THE BLAME IS OURS

We are in what is known as a fix. We can't blame the President, Congress, the Corps of Engineers or anybody else for what has happened. It was different when the rains came and the streams ravaged homes, businesses, roads, bridges, everything. But these forest fires, they're our own fault. We must blame ourselves for this disgraceful, in cases criminal, state of affairs.

NOTE TO A FATHER

Has an interesting visitor, the other day. We got off on a good subject—our children. He spoke of his sons and daughters, of the tight financial squeeze he had had, of testing them. One time, he told us he was on the brink, but it had good times. The first was the other time when the well looked blank, a coal company heeded and always something to tide him over, to keep the boys in school.

"I haven't much in the bank, maybe no more than a hundred dollars. But I feel good—real good. He told me as he looked here and there.

"It was not till he was gone that I began thinking about this man and his pride in his fine sons and daughters, the good feeling he has about it all. Then I got to thinking how proud the children must be of their father. I didn't tell him this at the time. I am telling him now.

A few more days of this and it will be too hot to read the seed catalogues.

Need a paragraph this week which runs to this effect:

My headaches come, not from thinking, but from inability to think of anything to say.

P. S. I have a headache.

OF THE ESTHETIC

Outside the A. B. Chandler Medical Center at the University of Kentucky stands a job of sculpture which demands the attention but which to the uninitiated which includes yours truly means nothing, says as they say nothing. I have been told that one of these pointing black whateversons, this one black whateverson, represents a student representative and that the other, assigned in the opposite direction, portrays man's depravity.

Maybe so. It sounds good, may, indeed, be great. But it's Greek to me, and I do not refer to the classic Greek, either. Dr. Russell Hall's interpretation of the well-conceived meaning of this particular work suited me better.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of six persons, two weeks earlier on their way from Licking County to the Adams County, Ohio to this county, was lifted Sunday afternoon when an auto containing the bodies of all six was found in the Licking River, four miles west of Salversville.

The victims were Chester Thomas, 33, his wife, Elizabeth Griffith Thomas, 28, their eight-year-old son, David, three daughters, Barbara, 5, Ann Griffith, 23, brother of Mrs. Thomas, and his bride of two months, Mrs. Velma Ann Griffith and Mrs. Thomas were son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Griffith of Lacey, and they left Lacey, March 16 to help their parents who had been hit by the March 16 floodwaters.

The highway parallels the river for about 200 yards in the area where the K&E was found. The auto, a 1958 Buick, was apparently run off the road on a sharp curve, missed a guardrail and fell into the water. (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

TEACHERS RECOGNIZE COMBS EDUCATION AID

An estimated 600 teachers, who were attending a meeting of the Kentucky Teachers' Association and the Kentucky Education Association, held their annual convention here Tuesday. At the same time he voiced his readiness to "go to bat" for the KEA program and for the Combs administration, which has implemented that program. When he called for an answer if those present approved the program, he was applauded.

Superintendent Claude Farley, of the county, said the program, which is a monument to the work of Governor Combs, is the work of a Swiss mountain and of the epitaph it has done. "He did it for us," he said. "Then he died, but Combs has done his duty in every respect—and what more can we expect?"

Also introduced were "Bill" Meade, principal of South Pittsboro, Ky. schools, Mrs. Betty Stephens, of Prestonsburg, state superintendent of education, and Mrs. Roberta Davidson, president-elect of the Floyd County Teachers' Association.

Mrs. Stephens told of her early days as a teacher, of teaching five months for a total of $150, of teaching about 150 years at that annual pay. If you do not support him, I hope your pay goes back to $100. My wish for you is that you can vote right, you go back to bed and bonny."

Before Governor Combs, the proposed program was introduced by the Honorable J. P. Shertoff, all AEA president of the Teachers' Association, presented him, a handful of the teachers, a gold watch.

PERKINS SEES MARTIN HELP

Postal Center Building, Water, Sewer Plant Aid Viewed by Congressmen

Congressman Carl D. Perkins told The Times Wednesday that help for the flood-stricken town of Martin is indicated by federal agencies. First of all, he said, a postal center building will be advertised Friday for letting at Lexington, May 16. It is possible, he said, that disaster emergency funds or Community Facilities Administration financial aid will restore the post office building and the raw water station damaged there by the recent flood. Engineers estimate that $100,000 will be required for this work.

