FORMER UK CAGE CENTER TO PREACH REVIVAL HERE

The Rev. Ed Beck, who will be the evangelist in a revival at the First Methodist Church here from February 3 through February 10 is reaching here these days from over 100 miles away for a revival at Adolph Rupp's University of Kentucky basketball team.

MR. BECK

The 26-year-old Beck is a staff evangelist with the General Board of Evangelism of the Methodist Church. He made his commitment to Christ as a high school junior, and a year later dedicated his life to the ministry.

Beck is a member of a Christian basketball team called "Victory for Victory." This team played 83 games in seven weeks, conducted training services at 100 schools and after the games. This it was that team members preached to more than 240,000 persons and saw 10,000 conversions.

On College Net Team

Clinton, S. C. Jan. 23—Bill Talbot, of Lanesville, Kentucky, is in his second year as a member of the Presbyterian College Blue Hoop basketball team. He was one of Presbyterian's top scorers last year as a freshman, and Coach Charles Mansworth feels he has a bright future.

Funeral Home Affiliated With Golden Rule Order, World-Wide Organization

Carter & Callahan Funeral Home has been officially notified of its acceptance into the fellowship of the Order of the Golden Rule—an international organization of funeral directors.

Members of the Order identify themselves by means of a symbol, consisting of an armored knight with raised lance, who supports with his left hand a shield bearing the Order's motto: "Service Measured Not by GOLD, but by the GOLDEN RULE." In his right hand the knight grasps a drawn sword, as if to signify his readiness to defend the high principles inscribed upon the shield.

TB DEATH RATE NOW 11 PER 1,000 IN STATE

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 19 (Sp.) — Kentucky's tuberculosis death rate declined sharply from 66.1 to 11 deaths per 100,000 population during the 15-year period ending in 1960.

Currently there are 11 diagnostic clinics in Kentucky and a check is begun on about that many more. They are staffed by physicians from State TB hospitals and are held at regular intervals. Examinations are by appointment for persons who are known to have tuberculosis and for suspects sent to the clinics by family physicians.

The death rate reduction is the most impressive result in the long-time campaign to control TB in the state. The greatest decline in the number of deaths between 1942 and 1960 can be a misleading figure. For, at the same time, the number of known cases per 100,000 has not diminished significantly.

Success in reducing the death rate over the past 20 years is due almost entirely to the introduction of drug treatment, says M. Stuart Lauder, M.D., director of the State Health Department's tuberculosis control program.

Kentucky's position in the national picture has improved slightly but in 1960 the state still ranked as the third highest in the number of TB deaths per 100,000 population. Only Arkansas and Arizona had more.

Except for minor fluctuations, Kentucky also ranks well above the national average in the known case rate each year. For instance, in 1959 there were 387.5 known cases per 100,000 people in Kentucky. This compared to 22.3 cases per 100,000 in the continental United States.

Kentucky has, however, improved its position in relation to case rates in other states. Between 1959 and 1961 the state went from second to seventh highest in the number of new TB cases reported in proportion to population.

Dr. Lauder explained that the known case rate does not necessarily mean that "there are more cases than in the past."

"Our case finding methods have improved to such a degree that we are finding TB sufferers who otherwise would not have been detected," he said. "And this is the important factor for we cannot help them until we find them."

The State Health Department, with assistance from the State Tuberculosis Hospital Commission, is working to carry out several ideas to improve the established program and to combat potential dangers.

Among these are establishment of county registers to keep an up-to-date record of tuberculosis cases, laboratory tests to detect strains of TB which are drug-resistant, and encouragement of family health departments to make tuberculin tests in schools, particularly among first graders, a network of diagnostic clinics throughout the state, and two additional mobile X-ray units.

Dr. Lauder said the system of county registers and the laboratory tests are being partly financed by a $157,770 Federal grant.

He explained the importance of testing TB suspects to find those who are drug resistant. "Until this is done, a potential fatal," he said, "remains hidden and untreated, and when patients are treated with drugs but have their physician's care before the drug is completely effective."

"Germs these people spread are drug-resistant in many cases," he added. Dr. Lauder said this method

President's New Budget To Aid State Economy; River Projects Viewed

President Kennedy's new budget proposal Thursday would jump about $1,900,000,000 into the Kentucky economy in the coming year. This is exclusive of increased federal spending that would follow enactment of new programs sought by the administration this year, including aid to education and a youth conservation corps.

For Kentucky, the new Kennedy budget of $108,000,000,000 provides, by and large, for a continuation of present programs and levels of expenditure.

The old items, as usual, are veterans benefits, federal payroll costs, grants-in-aid to the state government and local governments, river development, Social Security payments, loans under various federal credit programs, and purchases for the military establishment.

As for the budget specifics, they contain the President's recommendation that a little over $75 million be appropriated for 20 river projects affecting Kentucky. Most of the money is to be spent on big projects already under construction by the Army Engineers — Barkley Dam; McAlpine Locks and Dam at Louisville; reservoirs on the Green River and the Green and various Ohio River projects.

In a few instances, however, money is proposed to launch new projects. Such is the case with design work on the controversial Oarr Fork Reservoir in Knott county; $100,000 for engineering and design for the Cave Run Reservoir on the Licking River in Rowan county; and $1 million to start construction on the Grayson reservoir in Carter county. The latter two projects are being pushed by Representative Carl Perkins.

Kentucky's share of the federal river program is slightly less than 10 percent of the U. S. total under the President's proposals and is slightly less than last year's allocation of $77 million.

Here is a breakdown of construction projects and amounts earmarked for each one:

Barkley Dam, Kentucky and Tennessee, $47 million; Barren River reservoir, $141,000; Capt. Anthony Muddall Locks and Dam, Kentucky and Ohio, $6,200,000; Coeburn reservoir, $4 million; Grayson reservoir, $1 million; Green River reservoir, $2 million; McAlpine Lock and Dam, Indiana and Kentucky, $42,200,000; Oarr River Lock and Dam, 48,000,000; rehabilitation, $66,000; River Lock, $200,000; Kinnickinnick Creek, $17,000; Licking River, $40,000; Little Sandy River-Tyras Creek, $20,000; West Coast River, $8,000; Salt River, $16,000.

