This Town—That World

OUR BEST WISHES

Elsewhere in this edition our valued colleague of several years, Henry F. Scalf, announces his moving on to a new field of work. We regret this change and wish for our friend success in whatever he attempts to do. Many of our readers will miss Mr. Scalf's "Historical Notes" and feature articles of historical interest. However, we miss more the pleasant personal associations we have always enjoyed.

If water-control dams aren't built, the main surveys made in Eastern Kentucky will be when they survey the damage.

DOCTOR WITH A HEART

Folks are so quick to lay the blame on a group of class with a heavy brush, making no distinction. When that doctor recently made a heavy charge for attending the child who was rescued from a well there, those who unjustly branded the whole medical profession as leeches, misers, and so on.

But what of a case such as this that follows? You will recall that Sheriff George Lafferty of this county was seriously wounded by a machine gun bullet several months ago when he was riding a bank at Campston. Since that time he has been undergoing treatment at Lexington, and only his plan for date being in paying his doctor bill was rejected as unconstitutional.

This letter to the Sheriff from his physician, Dr. John B. Fine, Jr., of Lexington, is self-explanatory.

"I appreciate your letter so very much stating that you will pay my bill. Personally I have no bill for you. I had a bill for my people in whose protection you were injured, namely, the general public.

"Since it is the Attorney General's feeling that public funds can not be used to compensate you for your injury in the line of duty, then let me say that my work for you was in the line of public safety, or service, too."

WATER PLANT COMPLETION SET DEC. 10

Engineer Says Plant Will Serve Community Adequately in Future

The new water plant in construction here will be completed about December 10, Frank Phelps, chief engineer for Howard K. Bell, Lexington consulting engineer, said this week.

Phelps said it was hoped that the work which includes both the piping and plant installation, will be completed and that the plant will be in full-scale operation before the deadline date.

The water will be treated with the usual chemicals and the new tooth preservative, fluoride. He said the fluoride has proven particularly helpful in preventing decay of children's teeth.

Total cost of the system, he said, will be $412,224.24. The water will be treated with the usual chemicals and the new tooth preservative, fluoride.

The building housing the water plant machinery is a two-story building.

Young Knott Timberman Succumbs To Injuries Enroute to Hospital

Injured Saturday morning when a tree he was cutting for nine timbers split and "kicked" him in the chest, 18-year-old Arthur Burke Campbell, of Mousie, died later the same day as he was being taken to a Huntington hospital in an ambulance of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

The youth, a son of John and Lena Smith Campbell, was working alone when he was injured, it was said.

"Each year," the letter said, "the national government collects an increasingly greater per cent of all tax revenues. It returns to the states a portion of its collections to aid other important undertakings. Even in the face of overwhelming popular support for federal aid to schools, the national government has continued to discriminate against public education."

Survivors, in addition to the parents, are three brothers and two sisters, Delbert, Jerry, John Jr., Sandra Gale and Debra Ann. Funeral rites were conducted Monday, and burial was made at Mousie.

Why We May Not Accept Flood Protection

It may sound preposterous, even unbelievable, but there appears to be a possibility that Prestonsburg may not accept a floodwall largely as a gift from the federal government, after all.

It isn't because we're averse to getting something for nothing, or a lot for a little; it's because some of those who in the past have suffered most from floods have not yet decided how the responsibility shall be shared.

Everybody knows the old story of flood and property damage. It has been repeated here almost annually, sometimes semi-annually. Everybody also knows that only one flood-control reservoir is now even in the planning stage for the Big Sandy. Three such dams are needed. We are told, present planning means that when the Pound reservoir is completed we shall have only one-third the protection that we need or could get from such man-made barriers and lakes. Crest of the river in the future floods will be a little lower than before, but not much lower.

And so, if Prestonsburg is to escape future disasters, if it is to be known as a community that is pretty well removed from peril of flood, its main hope lies in this floodwall that has been offered it.

Knowing that the community's most immediate and perhaps most effective protection lies in a floodwall, then, who shall assume the local expense of such a project?

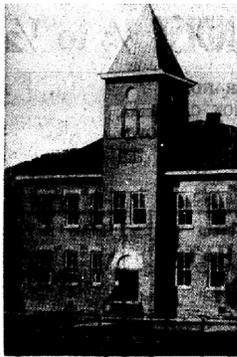

It must be admitted that a flood which affects a part or parts of a community affects in greater or lesser degree all the community. To that extent, then, we should say, the city government of Prestonsburg as an agent of all the people should contribute something toward the local contribution on the floodwall project.

But the financial burden, as pertaining to the local contribution, should be borne by the owners of property that is affected by flood. And here there must be considerable progressive thinking and unselfish action if there is to be any agreement and harmony of thought and effort toward getting the job done.

