THURSDAY

This Town— That World

BLUE BIKIES

The poet sang of "October's bright blue weather," and if our muses had not long since been buried in prosaic news we would do a bit of singing ourselves. Any soul who has not marvelled at the bright beauty of these last few days must have his head hanging mighty, and low. Stormy days lie ahead; look, you and feast your eyes while you may.

Drawing on my great well of scientific knowledge, I arise to remark that the happiest satellite the Russians have is that one that's roaming around loose and free in the sky.

THE SAVANTS MEET

The Floyd County Times has never been guilty of a stiff meeting yet, but the meeting we have approached one of these affairs was the other morning when this satellite matter demanded some attention and somebody wondered what gave the thing its speed and what caused it to slow down, and so on. We do not propose to print here the explanation propounded by Bill Dierker, who will admit, however, knowing a little about the matter as we did, everybody accepted what he said and let it go at that.

COURT'S OUT

We hear by the Associated Press that they've cancelled the October term of the Letcher circuit court because its two top officers are up their ears in the current election campaign. The Floyd circuit court went on a long vacation during the Civil War, and we have an idea that a Letcher county election (not to mention the Floyd county election) is enough like such an interminable struggle to justify court adjournment.

ALMOST CAPTURED

Dr. J. H. Allen, who fishes when they're hitting and hums when they aren't, is hereby given three guesses, with the privilege of saying "Nebuchadnezzar" after the first two, as to our source of information that while hunting in Scott county last week he had a narrow escape from the law that he may not yet have learned about.

ARMCO MOVES MARSHALL UP

Native Floyd County New Assistant Manager At Ashland, Ky. Plant

J. M. Lohagan, manager of the Ashland Works, Armco Steel Corporation, this week announced the promotion of Townsell G. Marshall as assistant to the manager of the Ashland plant. Mr. Marshall attended Kentucky Junior College and the University of Kentucky. He spent four years with the Air Force as pilot during World War II. Mr. Marshall started his Armco career on August 24, 1935, as checker in the industrial engineering department. He advanced to time study man in 1937, and was promoted to suggestion coordinator in 1931. In 1933, Mr. Marshall advanced to personnel adviser, and in 1935, Mr. Marshall became supervisor of labor relations, the position he has held until this present promotion.

Mr. Marshall, a native of the Auxier Road section of this county.

FLOOD CONTROL HERE TEMPORARILY STALLED

2 SUITS FILED FOR PROPERTY RIGHT-OF-WAY

City, Property-Owners Not Agreed on Values; Deadline Is Oct. 23rd

Filed with date all assessments must be proffered and the city's share of the expense of Prestonsburg flood protection construction raised, the City Council this week filed condemnation proceedings against two property-owners from whom right-of-way must be procured if the project is to become a reality.

The suits were filed against H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., et al. and Rebecca Dugas and others. Although both defendants to the suits had earlier been offered money by Mayor Harry Sandage, the City Council in a special meeting on Monday night voted to file the suits for assessments over the offer of property at $1,100. The $1,100 offers were not accepted, and time was running out for the condemnation action to be considered necessary. C. B. Latta, attorney acting for the city in the flood control program, said.

The U. S. Corps of Engineers had estimated, he said, that all right-of-way would cost $1,100,000.

RIVER NEEDS TOLD BUREAU

Budgeting of Funds For Big Sandy Dams, Backwater Work Asked

The Budget Bureau heard the first arguments Tuesday on behalf of the planning projects for which money is sought are intended to prevent flash floods similar to those which have ravaged Kentucky last spring. Two of the proposed projects would be in Virginia—Hays reservoir, for which $150,000 is requested, and Pound reservoir, for which $150,000 also is sought. The third, Fitzpatrick reservoir, which is on the eastern bank of the Big Sandy River in Kentucky and would involve the expenditure of $16,000 for planning.

The initial presentation on behalf of Kentucky was by representatives of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association in support of several projects. More detailed arguments on behalf of the planning projects were given to the Budget Bureau Wednesday by a Congressional delegation.

The Buckhorn reservoir, one of several projects under construction, $4,000,000 is asked. The plan is to build a dam for which money is sought are intended to prevent flash floods similar to those which have ravaged Kentucky last spring. Two of the proposed projects would be in Virginia—Hays reservoir, for which $150,000 is requested, and Pound reservoir, for which $150,000 also is sought. The third, Fitzpatrick reservoir, which is on the eastern bank of the Big Sandy River in Kentucky and would involve the expenditure of $16,000 for planning.

LEADERS GIVE TAX SUPPORT

School and Civic Leaders Pledge To Help Passage Of County Health Bill

School and civic leaders rallied quickly and enthusiastically this week to support the proposed health tax for the support and expansion of services of the Floyd County Health Department.

At Martin Monday night, after a meeting of the Board of Education, the Board of Education announced that it had authorized the use of its individual members in any way as supporters of the tax.

The same action was taken Tuesday night by the Martin Kiwanis Club, which also was addressed by Mr. Clark. In the dedication here Saturday of the new health center, speakers lauded the work of the health department. Dr. George P. Archer pointed out that the health tax had not put up the average taxpayer would perhaps be more

WAYLAND MAN IS CAR VICTIM

Guy Coleman, 51, Father Of Basketball Star, Dies As Car Ramps Into Cliff

Guy Owen Coleman, 51 years old, father of Wayland, high school basketball great, "Kings" Kelly Coleman, was killed at 1 a. m. Sunday in the wreck of his automobile at Topmost, Knott county. The wreck took place on a stretch of road where several accidents have occurred and is believed to have resulted from a high speed car on the highway. The car rammed into a cliff skirting the highway. Coleman died instantly of a head injury. His companion, a son of Lamar Sturgill, was injured but not seriously. The victim resided at Wayland where he was an employe of the Elm Hill Corporation, 22 years. At the time of his death, he was a maintenance employe of the Princess Ethorn Coal Company at Railway Company Division Counsel, Assuring Him That Flasher Lights Will Be Installed At The Harold Railway Crossing With In The Next 60 Days.

The Harold crossing, with its double track and motorist given only a narrow range of vision, has been the scene of several accidents, and Judge Stumbo said he has been insisting for some time that warning lights be installed there.

BABE IS VICTIM

Rickey Herbert, three-day-old son of Herbert and Lora Reynolds of Hwy. of Alpharetta, died October 4 at Our Lady of the Way hospital. One brother, in addition to the parents, survives. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Sunday at the home of the baby's grandfather, Willard Owsen, Rev. Banner Mann officiating. Burial was made at Alpharetta under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

LONG-DELAYED DEDICATION OF ALLEN CHURCH SCHEDULED NEXT SUNDAY WITH HOMECOMING

A church service which was delayed for months by a January destructive flood will see the dedication Sunday of the Allen Methodist Church which has been completed, then restored after flood damage, at a total cost of $60,000.

One of the building, it is estimated, he said, that all right-of-way would cost $1,100,000.

First work on the new building began in June, 1936, and the new structure was completed in October, 1936. The building was completed later, then reconstruction of the church was begun. The church was built on the hill overlooking the town, on land donated by T. J. Allen. The building was one of the few that survived the fire of 1928 in which many early church structures were destroyed and which threatened the entire town of Allen. Site for the present new church was given by Ben Wainwright.

The dedication service Sunday will begin at 10:30 a. m., with the dedicatory sermon by Dr. H. L. Moore, superintendent of the Ashland district. He will be assisted by the Rev. Carr, pastor of the Allen and Martin Methodist Churches. A basket dinner will be served in the church basement, and an afternoon service will be featured by numbers by a vocal quartet and a sermon by Dr. A. R. Perkins, pastor of the Pikeville Methodist Church. The occasion also will serve as a homecoming for members of the church and their families and friends.

TEACHER PAY IS UNCHANGED

Floyd Salary Schedule To Stay at 1956 Level; Increased Expense Told

The salary schedule adopted by the Floyd County Board of Education for teachers during the 1937-1938 school year remains the same as last year when an overall pay increase of 113 percent resulted from the Emergency class act. Although a tentative allotment amounting to about $62,000 more than last year's has been made for the Floyd county school system, the actual amount will not be that much, County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner said. Loss of some specialized instructors will be one factor contributing to a lower state aid total, he said.

Transportation expenses, increased pay earned by teachers through acquiring more college credits and by way of experience and an increase in the number teachers will constitute all the increased allocation, he said. Although a new ruling adopted by the State Board of Education will give some Floyd county teachers a higher rank, removing them from the Emergency class and in some cases providing them higher pay, the added expense will not affect other teachers' pay.

This ruling, Mr. Turner pointed out, provides for a provisional high school certificate to a teacher if the subject he will teach. Such a teacher must first have college and arrange a schedule whereby he will take at least nine semester hours work a year.

More emergencies would move into Rank 4. In no case would such a teacher be paid up to the hour covered by a bachelor's degree, contrary to a statement in the daily press, Mr. Turner said.

as Johnson's Chapel. In 1911 a new church was built on the hill overlooking the town, on land donated by T. J. Allen. The building was one of the few that survived the fire of 1928 in which many early church structures were destroyed and which threatened the entire town of Allen. Constable Napier Quits Post, Roberts Named

Matthew Napier, of Garrett, resigned Oct. 4 as Constable in District No. 2 to enter private employment. Kenneth Roberts, of Lacey, was appointed by County Judge Henry Stumbo, on Napier's recommendation, as his successor. Roberts will serve till Jan. 1 when the term of Bud Lawson, Democratic nominee who is unopposed for the office, will begin.

Physician Begins 87th Birthday By Delivering Boy To His First Doctor In 61st Year of Practice

Dr. M. M. Collins began his 87th birthday, September 22, by giving the first bit of his visit to his homeborn, September 22.

