SPAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

MAY 24, 1956

THURSDAY

This Town— That World

We turn to Oliver Wendell Holmes for the thought of the week. With greater wisdom than we are ever apt to appreciate he wrote, many years ago:

"But, better yourself that friendship authorizes you to say disagreeable things to your intimates. The nearer you come into relation with a person, the more necessary do tact and courtesy become."

HOT CAMPAIGN

Earle Clements and Joe Bates think they're in a campaign. The Peavee Foremen's Club at Davis is putting on one of the two possible hot tickets for club officers that, for money, has these two gentlemen being beaten by a farthing. The Postum Light and Dairy Crockets parties are duking out the dirt up there in copious amounts.

I think a good newspaper year could be hatched up if we could get some straggle to these parts to read statements from the rural township managers. (Gumville, Crace and Happy Hill, the stranger to Davis and walk him into a faded "political" agreement, with threats and all trimmings of course, we might then have to run the visitor down in order to get a picture, but it ought to be good.)

HOW MANY?

Read this sentence: FINE CRAFTSMANSHIP IS THE RESULT OF YEARS OF SCIENTIFIC STUDY COMBINED WITH THE EXPERIENCE OF YEARS. Now count the 'F's in that sentence. Only one can't go back and count 'em again. Did you get the bottom of this column where the answer is either:

SHE DIDN'T WANT TO SEE A FIGHT

The following which relates to the "beginning" of what appeared to be the makings of a fairly good record game via Allan M. Turner, ENGR report of an incident slipping from the Richmond Register:

RIVER SURVEY, BUCKHORN JOB FUND SHORTED

Cannon Reverses Stand On Reservoir; Clements Tells of Disappointment

After the House Appropriations committee had earlier approved an appropriation of only $30,000 for completion of the Big Sandy river survey in a study of canalization prospects, the committee's chairman, Congressman Cannon, of Missouri, by a startling change Tuesday, in his attitude toward another project, the Eastern Kentucky another hard blow.

Cannon reversed what Congressman Perkins and other members of the Kentucky delegation believed was a firm promise to support approval of $100,000 for the beginning of work on the Buckhorn dam and reservoir in Perry county. As a result of his change of mind, the House refused to vote of $110 to $4 to add the Buckhorn reservoir to the $73,748,000 appropriations bill.

Commenting on the sudden turn of events, the Kentucky delegation believed was a firm promise to support approval of $100,000 for the beginning of work on the Buckhorn dam and reservoir in Perry county. As a result of his change of mind, the House refused to vote of $110 to $4 to add the Buckhorn reservoir to the $73,748,000 appropriations bill.

Many telephone "troubles" never happen, thanks to John M. Doss, Jr. John's a test deskman for Southern Bell. With the help of intricate electronic equipment in the central office which can spot trouble miles away, he tests telephone lines to make sure they stay in good working order. And John's not by himself. He and some 65,000 other trained Southern Bell people in all kinds of jobs — linemen, cable splicers, operators — are working to give you good telephone service, 24 hours a day.

DAMRON CELL ESCAPE ROUTE

One Flees Pike-Co. Jail; 'Cattish' Damron Claims He Did Not Attempt Break

One of two men making an escape attempt from the Pike county jail Thursday of last week succeeded. Escaping was Luther Rutherford, Spriggs, Va., but meeting with failure was Willard 'Cattish' Damron, of Boldman. Damron, charged with the slaying of a man thought to be Clyde Jack Clements whose headless body was found on Carter Fork of Johns Creek early last year, is in jail without bond. He is also charged with armed robbery in connection with the hold-up of an aged man on Town Mountain, near Pikeville several weeks ago.

Rutherford, who is 5 feet 8 inches and weighs about 120 pounds, gained freedom after sawing through iron bars and their steel mesh coverings. He had just about served his six months sentence meted out for a similar jail break about six months ago. He faced a habitual criminal charge in Mingo county, Va.

He sawed a 14-inch square in the bottom of the door of his own cell which had no window, and then entered through a hole sawed in the cell occupied by Damron.

After getting into Damron's cell Rutherford sawed a hole in the bars and mesh covering Damron's window and then descended to the ground using jail window casements as a ladder.

Jailer Frank Coleman said Damron weighs over 200 pounds, apparently was unable to get through the window opening.

Coleman said back saw blades were brought into the jail through Damron's window with a string fastened to a Prince Albert tobacco can. The string was fastened from a pair of shorts. Coleman said two persons, whom he did not identify, had seen a tobacco box being pulled in through the window on the third floor.

Telling of Rutherford's escape, he said a car pulled away from the jail after Rutherford reached the ground.

Damron asserted he could have gone with Rutherford but didn't want to. He said scratches on his back were suffered when he looked out the opening in the window to watch Rutherford go down the side of the building.

Damron said Rutherford after entering his cell, asked him "not to bother" and alert the jail. "It was nothing to me," said Damron. "I told him I wouldn't bother. He was holding an iron bar in his hand." Damron said he did give an alarm by shouting as soon as Rutherford reached the ground.

Coleman however, said none of the prisoners began shouting until he entered the cell section about 7 a. m. He also says he can hear shouting in the jail at any time.

A deputy jailer said he doubted that Damron, who is on the outside side, could have made it through the small opening in the window. Damron said he could have if he wanted to.

Rutherford and a companion escaped from the jail about six months ago. The companion was repatriated at Williamson and Rutherford was taken into custody at Cincinnati.

