistol on him while demanding the money. He was not able to identify the other man, whereby Stephens explained that he had the money on hand in anticipation of a deal between himself, Henry and the other man, whereby Stephens had planned to buy gold bullion from them. He planned to use the gold in his business, he said.

Farm NEWS and VIEWS By HAROLD B. RICE, Floyd County Agent

ONE ROOSTER OR A DOZEN MOVIES

How would you like to make five dollars this year, without working for it? I believe all of you would if it was honest money, and it is worth five dollars you can buy your child a new pair of shoes, or get a tank full of gasoline, or purchase a basket of groceries, or pay for a couple of shirts, or take in a dozen movies. OR you can just about pay for the 90 to 100 pounds of feed it takes to feed that ROOSTER.

The $300 a year feed cost is only part of the loss you suffer from every rooster you keep. Fertilizer eggs spoil more quickly. Also, the presence of roosters in a flock has a tendency to decrease egg production. Especially is this true in hot weather. The only time you have a reason for keeping roosters is when you are producing hatching eggs for a hatchery. Then you should only allow the roosters to be with the hens during the hatching season.

Now is the best time for you to get rid of your roosters. If you keep them past laying size they will become tough and starchy and you will lose money on them. So sell those roosters and save $5.00 for each rooster you usually keep. A new Circular, "The Kentucky Cow and Calf Plan," has just been received at the County Agent's office. "Those of you interested in producing fat baby beavers should call at the office for a copy of this book."

IT'S A GOOD WORLD
BY WILMAY

Miss Annie L. Allen of Prestonsburg, mountain missionary for 36 years, has just written a small leaflet on the value of Daily Vacation Bible Schools, advising mothers to sow precious seed in the hearts of their children while they are young. How right she is! Every parent should see that the children attend at least one Bible School each summer, more if possible.

Dropped by to see Katherine Hall in Martin the other day and found Sheila Frasure there, selling her an encyclopedia. The two little boys of Katherine and Johnnie are still too young to read, but already their wise parents own three or four sets of outstanding books for them, good insurance for their future mental and character development.

Many young parents waste so much, and never care enough to start a home library in the years when one counts most.

Too often parents start talking about college for son or daughter, when the kids finish high school, or they wait till ten to mention nurse's training, or mechanical work, or a business course. The right time to sell such ideas to Susan and Johnnie is when the children are very young. Bring them up with no other thought save that they must continue their education and training, and they will not be hard to persuade. In fact, they will, if necessary, be ready and willing to work their ways through school.

Floyd counties do get around. In Lexington recently we ran into Mrs. Sirkle, the good-looking, art's. No doubt she was shopping, while we looked around. Got to Cedar Village for lunch and in came Mr. Martin's wife, her sister, Mrs. Axtwood, their mother, Mrs. W. J. Turner, Sr. and brother, Ernest Turner. In another store a young clerk eyed the pin on E. R.'s lapel, and said, "United Fuel; they do business in my home county." Turned out he is Charles Moore, formerly of McDowell.

Ain't shopping a pain? And don't we women folks beat all! After sayin' plenty about our women a-wearin' these-neh little bitsy bonnets that barely sit on the head, I upped and bought one of the things for myself, soon as the saleslady declared hit was made for nobody else! Started weakenin' the moment she pulled it out. The best lookin' man from Sandy was moppin' his brow, waitin' outside with a load of packages. Time the clerk called him in hit was too late to back down. He took one look 'n' said, "Honey, you look sweet as pie in that." He may have said it, but he was tucked out and ready to call hit a day, after trappin' 'n' all over town the day before. Truth is I wanted a Panama clothe, not a clock, mind you; that's French for one style hat. Had a secret hankerin' for a clothe ever since seen 'em precious Maxie Huts looked in one, few years past. Nary one to be found this early. Only a few Panamas had arrived.