Lack of sewage disposal facilities has delayed the low-cost public housing project there, but Congressman Perkins said that in view of the urgency of the situation he is confident federal financial aid will be available. A federal grant of $170,000 has already been made available. Total cost of the project is placed at $260,147. Interior of the postoffice structure at Martin will contain 3,047 square feet, plus a parking area of 465 square feet. A paved area of 5,588 square feet will be included in the project. The building, 50 feet located on the east side of Main street, will occupy a lot leased for 20 years, with five four-year renewal periods optional.

Area Red Cross Director Says Organization Plans To Stay Until Needs Met

The total number of families assisted in 1957 was 1,025, he said, with expenditures of $320,000. It is anticipated that the amount that will be spent on the program this year will exceed this.

Employees are busy at work on home visitations and the interview work is progressing nicely. A staff of 30 workers, including the field workers and office force, is extending the work.

MYERS PAYS TRIBUTE TO VICTIMS OF FLOOD

A tribute to the courageous people of Kentucky was paid this week by the Red Cross disaster director in Huntington, West Virginia, George Myers, whose organization has 127 national disaster staff workers with Kentucky communities to bring emergency assistance as well as long-term aid to many of the 11,500 Kentucky families who were swept from hearth and home by the mid-March floods.

"We expect to keep all of the staff here as long as it is necessary to rebuild the job of rebuilding and restoring family homes and lives," Myers said. "The Red Cross is only acting for the American people in our present operations in Kentucky and in Southwestern West Virginia and Southwestern Virginia. The total Red Cross disaster aid in the tri-state area may add up to $3 million in practical help to restore families to normal living," Myers said.

Myers said that rehabilitation or rebuilding assistance "may reach more than 7,500 families in 20 Kentucky counties." He said that sometimes people believe that Red Cross ends its job of disaster aid when it supplies emergency food, shelter, clothing and medical and nursing care... during the first few days of a disaster.

"Just the opposite is true," he said. "More than 75 per cent of every Red Cross disaster dollar is spent for rehabilitation aid."

This long-term aid is for clothing, household furnishings, building and repair of owner-occupied homes, replacement of farm supplies and equipment, occupational supplies, and medical and nursing care.

Red Cross community surveys just completed in the 20 affected Kentucky counties show that 126 homes were completely destroyed, 962 had major damage, and 8,161 minor damage. There were 142 farm buildings destroyed, the survey indicated, with 100 having major damage and 296 minor damage. In the other-kind-of-building category, 117 were destroyed, 115 had major damage, and 578 sustained minor damage.

More than 5,000 persons took shelter in Red Cross shelters and received food and clothing in the emergency period.

Myers, a 20-year disaster veteran, said that there is a difference between Red Cross assistance and government aid during a disaster.

SBA TO OFFER SPECIAL AID

Cooper Announces Plan For Area Businessmen; Road Survey Completed

Senator John Sherman Cooper announced Friday that the Small Business Administration has applied to the 52 Eastern Kentucky counties which have been declared a disaster area, a separate provision of law making working capital loans available to business men. Originally, SBA loans were available only for physical damage and losses resulting from the recent flood. The new provision authorizes 30-year loans to persons and businesses in the disaster area which may not have suffered physical damage to buildings and inventories but which are suffering substantial economic injury because business conditions have been adversely affected.

State and federal agencies continued this week with plans to help this and other flood-stricken counties with water programs, particularly in the area of damaged roads and bridges. U. S. Corps of Engineers representatives toured the county Monday and Tuesday, to inspect debris-choked streams. County Judge Henry Bounso said Wednesday that the State Highway Department has completed its survey of road and bridge damage in the county. Representatives of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads are nearing completion of their study of the same projects.

Work is nearing completion on the Mare Creek bridge which was left to rot by the State Highway Department after it had been washed out by the flood. The new bridge, which also is to be restored, will be located 600 feet from the former site. The new location will make the span less susceptible to high water, engineers say.

FIRES RAZE FLOYD HOMES

In Aftermath of Flood; Gas Station, Restaurant, Other Buildings Burn

The number of homes burned in Floyd county following the recent flood is much greater than was at first learned. It is noted this week. To the list of burned homes is added that of a windowless loss of Currie Prater, at Water Creek whose home was damaged by high wind the day of the flood.

