Plans Call For Relief On Housing

Two Projects Here File for Financing Of 174 Family Units

Housing, which for months has been the despair of hundreds of persons in the Big Sandy region, could become less of a crisis situation if primary plans submitted for financing are approved.

Prestonsburg and Paintsville each have two such projects in the works, and Pikeville and Inez have one each.

The Prestonsburg City Council Thursday night unanimously approved an application by the Prestonsburg Housing Commission to the state Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for financing of a housing project at Cliff which would provide 94 moderate income, multi-family units.

The application, which was submitted to the HUD office in Louisville on September 18, asks a loan of $1,875,400 to cover construction cost of the project.

Location of the apartment complex, which would have 18 one-bedroom units for the elderly, 8 other one-bedroom units, 40 of two bedrooms and 30 three-bedroom units, would be on the 6.1-acre industrial site owned by the non-profit Prestonsburg Industrial Development Corporation. The tract is the smaller of two industrial sites which have for years remained vacant in the Cliff vicinity. The other 10-acre bottom will remain open for use by prospective industry. The name of the complex would be Hickory Hill Apartments.

Prestonsburg, Ltd. has filed application for approval of the construction of 80 family units on a five-acre tract on the Lancer-Water Gap road. The construction, which would provide 40 two-bedroom units, 30 of three bedrooms and 10 of four bedrooms, would cost an estimated $1,438,200.

The project, however, has run into a sewage problem, because of its location upstream from the Prestonsburg water intake site. The Division of Water has pointed out that it is its current policy not to approve any wastewater discharges within five miles from a downstream domestic water supply intake, and the Bull Creek location is less than that distance.

Paintsville has in the same preliminary stages a development of 44 family units, and another outside the city to be known as Hillside Manor which would have 32 units.

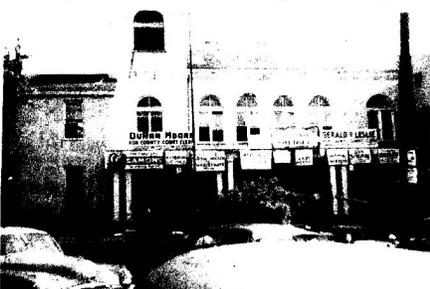

The Pikeville project, proposed by the Centennial Company, would have 50 units of two and three bedrooms on a tract 600 by 350 feet.

Creekview Manor is in the planning for Inez with 24 family units to be built on a tract of 149.575 square feet.

It Was Our Mistake

In the October 8 issue of The Times, the name of Deputy Sheriff Doug Lewis appeared on the same line as that of a person listed for drunk driving, apparently raising speculation on the part of some people that Lewis had been arrested for drunk driving. Lewis' name was printed on this line purely as a mistake on our part. We would like to emphasize that Deputy Sheriff Lewis was not arrested for drunk driving or any other offense and would like to apologize for any confusion this mistake might have caused.

Days When Politics Caught the Eye

This Town...That World

Red, White, Blue Observance Set

When I called at the grocer's the other evening for a bottle of Castoria, I got a look almost as searching as the time when I invested in a king size bottle of skin brazer. Is there no respect for age?

HOME IS THE HUNTER

I am working on the case, but chances of its solution are not bright. The problem at hand is learning about Circuit Clerk Frank Dorsett's elk hunt. He declines to talk about this trip to Wyoming except to say that the snow was pretty deep and that he returned home, a bit early.

I know how he feels. I go fishing when I can, and the weather is usually such that I would rather forget the whole matter. If I can, once I am back home and the sun is shining as if it would never storm again.

FORTUNATELY, I FORGOT

It is with no great chagrin that I report I clean forgot last week was Newspaper Week and so missed another opportunity to do a bit of chest-pounding and pointing with pride, and so on. But as it has passed just as well that I forgot. As sure as I had pointed with pride somebody would have humbled me by pointing to some of my boobies.

"What's Right with America" will be proclaimed in speech, music and pageant Saturday when the sixth annual Red, White and Blue Day will bring its thousands to Prestonsburg.

Military units, veterans' organizations and plain citizens will join hundreds of pupils from schools of this and other counties in the day-long celebration.

An 11-man Army color guard from Ft. Knox, a Marine Corps Reserve color guard from Lexington, upwards of 50 members of the Kentucky National Guard unit here and another contingent from the Pikeville National Guard unit will take part in the program. The parade of floats, school bands and pupils will be enlivened by the presence of members of Oleika and El Hasa Shriners. The parade will travel on Lake Drive (old US 23) from Graham street to the Prestonsburg High School fieldhouse, and at its conclusion the Miss Red, White and Blue pageant will be held there.

Between 20 and 25 girls will compete for the title of Miss Red, White and Blue, 1975.

Kentucky Educational Television (KET) will film activities of the day for later showing, and will have a float in the parade bearing its mini-board officers. KET also will present a video tape, "Bert T. Combs, Distinguished Kentuckian," in the circuit courtroom from 10:55 a.m. to 1 p.m., and will have a tent in the nearby parking lot which will house closed-circuit television.

At the end of the day the Garrett Chapter, DAV, will sponsor a square dance at the municipal parking lot from 6 to 10 p.m.

Kiwanis Pancake Day To Be Held Saturday

The Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club will have its annual Pancake Day Saturday from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Prestonsburg High School cafeteria.

Proceeds of Pancake Day are used for the purchase of glasses for indigent children who have defective vision.

More Parking Areas Being Prepared

This parking area, running from Arnold Avenue to U.S. 23, is one of two new lots which will provide parking for 180 vehicles. The other area is located adjacent to the Prestonsburg Grade School grounds. Bituminous surfacing of the lots is expected to begin this week. Cost of the work will be $37,880.

4 of 5 Projects Given Priority Are for Water

Four of five area projects given priority by the Big Sandy Area Development District (Big Sandy ADD) board of directors at its meeting last week in Paintsville call for extension of water services to communities.

The priority package was decided upon as an implementation of long-sought cooperative area planning, and it evolved from Congressman Carl D. Perkins, principal speaker at the meeting, hearty approval.

The congressman said, "This makes my job easier." He referred to the removal of competition between counties in the quest for loans and grants from federal agencies for public projects as the ADD board considers the needs at the area level and marks those which should be given priority.

Congressman Perkins said he would like to see $40-$50 million made available for his district to meet water and sewer needs.

