Prosecutor Not To Run In Primary

Stumbo's Decision To Leave Politics Told Here Monday

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo announced late Monday that he will not be a candidate for re-election this year.

Now in his 12th year in the prosecutor's office, Mr. Stumbo said, "I'm worn out with it." He gave no other explanation for his decision.

He added that he expects to return to the private practice of law.

The announcement was quickly followed by that of County Attorney James R. Allen that he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the office vacated by Stumbo. Former Commonwealth's Attorney Burnis Martin had announced earlier for the office.

The retiring prosecutor was first elected to the office in 1963 at the age of 32 and during his two terms has been active with peace officers in the investigation of crimes. He commented this week on the demands of the office and the difficulties encountered. He said he hopes to see completed before his term ends next December the two cases which have developed in the slayings of Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Conley and James Clayton Conley and of James Chaffins. All three slayings involved long investigations.

Extradition of Bobby Workman from Michigan is being sought, he said, for trial here on a charge of slaying Chaffins. Trials of Eddie Jones and John Martin, who are charged in the Conley slayings, will be held in Pike county, perhaps in April.

Unemployment Increases Here To 8.1 Per Cent

Kentucky's unemployment rate varies from a low of 2.4 per cent in Madison county to a high of 19.3 per cent in Menifee according to figures released this week.

At the same time the Floyd county unemployment rate jumped to 8 per cent. Robert MacDonald, chief statistician in the Bureau for Manpower Services, released estimated figures for December which show Eastern, South Central and Western Kentucky with unemployment rates above the estimated state average of 8.1 while the Bluegrass, Northern and North Central areas of the state have rates below the average.

Unemployment percentages for other counties of the area are: Boyd, 7.3; Breathitt, 5.8; Carter, 9.7; Clay, 9; Elliott, 9.2; Gretna, 8.8; Hartland, 5.4; Jackson, 8.9; Johnson, 7.1; Knott, 5.6; Knox, 6.5; Laurel, 4.4; Lawrence, 7.4; Lee, 7.7; Leslie, 8.3; Letcher, 5.9; Magoffin, 10.8; Martin, 2.9; Montgomery, 7.4; Morgan, 6.6; Owsley, 9.1; Perry, 5.7; Pike, 4.1; Rowan, 3.5; Wolfe, 6.9.

When the new law requiring the driver's photograph to appear on his or her operator's license became effective, John Milton Stumbo, well-known McDowell man, was the first to pose for the new camera in Circuit Clerk Frank DeRossett's office.

This Town... That World

The latest weather report we have runs to the effect that after days and days of heavy cloud cover a little girl saw a bit of sky this week and called to her father, "Look!—they've painted the clouds blue!"

NOAH'S RESPONSE

Along about this time of year, every year, I am reminded of the late Noah Harris and his pronouncement that he had always noticed that if he made it through March he made it through the rest of the year.

Heard another of Noah's "sayings" this week. It seems that he decided to undertake a bit of schoolin' under the tutelage of Prof. W. M. Byington who was something of a hard taskmaster when it came to enlightening the Young Idea. The first day of school, Professor announced to his charges that when he called the roll each morning his pupils would not respond with the usual "Present" or "Here" but would reply with a quotation from some author, speaker or famous man and give the origin of the originator. It could be short or long, but there had to be one.

Rescue Group Buys 'Scanner' As Search Aid

With plane crashes becoming more frequent in Eastern Kentucky, the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad has purchased a scanner which will receive "beeps" from a downed plane and thus enable searchers to locate the craft quickly.

Every plane is now required to have a device which will give "beep" signals after it has crashed, Capt. Graham Burchett, of the Floyd squad, said. The device is fixed in the tail section of each aircraft, or in a wing, which are not as likely to be destroyed by fire as the section in close proximity to the engine and cockpit.

The Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad's most recent search for a missing plane was Jan. 12 when a plane crashed in the Meally vicinity of Johnson county. Capt. Burchett said that if the squad had been equipped with the scanner which it has now purchased the search could have been materially shortened, with searchers guided almost directly to the downed craft.

More sophisticated equipment, some of which will involve ground-to-air communication, may be added later, Burchett said.

District Board Reviews Cutbacks At Mountain Comprehensive Care

The District 11 Mental Health-Mental Retardation Board, Inc. met for a lengthy session here Jan. 27 to deal with an agenda stacked with items of concern related to the recent retrenching activities of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center which has resulted in the layoff of approximately 28 percent of the agency's staff and in numerous internal organizational and structural changes.

Concern with fiscal affairs, with maintaining the quantity and quality of service delivery, and with obtaining and maintaining more local support constituted the major areas of concern.

Board President, Willis Haws, of Martin county, invited Mountain Comprehensive Care Center's Executive Director, Richard T. Stai to address the group concerning these issues. Stai reviewed the fiscal conditions that had brought about the need for retrenchment, the criteria that was used in selecting staff to be retained, and presented the members with a statistical report of the ratio of local to non-local employees of the agency before and after the lay off.

He identified four basic factors that had necessitated the cutback. They were the loss of monies from federal grants as a result of the recent veto of the Health Services Bill, a shortage of local funds to provide matching fund portions for state and federal grants, the slowness of state government to deliver funds earmarked for comprehensive care centers, and inflation.

Individual and unit productivity, along with assessment of individual skills, were the primary qualities which were considered in determining which employees were to be laid off, according to Stai.

"Tenure," he said, "became a factor only when necessity demanded a choice between two equally productive, equally capable staff members."

Stai then presented the group with a statistical report of the personnel profile for the entire district for both before and after the layoff. The report revealed a gain of almost 3 percent for local em-

Work Begins on Road Hazard

Photo shows bulldozer at work pushing overburden from the high rock face being cut back along a section of U.S. 23 North, near the T.C.T. Truck Stop here. Although machinery has been on the scene since November, work by the state Department of Highways on the overhang has been sporadic. Rock slides such as the one pictured have caused some damage and resulted in extended traffic tie-ups causing the work delays, but a Highways Department spokesman said it was hoped that a short detour route could be agreed upon within the week. Work on the overhanging rock wall will cut the cliff back, resulting in a 30-foot bench and hopefully eliminating future rock slides.

Budget-Makers Here Optimistic about '75

The city of Prestonsburg, in its adoption of a budget for the year 1975 does not look upon this as a "recession year."

This optimistic view is reflected in the increase in estimated revenues. Last year, the budget-makers anticipated revenues totalling $377,882. For 1975 they envision a total of $415,540. Licenses and permits, which include the occupational tax, license fees, building permits and other items, are expected to be at $211,540 this year, as compared with the anticipated $196,000 in 1974. Gains also are expected from fines, forfeitures and penalties—from $20,000 last year to $30,000 this year; and from charges for current services—from $80,000 in 1974 to $72,500 in '75.

The anticipated income from property taxes is expected to be $100,000.

Budgeted expenditures for this year follow by departments: GENERAL GOVERNMENT, $102,136. This includes $2,675 for the City Council personal and contractual services, municipal and Civil Defense; $27,470 for the mayor's office, its personal and

Waste Disposal Bids Due Today At Court Meet

The fiscal court at its meeting here this afternoon (Wednesday) will consider bids on the collection, hauling and disposal of solid waste from the county's four magisterial districts to the one county-maintained landfill on Turkey Creek, near Maytown.