Anna Maria Alberghetti describes some requisites for her dream man to wit: "I would like my husband to be in show business—a writer, director or producer—not an actor. Very few actors are smart. Most actors are narrow-minded."

HAYES IS NAMED—Berea, Ky., Jan. 23—Ronald Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hayes, of Langley, has been elected president of the Country Dancers at Berea College.

Hayes is a graduate of Maytown High school. A student of Maytown State Student Association parliamentarian, and is sophomore class vice-president. He has been YMCA treasurer and sophomore class parliamentarian.

GREENHOUSE HEAT PROBLEMS—Lexington, Ky.—Unvented bottled-gas burners for plastic greenhouses are inefficient—but fumes occasionally can cause trouble. When fresh outside air was introduced constantly into the burner, said the late E. M. Emmert, U.K. Ag Experiment Station researcher, the problem was largely overcome.

Babies do just as well on cold bottles right out of the refrigerator as they do on those warmed to body temperature.

Mary Hemmings, the widow of world famous actor Ernest, reflects as she is trying to learn to live without him: "Taps taught me to spend life, not to hoard it. But that's not so easy to do without him. We were not merely male and female, but friends and brothers. Papa was my only brother and the best friend I ever had."

Mr. Miss Popularity Are Picked At Eastern
Berkshire, Ky., Jan. 18 (Sp.) — John DAVIS YOUNG, Clifton, and Linda Carol Wood, Austin, Kentucky, were chosen the most popular students at Eastern Kentucky State College in a campus-wide election this week.

They will wear the titles Mr. and Miss Popularity throughout the remainder of the school year.

The contest was sponsored by the student council president, and voting was under the supervision of the student council.

NAME VARIETIES PROVED BEST—Lexington, Ky.—A three-year test of orchardgrass by U. K. Ag Experiment Station agronomists proves at least two things: Name varieties of the grass perform better—and it's a good practice to read the "tag-of-the-bag" when buying.

SILAGE-GRAIN EWE RATINGS—Lexington, Ky.—Does a high level of corn added to a wild silage mixture ration for ewes bring any additional benefits? Apparently not, says P. C. Woodcock, U. K. Ag Experiment Station animal-science department researcher. Ewes on a higher-level corn-and-wild alfalfa silage ration did not perform any better than those on three other test rations.

GRAIN SORGHUM TEST RESULTS—Lexington, Ky.—A commercial, closed-pedigree hybrid grain sorghum was the highest yielding of a group of 28 grain sorghum checks of this year at the Princeton Experiment Station.

MISS LOWE ELECTED—Berea, Ky., Jan. 22—Miss Claudena Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lowe, of Bostons, has been elected president of the Home Economics Club at Berea College.

Miss Lowe is a graduate of Maytown high school at Langley and is a member of the senior class at Berea.

Kentucky Corn Yields 50s In 1962 Season, Average Yield Increased

Yields of corn in 1962 were 50 bushels per acre, an increase from 48 bushels per acre in 1961, according to the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington.

CONCEPTS OF LANDSCAPING CHANGED BY HOME STYLES
BY FRANCES H. PITTS
Floyd County Home Agent
Recent changes in the style of houses have given rise to the necessity for changing the style of landscaping for foundation planting.

NEAR EAST OIL FIELD EMPLOYEE RETURNS TO NATIVE FLOYD CO.

There's one man in Floyd county who is enjoying the snow these frosty mornings and the biting cold. For he's home from Saudi Arabia and Kuwait where he has spent 19 months gazing on "burning sands" and enduring heat sometimes as high as 130 degrees.

The happy repatriate is DeGarmo Holbrook, superintendent for McDermott International during the construction of power plants and oil-refining facilities for offshore drilling in the Persian Gulf. It's better, he said here last week, to call it the Arabian Gulf. If you address mail and write it "Persian Gulf," the people there return to recognize the place and refer you to the right person.

Mr. Holbrook, who is a son of the late Jonathan Holbrook, of the Middle Creek section, and his wife were in the Middle East when McDermott-International contracted with the Arabian Oil Company to construct important installations in connection with drilling in Kuwait, the richest of the world's oil fields. He left Mrs. Holbrook in Beirut, Lebanon, where on a thousand miles of the job.

During these last 19 months he has lived at the scene of operation. The morning by plane once a month on five-day leave to visit his wife in Beirut.

Although most of his work was done in the engineering work with the people of that land. For the people of Kuwait don't work for money. The Sheikh (pronounced "shak") is a godfather to his people. He uses the billions collected in oil royalties to do for his people as he would like to see the present tax structure to build this building and to plan others, so naturally we would like to see the present tax structure maintained so that Floyd county can continue to move forward in all aspects of education.

The formal structure has enabled us to build this building and to plan others, so naturally we would like to see the present tax structure maintained so that Floyd county can continue to move forward in all aspects of education.

Mr. Holbrook spoke of the strict moral standards between the sexes in that Mohammedan land but contrasted that with their best in the United States. He said that severe penalties do not curb such crimes. If a thief is caught he is flogged. If a woman is caught in a state of lechery she is flogged. If a man and a woman are caught together before their eyes, they are flogged.

They are, too, but not as tallers of tall tales. The man said he was explaining to save face, or to tell you what you want to hear. Mainly,

These had their faults, their crudities and characteristics which aren't up to American standards, but Holbrook says he found them interesting, with many good qualities and, withal, sharing with all other humans common faults and frailties. If not along with them, because they sense I liked them, he said here recently. These people instinctively knew which of us liked them, just as a child or a dog senses your real feelings. I was firm with them when necessary, and I think they respected me for it. The kindness I showed them, I think they knew I meant it, too.

Club members receiving medals were Emma Allen, Clara Robinson, Anna Bowling, Verma Bowling, Brenda Bowling, Jan Waddles, Rita Burckett, Glenn Cooley, Joan Priddy, Sherry Salisbury, Maxine Fain, Sarah Hall, Jeanne Brooks, Georgia Gibson, Ada Brannan, Brenda Franklin, Regina Hamilton, Carmele Reynolds, Karen Hall, Janice Dillon, Bonnie Crisp, Debbie Saunders and John Hicks.