Shortly after midnight which ushered in the veteran physician's birthday, he was called to the home of a neighbor. At 5:20 a. m., Dr. and Mrs. Collins returned home, leaving a bouncing boy at the neighbor's home and himself apparently feeling no more the worse for the loss of almost all of a night's sleep. The event was all for the doctor's 87th birthday, September 22, by giving the first bit of his visit to his homeborn, September 22.

FLOYD TEAMS WIN HONORS

Inland 3rd in National Mine Rescue Contest; 1st In State First-aid

Third place in the National Mine Rescue contest held in Louisville last week-end was won by the Floyd county team of the Inland Steel Company, Wheelwright, as the U. S. Corporation team from those days for the national championship.

J. P. Gibson captained the Inland Steel team.

Second place went to the team from Mine 22 of the Bethlehem Mines Corp., at Deane, Letcher county.

At the same time the Price Preparation Plant team of Inland Steel, led by Hillard Stone, won the state first-aid contest.

The Kentucky sweep of the mine rescue contests was the first since 1928.

Despite the fact that he suffered a broken thigh in a fall at his home last April, and is still on crutches, Dr. Collins' health is limited only and goes to his office in Lacey every day.

NEW HOSPITAL IS ACCREDITED

McDowell Memorial Gets Approval By Commission For Three-Year Period

Harold C. Parks, hospital administrator, announced last week that the McDowell Memorial hospital has been granted three years approval by the Joint Commission of Accreditation for Hospitals. In the letter from Dr. Kenneth Babcock, director of the accrediting agency, medical staff and administration were commended for the patient care rendered at the McDowell Memorial hospital. This approval is the result of a survey of the hospital conducted August 5 by Dr. Warren Atwood, field representative of the Joint Commission on Accreditation for Hospitals.

Accreditation is an operational yardstick for measuring the quality of patient care and is entirely voluntary on the part of the institution. Each hospital with a capacity of 25 or more beds and has been in operation for a period of 12 months is eligible to request inspection.

The five medical and hospital organizations which comprise the Joint Commission of Accreditation for Hospitals are the American College of Surgeons, American College of Physicians, American Hospital Association, American Medical Association, and the Canadian Medical Association.

$32,260 ASKED IN TWO SUITS

Motor Company Sues Surety on Attachment; Woman Asks $10,000

Two suits filed in circuit court here this week ask a total of $32,260.

One of the actions, filed by the Stansifer Motor Company against the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company, seeks to recover $32,260. In the other Cora Stansifer asks $10,000.

The Stansifer Motor Company suit is prepared by the Prestonsburg law firm of Howard & Francis, points out that in 1949 the Stansifer Realty Company sued the motor company in Jefferson circuit court for alleged breach of contract and caused the detachment of the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company was surety on bond twice the amount asked to insure the defendant's liability.

The case was referred to the Floyd circuit court. One jury found for the defendant but the Court of Appeals reversed the

WOMAN CALMLY FACING DEATH AFTER LIFE DEVOTED TO OTHERS

(This is the story of a hero Floyd county woman, as told by Gerald Griffin in The Courier-Journal.)

Red roses, golden chrysanthemums, and giant multi-colored dahlias flourish in the step-sloping flower garden behind a neat frame cottage in the modest mining town of Wheelwright, Floyd County.

Inside the company-built house reclines a cheerful, red-haired woman and her soft-spoken husband, a retired coal miner, who have lived here 26 years. They are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benner, but this is the story of Mrs. Benner, whose given name is Shirley.

Since her girlhood in West Virginia, Shirley has been a freethinker, taking the lead where leadership was needed in doing good for which ever community she happened to be living in. She has raised funds for churches, helped the Red Cross, and contributed generously from the modest family funds to help the poor and needy.

She needed the Inland Steel Company, which owns the town, to action in bringing about sanitation and modernization of the little homes where the benevolent she had a campaign to help victims of the January flood that brought devastation to the Big Sandy Valley. She has been the force behind campaigns to raise funds in her

Council Adds Two To Police Force; Sturgill Resigns

Two policemen, James Wesley Howard and Kelly Frasure were added to the Prestonsburg police force by action of the City Council at its meeting Monday night. One of the two replaces B. L. Sturgill, who resigned, necessary to take employment with the State Highway Department. Employment of Howard and Frasure brings to five the number of regular members of the force. Chief of Police Eppie Jeffery, Bill Pender and David B. Lewis are full-time policemen, with W. J. Sloan serving on Saturdays.

COUNTY FAIR HELD SUCCESS

Livestock Show Winners Announced; Other Awards To Be Listed Next Week.

Perfect weather, varied and interesting exhibits from home, school, farm, shop and factory, and appreciative crowds spotted success for the Floyd County Fair during its three-day run here last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

And Saturday, the biggest day of the three, brought to the Fair a surprising show of Floyd county livestock which gave the exhibition the true appearance of a County Fair. The livestock show brought 124 hogs, sheep and cattle and 80 chickens to vie for ribbons and cash awards.

Winners in all the varied events will be published in The Times next week.

Big Change-Over Work At Boldman To Entail Outlay of $1,600,000

For more economical and efficient operation, Atlantic Seaboard Corporation is making major improvements at its Boldman compressor station, which will cost $1,600,000, according to Clyde H. Strother, supervisory engineer.

The station, which is in Pike county, barely across the Floyd-Knox line, is at the western terminus of a 26-inch transmission pipeline which extends to the Maryland-Pennsylvania state line.

Strother said the company plans to retire the present 6,000-horsepower steam plant consist-

MARTIN MAY HAVE GAINED BALLOT SPOT

Special Judge To Hear Arguments on Ballots In Senatorial Election

Commonwealth's Attorney Burns Martin's filing by petition for the office of State Senator from the 25th district (Floyd, Knott, and Martin counties) was accepted Monday by Secretary of State Thomas Stovall.

The candidate's attorney, Paul H. Hays, said he was assured Wednesday by the Secretary of State that Martin's name would be certified to the county clerk by mail this day.

Martin said he had a "long time for a while" getting his petition accepted but that an opinion from Assistant Attorney General Walter Hesterman, dated Oct. 4 and holding that he could file by petition, helped.

For the Health Tax

As an observer of the Floyd County Health Department, its development and work since the days when it consisted of a doctor and two nurses who spent their working hours on horseback THE TIMES urges all voters of the county to support the health tax for Floyd county.

This is the health department that for thirty years and more now has worked faithfully, unflinchingly, under every condition, meeting every situation, always striving to improve the health of Floyd county. It is the service that came to this county when every community in the county was a target for typhoid, that began work here at a time when the question was not, "Will typhoid strike our community this year?" but was, "Who will die in our community this year of typhoid?" The disease was certain to appear; its lethal effects were that inevitable.

Those were the days when the isolation of bad roads made adequate private medical care impossible, when the public knowledge of preventive measures, of sanitation and general health education were abysmally low. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles, and whooping cough were accepted as "childhood diseases" almost as inevitable as that natural process of cutting teeth. Immunization against the dreaded smallpox even was only for the few fortunate ones, not for the general public.

We mention these few health hazards as a reminder of how far the health department has led Floyd county along the way to better health and to protection against untimely death from preventable diseases. We make no attempt to point to the heroic work done to halt the infant death rate from dysentery or to give mothers pre-natal care and to teach them the care of their children.

Many who read this know all these facts; only many have so long accepted them as their due and the usual thing that they do not stop to think what the health department has meant to them.

The Floyd County Health Department has been dependent for local funds on appropriations made by the fiscal court and county board of education. Both have cooperated as generously as limited funds would permit, but as the field broadened and as more attention to more people became so sorely needed their appropriations have become smaller and smaller drops in the bucket.

These appropriations made by the fiscal court and the board of education are, of course, from tax monies collected from the county's taxpayers. They leave less money for roads, teachers' salaries and other needed services. And still the appropriations fall short of what is needed.

The American Medical Association, after an exhaustive study, has set the following as the needs for a county of 50,000 population, which is a county approximating the population of Floyd:

A fulltime public health doctor; a public nurse for each 5,000 persons, plus one supervising nurse; a sanitarian for every 15,000 persons, plus a fulltime sanitary engineer; a public health clerk per 15,000 population; one fulltime nutritionist; one public health dentist and one janitor.

Present plans for Floyd county call for an administrator, a doctor working four days a week, six public health nurses, three fulltime sanitarians, a public health dentist working four days a week, three clerks and a janitor.

To do this, Floyd county must help pay the bill, of course, and its share will be $28,000 a year. Without that $28,000 the health department can never extend its services and reach all the people with all the varied things they need. It will have to continue to work with an administrator, only three public health nurses, two part-time clinicians, one and three-fifths sanitarians, two full-time clerks and a janitor working half-time.

This inadequate staff is costing Floyd county about $10,000 a year, and to maintain it at this low level the appropriation must be increased this year to $15,000. Compare what the added funds would acquire for the service of the people of this county.

And what do you pay if the health tax is voted? If your assessment is $1,000, say, you pay 90 cents tax a year; if it is $2,000, you pay $4.50 a year. Indeed, it is estimated that 80 percent of the total bill for these greater health services would be paid by corporations and large business firms.

Have you children in school, or grandchildren, or children not your own but whom you love? The protection they will receive this year — protection they may already have received — cannot be valued in dollars and cents.

But if you are one of those who do measure such matters in coin of the realm, you are at liberty to do so. The added cost of the tax will shrink mighty small if you will only stand that child up against it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NOT AMONG HERMISICK

Editor, The Times:

The two teachers who returned to Floyd county from Ohio were not my sons, Paul and Clell, as some folks seem to think. My sons are proud to be added to the list of Floyd county teachers at Dayton, Ohio. They are in a good school system and like their jobs. They certainly are not homeless for Floyd county.

DuRAN MOORE, Clerk, Floyd County Court

community for the Heart Fund and the Cancer Society.

