FLOYD COUNTY LOSES

"Jim Bob" Hurt did not come to Floyd county until a little more than 20 years ago, but he did more in that time for the county than did any of its native sons in a long lifetime.

NO TRAITOR, HE

Whatever you may say of John L. Lewis, you can't accuse him of disloyalty to his friends or the friends of his.

LOOK

By the way with whom? This is the question, is it not? The answer is: The Republican nominee.

WITH A CLOGGED TO HDY

The public prints record the fact that a U.S. court in Washburn, Oregon, has taken up the case of a black marketeer charged against an Air Force colonel's wife and that seven other cases against her remain to be heard.

TEMP'S FUGITS

Yes, we are growing old, Maggie. So old that we forget to remind all our folks that we passed our 50th birthday without knowing it.

JAS. R. HURT HEART VICTIM

Virginian, Leader Here In Business, Civic Work Dies Tuesday Afternoon

James R. Hurt, Prestonsburg civic and business leader, died at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday near Woodlands while being transported in an ambulance from his home here to a Lexington hospital for treatment of a heart condition.

Mr. Hurt was stricken Friday, and for a time it was believed his condition was improving. However, he shocked hundreds of friends and business associates throughout this section.

A native of Cedar Bluff, Va., he came to this county in 1939 as superintendent of the Prestonsburg Coal Company on Bull Creek, near here, and when the mine was reorganized as the Sandy Valley Coal Company in 1939 he became its secretary-treasurer. He was succeeded by John B. and Curtis Gillespie Hurt.

At the time of his death Mr. Hurt was president of the Board of Guaranty Bank at Martin and secretary-treasurer of the Big Sandy Coal Operators Association. He was the first president of the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce and of the Prestonsburg Lions Club, was a member of the Boy Scout movement and an active worker in the Boy Scout movement in Lonesome Pine Country and the Floyd district.

His business interests, in addition to the Martin Bank, included the Floya Finance Co., Prestonsburg.

OPINION VOIDS 2nd PRINTING

Of Primary Ballots In County; Original Ballots To Be Used

Floyd county must use at the primary election August 2 the ballots first printed on order of County Clerk DuRan Moore, the office of Attorney General J. D. Buckner, in a letter to Mr. Moore this week.

The Attorney General's office in an earlier opinion, delivered orally, had indicated there would be no technical reason invalidating the second printing of the ballots omitting the names of these candidates.

The opinion was asked by County Clerk Moore after Mack Harmon, president of the Board of Supervisors, had changed the order of candidates' names on the ballot, leaving James R. Carter, his opponent, in the No. 1 position.

Second printing of the ballots was done at the expense of Mr. Carter.

STATE OPENS BRIDGE HERE

Load Limit, 10 Tons; State Aid Necessary, Officials Here State

The State Highway Department's order last Thursday allowing the bridge crossing the Big Sandy to West Prestonsburg and the important highway to be opened to traffic about 2,000 pounds was lifted Saturday.

Great weight of vehicles and their loadings has caused the bridge, beginning Saturday noon, stands at 10 tons.

Normal traffic was permitted after the bridge had been closed since the weakened joint in the bridge. A speed limit of 15 miles an hour also was posted.

Although 15 departments of official failed to say whether or not the state has accepted the bridge for maintenance, County Judge Henry Stumbo said it seems relative to the span indicate that this may have been done. He and County Attorney Curtis Burchett, however, several months ago asked the state to take possession of the bridge. Again Monday, W. F. Curdin to do this pointing out that the span is a highly important link on a state highway.

Officials here this week pointed out that it is extensive repairs or reconstruction of the bridge is necessary. The expense will be too great for Floyd county to bear.

Judge Stumbo pointed out to Commissioner Curdin that the Abbott road to connect with the Prestonsburg-Salyersville route via State Road fork can be placed in condition for traffic while work is being done on the bridge here. Some sort of connection must be effected, when and if the bridge is closed, it was emphasized because the bridge for repairs would isolate the railway station at West Prestonsburg, and the county and other communities on the east side of the river, would stop travel to David and Salyersville and also would halt the operation of school buses.

SO BELL ASKS RATES BOOST

Proposed Martin Rate Is Cited As Example; August Action Sought

The Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company applied Wednesday for permission to increase its rates enough to bring in revenue of $2,820,000 more a year.

It was the fifth rate increase sought by the company since 1946. Less than a year ago, the company's Bell won the right to obtain $2,000,000 of a rate raise it put into effect in Kentucky July 6, 1950.

The company wants to put its higher rates into effect August 16. But Lively Wilson, secretary of the Public Service Commission, said the rate increase would be subject to the request for five months, pending outcome of hearings on the application. These are due to start August 15.

C. Hunter Green, the company's Kentucky manager, said $788,453 of the request increase is needed to offset war costs resulting from the approval by the Wage Stabilization Board of pay raises for more than 2,000 Bell employees in Kentucky, including 1,700 in Louisville.

A new exchange pending at Martin would be charged $7.75 for one-party business phone and $3.75 for single-party residential phone.

THURSDAY

7 CHILDREN HIT BY POLIO IN FLOYD CO.

Spread of Disease In County Is Wider Than State Average

With seven sufferers from the disease officially listed this week, Floyd county apparently is harder hit by the spread of poliomyelitis than the average Kentucky county, it was said here Tuesday when figures compiled by the State Department of Health were released.

The state as a whole had had 67 reported cases up till last week. Then in this week 69 new cases were reported.

Floyd county was first hit by the disease about two weeks ago when three children, one of them, 11-year-old Jackie Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Bradley, of Price, is critically ill.

Most of the polio cases reported in the county have been of a mild type, it was said. But one child, 10-year-old Jackie Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Bradley, of Price, is critically ill.

Another sufferer is Joe Hall, 3, son of Nancy Hall, of Honaker. The child's legs are paralyzed and hospitalization was ordered, but hospitalization was not accepted and the baby was returned home. Dr. Curtis Burchett, county health officer, said.

The Burketts' child, first of three children to be afflicted, has muscular weakness in the right hip constitutes the most damaging effect of the disease.

The cause of polio is still a mystery to medical science. Doctors urge parents to guard their children from contact with other children and to keep them away from large gatherings.

Although the only known Floyd county victims are children, the disease is moving into older age groups, reports from other states indicate.

FIELD DAY'S PROGRAM SET

As Large Gathering Expected at Maytown Event Next Week

A gathering of farm-folk representative of all sections of the county will be held at Maytown, Ky., next week, according to the Big Sandy Farm Family Day which will be held next Thursday on the farm of Miles Gibson, near Maytown, County Agent Harold B. Rice said this week.

After registration at 9:30 a.m., and the welcome from Mr. Gibson at 10, home economists of the Kentucky & West Virginia Power Company will give demonstrations for the benefit of women, including cooking and preparation of beans and corn for freezing. This will be followed by the awarding of seven "door prizes" to members of the feminine contingent.

Mr. Gibson and County Agent Rice will lead the men in a tour of the farm, beginning at 10. Demonstrations for men will include the use of 2 1/2 in. on poison ivy and weeds, how to take soil samples, ammonium nitrate seed dressing on corn and the same applied to pasture, the restoration of galvanized iron roofing by use of zinc paint and an exhibit of Ky. 103 and U. S. 13 hybrid corn.

After the basket lunch at noon, Ray L. Flannery, field agent in Agronomy, University of Kentucky, will speak on the topic, "Soil Testing As a Basis for Fertilizer Development and Improvement." Open discussion and a question-and-answer period will follow.

Prizes in addition to door prizes for both men and women, will be awarded to the newest married couple present. The Floyd county team traveling the greatest distance to the Field Day, the oldest man and woman present, the couple longest married, and the longest family.

"Our intention," said County Agent Rice, "has been to plan a program which will interest every member of the farm family."

Floyd County Times

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

Were the Vegetables Preferred to Silver?

Somebody dug Denver Crabtree's potatoes and collected the tomatoes from his Ball Alley garden at the upper Prestonsburg city limits Saturday night, July 12. Somebody left a silverservice case and several pieces of Rogers silverservice lying around the foot-laden burglar just decided whether the posher and the loss of silverservice were one and the same person has not been learned.

Mr. Crabtree learned of his garden less the next morning when he visited the Ball Alley site. The silverservice case was found about the same time with a few pieces of the silverservice. A few days later other pieces were picked up. Could be that the foot-laden burglar just decided to collect a few vegetables on his way home. Being overladen he had to chuck something—ah, considering the price of groceries, he chucked the silverservice.

MINING LAGS, IDLE PAY UP

Cool Loadings for Week Ending July 12 New Low For 1952, Ass'n Reports

The close connection between employment and the coal industry in the Big Sandy area was revealed this week when data accumulated from several sources showed rising unemployment and a declining number of cars of coal loaded.