4-H SEARS-ROEBUCK PROJECT
The Sears-Roebuck Foundation will be sponsoring the strawberry project again this year in Floyd county.

The foundation will provide club members with plans and fertilizer from 1/4 to one acre provided the parent will set an equal amount. At the end of the first setting season the club members agree to return to the foundation the price of the plants but receive the fertilizer free.

These projects will be awarded to club members on a first come first serve basis. Any member interested should contact the county Extension office.

FARM RECORDS
At this time of year most farmers wish that they had kept better farm records. They are most important in filing income and social security taxes and determining the success or failure of your farming business.

There are many good farm record books available. The Kentucky Farm Record Book which is available as our office has been designed especially for Kentucky farmers. But a good record book is no guarantee of complete and accurate records if necessary if records are to be of much value.

For a nominal amount you can get a copy of the Kentucky Farm Record Book at the county extension office in the postoffice building.

stainless-steel kitchen is compact and planned for institutional cooking. The employees, it features built-in coolers, steam tables and stock-overs. Design of the school and its interior will permit the addition of other classrooms as needed. Residents of the area to be served by the new school got a close look at all these splendid appointments last Sunday when open house was held from 2 to 4 p.m. Approximately 600 guests and the building, interested at its elegance.

Two new school buses, added to the recently scheduled bus used to serve the Mud Creek area, will be operated by teachers of some of the rural schools eliminated by the new center. Harold Carey, of Wheelwright, high school guidance counselor, will be principal of the new school. Said Superintendent Charles Clark:

"This modern facility is the first in a series of buildings planned to give each child in Floyd county a healthful, sanitary, attractive program. Our long-range building program will replace over half of our isolated one-room school buildings within a reasonable time. The present tax structure has enabled us to build this building and to plan others, so naturally we would like to see the present tax structure maintained so that Floyd county can continue to move forward in all aspects of education."

If not along with them, because they sense I liked them, he said here recently. These people instinctively knew which of us liked them, just as a child or a dog senses your real feelings. I was firm with them when necessary, and I think they respected me for it. The kindness I showed them, I think they knew I meant it, too.

Holbrook spoke of the strict moral standards between the sexes in that Mohammedan land but contrasted that with their best in the United States. He said that severe penalties do not curb such crimes. If a thief is caught he is flogged. If a woman is caught in a state of lechery she is flogged. If a man and a woman are caught together before their eyes, they are flogged.

Mr. Holbrook, who is a son of the late Jonathan Holbrook, of the Middle Creek section, and his wife were in the Middle East when McDermott-International contracted with the Arabian Oil Company to construct important installations in connection with drilling in Kuwait, the richest of the world's oil fields. He left Mrs. Holbrook in Beirut, Lebanon, where on a thousand miles of the job.

During these last 19 months he has lived at the scene of operation. The morning by plane once a month on five-day leave to visit his wife in Beirut.

Although most of his work was done in the engineering work with the people of that land. For the people of Kuwait don't work for money. The Sheikh (pronounced "shak") is a godfather to his people. He uses the billions collected in oil royalties to do for his people as he would like to see the present tax structure to build this building and to plan others, so naturally we would like to see the present tax structure maintained so that Floyd county can continue to move forward in all aspects of education.

Former Floyd County Completes Metals Course

The American Society for Metals, Metals Park, Ohio, announced last week that Bobby Blevins, formerly of Weelsburg, now living at 1058 Farmham Street, Lincoln Park, Michigan, recently completed the society's technical course in "Elements of Metallurgy."

A 1964 graduate of Wheelwright high school, Blevins is employed by Great Lakes Steel, Ecorse, Michigan, as a technical assistant testing and processing steel.

In 1961, six private power companies in Kentucky sold electricity to about 600,000 customers, the State Public Service Commission reports.

"EQUAL SERVICE FOR ALL" is the theme of this emblem being placed on the dining room door of the new lodge at Carter Caves State Park by Gov. Bert Combs (left) and State Parks Commissioner Edward V. Fox. The emblem, prepared by the State's Human Rights Commission for voluntary display by restaurants and other businesses serving the public throughout Kentucky, will be placed at all State parks dining rooms. Galen Martin, commission director, pointed out that January 1963 will mark the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation and that the emblem is available from the Human Rights Commission, Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Ky.

TOP FORESTRY AWARD WON BY UK EDUCATOR

A nationally-known educator and historian who manages 100 acres of woodland has won the top prize in the 1962 Tom Wallace Farm Forestry Awards Competition.

Dr. Thomas D. Clark, head of the University of Kentucky history department, will receive $500 as grand award winner for carrying out the most complete and effective forestry program on his land.

Farm foresters from Kentucky and Southern Indiana split the four top awards in the contest which is sponsored by The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times and WHAS, Inc.

Second prize of $200 will go to Harry T. Nussener, Evansville, Ind.

Paul Weaver, Plummers Landing, Kentucky, will be awarded first improvement prize of $200 for making the greatest improvement on his woodland during the contest year.

Second improvement award of $100 will go to Clifford L. Sarver, Route 4, Scottsburg, Indiana.

The four winners and their families will be guests of honor at the annual Farm Awards Luncheon in Louisville on February 9. They will receive their awards and meet with winners of three other farm improvement contests sponsored by the newspapers and radio-television station. The winners were announced yesterday by Barry Bingham, president of The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times and WHAS, Inc.

Open to all tree farmers in Kentucky and 23 Southern Indiana counties, the forestry contest is named in honor of the late editor-emeritus of The Louisville Times, Mr. Wallace, was well-known for his conservation activities.

Certificates of merit will be sent to 40 tree farmers whose programs have been judged best in counties from which five or more entries were submitted.

Youth Group To Sponsor Wheelwright Revival

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of Wheelwright Community Church will sponsor a three-night revival at their church, January 31, February 1 and February 2. Rev. James C. Stratton, of Allen Methodist Church, will serve as the evangelist. The meetings will begin at 7:30 nightly. The young people will provide the music for the services and will otherwise assist Rev. Stratton.

Although sponsored by the youth of the church, the revival is intended for all age groups. The public is cordially invited to attend all the services.