As president of the Floyd County chapter of the American Cancer Society, she led the fund-raising drive while flat on her back in Miffler Memorial Hospital at nearby Middlesboro. She was laid in bed at the age of 12 with 12-pound weights pulling at her feet. The campaign netted $1,013.58 in the county.

Taking a deep interest in the work of the Cancer Society for years, Mrs. Brenner received one of the two plaques awarded by the society last year. Ed Sullivan, the national chairman, received the other.

The plaque, of which she is proud, reads:

"Mrs. Harry Brenner
In grateful acknowledgment of outstanding service to the cause accorded during the Society's annual campaign 1956 American Cancer Society."

What the Cancer Society doesn't know is that Mrs. Brenner found it difficult to recuperate after a exploratory operation, that she is dying of cancer herself. The surgeon told her that she might have two to three years to live, or even as much as two years.

Yet she is content, happy, and cheerful while facing death philosophically. She suffers but little pain. She probably never had read William Cullen Bryant's "Thanatopsis," a meditation on death.

Few people could have the courage of this mountain woman has. Her condition doesn't worry her at all. She and her husband, who have been married 43 years, have led a full and fruitful life together.

He has been right there to help her with her colorful flower garden and to co-operate with her cheerfully in all her good works. Even with death standing in the door, there is a happy home. They laugh and joke together just as if nothing were wrong.

She refused of her condition. Shirley replied to her doctor: "Thank God I will have time to dispose of my personal belongings." She didn't want her family to have that unpleasant task.

Facing facts with rare common sense, she already has completed her own funeral arrangements. She has picked out the dress in which she is to be buried. From a funeral-home catalog she selected her coffin. She determined the time and place for her funeral. She has named her pallbearers. She has chosen her own grave.

All this sounds solemn and perhaps a bit gruesome. But it's not. She is at all to 68-year-old Shirley. Learning back on a couch on her glass-enclosed sun porch of gliding through the house in a wheel chair, she smiles a lot while discussing these things.

Her philosophy: "You're born. You know you're going to die. You prepare for life. You ought to prepare for death." Wearing a dainty blue dress, she has a white curl of her fiery red hair, and with a little rouge and lipstick as an artificial aid, Shirley still likes to look nice, especially for Harry and their 29-year-old baby, son Paul, who has returned home to be near his mother in her illness.

They had another son, H. W. Brenner, who was killed in action while serving in the Navy in British waters during World War II. He was awarded the Silver Star posthumously for gallantry. The United States Navy named a destroyer in his honor.

Shirley isn't even fearful while talking about the death of her hero son. She is proud that he gave his life for his country. That son had a son of his own, Larry, for whom she and Harry reared in their modest Wheelwright home. Now he is a jet engineer in the Air Force.

Shirley began her religious, charitable, and civic work when she was 17 years old by leading a campaign to raise funds to build a Methodist Church at Volyn, W. Va. She collected a dollar here and a dollar there and served dinners to raise money.

During World War I Shirley and Harry moved to Saxton, Pa., where she did volunteer work such as rolling bandages, for the Red Cross.

While there, she and Harry would fry a lot of chicken and make biscuits and gravy which they sent by train to the soldiers stationed at nearby Gettysburg. She just knew those boys were hungry for home-cooked food.

The Benners were at Stone Branch, W. Va., in May of 1918, when the flu epidemic struck suddenly, swiftly, and fatally.

Of the 40 families in the town, only the Benners and one other family escaped the disease. Harry and the other healthy man nipped out all day and spent most of the nights hauling it to the ailing families. Shirley and the other wife nursed the sick and cooked for them.

The same thing happened in 1921 when the Benners lived at Saxton, W. Va. Fortunately, they were one of only three families in a town of 1,500 that escaped the epidemic there.

few miles from where they live now. Harry got a job there in a coal mine. Two years later, when the Depression hit hard, they moved to Wheelwright.

Living frugally, Shirley and Harry had saved a little money. Harry still had his job. But other people were having a hard time, families trying to keep body and soul together on 30 cents a day.

So the Benners withdrew their funds from their savings account and bought food and clothing for families desperately in need. Shirley cooked hot meals for hungry children; she made the beds; she took the Red Cross to help the needy families until times got better.

In recent years Shirley has devoted much time to the girl scout troop being a troop leader, and to Wheelwright Methodist Church. She is a member of the church board. Two of her girl scouts were selected out of only four in Kentucky to attend the National Camp-Up this past summer in Michigan.

One of her proudest moments was when she met Betty Baden-Brewer in June, 1956. That titled Britisher's husband founded the boy-scout movement and she did the same for the girls.

Along with her other civic ventures, Shirley turned her home into a center for blood donors. Anyone needing blood had only to call her and she would line up a donor. The Benners are just plain ordinary mountain people with limited education but big hearts. They are religious, kindly, happy, and ever cheerful. No wonder Shirley has no fear of facing death.

"Already," she smiled, "I feel like I have lived a thousand years."

Get Floyd County out of Gas and Water Business

Put Floyd County in Road Building Business

Judge, why did your campaign committee omit witnesses names in their article in the last issue of this paper? THEY ARE FOUR CONFESSED BOOT-LEGGERS BY THEIR TESTIMONY UNDER OATH, and are supporting you vigorously. You do know that they have been raided several times in the past 3 1/2 years. Who is your Campaign Committee? Henry, are there any of the above four on this committee? The people of Floyd County are intelligent and fair-minded people—sign your names if you are not ashamed of them. The people like to know who a man's supporters are—just who is the committee?

In the past three weeks I have visited families on creeks all over the County and I find hundreds of children deprived of an education for want of roads. I have been to places that I would be ashamed to revisit and ask them to vote for me if I had been County Judge for 8 years and done nothing to improve their conditions. I have seen people that have paid taxes for 50 years and still have the same road they had 50 years ago. Where has your road crews been working during your 18 years in office?

Now, Judge, some of your political friends have done a good job on me. I can credit ten law suits against me and my deputies now in court. As long as a man works for this county as a deputy sheriff and does a good job I will stick with him. If he has a suit that stems from enforcing the law, it is my duty to see them through their trouble. That is why I have loyal deputies, and why they work hard for Floyd County.

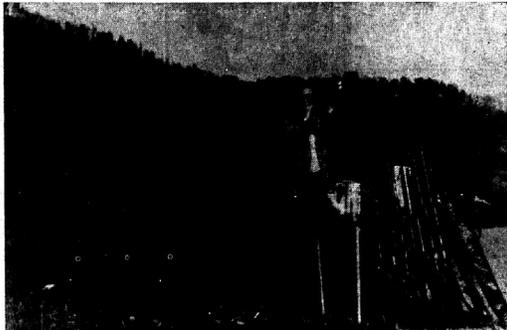

I will admit Stumbo has had a lot of experience as a Judge, 10 years as Magistrate and 8 years as County Judge. (18 in all). I would like to quote Oscar Wilde on experience. "EXPERIENCE IS THE NAME SO MANY PEOPLE GIVE TO THEIR MISTAKES."

We are at the crossroads. It is not a case of whether you are for me or against me, but whether you want LAW ENFORCEMENT in the County or want Floyd County wide open for the next 4 years—Whether you prefer Floyd County in the Gas and Water or the Road Building Business.

Vote—COLLINS FOR JUDGE.

Feature Attraction at Coming Fish Fry

Artist with shotgun, rifle and revolver in the tradition of the famed Topperweins, Floyd county's own Bobby Ranier will be a feature attraction at the Floyd County Fish and Game Club's 16th annual fish fry at DWewey State Lake Park, Oct. 20. Ranier now is in the army, stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky. His ability as a marksman and trick-shot artist first became widely known through publication last year of his story in The Floyd County Times. Ranier is here shown bursting glass pigeons with rifle bullets aimed with the aid of a mirror.

CANEY OFFERS GIFTS
 Caney Creek Community Center at Pippa Passes has already launched its vast annual Christmas program. Any school in Floyd county—and other counties, too, for that matter—will receive gifts, each tagged with the name of the child for whom it is intended. If the names of the children, sex and grade and names of their teachers are mailed to the Center. This is a program Mrs. Lloyd has carried on over the years. Hers has been a great lifetime program of giving, and the gifts have been more than mere Christmas presents.

THE CLOSED HAND
 DID you ever stop to think that you give in order to receive? To have friends, you must give.

The closed hand never gave anything but a blow—and, closed, it can receive nothing. It offers nothing, not even a crumb to the person you love best.

FABLE
 This reminds us of the wistful man who was noted for his miserliness and who called on his preacher to ask why people hated him so. "They know that when I die everything I have will go to charity," he explained.

It was then that the minister gently told him the fable of the cow and the pig. The pig was mourning the fact that he was hated while the cow was loved. "It's true," he said, "that you are kind and give milk for hungry children, and that butter is made from your milk. But look at me—I give pork chops and bacon and sausage when I die, and they even use my bristles for brushes, and they cook and eat my feet. Why is it that I am not loved?"

Then the gentle cow said, "Perhaps you should try giving something while you are still living."

Real Effort Put Forth in Classroom Shortage

Frankfort, Oct. 7 (Sp.)—School building plans approved by the State Education Department's buildings and grounds division during August "indicate real effort by school districts to meet the classroom shortage," Dr. Robert Martin, superintendent of public instruction, said.

During the month, the division reported, a new plant in Marshall county was approved and 13 additions in Breathitt, Ballard, Clark, Cumberland, Knox, Knott, Martin, Mason and McCracken counties and in Bacceland and Glasgow. Plans for improving existing plants were approved for two projects in Lexington and one in Stanford.

The division estimated the cost of these new school facilities and improvements at $97,278. The projects will provide 37 classrooms, six multipurpose rooms, two hand rooms, seven kitchens, five heating systems, one library, two lunchrooms and a number of other auxiliary facilities, such as toilets, a sewage disposal system and grading and paving, the agency said.