Second choice was a Tuscan, one of them natural-colored straw hats that take your breath and your pocket book, too. Louise Houdistan bought a honey of a one last year before summer ended, and she des'n't have to wait fer priors or drap. The cutest Tuscan in Lexington was jist fifteen dollars, the sort that does somethin' for a homely map like mine. That time the boss was waitin' downstairs. No doubt he'd have said take it, ter git it over! It's several years since we sunk fifteen bucks into headgear so resistance 'vun. 'P.S. Ronnie looked as if Mom must have been teched in the head if he EVER paid that much, seem' he thinks her hats resemble his year-end hats generally. His dad said I really paid that once in earlier days. Ronnie rejined his must have been MUCH earlier, past his recollection, anyway.

Anyhow, the saleslady said, "This little silk number will even go with your fur coats in winter time!" She failed to say how it will look without fur coats.

Tried my best to give it to Libby when she got home this mornin', but havin' worn it myself, but she refused to be ensnared. Now I'm stuck with the thing for the next ten years, bein' that's how often we buy such. Us women folks. We do beat all!

TAKE AS MANY AS YOU CAN AT NEW CUMBERLAND LAKE

Frankfort, Ky., May 27.—The limit of black bass which a fisherman may take from Cumberland Lake has been raised to 15 per day and the size limit has been eliminated altogether for the months of June, July and August. This action was taken today by the Game and Fish Commission, in session in Frankfort, and Earl Wallace, Director of the Division of Game and Fish. It is pointed out that these new regulations apply only to Cumberland Lake and the creek limit of 10 per day and a minimum of 10 inches in length, still applies to all other waters of the state. At Cumberland Lake the 15 limit shall be the first 15 taken.

This action was taken on an experimental basis. Cumberland Lake has the highest bass population of any such impoundment in the United States, a recent survey showed.

The waters of Cumberland Lake, where the regulation applies is described as follows: That area between Wolf Creek Dam and the last riffle below Cumberland Falls, plus those backwaters and up to the first of all incumbrances between the dam and Cumberland Falls.

The regulation, which is being filed with the Secretary of State, points out that a possession limit of 20 black bass may be had from the waters of Cumberland Lake only after a fisherman has fished two or more days.

The Commission set the squirrel season to open on August 25 and to close on November 5. The bag limit remains at six with a possession limit of 12.

By resolution the Commission also ordered that news releases from the Division of Game and Fish be cleared through the Publicity Department. Purchase of Kirtlander Lake near Owensboro was ordered and construction of rock and log dams in Big Creek, Pike county, and Eagle Creek in Grant county, was recommended. Construction of a pond in Marion county also was given the Commission's approval.

The sessions were presided over by Dr. Joe P. Hill, Lebanon, chairman of the Commission.

Game Fish Law Changes

Changes in the Game and Fish Commission laws, enacted at the 1952 session of the Legislature will become effective on June 15. One of the major pieces of legislation was that which changed the Division of Game and Fish to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. The title of Earl Wallace, who has been Director of the Division of Game

A brief digest of the other changes is given herewith, but it is important that the reader familiarize himself with the laws in their entirety by reading the complete text of the new laws and changes. Briefly here's what the new legislation does:

Repeals the law making mandatory the confiscation of unplugged guns and raises the minimum fine for the use of an unplugged gun from $15 to $25.

Repeals county hunting and fishing licenses.

Permits 10 day non-resident fishing license for $2, and repeals former law which permitted three-day license for $1.

Repeals wholesale fish dealers license.

Increases furbuyers' license to $5, with the license conforming to the season, rather than on a yearly basis.

Increases trappers' license from $2 to $5.