In its original decision on a Pike County case, holding that judges who are paid by fees collected on convictions may not preside at trials of criminal cases, the Court of Appeals asserted:
 "It is our opinion that no justification exists for perpetuating a system that is designed and calculated to deprive accused persons of due process of law."
 "To say that the right to trial by a judge free from prejudicial influences may be waived is unrealistic for... the ordinary person is not aware of his right to object to the jurisdiction; he assumes that the court before which he has been taken is a lawfully constituted one."
 Assistant Attorney General Walter C. Herdman, in his opinion to Sturgill, said of the Appeals Court decision:
 "Since the decision has not become effective, we are advising that the magistrates may, within their jurisdiction, continue to try criminal cases until the mandate is finally issued."
 "Since the opinion of the Court of Appeals in the Robert case does not become effective until the mandate is issued, it appears that the acts of the magistrates up until such time, with respect to trying criminal cases, would be valid and they would, in effect, be de facto officers."
 "Therefore, your troopers in executing the duties imposed upon them by law during the period in question would not, in our opinion, be liable for damages for false arrest and imprisonment."

 May 21, 1956

Dear fellow member of the UMWA of Floyd County:

May 29th, the Primary Election Day, is rapidly approaching. It is important that we vote right to protect our interests.

Our International Union, knowing best the men in the Congress and Senate who can best serve labor's cause, has requested all members to make a joint fight for Carl Perkins for Congress and Earle C. Clements for U. S. Senator.

Carl Perkins' record for labor is 100%. I hope ours will be 100% after we vote May 29th.

Earle C. Clements championed our cause and fought a bitter struggle against the enemies of labor when they forced the passage of the despicable Taft Hartley Law.

Labor owes a debt of gratitude to both Earle C. Clements and Carl Perkins for the recent amendment in the Surplus-Commodity Act so that wheat could be processed into flour and flour could be given to those in need.

I urge everyone of you to join in this fight to defeat our enemies and to give your unqualified support to both our friends Clements and Perkins on May 29th.

Our enemies will try to separate these two men. Don't let them do this. Make this a joint fight!

Sam Caddy, Pres.

HATCHER SAYS:

We Need a Congressman!

"Sink, Swim, Live or Die. I'll Give Mind, Hand and Heart to the Cause of our People."

The Seventh Congressional District needs industry and jobs. Our present representative has signally failed his people at Washington. Nothing has been accomplished after eight years. George Glenn Hatcher offers enterprise, initiative and leadership.

The chronic economic distress of Eastern Kentucky has been the subject of more verbiage, oral and written, than anything else in the section's long history. Not a campaign for the Congress of the United States has been fought in 20 years but the issue of canalization hasn't been brought out and kicked about. There have been surveys and more surveys and studies around election time, most of them designed to get appropriations and make headlines in order to win elections. The only survey, to my knowledge made or being made, with an honest effort to assist this section, is the one being conducted right now by the Agricultural and Industrial Development Board and associated groups.

The election over, all surveys are relegated to the limbo of unwanted statistics and the matter is forgotten until the next election. We need leadership and action, we need work for our people, we need the creation of a healthy economic condition that will retain our youth here, the progressive and intelligent young men and women who are emigrating north. This continual drain of our fine young men and women will eventually leave us stripped of future leaders and confine us to the condition of a society feeding only upon the backwash of a prosperous nation, surviving by the grace of more fortunate sections sending us remittances of relief and governmental doles.

That of course is a dreary, dark picture, the only one that can logically ensue from the present trend under the leadership of men like Carl D. Perkins. The misery and the want of people, the lack of industry, the emigration of our young and the human erosion caused by inadequate schools, and too low a standard of living are being placed by history squarely on the door-steps of these futile leaders of ours.

Any man may cry for a change but seldom do all people unite to do so. The Good Book says, "Except a people have vision they perish." Our people have vision, our people cry now for a change. With change in leadership, with the dumping of the old ballast, the decks can be cleared to begin the long fight back to recovery. Carl D. Perkins has introduced nearly a hundred bills and resolutions in the U. S. House of Representatives but he never had the ability to even get one to a vote. With this record behind him he is incapable of going to the people with his accomplishments in the newspapers and on the radio. He can only scurry from courthouse to courthouse, hunting out the ward-healers and the precinct workers, reminding sundry persons, "I scratched your back, now scratch mine." That technique has been the last resort of every failure in public life since democracy became an ideal of the American people.

Citizens... More Good Pleases

The Kentucky Junior Chamber of Commerce and perhaps other civic groups are waging a campaign to get out the vote at next Tuesday's primary election. All who undertake such thankless tasks have our best wishes. We need more like them.

The Jaycees advise: "Listen—Read—Look—Talk—Argue—Think—Then Vote."

As a rule, Kentuckians listen and read some but not enough to strain either the ears or eyes, think when it's too late, talk a lot, argue a lot more—and then wind up by staying away from the polls.

If all would vote who have in recent weeks practiced or berated the principals in this campaign, there would be no need for drives to get out the vote. For there is no such thing as a neutral Kentuckian during a political campaign. He waits till election day to become so. He is neutral by staying away from the polls, caring not enough what happens in government to mark his ballot.

Those very things which people have argued for or against so loudly and so long.

Please... less arguing, less hating, more voting, more good citizens.

More Stoptights Needed

The Times does not criticize the Prestonsburg City Council for its action in removing traffic lights between Court street and Third. If it did so on the recommendation of State Highway Department traffic planners who had made a study of the situation here. But we think the Council now, after an unsatisfactory trial of the state plan, should go back to the traffic lights.

The state promised a patrol of the "speedway" created by removal of the traffic signals. But it is obvious that no effective patrol will be maintained. A state police cruiser merely driving over the highway, past the new high school, and then going on to Park Lane, Paintsville or some other destination does not constitute a patrol.