Copies of The Commonwealth have ways of turning up in strange places.

This week, John Matthews, of San Bernardino, California, sent us a copy of a February 21, 1945, issue which he had found folded in the hat band of a German colonel's hat, a souvenir of World War II.

Matthew writes:
 "In May of 1945 in Czechoslovakia, I shot a German Colonel. Since he wasn't going to use his cap again I picked it up on the run for a souvenir."

"The other day my son, Doug, was playing with the German's hat. He dropped it on the garage floor and this paper pushed out from under the sweat-band—you know how you put paper in a hat to make it smaller."

"I thought it was a German paper naturally and picked it up to look it over. I saw it was printed in English and almost fell over when I saw the heading and date line."

"Apparently the German Colonel had taken the paper from an American G. I. who was being sent the Commonwealth and used it to make a new hat smaller so that it would fit. . . . It certainly is a small world!"

60 Mare Creek	Democrats	177	Republicans	62
61 Tinker	Democrats	286	Republicans	29
		3,197		1,045

Democratic Majority—1,152.

Up to and including September 7th, 1957, registered Democrats 404 and Republicans 187, making a new majority of the recently registered of 267.

The Democratic majority now stands at 15,768. The above listing completes all the precincts in Floyd county, district by district. It certainly will take a lot of crossing by Democrats to elect a Republican. The Democrats did elect Gorman Collins sheriff in 1953, and he has done nothing but to annoy the Democratic party ever since, and is NOW at it again. He has been a thorn in our party ever since, so let's rid ourselves of this man once and for all time. Through his efforts practically every Democrat, if not all, have been given opposition by him. Every candidate, both Republicans and Democrats, when they filed for office took an oath that they believed in their party and its principles and that they would support or intend to support it and that if nominated would accept the nomination and would not withdraw. Now, Gordon Collins, a brother of Gorman Collins, was nominated for County Judge, but resigned his nomination for business reasons as stated by him, but he had the same business reasons before the primary that he had after. What is behind this sudden change?

It will be a sad day for the Democratic party should they elect Gorman Collins, County Judge. He is using every effort at his command to destroy our party and create confusion in it. Beware of a wolf in sheep's clothing.

We respectfully submit this information for your consideration.

See Crosby and Sinatra On Edsel Show, Sunday

Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra, two of the nation's outstanding entertainers, will be united for the first time in a live television show over the CBS network, Sunday night, October 13, in the "Edsel Show," presented through the courtesy of Music-Colvin Motor Co., of Prestonsburg, Edsel Dealer, and 1500 other Edsel dealers in the country. The show will be seen from 7 to 8 p.m., Eastern time.

The "Edsel Show" is destined to be one of the most impressive television spectacles arranged for the 1957-58 season, Music-Colvin Motor Company said.

One of the main attractions on the show will be a sequence featuring Bing Crosby, and Frank Sinatra who were teamed together in the popular movie, "High Society."

"The entire all-star musical show, is an entertainment milestone," said Music-Colvin Motor Co. "And it is appropriate that for such a historic 'television first' that we will be able to present America's newest automobile on television for the first time in such a spectacular atmosphere."

Forming the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Burke were Mrs. Fred L. Dickerson, Mrs. Heber Burke, Mrs. Delmas Saunders, Mrs. Clarence Logan, of Ashland. During the afternoon more than 100 friends and relatives called to wish Mr. and Mrs. Burke the very best and to extend their congratulations on their 50th anniversary.

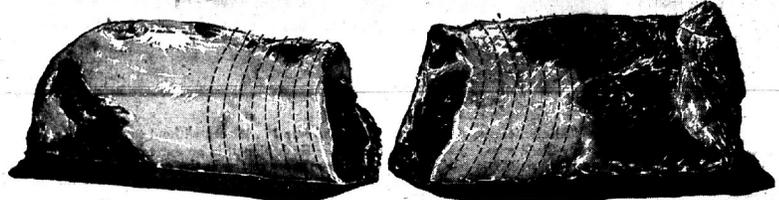

Entertainment throughout the afternoon was furnished by talented vocalists and musicians. Mrs. L. D. Fairchild and Mrs. Robert Brantman sang several selections accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Luther Shivel, who played during the afternoon. Mrs. Shivel sang a very appropriate congratulatory song to Mr. and Mrs. Burke. Mrs. George T. Roberts accompanied her at the piano.

At 5 o'clock Misses Mary and Jeannette Jasper, of Van Lear, gave a music program, with Paul Fairchild at the piano.

The refreshment table was beautiful with its cover of white Quaker lace, centered with a silver tiered golden wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Branched silver centerpieces held yellow candles set on either side. Silver trays of golden wedding cakes, golden wedding bell mints, nuts and pecans and coffee were served by Mrs. Sophia Fairchild, Van Lear, of 5th Street, and Mrs. Scott Goffley at the coffee urn.

Highlight of the afternoon's reception was the appreciation song which was sung by Mrs. Beckley with Mrs. Burke at his side, revealing his love to his friends on earth and promise of a golden day to follow. Each guest was presented a souvenir of the occasion by Mr. Burke, which was a book of poems written by him. Mr. and Mrs. Burke were remembered by their friends with presentations of gold china, linens, and miscellaneous presents. Howls for the reception were their children, Ed and Mrs. Heber Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Heber Burke, Mr. and Mrs. John Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Dickerson, Mrs. J. J. & S. J. Dickerson, Mich., their eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Oct. 7 (Sp.)—Three Floyd county students at Pikeville college will help to publish THE RECORD, Pikeville student newspaper, in its 27th year.

Historic Sites To Be Marked By Committee

By Charles F. Hinds

Twenty-three new historic sites were selected to be marked by the Kentucky Historic Highway Markers Committee in its last meeting at the Old State House.

The sites include: Falls of the Ohio at Louisville; Jephtha's Knob, a volcanic-erupted plateau in Shelby county; the Greenburg courthouse in Green county, built in 1803 and said to be the oldest courthouse building still standing in Kentucky.

Contrary to what many Kentuckians think, the first legislative session of the Commonwealth of Kentucky was held in Danville not in Frankfort, but in Lexington.

Graham Says New York Crusade Shows Time Ripe For Religious Revival

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK — Now that the stress and the stir is over, Billy Graham can look back on his New York crusade, the largest single evangelistic venture in recorded history, and size up what he sees as its implication for America.

"I believe God has given us a moment in history," he said. "It is a time of opportunity and harvest for Christianity."

The evangelist has had most of a month of seclusion at his home in Montreal, N. C., to reflect on the summing-up of his New York crusade to hear the Gospel. He said he does "a lot of thinking" about what it all means.

In retrospect, Graham said there are vital lessons to be gained. In all, attendance at the 16-week crusade totaled more than two million, with costs running nearly three million dollars, and about 30,000 making "decisions for Christ" which led up to the biggest, most expensive, longest consecutive, evangelistic drive known.

High Enrollment Reported At UK

The University of Kentucky has recorded for the second consecutive year an all-time high fall enrollment.

This figure represents an increase of 689 students over the record of 12,525 set last year, according to Dr. Charles F. Elton, UK dean of admissions and registrar.

The 6,704 includes all persons registering for credit on the campus in Lexington, as well as at the Northern Center in Covington and at the Ashland Center. A breakdown of the total figure shows 7,629 students on the campus, 720 at the Northern Center and 445 in Ashland.

WEEKSBURY

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rickard and children, of Pikeville, visited Mr. Rickard's mother, Mrs. Susie Crayman, and Mr. and Mrs. John Barnett, Sunday.

Mrs. Sheila Mallett and daughter, Paula, who have been living in Wharton, W. Va., have returned to Weeksbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Dock Prater and Joan and Paul Edward, of Stockdale, Ohio, spent the weekend in Weeksbury visiting their daughter, Mrs. Orville Blevins, and Mr. Blevins and sons, Ray and Douglas.

Retarded Children Gain $3,426, Auction Result, Council Chairman Says

Bert T. Combs, chairman of the Floyd County Council for Retarded Children, said this week that the net result of the auction was $3,426.

This local contribution will make the council eligible for further aid from funds raised by the Crusade for Children staged last week in the Courier-Journal and Times and WHAS, Louisville.

Special mention of help to the radio auction was made this week, citing employees of the Inland Steel Company, Wheelwright, for their contribution of $800, and Mrs. Dora Stephens, of Radio Station WFRF, for her work in making the event a success.

Did Mr. Moore Meet His Responsibility?

"All elections must be free and equal and fair . . . It goes without saying that an incumbent County Clerk, who is a candidate for office, finds himself in an extremely high position of trust and responsibility . . . We think there is even more reason in the case before us . . . to require those in charge of the absentee ballots, the appellant and her deputies, to show that the balloting was conducted legally, and that all requirements of the law to ensure its fairness, at least, were met substantially."

Those are excerpts from the opinion delivered by the Court of Appeals last week in upholding the Monroe county circuit court in its rejection of an entire batch of absentee ballots when it was shown that absentee-ballot frauds were widespread in the county.

The clerk of Monroe county is a woman, but the absentee balloting there was of a pattern so similar to Floyd county's in the May primary that every Floyd county voter who believes in honesty and fair play and the responsibility of our elected officials should have a copy of the record of the voting there and of the Appellate Court's opinion, so that they might make an accurate comparison of the methods followed in Monroe to those used in the County Clerk's race in Floyd last May.

How many of the thinking people of Floyd believe that County Clerk DuRan Moore of Floyd county handled the absentee voting at the last primary so that the election was "free and equal and fair"?

Why did DuRan Moore order three sets of Ballot box keys when the law allows only one set? Why did DuRan Moore, Clerk, in violation of the law keep these keys in his possession until (one Election Commissioner stated under oath) the day before the election? Why did the Floyd County Election Commissioners refuse to tabulate and count some 80 absentee ballots? Their reason was on account of irregularities and fraud, as stated in The Floyd County Times.