May had 5,929 weeks of paid unemployment for June the figure rose to 10,008 weeks. They had 82 idle men on unemployment but the figures for June showed a jump to 1,211. A calculation based on the data showed that the number of initial claims are rising, though not as spectacularly as in June.

One interesting fact gathered from the Department of Economic Security is that the number of workers in covered employment in this area has declined from over 200,000 in 1948 to 150,000 in 1952. This is an indication of labor immigration.

Two months ago a source in the Louisville area released figures on the relationship of initial claims and number of coal miners employed. It was said that less than 2 per cent of the Louisville area filed. The average for the state stands at 5 per cent. This area has a figure of approximately 25 per cent, according to Glenn S. Anderson, manager of the Prestonsburg office of the Department of Economic Security.

The Floyd county picture, which is stated in part, but not altogether due to the steel strike, is dreary. It was thought that the inland steel miners would drop out of the picture and that in a few days they would be back on unemployment claims. Beginning with Monday this week, employment in the Elkhorn Coal Company at Wayland began to fall, mostly for partial claims. A number of the Elkhorn employees voluntarily on the rolls for full claims as they had been laid off permanently sometime ago.

This week ending July 12 showed 3,023 cars were loaded in the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association area. This was down to a new low for the year, since no week so far had dipped that much. Usually the figure for 50 ton cars loaded stands from 4,000 to 5,000 and more. The figure for the week ending June 28 was 5,641 cars.

Mines not working at all according to figures released by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association.

Cancer Fatal To Conn, Arkansas Coal Man

Arnold Conn, 44, of Arkansas Creek, Martin, died at the Beatrice and Valley hospital, July 18, of cancer. He was the son of Will and Lizzie Jarrell Conn. His wife preceded him in death sometime ago but his mother survives.

He is survived by the following children: Mildred and Dorothy of Martin. Also surviving are the following whole brothers and sisters: John B., Noah, Ernest, Verne, Martin, Polly Ann, and Mrs. Kansas Sammons, all of Martin. The following half brothers and sisters survive: Dewey, of Martin; H. of Banner and Mrs. Ernest Boyd, of Betty Layne.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday at the home church by the Rev. Sam Thomas officiating. Burial was in the family cemetery on Arkansas creek under direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

SAFETY LAW IS IN EFFECT

Mines Employing More Than 14 under Federal Regulations for Safety

The United States Bureau of Mines is making its first coal pit inspections this week under the Federal Mine Safety Act, which gives the agency power to close pits.

The act, signed by President Truman last week, is intended to prevent major accidents resulting from explosions, fires, floods and other tragedies.

The law, supported by the United Mine workers, gives a federal inspector the power to order mines withdrawn from operations when there is imminent danger of a major disaster or where previously designated hazards have not been corrected. A large segment of the industry opposed passage of the law.

Excluded from the act are all mines and those employing less than 15 persons. It covers about 2,000 mines in the Bureau's northern, eastern region, embracing Kentucky, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Illinois, Maryland, Indiana, Ohio and Virginia.

STRIKE SETTLED

It was announced from Washington this week that the steel strike had been settled.

FLOYD MEN WERE WELCOME TO THIS JOB OF TUNNELING BENEATH RIVER AND THEY, ACCUSTOMED TO MINE PERILS, TOOK IT

Most men of Lorain, Ohio, who were offered a job of digging a tunnel under Black River refused. Nobody cared to risk his life laboring in a treacherous cavity with only 27 feet of earth and stone separating them from the water of Black River above. But these were men who would do the job and they were Floyd county men from the Hatcoed Journal. Being ex-miners they were not afraid of dark tunnels, being under a hill or a river.

The tunneling job, which is an official of the Fabco Construction Company said that he would not take another like it for all the money in Lorain, is the construction of a sewage disposal system 620 feet long to connect the west and east sides of Lorain. The tunnel goes under Black River on a west from the bed. The shift bosses are George Spears, Buddy Perrell and Butler Salisbury. Other Floyd countians who are working on these bosses are Van Ferrell, Berry Akers, Johnnie Hunter, Joe Hall, Levi Sword, Ed Rickman, Ben Moseley and Jerry Brantner.

The Lorain Journal of a recent issue carries a story about these Floyd countians. Four pictures revealed the mine-like operations and one is seen Berry Akers, Jerry Brantner and Johnnie Hunter. They are laying a 30-inch pipe.

It is hard, sloppy work, filled with nerve-racking incidents such as when a ton of slate from the roof of the 22-foot cave fell in recently nearly on top of the crew. It sounded like the whole end of the tunnel was caving in," says the Lorain Journal.

Recently the first piece of pipe was lowered into the tunnel. The "starting hole" is a shaft 73 feet deep down which all pipe will have to be lowered.

This is Sam Falbo's first tunnel job and adding him are three experienced tunnel squaws, each in charge of a shift, who keep the work progressing around the clock.

The huge pieces of pipe, 12 feet long, made of cast iron with walls one inch thick, are hauled through the tunnel by means of a cat attached to pulleys which in turn are fixed to a motor crane at street level. State air is constantly pumped out of the tunnel, proving the underground "sand holes" with pure breathing air.

Church To Brighten Window with Light

"Day or night, the church should fulfill its function of pointing men to Him who is the Light of the World." This was the comment of the Rev. Orville Pearson, pastor of the Presbyterian Church here when a light was installed this week to illuminate the large center picture window of the church. The window will remain lighted from dusk until about 11 o'clock, cutting on and off by means of an automatic switch.

"Business places have long ago seen the value of illumination. They show windows are lighted at night, but unless there is activity in the church the church remains dark," he said. The minister added that he hopes the lighted window will express to all the warm and friendly welcome the church gives to worshippers.

Taking its cue from the restaurants, stores, and the many homes that have "tried to beat the heat" by air conditioning, the Presbyterian Church also installed a five-ton air conditioning unit in its sanctuary this week.

The unit, purchased by private contributions, was installed by the Home Appliance Company, which donated its labor and material in connection with the project.

RAIL WORKER TRAIN VICTIM

Tram Man Is Second Rail Victim of Week; Funeral Rites Friday

James V. Rickman, 24 years old, colored, of Tram, was struck and instantly killed early Monday morning by a train at Camp Branch, near Tram. He was the second Floyd county train victim of the week.

Train crewman notified Special C. O. Officer G. L. Gray, of Allen, that the train had hit a man at Camp Branch. Officer Gray, who was on duty at the time, found the victim shortly after arrival there. The victim had been dragged about 27 feet and an arm and one leg were severed. Time of the tragedy was played at 1:55 a.m.

"A witness of Tram, he was a son of a well-known Black River area. He was employed by the Elkhorn Coal Company as an extra foreman workman.

A jury empaneled by Coroner James J. Carter held that Rickman was killed by an arm and one leg, "either asleep, in a state of comatose or intoxicated" when he was struck by the train.

Surviving besides his mother, are three brothers and two sisters. Grant Rickman, of Tram, Harry Rickman, Graytown, W. Va., Edward Bailey, of Hamsbo, and four sisters, Mrs. Betty Jean Martin, both of Garrett, one brother, Edward Bailey, of Hamsbo, and four sisters, Mrs. Crit Conley, Garrett, Mrs. W. M. Patrick, Martin, Mrs. Harry Campbell and Mrs. George Waddell, both of Garrett.

The funeral was held today (Thursday) at the Garrett high school auditorium, the Revs. Green Allen and Ed Howard officiating. Burial was made in the Tom Martin cemetery at West Garrett, the Hall brothers Funeral Home directing.

NEW GI BILL BECOMES LAW

Provides 5 Benefits For Korea Veterans, Other

Anticipating his nomination on the Republican ticket for Congress from the Sixth district and forseeing busy months of campaigning when he will be in the office, the new Congressman from this district, J. C. Clifton, of Clarksville, Ky., today signed the new GI Bill of 1952.

The act, signed by President Truman last week, is intended to provide major benefits resulting from explosions, fires, floods and other tragedies.

The law, supported by the United Mine workers, gives a federal inspector the power to order mines withdrawn from operations when there is imminent danger of a major disaster or where previously designated hazards have not been corrected. A large segment of the industry opposed passage of the law.

Excluded from the act are all mines and those employing less than 15 persons. It covers about 2,000 mines in the Bureau's northern, eastern region, embracing Kentucky, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Illinois, Maryland, Indiana, Ohio and Virginia.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday at the home church by the Rev. Sam Thomas officiating. Burial was in the family cemetery on Arkansas creek under direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

BAILEY DIES OF INJURIES

Suffered When Struck By Train at Garrett; Funeral Rites Today

Ward Beesley Bailey, 49 years old, well-known Black River area and motor man for the Elk Horn Coal Corporation at Wayland, died Tuesday afternoon at the Stumbo Memorial hospital, Lackey, of injuries suffered on the preceding night when struck by a train at Garrett.