The magistrates propose to issue franchises to "lowest and best" bidders for the work, but County Judge Henry Stumbo has argued that the granting of franchises is premature because the county has only the one landfill.

The search for acceptable landfill sites—one for each of the four magisterial districts—continues, but the results are not encouraging.

Also sought by the fiscal court are sites for mini-parks in at least three magisterial districts. In Magisterial District 3 a site has been procured at the mouth of Sizemore, and for District 2 the old Beson school property is being sought. Location of the District 4 mini-park has not been definitely decided, and the existence of Archer Park here makes the need for one in District 1 less urgent.

Meanwhile, officials continue to explore the possibility of a major recreation center to serve the entire county in the vicinity of Allen.

Paul Francis, of Garrett, was recently named county recreation director at a yearly salary of $9,600, and he will be involved not only in establishing and managing mini-parks but also the central recreation area when and if it becomes a reality.

Bond of Tackett Set at $25,000 As Appeal Made

A Floyd circuit court jury deliberately only 45 minutes last Wednesday before holding Greenbury Tackett, of Mud Creek, guilty of willful murder in the slaying of Carlos Hall. The penalty was set at life imprisonment.

Hall later moved to appeal the verdict, and his bond was set at $25,000.

Under authority of a Court of Appeals opinion in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Jett, the Commonwealth was permitted to introduce as evidence the statement made, soon after the slaying, by Carlos Hall, Jr., 11, although the boy repudiated the statement when called as a witness. This statement claimed Tackett had fired through a window of the Hall home at Carlos Hall and that he had earlier hit Hall in his face with a frying pan. The prosecution contended Hall was shot inside the house because a bullet was found in the wall.

The defendant denied firing the shot, claiming he was in a bedroom of the house at the time the shot was fired, and his common-law wife, Mary Ellen Ireton, testified that she was in the room with him.

The defense claimed that several persons were outside the home and that an unknown person could have fired the fatal shot through a window.

Mary Ellen Ireton was acquitted on a directed verdict after evidence was heard on unadmitted charges against her which included conspiracy to commit murder, obstructing justice, aiding and abetting murder.

County Atty. Pays 1973 Excess Fees After Audit Made

County Attorney James R. Allen announced last week that he had paid $9,429.70 for excess fees collected for the year 1973.

The payment of excess fees, Mr. Allen said, followed a state audit which he had awaited for some time. He added that he is hoping the audit for 1974 can be completed within four months and that if an undue delay is encountered he himself will have the audit made.

Under the new state law which became effective recently an official is permitted to have an audit made if the state auditor's office cannot make a prompt accounting.

When Bridges Were Walked Across

This photo, probably taken in the early 1900's, shows the old bridge which spanned the Big Sandy here and connected Prestonsburg with its railroad station. Small structure at left is the toll-house. There is no estimate of the number of persons who crossed this bridge in the years of its use, but a good part of the population of Prestonsburg met all the passenger trains, and there were four running daily in those days when travel was on foot, by horse-and-buggy or by rail.

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH
Health Educator

A nurse from the Floyd County Health Department will conduct an outpatient clinic Monday, Feb. 11 at Dr. Claude Allen's office in Martin. Clinic hours will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. with the following services being available: TB skin tests, diabetes screening, blood pressure, immunizations, and pap smears. The health department reminds all women that they should have at least one Pap smear every year because early detection and treatment can save lives. This clinic is free and open to the public.

Kentucky children are required by law to be immunized against whooping cough, polio, measles, lockjaw and diphtheria early in life . . . beginning at two months of age. Although not required by law, tetanus vaccine is highly recommended for children between the ages of one and approximately 12 years. A new combined vaccine can now give permanent protection against both measles and rubella in a single shot. Preventive vaccines are available through your private physician or at the Floyd County Health Department. Make sure all your children are fully protected.

Veterans accounted for one out of five nonfarm placements by the U. S. Employment Service and its network of 2,400 state and local employment service offices during the 1973 fiscal year.

The Whipping-Boy

Inflation is the national whipping boy in any situation which needs a one-word explanation. Even the President of the United States isn't above bearing it.

But few have been less consistent about it. President Ford, for instance, explained that he vetoed the federal strip-mine bill because its enforcement would make coal production costlier and that it, consequently, would be inflationary. Then, a few weeks later, he decided to raise the price on oil, another vital fuel, and he disregarded arguments that that, too, would be inflationary.

The human mind is a marvelous thing, and it's nothing short of the miraculous what an individual can do with it. For one thing, he can believe whatever he wants to believe.

The truth of the matter, we have twisted our mind to believe, is, both are inflationary, and certainly federal supervision of the strip-mining of coal will be no costlier than what the President has already done in raising the import prices on oil. In any event, neither fuel will suffer, since the increased costs are always passed on to the consumer.

The facts, the federal strip-mine bill was approved by at least one major coal-mining company and it has the support of members of Congress who represent coal sections of the country. These see the federal bill as a protection not only to the land but also to the industry in the eastern part of the United States.

Unless such legislation is enacted, the shift of production from Kentucky, West Virginia and other present big producers to western states could be more shocking even than inflation. State mining regulations in the west are lax, the coal there lies in easily mined seams as much as 50 feet thick and the cost of production is said to be only a fraction of mining costs in the eastern United States.

Some of these facts may cause such marvelous mental convolutions that there may be a "meeting of the minds" between environmentalists of one extreme and Eastern coal people on the other.

Letters to the Editor

Complains about City Action

This letter is a complaint against the Mayor and City Council of Prestonburg. My complaint is based on the use of the city occupational tax, wherein license fees are collected from businesses of this community, then the Mayor and City Council turn around and spend our license fees or tax collections by employing outside accounting and auditing firms from another city that had the good sense to vote against this same tax that is levied on us.

We pay this license fee to the city to benefit the City of Prestonburg, not some other community. We have an accounting firm here that collects from their employees and pays these fees to the city, besides paying large license fees on top of that. Why should I pay a license fee every year that is of no benefit to me or the city when I know this money will be spent elsewhere to a concern that does not spend one dime here in this community? If you are going to collect these taxes in town, let's keep the money in town. Stop going outside to hire people to do what our own people can and should do down.

Mt. Manor Praised

Editor, The Times:

We think the public would like to know of the excellent work being done by the Mountain Manor Nursing Home of Prestonburg, by Dr. Doug Adams, Mrs. Eleanor Robinson, Mrs. Patsy Evans and the nursing staff. During her recent illness our mother was a patient there, and we were able to observe first hand the love and care the patients received from the nursing staff.

The kindness and sympathy extended our family was greatly appreciated. We hope the people of Floyd County appreciate the work of the Mountain Manor Nursing Home, for it is truly a Nursing Home that cares.

The next day, most of the class got along reasonably well with such responses as "Give me liberty or give me death—Patrick Henry" and so on. But Noah came up next. Presumably, the same story, and Professor delivered his ultimatum: "Have your quotation ready, or out you go."

Roach began, next morning, and Noah purposely was seated "way back in the room. When his turn was only two or three pupils away, he bent toward the student nearest him, who happened to be Bev Mellon, and imploring him for help. There was some frantic whispering, and when Noah's name was called up he shot to reply.

"The less said, the less to take back—Bev Mellon."

HE COULD PLAY A HARMONICA
In my time, as they say, I have known my share of people. Many of these have been good people; some, I would call great. Some were talented, some were multi-talented. The great, the near-great, the most obscure, I remember a sizeable army of these.