Does a County Clerk who accepts his office as a position of "extremely high . . . trust and responsibility" permit any one person to take out, or to receive by mail or otherwise, 15 or 20 ballots to be voted by absentees? Testimony in the case of Meade vs. Moore stated under oath that one man received 14 or 15 such ballots.

If a County Clerk is aware of his position of trust and responsibility and wants a free and equal and fair election such as the Court of Appeals calls for, would he send ballots out to his Deputy Clerks? Why not send them to the person who proposed to use the ballot—the voter himself?

Why do you suppose that an honorable citizen such as A. L. (Dock) Prater, of Lackey, was disfranchised by an absentee ballot being voted by somebody who used his name, without his knowledge or consent? Mr. Prater stated in an affidavit that he first learned this had happened when he went to the precinct and called for his ballot.

Would you be willing for the blame to be thrown onto some "Little" fellow out in the precinct and to say that the man in charge of the ballots was innocent?

Do you think that absentees' hearts just naturally grow fonder of DuRan Moore to the exclusion of any other candidate? See what a vote he received from the absentees . . . those who lived elsewhere and those who never left the county to vote by that method . . .

For Moore—190. For Meade—71. For Howard—37. Must a law be made air-tight to get an official of our county to do this right and the honorable thing? We ask you these questions, because we feel that now is the time when people should do some serious thinking about this matter.

The highest court in this state has said that it should be the responsibility of the County Clerk to show that the balloting was conducted legally. Were these methods that were used in the primary last May legal? Let's have an end of this tightrope-walking with the law. In the name of decency in government, in law and order, let us elect as County Court Clerk at the November 5th election a young woman who did not "cut her teeth on politics" and who will give every citizen and every candidate his full due.

AUCTION 377 ACRE FARM TO BE SOLD IN TWO TRACTS The R. C. and Mary M. Gatewood Home Place SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12 At 10:00 A.M. (C.S.T.) Slow Time Location: Spencer Road, one mile Southwest of Mt. Sterling, Ky. This is one of the best located and most fertile farms in this vicinity. "Mr. Bob" Gatewood was a greatly respected and admired farmer and business man. This was his home place and he gave it his very best personal attention. Many hundreds of cattle have been grazed and fed out on this farm, thereby enriching the soil and adding to its already great natural fertility. Every acre of this farm is either in old Blue Grass sod or sowed to Blue Grass. The Blue Grass is abundant and the farm is amply supplied with water. This farm is truly one of Montgomery County's BEST. The home tract contains 203.52 acres and the other tract 174.12 acres. Improvements consist of a lovely old home of 8 rooms and basement, with two baths, running water and furnace heat. Carriage house in yard. The home is situated in a setting of great natural beauty, overlooking the surrounding country side. Also has an extra good nearly new #4 by 72 ft. Barn, on concrete foundation, with Sile and Strippling Room. A large granary, and machinery shed, and numerous outbuildings, on the Home residence tract. The other tract has a 4-room house and a 6-room house and an unusually good 122 x 48 foot tobacco barn, plus several outbuildings. TOBACCO allotment totals 7.83 acres, with 424 acres on the home tract and 3.61 acres on other tract. TERMS: 10% day of sale, balance to be paid with deed not later than January 1, 1958. ASC ELECTION DATE, NOV. 29 of-way would not cost the city more than $3,400, including removal of power and telephone lines from the second street fill where the protection construction would center.

In addition to the easements that must be procured at local expense, $25,000 must be raised locally before the Huntington office, U. S. Corps of Engineers, will advertise for bids. November 1 has been talked as the date for such advertising.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said last Friday he had accepted the $4,000 offered him for easements over his property, but Mayor Harry Sandage insisted that statement was made after he had informed Fitzpatrick that the Council had authorized him to offer him no more than $1,100. Mr. Fitzpatrick's statement follows:

"In the beginning I thought any decision I would make would be based on criticism because I own my own right the place where the flood control project would be constructed and also a one-half interest in property on Court street that is affected by these floods.

"It was my suggestion from the beginning that inquired or agreed. $50 appraisals appraise the property and establish the value. This suggestion was not followed. I was first told that condemnation suit would be filed if I could not agree to the price offered by the Council of its representatives. A $4,000 offer was made by one who, I presume, represented the Council, but still desiring not to use my own judgment as to the value of the property I insisted on an impartial agreed-on appraisement."

"Because the Council has felt it should not employ such appraisers, it is my conclusion that to end the confusion and proceed the good of the city that I accept the offer of Mayor Harry Sandage of $4,000 as the price of the property."

Next Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 WSAS-TV at Huntington is making a special broadcast for the Louisville Fine Council. See Scouts of America, in the interest of the annual Finance Campaign which will be launched October 21.

Among those featured on the program will be W. J. Baird, Pikeville attorney who is serving as campaign chairman; Judge Bert Conner, Prestonsburg, campaign chairman; B. E. G. Hazard, honorary president of the council; H. O. Zimmerman, Wheelwright chairman of the Council's 100 Club; B. F. Reed, of Drib, finance chairman, for the Council, and other Scouters from the Council.

Barbourville To Turn History's Pages Back; Cherokeses Will Help

More than 12,000 people are expected to see another Daniel Boone Festival this coming Friday and Saturday, October 11-12, when Barbourville turns back the pages of history 175 years and re-enacts colonial life for two days.

Highlighting the festival will be the annual pioneer parade to begin at 1 p.m. (E.S.T.) on Saturday afternoon. Seeking to capture frontier life in all stages, the march will include covered wagons, yokes of oxen, Indians, the frontier school, and many modern innovations. Aubrey Chestnut, parade chairman, has scheduled high school bands from many sections of Eastern Kentucky who will compete for the $100 prize and trophy with $50 and $25 going to the second and third place winners.

Fifty Cherokee Indians from the Qualla Reservation, Cherokee, N. C., will arrive in Barbourville on Friday afternoon for the signing of the historic Cane Treaty at the annual Indian Feast that is to begin at 8 p.m. in the Barbourville high school gymnasium.

That night there will be the selection of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Boone, the telling of authentic folk tales by Dr. Leonard Robinson, native Floyd countyman, who is president of the Kentucky Folklore Society and professor at Union College; a minuet by Mr. and Mrs. John Lehnberger, professional dancers, and ballad singing by college and high school students. The Cherokeses from the high school group will end the program with native dances.

Square dance teams from Stuart Robinson high and Sue Beaheth College will perform downtown that evening.

Saturday morning's program includes contests in hog calling, husband calling, muzzel loading, and husking bees. Department store windows will present a million-dollar antique display sponsored by the civic clubs and local citizens.

Today the National Park System administers 182 parks, monuments and other historic sites in the United States.

Some heir looms can cast an obliterating shadow on X-Ray pictures when not washed off before an X-ray of the head is taken.

Mr. Lafferty added that persons who desire further information concerning the election should contact the county ASC office or write the state ASC office at Mill and Second streets, Lexington for a detailed set of ASC election instructions.

V. A. Smiley and Family Deserve Your Support

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

We, the members of the Committee that has recently been formed for the purpose of promoting the election of V. A. "Varney" Smiley for Jailer of this County, take this means of letting the people know who he is, how he stands as to Honesty, Sobriety, Morality and all the assets required of a good citizen in the community in which he lives.

The best way to find out about any man is from his neighbors and the people who know him best, and that is what we want you to do in this case. We feel that it is the duty of every citizen to make a diligent inquiry about any candidate before casting their vote and in this case we have no doubt but that you will gladly vote for Varney Smiley. We have known Mr. Smiley and his wonderful family for a number of years and know of no one who NEBS and DE-SERVES the office more than he. Many of you people do not know Varney personally for the reason that you do not have the opportunity to see him often, because you will either find him at home with his family or at his work, for he has no time to loaf.

We doubt if there has ever been many men in this county who have asked the people to vote for them for office that have borne the hardships and obstacles that he has encountered. He has never been a strong man physically, has had several major operations, but some way or other he has managed to rear and educate this family of sixteen children. Varney has always conducted himself in such a way that whenever he needed help he had no trouble getting it. It is the intention of this committee to do our best to acquaint the people with the facts in this case and that is what we intend to do between now and the election. We do not think that politics has any bearing whatever in this case, for we know when the good people of this county make up their minds to do a thing, they always do it and LET'S NOT FAIL THIS GOOD MAN.

It would be fine if you all could visit his home and see how manly and neat all the children are and the cleanliness of the house, and have the pleasure of meeting and talking to his good wife. We know you wonder how they have managed to get along, but his wife has managed to get along on this. We have noticed that the boys will be selling papers, shing shoes or doing any kind of work that is honorable as soon as they are large enough to do so in order to help the rest of the family. But bear in mind that this is done before and after school hours. They have never neglected their education. They have all made top grades from kindergarten through college. This family is loved and respected by all who know them.

Varney was born and reared in the Prater Creek section of the county, is the son of the late A. L. Smiley, and his mother was an Akers. He is related to most all of the families in the Mud Creeks and eastern part of the county and many of his relatives are scattered to all parts of the county. His wife is the daughter of Sherrod and Cordelia Stewart Spradlin who both reside in Prestonsburg. Her grandfather was the late Henry Stewart, her grandmother was a Martin and her great-grandmother was a Turner from Left Beaver Creek. You can see that the relationship of this fine couple numbers in the thousands and live in all parts of the county. But we do not ask you to vote for this good man because of this fine relationship. We ask you to vote for him for what he is, what he has meant to this community and county and for the fine example that he and his family have set for the future of your boys and girls.

We beg you to make a thorough investigation of this matter before casting your vote, and go to the polls and cast a vote that you will always be proud of, knowing that you have done something to make things just a bit easier for this good man and his family. DO NOT FAIL AT THIS OPPORTUNITY TIME.

rescue contest followed three days of mine-rescue and first-aid demonstrations at the Kentucky State Fairgrounds. Teams from seven states competed.

