There's an old saying that a thing is worth what someone is willing to pay for it. Well, if you could tour the wholesale and retail car auctions around the country, if you could survey hundreds of used car lots you would discover that used Fords bring higher prices than any competitive make—and by substantial amounts.

That's why we feel our '53 cars should not be compared with cars in the same price range. Not because our competitors don't do a good job—obviously they do—but because we feel Ford cars have more in common with the highest priced automobiles. The similarities are far greater than the differences.

For example, today, the most expensive cars in this country have V-type, 8-cylinder engines. Ford cars have had this exact same type of engine for over 20 years.

What's more astounding, the current Strato-Star V-8 sells for hundreds of dollars less than several other makes charge for a V-8 under car. Now there's nothing wrong with a V-8, but they do cost less to make. Ford makes a V-8—the most modern overhead valve V-8 in the industry—and if it's a six-cylinder car you want, Ford has it and for less money than the V-8, which is as it should be.

What about ride? Here's another Ford similarity with high-priced cars... Riding Comfort. One of the misconceptions for many years has been that weight—sheer weight—is what it takes to make a car ride well. Ford has found that you can make a 3000-pound car ride softer and hold the road better by far than many cars that weigh a full 1000 pounds more. In the '53 Ford, for example, load and road shock has been reduced up to 80%. We say it compares most favorably with the heaviest cars sold today.

Magoffin Institute Plans $150,000 School Building; Benedict on Trustee Board

A $150,000 classroom building designed to accommodate 100 students and to include a gymnasium, will be erected by the Magoffin Baptist Institute at Mountain Valley, Mountain county, it was announced last week by D. M. Aldridge, president of the school.

James Allan Clark, architect of Winchester, Ky., presented plans which were adopted by the Trustees. Construction will begin soon.

Woman's Club Elects Officers for Next Year

Mrs. John G. Archer was hostess to the Prestonsburg Woman's Club last Thursday for its regular monthly meeting. The president, Mrs. W. W. Cooley, presided. During the business session the following business was transacted: The nominating committee presented the following candidates for office next year: President, Mrs. Russell Shaw, first vice-president, Mrs. J. H. Keenan, second vice-president, Mrs. S. S. Collins, recording secretary, Mrs. John G. Archer, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Brown Manning, treasurer, Mrs. Lou Hill. There being no other candidates, the recommendations of the nominating committee were voted for unanimously. These officers will be in effect at the May meeting. The club voted to give $10 for traveling expenses to Louisville for Baker Burke who was sponsored by the club at the Seventh district contest for the Egyptian Music Camp, who won the contest. The club also voted to give $5 to the American Cancer Society. The club has again reminded of the visit of the T-1 X-ray unit which will be sponsored by the club on April 21. The following members volunteered to help with the clerical work incidental to the clerical work incident to the X-ray unit: Madeline J. H. Keenan, Cecil Kendrick, E. L. Ley, Dave Stephens, Keith Barts, N. L. May, Lou Hill and Raymond Hyde.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. W. W. Cooley introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Arthur Bradbury, of Wheelwright, who spoke on "The Story of English China." Mrs. Bradbury told something of the history of English China, especially Wedgwood China. She also showed samples of the materials used in the making of China. It was interesting to learn that it takes over 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit for the firing of china, and that each piece of china passes through approximately 340 hands from the starting point until it is finished. Mrs. Bradbury showed how the designs were made and placed on the Wedgwood china. She displayed various pieces of china that she had brought from England, several of which were pieces made in commemoration of the coronation ceremonies of several English kings.

After this interesting program, the hostess, Mrs. John G. Archer, and co-hostesses, Madeline Gwyn Ford, Edna and Dave Stephens, Vel Sherman and Miss Alice Harris, served refreshments to the following members: Madeline H. Ley, G. M. Heard, Lou Hill, Raymond Hyde, E. L. Collins, J. G. Harlow, W. W. Cooley, James Donahue, J. D. Mayo, Cecil Kendrick, J. H. Keenan, M. Robert Reagin, N. L. May, Russell Shaw, and guests, Madeline Arthur Bradbury, Martin L. May, Marvin Ransdell, Jarvis Allen and Ethel Powers.