Former Betsy Layne Man Is Victim At Pikeville

Harry McCoy, 76, of the Jake Creek section of Pike county, and a former Betsy Layne resident, died Tuesday morning of last week at home following a heart attack. Death was sudden and unexpected.

Mr. McCoy is a retired miner, was a native of Murray county, a son of Samuel David and Mary McCoy. He was a member of the First Baptist Church. His first wife, Yessie Young McCoy, preceded him in death. His second wife, Lizzie Browning McCoy, survives.

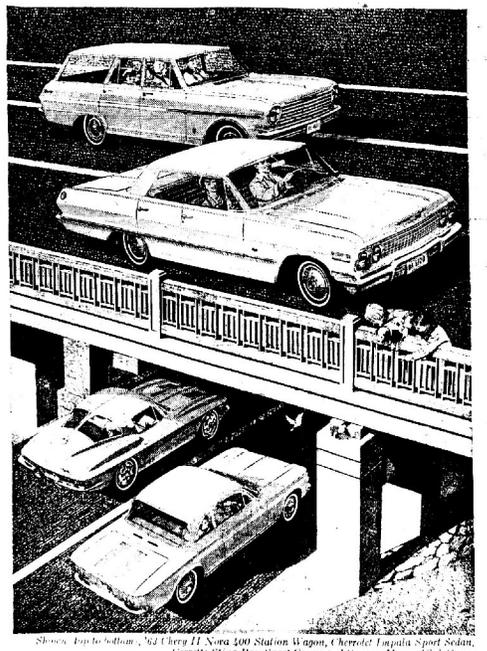

Surviving sons and daughters are Lechie McCoy, Pikeville, Thomas and Bennett McCoy, both of Boone, Michigan, Mrs. Orla Mullins, Beck's Mill, West Virginia, and Mrs. Mary Jones, Hickory, North Carolina. Surviving brothers and sisters are D. J. McCoy, Williamson, West Virginia, Buck McCoy, Seattle, Washington, Connell McCoy, Washington, Conn. Ohio, Mrs. Blanche Farrell, of Harold, and Mrs. Betty Priest, Huntington, West Virginia.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday evening at the home on Joe's Creek, the Rev. Walter Collins and Bill Childers officiating. The body was removed to Hendersonville, North Carolina, where final services were held. Burial was made in the East Flatrock cemetery under the direction of J. W. Cull, funeral home.

You'll make the wisest choice no matter which Chevrolet you choose!

These four different cars are alike in one important way. Each is a product of Chevrolet Division of General Motors. So each will give you more performance, beauty, comfort and good news at trade-in. But each is tailored to a certain kind of buyer. Our big Chevrolet has the Jet-smooth ride, luxury and styling you'd expect only in costly cars. Chevy II features parkable size, peppy performance and outstanding fuel economy. Corvair gives you rear engine maneuverability and sports car flair. The new Corvette Sting Ray can best be described as dramatic. With a choice of 23 models, there's one Chevrolet that will suit you best.

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War in Kentucky

By JOE JORDAN
(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week, Union Army Col. John C. Cochran of the 11th Kentucky Infantry resigned his commission. According to Collins' History of Kentucky, Cochran "and other officers resigned because of the Emancipation Proclamation."

It is scarcely possible to establish how many Kentucky officers resigned from the Union Army because of President Lincoln's proclamation, which purported as of January 1, 1863, to set free the slaves in the seceded states, but not those of Kentucky and other slave states which had remained in the Union. That is the case because there was a letter from a Union officer to another Union officer...

As related in an installment of this series last November, Lt. U. S. Johnson of the 17th Kentucky Infantry was stripped of his rank at Bowling Green in the presence of the entire regiment and expelled from the Union Army because he persisted in saying that he was resigning his commission in protest against the Commander in Chief's announcement that he was going to issue the proclamation. Although there seems to have been no uniform following for this attitude in all cases, many resigned...

WHAT ROMAN CATHOLICS WILL FIND WHEN THEY STUDY THEIR OWN BIBLE

(When we say "their" Bible we have reference to the Douay Version, published by John Murphy Company, Baltimore, Md., New York, N. Y., with the approval of James Cardinal Gibbons, Arch Bishop of Baltimore.)

Roman Catholics are taught many things. They are often told about the contents of their Bible. If they would study it for themselves, they would find that their Bible encourages investigation and reading. It would find that their Bible is not a book of laws, but a book of life. It would find that their Bible is not a book of fear, but a book of hope. It would find that their Bible is not a book of death, but a book of life.

"Who his own self here our sins in his body upon the tree; that we being dead in sins, should live to justice by whose stripes we were healed." (1st of St. Peter 2:24)

"And if I shall go, and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and will take you to myself; that where I am, you may be also." (St. John 14:3)

TEACHERS TO PRESENT LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

Teachers of Kentucky have adopted the program they plan to present to the Legislature when it convenes next January. Meeting in Louisville January 8, more than 500 representatives of local school districts met to discuss the program of the state called for today.

The average salary for teachers in Kentucky has not increased appreciably since 1927. Dodsion concluded, "and we are sliding back toward the bottom of the list of states in this matter. If the 1954 Legislature does not act favorably on this proposal, we will undoubtedly be in a worse position than we are now."

Another proposal, in which the teachers would like the financial aid for improvement in the Kentucky Teachers Retirement System. Under a plan worked out by the System's Board of Trustees, teachers would increase their contributions from five to seven percent of their salaries. With a contribution of 7 percent, the System would provide substantial increases in retirement benefits in death benefits, and other improvements.

These two proposals would involve an increase in state appropriation for public schools. In 1954, 65 of about $112 million. Including a proposal for an additional salary increase of $200, the total amount of $132 million. This increase would need to be continued and an extra $50 million appropriated.

KENTUCKY LEADS IN BOOKMOBILES

Bigger and Better Bookmobiles

Three different Bookmobiles demonstrate the history of these traveling libraries in Kentucky. At right is one of the first vehicles, a reconditioned ambulance which carried about 400 volumes and is now used as a loan delivery truck by the State Department of Libraries. The model in the center has a capacity of about 800 books. The newest Bookmobile at left carries about 2,000 volumes. Adequate heat, lighting and head-space encourage patrons to browse.