Thinking right and moving in the right direction now, in July and August, could save Prestonsburg many hundreds of thousands in January and other rainy months to come.

PRESTONSBURG BAPTIST INSTITUTE

The Prestonsburg Baptist Institute, standing on the present site of the grade school, grew out of the establishment of the Eastern Kentucky Normal School by Prof. Walter M. Byington in 1901. The red brick structure housing the institution was completed in 1903. The school was sold to the Baptist Educational Society of Kentucky in 1908, the movement to purchase being led by the attorneys, W. H. and A. J. May, who had been converted upon the preaching of the Rev. W. H. Sledge. The school was renamed the Prestonsburg Baptist Institute.

Rev. Sledge served as principal four years. The Baptist Educational Society sold to Rev. A. C. Harlowe in 1918. It was subsequently conveyed by Rev. Harlowe to the county and city. The county sold its interest to the city in 1927. The original building, shown above, was torn down in 1940 and the Prestonsburg grade school building erected on the site.

The First National Bank was founded shortly after the establishment of what later became the Prestonsburg Baptist Institute. Our school system and the First National Bank have grown side by side the last half century, the officers and directors of the banking institution ever seeking to advance the cause of education and progress.

Three intakes will be located in the river for optional uses at different levels, according to the river sediment. Two 15-horsepower motors will be used to pump the water to the plant. Two 50-horsepower motors will be used to pump the processed water to the storage tanks. Only one motor will be used at a time, but two motors are kept ready in case one fails to function. Two tanks will be used to store and distribute water—the 400,000-gallon reservoir at Lancer and the tank in Prestonsburg of about 200,000 gallons capacity. The tank is slated for delivery sometime in September, Phelps said. The foundation has already been laid for it. Both tanks can be filled, he said, by the plants pumping four hours a day.

Plans have been made to salvage the usable parts of the old plant and sell them after the transition to the new plant has been effected, Phelps said.

week as Pike Sheriff Alex Blackburn brought to jail here Frank Carroll, wanted in this county for forgery, and picked up to take back to Pike county Buddy Brown whom Floyd officers had arrested. Brown was sought on two forfeited bonds and he also faces a charge of selling mortgage property, Sheriff Blackburn said.

Among those jailed within the week were the most serious offenses were:

Charles Hamilton, charged with breaking and entering, jailed July 22 by State Trooper Williamson; Sam Crawford, drunk driving, no operator's license; Roy Gayheart, drunk driving.

of tires infected by the disease, which has Kentucky forestry officials "concerned, but not alarmed."

The survey, expected to take a week, will cover a 25 per cent of the state's area, said Harry Nadler, Frankfurt, associate director of the Division of Forestry in charge of forest management.

Foresters and their aides from the division's nine administrative districts coordinated plans at a Frankfurt conference with the aid of Tom Jones, oak-wilt specialist in the Central State Forest Experiment Station of the United States Forestry Service at Columbus, Ohio.

District foresters engaged private commercial planes for the survey. Each plane carries two observers and a mapper besides the pilot, Nadler said.

The disease is easily spotted from the air, Nadler said. Each plane will fly a series of straight-line courses four miles apart at altitudes of 500 to 1,000 feet. This will give coverage a mile wide.

One mile in every four will be covered. The will, which kills red oaks with white oak in three to five years, was first noted in Kentucky in 1951 in Greenup County.

Nadler emphasized that the disease is slow-moving and should not cause hasty cutting of oak timber. He said the State was controlling it on a 25-square-mile tract in Breathitt county.

By the time this essay appears in the newspapers that use my column, I will have celebrated fifty years as a teacher. Among the piles of old composition books in which I kept a diary for so long I recently found the one that started my first day as a school-teacher, July 1, 1907. Apparently I did not regard that day as anything to write expansively about; I seemed to have no thoughts about what an important date that was in my life. In the midst of a few sentences about the weather and the wild flowers that were then in bloom, two sentences record the momentous day. In my lifetime I have never put anything down in words, I named the six boys and four girls who constituted the first day's attendance. Then I added, with all the aloofness of a general surveying a great battlefield: "We got all the classes organized and the wheels started to turning."

And away in my diary to histories in bloom, and corn tassels ripening. No other day of that first six months of my career as a teacher seems to have faded any better than the first day. I don't know what to write. I do remember that I was scared half to death when I stepped into the room for the first time. I noted at the end of the day's record that I read the first Psalm. Maybe that familiar passage of exquisite beauty reassured me and helped me start the wheels.

There is no doubt about it. I was scared that day. I was the eighteen-year-old teacher. I was determined to do things in a worthy way. But I cannot remember a thing about it all. My diary, written that night, is all I have to prove that I had such a day. What happened that first day I don't know. I don't know how the day blended with other similar days, and time has smoothed off some of the raw edges of it all. The whole school year seems to have occurred in some pre-existence of mine, or even it seems to be something I may have heard

HEALTH NOTES

TRAVEL AND TB

Travel is broadening, they say, but it may also broaden the tuberculosis problem for Americans. Experts predict that global trotting may increase our chances of getting TB, unless worldwide control of the disease is effected.