Youngsters and some not so young are strongly tempted to "hit it up" on this straight stretch of highway. Few resist the temptation. We have been lucky, thus far, but we have promised ourselves to the breaking point. Tragedy is just due.

It is unfortunate, perhaps that safety cannot be practiced with the use of traffic stoplights without slowing up "through" traffic. But we would say that safety is more important than speed. It talks through town, anyhow.

Every one as a citizen can help his own local chapter by mental health.

If no local chapter, join the state organization which will help you to organize a local one. Begin by contributing; if not in money, do offer your help.

I believe that every minister and every Christian in his congregation and every good citizen. People have funds for every other kind of illness but not funds for the mentally ill. Just ask them to the state where they get only about one-tenth of the care and treatment they ought to have.

It is time that people are getting aroused and aware of their Christian duties.

ABOUT A ROAD

Editor, The Times:

Some time ago I wrote a letter to the editor about the condition of the road on Turkey Creek. Strange to say, that same condition started getting worked on. And two or three days later, it was in fairly good shape. But now it is getting down. Several people have written me that I wrote another letter.

But I seriously don't believe the road is getting any better. It is still in the same condition. My letter could have been a reminder—but, surely, it couldn't have been because of my letter.

So many people say that the only way to get the road better is to have a road crew. I don't care with them because I'm sure if people vote, when they vote, they will vote for a road crew. I am sure that whoever is responsible for the road crew is responsible for the road crew. I am sure that whoever is responsible for the road crew is responsible for the road crew.

My Dear Mr. Clarke, Prestonsburg, Ky.

WHY ARE WE CLOTHING FOR COLDEN

Editor, The Times:

Many of us have felt a pang of regret when we found ourselves unable to give funds to help a worthy cause.

Yes, there is a cause—the cause of needy children and their families—who can give their assistance without having to go any further than our pockets. Thousands of youngsters in our own United States and overseas are desperately in need of good, useful clothing. Possessing articles more than a few tattered garments, many boys and girls are unable even to attend school.

The Save the Children Federation, of which I have the honor to be a National Sponsor and a Board Member, is appealing for clean, wearable clothing to help needy children. Your readers can render a wonderful service by sending such clothing to:

Dept. N
A. H. Bond and Building Park
Knoxville, Tennessee

The red autumn and winter wear for months may seem a long way off. But by sending clothing now your readers can be sure that coats, shoes, hosiery and dresses will be available to provide warm protection for needy boys and girls when the weather sets in.

Sincerely yours,
FATH BATHWIN

Census Bureau Lists Enumeration Divisions

In a joint program with the State of Kentucky and each of the other states, the Bureau of the Census is establishing areas known as "Census Enumeration Divisions" for use in statistical reporting. Similar areas were established in the State of Washington prior to the 1950 Census and since 1950 have been put into effect in six other States: Oregon, Idaho, Colorado, Tennessee, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Mr. Vincent M. Throp, a member of the census staff, is here from Washington to consult with county officials and select their advice in regard to the proposed areas in Floyd County.

For census purposes Floyd county has been divided into 12 Census divisions, as follows:

- 1. Allegheny Creek, Bill Creek, Mays Creek, Martin, Maxton, McDowell, Mud Creek, Prestonsburg, Walden, West Prestonsburg, Woodbury, and Wheelwright.
- 2. Boone and Garrison.

U.S. Workers Have Same Employment Rights as Employees in Private Jobs

Employees of the United States government who enlist in the Ready Reserve and perform 3 to 6 months active training have substantially the same employment rights as employees of private employers. This was made known by John W. Rogers, Regional Representative of Bureau of Veterans' Employment Rights.

Seniority accrues for a reservee who is on duty for training under the Reserve Forces Act of 1955 to the same extent that seniority would have accrued if he had remained continuously employed without performing active duty for training. Also, he has rights to any promotion or delay because of his military training to the same extent as a person who has been inducted into the armed forces.

"Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell explained in his letter that an active duty training reservee has the same rights to vacation and other benefits following reinduction to a former job as any other employee who has been absent from employment due to induction under the Universal Military Training and Service Act," said Mr. Rogers.

A copy of Secretary Mitchell's letter, with questions and answers, can be obtained by writing to John W. Rogers, Regional Representative, U. S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Veterans' Employment Rights, 1000 Federal Building, Louisville 2, Kentucky.

FARM NOTES

By O. E. BOGGS
County Agent

The strawberry season is upon us, and every housewife who wishes to freeze some of this delicious fruit should check up on her supplies. Strawberries are one of the most successfully frozen fruits that we do not can well.

Glass jars, tin cans with lacquered lining and plastic boxes are recommended for freezing whole berries. For berries that are sliced or puréed, plastic bags may be used.

Strawberries, as well as raspberries and blackberries, may be frozen without machinery. Frozen berries are sweet. If sugar is used, add 3/4 cup to each quart of strawberries that have been washed and had stems removed. Mix sugar with berries, then fill container with within 1/2 inch for pints or 1 inch for quarts. Seal and freeze.

In preparing the berries, see that they are ripe, firm and free of white or hollow centers and green tips, the foods authority advises.

Crushed or puréed berries ready for use over ice cream, may be frozen in plastic containers through a coarse sieve, add 2 1/2 cup sugar for each quart, then freeze. This will give a better head space as given above.

WEED CONTROL

Strawberry growers in the state can start their chemical control of annual weeds in strawberry fields, says Dr. James Heron, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station botanist.

Heron said that Crab herbicide, used as a spray at the rate of one-half pound per acre, will control not less than 40 gallons of water per acre (actual acre treated) of annual weeds in strawberry fields. Control on plants set this spring.