Both feet were severed by a coal train. His lungs were punctured and he suffered head injuries as he was dragged a distance of about 71 feet. The tragedy took place in front of the Garrett Methodist Church, at 9:30 p.m. Monday.

The victim was a son of W. M. "Dutch" Bailey and the late Laura Belle Coburn Bailey, and was a native of Hamsbo, Ky. He was employed by the Elkhorn Coal Company as an extra foreman workman.

Surviving besides his mother, are three brothers and two sisters. Grant Rickman, of Tram, Harry Rickman, Graytown, W. Va., Edward Bailey, of Hamsbo, and four sisters, Mrs. Betty Jean Martin, both of Garrett, one brother, Edward Bailey, of Hamsbo, and four sisters, Mrs. Crit Conley, Garrett, Mrs. W. M. Patrick, Martin, Mrs. Harry Campbell and Mrs. George Waddell, both of Garrett.

COURT NAMES EIGHT OFFICES FOR SCRUTINY

Outside Man Who Has No Axes To Grind Asked As Judge Files Request

County Judge Henry Stumbo called on the Floyd fiscal court Wednesday to provide for an audit of the accounts of eight county offices over a period of 10 years, and the court promptly voted unanimously to take that step.

Before the proposed order was read to the court in its prepared form Judge Stumbo said:

"I am going to ask this court to name eight registrars, public accountants from outside the county who have no axes to grind to audit the county offices for 10 years. I think everybody ought to be treated alike. One or two shouldn't be picked out—it's not right."

Quickly Magistrate Ellis Martin made a motion to make the order. Magistrate Edgar Howell seconded it, and the third magistrate, the Rev. M. C. Wright, joined them. Magistrate J. E. Harris was in absentia from the court and unable to attend the meeting.

The court's order, as entered on the records, reads:

"Upon recommendation of Henry Stumbo, County Judge, it was moved by Ellis Martin and seconded by Edgar Howell that a competent accountant be employed by this court for the past 10 years the accounts of the following offices:

"County Judge, County Attorney, Auditor, County Clerk, County Court Clerk, Sheriff, Superintendent of Schools, Tax Commissioner.

"That the County Judge be authorized and directed to employ a competent, qualified accountant to make said audit and accounting, to make all necessary and proper steps to have an audit and accounting made for each 10-year period, to employ such legal counsel as he deems necessary to enforce the collection of any sums due Floyd county, if there be any such sums or amounts due and collectable."

The number of visitors last week was slightly above that of the preceding week. An estimated 26,776 were at the lake last week, while the same for the week before was placed at 26,190. Last Sunday saw an estimated 14,970 on the lake or along its shores.

MAYOR ASKS OFFICE AIDE

Council Names Combs; Larger Water System, Street Work Proposed

The mayor's office held in the circuit court room, and consuming about the entire day, was attended by the city council in the afternoon by a large gathering, with most of those present seeking payment of claims or having other requests to make.

One of these requests was filed by citizens of Bull and Abbott streets, near the school, who had been notified in the court requesting the Rural Highway Department to backstop the highway from the limits of Prestonsburg to the fork of Bull Creek and the Abbott road from the mouth of that creek a distance of four miles toward Bonanza.

The court asked the department to take funds for this work from Floyd county's allotment of the 2-cent gasoline tax and to proceed with advertising the project and with construction as soon as possible.

16 High School Grads Army, Air Force Vets; Girls Enlist for WAF

Sixteen Floyd county high school graduates of 1952 class have volunteered and been accepted in either the U.S. army or U.S. air force, according to an announcement this week by Sgt. Clyde C. Nelson, of the local recruiting station.

Those who volunteered since the graduation exercises are: Bill J. Clifton, Ralph Rorer, Dan Currier, Oris Stumbo, Robert Preston and Eugene Rainey, all of Prestonsburg high school; Albert Sabo, Jess Hall and Inhamal Tackett, of Waynesville high school; James Clifton and Lowell Hopkins, of Waynesville high school; Robert Higgins, of Garrett high school; Thomas Hampton, of Martin high school; and Charles Pappas, of McDowell high school.

Eighteen of the 1952 class made the enlistment on Sunday, July 22, at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin, to Mrs. and Mrs. Charles E. Stumbo, of their first child, a son.

Student Here To Speak Representing Kentucky In So. Baptist Contest

Franklin D. Conley, Prestonsburg, high school student who this year has elected Kentucky's Youth Governor, left Wednesday for Ridgecrest, N. C., where he will compete Saturday night in the Southern Baptist Better Speakers contest.

In 1950 he ranked second in the state. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conley, of Prestonsburg.

The Floyd County Times Official Organ for Floyd County, Ky.

Entered as second class matter June 23, 1917, under the act of March 3, 1879.

What Is There and Might Be Here

ALTHOUGH it is fairly certain that the section of Kentucky will get little consideration as the site of the proposed new atomic energy plant planned for the Kentucky Highlands area, we are not prohibited from wishing and thinking on what might be.

Life Magazine in a recent number made its lead story that of the development of atomic energy.

These things had been on the quiet side for a quarter of a century till work began on the half-billion-dollar atomic energy plant. The things that are happening there now show what could be expected for the Ashland area, which includes the Big Sandy valley, if this plant should be actually proposed were located there.

To the east of Paducah, four big private chemical corporations are building new plants. To the north of the city is a third great new development—the construction of new electric generating plants to supply power that will be needed to operate this new industrial plant. And these power plants will use coal for the production of electricity.

Thus Western Kentucky coal literally "has it made." Meanwhile, Eastern Kentucky coal languishes—desperately needing some such market as is being provided for these more fortunate operations in the nether end of the Commonwealth.

For this unfortunate position which we occupy we ourselves, perhaps, are to blame. We present a weak front; the effort we make is timid, half-hearted and poorly coordinated. One community shows considerable interest, others are interested but in a passive sort of way. A "piece" in the newspapers, a resolution here and there, and we have done our part, we apparently think.

When there was a chance for Big Sandy river canalization in the days of Ex-Congressman A. J. May's chairmanship of the Military Affairs committee in the national House of Representatives, many thousands of persons were deeply interested, and a few individuals fought valiantly for the project. But the two groups which could have given the move just that extra shove needed to put the project across—the coal operators themselves and the United Mine Workers—joined the forces fighting canalization.

The Times is not indulging in recriminations when it reviews this and our other failures. It turns back the pages merely to show the absolute necessity for unity of purpose and for aggressive action on the part of all of us if we are ever to claim for this section the things which will stabilize it industrially as it should be.

association for the week ending July 28-29 are: Hi Hat Elkhorn, Johnson Mining, and Utilities Elkhorn. One section of the Elkhorn Coal Company worked one day, as did the Guaranty mines. Very few worked five days; most worked two and three.

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

As I will be unable to see all the voters of Floyd county personally, I wish to take this means to tell you what I will stand for if elected CORONOR.

Since the County Judge and the four Magistrates of the four districts of the county have the right, they can and will hold all requests that may be needed in automobile accidents and drowning cases where there are witnesses present, limiting the duties of a Coroner to questionable deaths only. This will save the taxpayers $12 per inquest.

As I am not obligated or affiliated with any funeral home, the family of the deceased shall have the right to select the funeral home of their choice to take care of their loved ones, and if examination is necessary in the funeral home it will be made in the one which they choose.

If my platform deserves your influence and support, I earnestly solicit your vote.

Very truly yours, MACK HARMON (Pol. adv.)

ORDINANCE

An Ordinance levying a property tax at the rate of seventy-five cents per one hundred dollars valuation on all property, both real and personal, having a situs in the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, on April 1, 1952, and also levying a tax on all male inhabitants of such City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, as of said date, at the rate of $1.50 per male inhabitant.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY:

Section 1. That a levy, no municipal purpose, be made as follows: (1) The sum of seventy-five cents on each $100.00 valuation of both personal and real property, having a taxable situs in the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, on April 1, 1952, and (2) The sum of $1.50 on each male inhabitant of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, except those exempted by the provisions of Kentucky Revised Statutes, Section 182-202.

Section 2. All ordinances, or parts of ordinances, in conflict herewith, are hereby expressly repealed.

Section 3. The City Clerk is directed to publish this ordinance in the manner required by law.

Attest: /s/ CURTIS CLARK, Mayor

ADDED: /s/ JUDITH D. ARCHER, City Clerk 7-24-21

Southern Bell again is asking permission to raise rates. With your permission, we're gonna start raising something other than rates if the company's service doesn't improve.

WE POINT WITH ENVY
It does pay to do a good job of it, even if the boss doesn't stuff your pockets with de-o-re-mi and the public fails to deafen your ears with hosannas.

We point with considerable envy in the direction of Miss Mary I. Spilman, teacher of biology at Pikeville College, who has gone the even tenor of her ways for 34 years now, guiding youngsters over the rough spots in the Pikeville school and generally doing a good job of all of it, with as little fanfare as possible.