Great progress has been made against TB in this and a handful of other countries. The death rate has declined sharply and should continue to be low if TB control programs are continued at the present rate. In the past, it is believed, most Americans became infected with TB germs when they were young—even though those who broke down with the disease did not do so until later in life. Infection rates in children have been declining in recent years as efforts have increased to find and hospitalize adults with "open" TB. This trend continues, and the national standard of living remains high, there should be fewer new cases in years to come.

Against this trend, however, stands the fact that Americans are more likely to travel in parts of the world where TB is more prevalent.

In the service of government or business, many Americans live in able periods in parts of Asia, the Near East, and other places where the disease is endemic. Many of these Americans may contract TB germs while they are exposed to the disease in those areas, but was unable to do so. I stood where I supposed it to have been and tried very hard to bring back some of the happenings of 1907 that might make it seem like a part of my life. Since I lived in that school district only one year, and since my only means of locomotion was my feet, I was somewhat limited to an area that was a small one, an area by the way, so changed as to roads and buildings that I could not find my way around.

Fifty years after the event, I cannot help wondering why I wanted to be a teacher. As far back as I can remember, I have had no other ambition, at least, not for more than a day or two at a time. I have kept that same strong feeling to the present day. There has never been a temptation to leave the schoolroom, even though I could have made money elsewhere and much more reputation. That little one-roomed building, inadequate, and dirty with a few shacks and a few sheds, looms like some sort of sacred shrine in my life. It was mine for a year, and I lived in it for a year, so changed as to roads and buildings that I could not find my way around.

It was mine for a year, and I lived in it for a year, so changed as to roads and buildings that I could not find my way around.

Fifty years after the event, I cannot help wondering why I wanted to be a teacher. As far back as I can remember, I have had no other ambition, at least, not for more than a day or two at a time. I have kept that same strong feeling to the present day. There has never been a temptation to leave the schoolroom, even though I could have made money elsewhere and much more reputation. That little one-roomed building, inadequate, and dirty with a few shacks and a few sheds, looms like some sort of sacred shrine in my life. It was mine for a year, and I lived in it for a year, so changed as to roads and buildings that I could not find my way around.

Howard will be one of those quizzed here Friday. Bradley said he was brought here last Monday by Deputy Sheriff A. J. Beed, presumably for an investigation of the case, but that he sat around the Sheriff's office till about 3:30 p.m., and was never questioned.

Willie Howell, the cab driver who drove Collins from the Wayland to Garrett for whiskey, and Corbett Terry were the others questioned Wednesday.

Civil Aeronautics Board Approves Hazard Airport, Dewey Daniel Announces

A $2,000,000 airport to serve counties in the area of Southeastern Kentucky has been approved by the Civil Aeronautics Authority and the State Aeronautics Commission, Dewey Daniel, Hazard banker has announced.

Site of the airport will be at Halls Falls, a plateau in Perry county near Viper. The area was inspected last month by C.A.A. and State officials as a possible location for an airport.

Daniel said the C.A.A. has approved the location and estimated the cost of the field at $2,000,000. Half of this amount, according to Daniel, will be provided by the C.A.A. The remaining $1,000,000 would be raised either through county, state, or Federal sources.

Daniel said the estimated cost includes a 5,000-foot runway, a terminal, and hangar facilities. According to the Hazard banker, the airport will serve more than 500,000 persons in this region including Floyd county, who now travel to Lexington, London, Huntington, V. Va., or Bristol, Tenn., to make plane connections.

Daniel's announcement climaxed more than a year of intensive work by local, state, and federal officials to win C. A. A. blessings for an airport in this region.

Plans, drawings, and a list of prospective sites for an airport were first prepared a little more than a year ago by Henry Spaulding, a Hazard engineer.

Daniel said that so far as he knows, it is the only mountain-top location in Southeastern Kentucky where an airport can be feasibly constructed.

E. KENTUCKY PLAN OKEHED

Water, Fuel, Mineral Study Gains Approval; Prelim Work Is Begun

Commissioner George V. Hubby, State Department of Economic Development, has announced a program to step up the survey of mineral, fuel and water resources of East Kentucky.

Hubby said the plan, submitted at his request by the U. S. Geological Survey, has been approved and preliminary work is under way.

To finance the project, $25,000 was made available last February by Gov. A. B. Chandler from his emergency fund. State money will be matched by federal funds.

Hubby said the plans call for completion of this phase of the program during the 1958 fiscal year. The work is being carried on with the federal government and coordinated through the Division of Maps and Minerals.