QUESTIONS

- 1. Why hasn't balance due the county and school board from Sheriff's settlement for 1949 been paid? When will it be paid?
2. What is going to be done with the $68,000 collected for construction of the hospital?
3. When does the fiscal court expect to stop violating the law by spending in excess of the budget?
4. When do the officials expect to pay back the excess income they have collected over their constitutional limits of $7,200.
5. Why hasn't payment been made already?
6. What kind of road was built with the one-quarter million dollars paid out to individual contractors for building of the Johns Creek Dam road?
7. With the loss of revenue anticipated from the abandonment of coal operations, what provision is being made to reduce expenses?
8. Are the taxpayers willing to pay a blanket raise in taxes when it is known that the money in excess of constitutional limit on salary of some officials has never been paid into the county treasury?
9. Why did the taxpayers let their representatives pass a law in 1950 requiring the county to pay for the services of a circuit court stenographer when most or all of the revenues and fees from that court are paid into the state treasury? Why shouldn't this be paid by the state?
10. Why did the taxpayers let their representatives pass a law requiring the county to pay for the commonwealth detective when he carries the circuit court and commonwealth's Attorney which are state offices?
11. The taxable value of the property of Floyd county decreased $427,191.00 last year. This means taxes on approximately $500,000 was lost to the county. What has been done to curb spending and cut down on the budget by reason of this loss?
12. Why didn't the county attorney, when he first took office, sue to declare void the expenditures in excess of the county budget? We are informed that each year since 1911 at least, the fiscal court has violated the law by entering into contracts in excess of the budget.
13. Who do you think is going to pay those contracts in excess of the county budget?
14. Why do candidates for office spend so much to get an office that pays constitutionally the sum of $7,200 per year?
15. Do you want an audit of the county's financial records for the past five years?

The duties of the Floyd County Good Government Taxpayers League are to ask questions the taxpayers want answered. The questions we have stated are just a few. There will be more and we will keep on asking them until we find all the answers.

The League is here to stay. It is not a fly-by-night, temporary, "here today, gone tomorrow" thing. We have the support of many substantial tax-paying citizens and we are gaining more support every day.

Every honest, conscientious county official will tell you that the League is a good thing and can be of great value to the taxpayers. The League is not something that was organized to grind any political axes. It's duties are to act as a watchdog over the tax dollar and let the people know the truth about their county government.

Floyd county can be a great county. More taxes are paid in Floyd county than in any other county in this region with the exception of Pike county. With those tax dollars we can have better roads. We can have better schools. We can have better government. And, when we have those things, we'll have more industry. We'll have more jobs for our people and we'll have better homes and a better way of life. Before we can have those things, we first have to have more taxpayers who want to see how their tax dollars are spent, who are curious about their government, who keep on asking questions and who are willing to take a part in finding out.

This is the year of decision.

Whatever your views may be, whether you are a Democrat or Republican, you should place loyalty to your county above any political party!

"Finished at Fifty?"
—Man Alive! You're
In the Prime of Life

Fifty is young. Many thousands of folks are peppy at 75. Try "pep" up with New HI-VITA Tonic. Contains tonic for weak, tired, run-down feeling due solely to body's lack of iron, B-1, B-2 and Niacin—many men and women call "old." When your head aches, your breath is foul, your tongue coated with a white film, your eyes are watery, your heart is racing, your nerves are causing indigestion. You may feel nervous, dull, lazy, no appetite, without spark in your eyes. Your mind may lack brilliance and you look pale, haggard, older than your years, when life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down and you find yourself cross and grouchy. A shortage of iron, B-1, B-2, B-6 and Niacin in your body cells, blood corpuscles and tissues may be the cause of all your needless suffering. New HI-VITA Tonic is then what you need.

Watch the results a day or two after using HI-VITA Tonic. The house-cleaning it will do in your body—the secreted poisons it will bring out. You will begin to feel new, surging strength as your body cells, tissues and muscles tone up as your body is swept clean of its poisonous matter. New red blood will charge into your veins. Color will return to your face. Folks will talk about how well you are looking. You will sleep like a log. Your food will have a finer taste and you will eat with relish. You will feel like a new and different person. You get New HI-VITA Tonic at W. A. ROSE DRUG STORE.