Frankfort, Jan. 11 (Sp.)—Kentucky's fleet of 100 Bookmobiles, rolling along the highways and byways of 101 of the state's 120 counties, are a far cry from the horse-drawn delivery wagon which in 1916 became Kentucky's first library on wheels.

Today Kentucky boasts the largest state-owned fleet of Bookmobiles in the nation. With self-contained heating and lighting systems, plenty of headspace and a capacity of some 2,000 volumes, the latest models on the road prompted one enthusiastic little girl to call her cousin's new Bookmobile a "place on wheels."

The Bookmobile program as Kentucky knows it today was launched in earnest in 1954 with 84 vehicles, but even before the turn of the century there was some organized effort in Kentucky to get reading material to less accessible parts of the state. During the 1890s collections of books reached their way through Eastern Kentucky from Berea where a girls' Sunday School class collected and created them in wooden boxes. The cases of books traveled by all available means—jog-wagon, train, muleback and riverboat—arriving at unscheduled intervals into the hands of mountain people who had previously only "thumbed through their family Bibles."

In 1916, Kentucky's first library-on-wheels, a horse-drawn delivery wagon donated by the Berea College student, started out on the backroads of Madison county. On that first day in August, 67 volumes were taken from the camp Gray, of Louisville, in the county's makeshift shelves, and left at 21 homes and one school. Berea students who had sand-walshed mountain schools, teaching into their college years, and learned firsthand of the need for books in these mountain settlements, usually took the wagon.

Within a few years, the students had arranged to leave small collections of books in make-do reading rooms set up in private homes, an arrangement which left more time to visit the schools. The students motorized their library in 1921 when a Red Crosser was converted to the cause.

Meanwhile, a similar service was initiated by the Stuart Robinson Mountain Fund, operating from Airy in Perry county and covering parts of Perry, Wolfe and Breathitt counties.

Kentucky state government entered the library picture in 1936 when the Legislature created the Kentucky Library Commission. To the new agency, the Federation of Women's Clubs donated the 5,000 books and 101 wooden crates they had collected since the beginning of their book-by-mail project in 1896.

Although the budget of the Kentucky Library Commission was then only $6,000 a year, this was the beginning of public library service over the state. There were no local libraries from which books could be borrowed so they were mailed out from Frankfort on request to the Library Commission.

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALE FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered and entered at the above styled case I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, the following described property, to-wit:

Located in the Osborne Addition to Martin, Kentucky, being one house and lot bounded on the north by lot No. 1, Block One, on the east by the State Highway, on the south by a cross street, on the West by lots 28, 29, 30 and 31 of Block One, being lots Nos. 1 and 12 of Block One of the Osborne Addition to the Town of Martin, Floyd County, Kentucky.

Said property will be sold to satisfy a judgment, by the sum of $2,500.00 with interest and costs in this consolidated action.

The purchaser may elect to pay cash in full of executing bonds, if he so desires.

For the purchase see the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid in full. The force and effect of a judgment with lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 7th day of January, 1963.

CATLETTSBURG FIRM SEEKS ARTS, CRAFTS DEVELOPMENT

By LIBERT GOY WILSON WYATT

The Catlettsburg Corporation in Boyd county has just filed its application for an ARA loan for one million two hundred thousand dollars. This loan, together with $73,000 borrowed from private sources, and stock sold to Kentuckians, will finance a major project, thus far of the Division of Arts and Crafts of the Department of Commerce. This will be the second such project and rapid development of the Division.

The first project of this type was officially dedicated early in December. The motel-restaurant-center complex, located at Catlettsville, features a 30 unit motel, a modern restaurant, and a craft center with 4,000 feet of floor space. The Catlettsville project was made possible by the combined efforts of the Federal ARA program, Kentucky's Department of Commerce, and the people of Catlettsville.

By 1952, six other counties—Mason, Bell, Breathitt, Rowan, Warren, and Wayne—agreed to sponsor Bookmobiles. These were converted half-ton panel trucks given to the new Library Extension Division by Mrs. Mary Belknap Gray, of Louisville. In the counties, operation of the Bookmobiles was still largely a volunteer project, usually sponsored by a civic or woman's organization.

Widespread Bookmobile service in Kentucky became a possibility the following year when Mrs. Perry Bishop and Louisville businessman Harry Schaefer led a campaign to finance the purchase of a fleet of new Bookmobiles. Individuals and business firms over the state joined the drive and at a special ceremony at the 1954 State Fair, 84 counties were each presented a Bookmobile by the Library Extension Division.

It was in 1954 that Floyd county began its Bookmobile operation. Since that time the library program here has become a model of operation. Three Bookmobiles are now in operation, both the county and regional libraries are quartered here, with 42,000 volumes available for distribution.

Many years have passed since the first bookwagon entered the mountains and a woman asked for baking powder, although a traveling peddler was making his rounds. From a budget of $30,000 in 1952, the new-designated Department of Libraries now administers $200,000 in state funds annually for new Bookmobiles and Bookmobile books and $253,000 in state and federal funds to develop and staff library regions throughout the state.

Kentucky's county libraries and 12 library regions comprising 57 counties supply the Bookmobiles with fresh titles, record-keeping services, cataloging and a source for special requests. The Bookmobiles operate on definite schedules. Training programs for the driver-librarians also result in better service.

Two new library regions were created during 1962. Both are yet to be named. The 11th region combines the counties of Nicholas, Bath, Harrison, Fleming and Robertson. Region 12 will be headquartered in Letcher county and will serve surrounding counties as they apply and qualify for regional status.

Although Kentucky's 12 library regions and 120 county libraries are understandably in various stages of development, they all contain people who are getting books, as well as baking powder. And they are asking for the books by brand name.

(tourist and travel facilities, including restaurants, and tourist attractions such as the Paintsville and Catlettsburg projects. The Guild Train will stop at Prestonsburg on three days, April 11.)