A summary of the plan calls for:
1. Completion of three coal reports.
2. Establishment of a coal resources data file at the Kentucky Geological Survey in Lexington.

3. Augmentation of the existing program of work on refractory clay.
4. Geologic mapping for coal and clay resources and reserve data.
5. A study and report on the quantity, quality and availability of ground and surface waters of the region.

Hubby said the plan "is a sound one offering maximum benefits for the money expended." John R. Hutchins, acting director of the Maps and Minerals Division, explained that the data compiled in the survey will have a continuing value to any long range programs involving economic and social studies of the region.

5 out of 10 smaller cars wear a Pontiac price tag —yet none gives you any of Pontiac's advantages

PONTIAC GIVES YOU UP TO 8.5% MORE SOLID CAR PER DOLLAR!

Not one of the smaller cars can give you the heavy-duty construction, the road-hugging, soft-ride, solid security that surround you in every Pontiac. Yet Pontiac's the nimblest heavyweight you ever managed — and your Pontiac dealer can show you more than six dozen advanced-engineering reasons why! Pontiac has gone all out to make this genuine big car the best behaved beauty that you ever had the pleasure of possessing. You'll find Pontiac's exclusive Precision-Touch Controls make steering and braking the surest, easiest you've ever experienced! Park it, cruise it, try it in stop-and-go traffic... this is driving the smaller jobs can't duplicate.

PONTIAC GIVES YOU 4 TO 7 INCHES MORE WHEELBASE!

The small cars extend bumpers and fenders to look big—but Pontiac puts the extra length where it counts—between the wheels! Pontiac's longer stride brackets the bumps instead of riding on them. And this extra length shows up inside, too, in stretch-out space for six footers. Add to Pontiac's bonus in length its all-new suspension system and you have an exclusive Level-Line Ride no car at any price can surpass... and a built-in sense of direction and security that will spoil you for the smaller cars forever!

PONTIAC'S PERFORMANCE TOPS THE BEST THE SMALL CARS CAN OFFER— BY A WIDE MARGIN!

Not one of the smaller cars can measure up to Pontiac Performance. Whether you judge a power plant by engineering statistics or on-the-road performance, Pontiac's Strato-Streak V-8 stands head and shoulders above anything in the low-price field. Your Pontiac dealer will be happy to show you a complete fact-and-figures comparison — then an eye-opening test drive in traffic or out on the highway will supply all the heart-lifting proof you need that Pontiac has separated the men from the boys when it comes to performance!

—AND PONTIAC HAS ALWAYS BEEN FAMOUS AS ONE OF AMERICA'S TOP TRADE-INS!

Maybe it comes as a surprise to you that so much more car can be yours at the same price you've seen on the smaller cars. But there's the fact! And Pontiac is a wonderful investment, too! As you know, it has always commanded a top trade-in. So why not step out of the small-car class and into a Pontiac... there's nothing in your way. Your Pontiac dealer has the keys and an eye-opening offer waiting for you right now! So why not look and feel like a million—instead of a million others?

NOTE! If you want the ultimate in both economy and extraordinary performance, our 16-Valve Customline is available at extra cost on even the lowest priced Pontiac model! It's America's newest power advance and exclusively Pontiac's at so low a cost!

FARMERS DUE REFUND OF GASOLINE TAX

As a service to the farmers of Kentucky the Louisville Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants submits the following information relative to the filing of claims for the refund of federal gasoline taxes.

The federal excise tax on gasoline, diesel fuel, and special motor fuel was increased from 2 to 3 cents a gallon, effective July 1, 1936. Provision was made, however, for the Internal Revenue Service to refund this tax in case of motor fuels used for farming purposes. Claims must be filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue, Louisville, Ky., not later than September 30, 1937. Farmers should file claims on Form 2240.

Two cents can be claimed on each gallon of gasoline purchased after 1935, but prior to July 1, 1936 and 3 cents on each gallon purchased on or after July 1, 1936, but prior to July 1, 1937. A claim can be filed by the owner, tenant, or operator who buys gasoline for use on a farm. If the owner of the farm and a tenant thereon share the cost of the gasoline 50-50, they each may claim a refund based on one-half the gasoline. If a farm is operated by a partner, the claim should be made in the name of the partnership and signed by a member. A claim by a farm corporation should be signed by an officer.

Refunds are limited to motor fuels and gasoline which were consumed on the farm during the one year period July 1, 1936 through June 30, 1937. Last year a total of 1,250,000 farmers filed such claims, and refunds averaged $20.00. The Internal Revenue Service estimates that almost 2,500,000 claims will be filed this year. A guide book entitled "Farmers Gas Tax Refund" is available at the office of the District Director of Internal Revenue, Louisville, or at one of the many field offices of the Internal Revenue Service throughout Kentucky. This booklet will assist farmers in the preparation of refund claims for excise tax on gasoline bought after 1935 and used for farming during the period of July 1, 1936 to June 30, 1937.