Kentucky Is Not a Poll Tax State, But...

KENTUCKY is not a poll tax state, we are reminded, but most of its counties, including Floyd, exact that tax of all who will pay. The collection of the tax is left within the discretion of the counties themselves. And so exists a tax law which is more inequitable even than Kentucky's ill-starred dog law. For the dog tax law affects nobody in Floyd county while the poll tax is collected from a part of the people while others ignore it. On top of that, the poll tax provides double or triple taxation for some.

To get down to cases, only the owner of property pays the poll tax. To go through the involved process necessary to collect the $1 tax from those who do not own property is a labor the collector cannot justify, and so only a part of the people bear this part of the tax load. Moreover, those poll tax payers who reside in an incorporated town such as Prestonsburg with an independent school district will pay not only the county but also the city and the school district this per capita tax.

Floyd county has upwards of 10,000 taxpayers, about 6,000 of whom pay this poll tax and the other 4,000 laugh at it.

It occurs to us that the $6,000 added to the county treasury is not so badly needed that the county is justified in setting up and maintaining a tax system which obviously pays favorites.

Floyd county and its incorporated towns might, indeed, profit by being able to tell outside interests and residents that here there is no poll tax—no tax on the head for those males between the ages of 21 and 65.

One Solution

KENTUCKY faces the necessity of retrenchment during the next fiscal year by $5,000,000 from its present budget, because of a sharp drop in revenues.

Except for salary expenses, which can be cut in instances scattered here and there, where shall the cuts be made? The schools need more money, not less. The same is true of roads. The major phases of state government need full financial support.

What is the answer? New taxes? Who would suggest a higher income tax or a stiffer levy on real estate and personal property? Why not a sales tax which would collect on the basis of our spending and would affect all, not just a part of us?

Hatcher Named Head Of Insurance Sales

James J. Hatcher, of Huntington, W. Va., formerly of Prestonsburg, has been named to head the Huntington sales office of The Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co., Inc., and The Paul Revere Life Insurance Company. The appointment of Mr. Hatcher, a result of the consolidation of the Prestonsburg and Huntington sales offices, follows the resignation of Emmett A. Marshall. Mr. Hatcher's management record includes a citation for outstanding sales performance presented to his agency last year. The current appointment places him in charge of the West Virginia sales activities of his companies.

To Conduct Revival

A revival meeting will begin at the First Church of God at East Point, Sunday morning April 13, with the Rev. Roy Benson, of Middleboro, Ohio, as evangelist. Rev. Benson, an outstanding minister, having done what has been described as great work in Ohio and states that services will be held each evening for two weeks. The Rev. Roy Benson, pastor of the church, invites the public to these services.

Judge Asks Cancer Fund Support; 10,000 Persons To Suffer Cancer, Claim

County Judge Henry Stumbo this week called for full support of cancer control activities during April which he proclaimed as "Cancer Control Month."

The proclamation pointed out that one-fifth of all people of the county will eventually develop cancer. This is based on statistics which reflect cancer incidence throughout the state and world. In Floyd county this would mean that at least 10,000 local residents will eventually have cancer, unless a big change is made in the statistical trend.

The judge's proclamation said cancer has reached such proportions that a concerted effort by everyone is necessary to combat it and pointed out that nation-wide efforts to focus attention on cancer will be made during April.

The text of the proclamation follows:

WHEREAS, the people of this community have demonstrated on many previous occasions their ability to meet crisis with action and

WHEREAS, it is statistically true that one-fifth of all the citizens of Floyd county eventually will develop cancer unless new methods of protection are devised without delay, and

WHEREAS, the health and lives of our people have reached proportions that demand concerted action by everyone, with their time and their financial support, and

WHEREAS, the Congress of the United States has authorized the President to designate April as a special occasion for taking cognizance of this problem, and

WHEREAS, a vast nation-wide effort is being made through government agencies and by volunteer public organizations to concentrate attention on the disease cancer at this time, and

WHEREAS, the American Cancer Society will conduct its annual campaign to reduce the public and raise funds during the month of April.