To acquaint the people of Kentucky with the possibilities in the self-help program, the Commonwealth, in cooperation with the Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen, is using the Kentucky Guild Train currently touring Eastern Kentucky, to promote the craft idea. More than 6,000 people have visited the train and several inquiries about it have been received from communities throughout the state to keep the train scheduled for the next two years. And together with 4,000 feet of floor space, the Catlettsville project was made possible by the combined efforts of the Federal ARA program, Kentucky's Department of Commerce, and the people of Catlettsville.

In 1962 the craft industries brought income in excess of $3 million to people who had no other opportunity to earn a living. Nine retail gift shops, all financed by local, private capital have been established and there are now more than 4,000 persons directly employed in the craft industries. In addition, there are over 100 retail outlets, department stores, state parks, etc., where craft products are being marketed.

The second step is to find the industrial craftsmen whose products are in such demand that he and his family cannot possibly produce enough to fill that demand. These craftsmen are then aided in expanding their businesses by employing and training others to help them. In this way, a small industry is created. Incidentally, the largest industry of this type is located at Jackson where more than 50 persons are engaged in the making of baskets, stools, chairs and similar wood products.

The third step is the creation of

MCDOWELL RURAL SCHOOL IN 1908

The rural schools of the region in the first decade of the present century were featured by log school houses but they were presided over by dedicated teachers and attended by youngsters eager to attain an education.

Sign-up period for the 1963 feed grain program will be from February 1 through March 22, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced.

Corn, grain sorghum and barley are the particular grain programs for which Kentucky farmers will sign, says John Bondurant, U.S. Cooperative Extension Service farm economist.

Bondurant noted that the program is a voluntary acreage-diversion and price-support program. It is similar to the 1961 and 1962 feed-grain programs, he said.

He urged farmers considering participation to study the 1963 program in close relation (1) to what it costs them to produce feed grains; (2) other possible uses for labor, machinery and feed-grain production resources; and (3) probable costs of any feed grain the farmer might have to buy to feed livestock.

There are two diversion systems. One is for farmers who (1) have 25 acres (or less) in their feed grain bases. The second is (2) where farmers have more than 25 acres in such bases.

A farmer in group 1 (above) will be paid 50 percent of the county price-support rate on what would have been his normal production on the diverted acres. Farmers in this group can divert all or any part of their feed-grain base.

The county price-support rates will vary by counties. They are based on national support rates. Corn (nationally) is at $1.25 a bushel, grain sorghum at $2 a hundred pounds and barley, 96 cents a bushel.

A farmer in group 2 (above) has to use a different system of figuring. An example: Suppose a farmer had 100 acres in his feed-grain base. He can first divert 20 percent of this base (20 acres). He would be paid 20 percent of the county rate on these first 20 acres.

If he wants to divert all or part of another 20 percent of the base acres he can draw payment at the rate of 50 percent of the county support rate for the second diversion. (The farmer does not have to divert all the acres in the second 20 percent; he may elect to divert only a small part of them—any one percent, one acre or 10 percent, 10 acres, etc.)

Bondurant pointed out maximum diversion for which payments are received is 40 percent of the feed-grain base acreage, or 25 acres, whichever is larger.

Feed-grain crops produced on participating farms are eligible for price support. But these feed-grains must be produced on acres allotted the farmer. Payment will be based on the county loan rate. National average loan rates for 1963 are $1.07 per bushel for corn, $1.71 hundredweight for grain sorghum and 82 cents a bushel for barley. These apply to feed grains grown on acres NOT diverted by the farmer.

An additional incentive this year is a smaller payment made to participating farmers. The payment will be based on normal production of their 1963 acreage. It amounts to 16 cents a bushel for corn, 29 cents a hundredweight for grain sorghum and 14 cents a bushel for barley.

Thus, a farmer complying with regulations on corn could get $1.07 per bushel plus another 16 cents on his normal production per acre, for a total per bushel of $1.23.

Bondurant cautioned farmers on one factor: If the farmer signs up to divert, say, 15 acres, he must actually divert that, or more if he actually diversifies only 10, he will receive no diversion payments or price support.

Advance diversion payments will be made again at sign-up time. Final payments will be made after completion has been determined.

SMALL-MINE AGENCY URGED

Holcomb Asks State Commission To Deal With Coal Problems

The appointment of a permanent state commission to deal with the problems of Eastern Kentucky's small-truck-mine industry was urged last week by one of the region's independent mining associations.

Their spokesman, Robert Holcomb, Fikeville coal operator, also outlined a 10-point program which the commission should undertake.

Holcomb urged that the commission start work immediately on:

1. Easier financing for construction of better preparation and mine equipment.

2. Ways and means to achieve low workmen's compensation rates.

3. Tax relief, possibly in the form of gasoline-tax refunds, for off-road transportation, construction, and mining equipment.

4. Equalization through private insurance programs for miners and their families.

5. An advertising program for Kentucky coals, as state parks have been advertised.

6. Research into better working conditions for miners.

7. Urging the federal government to cut back on the importation of foreign residual oil, a competitor of coal.

8. A realignment of wage scales under the federal Walsh-Healey Act so small coal mines may seek government business.

9. Finding a better marketing program for coal than now existing, possibly in the form of a cooperative marketing program.

10. A program to create better understanding of the problems which face both miners and operators and thereby create a more favorable atmosphere for attracting related industries into Eastern Kentucky.

"Meanwhile, state and local officials must take positive steps to see that the violence and intimidation that was brought to a halt in early December is not repeated, and to see that the small mine industry is not further jeopardized by irresponsible actions and that men who so desire be allowed to work in peace," Holcomb added.

Holcomb said the first three points will give immediate financial relief to coal operators and bring about better wages for miners.

He said the fourth point will replace the welfare cards for miners who have had them canceled by the United Mine Workers of America Union.

"The next five points will bring about more and better coal production, resulting in a better realization for both miners and operators alike," he added. "The final point is a must if Eastern Kentucky is to have economic survival."

The ideas for the commission and program were advanced in a seven-page statement issued in the Floyd County Independent Coal Operators Association of which Holcomb is president and the Letcher-Knoott Truck Coal Association.

Holcomb said small coal operators in the mountain cannot pay the U.M.W. contract wage of $25.25 a day and the 40-cent-a-ton royalty the union collects to finance its welfare fund.