Crab knocks out most annuals such as pigweed, lambsquarters, and other weeds. The same program should be followed on second-year plants after harvest.

Crab grass should be controlled at four- to six-week intervals throughout the growing season, Heron says. The residual effect of Crab varies, depending on rainfall. The area to be treated should be weeded thoroughly before spraying so the material can act on germinating seeds and seedlings less than 1 1/2 inches high, where it is most effective.

Using the herbicide does not eliminate cultivation of strawberry beds but does reduce the number of such cultivations and the labor involved, Heron said.

25 EXPECTED FOR ROAD-E-O

Youngsters Will Complete Here Saturday in Jaycee Safe Driving Competition

At least 25 entrants are expected in the annual Jaycee Road-E-O safe driving competition Saturday, said Byron M. Thompson, chairman of the Jaycees' Safety Committee. The contest is open to any Floyd county youth who may wish to participate, said Bob Wallace, chairman of the Executive, Service and Ceremonial committee, adding that last-minute contestants can secure applications from the Fountain Kitchen.

The top three entrants will win a total of $100 in Savings Bonds, with the winner getting a $50 U. S. Savings Bond and the second and third three $25 bonds each. Applicants are directed to go to the Prestonsburg grade school for the written test to be given from 9 a. m. to 10 a. m. Saturday. At 1:00 p. m. the applicants must report back to the playground for the driving tests which resemble the tests given for actual driving licenses.

The girl or boy who completes the best mark on the written examination and executes the four elementary driving maneuvers most skillfully will go to Murray, June 9, accompanied by a Jaycee, to compete for state honors. The local Road-E-O driving contest is the first step for a Floyd county youth who may possibly win the top national prize of $1,500 scholarship to a college of his or her choice. The youth will have an expense-free trip in store if his knowledge of the safety rules of driving and skill of car handling warrants it.

If the Floyd county youth survives the state Road-E-O he will have an all-expense trip to Washington, D. C. where contestants will gather from 48 states, Hawaii and the District of Columbia for four days. To be eligible the contestants must be under 20 years of age on August 10, the last day of the national finals in Washington, D. C. must have a driver's license or permit and a clean record of no moving traffic violations in the past six months.

Adrie Irlean Collins, formerly of Martin, now an employee of DeLo Products at Dayton, Ohio, hit the "jack-pot" on a suggestion made to his company recently. The prize-winning idea brought him $25.00. The award, collected in U. S. Savings bonds and in cash, was for an idea advanced to improve the mechanical operation of an assembly operation that was his first suggestion and the 29th upon which he had received prizes. He is a welder. Collins' suggestion will improve an automatic post roll assembly operation which heretofore had been done rather laboriously, mostly by hand. It was the first maximum suggestion award paid this year by DeLo Products.

One of these was a resolution calling for the establishing of a rural highway project on the route starting at the mouth of Mill Creek by four miles south of Paintsville, extending up the back fork of Jennings Creek, crossing the mill and going down to the mouth of Mill Creek to connect with the Abbott Creek road at Betanets. The resolution passed out that the route will serve about 500 persons.

County Judge Stumbo said the Bill Hall Branch to Mill Creek would serve more than the Jennings Creek County Park route.

The court held a resolution asking a rural road project up Back's Branch from Martin and down Spring Creek to Mill Creek. It also voted to discontinue the old road at the mouth of the Pine Branch of the Mud and exchange the old right-of-way for new.

Pavement of election officers under the new state law was set at $5 a day for the May 29 primary, instead of the former $3.

A total of $3,000 in appropriations was voted. This included $200 for the Floyd County Bookmobile, $500 to the Jenny Wiley district, Box 200, of Waverly, and $100 to the Betty Laylor fire department.

The contract with the Department of Rural Highways provides that if at any time the local court appears not to be meeting its responsibility of mending and draining roads and otherwise performing its road duties the Rural Highway Department may take charge of the work.

TEACHERS Have Long Memories

Earle Clements said they had such short memories they would forget. But they haven't. Clements knows it, too, and that's why he hasn't asked for their votes. He doesn't have the brass after calling them ignorant, saying they couldn't spell or write figures.

Here's Where, When and What Clements Said:

It was January 1950, when the Legislature had several bills on education tied up in the Rules Committee and Gov. Earle Clements was asked by a delegation of teachers from the K. E. A. to use his influence to get "just one bill reported out." He said he didn't have the influence. He went on to say that "teachers didn't know the difference anyway between $34,500,000 and $3,500." Later, told by his advisors he had made a mistake in saying that he replied that "teachers have short memories. They'll forget."

Think of it! Calling the teachers of Kentucky ignorant when they have slaved in standard and overcrowded schoolrooms, penny pinched meager salaries in order to save money to work off college hours to complete their education. No where else can you find teachers better qualified and more abreast of the rapidly changing techniques in modern educational psychology. Yet Earle Clements call them ignorant. Try thinking about it again if you're not too angry. Clements ridiculed your education and competence while other states like Ohio, Florida, Indiana and Michigan were begging for your services at higher salaries. They don't take ignorant teachers in those states. They want the cream of the crop and they come to Kentucky to get them.

Teachers have memories about a lot of things. But it takes only a short memory to recall how they worked out a Minimum Foundation Program for Education in Kentucky and offered it to the state two years ago. The Clements-Wetherby Administration at Frankfort two years ago passed a law. Passed a law, yes, but gave them no money to implement it. The Chandler Administration gave them the money—$20,000,000.00 of it two short months ago. Just two months after A. B. Chandler came into office he provided the money. Clements and Wetherby had been in power at Frankfort for years and had done nothing for the teachers.