A guide book entitled "Farmers Gas Tax Refund" is available at the office of the District Director of Internal Revenue, Louisville, or at one of the many field offices of the Internal Revenue Service throughout Kentucky. This booklet will assist farmers in the preparation of refund claims for excise tax on gasoline bought after 1935 and used for farming during the period of July 1, 1936 to June 30, 1937.

Although the federal excise tax on gasoline, diesel fuel, and special motor oil was increased from 2 to 3 cents a gallon, effective July 1, 1936, provision was made for the Internal Revenue Service to refund this tax in case of motor fuels used for farming purposes. Claims must be filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue, Louisville, Ky., not later than September 30, 1937. Farmers should file claims on Form 2240.

Two cents can be claimed on each gallon of gasoline purchased after 1935, but prior to July 1, 1936 and 3 cents on each gallon purchased on or after July 1, 1936, but prior to July 1, 1937. A claim can be filed by the owner, tenant, or operator who buys gasoline for use on a farm. If the owner of the farm and a tenant thereon share the cost of the gasoline 50-50, they each may claim a refund based on one-half the gasoline. If a farm is operated by a partner, the claim should be made in the name of the partnership and signed by a member. A claim by a farm corporation should be signed by an officer.

Refunds are limited to motor fuels and gasoline which were consumed on the farm during the one year period July 1, 1936 through June 30, 1937. Last year a total of 1,250,000 farmers filed such claims, and refunds averaged $20.00. The Internal Revenue Service estimates that almost 2,500,000 claims will be filed this year. A guide book entitled "Farmers Gas Tax Refund" is available at the office of the District Director of Internal Revenue, Louisville, or at one of the many field offices of the Internal Revenue Service throughout Kentucky. This booklet will assist farmers in the preparation of refund claims for excise tax on gasoline bought after 1935 and used for farming during the period of July 1, 1936 to June 30, 1937.

Army Recruiter Here Follows His Own Advice To Others—He Recruits!

An old adage that a salesman must sell himself before he can sell a prospect was clearly illustrated this week when Master Sergeant Glenn Walks, an Army recruiter assigned to the Army Recruiting Main station in Ashland, reenlisted for three years.

A veteran of over 17 years of Army service, Sergeant Walks has recruited in the Prestonsburg-Paintsville area since his assignment to the Ashland office in 1931. He was Ashland's leading recruiter last year when he tallied 124 enlistments.

Sergeant Walks is a combat veteran of World War II, and served with the 34th Infantry Division in Africa, Sicily and Italy. The sergeant's decorations and awards include the Combat Infantryman's Badge, Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Distinguished Unit Citation, European Theater, Good Conduct and the Medal.

The sergeant is a graduate of Oak Hill (Ohio) high school and married to the former Betty Rice, of Jackson, Ohio. Sergeant and Mrs. Walks are the parents of a 13-year-old son, Ronnie, and make their home in Paintsville.

Draft Quota Cut To 8,000

Washington—The Army, today cut its draft calls to the lowest level in more than a year, but hastened to say this did not mean the draft would be ended in the near future.

The call for next September—8,000 men, compared with 11,000 in the August call—is in line with the 100,000 man reduction of the armed forces announced by the Pentagon a week ago. The Army's portion of the cut is 50,000.

Not since April, 1936, has a quota been so low. From January through April of that year, the monthly quotas were 6,000.

Food Service Fifth Largest in Nation, Said; Publication Is Offered

When measured in terms of retail sales, the food service business is the fifth largest business in the nation. It is estimated that all sources of prepared meals serve on an average 75,000,000 meals per day. The health and well being of millions of people who eat in restaurants every day is affected by the food served. The industry is, therefore, in a sense a great public enterprise with serious obligations to the customers and communities it serves.

According to Robert M. Luskey, manager of the Field Office of the Department of Commerce, a reprinted 255-page edition of the publication titled "Establishing and Operating a Restaurant" has just been released as an aid to this growing industry.

Compiled with the assistance of some of the most successful restaurant operators in the business, the publication covers such important subjects as menu planning, food purchasing, record keeping, cost records, time tables for cooking, and purchasing guides, to mention just a few.

The publication is designed to assist the beginner as well as the large and small restaurant operator.

Copies may be obtained from the U. S. Department of Commerce, 442, U. S. Post Office Building Cincinnati 2, Ohio, at 7c.

For the same money, Harry could have stepped up to a dashing Swept-Wing Dodge—so new it actually obsoletes other cars in its field. Obsoletes their high, boxy design with the low, low look of tomorrow. Veterans Advised On G. I. Home Loans

Frankfort, July 22 (Sp.) — A veteran who sells his home purchased by "G. I. Loans" to take a better job in another city may be entitled to new loan eligibility.