"It seems to us," he added, "the continued interest of all concerned could be better served if the energies of all were directed toward finding solutions to our problems and not toward bickering over what cannot, under present economic conditions, be changed."

"The commission recommended by the two associations would be appointed by the Governor. It would include representatives of coal miners employed in small mines, coal operators and experts in transportation, insurance and compensation and coal reserves, economics, and marketing."

Conn-Pennington Vows Solemnized, Dec. 30

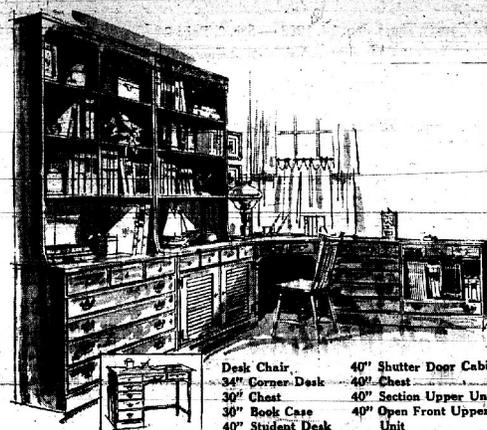

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Pennington, of Tuckerman, Ark., announce the marriage of their daughter, Patricia Jean, to Mr. Clifford D. Conn, son of Mrs. Gladys Conn, of Dana, Ky.

The ceremony was performed Sunday afternoon, December 30, in the Victory Methodist Church, Dayton, Ohio.

The bride is a graduate of Arkansas State College and is teaching in West Memphis, Arkansas. The groom is a graduate of Mayo State Vocational School and is employed by Leland Airborne Products, Dayton, Ohio.

The couple plans to reside in Dayton.

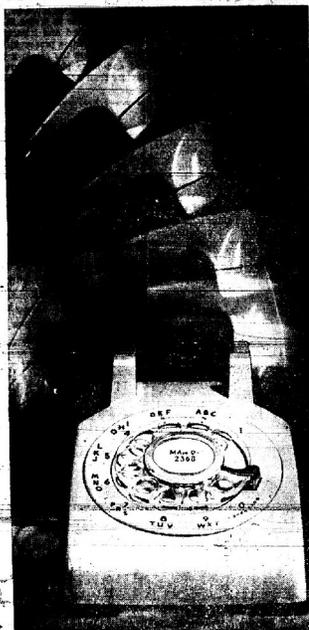

Farm income in Kentucky during 1961 amounted to $467,552,000, placing the state 23rd in the nation in this category, according to State Agriculture Commissioner Emerson Renshaw.

Imagine very near eighteen feet of storage space, including the conventional desk by Ethan Allen in open stock. For only $499.95 it's yours for $50.00 down and $18.75 a month. These prices expire in two weeks.

Charles Blevins Remains On Bench With Hurt Leg; Moore Breaks Lewis Tie

Pikeville, Ky., Jan. 24 (AP). — The best eye on the injury-ridden Pikeville College Bears, Charles Blevins, remains on the bench this week.

The Big Floyd County, victim of a leg injury, is looking forward hopefully to action in the Bear's next game Friday, January 25, when they are to entertain the Villa Madonna Rebels. Owner of the top marks at both field goal and free throw accuracy on the Pikeville squad, Blevins has earned 16 field goals in 23 shots for 500 and made 800 of 18 free throws for 842, both the team's best.

Long Don Elliott continues to rule the backboards, with 103 rebounds out of the Bear 454 in their 11 games, for a .93 percent average. He also has pulled rapidly into tight third at scoring, with 152 points and a 13.8 mean.

Point guard Jim Pookman has changed hands this week as little Jim Moore broke his tie with Ira Joe Lewis and moved ahead with a total of 187 points, a first 13 point average. Moore also rules the assists column with 14, amounting to 1.2 per game, just ahead of Alvin...

Wayland Wags Avenue Defeats By McDowell

Wayland's Wags average two defeats Friday night by spilling McDowell's home court, 40-38, in the conclusion of a hot-hot high school basketball rivalry.

Wayland, victor of one-point defeat in Kentucky and flares is doubly biased.

That's the belief of the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources, and with good reason. First of all, living in Kentucky he is fortunate from the athletic standpoint and secondly, if he fishes, he has the widest variety of his favorite pastime to engage in. No other state offers the good year 'round fishing that is available in Kentucky. There may be specific fishing that is better in another state, but there is no state that can offer the various types of freshwater fishing spread over the entire year.

If a fisherman so desires he may catch fish every day in Kentucky. The best time to go is during the winter months when the water is muddy and the fisherman must be patient. In the spring, major impoundments. In the spring, major impoundments. In the spring, major impoundments.

McDowell Edges Trojans, Bob Cats Nip Pikeville

McDowell broke away from Wheelwright in the fourth quarter to post a 79-55 victory and Prestonsburg took off a late rally to nip Pikeville 72-71 in a doubleheader in the Prestonsburg fieldhouse Tuesday night of last week.

McDowell, in scoring its 40th victory in 19 games, outscored the Trojans 25-14 in the final eight minutes to lead Wheelwright by six. The Trojans have won six.

Don Hall scored 25 to pace Wheelwright. David Turner tossed in 23 to lead McDowell.

Prestonsburg built a six-point lead in the third quarter when Pikeville outscored the Black Cats, 21-16.

Fred Steyer tossed in 23 to lead Prestonsburg. Dan Barrett, who needed for 21 to pace the Panthers.

Wayland Stops Trojans In Saturday Eve Game

Wayland pulled ahead in the second quarter here Saturday night and held on for a 51-44 victory over Wheelwright in a rugged contest.

It was the eighth win in 12 games for the Wags.

Wayland pulled by 9-7 at the end of the first quarter in the slow starting game, but pulled even at 14-14 mid-way the second period when they went ahead at 15-14 to stay in the game.

The Wags were in front 25-21 at the intermission.

Wheelwright fell behind by three more points in the third quarter when they played the host team on even terms over the last eight minutes.