THEREFORE, I, Henry Stumbo, County Judge, do hereby ordain and proclaim the month of April as: CANCER CONTROL MONTH and FURTHERMORE request that all citizens of this community observe this occasion and lend their support to the American Cancer Society's 1953 crusade.

THIS IS A BIG CAT

This matter of communities setting up censorship boards to pass on what you and I shall read goes much deeper than what you see in it more to improve the morals of the country.

Anybody who has had a taste of the sort of literary trips they set before the public these days will agree something is needed, but this is a cat the belling of which is a difficult and delicate task. If censorship could be achieved sensibly, it would not only those works which are printed for the pure sake of printing, or would any "cat" with your hatchet," but censors are as human and as full of errors as writers and book publishers, and they could go off on a literary witch-hunt.

If your board of censors sits down to expunge every reference to sex, every phrase which calls a name a name, it's going to rip into books which as a whole have solid merit. For instance, you could lift out of context certain passages from the Bible and Shakespeare which, without the wisdom, truth and beauty of the whole, would make the most blasphemous modern treat a violent shade of red.

On top of all that, there is a danger that the world's genius for expression might be shown into a straightjacket through the same kind of thinking that at one time would have had Kitty Foyle, for instance, banned from the book stalls. (Dig up a copy of Kitty Foyle, of years ago and see if you think the would-be censors of that day were right.)

It's a big problem, this business of trying to get only the good and the beautiful before those of us who can read. Perhaps it would be wiser to educate us to look for the good and the beautiful and so to have an instinctive contempt for the bad.

Personally, I'd like to do a bit of book-burning, myself. I can think of dozens of magazines and books devoted, per se, to sex, crime and other vile activities, now. But I still say, I might save a few matches by exposing myself and mine to good books first, thus cultivating a taste for something better than those things we've been inclined to think only I will purify.

COMMENDS FISCAL COURT

We read in last week's paper about the action of the fiscal court in cutting off the salary of Alex Davidson, the Commonwealth Detective, and suing Burns Martin for the payment of his bill. The people in our section have talked for a long time that the salaries of these officials were not needed, and that the money could be put to a better use on roads and to help the needy people in Floyd county. We think this action by the fiscal court is a good thing and the court should be commended for it.

Respectfully yours, HARGIS HAYES (Advertisement)

El Coney Stone, Hindman, Succumbs Monday, April 6

El Coney Stone, who claimed to be the oldest practicing attorney in Kentucky, died Monday at his third man home. He was 84. Stone, a native of Knox county, had outlived his first wife and eight of his 10 children but his name was perpetuated by 308 living descendants, even unto the fifth generation.

He also was believed to be the only County Judge pro-tem in this county, serving under his grandson. He had held that office since the grandson, Alred Stone, was elected County Judge three years ago. Floyd County Historical Notes

By HENRY F. SCALF

In the Leckie Valley Courier (West Liberty), March 28, appeared a reference to the Webb family. Irma Hanes, regent Morgan county, chapter, D.A.R., wrote the Courier, "The Webb family history here excerpted as being of possible interest to readers of The Times."

"The James Webb family history begins with James Webb, an Englishman who came to America before the Revolution. He was in the War for Independence as an aide de camp to General Washington. At the battle of White Plains he was shot through the body, and lay on the field for several days. He recovered from the wound, however, and subsequently followed his son Benjamin to Leitch county, Kentucky. Jas. Webb married a sister of Daniel Boone's mother. Another son, Jimmie, Jr., married a Pennington and moved to Lawrence county in the early 1790's."

James Taylor Adams, a prominent geologist and historian of Kentucky, Jas. Webb married a sister of Daniel Boone's mother. Another son, Jimmie, Jr., married a Pennington and moved to Lawrence county in the early 1790's.

"So far the first record I have of our branch of the Adams family is in the year 1774 when Spencer Adams was bondman for Jacob Adams for his marriage to Mary Towson in Rowan county, North Carolina. Rowan county was later to be part of Rowan that the Adams lived."