Director R. K. Thomas of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Servicemen's Board advised.

Thomas said a "better job," according to the Veterans Administration, usually means one that will increase the veteran's income.

The new ruling also applies to veterans moving to a different city following retirement.

No loan entitlement can be restored unless the V. A. is relieved of liability on the old loan.

Other circumstances under which a veteran may be entitled to new loan entitlement occur when the property was taken by a governmental agency for public use destroyed by natural hazard, or disposed of for reasons of health or reasons beyond control of the veteran.

Representatives of the board will assist in applying for restoration of G. I. loan eligibility.

Frankfort, July 22 (Sp.) — Kentucky trappers caught more fur animals but received less money for them during the 1956-57 season than in the preceding season, a game official said.

Arnold L. Mitchell, game division director of the State Fish & Wildlife Resources Department, said the fur harvest increased nine percent in number of furs but decreased 15 percent in total value.

He said the information was obtained from reports of 153 licensed dealers. The number of fur buyers has been practically the same for the past several years with a slight drop last year; Mitchell added.

Muskat furs, he said, topped the list in total numbers this year, followed by raccoon, mink and opossum.

East Grid Squad Has Two Players From Floyd Co.

Lexington, Ky., July 24 (Sp.) — Seasonal Calvin Bird of Corbin, the first game of the "Year" in Kentucky high school grid circles last season, was a group of 28 prep stars named to the East All-Star football squad. This team, announced today by head coach John Methaus, of Louisville St. Xavier, will clash with the West All-Stars in the annual East-West game to be played in Lexington on Saturday, Aug. 10.

The East backfield boasts three of Kentucky's fastest, hardest-hitting runners. Bird, the 190-pound, six-foot speedster from Corbin, has no equal during the last two seasons. Halfback H. L. Justice, of Pikeville, and fullback Lloyd Hodge, of Whitesburg, both all-starters will provide plenty of additional running thumps.

The East squad also includes James Buford Crager, Prestonsburg fullback, and Bance Horvath, 204-pound, Prestonsburg tackle. Donnie Ray Sisor, of Hazard, a 6-1, 230-pound all-state tackle, is the bulwark in the East's ponderous line. Bucking him will be Tom Adams, massive Somerset end; Mike Schaeffgen, St. Xavier's scaly, powerful guard; and stand-out center Ronnie Downard, of Newport Public.

Other top stars of the East are: Ends Bobby Roark, of Hazard, and Tom Holbrook of Lexington Henry Clay; tackles Harry Johnson, of Fleming-Nixon, and William Hampton, of Lexington Dunbar; guard Ed Stumph, of Louisville Du Pont Manual; quarterback Robert Brooks, of Winchester.

Tickets for both the football and basketball All-Star games can be obtained at the box office or ordered from the University of Kentucky Ticket Office in Memorial Coliseum. The orders should be accompanied by a check or money order made payable to Benzie A. Shively, Ticket Commitmentman. Tickets to the basketball and football games are separate and cost $1.25 each.

The Bank of Kentucky was organized with authorized capital of $1,000,000 in December, 1893.

Roadblocks Cut Highway Deaths

Frankfort, July 22 (Sp.) — Kentucky's Department of Public Safety is striving to block the highway death toll with mobile roadblocks.

"The roadblocks," says State Safety Commissioner Don S. Sturgill, "are set up at strategic traffic locations at varying times and places."

Manned by Kentucky state troopers, the new mobile roadblocks occur at unannounced times and places.

"The purpose of the system is to make spot checks on persons who may be driving without a driver's license, driving on revoked license, and, of course, driving under the influence of alcohol," Sturgill emphasized.

MOTOR OILS THAT ADD OCTANES
 To your gasoline's performance

The MOBIL OIL SPECIAL and UNIFLO motor oils your Standard Oil dealer offers you add octanes to the anti-knock performance of the gasoline you use!

They do this by reducing combustion-chamber and piston head deposits, and tend to prevent their re-forming. By raising engine efficiency, they not only increase your gasoline performance, but your gasoline mileage as well.

For your next oil change, have your Standard Oil dealer refill with either UNIFLO or MOBIL OIL SPECIAL. They cost more, but they're worth more—much more.

Williamsport, Pa. — A dog named Blackie appeared as a witness in Criminal Court here. His silence helped get his owner an acquittal on charges of keeping a vicious dog.

Blackie was led into the courtroom on a leash and let go. He scampered over to his mistress, wagging his tail. There were no barks. Acquittal came less than an hour later.

Defense witnesses said other dogs attracted to Blackie's home had been responsible for most of the barking neighbors complained about.