Came the day—last May Day, to be exact—when Miss Spilman learned how deeply her students, new and old, appreciated her. Her former students gave her an expense-paid vacation trip.

Here's why we stand by, green with envy in spots where we aren't blundered red: This all-expense-paid trip of the lady's is to Alaska, a 12-day steamer cruise of the "Instate Passage" where it's cool, or at least it's supposed to be.

The weather being what it is, I would, if given a chance at a vacation, expense-paid or otherwise, head north and not still I heard somebody yell "Mush!"

WE MUST VOTE
This week the Democrats take their turn at saving the nation. Between now and November both sides will be doing their damndest to tear down the people's confidence in the Republic's ability to survive unless this or that candidate is elected. That leaves it up to every one of us to go to the polls and see if we can't do our bit toward reconstruction.

Native of County Is Victim in Pike

Mrs. Lisa Mayo, 52 years old, native Floyd woman, died at Painsville, Ky., Saturday, following a brief illness.

A daughter of Michael and Betty Crum, she was the wife of Dave Mayo. She was a member of the Baptist Church.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two daughters: Mrs. Paul Phink, Lexington, Ky., and Mrs. Bernard Alox, of Stone, three grandchildren, and the following sisters: Mrs. Ollie Hall, Mrs. Lee Mulkey, and Mrs. Polly Ann Jones, all of Banner, Mrs. Margaret Henry, of Lancer, and one brother, Henry Crum, of Banner; also two half-sisters, Mrs. Lou Maynard, of Allen, and Mrs. Sarah Stratter, of Banner.

Funeral rites were conducted from the McVeigh Baptist Church by the Rev. Isaac Stratton, and burial was made in Fairview cemetery, Williamson, W. Va.

Wetherby Names 7 To Flood Committee For Social Service

Governor Lawrence Wetherby announced the appointment of a seven-member social service committee for Floyd county. The committee, appointed under an Act passed at the 1952 session of the General Assembly, supplants the group which has served since October, 1951, under an administrative order of Commissioner V. E. Barnes, of the Economic Security department.

The Governor said County Judge Henry Stumbo will serve as a member and as chairman of the committee so long as he remains in office. However, Judge Stumbo may designate a member of the fiscal court to serve in his stead if he is so desired. Members appointed for four-year terms beginning July 1 include E. P. Grigsby, Howard Church, W. M. Crawford, Henry Hale, Sarah Stephens, Betty Stephens.

The Floyd county Social Service committee will serve in an advisory capacity in connection with local administration of the public assistance and child welfare programs. Governor Wetherby said. The committee is authorized by law to review public assistance and child welfare rolls and administrative activities, and may at any time make recommendations in connection with public assistance operations to the Commissioner of Economic Security, and in connection with child welfare to the Commissioner of Welfare, the Governor said.

Coke ovens, as a group, are now the largest consumers of bituminous coal.

Bituminous coal accounted for about one-fifth of the total value of minerals produced in 1951.

The Norfolk & Western Railway Co. produced 49 1/2 million tons of bituminous coal in 1951.

SHIPMAN PARKER CRUISE

Among the almost 2,000 U.S. Navy admiral and Naval Reserve officers about a month earlier, with more than 100 students taking part in the first of the navy's three summer sailing cruises is Naval Academy shipman John T. Parker, Jr., SN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Parker of Wheelwright, aboard the steamer USS Henley.

Creep feeding of lambs by Ira Blevis and Phillip Corbin, of Taylor county, permitted marketing about a month earlier, with more than 100 lambs.

Luther Kidd, garden leader in Floyd county, made seven plantings of sweet corn, three of beans and two of tomatoes, and had several other kinds of vegetables growing.

11 Men in a Hole

(Reprinted by special permission of The Catholic Digest, this article, as originally illustrated, showed Goble Branham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Goble Branham, Sr., of West Prestonsburg, in a bunker occupied by the 11.)

A bunker is a hole in the ground covered with logs and dirt. From the outside it looks like part of the frozen hill, except for a smoking stovepipe sticking out of the ground and a small trench in front of the entrance.

Hidden on the ridge of the steep hill, it overlooks a broad valley of abandoned rice paddies, shattered villages and frozen streams. This is no man's-land where hundreds of men have died in the hot "cold war" of Korea.

Small bands of men from opposite sides of the valley venture into the wasteland daily to seek their prey: each other. We don't want the territory, but there's a war going on and men must fight and die.

You stand near the entrance to the bunker and look at the broken trees and twisted limbs around you. Wonder how many men died here?

Three miles across the valley you see the Chinese hills. There are bunkers there, too, but you can't see them. You wonder what the men in those bunkers are doing, what they're thinking.

Then you turn toward the bunker near you, push aside a heavy straw mat hanging over the door and enter. It's 8 p.m.

You see four dirt walls lined with log bunks. Telephone wire has been stretched between the logs for springs. Mats made of rice straw are spread across them for mattresses.

A few inches above your head is the log ceiling, sealed with tar paper. On tin-can holders nailed to log poles supporting the roof, two flickering candles light the hole in the ground. Over one bunk in the corner of the room a picture of a girl hangs from one of the logs in the ceiling.

In the center of the room is a crude gasoline stove made out of a metal mortar shell container with artillery shells for a stovepipe. Standing around the stove are ten dirty-faced infantrymen.

It's been a hard day—digging trenches, laying mines, stringing barbed wire, walking miles on a patrol through the valley and getting shot at by Chinese snipers.

No one is talking. The heat feels good after being out in the cold all day. What more would you want, besides sleep? When you talk, it's about the things around you, and you'd like to get away from it all.

"Whatya think of this belt I got off that dead Chinese?" asks a chubby soldier, holding up a brown leather belt. "Kinda cheap, ain't it?"

"Yeah. An icy gust of wind whips into the room as the mat swings open and a tall man walks in. His hood is tied tightly about his head, but his eyes are watery and his nose is red from the cold.

"It's snowing outside," he announces, crowding in to warm his hands by the stove.

"Good night for an ambush patrol—no moon."

"If it's a good night for us, it's a good night for Old Joe, too."

After rubbing his hands together a few times over the stove, the newcomer makes another announcement: "It's time we headed for the outpost."

"Doesn't sound like an ominous remark, but it is."

Three men grumble and drag their heavy coats off their backs and start putting them on. It's their turn tonight.

"See you boys in the morning about six."

"Hope you all don't run into anything," says Chubby, who has a smile on his face even when he's serious. Then he jibes, "We'll do our best to keep the fire warm for you!"

The door flaps and they are gone. "Boy, you get so cold out there you dem near freeze," says a man near the stove. "Sometimes you don't care whether the Chinese are there or not."

Nobody wants to talk. A cool splash interrupts the silence finally as a man pours his helmet full of water and carefully places it on the stove. Water is a luxury in the bunker, because it must be carried up the steep hill from the mess tent below.

"Let me use that water when you're through," Chubby says. "It'll be plenty dirty."

That's all right. It'll get most of the dirt off."

The squad leader who has been slowly puffing his pipe and watching the flames flick out the holes in the stove, walks over to the candlelight. He pulls a worn letter out of his pocket, opens it and starts to read. The pipe is in his mouth, but he doesn't puff. He reads and smiles.

A man stretches out on a bunk. His face is unshaven, emphasizing his large, sad eyes.

Chubby and the rest stay near the warm stove.

"We ought to pull out of here," says the man on the bunk. "It's not worth fighting for."

"It's rather tight 'em here than in the States," retorts Chubby.

The door flap opens again and a man wearing a snow-covered parka enters. He doesn't bother to push out the snow.

No one greets him. The man on the bunk stares at the stranger, and the leader continues to read his old letter. The others still toast their hands around the stove.

"We're on alert tonight," says the man of the parka. "They saw commies on the move today."

The squad leader looks up from his letter, folds it and puts it in his pocket. "Get out quick, son-of-a-bitch," he says. "Get on your nerves."

"If Old Joe's coming, he'll be here tonight. You can't see ten feet in front of you out there."

"When did all this alert stuff start?" complains the man on the bunk.

"The captain told me. He got orders from the colonel."

"I only got three hours sleep last night," says the squad leader sternly. "Come on, let's get going, time for the boys to get up."

After five minutes of bundling up, the squad leader, the man on the bunk and one other join the two out of the bunker.

Four men are left in the hole. Two men lie on their bunks, eyes closed in his sleep. One sits on the edge of a bunk, writing a letter, a faint smile on his face, as he writes.

Another is sprawled on the floor reading comic books, no smile—just an expression of deep interest.

Dirt drips down from the wall, falling on a bunk.

"Damn that rat," murmurs one of the men, his eyes still closed.

"Yknow, rats are kinda like the Chinese—always diggin' holes," says the other.