The new method of establishing district priorities did not skip any county. In the priority package for the current fiscal year are:

Two water extension projects for Floyd county, one for Pike and one for Johnson, and a stream improvement project at Salyersville. Martin county has proposed two studies for downtown Inez improvement.

Approval was given plans for expansion of both the Prestonsburg and Paintsville water treatment plants to a daily capacity of 3 million gallons each. Also viewed is a plan to link the two.

Two Court Actions Ask Pay for Coal

Separate circuit court actions filed within the week by coal-producers seek to collect from Adams Enterprises, Inc. a total of $39,969.62 for coal which plaintiffs claim Adams bought from them.

Dorsa Industries, Inc. "An Ashland-based firm, claims that on the basis of a verbal contract it delivered 906.58 tons of coal last December to Adams at $25 a ton and an additional $65.31 tons in May at $17 a ton. The suit claims that the coal was to be paid for within seven days after delivery date but that the defendant paid only $10,000 last May 6, leaving $22,274.37 due.

In the second suit Bobby McGlothin, Tom Porter and Tom Westfall, doing business as the M. P. W. Co., a partnership, claims to have delivered 1,179.09 tons of coal to Adams at $15 a ton last July, and that the sale price of $17,686.35 is unpaid.

Stewart Adams was listed as the defendant firm's principal officer. (Damage suits present only the plaintiff's version of such cases.)

State Commits Comp Case Funds

A commitment by the state of $250,000 made last Friday apparently assures federal funding of Mountain Comprehensive Care for perhaps the next nine months. Richard Stai, executive director of the multi-county health agency, said here Tuesday.

The state's contribution, plus federal funds, will give Mountain Comprehensive Care $1.3 million with which to carry on its program of mental health care and other activities.

The turn of events retrieved MCC's program from threat of extinction, or, at best, from a reduced program.

With the funding now held certain, no parts of the program are expected to be lost, and Mr. Stai said there will be no major layoff of personnel.

Without state help, which was necessary to gain other funding, Mountain Comprehensive Care would have been forced to eliminate such programs as its Greenhouse Project, day care centers, Help Line and services to alcoholics.

65 Are Notified For Jury Duty

Sixty-five residents of the county have been notified to appear here for possible jury service at the circuit court term which will convene Nov. 10.

One murder trial is docketed for the term, that of Gene Salisbury, charged with the slaying of Crit Butler. A second murder hearing is possible if extradition of Bobby Workman is granted by Michigan authorities. Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo said recently he had been assured of Workman's return here but this week he was told the extradition has not been cleared by the state of Michigan. Workman is charged with the slaying on Arkansas Creek of James Chaffins.

Names and addresses of those notified for jury service follow:

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of Jane Porter, wish to express our gratitude to each and everyone who assisted in any way during the illness and passing of our mother. Your many gifts of food, flowers, and kind words were deeply appreciated. We wish to extend a special thanks to the doctors and nursing staff of the Highland Regional Hospital. The kind words of the United Baptist ministers and especially the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for it's kind and efficient service. Your kind words and deeds are too numerous to mention. We thank you all. Not till the loom is silent and the shutter cease to fly. Shall God unroll the canvas and explain the reason why. The dark threads are as needful in the weaver's skillful hand. As the threads of gold and silver in the pattern He has planned. God Bless everyone who knew "Maw" THE FAMILY It od

Observes 92nd Birthday

The family and friends of Mrs. Hattie Porter gathered in the lounge of Highlands Regional Medical Center, Saturday, Oct. 11, to help her celebrate her 92nd birthday.

Granny Porter, as she is affectionately known there, is a lifelong resident of the Left Beaver Creek section. Before breaking her hip and becoming confined to the hospital in January, she was an active member in her daughter's home, Mrs. Grace Braddock, of Martin. She was a seamstress by profession and still sews a fine seam, making book markers for her friends.

Her favorite part of the day is when a volunteer or friend comes by for Bible reading and prayer.

Mrs. Porter received three cakes, two baked by Marie Stephens, of Langley, and one given by second floor personnel of the hospital. After singing hymns and happy birthday, cake and ice cream was enjoyed by Mrs. Porter and guests, Mrs. Grace Braddock, Mrs. Foster Porter, Mrs. Rita Lafferty, Rusty, Gaye and Chuckie, Mrs. Linda Weathers, Lisa, Dusty and Kathy, Mrs. Donald Willis, all of Martin and Allen, Jean Burke, Judy Biggs, Leslie Burke, Frances Cooley, June Cooley, Janey Branham, all of Prestonsburg, Mary Jo York and various members of the day shift and two other patients, Mrs. Elizabeth Moles and Robert Frasure.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Marion Taylor received friends and neighbors on her 74th birthday, October 16. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Arlene DeHossett, Mrs. Roger Dean DeHossett and Mrs. Cora Pennington.

Hi Hat, Price Hold Development Meet

Residents of Price and Hi Hat met October 16 at the Rescue Squad building to organize a development club. John Sparks talked to the group about services available through the County Extension office and what other communities are doing through organized community clubs.

Miss Peggy Bradford, president of the Weeksbury Club, explained the different projects the club there had worked on for the community of Weeksbury and some of the problems they faced when they were first organized. Others giving the history of the club were Causby Branham, Ida Burke, Carol Little and Elbert Gibson.

The group appointed a nominating committee of Charlie Newman, Ithmael Elliott, Chairman, Pat Little and Zettie Synder.

Some of the needs the group felt would be good to work on are: Playground for the children, a sewage system, a clean-up program and a community center. The next meeting will be held at 7 p.m. November 10 at the Rescue Squad building. Bill Bridges, guest speaker, will discuss Community Development.

Present were Ann Stephens, Zettie Synder, Pat Little, Alvin Little, Orville Stephens, Pat Crawford, Ithmael Elliott, Peggy Bradford, Ida Burke, Causby Branham, Carol Little, Elbert Gibson, Novella Froman, Development assistant, and John Sparks, county agent.

The Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969 provides monthly cash payment to coal miners disabled by black lung disease—the common name for pneumoconiosis, a chronic lung disease caused by breathing dust in underground coal mines.

Three affirmative action programs—federal contract compliance, handicapped workers' task group, and veterans' task group—within the Labor Department's Employment Standards Administration are being merged to improve operating efficiency.

Last year, there were about 400,000 junk cars scattered across Kentucky. More than 11,500 have been removed through a clean-up program operated by the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

When We Show Our Colors

The enthusiasm of residents of other counties of the region as well as those of Floyd county for the patriotic expression of this country's Red, White and Blue Day is inspired not only by a wholesome respect and love for country but also by resentment of those elements of American society which would downgrade and disgrace the country.