The service station, grocery store and apartments of Paul Spang at Stanville was razed Tuesday at 2 a.m. Estimated damages are $20,000. The property was partially insured. It was said.

Another business, that of Mrs. Clara Allen, at Garrett, burned Wednesday of last week. The property, a two-story building, housed a restaurant, grocery and upstairs apartments.

The home of Joe W. Jarrell, former Floyd county teacher, but now of Lawrence county, burned following the flood, it is said. No estimate of damages or other details were learned.

Fires took heavy toll of tenant houses over the county. Four houses belonging to A. L. Howell at Price were destroyed by fire Tuesday of last week, another owned by Tom Calhoun on Middle Creek road burned March 15 and a tenant house of Don Ball on McArthur street here, burned down Monday morning.

COVER CROPS

Cover crops should be turned under before the small grains is knee-high. If allowed to get higher, they become fibrous. This delays rotting after turning-under; the process may NOT be completed by transplanting time. The same amount of nutrients (nitrogen and organic matter) is obtained from a cover crop 12 to 15 inches high as one that is much higher.

In 1940, Louisville became the first city in the American West to acquire gas lights.

MRS. VINSON, SPEAKER

"When we get what God wants us to have, Christianity becomes endless delight," stressed Mrs. Richard Vinson speaking to the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Women's Club last Monday evening on the subject, "Spiritual Values."

Mrs. Vinson compared the non-use of the Bible with keeping a valuable check hidden in a bureau drawer, where its benefits cannot be reaped by anyone.

Continuing, Mrs. Vinson explained, "Christianity is an antidote for sorrow. We have the check (the Bible)—cash it! Use it!" She reminded her hearers that "All are nothing up for eternity." She concluded with a poem, "The Touch of the Master's Hand."

After the program a business session was held and refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. H. J. Sherman and Mrs. S. M. Martin, to the following: Mrs. John Dullill, Mrs. J. E. Pioneer Beaver Creek Settler Carved Home In Wilderness

BY HENRY P. SCALF
The history of the Stephens family was written from a compilation of data gathered by Henry Stephens, of Prestonsburg, and his son, Edgar P. Stephens. This article is the first of a series.

Prestonsburg was a struggling little village of less than 50 persons. Pikeville was unincorporated and long valley of the river was an almost total wilderness, empty except for primitive trees and abundant game.

There were only three of the Stephens name in early Floyd county when Samuel Stephens and Florence Patton married. On December 11, 1847, Andrew Stephens and Susanna Williams were united in wedlock. It is presumed Samuel and Andrew were brothers.

It was Joseph Mayo deputy clerk of the Floyd County Court for many years, and afterwards clerk himself for years, who issued the marriage license and accepted the security bonds and Florence Patton. The license was found recorded in marriage book No. 1, page 158, being number 62 in the county since the records were rehabilitated after the conflagration in 1808.

It reads: "This shall license and permit you to join in marriage according to the rites and ceremonies of the church to which you belong." Samuel Stephens and Florence Patton and for this shall be your sufficient warrant. Given under my hand this 11th day of July, 1847. Jacob Mayo, D.C.F.C."

The marriage record was made by Stephen Harper, J. P., who wrote: "I hereby certify that the within named couple was this day joined together in marriage as of July, 1847."

Samuel Stephens at the time of his marriage was an unmarried man having been born November 11, 1801, in that part of Russell county in 1851. He was the youngest son of the late Samuel Stephens, a farmer and settler, and the daughter of James Stephens and Florence Patton, early Beaver Creek settlers.

In the first quarter of the nineteenth century no available record is known to which the names of the late John Preston survey of 1800,000 acres had been entered a line around the Big Sandy River bottoms from the mouth of Chicken Creek westward for many miles.

The Stephens family in 1821 had a record which only the year before Samuel Stephens married did not come and settle on the bottom where Martin now stands.

First, to marry after the Civil War in the patriarchal home of Samuel Stephens was Mary, October 11, 1868, she was married to David Osborne. To this union were born eight children. Samuel A. Stephens married an Osborne also, probably a sister to David, Samuel A. and David Osborne were united in marriage, October 10, 1868, and to them were born fourteen children.