TWO FLOYD PUPILS ON STUDENT BODY

Graduates of two Floyd county high schools were elected to offices on the Student Council of Morehead State College and were inaugurated last month, along with other Council officers, in the first such ceremony in the history of the college.

Hugh Stumbo, of Prestonsburg, a graduate of Martin high school, was elected vice-president, and Miss Betty Mae Mead, of Morehead high school, was named treasurer. In fact, Stumbo was twice elected, a second vote having been necessitated by the omission in the original election of one candidate's name from the ballot.

A son of Mrs. T. L. Williamson, of Prestonsburg, he is a junior at Morehead, is advertising manager of The Trail Blazer, college newspaper, a member of the Campus Club, Kappa Delta Pi and the Mystic Club, and is vice-president of the Beaux Arts Club. Art is his major field.

Miss Mead also is a junior in the college, and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Mead, of Morehead. She is secretary-elect of Kappa Delta Pi, reporter for the Mystic Club, member of the Morehead Players, YWCA and Kappa Mu, of which she last year was vice-president. Twice a candidate for Homecoming Queen honors, Miss Mead has twice been elected Sweetheart for the annual Sweetheart's Ball.

McCOMAS IN LINE FOR CARNEGIE MEDAL AFTER RACING WITH TRAIN TO SNATCH TROT FROM CERTAIN DEATH AT LIMA, O.

The long legs and stout heart of Glenn McComas, baggage handler at the Pennsylvania railway station, Lima, O., and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McComas of Eastern, this county, have won him a recommendation to the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

While a score of others recently stood paralyzed by horror at the sight of a three-year-old boy toddling along a railroad track, straight toward the Admiral, crack Pennsylvania flyer, McComas sprang into action. Running at top speed, McComas swooped up the child and leaped from the tracks, split second before the train roared past.

The child, Tommy Shonover, grandmother, and had wandered onto the tracks after playing in an automobile in front of the house. Onlookers said that as he walked toward the train he would trip and fall, every few steps, but would pick himself up and plod along as if oblivious to his danger.

T. A. Healy, Pennsylvania agent who witnessed the rescue, said of the Floyd county's feat, "I never saw a man run faster in my life than McComas did when he took off down the tracks. He had run almost two blocks before he reached the boy. He picked him up without missing a step and crossed the tracks."

The child, who had screamed, "Mama, Mama!" as he ran toward the train, insisted later, "I still like trains."

The six-foot-two McComas dryly observed, "I knew these long legs of mine were good for something."

In Pike county, 17 4-H club members in six communities set 5,000 Tennessee Beauty strawberry plants this spring.

RUPTURE SHELD EXPERT HERE

H. SHEVYAN, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Prichard Hotel, Huntington, Sunday and Monday only, June 22 and 23 from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Mr. Shevyan says: "The Zoetie Strain is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly no matter the size or location but it will increase the circulation, strengthen the weakened parts, and thereby close the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments."

Mr. Shevyan will be glad to demonstrate without charge. 6509 N. Artesian Ave., Chicago 45. Large incisional hernia or rupture following surgical operation especially solicited.

New Drivers' Licenses To Be In Clerk's Hands By June 10, Is Report

The new Kentucky driver's licenses are being distributed to Circuit Court Clerks this week, Robert A. Thompson, Local Relations Director, Department of Revenue, announced in Frankfort Tuesday. Circuit Clerks are being asked to begin the sale of drivers' licenses as soon as possible after June 10.

Earlier sales dates are planned this year as the result of a new provision in the law for a $1 penalty for failure to obtain a renewal license on or before July 21, 1952. The law provides that no exemption from this penalty be allowed.

Other important provisions in the law provide that some new licenses will be good for two years while others will be good for only one year. If your family name begins with "A" through "K," your new Kentucky Motor Vehicle Operator's license will not expire for two years. Persons whose family names begin with the letters "L" through "Z" will be issued one year licenses this year, but will get licenses next year which will last for two years. The cost of the two-year license is $2, and the one-year license remains $1.