A Floyd county woman, Mrs. Marcella Bailey, cared enough to undertake the staging of such an expression at a time when it was needed. But the credit does not belong to her alone. Others have worked and are yet working. Teachers and other leaders are cooperating, children are ready to march. God, Home and Country are words no longer to be shunned.

It is particularly good to see the young taking part in this observance. They will be teaching others, later, the great principles which the day proclaims in spoken word, music and pageantry.

The least of those who are older and who hold to these principles can do is to give our fullest possible support.

Remember—Red, White and Blue Day is Saturday, Oct. 25.

Strip-Mine Sites for Homes?

The suggestion that orphan strip-mine sites should be used as locations for large scale housing developments fails to engender any enthusiasm in this corner.

It is true that those who stripped the coal did leave level benches. But, look where they are! We have an idea Eastern Kentucky will have to suffer much more for level land before anyone will be willing to invest thousands in a housing development on a mountaintop, not to mention the cost of building a road and taking water and other services to it.

Western Kentucky strip-mine sites might serve well as home-building locations. But not the mountains of Eastern Kentucky.

Lower interest rates will provide more homes for Eastern Kentucky than all its orphan strip-mine sites.

Letters to the Editor

Counts Her Blessings

As I was walking home from an enjoyable day's work I had time to think and enjoy our "beautiful, sunny America." God has given us so many wonderful things to enjoy—the beautiful sunshine, colorful trees, the rocks, sweet little birds and the little flower called, "Farewell to Summer." It makes me feel sad, and then again I stop and say to myself, "Well, we can say, 'Farewell to Summer,' but again like the little birds going south, they're going on a vacation." And the little flowers, they go to sleep like the trees. We go to sleep, but we're able to awake and still enjoy our "Beautiful America" in so many, many ways. Maybe some of us don't always get a vacation, but then again we can stop and think—yes, we get a vacation—a vacation so many people in other lands would love to enjoy.

I am old-fashioned in many ways. I love living on a farm, enjoy doing the chores, taking care of my chickens. So many little kids are deprived of these privileges—my little, 17-month-old grandson, Shawn, and I take a walk up the "holer" to our chickenhouse. He stops along the way, picking up rocks, placing them in his egg bucket, pouring them out again and enjoying just being able to get out and enjoy.

As we walked together I counted out 200 steps—then I stopped and looked up to whence all help cometh, and I stood there and thought of our nation's birth day. And I looked down at the innocent child and said to myself, "Oh, Lord, what is in store for all the little ones that will be left for them?"

I only hope that America will always remain a beautiful, sunny country for them in days to come. They're our future leaders of tomorrow and we need to walk with the little ones, give them guidance in the way they should go, and they will always see plenty of sunny days ahead. I only wish grownups and everyone alike could be as honest, sincere and have the love in their hearts for their fellowman like the little children, then American would be filled with "sunshine"—a very beautiful thing.

May God bless America again with a "sunny heart."

Anti-Gun Legislation Would Be Fatal, Claim

How many readers of The Times have written their Representative and Senators protesting the anti-gun legislation now being placed before Congress? Any, and I mean any, citizen who fails to do so deserves the rape, robbery and murder that may come to their home.

The anti-gun law will not hurt the criminals at all; it will only harm the law-abiding. Before Czechoslovakia was enslaved, an anti-gun law was passed. Other lands the same. Ford, Kissinger & Co. have betrayed us. Only as we fight back have we the ghost of a chance. The take-over date is 1976. Bill Bright, of Campus Crusade, said, "We have fourteen months of freedom left." If you fail to write, pray and give, don't whine when torture and death come your way!

but at his death he had only one motor vehicle of his own—a 1974 Chevrolet pickup perhaps worth $2,500. Of the nine other vehicles listed as community property which he and his wife owned jointly, three were pickup trucks and only two were what might call luxury cars. Yet his Texas holdings alone were listed at $55 million. If this item says anything to me, it is—Go, buy yourself a sled.

FEAST THE EYES

If you come to Prestonsburg Saturday for Red, White and Blue Day—and I hope you will—and get tired, lift your eyes onto the hills. And don't miss the color of that one overlooking the railroad tracks, across the river.

Why not print a letter such as this, received by Mrs. Thomas Branham, of Ypsilanti, Michigan? She renewed her subscription and our spirits with this: "Just keep the paper coming! It's truly one of the highlights of our week. I sink back in my big, easy chair with a good, hot cup of coffee—and I'm with the homelife again. It helps make the northern sojourn easier to bear. But some day I'll return to stay hallelujah!"

systems, physically, so that in the eventuality of a breakdown of one, service could be maintained through the other.

Estimated cost of the Prestonsburg work is $1.1 million. Of this amount $450,000 was sought from EDA and $350,000 from HUD in grants.

The Prestonsburg plant now has a capacity of 1 million gallons a day and its capacity has been so far as that demands for water from outlying areas cannot be met. The Bull Creek and Abbott Creek water districts look to the Prestonsburg system for their water supply and neither can be implemented until the plant capacity is increased.

The second water extension approved for Floyd county is that of the Beaver Elkhorn Water District. The board approved this extension at a cost of $300,000. It would be funded by the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC). The fourth water project given top priority is the extension of water to Pikeville to the Shelby valley and to the Douglas industrial park at Robinson Creek. The cost of which is estimated at $2 million.

Estimated cost of the five projects if $6.5 million, and for them a total of $4 in federal agency grants will be asked.

'Kidnapped' Boy Reported Found

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of a Paintsville street last Friday evening of a nine-year-old boy was apparently solved Tuesday afternoon with the announcement by Paintsville police that the boy is now with his mother, according to her attorney.

The report did not say where the mother, Mrs. Dorothy Howard, and her son now are. Her last known whereabouts was Dallas, Texas.

The boy, Paul Edwin Howards, of Thelma, was snatched up by two men while he was riding his bicycle near the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Alice Howard, of Washington avenue, and was spirited away in a van. Witnesses did not immediately report the abduction, thinking one of the men was the boy's father, Harrison Howard.

The men believed to have abducted the boy were later seen at Louisa with a woman.

The FBI had joined Paintsville authorities in the investigation of the case. Two John Doe warrants were issued last Saturday, but it is not known at this time if prosecution will follow.

The parents of the boy were divorced last April when the father was in custody of the child. His father and he have been residing in or near Paintsville since that time.