The contests were sponsored jointly by the United States Bureau of Mines and the United Mine Workers and the coal industry.

The first-place Lynch team received Congressional medals presented by the Bureau of Mines and trophies presented by the Mine Workers Union at a banquet in the Sheraton-Seelbach hotel.

Second and third-place trophies were presented by the National Coal Association and Mine Safety Appliances Company.

Competing in the mine-rescue contest were five teams from Kentucky, two from West Virginia and one from Pennsylvania.

The Wounding Mine first-aid team of Island Creek Coal Company, Holden, W. Va., was awarded top honors in the national first-aid competition.

Second was Robena No. 2 Mine, U. S. Steel Corporation, Pick District, Uniontown, Pa. Third was Georgetown No. 12 Mine, Hanna Coal Company division of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company, Cadiz, Ohio.

Winner of a combination first-aid and mine-rescue contest was Pick District Mine, U. S. Steel, Uniontown, Pa.

In Martin county, where interest in a health department was spurred by the discovery by state health workers in a school of a teacher infected by tuberculosis, Sheldon Clark, superintendent of county schools, is campaign manager for the health tax. Marlowe (skin) tests made by health workers after the teacher was found to be infected revealed that 40 percent of the pupils gave a positive reaction.

The race that has thus shaped up between Howell and Martin is for the unexpired term of the late Senator Doug Hoyt, of McDowell. Mr. Howell was nominated by the district Democratic executive committee.

Meanwhile, printing of the ballots is held up as a special judge to hear the suit for declaratory judgment filed by Mr. Martin last week will not arrive here till Thursday. The case will be heard this afternoon (Thursday) by Special Judge Martin Rider, of Frankfort.

If Judge Rider rules that names of the Senatorial candidates shall appear on the regular November ballot, the ballots will be printed without the Senatorial candidates' names at first, in order for ballots to be received by the County Clerk in time for absenteees to receive would be reprinted to include the names of the Senatorial candidates.

Supporters of Howell claim that, since he is the Democratic nominee, his name belongs with the other Democratic nominees. Martin claims that a special ballot is needed for the special election and that the re-printing procedure suggested or planned would be unfair to him, expensive and impractical.

The Indomitable Spirit of Alice G. Lloyd of The Ganey Creek Community Center Marches On To Fame

On Sunday, September 29, 1937, in the afternoon in my home and while hearing the voices of many of the Alumni over the radio, a vivid thought came to my mind of the indomitable spirit and perseverance of that wonderful, grand old lady, Alice G. Lloyd, who has spent more than forty years of her eighty among these tough, rugged hills of eastern Kentucky in an effort to polish the diamonds that are these boys and girls who live here among these sacred hills.

I know that it was with a determination and a persevering spirit that placed her behind that old Oliver typewriter in an effort to raise funds in order that the light might shine in that community as it had never done before. That old typewriter should be more mighty to her students than a two-edged sword. It should be very sacred to each of them for the good it has done for them. This grand and aged lady has brought better living conditions and fame among her students who have gone into all parts of the United States and professionally they are making their mark among men. I can imagine seeing many boys and girls trudging their way over those hills in an honest effort and who were hungry to enter that school, many stantly clothed, with a few books, no money, but with a determination to fit their hearts to something in this world worthwhile. She has made many parents happy through their children who otherwise would never had an opportunity worthwhile of had their just chance in life.

The writer knows all about hardships of the mountain boys and girls. He has been one himself, walking many miles to old log school-houses with a few books, sometimes with only one. All the mountain boys and girls need is an opportunity to show their worth and what they can do when the opportunity presents itself. It is only by reflection that we derive a just appreciation of the value of perseverance. When we see how much can be accomplished in any given direction by man or woman but of average ability who resolutely perseveres in the course or action, adopted

HENRY REPLIED... BUT GAVE NO ANSWERS!

Now, Henry, the smoke screen you put out called Stumbo Answers has blown away and the questions are still unanswered. I'm afraid your Ghost Writer may be interested in protecting himself more than anyone else. His article titled Stumbo Answers was camouflage and evasion. The questions are still unanswered.

Yes, Henry, I have read the record. Here is what it says in reference to the obligation of the county.

Page 258 Section 9 order book 6, "It is the intention of this order and resolution that the bonds herein authorized shall be considered to be issued by and to be the obligation of the County of Floyd.

Section 8 of the order you signed reads:

"If there be any default in payment of the principal or interest on any of said bonds then upon filing of a suit by any bondholder of said bonds or any of the coupons any court having jurisdiction of the action may appoint a receiver to administer said project on behalf of the county." This was written by Louisville and Cincinnati lawyers. This document may be found on Page 256 order book 6 is provided that the county will even insure the property against fire, windstorm, and other calamities. In Section 7 page 257 the county covenants and agrees by the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Kentucky including THE MAKING AND COLLECTING OF REASONABLE AND SUFFICIENT RATES.

I leave the above to the judgment of the Voters—and not to Henry and his background.

I regret the necessity of having to ask the same questions over and over, but it seems to me like the Judge just don't want you and me to know the answers to these simple, easy fair questions that every taxpayer is interested in.

(1) Who originated the idea of the county going into the gas and water business in the first place.

(2) Who made the profit of approximately $62,500 on the Wayland deal?

(3) Who made the profit of $33,000 on Allen-Dwale?

(4) Who reaped the big profit on the Garrett-Bosco deal of approximately $35,000?

(5) Who set the interest rate at 5% Judge and then allows a 10% discount on the bonds.

(6) Who reaped the big profit on the Weeksbury junk deal of approximately $22,000?

Henry Stumbo says that no one put up $5,000 to keep the water and gas system out of the red. I say they did and for that information I am indebted to a newstory in the Floyd County Times and to the audit report of Allen & Hager who noted it when it was made. Somebody put $5,000 in the system to make it show a profit. Even the auditors didn't know, the officers of the system do not know where the money came from. Maybe Santa Claus did it. We want to know who donated $5,000 to the sick gas and water outfits just before election?

In his so-called answer Judge Stumbo says: "I am sure the records will not disclose that I at any time ever received one dime by reason of the purchase of the Water & Gas System. . . I have never said the records disclosed it, but I have said, and I'll say again, somebody got plenty.

The people of this water and gas districts will contribute one-half million dollars of their purchasing power in the next 30 years to the New York bond holders. Many Floyd county families will suffer the deprivation due to these excessive rates. All the business of Floyd county will lose this extra purchasing power. Judge Stumbo says he spent $1,500 to defend consulting the people of this county, then he would not have had to spend the people's money to defend the county.

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALE
FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT

Everett Hamilton & Plaintiff
Vs. NOTICE OF SALE
Wm. (Bill) Hamilton & Defendant

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered and entered at the above styled case I will proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 21st day of October 1937, at 10 o'clock a.m., same being the first day of the regular term of the Floyd County Court, upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

(a) Mineral rights conveyed by E. V. Hamilton and Della Hamilton by deed dated August 9, 1927, recorded in Deed Book 75, at page 507, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office.

(b) Mineral rights conveyed by Bill Hamilton and Millie Jane Hamilton to Rhoda Hamilton and Wm. Hamilton, Sr. by deed dated February 19, 1913, recorded in Deed Book 54 at page 249, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office.

(c) Mineral rights conveyed by Everett Hamilton and Francis Hamilton to Wm. Hamilton, Sr. by deed dated July 21, 1919, recorded in Deed Book 54 at page 558 Floyd county Court Clerk's office.

(d) Mineral rights conveyed by Everett Hamilton and Wm. Hamilton, Sr. by deed dated July 21, 1919, recorded in Deed Book 55 at page 565 Floyd County Court Clerk's office.

(e) Mineral rights conveyed by Wm. Newsoms and others to Wm. Hamilton, Sr. by deed dated April 28, 1922, recorded in Deed Book 61 at page 317 Floyd County Court Clerk's office.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien related upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Given under my hand this 1st day of October, 1937.

Capitol Notebook

If you are interested in gaining national recognition for major events in your community, please call Capitol Notebook about them.

The State Department of Public Relations compiles each year a Kentucky Calendar of Events which is sent to national magazines, newspapers, radio and television stations.

The agency would like to include in the Calendar major civic and sports events, fairs, pageants, and festivals in your community. So if you want the big doings in your community to receive this wide publicity, please send us a list of them with location and dates. We are interested in events covering the period January-December, 1958. Address: Capitol Notebook, Ky. Dept. of Public Relations, Frankfort, Ky.

GALA OCCASION

Indians and pioneers galore will be thronging the streets of Louisville, Oct. 11-12 during the city's annual Daniel Boone Festival.

The affair commemorates the opening of the Kentucky frontier by the White Man, led by Daniel Boone. The Indians will be on hand to sign his historic Cane Treaty, by which the Red Man was given the privilege of gathering cane from nearby brakes.

They'll be real Indians too, from Qualla Indian Reservation, Cherokee, N. C. The Cheeroys will stage a pageant and arrow shooting contest along with blow gun races. An Indian feast banquet will be held.

The public square will ring with fiddle music as square dancers swing into action and the blare of the trumpet as a parade marches through town.

About 10,000 persons may be expected to attend, if past festivals are any indication.

GOOD NIGHT, NUREE

If you happen to be in Louisville Oct. 16-18 and come upon a group of nurses, don't think some dignitary, possibly the mayor, has fainted and is receiving first aid.

The Kentucky State Association of Registered Nurses will be holding its meeting there along with the Association of Student Nurses. From 500 to 700 registered nurses and 150 to 200 student nurses are expected.

A lot of thermometer welders, that. Their theme will be "the human touch."