Silence. Only the rumble of flames in the stove, the flip of comic book pages and the scratch of pen on paper.

In the distance you hear a dull explosion. You step outside the door and look around. All is quiet. The snow is still falling. The ground is white.

You go back into the bunker, and a water can near the stove and tank.

You wonder if a mortar shell could come through the top of this thing. No, probably not. Mortars don't cut through dirt that deep. It would have to be a direct hit by artillery.

As the time passes, you ask yourself—like the rest—what you're doing on top of a hill in North Korea on a snowy night.

Then the squad leader comes back from the gun positions to wake his relief.

"They're catching fire on both sides of us," he says. "Sounds like mortars. Come on, men, up and at 'em."

You hear their footsteps crunch in the snow as they walk away from the bunker. Ten minutes later, the squad leader is back with his first watch and they are warming themselves around the stove again.

"Boy, is it cold."

"Yeah. A long two hours."

They stand there a few minutes, then take off their rubber boots and crawl into their sleeping bags, their clothes still on.

"There's nothing like sleeping bags. They're the best thing a guy could have."

The candles are out. Weird shadows from the flames in the stove dance on the walls. Dirt trickles down again from the rat's tunnel. They sleep two hours.

PROCLAMATION By The JUDGE of Floyd County, Kentucky

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:

WHEREAS, the conservation of soil, water resources, essential to the public health, safety and welfare of our present generation as well as generations yet unborn; and

WHEREAS, the rich topsoil of Floyd county is still being permitted to wash away faster than it is being saved despite the fact that never before has the safeguarding of soil and water been so vital; and

WHEREAS, this damage is not confined to individual farms but contributes to floods, highway damage, silting of reservoirs, forest deterioration and public health; and

WHEREAS, this enormous loss can be stopped by the establishment of complete soil and water conservation programs recommended by soil conservation districts; and

WHEREAS, Lawrence W. Wetherby, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, proclaimed July 20-27 inclusive as statewide Soil Conservation District Week.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Henry Stumbo, Judge of Floyd county do call upon all citizens of Floyd county to observe the period of July 20-27 inclusive as SOIL CONSERVATION WEEK and request all persons and organizations concerned with the land to unite with the local soil conservation district supervisors in an effort during the period to stimulate among the county's population a full realization of the desperate need for conserving our soil and water resources.

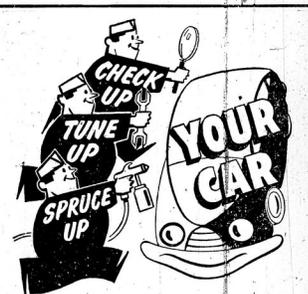

Done at Prestonsburg, Kentucky this 11 day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-two.

On a cold, windy night several hundred feet in front of the company's line they must stay awake all night and watch for enemy patrols.

After buttoning their coats, strapping ammunition belts around their waists, flopping weighted steel helmets on their heads, they grab rifles from the corner and start for the door, followed by the newcomer.

"See you boys in the morning about six."

"Hope you all don't run into anything," says Chubby, who has a smile on his face even when he's serious. Then he jokes, "We'll do our best to keep the fire warm for you!"

"Well, you'll lose more sleep tonight," says the squad leader sternly. Come on, let's get going, time for the night patrol."

After five minutes of bundling up, the squad leader, the man on the bunk and one other join the way out of the bunker.

Four men are left in the hole. Two men lie on their backs, eyes closed in hard sleep. One of the edge of a bunk writing a letter, a faint smile on his face as he writes. Another is sprawled on the floor reading comic books, now smiling—just an expression of deep interest.

Dirt drips down from the wall, filling on a bunk.

"Big rat," murmurs one of the men, his eyes still closed.

"Know, rats are kinda like the Chinese—ways diggin' holes," says the other.

Silence. Only the rumble of flames in the stove, the flip of comic book pages and the scratch of pen on paper.

In the distance you hear a dull explosion. You step outside the door and look around. All is quiet. The snow is still falling. The ground is white.

You go back into the bunker, sit on a water can near the stove and wait.

You wonder if a mortar shell could come through the top of this thing. No, probably not. Mortars don't cut through dirt that deep. It would have to be a direct hit by artillery.

As the time passes, you ask yourself—like the rest—what you're doing on top of a hill in North Korea on a snowy night.

Then the squad leader comes back from the gun positions to wake his relief.

"They're catching fire on both sides of us," he says. "Sounds like mortars. Come on, men, up and at 'em."

You hear their footsteps crunch in the snow as they walk away from the bunker. Ten minutes later the squad leader is back with his first watch and they are warming themselves around the stove again.

PROCLAMATION

By The JUDGE of Floyd County, Kentucky

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:

WHEREAS, the conservation of our soil and water resources is essential to the public health, safety and welfare of our present generation as well as generations yet unborn;

WHEREAS, the rich topsoil of Floyd county is still being permitted to wash away faster than it is being saved despite the fact that never before has the safeguarding of soil and water been so vital; and,

WHEREAS, this damage is not confined to individual farms but contributes to floods, highway damage, silting of reservoirs, forest deterioration and public health; and,

WHEREAS, this enormous loss can be stopped by the establishment of complete soil and water conservation programs recommended by soil conservation districts; and,

WHEREAS, Lawrence W. Wetherby, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, proclaimed July 20-27 inclusive as statewide Soil Conservation District Week;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Henry Stumbo, Judge of Floyd County do call upon all citizens of Floyd county to observe the period of July 20-27 inclusive as SOIL CONSERVATION WEEK and request all persons and organizations concerned with the land to unite with the local soil conservation district supervisors in an effort during the period to stimulate among the county's population a full realization of the desperate need for conserving our soil and water resources.

Done at Prestonsburg, Kentucky this 11 day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-two.

The $50,000 investment over a period of 25 to 30 years. If Prestonsburg should draw on the lake for its water supply, it would thus create a strong appeal to industries and new residents, it has been said in recent discussion the town would have an uncontaminated water supply such as no other community in this part of Kentucky possesses.

Mayor Clark said the water system now is now operating at 90 percent capacity. He said about 40 residences and business buildings have been constructed here within the last year. To the extra consumption of water caused by this construction has been added water used by air conditioning units in business houses.

One of these heavy units consume as much water, the Mayor said this long time must be laughing. The Mayor said the committee also had been asked to procure an estimate on cost of a floodgate to prevent the elimination of the cess-pool created by a main city sewer emptying into a hollow near the river.

The Council revoked its previous instructions to police which forbade officers from chasing foreign or drunken drivers beyond the city limits. The new orders are to continue the chase till such offenders are captured.

Soldier Arrives Home From Austria Too Late For Funeral of Mother

Even though he had engaged a plane and was on his way from Austria, W. C. J. Simpson G. Martin of the US Army arrived too late for the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Susie Martin, who had died at her home here July 22.

Mrs. Martin, aged 74, had been ill for some time. She was a daughter of Ioss and Jane Keathley and had spent nearly all her life in the Amta community. She was a member of the Church of Christ for 30 years.

Surviving besides her husband, St. Martin, are the following children: Mrs. Lurline Perry, Ambs; Miss Gavia Gilliam, Ohio; Mrs. Mary Caldwell, Knoxville, Tenn; and Mrs. Lizzie Akers of Ambs and Lieut. Simpson G. Martin.

Surviving brothers and sisters are Grover, Herby and Frank Keathley of Ambs; Mrs. Elouise Wicker, Ambs; Mrs. Tish Iricks, Osborn. Funeral rites were conducted last Wednesday, July 17, by Rev. T. F. Meade, Beulah Howell, Tom Sturgill and Chas. Perry officiating. Burial was in the Tackett cemetery at Ambs under direction of the Baker Funeral Home.

Sgt. Derossett and bride at chapel wedding in Frankfurt, Germany.

The adage says, "Love laughs at locksmiths," but it doesn't say how long it must wait before laughing. Sgt. Sol Derossett, Jr., of Prestonsburg, and his pretty German bride had to wait two years, mainly because the locksmith was in the form of ironed army regulations.

It all started one day with the desire of Rose Marie Fless, secretary-administrative clerk at the 9th General Hospital, Frankfurt, Germany, to see the American national game, baseball. She had no way to get there. Military staff forbade American soldiers from taking German nationals.

But Sgt. Derossett took a chance. He took the blonde, blue-eyed frau to see in his jeep to the game. And so in his jeep to the game. And so in his jeep to the game. And so in his jeep to the game.

After the war she worked with the Criminal Investigation Detachment of the U.S. Army, and after investigation she was assigned to confidential material, acting as interpreter and secretary. "I saw no big war trials, however," she added.

Mrs. Derossett has a keen interest in national and international affairs. "I think I would like to see General Eisenhower elected President," she said. "Whenever he goes I will go."