"The next official record I find of our people is around 1726 when they took up lands on Roaring River. There were John, Spencer, Benjamin, Charles, William and Jacob, all of whom we presume to be brothers. Then in 1763 we find Elizabeth Adams, daughter of Old John, and Archibald Craft marrying and the bondsmen for this wedding was Elizabeth's uncle Jacob Adams. Following this the court and church records in Wilkes county are cluttered up with Adams activity."

"In the year 1783 the South Fork of Roaring River Baptist Church was constituted and the first matter of business after organization of the church was completed, with the admission of John Adams and wife by experience and baptism. Spencer and his wife joined about six months later by letter, and about the same time Henrietta, Benjamin Adams' wife, was also a member."

"In the year 1803 Spencer Adams

A GENERAL MOTORS MASTERPIECE

Its Great Name Makes Its Price Remarkable!

Consider the respect in which the name Pontiac is held—then consider that this great car is priced only a few dollars above the rest—and you can come to only one conclusion: that here, indeed, is the biggest value your automobile dollar can buy.

The reason is very simple: Pontiac is the one car deliberately engineered to give you features of the costliest cars at a price right next to the lowest. This has been true for years—but never more evident than in the wonderful new 1953 Pontiac.

You see proof of this in its distinctive Dual-Streak styling, in its luxurious color-keyed interiors, and in its longer wheelbase and road-handling weight. You see it even more when you get behind the wheel and realize that under the hood there's more power than you'll ever likely need. And as the years and the miles roll by, you get the most positive evidence of all in its amazingly low maintenance cost.

Why not take your first step toward enjoying the pride and pleasure of Pontiac ownership by investigating Pontiac's modest cost? You'll quickly see that so low a price on so great a car represents a truly remarkable value. Come in at your first opportunity. You'll be very glad you did.

3123 more families cook electrically every day!

Who are they? What are their reasons? Take a minute... Discover why you, too, will prefer this modern method!

It's an impressive figure... 3123 electric ranges sold every day. That's the average rate of purchase for four straight years.

More impressive still is this: these 3123 purchasers include hundreds who are looking for the same things in a range as you are! People who want the best at any price... and young couples who must watch every penny. People in brand new homes... people who live in older houses. New brides with no kitchen experience... and homemakers of sixty years!

Your electric range is at your dealer's NOW
• Low Down Payments
• Easy Budget Terms

Yes, whatever you want in a range—safety, cleanliness, speed, dependable thrifly performance—an electric range has it. Be one of the 3123 homemakers who'll enjoy really modern cooking tomorrow... see your electric range dealer today.

New Homes—We've found that practically every buyer wants an all-electric home," says the builder of this attractive development. So... he puts an electric range in every home. Many other builders do the same thing.

Older Homes—Remember, if your house is wired for electricity, you can enjoy the advantages of modern electric cooking without delay. Thousands of older homes "switch over" every year.

Young Mothers—I had never cooked on an electric range until last year," this young mother says. "Now... after knowing all its advantages... I wouldn't consider changing back for anything at all."

Veteran Homemakers—I've been keeping house for 60 years," the lady says, "and have used almost every method of cooking. I'm satisfied the electric way is best." Nothing new to learn.

Choice of Experts! Electric ranges are the choice in national fighting contests... where performance really counts. Many of America's finest ships, trains, hotels, and restaurants... too, have switched to electric cooking.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

BY WILMAT

And everyone rejoices that Russia is making peace moves. We agree with Secretary Dulles, who believes the present course must be taken. It will prove if she is sincere, it will become us to fall to meet her halfway, but past experience has shown that she is not sincere. She has plans for further conquests, this method would be a liability to serve as a first and last step. A nation whose leaders have plotted and planned to assume world power for centuries, passing on from ruler to ruler. The schemes of an architect, such as, unlikely to relinquish the cherished hopes so readily, we fear.

More than nine years ago while traveling in Indiana we pointed out some Russian aims which have since been realized. We asked if the Russian Bear had any more right to roam the world's business nations than Germany had, for even then when Russia was supposed to be our ally a child could see what was in the cards. Later, when speaking in Whitesburg, we were more specific connecting Biblical prophecy with the current events and predictions. It was obvious that some could not agree. Time has since confirmed the statements and predictions, based largely upon a study of Russian history since Peter the Great, whose march south was a more beginning of the vast empire which has grown so much of the world today.