Teenagers Tell Ky. Officials Needs for Traffic Safety

More than 120 teenagers from 12 eastern Kentucky counties gathered at Jenny Wiley State Park last week to tell state traffic officials what is wrong with their traffic safety and enforcement programs.

Contrary to the popular notion still held in some quarters that youth are both reckless and irresponsible in their handling of an automobile, they came away from the conference sounding more like a group of concerned legislators than an undisciplined band of speed-hungry hotrodders.

The conference was the first of eight such sessions being sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Transportation (KYDOT) and its Office of Highway Safety Programs to encourage more student involvement in finding better ways to reduce the state's rising traffic death toll.

After a short address by Bennie Maffei, KYDOT traffic safety coordinator, who told the teenagers that 4,000 drivers involved in fatal accidents last year were under the age of 18, the students broke up into smaller groups to discuss drugs and alcohol, traffic enforcement problems, driver education and licensing programs.

Among the major recommendations agreed upon by the students at the conclusion of those group discussions were:

—KYDOT should beef up its highway enforcement program by hiring more officers to stop violations of the state's weight limit law by coal trucks "that are running our roads."

—Special judges should be appointed to hear drunk driving cases in order to prevent any influence being brought to the court by way of political or personal connections with the accused.

—Every applicant for a driver's license—regardless of age—should be required to complete a formal driver education course before obtaining a license.

—Motor vehicle inspection procedures should be tightened.

—Driver re-examination should be made a state requirement at least once every four years until age 18, after which drivers then would be re-examined every two years.

Wolfe county senior Sonja Senter, representing the group on alcohol and drugs, also urged that the state recognize the need for more education on drugs and alcohol at the elementary school level.

She also argued for revision of the state's driver learner permit examination to include more emphasis on drugs and alcohol.

Kaves Belcher, a junior from Elkhorn City High School and spokesman for the discussion group on traffic enforcement, said her group also favored raising the speed limit on four-lane highways from 55 to 60 m.p.h. but lowering it on some secondary roads and putting a stop to the practice by some courts of reducing 'original traffic charges.'

Her group also called both for raising the requirements to become a police officer in Kentucky and making those requirements uniform on a statewide basis.

The group on driver education programs, represented by Judy Lowe, a senior from Millard High School, indicated a need for more emphasis on hazardous driving techniques in driver education classes and said that student drivers should be allowed more time behind the wheel.

Among other recommendations offered by the group on driver licensing programs was a suggestion, offered by Steve Walters from Pikeville High School, that the state implement a classified drivers' licensing program which would restrict anyone holding a learners' permit only to the operation of automobiles and motorcycles.

Maffei said that all of the recommendations made at the Jenny Wiley meeting will be considered for inclusion in a final report to be forwarded to Gov. Julian Carrall after the last conference, now scheduled for Nov. 17 at Louisville.

Students attending the conference at Jenny Wiley State Park came from schools in Johnson, Martin, Magoffin, Wolfe, Floyd, Pike, Breathitt, Lee, Knott, Winkley, Perry and Letcher counties.

Zoning Delays Work on Center

At Thursday night's meeting of the Prestonsburg City Council it was decided that a meeting of the Prestonsburg Advisory Commission would be held November 3 at 4:30 p.m. to hear objections, if any, to the re-zoning of the land planned for use by J. E. H. Development Corporation, Lexington, for construction of the proposed Shopper's Village Shopping Center here.

Preliminary work which was to begin October 1, was held up when it was discovered that the land was zoned residential rather than commercial. Re-zoning of the site must be made before construction can begin.

The council also agreed to advertise for bids for a sewer cleaner. The machine, which was recently demonstrated here, utilizes jets of water to clean storm sewers and, hopefully, would alleviate the poor drainage conditions suffered by the city during heavy downpours.

The council authorized advertisement for a city policeman to replace Ronnie Newsome, who recently resigned from the force.

The council's annual Halloween Trick-or-Treat proclamation named Thursday, October 30, as "trick-tac" night and set the curfew at the usual time of 9 p.m.

Rural Road Fund To Help Abbott Flood Situation

Gov. Julian Carroll last week announced the addition to the Floyd county rural secondary road program of two projects which will materially benefit the Abbott Creek section.

One project involves raising the present grade of the Abbott Creek road KY 144 in two places where the road is flooded during high water and some residents are temporarily isolated.

The second project will be the channeling of Abbott Creek 3.4 miles west of the KY 1428 junction, between Cannel Coal Hollow and the former Jim Hill home.

Cost of the work has not been estimated. The new projects will be paid for from the $200,000 already allotted Floyd county for rural secondary road aid during the current fiscal year.

Floyd County Man Has Job Of Housing Students at EKU

RICHMOND, Ky.—Jack Hutchinson is in charge of more than six thousand beds, but he doesn't have much time to lie down and rest.

The Floyd county native is the new director of housing at Eastern Kentucky University, and his big problem is the whole student body—where to put them. Not that this problem is entirely new to him. Until his promotion, he was director of men's residence halls.

Eastern this fall found itself in a situation facing most colleges and universities. Because of inflation and job shortages, more and more youths sought the less expensive facilities provided by campuses, causing massive overcrowding in dormitories.

This rather awesome situation automatically faced Hutchinson when he was appointed to head Eastern's new Division of Housing which is responsible for putting a roof over the heads of men and women students, married couples, and a large number of the faculty.

Although Eastern has the largest number of beds for students of any university in Kentucky, Hutchinson's office was swamped this fall semester by applications for rooms. On one day during registration, he said, 131 students appeared without room reservations; the next day there were 45 additional ones, and throughout the period they continued to come.

"We still have about 400 students who are the third person in a dormitory room designed for two," he said.

Dr. Thomas D. Myers, vice president for student affairs, said Eastern is housing more students on campus than any other university in the state. He pointed out that the resident head in each dormitory has a master's degree in counseling and that men's and women's dormitories have recreational programs headed by qualified directors to keep the throng of students occupied when they are not studying.

Probably the most difficult job of the new division headed by Hutchinson has so far been providing living and study space for the overflow of students in the resident halls. But the Board assigned the Division enough functions to keep it busy even after the last student to apply has been tucked snugly into a room.

These functions are the assignment of housing units and contracts and the maintenance and the operation of the units, which are included in these facilities.