Persons in the military service who drive in Kentucky are required to have a Kentucky Motor Vehicle Operator's License except when operating an official vehicle on official business with a U.S. Government Operator's Permit.

Welfare Fund Reported Discontinuing Dental Service Given Miners

Free dental service has been practically discontinued for miners and their families, it was said this week. Dr. Leslie A. Palke, Pittsburgh, Pa., area medical director for the Welfare Fund U.M.W.A., said free trips to the dentist will be financed only in the case of "severely disabled" persons who qualify for treatment in special rehabilitation centers.

The physician said the fund had been too hard hit by applicants for dental aid. He also reported the fund has shut off payments for removal of tonsils and adenoids.

Although the fund is reported to have more than $100,000,000 in the treasury, it went into the red to the tune of $1,500,000 last month. The fund comes from royalties of 30 cents which coal operators pay on every ton of coal mined.

Floyd County Historical Notes
 By HENRY P. SCALF

Jean Schmidt Baisden, the founder of the Baisden family, came to this country from Belgium, as a follower of La Fayette, to fight for American independence. It is presumed that he did not arrive on the same ship with the Marquis but that he came immediately thereafter.
 The above facts were mentioned in this column and that started a train of events and research that has led to the recovery of information on the family that might otherwise have been lost. It also started in research a pair of indefatigable workers that are a credit to the fraternity of researchers. They are Carl and Inez Baisden Livingston, of Loyall, Harlan county.
 Mrs. Livingston is a descendant of Jean Schmidt Baisden. The historical note referring to Baisden aroused her interest and she set out to substantiate her lineage to this Revolutionary ancestor.
 She was ably assisted by her husband, who being a descendant of the Livingstons, southwest Virginia, sought, while he was aiding his wife, to learn more of his people. Starting from little information they traveled hundreds of miles, they bought volumes, visited historical society libraries and pored over county seat records. A new world had opened—the long road and the vista of research. At the end would be no rainbow. It was the road that mattered and the many interesting things alongside.
 Jean Schmidt Baisden Anglicized his name to John Smith Baisden, married Rhoda Branham, daughter of David Branham, October 4, 1795. February 14, 1797 he was the grantee of 200 acres of land on the Little Branch of New River. The consideration was 100 pounds, indicating that it was of good quality. Here to this transaction he signs his name Goddy Augustine Jean Schmidt Baisden.
 There were several children to this union. One son, Joseph married Ligeia Osborne, of Floyd county. Perhaps it was this marriage of his son to a Floyd citizen that caused his removal from the mouth of Laurel creek in the present Logan county, West Virginia, to the Big Sandy.
 The researchers Livingstons wondered why Baisden emigrated from New River to the mouth of Laurel creek in southwest Virginia. The answer seems to be that he, in common with innumerable other western migrants were feeling their way towards the setting sun the best way they knew. Another consideration was the lurking savage. Although General "Mad" Anthony Wayne had destroyed the power of the Indian at Fallen Timbers in 1794, yet nests of renegade Indians roamed or camped in the Allegheny mountains. So Baisden came to Laurel creek. Here after a few years and the removal of a family he moved to Big Sandy. He left a numerous progeny in the present Logan county.