Nice to see Sam Jones the other day. He made one of the best Sunday School presentations I have ever had. He is a good Methodist, who now lives in Grundy, Va. Where he attended the Baptist Church. He told E. R. he is the man who got the church there to invite E. P. Kelly for their revival, starting last Sunday. E. R. said, "You did not do better. That man prays with more power than most men preach." While Methodist himself, E. R. has requested that Kelly preach in his church. If, and when, Friends know Kelly's power can be traced to his courage, and as Gay, his wife, says, "The time he spends on his knees. We like to see him come this way, for usually Gay and the children visit us. The kids call us Aunt and Uncle, and when they sleep they cross a continent. A real triumph the day Judge cast his vote for Aunt Wilma over a blood one in Tennessee. Gay has more like a sister than real ones, we seldom see. God gave her the sweetest contralto in heaven.

Grandma Hagans is poorly, and everyone is sorry, for she is a grand soul. Went to see Gaynell May today. She just got home from the hospital, and every minute was a blessing to her. Her second wife is a blessing to others. Her is such a radiant faith. Her little granddaughters say Aunt Wilma, Tiny Sue is so timid with people, but could carry on a telephone conversation with the President. She never fails to recognize my voice. So does little Lynn Christy, who is enough like a favorite niece to be her life. She says Aunt May!

Years ago, when every friend bragged about niece, it seemed a shame to have no one saying Auntie. Elizabeth Hayes gladly offered to accommodate the old lady and say Aunt. When the end of school gets near and report time comes Elizabeth always comes to mind. For she writes the most perfect hand in America. Yours Truly's books like this, scribbling. Never knew until after the knot was tied that the boss had to get his sister to read all his courtship letters. Hope now soon they start this adult education program, and that they offer penmanship and science we all seemed too dumb to learn. God or alms about not knowing how to write. Had one arm broke three times. Trouble is 'twas 't'her arm!

See you next week folks, in the meantime somebody find a way to tell Mr. Gerald Griffin Jesus never drove anybody from the temple as a child, in the present or otherwise. We admire that man specially his ability and appreciate his help. He has been so nice to the present. But there was one on the air Sunday or Monday the present script is strictly Biblical, with The Courier-Journal saying Jesus drove Money-changers out when he was a child. Mr. Griffin was there the day the rain storm broke just when the child Jesus was in the temple with his parents. Spoke the way the character ran from that cloudburst made him finger we got mixed up ourselves! Which we shone did on plenty of points in the present script. So far only James Salisbury and Sherrill Frause has had the nerve to mention the worst mistake we are making. Our story also mentions the Blessed Virgin. The present author is Baptist. The present is under the sponsorship of Martin, Sunday schools and the public schools. These groups do not deny the mother of Jesus Mary was a sinner, but only the Devil Bible the Catholic version, denies the mother of our Lord. We love everyone and have some dear Catholic friends, but this present is not Catholic.

LUNG CANCER INCREASES
Deaths from cancer of the lung increased five-fold between 1906 and 1940, American Cancer Society statistics show.

After reading that Kentucky is to be among the 46 states in providing free books for its people to read, a couple of Scots named Jess Stuart and Edwina Galloway have decided to do a wee bit about it. The old, familiar Scottish term is right. "What Greenup County's distinguished author and educator had your humble essay plan to do is to truly a wee bit, because the outlay will not exceed $25. Being a couple of frugal gals, we may keep it under twenty.

Here is the plan. With the help of a dozen or more distinguished teachers and librarians we will pick a two-foot shelf of books to suit to boys and girls of 8 to 18. Stuart, through the superintendent of Greenup or an adjacent county will select a school that has its books but texts and whose teachers take enthusiastically to the idea.

The little shelf of good books will become a lending library. The teacher will keep a complete record of the loans. The library cards of the pupils will be checked at the end of the first semester and the second. The teacher will report all statistical information, plus his or her own impression of the project.

Truly a wee bit of an experiment but its results may be worth an article in the Readers-Digest. Much will depend upon the teacher, but Jess Stuart will pick a good one. Jess is eminently qualified as a picker. As pupils, then teacher he came up through the Greenup County schools. Up is doubly right up to place among Kentucky writers.