One of the tasks assigned to the division by the Board is "to exert appropriate efforts to maintain full occupancy of all housing units." So far, this has been Hutchinson's easiest task, but it

Consumer Comments

By ED W. HANCOCK (Attorney General)

A car that looks good doesn't always run "good." When buying a used car, there are two laws you should be familiar with in order to help you make the best deal.

One of these laws is part of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act. This law requires that the buyer of a used car be provided with a written statement of the registered mileage on any car under 25 years old. This statement must include the odometer reading at the time of transfer, the date of transfer, the seller's name, address and signature. Also, the make, body type, year, model, vehicle identification number and the last plate number of the vehicle must be included. If the seller believes that the information available is not accurate, the disclosure statement must state that the actual mileage is unknown—so ask him if he believes the information is correct. Remember, he must provide a statement certifying that he is complying with this law and is aware of his liability under it.

Repairing, servicing or replacing an odometer is not prohibited as long as the mileage shown on it afterward is the same as before. If this is not possible, a notice must be placed on the left door frame showing the mileage prior to the repair or replacement.

The law prohibits disconnecting or resetting an odometer for the purpose of altering the mileage reading. Operating a vehicle with a non-functioning odometer is prohibited if there is intent to defraud.

A Kentucky law also aids the consumer buying a used car. This law requires motor vehicle dealers to provide you with the name of the previous owner of a used car upon request. Be a wise purchaser—always contact the previous owner prior to buying a used car in order to obtain information about the car's condition.

If you have a complaint about a used car or any other matter, contact the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, The Capitol, Room 34, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or call toll-free on the consumer hotline: 1-800-272-2960.

Floyd Teacher EKEA President; Bell Is Speaker

More than 400 public school educators were told Friday that teachers are "America's best last chance" to avoid an "instant replay" of the fall of the Roman Empire.

Tommy Bell, Lexington attorney and a referee in the National Football League, challenged those attending the 52nd annual convention of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association at Morehead State University to return to their schools and become salesmen for the free enterprise system, respect for authority, religious beliefs and truth and integrity in all matters.

Keynote speaker for EKEA's general session at Morehead State University, Bell urged the teachers to be models for young people who receive poor direction at home and from corrupt public officials.

"We must demand fiscal responsibility, respect for law and order and honesty from those in public life," he stated.

Bell said Kentucky should require that a course in free enterprise be offered by every high school. On the welfare system, he said:

"We've gotten to the point where kids don't believe in Santa Claus but their parents do."

In an earlier address, Dr. Lyman V. Ginger, state superintendent of public instruction, declared that the first dedication of every classroom teacher should be to fundamental learning skills.

He called for more support of vocational education, special education and opportunities for the gifted child. Dr. Ginger also urged that standards of academic performance and discipline be maintained in all schools.

Eugene Blackburn, a teacher at Betsy Layne High School, assumed the presidency of the 18-county association, Frank Wells, a teacher in Johnson county, was named president-elect.

All delegates assembly later Friday, the EKEA:

—Passed a resolution calling on the KEA Board of Directors to reconsider its decision to pay a salary to Mrs. Billye Pope, KEA president.

—Defeated the move to demand the recall of three KEA officers because of the Pope situation.

—Voted to return its 1976 convention to Morehead State University.

Asked KEA to support revision of certain school laws pertaining to length of the work day and teacher responsibilities outside the classroom.

—Requested a cost analysis of the KEA Unified Service (UNISERV) program which provides full-time consultants to local education groups in the state.

Other officers are Eileen Ramey of Johnson county, vice president; Frances Miller of Russell, KEA Legislative Commission member; Ruth Reeves of Ashland, KEA Board of Directors; and James McClave of Russell, KEA Committee on Teacher Retirement.

Chosen as members of the EKEA Board were Jane Wright of Maysville, John Jones of Russell, Arlene Franklin of Ashland, and Philip Dingus, of Floyd county; Charles Mullins, Jr. of Greenup county, was named to the KEA Human Relations Committee.

Attorney General's Opinions

Dere G. Downing, president of Western Kentucky University, asked if WKU's board of regents could grant tenure to a faculty member not recommended for that tenure by the university president. Downing further explained that the faculty member in question had been recommended for a one-year appointment not to continue beyond the 1975-'76 school year. The Attorney General's office replied that a faculty member of a state university may only be employed or granted tenure upon the recommendation of the president of the university.

Jim Blincoe, of Owensboro, asked if a write-in candidate need follow the same regulations or laws of major party candidates, such as filing with the secretary of state or state registrar. The Attorney General's office concluded that any candidate must follow the reporting and advertising requirements of the Corrupt Practices Act if he receives contributions or makes expenditures toward a campaign, or if such is done on his behalf.

Ivan Payne, Kentucky Board of Barbering administrator, asked if the board's 1975 barbering regulations are strong enough to allow barbers to give permanent waves. The Attorney General's office found that the legislature does not include permanent waving, marcelling or finger waving in the statute defining barbering.

Therefore, since the barbering board's judgment and power does not preclude that of the legislature, the regulations are void insofar as they attempt to include permanent waving into the statute's definition.

Rep. Thomas B. Givhan asked if a person may be indicted and charged solely on the basis that he is known to be a persistent felon, whether or not another felony charge is pending. The office of the Attorney General held that a person cannot be sentenced as a habitual criminal as an independent offense, that this would violate the Fifth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution. However, recurrent offenders may be subject to heavier punishment when another felony is committed.

ALLEN NEWS METHODIST WOMEN MEET

The Allen United Methodist Women met October 14 at the home of Jerri Martin. The meeting was opened with a prayer by Tincy Crisp. She gave a summary of a meeting she attended in which South-East Asia was discussed and what the United Methodist Women are doing and can do to help in a Christian way.

It was decided by the group that something should be done to improve the appearance of the sanctuary. Many suggestions were given and members are to find out the cost by their next meeting. Jerri Martin was appointed to order flowers for United Methodist Women as well as for the Allen United Methodist Church in case of a death in the church family.

After the business meeting adjourned, Jewel Allen gave the program of life of Jesus' country, entitled, "The Road Along Lake Galilee." Those taking part were Kay Gray, Kay Lemaster, and Jerri Martin. At the close of the program refreshments were served by the hostess to Tincy Crisp, Kay Gray, Maude Snodgrass, Edna Mae Callison, Kay Lemaster, Jewel Allen, Elizabeth Bailey, and a guest, Mildred Crisp. The November meeting will be with Maude Snodgrass. Program leader will be Elizabeth Bailey.