Today the fat Clements, running against Joe Bates, the native Big Sandian, for the United States Senate, scurries from courthouse to courthouse over the state, trying to pick up and put together again the remnants of his political machine. He is preceded everywhere by the cynical Doc Beauchamp who used to laugh and brag how smart it was to steal votes in Logan county. Doc was in Prestonsburg last week, sweated around town, talked to a few courthouse buddies and hurried away. They are desperate, and fearful of what the parents and teachers of this state will do at the polls, May 29. The Clements crowd knows that time is running out.

WE, THE PARENTS AND TEACHERS FOR JOE BATES THINK HE SHOULD HAVE OUR SUPPORT FOR THE UNITED STATES SENATE UPON THE SCHOOL RECORD OF THE CHANDLER ADMINISTRATION.

Chandler's Record

- (1) The common schools appropriation was increased by $20,000,000 for 1956-57, and by $23,000,000 for 1957-58.
- (2) An appropriation fully implementing our new Teachers' Retirement Laws.
 - $600,000 for Prior Service.
 - $4,000,000 for 1956-57.
 - $4,300,000 for 1957-58.

These last two figures to match in full the teachers' contributions.

 - State Department of Education.
 - University of Kentucky and State Colleges.
 - Vocational Rehabilitation.
 - University of Louisville and University of Kentucky Medical Schools.

Clements' Record

- (1) The Clements-Wetherby administration appropriated only a meager and insufficient amount of aid to schools and that only after repeated demands and insistence from the teachers. An example of Clements' cynical attitude toward education and the teachers of Kentucky was his ridicule of them at Frankfort in 1950.
- (2) In the Senate of the United States, Clements fought for and voted for the "Tidelands Oil Bill" which took away from Kentucky enough money to finance a complete school program for years to come without any taxes whatsoever.
- (3) Tried to dictate policy at the University of Kentucky and to remove President Donovan.

No wonder that Robert R. Martin, Superintendent of Public Instruction, on April 12, this year, said in an address before the K. E. A.

"Friday, April 6, 1956, will forever be a banner day for education. Last Friday at 3:35 Marvin Dodson, members of the staff of the Department of Education and I witnessed perhaps the greatest single event in the history of public education in this state when Governor Chandler signed the Biennial Budget just enacted by the General Assembly!"

Joe Bates is a native of Beaver Creek, seventh child of a family of 11 and raised in a log cabin. As a young man he walked from Dry Creek, Knott county, to Greenup to enter school. Succeeded Hon. Fred M. Vinson in Congress, served 15 years.

Vote for a friend to education so that two years from now we can go back to Bates and Chandler for more help for our schools.

MILL SPRINGS

The historic old mill at Mill Springs Roadside Park, near Harbison, was constructed in 1840, near the scene of Civil War battle in which Confederate General Felix K. Zolneroff was killed in 1862. Its original overshot waterwheel, 31 feet in diameter, is said to have been the largest ever used in Kentucky.

Enough Polio Vaccine For 80 Million Is Seen

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Enough Salk vaccine for at least two doses of the 80,000,000 American child and adolescent children will be produced this year, by the first manufacturers licensed to make the vaccine under strict federal controls. It was announced by the Health News Institute of New York after a special survey of the polio situation. The five drug manufacturers who make the vaccine and their total sales for production are:

El Lilly & Co., Indianapolis will produce 3,000,000 doses of vaccine; Parke Davis & Company, Detroit expects to produce 10,000,000 doses by July 1 and 15,000,000 more by December 31, 1956. Parke Davis & Company, Detroit expects to produce 10,000,000 doses by July 1 and 15,000,000 more by December 31, 1956.

Weyth Laboratories, Philadelphia expects to produce 3,000,000 doses by June 30, 11,879,000 by September 30, and 21,869,000 by the end of the year.

Sherp & DeBane, Division of Merck & Co., Philadelphia is in production but is not ready to release information as to its expected production this year.

This far, from figures available, the manufacturers expect to produce nearly 80,000,000 doses of the vaccine by July 1, and by December 31 almost 114,000,000 doses.

Medical authorities announced that the needs of one year of the vaccine, beginning from 1955, were met by the production of 10,000,000 doses. It has been determined that one dose of vaccine is not expected to give full protection against paralytic polio, but a single injection in some instances has given a considerable degree of protection.

(A plan announced this week and concurred in by Dr. Salk, is to reduce the third, or "booster" shot possibly one-fourth of a cc. It is held that this will provide immunity and at the same time board the vaccine supply and each person who needed inoculation.)

Reference on a single dose is not recommended. Three injections should be undertaken for the best protection, or "full immunization."

Although there will be enough vaccine produced for 80 million individuals to receive the first two shots of one cc. each, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis estimates that there are only 65,000,000 in the most susceptible group of children under 19 and expectant mothers, of whom only 52,000,000 now are considered immediately available for vaccination.

The U. S. Public Health Service, through the Bureau of State Health, has approved the vaccine based on population priority groups to state and territories. Less than half of the vaccine allotted under the voluntary immunization program has been distributed through doctors and pharmacies. Public health agencies have received the remainder. However, policy on this distribution differs from state to state.

On the state level the vaccine is usually allocated proportionately according to the number of eligible persons in each county or city served by a full-time health department.

When federal grant vaccine is distributed to private physicians, there is no charge for the vaccine, although they are permitted to collect a professional fee for administering it. When physicians purchase the vaccine from pharmacies they may charge the patient for the vaccine as well as for its injection.

The pharmaceutical firms that manufactured the vaccine for the 1954 field trials agreed to manufacture without profit, enough vaccine for the trials. Since then, the drug manufacturers have stepped up production and have still met the high standards of production and safety regulations agreed upon with the Federal Government.