She and Sgt. Derossett were married last February 2 in the hospital chapel at Frankfurt, Germany. He entered the army Feb. 8, 1940 and was in Europe, saw a lot of action, and was in a POW camp until next August. Tothorow (Friday) the sergeant is due at Camp Carson, Colorado. With him will be his bride. "Whenever he goes I will go," she says with calm loyalty, reminiscent of that of a woman of a long time ago.

During the war Mrs. Derossett was in school, attending college at Wiesbaden. School ended for her in 1945, because the schools closed. "The worst years," she recalls, "were from 1944 to 1948."

Her father, an automobile parts manufacturer, died in 1938, and when her two brothers were conscripted into the German army he mother sold the business at the beginning of World War II.

One of these brothers was a prisoner of war and was in a POW camp in Alabama. "He wants to come back to America," she said. She wouldn't let him. "Everybody dreams of going to America to find freedom and liberty," she added. Her other brother and four sisters are also in Germany.

"Germans agree that Hitler isn't dead," Mrs. Derossett said while she and her husband visited his relatives here last week. She said they based this belief partly on the fact that a German submarine, fully equipped with arms, was found off the coast of Patagonia at about the time his death was reported.

"We thought he went crazy with power," she said. "At first, the people were solely behind him, because he was building up the country. Of the futility of war she spoke briefly. "Mother saw the boys were dying for nothing."

Part Cologne, city of her birth, are still without water, but Frankfurt is getting it.

To the Voters of Magisterial Dist. No. 1:

Since the Attorney General has ruled that the first ballot printed for the coming primary election must be used, my name will appear before the voters at this election as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Constable in District No. 1. This will be so, despite the fact that I withdrew from the race soon after announcing.

I withdrew from the race of my own free will and without solicitation from any one. I quit when I considered the case of Jewell D. "Stinky" Fitzpatrick, who is almost blind and unable to earn a living by working as a I and others who are candidates for the office can. This was my only reason for withdrawing, and I still contend that able-bodied men should not ask for this office, which is of so little importance, when it can be, and possibly better, filled by someone who cannot get out and earn a living with his hands as others can.

If you will, just give your vote to the boy who deserves and needs help and who will not make a pack of the Constable's office, just as this young man is Jewell D. Fitzpatrick.

Sincerely, CHARLIE LAFERTY

RALE OF 10 DAYS DIES

Larry Eugene Lawson, an infant of ten days of age, died at the Beaver Valley hospital at 11:30 a.m. July 21. He was the son of Richard and Rosie Adams Lawson of Ambs. Funeral rites were conducted from the home Wednesday, July 23, by Rev. Isaac Stratton officiating. Burial was in the Lewis cemetery under the direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

Former Tram Woman Victim at Williamson

Mrs. Vena Viers Roop, wife of Ollie Roop, died at a Williamson hospital last week after an illness of several months. She was a native of Virginia, and had no surviving children.

After her marriage to Mr. Roop she and her husband resided at Tram where he engaged in the operation of a general merchandise store. They moved to a farm on the East Fork of Little Sand River, nine miles from Catlettsburg, a few years ago and were residing there at the time of Mrs. Roop's death. Her husband survives.

Burial was made Wednesday, July 23, in the family cemetery on East Fork.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

BY WILMAX

We are down here in God's country. "Now where is that?" someone asks. Home in God's country to everyone; and Poplarville, Miss., in this case. It's good to be here. Few treats compare with visiting relatives and seeing old friends. It's Wednesday, we saw an old college mate, Dixie Clanton, who teaches in Pearl River College here. In 1924 we were delegates together to the World Student volunteer convention from our college, Mississippi Southern, which we visited Tuesday. It's the place where Russell Hanley, Jr., of Prestonsburg, is now increasing the name of Floyd country and the campus is always beautiful. Last night we were one of 20,000 to hear Billy Graham in Jackson, and words fail to describe it. The opening words of his prayer, "I hide the speaker behind the Cross," did just that. What power he has! How America needs the gospel as he so fearlessly gives it.

We hope later on to give a resume of his sermon, expressed in words so simple a child can understand all of it. What a privilege it was to hear him and not be disappointed in any way. In bygone days we had enjoyed hearing Dr. Geo. W. Truett, Dr. P. Scarborough, Dr. E. Z. Mullins, Dr. M. E. Dodd, Gypsy Smith and other outstanding ministers and evangelists, but not one surpassed the youthful newcomer who so recently appeared on the horizon, to be quietly recognized as the greatest preacher of the present age.

We also heard Dr. J. D. Grey, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, and Sunday we hear our favorite, F. W. Gunn, of Poplarville.

We are having a quiet Fourth on a big lake nearby. Next week, we go to New Orleans for a day. My run into Eddie and Olva Davis, of Martin, who are now there. And then a shame he couldn't win but his team collected five hits off Tommy Roberts. The Juniors didn't hit often but they hit hard. Of their seven hits off Goines, there was only one single. The others were extra base blows, with Dan Wallen firing the big gun with a home run in the first inning.

To date, the Juniors have won 23 out of 24 ball games this season.

Thirty-one homemakers club in Fayette county have an enrollment of 763 members.

W'Wright Jrs. Win Over Tom Cat Nine

Wheelwright, Ky., July 21 (Sp.)—The Wheelwright Junior baseball team rolled over the Ashland Tom Cats, 6 to 1, for its 20th straight win in a game played at Wheelwright Friday night, July 11.

Some 300 yelling fans watched these youngsters play a man's type of baseball in downing this strong team from Ashland.

Ashland won the Boyd county championship and had lost only two games till this meeting with the Juniors but they soon found that the boys from Left Beaver knew what to do with a baseball.

Vonda Lee Hall pitched his 11th win in downing Ashland. Watson was the loser. It was his second loss this year.

The Juniors will meet the Tom Cats in a return game at Ashland, July 27.

The Juniors also downed a strong drift nine by the score of 4 to 1. Goines was the loser, although he sent 16 of the Juniors to the water pail. After his excellent pitching, it was a shame he couldn't win but his team collected five hits off Tommy Roberts. The Juniors didn't hit often but they hit hard. Of their seven hits off Goines, there was only one single. The others were extra base blows, with Dan Wallen firing the big gun with a home run in the first inning.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

BY WILMA Y

We are down here in God's country. "Now where is that?" someone asks. Home is God's country to everyone, and Poplarville, Miss., in this case. It's good to be here. Few treats compare with visiting relatives and seeing old friends.

Wednesday we saw an old college mate, Dixie Clanton, who teaches in Pearl River College here. In 1924 we were delegates together to the World Student volunteer convention from our college, Mississippi Southern, which we visited Tuesday. It's the place where Russell Hunsley, Jr. of Prestonsburg, is now increasing the name of Floyd county, and the campus is always beautiful.

Last night we were one of 20,000 to hear Billy Graham in Jackson, and words fall to describe it. The opening words of his prayer "Lord, hide the speaker behind the Cross," did just that. What power he has! How America needs the gospel as he so fearlessly gives it.

We hope later on to give a resume of his sermon, expressed in words so simple a child can understand all of it. When a privilege it was to hear him and not be disappointed in any way. In bygone days we had enjoyed hearing Dr. Geo. W. Truitt, Dr. L. R. Scarborough, Dr. E. Z. Mullins, Dr. M. E. Dodd, Gypsy Smith and other outstanding ministers and evangelists, but not one who so recently appeared on the horizon, to be quietly recognized as the greatest preacher of the present age.

We also heard Dr. J. D. Grey, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, and Sunday we hear our favorite, F. W. Gunn, of Poplarville.

We are having a quiet Fourth on a big lake nearby. Next week, we go to New Orleans for a day. May run into Eddie and Olive Davis, of Martin, who are now there. And they a day at Biloxi and Gulfport. The coast is about 40 miles from my sister's home.

Coming down, we saw Rock City in Chattanooga. No town should miss it. This rendezvous shows what one individual with vision can do. Every child in America should be seeing Fairyland in Rock City.

In travel, we stopped a moment to say, "Hi," to Mr. John E. May, who left Floyd county about 40 years ago. He and E.R. have a strong family resemblance. He was overjoyed to hear that his Uncle Jack had re-admitted to the bar. One of his sons is named for Ex-Congressman May.

The South is heavily anti-Communist and for many reasons other than the question of civil rights.

"Better Get the Vet on the Phone"

Pure-bred cattle—sign of the South's new, balanced agriculture—mean more money for stockmen, better standards of living on the farm, a growing demand for telephones.

Farm telephone expansion has been one of Southern Bell's biggest and most important jobs for years—and today is more important than ever. It is a job that takes a lot of money, materials, experience, know-how—and time.

In just the past 6 years we have tripled our rural telephones. We're building more and more rural lines as fast as scarce materials and defense needs permit.

Floyd County Historical Notes

By HENRY P. SCALF

Comes to hand a manuscript on the Akers family prepared by Floyd Akers of Prater Creek. The manuscript is strongly reminiscent of the faith of the patriarchal Hebrew fathers.