But, perversely enough, my most vivid recollection of individual human beings is of a fellow who will be nameless here and whose name, if I mentioned it, would mean nothing to all but perhaps half a dozen.

He wasn't particularly tall, but his thinness of shank and body added inches to his height. He walked with a stride so long and deliberate that he appeared to squat backwards between steps. Of his features I remember best his pale-blue, watery eyes and a prominent Adam's apple bobbing about in a red necktie which he wore with whatever combination of raiment that happened to flap from his attenuated frame.

Years later, I saw him in a red necktie which he wore with whatever combination of raiment that happened to flap from his attenuated frame. I associated this man with Ichabod Crane. If this fellow worked, I seem to have missed the times when he was employed. Yet he contrived to keep himself and family going—perhaps through the industry of his wife—and he always managed to show up wearing something that tried to belittle his poverty. The red necktie, the gaily striped shirt, for instance. Those trousers of his never saw the pressing iron and they wrinkled at the back of the knees—probably as a result of those long, deliberate, rocking-horse strides of his—but somewhere scattered about his person would be a dash of color. I had an old aunt who had a word for fellows such as this—"not worth a picayune." It particularly galled folks to be working in a cornfield on a hot day and see this guy pass by and suddenly a French harp from his pocket and do "Sourwood Mountain" in jigtime. If you later heard a revolver shot, up there around the bend, you knew he had unlimbered his old Owl Head—just, as he sometimes explained, "to hear her crack."

However tight the punch for money, food, clothing, he never parted with these two valuable pieces of equipment, the harmonica and the old French harp. What were the man's dreams? Or had he dreams? Sure he had hopes and fears such as more prosaic mortals have. The man must have worried, some days, when the table in his up-bow-shack was bare. But he kept his worries to himself. Maybe he played the old French harp to chase his few worries away, or it may be that he cracked down with the old Owl Head on those enemies of hunger and cold and hopelessness.

I don't know. I can only conjecture. He never owned an automobile. An automobile?—I doubt that he ever owned a horse. He couldn't read or write. This man missed too much—the joy of reading, of communing with minds greater than his own, of almost the entire field of human knowledge. His world was circumscribed by encircling hills. He was bound to a tiny world and to the narrow range of a barren mind.

Wherever the man now lies, you couldn't by any stretch of the imagination think of him as an "unsung Milton." He just didn't amount to much. But I remember him, this ungainly caricature of a man, best of all.

And who am I to disparage him? He could play a harmonica, and that I have never been able to do.

Further action, the Board was presented with a proposal for delay in immediate action concerning release of staff from the Mary Calvert School in Pikeville as part of the retrenchment.

Carl Thacker, of Pike county, representing a group of parents of children enrolled in the Mary Calvert School, proposed that the board accept $1,500 which the group had raised in reaction to the announcement concerning the necessity for reducing the staff at the school for a two month period. This two months, he indicated, would give the group time to work out a method of providing local funds on a continuing basis which could reduce the need for cutting the staff. The board unanimously endorsed the group's effort.

Forty-two persons were present for the meeting, including 17 of the 25-member board. Members present were Willis R. Hays, Ron Friend, and Sharon Marcum, of Martin county; Jane Combs, Eva Allen Horn, Cecil Sturgill, and Dr. Daniel Spurgeon, of Floyd county; Patricia Rudd and Emma Jean Adams, of Magoffin county; Foster Frazer, Ernie Pennington, Viola Williams, and Allen Perry, of Johnson county; Dr. Mary Cox, Lena Porter, Rev. After a jury failed to agree as to his guilt or innocence of the charges of grand larceny and keeping and receiving stolen property, an agreement of the parties involved was effected, the charge was reduced to petit larceny. Cavens pleaded guilty and was given a two-year jail term.

The recent conviction of Larry Wright on a charge of transporting alcoholic beverages was set aside because the case had been transferred from county to circuit court and through error had been docketed without warrant or information. His bond was set at $500 and trial will be given on a grand jury indictment voted against him last month.

The liquor possession charge against Gordon Lee Porter was dismissed by the Commonwealth. Bonds of $1,000 each not to violate the local option laws for a period of 12 months were executed by Harold Joseph, Morgan and Cora Stone.

Ashland Oil To Expand Coal Holdings in 3 States

Ashland Oil Inc. plans to expand its coal holdings, with "special emphasis in the Appalachian area."

The company is looking primarily at coal reserves in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia, and its growth could come through the purchase or lease of virgin coal reserves or through the take-over of an existing coal company.

Shareholders at Ashland's annual meeting last Thursday were told of the broadened move into another energy area by William R. Seaton, vice chairman of the Ashland board.

Seaton also said the purchase of large tracts of coal reserves for future coal gasification or liquefaction projects is being considered. He said no capital investments have been made yet.

Ashland's initial entry into the coal business was the 48.9 per cent interest purchased several years ago in Arch Mineral Corp., St. Louis. It operates in Illinois, Wyoming and Alabama.

Board Chairman Orrin E. Atkins told the overflow crowd at the firm's executive offices here that "our objective for the future is to build upon our past accomplishments."

After commenting about the corporation's political contributions problems, Atkins reviewed Ashland's operating results for the past year and provided a look into the future.

In addition to the expanded coal operation, Atkins said Ashland will make a major push in the "higher margin chemical business." The chief executive of Kentucky's largest corporation said that "I believe that in five years our chemical operation can be contributing earnings comparable to those of our petroleum operations today."

Atkins said, "we view 1975 with a great deal of enthusiasm and expect to report improved results." For the first quarter of the present fiscal year, Ashland Oil reported the highest quarterly earnings in its history.

Miners Health Care Opens Floyd Office

Kentucky Miners Health Care Corporation announced this week the opening of a counseling office in Wheelwright.

The office will be staffed by a trained counselor who will assist any working or disabled miners or widows with their claims for benefits from the Social Security and Department of Labor Black Lung Programs and from the UMWA Welfare and Retirement Fund.

The office is located on the second floor of the Wheelwright Library Building. Office hours are 9-5 Monday through Friday; and the telephone number is 452-4943.

The program is funded by a grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission and the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health and is administered by a board of directors composed primarily of disabled and active miners.

Grover Meade, chairman of the board, said that "many of the problems which have been faced by miners and their families in the past can be avoided if they can find assistance from counselors who recognize their needs. Since services are delivered at no charge, costly legal fees can be avoided."

Explanation

The Clyde Jarrell who was listed in last week's Times as having been arrested on a drunk driving charge is not the Clyde Jarrell who lives on Cow Creek. The man who was arrested is a resident of Indiana. The Times is informed.

Contraband Liquor Stolen

Although 1974's store of confiscated intoxicants which had accumulated at the courthouse was hauled away January 21 by a state Alcoholic Control Board truck, the new year's stockpile got off to a good start with hauls such as this one made Thursday night on Branham's Creek. Deputy Sheriff Doug Lewis, who, along with Sheriff Joe Wheeler, made the arrest in the case, is pictured with the 80 cases of beer and one case whiskey which was seized.