Don't get the impression Stuart and I are herring in with something that might conflict with the Harry Schacter-Mary Bingham bookmobile project for making free books to all Kentucky communities backward in providing reading matter for their citizens. We hope to make you see a big plug for the state-wide public library movement.

HEALTH NOTES

DR. MARVIN RANSELL

Spring Fever and Fatigue
Spring fever, which is described as physical fatigue and lethargy, attacks most frequently and with greatest force at this time of the year, although it can come during any season.

There is a reason for this. Sometimes the body is merely reacting to the change of warm spring days after the long cold winter. Winter weather, too, tends to keep a person indoors at sedentary pursuits and fatigue may be the body's way of demanding needed fresh air and exercise. Or, fatigue may be caused by sluggishness, the result of steady eating of rich, heavy foods, usually consumed during cold months when the appetite is sharpened.

Some people, suffering from chronic fatigue, resort to excessive use of stimulants like coffee or patent medicines or pills which are supposed to give them "pep." This is a further strain on the body, whipping it into action past its endurance. The poisons generated by fatigue are increased, and what is left of the body's resistance to stress and disease is completely broken down.

There is another type of fatigue—prolonged, excessive exhaustion not easily explained, reason—that should never be lightly dismissed as "spring fever." This kind of fatigue, frequently associated with infection and disease, means that something is seriously wrong. The sufferer should go to his doctor immediately for a complete physical examination, including a chest X-ray.

Patigue, coming at any season of the year, can be dangerous to health and even life if it is ignored and allowed to become chronic. It is a physical "safety valve," an unmistakable signal that the body has lost control of its physical activity until it has a chance to recuperate. The best immediate treatment for ordinary, temporary fatigue is rest. The first and best step toward correcting chronic, unexplained fatigue is to visit the doctor for a complete medical check-up.

If You Remember...

The future governor of Kentucky was a mere boy, just entering his teens but he could wield a bow with the growl in the long rows around the stope. It was the bow that belated that, and the unprejudiced inclination of the young girl who stood in the upper row in the water or dust on him.

The boy who stood in the next row entered the legal profession as a barrister of wide note and rose high in the judicial hierarchy of the state. These two met often in the hectic days of campaign for political preferment and in affairs of importance at the state capital. The governor asked the judge about Mary and was only told that she had married and lived in Eastern Kentucky. It is an old custom to ask about a man's folks. Mary was the judge's sister.

Another campaign year the governor came to Prestonsburg—came by auto and train. Mary had heard that he would speak. She rode uptown from out of the country. If there was anything to distinguish her from the crowd it was a black slat bonnet. She stood in the group of people and sought to remain unseen.

The governor came out on the platform and looked around at his audience, smiling and acknowledging the applause of his friends. Suddenly the smile was gone and he stared into the heavy press of people—stared at a woman in a black slat bonnet. Coming down he pushed aside the crowd, ignored the many averted hands until he reached her side.

When he put his arm around her they were alone in a great crowd. Time dropped away, backward, and they relived the past. They were young, barefoot, home-coming, they were water and dust on each other, wending their way to school along a country road, attending Sunday school at the crossroads church. For a moment they were alone in a great crowd with their memories.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BACK TO THE HOME AWAY FROM HOME. Well all good things have to end, and so does my visit back home.

What is the saying? 'Home is where the heart is.' My home is here in Floyd county, then because everything I hold dear is here in Floyd county and vicinity, my son, parents and relatives and friends are here.

Sometimes I wonder, what will happen to the people of Eastern Kentucky in the future. Are we going to be a supplying state, either to the North or to the South?

JOE H. COOLEY FOR SHERIFF

I wish to take this means to announce my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Sheriff of Floyd County.

It has been a step taken with deep reluctance and after long hesitation and but for my friends and the many people who are interested in good government I would not have become a candidate.

At the outset I shall give you a platform upon which I intend to conduct my campaign. If elected it will then serve as a bond between me and the people.

1. I will re-select deputies that will be a credit to a great county, who will execute their duties impartially and efficiently.