While the manuscript deals chiefly with the writer's own family there is data of general interest to others. It is reprinted below:

I was born on Prater Creek, Dana, Floyd county, Ky., near the mouth of Wm. Akers Branch and was raised to manhood on Prater Creek, date of birth, April 15, 1868.

My paternal grandparents were Davy and Polly Marshall Akers. Elijah Hall was born in 1813. Davy Akers was born near the date of my father, Levi, was born in 1823.

My postoffice at the time of my birth was Lanesville, near where the present postoffice which is now called Harold, in an old log house. William Greer was postmaster when I was young.

My mother, Nancy Hall Akers, was born March 23, 1833, deceased Jan. 12, 1928. My father, Levi Akers, was born July 20, 1823. Both father and mother are sleeping in the Rice cemetery on Prater Creek, Dana, Ky.

My first marriage was to Mary E. Hunter, three boys and four girls. I was married to Nana Justice, daughter of P. C. and Hannah Justice, Dec. 24, 1896. She united with me in the Regular Baptist Church last Saturday in June, 1896, and was baptized by Elder Bill Layne.

She departed this life Feb. 8, 1903. I was married to Christina Jarrell, daughter of Parks and Jane Jarrell, Dec. 23, 1907, and to this union were born seven children, four boys and three girls. She joined the old Regular Baptist Church last Saturday July 19, 1920, and departed this life April 22, 1946. Four of her children preceded her in death, and three survive.

I was married to Mary E. Hunter, Oct. 5, 1946. At present I have 63 grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and I request that when I am gone, to be buried in the Rice cemetery in Prater Creek. My choice of ministers to preach my funeral are: Elder Willard Akers, second; Elder Truck Hall, third; Elder Banner Manns and fourth; Elder Johnnie Hall. The opening song to be "There Is a Call for You, My Friends," composed by my kinsman, Stephen Akers.

Carroll Gene Hall

In Recital at Morehead

Carroll Gene Hall, nephew of R. B. Clineheart, Ashland, and son of Mrs. Anna J. Hall, of Hi Hall, was presented in his senior trombone recital at Morehead State College auditorium, Wednesday evening, July 16. He is a student of R. Russell Ankerman, college band director.

During the past year, Mr. Hall has been teaching at Carlisle, Ky., and he will continue to teach music there after his graduation. He received his A.B. degree majoring in music today (Thursday). Mr. Ankerman is faculty band director.

Seven from County Attend Band Camp

The annual Morehead State College band camp concluded 10 days of vocal and instrumental music activities with a talent show Friday night and a concert on the campus Saturday afternoon.

Sponsored by Dr. Leroy Well, head of the Morehead music department, and directed by Karl Niekamp, Mountsville, W. Va., and Walter Hall, Lexington, Ky., the band camp program was designed for high school students interested in band and choral work. Individual and group instruction was provided by the staff.

Those attending from Floyd county were Randall Wells, Prestonsburg; Kathryn Stewart and Virginia Spillman, Wayland; Jack Turner and Sandra Tingle, Langley; and Bobby Jones and David Chaffin, Whitesburg.

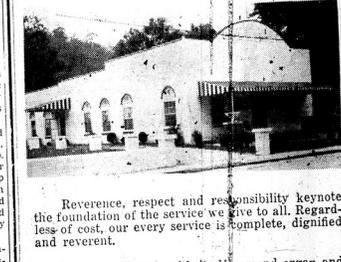

REVIVAL

how to get the best water heater buy

when building a new home... You'll be money ahead with an electric water heater because it needs no flues or vents. Installs anywhere—less piping. Efficient in performance because the heat's applied from within and full insulation keeps it there. And electric equipment adds real value to your home.

when modernizing... You modernize to make things more convenient... and with an electric water heater you can plan your floor space just as you want it. An electric water heater needn't be near a chimney... you can close it in completely if you like... or hide it in a closet or under stairs. Remember: "put it anywhere" is an exclusive electric advantage!

if you're just fed up with old-fashioned heaters... Tired of climbing stairs to nurse a cranky old-style heater? Had your fill of heaters that warm the air around them as well as the water? Need more hot water for farm or home use? Worried about how safe your heater is? Get peace of mind with a modern electric water heater. See your plumber or electric appliance dealer now.

Canned Fruits, Vegetables Ceilings Are Lifted

In compliance with requirements written by Congress into the new Defense Production Act, OPS has removed ceiling prices from most processed fruit and vegetable products.

The agency's decontrol order, received from the National Office this week by Carl P. King, acting district director of the Kentucky OPS, lists only those items which are "clearly and unequivocally" covered by the Harrison Amendment enacted by Congress. Other items may also be taken from under controls after the exact limits to which Congress intended to go in its decontrol intentions are defined.

Specifically, the items exempted from ceilings are:

Canned asparagus, canned lima beans, snap beans (green and wax), carrots, sweet corn, beets, all varieties of fresh field peas and fresh shell beans, fresh green peas, tomatoes, succotash, mushrooms, okra, onions, peppers, pimentoes, canned sweet potatoes, canned white potatoes, pumpkin, squash, spinach, turnips, green beans, canned mixtures of vegetables, canned vegetable juices and mixtures of vegetable juices.

Canned apricots, all varieties of sweet cherries, sour cherries, all varieties of berries, cranberries, plums, fresh prunes, figs, all varieties of peaches, all varieties of pears, fruit cocktails, fruits for salads including canned fruit mixtures, apples, apple sauce, canned and bottled fruit and berry juices and mixtures thereof.

All fresh vegetables, including frozen cooked squash and frozen pumpkin, all frozen fresh fruits or berries.

All canned frozen citrus fruits, juices and concentrates, including mixtures; all dried fruits, including mixtures; all other frozen fruit and berry concentrates; canned pineapple, canned pineapple juices; and the following canned baby or junior foods: spinach, carrots, green beans, peas, squash, sweet potatoes, peaches, apple sauce, pears and pineapple, apricot-apple sauce, pears and prunes.

Frozen French fried, diced or whipped white potatoes; shoestring, julienne potatoes and potato chips; sawtooth, sawtooth juice, cherries in brine; cherries in brine and pineapple.

The amendment decontrolling fruits and vegetables in fresh or processed form became effective July 1, when the Defense Production Act was extended for another 10 months. There were no ceilings on any fresh fruit or vegetable.

King said OPS realizes the action may result in higher prices for a number of items but decried the agency, under the terms of the law itself, "has no alternative but to remove ceilings on the products covered" and pointed out, however, that decontrol of the items does not relieve shillers of these products—at all levels of processing and distribution, including wholesale and retail food stores—of the responsibility to maintain records they have established for these products for the period of time specified in the regulations which formerly governed them.

Bishop Watkins To Speak At Annual Parish Day

Bishop William T. Watkins of the Louisville area of the Methodist Church, will deliver the address at the third annual Parish Day of the Big Sandy Valley Larger Parish Sunday, July 27, at 11 a.m. The services will be held at the Methodist Church in Ekibora City where the Rev. W. F. Sharp is pastor.

The occasion will mark the close of the sixth year of the work of the Larger Parish under the direction of the Rev. Robert L. Anderson. In this time approximately 500 members have been added to the church and new church and parsonage structures approximating $100,000 in value have been added to the church. The program has been supported largely by the Methodist Church in Ekibora City.

Congregations at Hardy, Freeburn, Shellbiana, Dorton, Boldman, Zebulon, Betsy Layne, Gullman, Ekibora, Ekibora City will be represented in the annual gathering next Sunday. Friends are invited to attend and share a basket lunch at the noon hour.

IF YOU use gasoline-powered tractors in the 45,000 GCW class, here's big news. This new GMC Series 470 will haul more pay load than any other vehicle of its rating with comparable standard equipment—up to more than a half-ton than some!

That's because GMC has found new ways to take dead weight out of truck design by advanced engineering. One example is GMC's sensational new "302" valve-in-head engine that delivers 145 h. p. at 3200 r. p. m. It weighs less than other engines of equal power by as much as 500 lbs. Yet it's the highest-compression gasoline truck engine ever built—gives you extra mileage from regular fuel!

Come in. Compare them—in power, in pay load, in rugged long-life construction—against all the rest!

Then check the price and you'll agree: nowhere else will so little buy so much in a 3- to 4 1/2-ton truck!

Reo. R. L. Anderson Speaks To Woman's Club

The Betsy Layne Woman's Club held its regular meeting July 17, with Mrs. Beecher Hardwick and Mrs. C. H. Dickerson as hostesses. Mrs. Hardwick, president, called the meeting to order. Mrs. R. L. Anderson, program leader, with a program in the American Home department, Religious division, introduced the speaker, her husband, the Reverend Anderson, who spoke on "Religion in the American Home," and Anderson gave an interesting talk on the subject, pointing out that religion begins in the home. He noted that our founding fathers had standards of religious life that guaranteed them homes and they had the foundation of our American homes. He also noted that religion is the keystone to the arch of democracy and that religion in any home is very necessary. Rev. Anderson concluded the program with prayer.