The Sheriff's office and Prestonsburg police figured last week in widescale operations against bootlegging. One of the more dramatic cases involving an alleged bootlegger to appear in some time occurred shortly after midnight Saturday when an outbuilding at the rear of Magistrate Bill Wells' home at West Prestonsburg was broken into and a large quantity of liquor, stored for safe keeping from previous raids, was stolen. The following day, ABC Agent Arvel Nelson arrested 16-year-old James Dennis Shepherd and a juvenile after seizing 94 pints of whiskey and vodka which the youths had allegedly hidden on the hillside near the juvenile's home on Abbott Creek. The two were booked at the county jail on charges of breaking and entering and selling alcoholic beverages in dry territory.

The week's largest liquor haul resulted Thursday night after Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Doug Lewis arrested Forrest D. "Townie" Hall for drunk driving not far from his residence on Branham's Creek. Upon inspection of the pickup truck which Hall was driving the officers found 80 cases of beer and a single case of liquor. Hall was also charged with transporting and possession for purposes of sale. The truck was confiscated.

Ashland Joseph was arrested Friday night as City Policeman Craig Kilgore and Deputy Sheriffs Doug Lewis and Green Slone arrived to execute a search warrant on the premises of the Joseph's Taxi stand. According to the officers' account, Joseph attempted to flee the premises while at the same time disposing of as much of the four pints of whiskey which he allegedly had in his possession as possible. The officers seized one full pint and fractions of three others. Joseph later executed bond.

The following night, Deputy Sheriffs D. Martin, Linnie Hunt and Doug Lewis arrested Jimmy Harmon on a charge of possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale. Harmon had been observed during the day making liquor sales in the vicinity of Joseph's taxi stand and, according to officers, admitted his guilt before executing bond. Acting on a search warrant, City Policemen Dick Campbell, Andrew Lafferty, Darrell Conley, Ralph Thornsbury, and Deputy Sheriffs Doug Lewis and Green Slone confiscated a 1968 Ford

Old 'Maladies' Hit Floyd Co. Schools; Attendance Drops

Head lice infestation and body itch have become so widespread in the Floyd county schools that school authorities this week are inserting an advertisement in The Times, advising parents sanitation and treatment measures to take. Schools Superintendent Charles Clark said the outbreak apparently is confined to no one part of the county but is in practically all schools. The cause of so many cases over a wide area is not known.

The school system's two Title I nurses are working with health department nurses in an effort to bring the situation under control. The figures on the drop in attendance were not available this week, but Mr. Clark said he was certain there has been a loss. In fact, school authorities and nurses have asked parents of children who have either lice or the itch to keep them out of school until the condition is cleared up. Personal hygiene and medication available from physicians or pharmacists are suggested as remedies.

Guest-clinicians for the three-day event were: Dr. Bruce Hoagland, Eastern Kentucky University; Dr. Thomas O'Connell, Marshall University; Kenneth Lurge, Marshall University.

State Coal To Help Meet Energy Needs of Nation

Kentucky will play a critical role in helping to solve the nation's economic and energy problems, said Dr. Dee Akers on his return from President Gerald Ford's briefing on the state of the union. Dr. Akers, secretary of the state's Development Cabinet, represented Gov. Julian Carroll at the White House briefing for governors and local officials. The secretary met with the President and his cabinet to discuss the chief executive's economic and energy policies.

"It is quite clear that the nation's economic and energy problems are very serious," said Dr. Akers. "Kentucky's abundant coal resources will play an important role in solving these national problems."

The energy shortage is the major cause of this country's economic problems, he continued. "Coal represents a near-term solution to this energy problem, both as a fuel and as a source of other forms of energy."

Kentucky's proximity to northern markets is also important, Dr. Akers added. Northeastern and New England states, once heavy users of imported fuel, are particularly dependent on Kentucky's increased production.

The President's plans for national energy independence stressed the need for expanded coal production, the secretary said, as well as increased emphasis on alternative energy sources developed from coal.

Dr. Akers anticipates a wide scope of energy-related projects. He foresees "an even greater increase in coal production" for Kentucky, already leading the nation in coal production. "We'll make an effort to address our energy problems more efficiently."

"The federal government is now our partner in efforts to develop coal alternatives. We can expect them to step up their efforts, as we will increase ours," Kentuckians can expect an expansion of coal research and pilot projects in the Commonwealth. By focusing attention on the developmental phase of their work, coal researchers may accelerate the operation of demonstration liquefaction and gasification plants.

Kentucky's economy will benefit from this increase in coal activity, he continued. While the coal regions will feel the effect directly, the entire state should experience an upsurge from coal production.

"Gov. Carroll will be giving close attention to this new opportunity for Kentucky to serve the national need," said Dr. Akers. "He will rely on the Development Cabinet for new ideas toward more effective use of Kentucky's coal."

THE FAMILY

The U. S. Department of Labor was created by an Act of Congress approved March 4, 1913.

Poor persons accounted for 29 percent of nonagricultural placements by the U. S. Employment Service and its network of 2,400 state and local offices during the 1973 fiscal year.

Fourteen statewide job banks started operation during the 1973 fiscal year, bringing the total to 34 such, statewide job-finding systems, according to the U. S. Department of Labor.

NEW INVENTION THE PERIMETECTOR. Nationwide Scientific, the nation's leader in line-carrier fax transmission alarm equipment was recently awarded F.M.A. $100,000 for the new PERIMETECTOR alarm system. This unique system provides perimeter protection that scans off intruders before they set foot inside. The PERIMETECTOR will provide professional security for the first time at an extremely low price by eliminating internal wiring and large bulky units. This new concept is achieved by transmitting the violation signal over the building's existing ac wiring through new plug-in transmitter-receiver modules. Result — an extremely effective very low cost alarm system for home or business that accepts all fire and burglar alarm detecting devices available.

Cadette Troop 228 Leader, Mrs. Mary Hinchman, of Allen, has completed the first aid course offered at P.C.C. She is the only leader who is a certified first aider as of now in Floyd County. There will be courses offered in the near future if any of the other leaders are interested. The cost is $7 for eight hours.

Junior Troop 227, of Allen, Dolores Smith, leader, spent the weekend, Jan. 24 through 26, camping at Camp Chatterwa. Cadette Troop 228, of Allen, has been working toward My Country and My Government badges. January they invited Jimmy Delano Gray, teacher at Allen Elementary, to come to their meeting, and help them with these badges. His talk was most informative, and appreciated very much.

Prestonsburg has one Brownie Troop registering this month. Leader is Leva Vaughn. The troop is filled and these first through third grade girls need more leaders. Call Sandy Patton, Field Adviser, 285-3012, or Lila F. DeRossett, Service Unit Chairman, phone 874-2844 if you are willing to lead a troop.

Girl Scout Sunday Church Bulletins will be available at the Service Unit meeting Feb. 6, 7 p.m., Allen Elementary School. The leaders annual report should be turned in at that time, also. The Floyd County Service Unit Team welcomes Christine Stumbo and her Brownie Troop to the team. They are from McBowen, and are registering this month.

There is a one more patch available, now, for any scout, girl or adult into scouting. The two patches for Brownie Scouts, the International Patch and the 3 B's Patch, are now available. Ideas are now being taken for four more patches for Brownies.

Girl Scout cookies are being sold in the county now. If anyone is interested in buying them and has not been contacted, please call any girl scout or leader. They are $1.25 per box, and available in five different varieties.

A meeting for any interested scout age person and their parents will be held Feb. 2 at 2 p.m. at the Clark Elementary School. Established girl scout camping will be discussed. If interested in our camping program, please come.