Objections Raised at Hearing On 'Deep Mine' Reclamation

By MARYA GAY

Frankfort, Ky.—Since coal operators are being forced to live by the letter of the law, they want the letter to be more reasonable. At least that was the consensus of the representatives of mining operators who testified at a recent public hearing on proposed regulations governing the surface effects of deep mining.

For instance, Paul Patton, president of Kentucky Elkhorn Coals, Inc., and Chapparral Coal Corp. called for more reasonable regulations.

"The division of surface mining reclamation for some reason is now insisting that the reclamation regulations be enforced to the letter of the law, so write something industry can live with," said Patton. "If detailed regulations are to be enforced, they must be reasonable so that we can accept them and live with the letter of the law."

Some of the language was colorful, but the scenario was typical as Kentucky moved forward in its year-old effort to become the first state to adopt all-inclusive regulations governing the surface effects of deep mining by holding the recent public hearing on the proposed regulations.

As is typical for public hearings on proposed environmental regulations, few persons had much good to say for the regulations. Some said they had gotten better as they had progressed through many changes on their way to this hearing. Some said they had become unbearable.

As is usual in discussions of environmental regulations, industry representatives generally said they were too tight. The citizens weeps said the regulations were too lax.

Now, it is the job of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection (NREP) to weed through the volumes of testimony, answer each comment and revise the regulations in light of the testimony. That should be a large undertaking since some of the witnesses took issue with most of the sections in the 26-page package of regulations.

Most of the testimony represented the coal industry—several officials of coal companies, representatives from the Kentucky Coal Assoc., Coal Operators and Associates, and Pikeville Coal Operators. Testimony from citizens' groups came from the Citizens League to Protect Surface Rights and the Cumberland Chapter of the Sierra Club.

A law passed by the 1974 Kentucky legislature requires NREP to adopt regulations for the reclamation of surface land disturbed by deep mining. Two previous drafts were rejected by a legislative review subcommittee last winter. In April, John S. Hoffman, NREP secretary, hired the New York consulting firm of Ford, Bacon and Davis, Inc., to draw up a new set of the regulations.

The proposed regulations presented at the recent hearing were largely based on the consulting firm's proposals. Myles Walsh, of Ford, Bacon and Davis, explained some of his firm's work in drafting the regulations at the end of the hearing. That work included research collected in England.

Many of the complaints made at the hearing dealt with what coal representives said were unrealistic time limitations—particularly a 120-day deadline for submission of reclamation plans and a one-year deadline for complying with the new reclamation requirements.

Coal representatives said exemptions granted for only one year would discourage development of new mines. Bonding was said to be too high and the cost of complying with the regulations was called prohibitive by owners of small mines who said they would be driven out of business.

Some said the regulations exceed statutory intent by including provisions such as those concerning air and water pollution. Others said more of those types of provisions should be included.

In a colorful delivery, one coal operator said miners were being hit with government regulations the size of Sears & Roebuck catalogues. The department's answers to the comments raised at the hearing may fill a volume nearly that size.

The Judicial Amendment

By ALBERT DIX

"It's time to restructure our courts to meet the needs of the 20th and 21st centuries, to avoid a crisis before it is on us."

This was Court of Appeals Chief Justice Roy Gulley speaking to a group of citizens meeting in late 1973. They had gathered to discuss and make recommendations on a total reorganization of Kentucky's courts. Baltimore was opting for a unified, four-level court organization similar to that in effect in overall of the states in the union, considered a court organization experts as a model system.

He was expressing the sentiments of Kentucky citizens groups, lawyers and judges who, for the past five years, have been discussing the Commonwealth's judiciary and how best to reorganize it to cope with its growing case load, and to provide the citizens of the state with better overall justice.

All the reorganization sentiments and statements have been distilled into an amendment which will appear on the November 1973 ballot.

Should the voters turn counter to form and accept the constitutional changes here is how the state's courts would be structured. Established in Kentucky would be a Court of Justice, an all-encompassing judicial system divided into a Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, Circuit Court and District Court, in that order from the top to the bottom.

The Supreme Court would be the "Court of Last Resort," consisting of seven judges elected for eight-year terms from the present Court of Appeals districts; the judges would select one of their members to serve as Chief Justice for a four-year term.

It would have strictly appellate jurisdiction. A majority of the justices could decide a case.

The Chief Justice would become the executive head of the judicial system of Kentucky, the head man. The "back" would be the Supreme Court in the Commonwealth would be his ultimate responsibility.

He could assign any active or retired judge to hear any case anywhere in the state. He would establish uniform rules of procedure. Trials in Harlan county would be carbon copies of those conducted in Hickman county. The process of justice would be equalized across the state.

He would set the budget for the Court of Justice to the General Assembly, and plead the case for it among legislators and Governors' all money for the judicial system in Kentucky would come from the state treasury.

It would be the Chief Justice's responsibility to move the lower courts out of garages, back rooms and grocery stores into lighted, odor free, functional courtrooms.

As Chief Justice he would be a part of the case decision process, to help him with the multitude of administrative details he has in all probability, hire a chief court administrator.

In Illinois, Judge Roy Gulley is the chief administrator and it is to him the Chief Justice turns for help in keeping over 1100 court jobs filled, and accounting for between $20 and $60 million in yearly fines and court costs.

The Court of Appeals. This would be a new, intermediate court, established to take much of the appeals burden off the present Court of Appeals.

It would consist of 14 judges, two elected from each of the Supreme Court districts for eight-year terms; it, too, would have appellate jurisdiction and could be authorized to review, directly, decisions of state administrative agencies.

Court of Appeals judges would select one of their own to be Chief Justice and, in addition to his court duties, he would administer the affairs of the Court.

The 14-member bench could divide itself into separate panels of not less than three to decide cases appealed to it. The chief judge would examine the decisions of separate panels to make sure they don't conflict.

Kentucky had this intermediate court prior to the constitutional revision of 1891, but the framers of that document felt only one appeals court was needed and thereby dumped all appeals in the lap of the present Court of Appeals.

The case load of today's Court of Appeals has doubled in the past 30 years, from 600 to 1200 cases. On June 30, 1973, its backlog of more than 1,000 cases meant at least a four-year wait for the litigants involved to get a final decision.

In Maryland, the state Supreme Court hears about 150 cases a year, all broad constitutional issues, the framers of the proposed amendment anticipate. Kentucky's Supreme Court will experience the same thing, thus having more time to devote to researching and studying major items of litigation and sweeping constitutional questions.