Mrs. Hardwick presided at the business portion of the meeting. Paul Palmer led in the singing of the national anthem and celebrating the 10th anniversary of the Betsy Layne Woman's Club were made. The score card for the coming year was read and discussed. The plan of work for each department was given to each department chairman by Mrs. Hardwick.

The following department committees were announced: American Home—Mrs. Robert L. Anderson, chairman; Mrs. Alex Davis and Mrs. Elizabeth Pritchard; Youth Conservation—Mrs. Glenn Blackburn, chairman; Mrs. Edward Lykins and Mrs. Jesse Elliott; Fine Arts—Mrs. Arthur Van Kammen, chairman; Mrs. Norma Layne and Mrs. A. K. Rollins; Spiritual Values—Mrs. Alice Davis, chairman; Mrs. O. J. Williams and Mrs. R. L. Anderson; International Relations—Mrs. W. P. Howell, chairman; Mrs. Arthur Van Kammen and Mrs. Edward Lykins; Press and Publicity—Miss Alice Williams, chairman; Mrs. Edw. Lykins; Community Service—Mrs. T. J. Chandler; Year Books and Program—Mrs. Hardwick, chairman; Mrs. Glenn Blackburn; Mrs. T. J. Chandler; Mrs. O. J. Williams and Miss Alice Williams.

Mrs. O. J. Williams read a letter from Mrs. J. D. Mayo, RN, Floyd County TB Association, stating that the club suggest a member to serve on the board of directors of the TB Association of Floyd county. Mrs. T. J. Chandler was selected for this duty. A card of appreciation from Mrs. T. C. Carroll for help in the Cancer Crusade was read by Mrs. Hardwick. The meeting was concluded by a report on the Brownie Scout Troop by the leader, Mrs. Glenn Blackburn, and assistant leader, Mrs. Lykins. They reported seven enrolled and much progress being made.

A dinner plate was served the following: Mesdames Arthur Van Kammen, Glenn Blackburn, Edward Lykins, O. J. Williams, W. P. Howell, R. L. Anderson, T. J. Chandler, Miss Alice Williams, Mrs. Clyde Blackburn, London, Ky., Rev. Anderson and the hostesses, Mrs. Hardwick, Mrs. Dickerson. The regular August meeting will be Thursday night, Aug. 21, at the home of Mrs. R. L. Anderson, with a program scheduled on Conservation of Natural Resources, with Mrs. Edward Lykins and Mrs. Oscar Watkins, leaders.

Floyd County, Home of Dewey Lake.

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY

I registered for Coroner, then decided to come off due to the fact I could buy a place of business in West Virginia. But the deal didn't materialize.

Now, since the Attorney General of Kentucky has ruled that my name has to stay on the ballot, I AM OUT TO WIN. I believe I am better known over the county than my opponents. I have been in the taxi business for several years and now operate a drive-in restaurant near the Dewey Lake, better known as the Round House.

I am not a muckraker or a docteur, but I am qualified enough to appoint a Coroner's jury that could give you an accurate verdict, and I promise you people if you elect me I will consult the nearest relative and let them decide as to what funeral home or she wants the deceased to be placed with.

I further promise there won't be any racket made one of the office. I am not running for any one of the four funeral homes in the county. When I am called out to hold an inquest I won't have the unfortunate and discussed, because there might be cases where your credit is better than others; so it is only fair to let your patronize the one you want.

Now, since I thought about it, I am an ex-soldier also. I happened to go overseas in 1942. I went in the first action against the French in North Africa, then on to Tunisia against the Germans and Italians. I also crossed the English Channel and landed on D-Day at H-Hour with the 1st Inf. Division, the Red One.

But I am not asking for sympathy just because I saw a few months' action, because I am not the only man who has been overseas from this county. Chances are I would have stayed here in good old Floyd county if I hadn't gotten a greeting from the President.

You people who don't know me personally, just ask any one who does know me whether I am honest and accommodating. I know if half of my relatives and a third of my friends vote for me, I can't be defeated, and I am confident I won't lose many who know me well. My name is first on the ballot and I am thanking you in advance.

Respectfully,
BENNIE BLACKBURN

OLDHAM NAMED
Kentucky's first deputy commissioner of State Police—a post created by the 1952 General Assembly—will be Louisville Police Lieutenant Charles C. Oldham, 32, who may become acting commissioner when Quinter F. Crowe leaves August 1 to become federal judge of the Panama Canal Zone.

Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby, who approved the appointment made by Crowe, said the Louisville may be named acting commissioner. The State Police post was offered to Mayor William B. Kiefer, assistant chief of the Louisville police department, who declined it.

CLIFF

(Last week's correspondence)
Mr. and Mrs. Ed Snyder, of Jenkins, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stephens, here Monday, on route home from a short vacation at Daytona Beach, Fla. They were accompanied by their little niece, Tommie Carol Laven, who went for a two weeks' vacation in Jenkins and points in Virginia.

Business visitors from Cliff to Paintsville Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Best and son, Stephen Lee Best, and Mrs. Bill Bingham and grandchildren.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Stephens were Miss Anna Woods and Miss Myrtle Puskey, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hornbuckle, of Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. Roe Layne and Ruth Ann Layne called on Mr. and Mrs. Will Stephens Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore and children called on her brother, Don Moore, and family at Van Lear Sunday.

Mrs. Guy Rorer, Jr., has been quite ill at the Prestonsburg General Hospital. She has returned home now and is slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lafferty and children spent last week at the residence of his brother, Darwin Lafferty, on Cliff Creek, while the Laffertys visited in Baltimore.

Schools are open at Cliff Monday, fifth Maria Conley, of Prestonsburg, as teacher. The community extends Mr. Conley a hearty welcome and wishes him a very successful school year.

Frankie Best will resume her teaching duties at a new location this year—school No. 5A at the forks of Middle Creek. She is looking forward to meeting and working with the parents and children of that community.

CHIEF 4-H CLUB held its monthly meeting at Cliff school, July 9. Harold Rice, county agent, Mrs. Woodrow Stephens and Mrs. Frankie Best, leaders, met with the club members. An informal meeting was held and plans were made for the club's participation in the 4-H Club fair to be held in Prestonsburg in September. The next meeting will be the second Wednesday in August at 10 a.m.

Johnny Greene, of Ashland, is spending his vacation here with his aunt, Mrs. T. J. Bingham, and Mr. Bingham.

MARTIN

The Martin Sunday School Campaign Committee met Sunday afternoon at the Methodist Church. The meeting was opened with scripture reading, also with the reading of an article from the magazine, "Eye for Eye." It was decided to have a large poster placed in the window of the First Guaranty Bank showing the combined Sunday School attendance of Martin churches. Call your attendance total, starting Aug. 3, to Mrs. Coleman, phone 4221, and watch the poster. It was also decided to have a motorcycle spring all changes, starting Aug. 3, and heading through that month. Be out on the corner, flag a car bearing a white cross and it will take you to the Sunday School of your choice. There will be a call meeting of the Sunday School campaign Committee at the Methodist Church, Friday, Aug. 1, to allot territories to each church.

HAUL WITH A DODGE AND CUT YOUR COSTS!

- Cut costs with a Dodge truck "Job-Rated" to fit your job—from ½-ton to 4-ton.
- Power-with-economy is the first principle of a Dodge engine—thanks to L-head design, high-efficiency carburetion.
- Low upkeep is engineered into every Dodge truck with features such as floating oil intake and others.
- gyrol Fluid Drive—available on ½-, ¾-, 1-ton, and Route-Van models—saves wear.
- Come in today for a demonstration—and a good deal!

Save on gas and oil. Dodge truck operating costs stay low, thanks to such values as lightweight aluminum-alloy pistons with chrome-plated top piston rings, 4 rings per piston, and others.

Save on maintenance. Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks keep you on the road—and out of the repair shop. You get such features as exhaust valve seat inserts, positive-pressure lubrication system, and others.

Save on log life. Husky frames, sturdy axles and high-capacity springs provide extra strength, lengthen truck life. Because a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck lasts longer, it has a high trade-in value!

DODGE "Job-Rated" TRUCKS

... says LEO MEUDT, Meudt & Beck Distributing Co., Madison, Wis.

"Our Dodge trucks give us exceptional over-all economy"

"Economy is one of the many things we like about our Dodges. They're real low on all costs—especially on oil and upkeep."
"These trucks are on the go for 5½ days every week, carrying extra-heavy payloads. They always keep running and have never had any major mechanical trouble."
"The drivers tell us the new Dodge has real comfort and drives like an automobile."