The next service unit meeting will be held Feb. 6, at Allen Elementary School at 7 p.m. Any adult wishing to attend is welcome.

If you are planning to register for Girl Scouting, please try to register before Feb. 1, contact the leader in your area. Yearly fee is $2.00 for girls, and adults, male or female. Any girl or adult who brings another girl or adult into scouting will receive a patch for each new person who registers. Leaders please turn this list in to the Service Unit Chairman of your area.

At Prestonsburg High School lunch-room, February 8, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., an art and crafts program, called "Living Arts" is being conducted by James E. Seidelman, director of the Living Arts and Sciences Center in Lexington. This is for Junior Scouts and the cost is 75 cents per scout. Leaders please register your troops early. Only 100 girls will be accepted from Area 4.

A Home Nurse First Aid course will be taught Feb. 11, Feb. 18, and March 11, at Allen Elementary School—and is open to the public. Time 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

An International Workshop will be held for leaders at Johnson County Library, 7 a.m., Feb. 13.

National Mines Expansion Told

The National Mines Corp., of which George E. Evans, Jr., of Lexington, formerly of this county, is president, will move into new and greatly expanded quarters in the Bank of Lexington building next summer. It was announced last week.

David E. Bayer, formerly of Prestonsburg, has been named vice-president of National Mines' southern division, and John C. Owens is vice-president and controller of the northern division. Both Bayer and Owens will be based in Lexington.

National Mines' new quarters will have from 20,000 to 30,000 square feet of office space and will occupy between 70 and 100 persons. Now located in Lexington's IBM building, it has a staff of about 25.

National Steel recently bought the Kepler Mine in Pineville, W. Va., from Consolidation Coal Co. in a reported multimillion-dollar transaction. It will be operated by National Mines, which has other holdings in Pennsylvania, Eastern Kentucky, Arkansas and Illinois. National Mines now owns or leases some 200,000 acres.

The mines unit presently does practically all its digging for National Steel's own coke-making needs, but the new purchase may allow it to sell millions of tons to outside firms.

National Steel said the Kepler purchase was to assure itself of sufficient low-volatile metallurgical coal, which it termed "as critical to steel making as iron ore."

National Mines is also major Eastern Kentucky coal producer with mines in the upper Right Beaver Creek section of Knott county.

There are 10 regional directors of the U. S. Department of Labor, who represent the Secretary of Labor and coordinate the Department's activities in states under their jurisdiction.

Congratulates Trooper of the Year

Governor Carroll congratulates Kenneth R. DeBoard, of Johnson county, upon DeBoard's selection as Kentucky State Trooper of the Year. Mrs. DeBoard, the former Billah Campbell, of Hippo, this county, is seated, left.

Opinions from Office of Attorney General

Hirman M. Brock, Jr., Harlan attorney, stated that his city wishes to purchase land that has been considered low class housing. Half of the area is owned by a member of the city council. Mr. Brock asked whether or not the purchase of this land from the councilman would create a conflict of interest. It is the opinion of the Attorney General's Office that a member of the city council is prohibited from being directly or indirectly interested in any contract with the city. If the city desires to acquire this land by condemnation of the property, the councilman in question should refrain from voting on the measure.

Nat Ryan Hughes, Murray attorney, inquired if it were valid for the Murray-Galloway County Hospital to operate a pharmacy located in a medical arts building owned by the hospital. The pharmacy would dispense medicines, drugs, appliances and accessories to the public and would be run by the hospital on an out-patient basis. It is the opinion of the Office of the Attorney General that the hospital does not have the authority to own and operate a pharmacy which serves the public at large rather than just persons confined to the hospital. Such a pharmacy would be in competition with, and be providing services available from, other private pharmacies in the area.

Kenneth S. Handmaker, Louisville attorney, asked if an electro-mechanical pinball machine which takes a quarter would be considered a gambling device. Since the laws governing the acceptability of pinball machines is very specific, it is the opinion of the Attorney General's Office that any pinball machine which takes more than a dime is a gambling device.

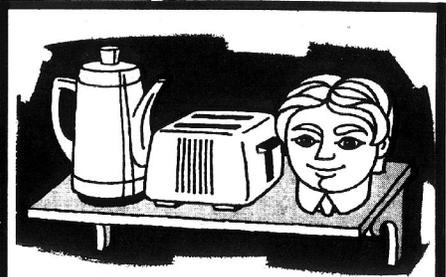

James P. Dailey, Louisville tax director, required an opinion on what exactly could be described as "necessary office expenses" and therefore eligible to be taken out of the county sheriff's 75 per cent account in the state treasury. Specifically, Mr. Dailey referred to the situation in which an accountant requested tuition payments for taking courses to improve her job-related capabilities. It is the opinion of the Attorney General's Office that nowhere in the Constitution is it suggested that local or state government funds can be spent for services to be performed in the future by a government employee. Therefore, neither the panel of circuit judges nor the county judge can authorize the sheriff to pay the tuition out of his account.

ATTENTION!

School authorities and the school health nurses would like to inform the parents of children in the Floyd County School System that there appears to be a countywide outbreak of head lice and of itch.

They advise that every parent examine their children at regular intervals for signs of either problem.

The head louse is a small, gray, wingless insect that lives among the hairs of the scalp. They lay their eggs, which are small, white objects that cling to the hair, and are usually easier to see than the louse. The louse causes irritation of the scalp and persistent head scratching, and red marks at the hairline are a clue to the fact that your child may have lice.

If your child does have lice, treatment should be obtained immediately from either your family doctor or your local drug store. Along with medical treatment, sterilizing of all combs, bed linens, towels, caps and coats by washing them in extremely hot water in a washer is necessary. Mattresses, pillows, living room couches and chairs, rugs of all types, including carpet, should be sprayed with an insecticide or insect repellent.

The itch is caused by a small mite burrowing into the skin, causing a rash or breaking out. The hands and feet are usually the early sites of the rash, but it may be seen first on any other part of the body. The terrible and severe itching at night is probably the most noticeable sign of the mite infestation.

Itch is acquired through direct contact with other people who have the itch, and thus explains the problem controlling it in the school children and among members of the same family.

Any child with rash, whether you believe it to be itch or not, should be taken to your family doctor for treatment immediately! Scratching from the rash could cause boils or sores.

Ordinarily, washing and cleaning destroys the mites in clothing. Treatment should include all members of the family.

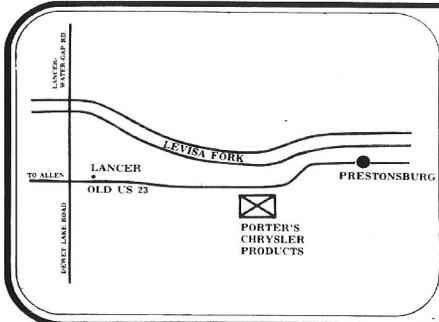

School authorities and school nurses ask that if your child has either lice or a rash, to please keep him home from school until the condition is cleared up or until you have a signed statement from your doctor that the child does not have lice or itch.

Exhibits at Park at Record Number

Ken Ratcliff, of Martin, with his prize-winning work in the birds and animals category. At right, the grand prize winning entry by Raymond Williams, of Kingsport, Tennessee.