RECOLLECTIONS

I recall when mothers had children wear a silver coin around their necks to stop noselbleed and when it was believed a rooster's crow at the next door meant you were going to have company. I am a native of Floyd county—Mrs. Marie Salisbury Little, Plainwell, Mich.

I recall the school I went to at Sumpter, Ky., Wayne county, and the slates we used instead of paper and the Friday spelling matches that we looked forward to all week — Maude Marsh Crouch, Uniontown, Ky.

This column invites similar short items of Kentucky folklore. Contributors will be sent a free issue of In Kentucky Magazine. Address: Recollections, Ky. Dept. of Public Relations, Frankfort, Ky.)

WEEKSBURY

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Jesse entertained directors of the Beaver valley Kiwanis Club to dinner Tuesday, September 24. Those enjoying their hospitality were: H. F. Zimmerman, H. M. Wilkinson, Rex Gessner, Clifford Aders, Paul Linkous, F. T. Conley, Joe Peraino, Bill Harris, Walter Cummings, Rev. James Kirk, Roy Gibson, Robert Girman, Robert Smith.

Mrs. John Barnett attended a shower given in honor the daughter, Mrs. Jim Hall, in Paintsville Thursday.

Weeksbury Boy Scout Troop No. 55 held a Court of Honor, Sept. 24, at the school building. The following boys received their second-class badges: Bobby Sneed, Gary Scales, Gary Vlears, Douglas Sward, Roger Hughes, Elmer Fraley, Tommy Reop, Bobby Fraley, Jesse Reop, and Carlos Blankenship.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pultz attended the wedding of Miss Oreta Gay Lafferty and Mr. Jim Osborne, September 26, at the bride's home near Bypro.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCoy were in Pikeville Friday attending the Pikeville-Wheelwright football game.

Miss Goldie Green entertained a group of friends with a Stanley party, September 25.

The Weeksbury Christian church is holding a revival this week. Rev. Benny Blankenship is the local pastor.

The Melvin Plurim Holness church begins a revival Sunday, October 6 with Rev. Leonard Bowling of Oak Hill, Ohio as the evangelist. Services begin at 7 p.m.

Telephone Talk

by H. D. HAYES
 Your Telephone Manager

GOOD QUARTERBACKING—Thinking about the football season just ahead, it occurred to me that making a Long Distance call is like a good play on the field. When you know the signals—you call by number and your call goes through faster. Also, knowing the right play helps a lot. For instance, often a station-to-station call will serve your purpose just as well as a person-to-person call and is much cheaper. You can save still more by placing your call in the end zone—that's nights after 6 or anytime Sunday. Yessir, you'll come out ahead when you know the signals—call by number—call station-to-station—call after 6 or Sundays.

OPERATION ALERT—Here, as in other small communities, we don't worry too much about enemy attacks and bombings. Today, this country has a Civil Defense system designed to warn us in the event of sudden danger. Part of this system was made available by telephone companies. If disaster should come, these facilities will be aided by every exchange of the Bell System and of the 4,700 independent telephone companies in the nation. In minutes, warnings, instructions, decisions would flow wherever needed. Telephone folks everywhere are proud to be a part of it.

BUNGALOW OR MANSION—We have a tailor-made telephone service plan for you—all the phones you need in colors that please you. Most plans can be furnished at less additional cost than you are now paying for your main telephone. How often have you heard someone in your house say: "If I just didn't have to run all over the house to answer the phone." That's why I thought you'd be glad to know we've a plan for your special telephone convenience. Why not give us a buzz for details?

Waterfield Says More Home Rule Is Sought Cities

Frankfort, Oct. 1 (Sp.) — The state is working for more home rule for its citizens, Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield recently told members of the Kentucky Municipal League's 25th annual conference at Cumberland Falls State Park.

Also under consideration, continued Waterfield, is the creation of a pool of experts who would be available as technical consultants to cities on engineering, financing and other municipal problems.

The pool would be similar to the Tennessee Municipal Technical Advisory Service, the Lt. Governor said.

Regarding home rule Waterfield said, "We in Kentucky have failed to come to grips with one of the basic governmental problems. That is, 'What can state government do to remove unnecessary restrictions on local governments?'"

The Legislative Research Commission is working with University of Kentucky staff members on this problem, Waterfield said. "I hope we can come up with some proposals for home rule for cities."

"In 1920, approximately 36.3 per cent of our population was urban," he added, "but by 1950 the percentage has risen to 56.3 and continues to rise. Our cities must be prepared to handle a considerable influx of people." Waterfield concluded.

Migrants Harvest Sugar Beets

Denver — Sugar-beet farms in 23 states from Ohio to the Pacific annually employ 35,000 native American migrant workers.

Fire Pumps Used 500 Years Ago

London—Hand pumps for fighting fires came into use in the 18th Century along with bucket brigades to carry water.

Farm Production Climbs

Washington — American farmers produced about 40 per cent more goods in 1956 than in 1940.

LABAN JACKSON SPEAKS TO CONSERVATIONISTS

Frankfort, Oct. 1 (Sp.) — State Conservation Commissioner Laban P. Jackson was the keynote speaker of the 14th annual convention of the Kentucky Association of Soil Conservation Districts at Kentucky Dam State Park.

Commissioner Jackson told the group his department is assisting with the watershed development, tourist industry, forestry program, and numerous other activities which will benefit the Commonwealth.

"Field men with our Division of Flood Control are working to rush inspection of 141 watersheds that have applied for help. We expect to continue the extra planning crew that Governor Chandler provided money for," he said.

"You also know it has been our policy to make the most of our tourist industry—because that is what it has become in this state—entirely only by tobacco. We are doing a $500,000,000 tourist business here each year," Jackson continued.

"Regarding forestry, we will produce 15 million seedlings this year and hope to develop into a production of 50 million. Fire protection is another important

The $64,000 Question

Gormon Collins, the Republican candidate for County Judge, wants to engage in a question and answer campaign. The following list of questions and answers was taken from an actual case against a former deputy sheriff on trial in the Floyd Circuit Court on a charge of accepting a bribe. This is an actual court record of a trial on November 26, 1956.

"TESTIMONY OF WITNESS NO. 1:

"Q-15 Go ahead.

A- We came down to _____ place, more or less a bootlegging joint, and we went in the back; she had a little room in the back where she sold beer and stuff, and he told us that he wanted to explain what protection we would get and that Gormon Collins sent him out and he told us if we didn't believe he was the kind of man he was saying he was, and we all decided that he was all right."

"Q-25 Did you get what was promised you, protection?

A- Yes, sir. I never was bothered by the county sheriff."

"Q-114 I want to ask you a further question. You tell the jury that as you went along bootlegging there, on up, maybe, a year or a little over a year, or something like that without being bothered. What happened there? Did you finally quit bootlegging or what happened?

A- No, I was still in the business. Something went wrong some way. _____, he told me that _____ said _____."

TESTIMONY OF WITNESS NO. 2:

"Q-17 What did he say to you?

A- He wanted to know if I wanted in on the pay-off and I commenced talking to him and I told him I did not understand it, and—and he told me then that Mr. Collins had them out collecting for him; that it wasn't going to him but was going to Mr. Collins and he told me, he said: "Looks like you can pay as much as $10.00 a week and sell on and if you don't, you will have to quit."

"Q-20 Now, did you get that protection?

A- Well, I got it up until the first Monday after Christmas.

"Q-21 Did something happen then?

A- The man that was collecting, he said he wouldn't be around anymore.

"Q-29 Did you pay _____?

A- Yes, sir. He said he would put my name down so Mr. Collins would know who it was coming from."

TESTIMONY OF WITNESS NO. 3:

"Q-3 Tell the jury what connections you had along that line, if any.

A- Well, I paid the defendant $20.00 a week to operate my place of business at East Point.

"Q-9 Why did you pay him $20.00 a week?

A- Well, he just said it would furnish protection from the sheriff's force.

"Q-10 Well, did it?

A- Well, I never was bothered by the sheriff's force after that.

"Q-11 Was that in Floyd county, Kentucky?

A- Yes, sir."

TESTIMONY OF WITNESS NO. 4:

"Q-7 What was the line of his conversation?

A- The only time that he ever had any conversation was the first time and he just told me if I stayed in business I would have to pay off, and the other times was when I would stop and buy gas off of him."

It is in order for Mr. Collins to answer these questions for the people of this county:

1. Who hired the attorneys to defend this former deputy?
2. How were these lawyers paid?
3. Why did you, Mr. Collins, advise with this man and consult with him and his attorneys during this trial?
4. Why would you be interested in this man if he had made false statements about you?
5. Where did the money come from that was used to defend a deputy for killing a man on the streets of Prestonsburg?

When you were a candidate for sheriff, Mr. Collins, you said this in the Floyd County Times on September 10, 1958.

"The taxpayers of this county have been paying a big price for the results they have been getting. The Sheriff's office pays enough money in fees for collecting taxes and fees for all other services that it performs to be able to maintain a good force of officers and pay them a fair salary. It pays enough to give the people good law enforcement and still be able to turn money back into the county treasury."

1. How much money have you turned back into the County Treasury?
2. How much did the Sheriff's office cost you?
3. How did you get this money back?

The past Grand Jury in its report dated September 27, 1957, had this to say about the way you conducted your office.

"We have questioned some 225 witnesses and returned approximately 142 indictments and during our investigations we questioned numerous witnesses, including deputy sheriffs and find that there is still a great deal of law violations and bootlegging going on in Floyd county. During our investigation we discovered that the Sheriff of Floyd county has in his possession a large quantity of alcohol beverages and we believe that since the law requires an officer to execute a search warrant to seize and take possession of the articles found and deliver them unto the Court, stating the search warrant and this failing to have done, we feel that this Court should see that the said liquor and beer is legally disposed of."

What is your answer to this charge by the Grand Jury?
The people want to know, Mr. Collins. They are looking for your answers to these questions.