Also well developed are the current safety factors that Dr. Leonard A. Schee, Surgeon General of the U. S. Public Health Service, says that the Salk vaccine "is as safe as we can humanly guarantee."

Dr. Hart Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis says the vaccine is "as safe as any biological product can possibly be."

Dr. Leona Baumgartner, Commissioner of Health of New York, has pointed out that of the 70,000 children vaccinated in New York between April 12, 1955, and April 12, 1956, there were no instances of polio or polio symptoms resulting from the vaccine program. She said that of the alarmed parents of 400 children who called city health officers "only slight fever" could be found in 23 children and that these fevers could not be traced to polio shots.

The process for manufacturing the Salk vaccine is still a lengthy one, including the extensive testing to insure that the vaccine is safe and contains no live organisms which may cause the disease. However, the drug manufacturers have spent vast sums of money on improvement of processing and on the accelerated production program to furnish enough vaccine. During unforeseen mishaps or snags in the testing and release structure, they will produce more than enough vaccine this year for everyone in the top priority groups to have been vaccinated by the end of the season.

155 New State Laws Now in Full Effect

Frankfort, Ky., May 21 (Sp.) — One hundred fifty-five laws enacted by the regular session of the 1956 General Assembly became effective at midnight tonight.

One new law is a model probation and parole act that revamps the present parole system.

The law sets up a new class of persons to be supervised by probation and parole officers—“conditional releases.” They are prisoners released with an accumulation of “good time.”

The bill also creates a full-time three-member probation and parole board instead of the present seven-member, part-time board. It will have wide authority than the present law allows.

The law also sets up an advisory council to advise the Governor and the Legislature on probation and parole. It permits probation in police courts, as well as circuit courts, provided there is adequate supervision.

The “shutky-tax” law doubling production and import taxes on whisky also was effective at midnight. The tax goes from 5 to 10 cents a gallon.

The law was opposed by distillers interested in the state. Attempts to repeal it at the special session on revenue and taxation were unsuccessful.

Also effective tonight was the bill that repeals the time against real estate of recipients of old-age assistance and aid to the needy blind.

Beyond the so-called lien law was a campaign promise of Governor Chandler.

The education-foundation law, while effective at midnight, actually will not be put in operation until July 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year.

The law guarantees to each public-school district in Kentucky at least $90 for each pupil in average daily attendance.

It provides for a single foundation-program fund, to take the place of the per capita account and the equalization account now in operation.

The special session on the budget appropriated $34,785,000 for public elementary and high schools for the school year beginning July 1.

Money will be distributed to school districts in accordance with the minimum-foundation program.

A measure that will affect many consumers is the new so-called Fair Trade Act that sets a minimum retail price on cigarettes of 22 cents a pack.

Many drug and food stores have been selling cigarettes at 18.5 a carton. The new minimum per carton will be $2.20.

The bill also prevents merchants from giving trading stamps with the purchase of cigarettes.

Big-end and tip-size cigarettes will not be affected by the minimum-price law, since they already cost more.

These new laws were among hundreds passed during the abbreviated regular session that was followed by special sessions on governmental reorganization, the budget, and taxes.

At least 10 bills affecting circuit courts and juries were passed in closing one providing for payment to the court reporter in Jefferson County for fees for transcripts in case of paupers.

Several other new laws involve civil and criminal-law practice.

At least 11 bills involving Louisville are among the new laws. One provides for reorganization of governmental services and extension of the city limits, the so-called Mallon bill.

Another group of bills applies to second-, third-, and fourth-class cities. They cover such subjects as police and firemen's pensions and selection of Police Court jurors.

Six bills were passed relating to the classification of the cities of Murray, Dry Ridge, Benon, Loyall, Brandenburg, and Frankfort, but another demoted Corydon, where Governor Chandler was born and where his father, Joe Chandler, still lives, from fifth to sixth class.

Twelve new laws affect agricultural, livestock and the State Fair Board prevents fiscal courts from examining records of County Farm Bureau.

A law permitting the State police to inspect motor vehicles and require repair of unsafe vehicles is among five affecting motor vehicles.

Twelve others affect banking, insurance, and credit unions. One prohibits certain loan and investment companies from using the word “bank” in their names and restricts deposits and accounts of their loans.

Diskin Urges Local Officials To Plan Heliports

Frankfort, May 21 (Sp.) — Kentucky's Commissioner of Aeronautics John C. Diskin, advising the mayors and the airport executives throughout the State to plan now for the rapid growth of helicopter traffic expected in the future.

“Most informed observers believe the helicopter will induce, within 10 years, a radical change in short-haul intercity transportation,” Diskin said in a special letter to mayors of cities exceeding 2,500 population, airport executives and Carl Wachs, Lexington, executive secretary of the Kentucky Municipal League.

Diskin urged these officials to consider locations for heliport developments in their master plans and said the Department of Aeronautics at Frankfort will give Technical assistance in selecting sites.

“Because of the time involved in proper planning and in the acquisition of down-town or in-town property, plus the importance of providing speedy, short-haul transportation to your community, it is not too early to consider designating a centrally-located area to accommodate this new, useful vehicle of the air,” he added.

Diskin also pointed out that air transportation in the nation, and in Kentucky, has developed remarkably fast in recent years. Louisville, for example, now handles more aircraft movements annually than London, England, he said.

NO RIGHT TO CHALLENGE

Frankfort, May 21 (Sp.) — Owners of intangible property taxed at 100 percent of its value, have no right to challenge the assessed valuation of real estate which is assessed at 20 percent of its value. The Court of Appeals made this decision in dismissing an appeal from Fayette circuit court.