This year's Artists' Photographers' Winter Week-end, which was concluded Saturday evening at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, saw a greater number of art exhibits entered than ever before.

Six hundred twenty-seven pieces of art, which were exhibited during this fourth annual two-day show, represented some of the finest painters and photographers in Kentucky as well as contributors from surrounding states. In addition, artists and art enthusiasts were able to attend discussions and seminars conducted by such artists as C. G. Morehead, of Owensboro, Raymond Williams, Kingsport, Tennessee, and photographer Bill Rogers, of Frankfort.

Williams' grand prize entry was a water color of a ruined cabin in a woodland setting. Ken Ratcliff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Ratcliff, of Martin, won first place in the birds and animals category.

First place winners in other categories included the following:

PAINTING-SKETCHING—Mrs. Russell McClannahan, Irvine, oil still life; Bill Tackett, Ashland, oil landscape-seascape; Cliff Johnson, Morehead, acrylic landscape; Barbara Morgan, Winchester, acrylic still life; Holly VanMeter, Winchester, pastel still life, and Harold Collins, Lexington, watercolor, still life and sketching.

PHOTOGRAPHY—Ceal Straughan, Winchester, character study; Melissa Mulliken, Pikeville, still life; Allen Parker, Lexington, nature study; Jim Mellon, Lexington, pictorial; Chela Richardson, Lexington, unclassified, and Jim Ross, Lexington, creative.

Other winners in the Eastern Kentucky section included: Melissa Mulliken of Pikeville, third, pictorial; Ken Fuller of Pikeville, third in photo journalism; Lynn Akers of Harold, abstract; Al Harold, abstract; Chela Richardson of Slade, watercolor-animals; Harold Collins, watercolor-still life; Ken Ratcliff of Martin, acrylic, birds; Gary Akers of Greshel, pencil and ink; and Vivian Hale, of Prestonsburg, watercolor-still life.

Park Recreation Director Ted Hall said the Winter Week-end participants discussed plans for next year's exhibit and decided to alter judging categories somewhat. At the next exhibit, he explained, entrants will be given the choice of participating in either amateur or professional categories. Professional artists will pay an entry fee of $4.00 while amateurs will pay a $2.00 fee and prizes will be awarded in the two categories.

An added "boost" to the already successful Clifford Week-end was the presence this year of Kentucky Commissioner of Parks Bruce Montgomery. Hall said the new commissioner was "really impressed" with the exhibit and vowed to "support the event in all possible ways."

Park Features "Special" Weekends

With a variety of activities both educational and unusual, three February week-ends will be especially entertaining at Kentucky's Lake Cumberland State Resort Park, near Jamestown.

February 7, and 8 will be an Archaeology "Weekend" (Friday and Saturday), featuring relic displays, field trips and programs on the area's earliest history.

Activities will begin Friday night with presentations concerning the primitive civilizations along the Cumberland River and the Indians and buffalo herds that roamed Kentucky.

On Saturday, archaeological experts will lead field trips to pertinent sites, and at the lodge, demonstrations of Indian pottery making and flint knapping (arrowhead making) will be held. Also, various Indian crafts and rare collections or archaeological relics will be on display.

The following "weekend," February 14 and 15, will feature square dancing for beginners—a "crash course" on the basic movements. There'll be a lot of music and dancing during this Parks Special for the entire family to enjoy.

Next, a little of the Old West takes over at Lake Cumberland during "Buffalo Weekend," February 21 and 22.

From the dining room's chuck wagon, the "true American beef" will be served up in different ways. There'll be buffalo steaks and chops, buffalo burgers and some favorite Western dishes.

The main fare is available because of a mandatory reduction of the oversized buffalo herd in Western Kentucky's Land Between the Lakes.

After-dinner get-togethers Friday and Saturday evenings will include square dancing and informative programs on the history of the buffalo.

Kentucky Leads U.S. In Coal Production

Kentucky, the nation's leader in coal production last year, produced an estimated 54 per cent of its 130 million tons by surface mining, a method which has been employed more from year to year. Yet the number of underground mines in the state increased during the year to 1,434 from 767 in 1973. The increase in licensed surface mines in the state followed that of strip-mining, proportionately—from 646 in 1973 to 1,434 last year. Tonnage-wise, surface mining was the big gainer. In 1973 the two methods were at a standoff in production figures, but last year deep mining fell to 46 per cent. Kentucky forged ahead of neighboring West Virginia in coal production in 1973 and has maintained that lead to date. West Virginia, with strip-mining outlawed in 22 of its counties, has never produced more than 22 per cent of its tonnage by surface mining. In all, West Virginia produced 105 million tons last year.

The shift to underground mining in Eastern Kentucky has been made almost exclusively by large corporations with extensive coal holdings because of the heavy initial costs of such an operation. Pike and Martin counties have been centers of underground as well as surface mining. Floyd, with its big underground coal deposits already mined, except the deposits which may later be reached by slope or shaft mining, join Knott, Magoffin, Breathitt and other counties of the area strip-mine centers. Some coal men hold that when the official figures are all in, sometime this summer, they will show that Kentucky mined nearer 135 million tons of coal than the 130 million now estimated. This production was recorded, despite a 19-day strike and a five-day "memorial period" which slowed UMWA operations. At this time coal prices are down from last year's record which went as high as $80 a ton for metallurgical coal and up to $60 for less valuable coal, most of which was surface-mined. This "leveling off" of prices, coal men say, followed the end of the strike when coal-buyers felt they had enough fuel on hand to wait for prices to settle. They expect prices to rise again, later this year. But the market for "job piles" and "anything that's black" no longer exists.

Title Law Debate Continues

BY HERB BROCK FRANKFORT, Ky.—The idea of enacting a vehicle title law in Kentucky recently received the public support of a number of key state and local officials and businessmen, but debate continued over how such a law should be administered.

The largely qualified support came at a public hearing conducted by a special interim legislative subcommittee, which is drafting title law legislation for the 1976 General Assembly. Giving testimony were the Kentucky County Court Clerks Association, Kentucky
Automobile Dealers Association, Bureau of State Police and state Department of Transportation.

While most agreed that a title law should require such things as two documents as proof of ownership, opinion was split on whether the law should be administered at the state or local level.

A spokesman for the state police urged enactment of a completely centralized title law on the grounds that it would help in the effort to find stolen vehicles. But the county clerks and auto dealers raised objections to a "central issue," while giving support to local issue. Their objections were that a title law would:

—Place an added "financial burden" on the consumer of $5 or $6 per title certificate and increase paperwork for clerks and dealers;

—Delay by as much as two months the dealer's receipt of the title from Frankfort.

—Curb revenues for county court clerks. (The Christian County court clerk figures a loss of $35,000 in recording fees would be brought on by a centrally administered title law.)

In the past, court clerks and auto dealers have banded together in opposition to any form of an auto title law, on the other hand, proponents of such a law have claimed that without it, Kentucky has become a dumping ground for stolen vehicles.

Kentucky is the only state in the nation without a vehicle title law.

William Curlin, Jr., a Frankfort attorney representing the auto dealers association, said his group would again join the clerks, this time supporting "any title law bill endorsed by the clerks."
That means both groups will be working for a bill calling for a locally administered title law.

Under the Ohio title law, which was used as a model by many of the clerks, the counties would issue the titles but also would send Frankfort a copy for a central file. Currently, vehicle registration numbers and other information are sent to Frankfort as one page of the annual forms filed out when car owners buy license tags.