COVER CROPS

Cover crops should be turned under before the small grain is knee-high. If allowed to get higher, they become fibrous. This delays rotting after turning-under; the process may not be completed by transplanting time. The same amount of nutrients (nitrogen and organic matter) is obtained from a cover crop 12 to 15 inches high as one that is much higher.

In 1840, Louisville became the first city in the American West to acquire gas lights.

ELLIOTT METHODIST CHAPEL AT BEAVER, KENTUCKY

Elliott Methodist Chapel, at Beaver, Floyd county, Kentucky, was constructed 50 years ago following the deed of the land to the church by three residents of the community. The deed was executed May 3, 1903, by R. S. Elliott, his wife Louaney Elliott, and Emma D. Tackett.

The chapel stands beside the highway on Big Mud Creek and is revered as an early pillar of the church in the community.

The First National Bank salutes the founders of the area churches and recognizes their contribution to our religious heritage.

PROBE ASKED

Add Federal Funds
Sought for Research
On Ky. Reforestation

Robert Montgomery, assistant state conservation commissioner, has asked the U. S. Senate subcommittee to investigate the relationship between strip and auger mining and recent mountain floods. Montgomery made the request while in Washington to support a request from the State Conservation Department for an additional $200,000 in federal funds for research on reforestation of strip-mined land now under way by the U. S. Forest Service at Berea College. The state is cooperating with the U. S. Forest Service on the project. Montgomery's suggestion for an investigation was made before the Senate interior-subcommittee on appropriations. He told the senators there needs to be a study made because "we need to know how strip and auger mining is contributing to these floods, if in fact it is, and if adequate flood-control structures are built what, if any, will be the deleterious effects of strip mining in the watershed to the proper operation of these structures and to their useful lifetimes." He told the subcommittee members that 30,000 acres in Kentucky have been stripped over and another 5,000 acres are being stripped each year in Kentucky.

State newspapers under date of March 26, 1963, announced in Bold Front Page Type that our State Government had CUT TAX ON WHISKEY, whereby one County alone lost more than SEVENTY ONE THOUSAND ($71,000.00) DOLLARS in SCHOOL REVENUE with other County Schools losing lesser amounts.

NOW, we wonder if our Superintendent of Schools and his "SAVE OUR SCHOOLS COMMITTEE" favor this TAX CUT ON WHISKEY, in PREFERENCE to a cut of taxes on the BARE NECESSITIES OF LIFE, that mean so much to our people in the distressed area of Eastern Kentucky at this time; which could mean the DIFFERENCE of a full stomach to the gnawing pains of hunger; the DIFFERENCE of a warm body to the chill of the cold winter; the DIFFERENCE of medical relief to the Old and Feeble suffering from pain—YES, THAT EXTRA $3.00 tax on each $100.00, could mean extra family groceries, extra clothing and above all make possible one more visit to the Doctor's office for relief of the unbearable pain of those suffering from illness.

WHERE will the EXTRA TAX come from to make up this loss in WHISKEY TAX CUT? Will it be put on your real estate or another 1c on Sales Tax????

There can be several reasons for the scarcity of fish in some large metropolitan areas; the increased number of anglers; a harvest greater than the number of new fish in any one year; pollution. The U. S. Department of Health recently stated that more fish are killed by industrial wastes than by any other pollutants.—Sports Afield.

PATIENCE, SKILL IS NEEDED TO-HARVEST THE CRAPPIE

Frankfort, Ky. (Special)—To many fishermen, the crappie is the fish supreme and the catch of any other species by him is purely coincidental. That's the belief of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources personnel who have watched the avid crappie fishermen ply their trade from year to year without serious deviation.

The crappie, both black and white, represents to these vast herds of fishermen the fish they like best to catch and eat and they will tell you that there is as much skill needed to harvest old papermouth as to take the fighting smallmouth in the Commonwealth.