Kentucky Finance Co. brought an action in Fayette circuit court to compel the lowering of its intangible assessments to the 20 percent level at which real estate in the county is taxed.

NO TAXES in KENTUCKY For At Least 50 Years

KENTUCKY'S SHARE OF TIDELAND OIL REVENUE IS TEN BILLION DOLLARS

This is the headline that could have been written—but won't. Why won't it be written? Because, a short time ago Senator Earle Clements sold out the people of Kentucky by voting for the Tideland's Oil Bill. That bill took away from Kentucky taxpayers their share in the oil and minerals underneath the oceans and gave it to the states bordering the ocean. Texas was the largest beneficiary of the bill. What did Kentucky receive? Nothing—not one thing. What did Earle Clements receive? An appointment as assistant to the Texas Senator !!!

The supporters of Earle Clements would have the people believe that our taxes were brought about by our administration. The truth is the people of Kentucky could have been tax free for fifty years—that's right—FIFTY YEARS AT LEAST—if Senator Clements and his friends had not sold out Kentucky and other inland states by voting to give away our national resources to the states bordering the oceans.

Ten billion (not million, but billion), dollars would have been Kentucky's share of these resources, if the bill had not passed. That amount would have been enough to pay for every single cost of government, including schools, roads and every other item, if Clementine, the assistant to the Texas Senator, had voted for the people of Kentucky.

At the very time when the schools needed a helping hand so very much, Earle Clements stabbed them in the back. He broke his promise to teachers after he was elected governor by refusing to support the program of the KEA, although a few months previously he specifically pledged his support. He violently and physically attempted to intimidate the president of our great University of Kentucky. He sold the children of Kentucky, their teachers and parents down the road when he voted for the Tideland's Oil Bill. His vote on this bill has been described by Texans as the greatest bargain since the Indians bought Manhattan for $24.00 worth of dime store jewelry. They bought Clements vote by agreeing to appoint him assistant to the Texas Senator. Do the people want a man who is willing to be the footstool of some other state? If you have any pride in Kentucky it will be impossible for you to vote for Senator Clements. Vote for and support a Kentuckian, from the Big Sandy Valley, Joe B. Bates.

Restore honest, sane representation of the people. Elect Joe B. Bates, U.S. Senator.

Chafins at 18 Youngest Ump in Organized Ball

By GORDON MOORE

Wheelwright high school has given the Alabama Florida League the youngest umpire in professional baseball. He is 18-year-old David Lee Chafins who has just completed his first month in a show season.

Chafins, an ex-school player of the small town in the "country" playing days at Wheelwright, moved to 19 and next Sunday. He turned down a Class A contract with the Cleveland Indians to become an umpire.

He attended Bill McGowan's umpiring school at Daytona Beach, Florida, this spring and it was there that Hal Weaver, umpiring supervisor of the Minor League, put the 18-year-old umpire in professional ball.

He also covered several leagues to be born of him. When Alabama-Southwest League president Stan Smith had faith, however, and it has paid off. Smith calls Chafins one of the "most promising" umpires on his staff.

Baseball is Chafins' choice in life. His only detour was the playing of the Florida Coast League in a suit of blue and he'll probably last longer.

"When I decided to make a career of baseball, I also decided that I wanted to stay with the game as long as possible," the young clerkship holder said. "And I decided I could last longer as an ump than as a player."

THE PROPOSED BANK AT MARTIN, KENTUCKY

At this time I will endeavor to advise the subscribers to stock in the proposed bank what has taken place since I last saw the people who are interested in this bank, consisting of 107 members, from every section of Floyd county whose financial statements reveal a net worth of money and real estate of approximately five million dollars, which proves beyond a doubt that this new bank would be a success and a paying proposition.

Our organization was the strongest ever brought together in Eastern Kentucky $300,000.00 for banking purposes and that was the reason it met such opposition.

Upon the completion of the subscriptions, I prepared the Articles of Incorporation of the Peoples Security Bank of Martin, Kentucky and together with Joe D. Westland and my son, James D. Stephens, we visited by appointment Governor A. B. Chandler, in his office and presented the Articles of Incorporation of the new bank and his statement to us was, "You seem to have the money ready to be raised and that is about all that is necessary," and we departed from that Happy Smile and a Gold Mine in The Sky premises, in high spirits, of course, but meaning nothing, I then later went to the office of Smith and Leary in the McClure building on the seventh floor and Mr. Leary, having been Chandler's campaign manager but he was absent and I talked to Mr. Smith, his partner, and he advised me that and three that they had been already retained by the people who opposed the establishment of our proposed bank. I saw then with Chandler's campaign manager being employed we could not expect anything from them and that they would not accept employment.

Also presented the Articles of Incorporation to Mr. S. Albert Phillips, Chandler's Banking Commissioner whose office is in the State Office Building in the presence of Robert S. Wellman and my son and advised the matter with him and I readily observed that he was opposed to this organization, but he would have two of his bank examiners to make the necessary examination. A few weeks later a Mr. Sizemore and Mr. Bittner came to Prestonsburg, Kentucky, took rooms at the States Motel across the street from the First National Bank here in Prestonsburg. About the first step taken, these men visited the three banks in this County no doubt to find out their attitude toward the establishment of a new bank, and you know as well as I do, that we did not receive any favorable recommendation from either of them.

As a matter of fact, you know you can never win a case when the views of your opposition are accepted and your side of the case lightly considered. These two men who were sent here left Prestonsburg on a Saturday, between eleven and twelve o'clock. Every obstacle that could be brought about you can readily see was brought to bear against our proposition and so I see it was not impartial investigation but a partial one.