Lt. Richard McQuown, head of the State Police Auto Theft Section, said both the present system and the Ohio proposal are unacceptable.

McQuown said that 15-18 per cent of the forms submitted by the county court clerks have errors. He also said a form with wrong numbers on it is useless in tracking down stolen vehicles.

Marshall Davenport, Pulaski county court clerk, contended that, while Kentucky "probably needs an auto title law, it won't deter thieves from stealing cars."

McQuown agreed that it may not curb vehicle thefts, but a title law "would help greatly in the effort to catch the thieves and recover the vehicles."

In an earlier interview, McQuown reported that the state police are stepping up their efforts to nab vehicle thieves and recover stolen vehicles under a recently launched incentive program.
He said the program should result in "at least a 50 per cent increase in arrests and recoveries," but indicated that an auto vehicle title law was still "badly" needed.

Among the points McQuown made in support of central over local issue of vehicle titles were these:

—Uniformity of filing and issuance is guaranteed at the state level, but now is seldom achieved with 120 different clerks working under a locally administered law.

—Each vehicle could be checked for stolen or wanted identification before registration, which would not be the case under local administration.

—A higher percentage of property taxes would be collected due to correct mailing addresses, which would not be so under local issue.

—Titles issued from one location stand less a chance of being stolen.

On that last point, McQuown said titles issued from 120 different locations (counties), which also means separate shipment of documents to the clerks, "presents a serious security problem." A person who steals a blank title normally can sell it for more than $100, he said.

He also said the Ohio title law, which was supported by many of the clerks at the hearing, suffers those kinds of security problems which he was trying to bring to light for the subcommittee.
Subcommittee chairman state Rep.
Steven Beshear, D-Lexington, directed his staff to draft a bill which later will be submitted to all sides for their reactions and suggestions.

Richard D. Carson Named General Superintendent of MAPCO's Pontiki Mine

TULSA, Oklahoma—Robert E. Thomas, chairman and president of MAPCO, Inc. has announced the appointment of Robert D. Carson as general superintendent of MAPCO's new Pontiki mine in Martin County, Ky. He will be responsible for the mine development and overall mining operations.

Mr. Carson began his career in the coal industry in 1968 with Pittsburg and Midway Coal Mining Company as a mine engineer and later as drilling and blasting foreman. In November, 1970 he joined Island Creek Coal Company as manager of contract mines and worked as a section foreman and finally as superintendent of several underground mines and preparation plants for Island Creek. In May, 1973 Mr. Carson joined National Mines Corporation where he was superintendent of two underground coal mines and a preparation plant when he left National Mines to join MAPCO.

Mr. Carson received his bachelor's degree in mining engineering at the Colorado School of Mines and a master of science degree in industrial technology from the Kansas State College.

Mr. Carson will continue his residence near Prestonsburg, Kentucky, with his wife and one child.

UMW Fund Offers Long-term Benefits To Some Miners' Wives

WASHINGTON—Widows of miners killed or totally disabled in accidents in mines employing members of the United Mine Workers of America (UMWA) are eligible for UMWA Health and Retirement Funds health benefits until their deaths or remarriage, the Funds trustees announced.

Funds Health Service Cards, used by holders to obtain medical and hospital care and certain drugs, will be sent to widows backdated to December 6, 1974, the date the Bituminous Coal Wage Agreement of 1974 became effective. The trustees wish to remind all such widows that the costs for medical treatment received between December 6, 1974, and the time they receive their Health Service Cards will be paid for by the Funds, provided it is of the type covered by the Funds' program.

Widows who are unsure of either what medical services the Funds provide or what physicians in their areas are on the Funds' participating list should contact the Funds Regional Office nearest them.

Under the terms of the new contract, widows of miners killed or totally disabled in mine accidents join the widows of pensioners in having eligibility for Funds Health Service Cards extended until death or remarriage.

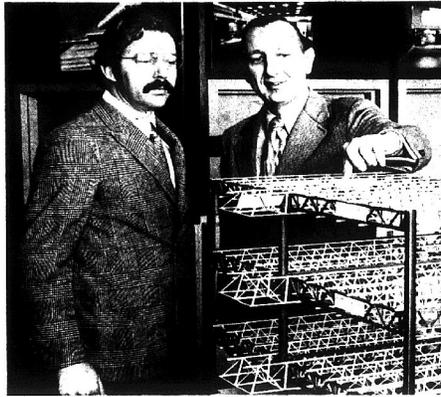

Application forms for the Health Service Cards may be obtained at Funds Regional Offices, UMWA District Offices or by writing Funds headquarters at 201 K St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

"Due to the enormous amount of applications, there could be some delay between the time a widow mails her application and the time she receives her card," Fund Director Martin B. Danzer said. "We apologize for any delays and ask widows to be patient since the applications are being processed as quickly as possible."

Pensioners' widows already holding Health Service Cards and receiving Funds survivors benefits will have their eligibility extended automatically. It is not necessary for these widows to file applications.

The Funds have Regional Offices in Beckley and Morgantown, W. Va.; Birmingham, Ala.; Denver, Colo.; Evansville, Ind.; and Johnstown, Pennsylvania.

Bakes Bread, Talks about Lincoln

By HELEN PRICE STACY

The kitchen was warm and smelled of the heady sweetness of homemade bread. Standing at the doughboard, her hands heavy but graceful, she kneaded the dough into small loaves.

Mrs. Mide Wyant, of Campton, who was 90 on Dec. 9, is active and alert and loves to make bread.

Although she is noted for her bread, Mrs. Wyant is even more famous for her relationship with Abraham Lincoln. Her mother, Laura Ann Hanks, was the granddaughter of Fielding Hanks, a brother of Nancy Hanks Lincoln, mother of Abraham Lincoln.

Abraham Lincoln's uncle and aunt, Fielding and Lydia Harper Hanks, are buried on a hill east of Campton, as are Fielding's son, Cutberth, and wife, Lillie Ann Garrett Hanks.

"There are only two by the name of Hanks left in Campton," added Mrs. Wyant. "There's Fred, son of mother's brother, Boone Hanks, and Roy, son of another brother, Columbus Hanks."

The bread baked and her story told, Mrs. Wyant started on another family story, but then, looking at the clock, she said, "That can wait till next time."

Col. Wyant (she's a Kentucky Colonel) is not only popular in her home area but is sought by genealogists who are trying to trace a connection with Abraham Lincoln through the Hanks family. "I always tell them they know more about the 'Hanks family' than I do."

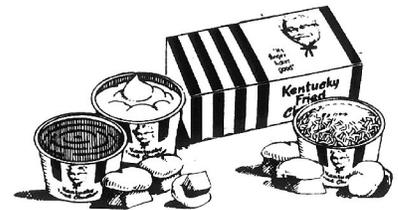

Fielding Hanks, brother of Nancy Lincoln, was an officer in early Morgan county and built the first cabin in Campton. His son, Cutberth M. Hanks, represented Wolfe county in the Legislature in 1863-65. Cutberth also helped form Wolfe county from parts of Morgan, Powell, Owsley and Breathitt counties in 1860.

"Nathaniel Wolfe, a Louisville attorney, assisted my grandfather," recalled Mrs. Wyant, "and when the attorney asked what they would name the new county, my grandfather replied, 'Why, Wolfe, of course.'"