Circuit Court would be held in each county, the Circuit Court districts in effect at the time of the amendment's adoption, retaining judicial circuits. The number of judges, who would be elected for eight-year terms, in each district on the effective date of the amendment would remain the same.

It would be the court of original jurisdiction, basically the court where most legal questions are argued for the first time. District Court would be the lowest level of the four court system but in many respects becomes the most important.

It is the "court of first impression," according to Judge Thurgood Marshall, circuit judge in Maryland, "where almost 90 per cent of a state's legal issues begin and end."

District courts would take over the duties of the various local level courts which presently exist. One would be held in each county. The Circuit Court districts would also become judicial districts and each district would have the same number of district judges as it does circuit judges.

In any county in which no district judge lives, the chief judge of the district is charged with appointing one or more trial commissioners to do that work.

A commissioner would have to be a resident of that county, and be an attorney "if one is qualified and available," the amendment explains.

A commissioner would have to be only one lawyer, or none, and he could not represent clients and sit on the bench at the same time. The words, "if one is qualified and available," make it possible to appoint a district judge who is not an attorney, someone perhaps "learned in the law" but not a member of the Bar.

District courts would have limited jurisdiction and would, in January, 1978, be organized and take over the judicial duties of police courts, county courts, magistrate's courts, etc.

County judges and magistrates would continue as elected administrators of their county governments, giving up only their judicial functions.

Circuit clerks would continue to be elected as they are today but would handle the records of both circuit and district courts.

A little five-year-old asked her father, who was an artist, "Draw me a picture of love, Daddy." "All right," answered the father, "if you will draw me a picture of the wind." The child took the pencil and began drawing swirling lines. "She stopped!" "I can't, Daddy you can only feel the wind."

"That is the same with love," remarked the father. "We wonder what kind of wind this would be if everything had to be in black and white, and 'feelings' were not included. We can only imagine but it certainly would be lacking something. When anyone reaches a point that they have no feelings for others, they must be the most miserable human living."

Rice May Ask Federal Court To Act in Johnson Co. Case

Although the trial of Johnson county Sheriff Ray Melvin on charges of receiving payoffs from bootleggers and receiving in a "hung" jury, Commonwealth's Attorney Eugene Rice apparently is determined to carry the prosecution further in Johnson circuit court and possibly in U.S. district court.

The grand jury was back in session for one day, Oct. 8. Meanwhile five admitted bootleggers who implicated Sheriff Melvin and Trial Commissioner Bob Stafford have taken polygraph (lie detector) tests and Stafford, who had earlier agreed to submit to the same test,

Club Exhibit Features Items from 17 Countries

The International Affairs Department of the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club presented an exhibit of international handicrafts and other international items last Thursday at the Floyd County Library.

The exhibit featured with the following from 17 countries: cookie press and woman peasant statues—Canada, hand-painted vase—Denmark; teakwood statue—Caribbean; crystal vase—Czechoslovakia; hand-painted vase and straw crucifix—Mexico; doll—Hawaii; pewter pitcher—Holland; ceramic tile—Hong Kong; 2,000 year-old oil lamp—Iran; ceramic flowered egg—Japan; doll—Korea; guest book—Latvia; carved wooden candleholder—Spain; tablecloth—Switzerland.

The exhibit also featured international cookbooks from France, Italy and the Orient.

Members of the International Affairs Department include Virginia Boss, chairwomen; Cheryl Rosenberg, vice chairwoman; Carol Burchett, Janice Allen, Martha Johnson, Karen Gobie, Judy Nelson. Mrs. Rosenberg presided at the exhibit.

declined to carry through with the test for health reasons.

The grand jury will be back for further investigation, the commonwealth's attorney was promised. Meanwhile, he has asked U. S. Attorney Eugene Siler for a conference at which the possibility of federal prosecution will be discussed. This conference would consider the claim that it is a federal offense for a public official to accept a bribe.

During the abortive trial of Sheriff Melvin, Herbert Eugene Wheeler, one of the five named as bootleggers, testified that he and others had been buying protection from Melvin, County Judge Bill Ward, Trial Commissioner Stafford, Jailer Sambo Griffith, Magistrate Arthur Ray Picklesimer and Constable Clarence Meek.

Denying guilt, Stafford was quoted as vowing he would take a lie detector test to support his testimony. But when time came Oct. 8 for the tests for the official and his accusers he declined to make the trip to Frankfort. Commonwealth's Attorney Rice says Stafford went the next day to Frankfort and there procured from a former polygraph operator a statement to the effect that Stafford would be unable to take the test because of health problems. Stafford has cited heart murmur and prescribed tranquilizing medication as reasons for not being able to undergo the test.

Meanwhile, results of the polygraph tests given the five who accuse the officials are awaited.

Foresters Seek Improved Timber

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Forests in Kentucky's Future will be the theme of the sixth annual Governor's Conference on Forestry scheduled for Oct. 23-24 at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington.

Among the topics to be discussed will be tree improvement, growing more and better trees faster, timber stand improvement, the maintenance of existing forest and urban forestry, according to Harry Nadler, director of the division of forestry of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

Conference speakers will describe methods for establishing, cultivating and harvesting forests and show how to protect Kentucky woodlands from neglect and poor management. A Ray Shirley, director of the Georgia Forestry Commission, will explain how the rapid shift in population from farm to city in the past two decades has affected the growth of trees in urban areas. Discussing the need for urban forestry programs, he will explain how and why the Georgia forestry agency established its program, which is considered one of the most successful in the country. An urban forestry program, according to Shirley, will help solve such general urban problems as fertilization and the preservation of shade trees.

Other speakers will focus on two separate aspects of timber stand improvement: the selection of the proper species and the selection of area sites based on the cost of operating and expected financial returns. Ways to increase the future value of trees by increasing their quality and the cultivation of black walnuts will also be discussed.

The conference will also feature some forestry exhibits, including modern logging equipment, a display from the University of Kentucky's School of Forestry depicting training for both professionals and technicians and modern forestry management techniques being used by state and federal forestry agencies in Kentucky.

Tourist Season Climax Seen With Visit of 'Gypsy' Entourage

Eastern Kentucky is admittedly tourist hungry, but Johnson county had some visitors recently which it was so anxious to rid itself of that it offers graciously escorted the callers, all 41 of them, to the Floyd-Johnson line.

The visitors, who were first described as gypsies, later as Italo-Mexicans caused little stir in this county. The whole kit and kaboodle of them rented nine rooms of The Plantation Motel, near here, and spent the night, then departed, heading south.