J. E. Akers, of Dwaite, contributes some information on the Akers family. Little research has been done on the family but a wealth of data seems to be dormant awaiting recovery. This family was one of the earliest in Floyd. They came with the Mead family and settled on Big Mud Creek.
 One of the early Akers was Thomas, as Blackburn Akers. The home has been copied. Thomas Blackburn which is an incorrect rendering of the old goose quill penmanship. Thomas married Kishah Mead, April 24, 1823, daughter of Samuel Mead, of Bedford county, Virginia. This Samuel Mead, if a digression is allowed, married Katy Goodhard, about 1790 in Bedford county. They moved to Big Sandy, in the present Floyd county, near the turn of the nineteenth century. Some writers have it as 1794 but this column is convinced this is at least five years too early. The date was nearer 1801. Anyway Samuel was one of Floyd county's very earliest settlers.
 Jonathan and Solomon Akers were two other early Akers. They were probably brothers and brothers, too, of Thomas Blackburn Akers, although we have no proof except that the ages correspond to that assumption.
 Jonathan married Kitty Mead May 19, 1812. Kitty was the daughter of Robert Mead, the settler of 1801 at the mouth of Big Mud creek. Another daughter of Robert, after 60 years of cooking...

Electricity is my choice

When you've tried them all... you know what's best

From river boat cook stove to an automatic electric range—that's the story of Mrs. Nora Clark's 60 years of cooking.

"I changed from one method of cooking to another until I tried them all," says Mrs. Clark. "Now that I have an electric range I wouldn't consider changing to any other method."

Veteran homemakers and brides-of-a-month agree with Mrs. Clark—they never want to change from electric cooking. And why should they? Electric cooking is so easy. Automatic, accurate oven controls practically do the work for you. Your kitchen keeps clean longer... stays cool even when you're baking.

And for all these wonderful benefits, you'll find electric cooking economical, too. Next time you pass by your electric range dealer's, stop in and see which model electric range you like best.

The Floyd County Times Official Organ for Floyd County, Ky. Published Every Thursday by Prestonsburg Publishing Co.

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Ky. under the act of March 3, 1879.

Circumstances Still Alter Cases THE TIMES believes that any law dealing with the business of saving or protecting human lives should be a law with "teeth in it," but it does not see how the Congress can write a blanket bill to cover all coal mining operations in the United States with any degree of fairness.

The Congress can do more equitably fix regulations covering all mines, in every part of the country, than the Interstate Commerce Commission could set one freight rate for all the country and then the matter of haulage distance out the window.

Circumstances alter cases, it must be repeated in the instance. The men who go into the mines and work there, and they themselves serve every possible protection, and they themselves share with their employers the responsibility in this matter of safety. But when regulations which can be complied with in one section of the country without ruinous effect are imposed on other sections which cannot comply and still show a profit and an economic reason for continuing in operation, the rules rob the game.

We admit, our knowledge of mining is limited—very limited. But there is a truth in what one of our operators says: "I am not a miner, but I am a man who works in the mines and I know the men who work in the mines."

Terrible mine disasters and the failure of the states to take care of the problem have created this demand for federal legislation. This is quite understandable in the coal fields which are non-gaseous or which have no disaster history, such as has been written in Illinois, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and some other parts of the country, should not penalize into bankruptcy the operators and starvation for the miners by a blanket edict.

Eastern Kentucky faces many serious problems, not the least of which, of course, is the matter of life and death for the worker. But there also is the practical business of living and letting live, and safety should not close, in its end result, on the question its own industry.

Which All Can Answer DID the business men of Prestonsburg gain by the loss of that carnival last week?

Did the moral atmosphere of the community profit from the "grille shows" and the ragtag hangers-on at the carnival?

Did the moral atmosphere of the community profit from the "grille shows" and the ragtag hangers-on at the carnival?

Did you respect for law and order increase as you saw open gambling permitted, with officers of the law on every hand?

If your answer to these questions was "no," petition your City Council to give us more and bigger carnivals with more and better supervision. We've got your head examined.

Pikeville, Ky., June 2—Eight Floyd County young people were among the 52 receiving diplomas from Pikeville Junior College at commencement last Thursday.

Toby Wells of Wayland, was in the class of 17 graduated from Pikeville College Academy at the same exercises. She and Homer Owens, Jr., Pikeville, received the Good Citizenship medals awarded annually to two graduates by the Pikeville Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Omer Carmichael, Louisville superintendent of schools, addressed the graduating classes on "Free Men from a Free Country."