High Bowlers - ROY MARTIN (263) JANICE PHELPHREY (214) Pin Prince: PILLIP HAYWOOD (169) Pin Princess: ANN CALLIHAN (164)

The Big Sandy Travelling League will be at Lake Lanex this coming Sunday, January 27, at 1:30. We invite you to come out and watch some of the better bowlers in the area. That's this Sunday at 1:30. Of course, there will be lanes available for open bowling, also.

CORRECTION

Last week, in this space, it was erroneously stated that the forthcoming Headpin Tournament will be open to all women bowlers. It should have been stated that this tournament is open to ALL bowlers, men, women and children, and that you may enter as often as you wish. The tournament is being sponsored by the Floyd-Pike County Women's Bowling Association, but that does not mean that it is restricted to women. The tournament will be held in each of the three establishments in the Association, and we urge you to support the Association in this effort.

Two Floyd Co. Students Named To UK Committee

Two Floyd county students - Miss Martha Ann Burdette and Mr. Roy Martin, University of Kentucky Committee of 50, an information organization made up of students from each of Kentucky's 120 counties.

Students selected for the Committee represent the University in their home communities. Their main assignment is to visit the high schools in their respective counties, presenting information to the University and answering questions of students.

Committee members are chosen on the basis of their academic and leadership abilities, and demonstrated interest in serving the University.

Miss Burdette, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, is a President of the University high school. She is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. Martin, a graduate of Martown high school, is a senior in the College of Education.

Holcomb claimed the recent labor unrest in Eastern Kentucky was not a dispute between operators and employees, but rather a rebellion within the ranks of the U.M.W. itself.

"Union members who made the U.M.W. have rebelled against the discriminating treatment they have received at the hands of high union officials," he said. "Hardly a single man employed in track mines outside Floyd county has been laid off from the operators, but by the United Mine Workers of America."

Lexington, Ky. "Colors have more effect on our eyes than on many of us realize," notes Marian Bartlett, UK Extension specialist in home furnishings.

The public is invited and every one is expected to bring their Bible.

INSTITUTION-WIDE STUDY PLANNED AT ALICE LLOYD

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Gordon Swain, executive secretary of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, will visit Alice Lloyd College, January 29. Mr. Swain will be accompanied by Assistant Secretary Joy B. Ezell. Alice Lloyd College is undertaking institution-wide self-study and evaluation scheduled to be completed in the spring of 1964. This is a program established by the association on a ten-year cycle for the continued accreditation of all member colleges in the Southern region. Alice Lloyd College is presently accredited by the Southern Association. January 29 is the first day of classes in the spring semester, following registration of new students Saturday, the 26th, and Monday, the 28th. Pre-registration will have finished most of the scheduling arrangements for the present students. A total enrollment of 190 is expected.

HYDEN ESTABLISHED
DEAN CLYDE
Alice Lloyd College alumnus Dr. Joe Taylor Hyden, of Martin, is establishing a college dental clinic on the campus at Pippa Passes for the benefit of college students and others in the community. Dr. Hyden is also a trustee of the college. Dental equipment, and chairs were given by the Springfield, Mass., schools through Mrs. Martin. Dr. Hyden is a long-time contributor to Alice Lloyd's educational philanthropy in the Eastern Kentucky mountains. Workers and students at the college, under the direction of Mr. Cody Jacobs, are renovating the one unused basement room of the clinic. The clinic, which, heat and new paint will be available by the end of the week.

SECRETARY RETIRES
Mrs. Elizabeth Sloane, of Larklane, secretary since the organization of the Alumni Association, now the Alice Lloyd Alumni Association, retired Jan. 24 after a long and successful career through her school's alumni to the youth of her eastern Kentucky area. Widely known as "Candy's First Girl," Mrs. Sloane served nearly ten years, without pay as secretary during the years in which the alumni association built a modern stone 25-room Alumni dormitory for the college to house 40 additional youth. Mrs. Sloane also assisted Alice Lloyd and June Buchanan in their letters to contributors who support the work, financially. Mrs. Emma Lois Piggan, of Deana, graduate with the class of 1960, was appointed her successor by Alumni President Edward Madden.

NATURE TRAILS
By RUFUS M. REED
MARTIN COUNTY'S GREAT STONE FACE
If you drive up the Wolf Creek highway, less than half a mile from the town of Lenoir, be sure to stop and have a look at one of the greatest wonders in mountain sandstone to be found anywhere. This Great Stone Face stands atop a spur ridge, about 1,000 feet south of the Wolf Creek highway, and is plainly visible in winter when the leaves are off the trees. People have come from many far-off places to see this wonder in natural mountain sandstone. It stands about 35 feet high, and has a large Roman nose, a mouth and a jutting chin, with a faint hint of a goatee. The stone face also wears a collar and there is even an Adam's apple discernible in the neck of the stone image. The head appears to be wearing a cap with the bill turned behind. The great face wears a benign expression and many see it a counterpart of the Great Stone Face that was immortalized by Hawthorne in his famous story.

HOMEMAKERS

CD Institute Set

At Martin, Jan. 28-31

A Civil Defense adult education teacher training institute has been scheduled at Martin high school, beginning Monday evening, January 28, at 6:30, and continuing on the nights of January 29, 30 and 31. The purpose of this institute is to train and qualify teachers to offer Civil Defense adult education classes in the communities in which they live.

FFYE ALUMNI
Lexington, Ky.—The Kentucky FFYE Alumni will hold their semi-annual meeting on Tuesday night, January 29, during UK's Farm and Home Week. The dinner meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Coach House restaurant in Lexington.

BUSINESS CONSIDERATIONS
Involved plans for graduating class membership increase, plans for projects and goals, as well as constitution revision, to be presented to the annual meeting.

FACULTY APPOINTMENT
Alice Lloyd College announces appointment of George Chun, native of Hawaii and a M. A. graduate from the University of Kentucky, in science laboratory and teacher education in the spring semester beginning January 29. Mr. Chun first gained acquaintance with Alice Lloyd College and the Eastern Kentucky area generally through accompanying the Reverend Floyd Titworth, of the Mousie Baptist Church, as song leader in mission work in the area. His appointment makes possible the College's scholarship instructor, Ellis Roy Reynolds, of Physics department, to do graduate work in Morehead State College this second semester.