ASC Plans Payments To State Corn Growers; Farms To Be Checked

Roy C. Gray, chairman of the Kentucky ASC Committee announced recently that on August 15 commercial corn counties will start making payments to producers under the 1957 Acreage Reserve program. His farmboy stated that payments in the non-commercial corn counties started at an earlier date.

Gray reminds farmers that, even though they receive payment prior to the end of the year 1957, they must carry out all the provisions of the 1957 Acreage Reserve Program.

State and county ASC personnel will continue to perform their usual spot-check on these farms to see that the producer is carrying out all requirements of the program. When a producer violates his 1957 Acreage Reserve agreement by willfully and knowingly grazing or harvesting a crop from the designated acreage or harvesting a crop in excess of his permitted acreage, he will be liable for a civil penalty.

NEWEST DRIVE-IN CREATION — It's really something, this growing trend toward drive-in service. You can shop, you can bank, go to the movies, even have your car washed while sitting comfortably behind the wheel. Our telephone engineers are making field tests to add still another convenience to this motorized age — the drive-in telephone, that will let you make calls without leaving your car. We've selected two cities as test sites — in the telephone, you'll probably see 'em one day wherever you go on streets and highways. It's still another way we're working to put telephone service in arm's reach of everybody, everywhere.

MISS SOMEONE OUT-OF-TOWN?

Why not enjoy the warm satisfaction of a "voice visit" by Long Distance? It's fun, it's easy, and it costs so little especially when you call station-to-station. Just give the operator the name of the city and the number you want.

If you don't know the number, give her the name the phone is listed under and tell her you'll talk with anyone who answers. You save up to 1/2, you know, on station-to-station calls. And you get extra values nights after 6 and all day Sunday. Then you can talk station-to-station between Kentucky cities for four minutes at the same daytime rate. For instance, you can call Henderson for just 80c, Frankfort for 65c. Isn't there someone you'd like to call tonight?

MORE THAN YOU SEE — The telephone in your home is just one small part of the equipment that makes it possible for you to call anywhere, any time. Behind it are miles of wire and cables, complicated switchboards and electronic gadgets — and 69,000 Southern Bell folks, all working together to bring people closer together.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

The public is entitled to a statement of the platform upon which every candidate for office stands before the people. More than that, though, if a candidate has held public office and seeks another office, or reelection to the same one, the public is entitled to a report of his stewardship.

I am a candidate for County Judge and, since it is one of the most important offices in the county, I solicit your support upon my record as your sheriff.

The office of Sheriff is never a popular one. You must make arrests, serve search warrants, round up the drunks, confiscate whiskey and apprehend the drunken drivers. This, of course, receives the applause of all good citizens but many, some with personal animosity and others with political intentions, fall upon these things to discredit a man sworn to uphold the law and do his duty.

The record of my stewardship in the Sheriff's office has been written by an administration devoted to carrying out all the duties of the office. I have tried to serve you well. To enforce the law and to take the drunks off our highways is almost impossible unless the County Judge cooperates with the Sheriff. It is wasted time to arrest a drunken driver if the County Judge is going to turn him loose.

I am running upon my record and I want my opponent to do the same. The Floyd County Times has been full of the stories of arrests, whiskey seizures and confiscations made by my office, but only the docket book of my opponent reveals how he has turned more than three-fourths of the whiskey sellers and drunken drivers loose. Your County Judge has an obligation to the public to run upon his record. I am running upon mine.

In the future I will have articles that will show how my office has been run in the interest of law and order. Also I will have articles showing how my opponent has sought to undermine and discredit the law enforcement machinery of my office at every turn of the way.

I ask you now to keep an open mind and in the meantime inquire about whom the bootleggers are supporting. And in future articles I'll tell you why.

A 22-year-old laborer was hanged for murder today despite efforts by parliamentary and religious groups to prevent Britain's first execution since August, 1955. John Wilson Vickers, Carlisle, went to the gallows in Durham jail for killing 72-year-old Miss Jane Duckett, a grocery-store proprietor, during a robbery. Vickers was the first person executed under the new British homicide law, which provides capital punishment of murder, in a manner similar to the American code.

Cow Creek Resident Dies At Prestonsburg General; Last Rites Held Sunday

Miss Mabel Woods, 42 years old, of Cow Creek, died at the Prestonsburg General hospital last Thursday afternoon, victim of complications caused by a ruptured appendix. Miss Woods, who had been in ill health for years, became acutely ill about two weeks before her death. It was said her appendix had ruptured three or four days before she was taken to the hospital.

She was a daughter of Mrs. Mary Lowe Woods, of Cow Creek, and the late Henry Woods. Surviving are her mother, four brothers and one sister, Bob, Willard, Jesse and Earl Woods, Jr., all of Emma, and Mrs. Myrtle Edna Garrett, of Michigan.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday afternoon from Benedict Chapel on Slick Rock by the Rev. Ira McMillen, and burial in the family cemetery was directed by the Carter & Callahan Funeral Home.