CATS DOWN PIKEVILLE
FRIDAY NIGHT, 33-0

Prestonsburg's Blackcat overcame the inexperienced Pikeville Panthers 33-0 Friday night for their first win on the Pikeville field in at least eight years. On the second play of the fray, halfback Joe Jack Harris scampered 66 yards to pay-dirt to begin the rout.
Seven plays later fullback James Allen, who shows great promise in his sophomore season, went 46 yards off-tackle for a 42-pointer. Halfback Tommy Harmon and Paul Philip Hughes at the quarter back post each registered a marker in the second frame on seven-and-a-half yard jumps.
Coach John Griggs played his entire squad in the final half and the Blackcats could muster only one scoring drive, with James Allen moving in from 18 yards out.
The Big-Three of Eastern Kentucky high school football—Jenkins, Fleming and Bellevue—continued their winning ways on the gridiron over the past week-end as all competed to fairly satisfactory. Nick Diachenko's substitute Cavaliers finally scored the passing of Elkhorn City's Delbert Justice and broke a 15-12 halftime deadlock to move into a 39-19 triumph.
Justice, a 135-pound senior quarterback, scored a 35-yard T. D. himself and passed 45 and 23 yards to all respect to fairly satisfactory.
Once-beaten Bellevue stayed in the running for the E. K. M. C. title.

Mayo School Starts Evening Enrollment
Enrollment in evening classes at Mayo State Vocational School began October 8 at 7 p.m. Classes opened in the business department in bookkeeping, typing and shorthand and will meet two evenings each week for 10 weeks.
Classes may still be entered by attending the next session at 7 p.m. Thursday evening, October 10, in the business department of the school. Classes will meet on Tuesday and Thursday of each week, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Ligon Congregation Asks Ban Lift
Jehovah's Witnesses of the Ligon congregation met October 8 to approve a petition asking the Dominion Republic to lift the ban of last July 25 restricting the religious activity of the movement there.
According to R. L. Stitches, presiding minister of the Ligon congregation, the eighty petitioners cited specific names and places of public utility that were regularly frequented by eight of the ten American missionaries deported August 8 from the Dominion Republic. The missionaries related their experiences at a regional assembly in Baltimore where the petition was originally adopted August 24 by 23,001 Jehovah Witnesses in attendance.

Charcoal Production Increases
Atlanta—Some 30 charcoal plants in the mid-South region produced more than 74,000 tons of wood charcoal in 1956, an increase of 3 per cent over the year before.

THIRD BOWL GAME
A third Eastern Kentucky mountain conference football team, Fleming, has been invited to play in a post-season Bowl Game.
Jack Hall's Fleming Pirates will face Evans in Harlan's first annual Jaycee game, November 8.
Bellevue meets the Ashland Tomcats in the Shrine Bowl in Ashland November 9, and Jenkins vies with Chattanooga in Paintsville's seventh annual Big Sandy Bowl game, November 8.

HUGHES MIX-UP
Several Lexington sportswriters and various sponsors met here to learn or make known that Lowell Hughes is U. K.'s quarterback coach and not his brother Delmar, who has since graduated after earning four letters at the position.
In one Sunday paper, one writer went so far as to state, "In the event you have wondered, it took Kentucky 174 minutes and 46 seconds to get their first touchdown of the 1956 season. Delmar Hughes TD came with 6:14 remaining in the fourth frame last night."

SWARTZ GOES TO BOSTON
Dah Swartz, ex-Morehead state college all-American cager who married Peggy McCarty, of Allen, is currently on the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association. Last season he played in the A. A. E. with an Oklahoma Oil company.

RATINGS
It and when the Kentucky high school athletic association adopts a plan for selecting a football champion in each class, the Kentucky Eastern Kentucky would largely fall into "B" classification (200-500) students in grades 9-12, according to a plan submitted by Frankfort High Football Coach Ollie Leathers.

Under Leathers' proposal there would be four classifications all based on enrollments in grades 9 through 12, with this breakdown: "A," 700 or more students; "A," 500 to 700 students; "B," 250-500 students; and "C," under 250 students.

Turning to the local situation under this plan, Bellevue with 880 students, Whitesburg with 822 students and M. C. Napier with 500 students would all be in the "A" classification. Prestonsburg, with 500 students, would be in class "A," and in the "B" classification would be Paintsville, 300; Fleming, 453; Pikeville, 388; Harard, 322; Jenkins, 302; Elkhorn City, 353; and Wheelwright, 468.

Neighboring West Virginia now has this plan in effect and it has proved very successful.

PLAYERS-OF-THE-WEEK
The Player-of-the-Week award in Prestonsburg's 33-0 rout of Pikeville went to Tommy Harmon, five-foot-nine-inch senior halfback, who scored one touchdown and made several long gains.

Floyd Homemakers

By Mrs. Dixie T. Higgins
 Home Demonstration Agent

The Homemakers Clubs have project leaders who are prepared to teach the October lesson. Twenty-two leaders attended the Training School September 26 in the Martin Methodist Church. Choosing Becoming Colors and Fabric for Coats and self satisfaction.

Leaders attending the Training School were: Mrs. Jim Deronest, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Douglas Brown, Prestonsburg; Marcella Bailey Langley, Mrs. Grace Burke, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Garnet Fairchild, Baldridge, Irvie, Garrett, Ky.; Mrs. Fredrick Zuspenn, Drift; Mrs. J. D. Adams, Martin; Mrs. Nora Bell Stone, Betsy Layne; Mrs. Nancy Camilla, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Nancy Salisbury, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Ida Rollins, Lacey, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, Quill; Mrs. Gladys Prater, Martin; Mrs. Flora Hopkins, Harold; Jennie Wright, Mare Creek; Mrs. Josephine Layne, Trevi; Mrs. Emmett Tackett, Martin; Mrs. E. P. Davis; Jewell; Mrs. Theima May; Martin; Mrs. Lida E. Hall; and Miss Audice Hall, Martin.

The next Training School will be October 21, 1:30 p.m. The lesson will be "Recovering Good Construction in Coats and Suits."

The schedule for the October 21st meeting is as follows:
 8:00 a.m. — Mrs. Maude Snodgrass, October 4, 7:30 p.m.
 8:00 a.m. — Mrs. Earl Castle, October 8, 10:30 a.m.
 8:00 a.m. — Mrs. Adrian Hall, October 10, 1:30 p.m.
 8:00 a.m. — Mrs. Elizabeth Burton, for landings every week of my youth but never saw a steamboat until I had left home at eighteen. Sometimes in recent years I have wished I could go back to my section and walk all over it to show distances have so lessened since I was young.

WAYLAND

The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club met October 2, for an all-day sewing session. The club is now picking a quilt top for Mrs. Edull Hughes.

The club was happy to welcome Mrs. Adam Beckwith to the meeting. She was formerly a member of the club, but now resides in Lincoln Park, Michigan. Other guests included Mrs. Mable Sloan, and Mrs. Lucy Scott, of Garrett, and Mrs. Harry Pagan, of Wayland.

The following members were present: Mrs. Charles Hornsby, and Miss Mrs. J. E. Miller, Mrs. R. H. Meiser, Ellen Hornsby, Mrs. Fred Hall, Mrs. George Evans and Janie, Mrs. Debert Sloan, Mrs. Bill Perry, Mrs. W. T. Hatcher, Mrs. J. C. Wells, Mrs. Earl Castle, Mrs. Milton Truany, Mrs. Glenn Peck.

A pot luck dinner was enjoyed. Plans for a rummage sale were discussed, and the sale planned for the near future. Date will be announced later.

John C. Breckinridge, Lexington, was elected Vice President of the United States in November, 1856.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.
 Western Kentucky Teachers' College, Bowling Green, Ky.

"A FUR PIECE"

Here a bridge, no matter how insignificant, soon created a channel through which farm animals and people found their way to a piece of a ford across a shallow creek, especially if a fooling was erected near by, created a national highway for the neighborhood. Other places, very little different, soon were not used. Through the woods we had a school path, one that had been made long before I started to school. All the children went along it; it branched off like a highway system, channeling the youngsters into narrower and narrower bounds until the school house came into view. I tried to make a new path through wider areas of woods, but the school woods were few others, joined me. I doubt whether I could now find my private path, but the one selected long before I was born, long ago deserted when the schoolhouse was changed to the village of the Santa Fe Trail or the Metcher foot, far-away places. When I think how I have walked many times further since I have been middle-aged, I laugh at my feeling so venturesome when I actually walked up the creek three back, I heard steamboats whistle for landings every week of my youth but never saw a steamboat until I had left home at eighteen. Sometimes in recent years I have wished I could go back to my section and walk all over it to show distances have so lessened since I was young.

Of course, the barriers that I have so often written about in this column were actual ones in those days. An unbridged creek, a gravelly ridge, a muddy bottom, all these could turn back all but the very brave and hardy souls that knew no boundaries or barriers. Broccoli, cauliflower, and green pepper are fall vegetables that freeze well.

Supervised Teaching Offered at Pike College

Pikeville, Ky., Oct. 3 — Applications for supervised-teaching courses at Pikeville College next semester already are beginning to come in, it was announced today. The number which can enter the laboratory classes at Pikeville Jan. 29, 1958, is limited by the number of qualified supervisors now teaching in this area's elementary and high schools. Dr. A. A. Page, college president, pointed out. He added that those applying earliest will have the best chance of being assigned to a school in a convenient location, and the best choice of grade and subject in which to do their supervised teaching.

Application forms for practice teaching at Pikeville, on either the elementary or high-school level, may be obtained by writing or calling at the office of Dean Redford Darron, it was said.

Seven Floyd county students have taken courses in supervised teaching at Pikeville since higher certificate requirements for teachers' certificates raised the course to the teacher's fourth year of preparation. The senior course has been given to about 80 students since last January, when it was first offered at Pikeville.