Mrs. Wyant said she wishes now she had written down family stories as they were told when she was a child. "I recall many times old ones talking about the Hankses and their connection with Lincoln. I never wrote any of it down and now I have to rely on my memory."

She remembered her mother saying her grandfather and Lincoln played together. She added that "the Lincolns went to live just this side of Hodgenville on some creek and mother said C. M. Hanks went there to visit them just before the family left to live a short time just over the Wabash River near Vincennes, Indiana."

Akers-Carpenter Vows Said

The open-church wedding of Miss Teresa Ann Akers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Akers, of Dana, Ky., to Mr. Dwight Carpenter, son of Mrs. Laura Carpenter, of Gage, Ky., and the late Kenny Carpenter, was solemnized at 4 p.m. Saturday, January 4, at the Boldman Freewill Baptist Church, Boldman, Kentucky.

The Rev. Arnold B. Johnson officiated at the double-ring service. The vows took place before an altar of brass arch candleabra, decorated with greenery of spengleri, ivy and Baker fern.

Debbie Bradley was at the piano to play wedding music and the traditional processional and recessional wedding marches. She accompanied the soloist, Dianna Harmon, who sang "Till," "The Twelfth of Never" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory silk organza, fashioned along princess lines, with a victorian collar. The gown features a bodice and long, fitted sleeves of chuny lace with clusters of seed pearls. The sheer organza skirt was accented with appliques of lace and pearls and trimmed with a deep lace flounce at the hemline. The fingertip mantilla was trimmed in matching chuny lace. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias, white roses, and greenery of pittosporum.

Miss Brawnie Lea Hall, of Harold, Ky., served as maid of honor. Miss Wanda Cornett, of Jackson, Ky., and Miss Debbie Dainy, of Wilmington, Ohio, were bridesmaids. The attendants were attired in identically styled floor-length gowns of burgundy and ivory polyester jersey. Their floral hairpieces were pink miniature carnations, tipped maroon, and they carried cascade bouquets of miniature pink carnations tipped maroon, straw flowers and greenery.

Miss Gwendolyn Akers, sister of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a pink floor-length gown styled to match the attendants and carried a basket of flowers with pink carnations in the center.

Don Carpenter of Lexington, Ky., brother of the bride-groom, served as best man. Jimmy Allen Akers, of Dana, brother of the bride, and Kenny Carpenter, II, of Jackson, Ky., brother of the bridegroom, were ushers. Michael Todd Akers, of Lexington, cousin of the bride, served as ringbearer.

Mrs. Akers attended her daughter's wedding in a pink street-length dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was a gardenia.

Mrs. Carpenter, mother of the bride-groom, wore an aqua street-length dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Mrs. Myrtle Akers, paternal grandmother of the bride, wore a grey and white street-length dress and matching accessories, and Mrs. Bertha Williams, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a pink and brown street length dress with brown accessories. Their corsages were of gardenias.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with an ivory lace linen and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, surrounded by centerpieces of pink carnation and greenery with pink miniature candles. Assisting at the reception were Miss Donna Coleman, Miss Teresa Coleman, Mrs. Francis Akers, Mrs. Jimmy Allen Akers, Mrs. Michael Akers, Mrs. William Ronald David, Mrs. Robert Knapp, Mrs. Walter Akers and Miss Debbie Williams who presided at the register.

The newlyweds are residing at Gage, Kentucky.

Happy days are here again.

93 miles per hour? We obviously don't recommend it, but it is reassuring to know that as you get onto a hectic expressway, a new Volkswagen Rabbit Hatchback has the power for incredible acceleration. From 0 to 50 in only 8.2 seconds. Quicker than a Monza 2-2. 38 miles per gallon? That's what the Rabbit averaged on the highway in the 1975 model Federal Environmental Protection Agency fuel economy tests. The Rabbit in the city averaged a nifty 24. Not bad for a sub-compact with all the interior room of some mid-size cars. $2,999? That's what you pay for the car backed by the most complete and advanced car coverage plan in the business: The Volkswagen Owner's Security Blanket with Computer Analysis. Happy days are here again? We think you'll think so after you've driven a Rabbit.

Cost-of-Living Pay Increases in Effect

One hundred twenty thousand coal miners working under UMW contract will receive this month the first cost-of-living raise in their history, UMW President Arnold Miller announced last week.

Miller said that coal miners will receive the maximum first quarter increase of 7 cents per hour starting with their first paycheck for work performed in the month of February.

Miller said that miners will receive quarterly cost-of-living wage raises throughout the life of the contract. Miners will receive a 96 cents per hour wage raise by the end of the 3-year contract period if inflation continues at present levels, he said.

After the second year of the contract, cost-of-living wage increases will be rolled into all other benefits such as overtime, vacations, and sick pay, Miller said. The union president said the next cost-of-living wage raise will become effective May 1.

The initial application to get backlot surfacing of the parking lot at the board offices here was made at the meeting, and the board approved a rate of rental paid Mrs. Melba Dyer on the Title I storage building at Allen. The monthly rental was increased from $90 to $125.

Hospital Here Asks Med-Surgical Beds

The Kentucky Department for Human Resources (DHR) has received applications from two Big Sandy area hospitals which, because of their estimated costs, come under the jurisdiction of Section 112 of the Social Security Act. This segment of the law applies to capital expenditures by health care facilities which, if not justified by increased services or efficiency, could result in unreasonable increases in costs to patients.

The Highlands Regional Medical Center, Prestonsburg, wants to reclassify 25 skilled-nursing beds to acute medical-surgical care beds.

The Methodist Hospital, Pikeville, proposes to construct and equip a radiation therapy unit at a cost of $272,000.

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council will review these proposals at Lexington on Feb. 11-12. The reviews are open to the public.

The Department for Human Resources also has received an application from the Kentucky River Emergency Medical Services Plan to establish an emergency service for the region.

The estimated cost of this project, $457,600, places it under the jurisdiction of Section 112 of the Social Security Act.

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council will review this proposal at Lexington on Feb. 11-12. The review is open to the public.

Heart Fund Names Floyd-Co. Chairman

The appointment of Mrs. Robert Beatty, of Prestonsburg, to serve as county co-chairman in the 1975 Floyd county Heart Fund drive has been announced by Kentucky Campaign Chairman Jesse Stuart.

Mr. Stuart pointed out that, through his association with Heart, he has come to know first-hand of the "almost miraculous progress" science has made in the fight against heart and blood vessel diseases, and of how the Kentucky Heart Association, by its effective use of Heart Fund dollars in the state's communities, hospitals and medical laboratories, has vitally furthered this progress.

The statewide Heart Fund appeal began with Coffee Day February 4, and continues through the month with the annual door-to-door solicitation on Heart Sunday, February 22.

"Who's going to listen to me? I'm just one voice."

Do you really think God is going to let you get away with that?

Of course, you'd like to help make the world a better place. Maybe you can't do it alone. But there's plenty you can do with others at your local church or synagogue. Example: one religious group helped the Navajos set up a cooperative trading post on their reservation. Now the Indians can purchase goods at a lower price. Even more important, they've learned that other people care about them. The God we worship expects all of us to help our brothers and sisters.

Start treating your brothers and sisters like brothers and sisters. RELIGION IS AMERICAN LIFE Ad Council A Public Service of This Newspaper & The Advertising Council