The commission, with a full-time professional staff, would recommend procedures to be acted on by local and state governments as well as citizens of the area.

Waterfield said three public hearings would be held next week on the question of whether the commission should be appointed. If there is no objection, Waterfield said, the members will be appointed soon, with emphasis on getting the strongest possible commission.

The hearings will be conducted by former Governor Simon S. Willis at Cattedsburg, Wednesday, by former Governor Glenn D. Campbell at Hazard, Thursday, and by the Rev. William Huie at Corbin, Friday.

Along with the credit corporation the report recommended that the Economic Development carry out these proposals for industrial development in Eastern Kentucky.

1. Co-operate with communities in conducting an intensive survey to identify promising growth firms.

2. Work with regional and local groups in getting adequate highways and access roads.

3. Assist the planning commission and communities in expanding or locating new industries, including information, procurement, financing, and developing new markets, products, and sources of raw materials.

4. Bring up to date the 1955 state-wide facilities guide to help identify the types of equipment and products that can be manufactured by each plant in the state.

Manufacturers and local and state governments were advised to work on a co-operative arrangement to train potential workers in industry.

The report said manufacturing expansion approved brightest in the fields of small market-shantied plants (bottling works, bakeries, and concrete-block making) and resource-slanted plants (clay refractories and sawmills).

Noting that the coal industry now operates at 60 per cent of capacity, the report foresaw a further decline in coal mining in the face of stiff competition from other types of fuels and low-cost strip-coal mining.

"Although continuing efforts to expand Eastern Kentucky's coal market are necessary, it is of serious concern that relatively little attention has been given to trends in coal employment. It is the number of jobs, this year and next, in the coal industry which vitally concerns the region."

A minerals-research laboratory at the University of Kentucky was recommended, to conduct a concentrated, scientific investigation of the present potential uses of Kentucky minerals.

Discussing agriculture, a marginal operation in Eastern Kentucky, the report said the conversion of small farms into competitive units producing poultry, truck-garden vegetables, or other specialties "may be feasible in some instances."

For improving forestry, the report suggested state action to spur federal acquisition of certain public forest lands to protect river watersheds and lure wood-using industries; expanded reforestation, and posted trails and laws.

The report reiterated its recommendation for a division of tourism as a governmental agency to conduct research and promote the growth of tourism.

The division could help develop plans for tourist attractions through expanded State Parks, including the restocking of Dewey Lake, the report said, adding:

"The site of the first settlement in Eastern Kentucky at Harrods Station in Johnson county near Dewey Dam offers possibilities for erection of a shrine or restoration of the original blockhouse as a tourist attraction."

The report also repeated the most important aspects of a flood-damage-prevention plan, listing them as protective structures, insurance programs, guides for home and business, and emergency warning and relief measures.

As prerequisites to economic development, the report said improvements must be made in human relations, communities, and the region as a whole, including communication and transportation.

Unless Eastern Kentucky can achieve better health, housing, nutrition and education for its residents, it cannot provide the desirable labor forces to attract new industry and commerce, the report added.

It said Kentucky should press for federal aid to education and consider submitting to voters a referendum issue for necessary school construction that will require $350,000,000.

"If the recommendations in this report are carried out, many concrete results can be achieved in a relatively short time. Other results will take longer to achieve.

Short range results that can be achieved were listed as follows:

1. Lessening of the flood peril by the adoption of flood-proof zoning and improved flash-flood prediction and warning by the use of radar and other techniques.

2. Community improvements by use of planning and zoning, slum clearance and housing rehabilitation and construction of modern low-cost housing.

3. Improvement of public services, such as education, health, and vocational training, by means of the foundation program; introduction of new health facilities, and extension and improvement of public-assistance programs and employment services.

4. Improvement of the economic base of the region by developing new industrial sites with various renewal funds, expansion of many existing types of manufacturing, extension of needed business credit by a state-financed credit corporation, wider application of scientific techniques in forestry and agriculture, and the opening up of new areas for a profitable tourist industry.

Tracing population trends in relation to the declining employment in Eastern Kentucky, the report said the area lost 91,900 of its 903,000 total population during 1950-56. The report added:

"The cause of the region's economic distress can be found in a comparison of man-power and employment trends. Between 1950 and 1957 the region lost 30,000 mine and farm jobs and gained back only 7,000 manufacturing and service jobs.

"Nineteen thousand Eastern Kentuckians were listed as unemployed in April, 1957. At the same time, an increasing number of young people, product of higher birth rates, are reaching working age.

"There is an identifiable gap of 35,000 between available jobs and persons available for work."