To catch a crappie requires patience and diligence and the most acute in reaction. The crappie does not announce to the world that it has hit your hook or lure, but merely tugs ever so gently, making it more difficult for the fisherman to detect his presence on the end of his line. There's where the patience is needed. When the fisherman sees the slight movement of his bobber or his line, if he is fishing without the bobber, he must control his wits to wait until the time is right to pull. Then when he pulls, he must know that he cannot yank with a vengeance, but must more or less respond to the fish's action in kind, gently pulling his pole unless he times his pull exactly right, at exactly the correct time, the crappie will go big, merry while the fisherman hauls in a big, happy crappie on a ball. So, the fisherman is correct when he says that the utmost skill is needed to harvest this soft-mouthed fish.

Perhaps the greatest skill of all is required of crappie fishermen in the late fall. By that time the fish apparently break into smaller schools, which seem to be dictated by the size of the individual fish. It is at this time the fisherman may luck onto a school of big ones and catch a half dozen in a short time. Then again he may locate a school of smaller ones and catch nothing but the little fellows from this area. There's a lot to know about fishing for crappie and any expert on this type fishing will testify.

Registration of Boats in Kentucky Is Taken As A Sign of Spring

One evidence that spring is on its way besides floods and buds is that as of March 15 over 2,000 of the state's 50,000 boat registrations have been renewed, according to Boating Division Director, "Bud" Calman. Also many new boats that will make their first appearance on the waters soon have been issued their numbers. These new boat owners and those renewing have already received their decals, which are like the auto license plate, so far as having and displaying them is concerned.

It is true that the present licenses do not expire until April 30, 1963, but anyone can renew his registration now and it will license his boat until May of next year. Also, this applies to new boat registrations. Incidentally, because of a new system, started last year and further perfected this year, you should get your decal back within two to three weeks after you register with the circuit clerk from now until the rush season starts.

Kentucky residents can register with the circuit clerk of the county in which they live, or in the county in which they principally use the vessel. Out-of-state residents can register with any circuit clerk in Kentucky. For renewals, all one has to do is present their registration card (which the clerk returns to them) on new boats, or when you are registering a boat in your name for the first time, a bill of sale or some valid receipt is required to show that the person registering the boat is the lawful owner. Purpose of this ownership proof is to prevent a person from stealing a boat and registering it in his name.

If you have a boat you are urged by Director Calman to register now, particularly in the heavily populated areas where the clerks have to register thousands of boats. It will help the clerks, and it will assure you of getting your decal before you start your boating. This will save you being stopped by a water patrolman after April 30, 1963, to see if you have registered your boat, because there will be no extension of time beyond that date—APRIL 30, 1963.

DeROSSETT APPEALS TO VOTERS

To the Young . . . To the Old . . . To the Veterans:

I am a son of John Derossett and Anna Calhoun Derossett of Bull Creek, a lifelong resident of this county. My father is now 82 years old. He is a former teacher and former employee of the Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Company. He is a lifelong resident of the county and a life member of the Regular Baptist Church.

I was born in 1922, attended our local schools, served in the U. S. Army 5 years in the European Theatre.

I do not make any hero's claim but I was awarded the Bronze Star and five Battle Stars, one for the Normandy Invasion. I am a member of the Free Will Baptist Church.

My family connections include many well-known Floyd county names, to mention a few: Calhoun, Lafferty, Robinson, Rowe, Mayo, Rorer, Wallen, Shepherd, McGuire, Sizemore, Meadow, Miller, Slone, Warrix, Tussey, Parrott, Wells, Thornberry, Webb, Montgomery, Flannery, Sprigg, Hall, Mosley, Peters, Anderson, Sammons, Skeans, Smith, Ellis, Prater, Moore, Nelson, Ousley, Patton, Sparlock, Baisden, Baldrige, Banks, Hicks, Bingham, Blackburn, Burchett, Conn, Crisp, Cram, Davidson, Dingus, Dotson, Ford, Frasure, Howard, Hubbard, Bayes, Campbell, Clifton, Scotchfield, Barnett, Younce, Gunnell, Merritt, Ramey, Garrett, Goble, Gray, Harmon, Hayes, Herald, Holbrook, Hobson, Layne, Horn, Jarrell, Marshall, Osborne and Clark.

This is my first time to ask for a public office and I do now, knowing that I can perform the required duties, and I will go beyond that call and establish a Driver-Training Program in every Floyd county high school. I believe Floyd county owes this to our younger generation. It will eliminate many highway accidents.

I trust your good judgment and beg to remain your friend.