After these examiners made their report to Mr. Phillips, I received a letter from him, which I now have and in which he stated and gave four different reasons for declining the approval of the Articles, and I then immediately wrote him, advising him of the case of Speer, Banking Commissioner Vs. Desser, and that which was tried in the Court of Appeals and upheld and the only case ever tried in Kentucky this question and since the receipt of this letter the Commissioner again wrote me and in which he stated that it was my own fault and I had not done what he said, but stated that it was his opinion he was wrong in three of his reasons but that under the Act of 1946 it was his opinion that he was right on one. So he thereby eliminated three out of four reasons in declining to approve. The reasons for refusing the approval on No. 4 is very flimsy and can be disproved in a suit at law. So under this state of the case, it will be necessary to file a

Workshop-Type Course For Teachers Planned At Pikeville College

Pikeville, Ky., May 21 (AP)—A workshop-type course for supervisory staff of student teaching, directed by a University of Kentucky faculty member, will open Monday, May 28, at Pikeville College.

The course, open only to teachers who are college graduates, will begin with a week's intensive workshop at Pikeville from May 28 to June 2. Dr. A. A. Page, college president, announced today. It will be followed by five Saturday sessions at Pikeville in September and October, and will carry three semester hours of graduate credit in education at the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Helen Reed, coordinator of the program of student teaching at the University of Kentucky, will teach the course, which was organized by Dr. Frank D. Drake, of the College of Education at the University.

Any teacher with credit in this course will be qualified to take into his classrooms college students who are ready to do practice teaching, and direct their practice work.

College Superintendents C. H. Fraley of Pike County schools and Floyd county school superintendent V. O. Turner are very much interested in the proposed workshop and have indicated that they are among their eligible teachers to be selected, Dr. Reed said.

The workshop will, of course, also be open to all teachers of Pikeville who are expecting to enroll for the course. Any teacher qualified for the supervision of practice teaching in any school will be able to take for Pikeville's student teachers on both elementary and high school levels.

Practically two-thirds, or 66 per cent, of the workshop participants at Pikeville College Monday morning, Dr. Reed said.

CHURCH COURT ACTION FINAL

Pikeville, Ky., May 21 (AP)—Action of a circuit court in sustaining or setting aside divisions established in school districts is final and not subject to further review. The Court of Appeals held in dismissing an appeal from the Owsley circuit court. In March 1955, the Owsley county board of education asked the school divisions there to be divided into three districts. An appeal was taken to circuit court and the action of the school board was upheld. Teachers of the county who protested attempted to bring the appeal to the Court of Appeals.

Earle C. Clements Represents Texas

His Vote To Give Texas Off-Shore Oil Set Education Back Decades In Kentucky

As one of the 48 states Kentucky is entitled to have two United States Senators represent its citizens in the U. S. Senate in Washington. We have had only one United States Senator representing us during the last few years, and part of that time it was a Republican Senator. The other Senator, Earle C. Clements, although a citizen, resident and United States Senator from Kentucky, has been representing Texas and other Off-Shore Oil States to such an extent that most anyone would believe he is the Senator from Texas.

In a recent issue of The Floyd County Times, Mr. Clements had an article listing all of the great and wonderful things he claims he has done for Kentucky. Included in this list is the following: "Is vigorously supporting federal aid to education."

Is Mr. Clements doing this? Is he representing the citizens of our great State? Or is he working for the interests of the Millionaire Oil Men, and others in the same category? The answer is simple enough. He is, and has been representing those with the money and those in power in high places.

Many of you voters may have not heard of the Tidelands Oil Bill which was enacted into law a few months after President Eisenhower took office as President. The Tidelands Oil is located off the coast line of the United States, under the ocean, and it was hoped that the estimated income from these oil deposits, in the sum of 300 billion dollars, would be used as federal aid for education in ALL of our 48 states. This would have benefited all States and would have raised the standard of education in the United States to a level never before dreamed of.

Immediately after President Eisenhower was inaugurated the Republican members of the U. S. Senate and the House of Representatives began making plans to give this 300 billion dollars to their millionaire friends living in the Off-Shore Oil States. And LO AND BEHOLD, our United States Senator, Earle C. Clements, joined with them and voted for the bill which gave this 300 billion dollars in Off-Shore Oil to the money-mad millionaires of the Off-Shore States, one of which is Texas, the State which Earle C. Clements seems to have fallen in love with.

As a result of Earle C. Clements vote and influence, coupled with the votes and influence of the Republican members of Congress, this great give-away was perpetrated upon the people of the United States who were not fortunate to be living in one of the Off-Shore States.

The loss to Kentucky was so great that our present State Assembly had to raise our taxes recently so as to provide adequate money to finance the Minimum Foundation Program. All these new taxes were necessary because Clements voted for the interests of Texas and the Off-Shore Oil States in preference to voting for the interests of Kentucky School Children.

Now Clements has the gall to again ask us to send him back to Washington. In view of his vote on the Tidelands Oil Bill will you cast your vote to send him back to Washington? Surely we aren't the fools he thinks we are. Let's all vote together, against Earle C. Clements, and derail his train to Washington, and put him on a detour on a ONE WAY TRIP TO TEXAS, since he seems to prefer the interest of Texas to that of Kentucky.

Yes, he "is vigorously supporting federal aid to education," but his vote shows that he wants all such support concentrated in the Off-Shore Oil States, and that surely doesn't include Kentucky, and he knew it didn't when he voted for the Bill.

He is DEFINITELY NOT A FRIEND TO THE SCHOOL CHILDREN OF KENTUCKY. Let's try Joe Bates for a while and let Texas have Earle Clements. It's high time we had BOTH our U. S. Senators working for instead of against us.