A report to the effect that they tore up the motel rooms was denied by the Plantation manager. "They messed some of them up a bit, but no more than some other people do," he said. Nothing was taken from the rooms.

The Paintsville Herald gave this account of the movements of the callers while they were in Johnson county. A traveling group of Mexican-Italians decided Friday evening to temporarily settle in Johnson County, unsetting law enforcement officials in the process.

Nine car loads of the "gypsies" stopped off at Florene Davis grocery at Sitka, swimming through the store, and allegedly taking a number of items from the shelves. When the uproar was over the gypsies had paid for two bottles of soft drink and two penny balloons.

Finding that there was a quantity of merchandise taken without payment, Mrs. Davis telephoned the Paintsville Police Department to warn of the group's pending arrival in the city, according to official reports, Mrs. Davis had overheard one of the group saying they were going to O'Bryan's Market, located on Route 22 By-Pass.

Patrolman Charles Arms was dispatched to O'Bryan's and stopped four cars bearing part of the entourage. Three cars, it was later learned, continued to the top of the Starline hill where they awaited the delayed portion of the group. O'Bryan's manager, tipped off by a phone call from Mrs. Davis, refused the gypsies entrance to his store and the group was returning to their route when patrolman Arms arrived on the scene.

The quartet of vehicles was stopped near the mini-park on the By-Pass. Following procedure, Arms requested assistance and was immediately joined by patrolmen Chris Haney and Doug Wallen. The officers began an escort of the vehicles to City Hall with the "parade" later joined by two more of the gypsy cars.

Sometime during the parade to City Hall, Paintsville police chief Boss Spears, Kentucky State Police Trooper Ken Deboard, Johnson County trial commissioner Bob Stafford and County Attorney James A. Knight were called. Everyone apparently arrived at nearly the same time.

The troop had been stopped, Spears said, because of Mrs. Davis' report. The official "charge" was suspicion that a felony had been committed.

At City Hall, the group was ushered into the second floor meeting room and a search of their vehicles began. It immediately, the group poured out into the streets and started harassing the officers.

Chief Spears said that the harassment was a "front". He said that the women were wearing double aprons and full dresses that could be used to conceal many items and that the police were trying to search the cars first and would then search the individuals.

When the gypsies learned that they would be personally searched, several of the women in the group offered the growing crowd of spectators a look for themselves. They pulled their dresses up above waist level to reveal that there was nothing concealed beneath them, not even under garments.

They began a dance, of sorts, and a chant of "You wanna look?" that was planned for the occasion.

A Spanish speaking family, from Paintsville, was brought to City Hall to serve as interpreters, since the gypsies denied any knowledge of the English language. Their ability to grasp the language improved remarkably, however.

Another parade was formed and the entourage headed south to the county line.

Officials in Prestonsburg were telephoned to expect the group.

It was later learned that the gypsies decided to spend the night at the Plantation Motel, just north of Prestonsburg. Several rooms in the facility were reportedly a little worse for wear when the group moved on the next morning.

After consulting with law enforcement officials and news media representatives in northeast Kentucky, Chief Spears said this week that gypsies were an organized group that traveled about harassing store owners and flirting with the law.

"In nearly every place they have been, it's been the same," he said. "They know just how far they can go and what is going to happen to them."

"Hopefully," he added, "someday they will pick on a town that has a jail big enough for all of them. But they would do the same thing after they got out."

The band was numbered at 41, not counting small babies. They have, reportedly, "sinited" Greensburg about two years ago, and the town of West Liberty. Most of them carry the family name of Perlov with one exception. One unit of the group is named "Perlovic."

Chief Spears said that there were only eight men in the group with the remainder women and children.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, about 3.9 million workers held two or more jobs in May 1975, approximately the same number as in the preceding May.

When Dark Shadows Appear

By HELENFRICESTACY

Days grow short and dark shadows walk early in hills and hollows and across meadows. Fog and mist billow like wispy cloaks around tree trunks and drapery white sheets over tombstones. It's the season of Halloween, that time of year when everything takes on an eerie atmosphere, when just about anything that walks or flies can scare.

Along with shadows and dark hulks of houses riding boney ridges like witches on brooms are days so bright as to belie anything ghostly, but let the sun go down and that autumn path through the bright woodland becomes something else—and quickly.

For generations Kentuckians have sat around warm fires on cold nights and told ghost stories. They are called "ghost stories" as if to imply they might be tales pulled from a magician's hat or the peaked crown of a warlock's headdress. But mountain people are known for their honesty and if one describes in detail that he or she saw something out there in the dark near the old vine-covered cemetery, you'd better believe or the goblins will get you.

Sam McKinney of Rowan county, who recently purchased a log house in Morgan county, knows he also bought three "wispy" inhabitants along with the logs.

"I know it," said the artisan who has an original touch with pottery, "and I'm glad of it. Ghosts won't hurt anyone." As anyone who lives in an old house knows, ghosts are a serious matter. "What most people don't know," said a Perry county native, "is the big difference between ghosts, spiritualism and spirituality." She was a believer in ghosts and her religion. "There was the time my boy was coming home from Korea. We had a heavy rain and I knew the bridge across the creek would wash away any minute. All at once I had this urge to take a light and walk through the rain to the creek. I thought, maybe I wouldn't need the urge, for the rain sure was coming down. But, whatever it was wouldn't let up. It was like someone nagging at me. I waded through that rain, avoided the creek and the creek and waded my lantern in a pattern that went around my back; like a signal we had used since my boy was in school. Next day when the water went down and he managed to cross on logs washed down the creek, he said he hadn't even reached the washed-out bridge when in his mind he saw that old lantern light going back across the creek and around my back. He told me it was so plain that he turned back way before he came to the drop-off."

The woman, like a number of others with similar experiences, said, "They're around to help a body, not to hurt." Still, there are some who have no sympathy for those who rattle chains, knock on walls and open doors. In Lewis county in 1895, an old house couldn't keep its tenants for long. On March 31 that year a D. H. Lytle had rented the house and moved in. No one had told him he and his wife might not stay long. They remained less than a week. Every night between 11 and midnight, he explained, he and his wife were visited by a misty form that seemed to appear silently as though floating. The shadowy figure would stand beside their bed and beckon for them to follow. The figure stayed by the bed until the two would follow it to a small attic door. The figure then went through the door and at this point the entire house would shake and the rooms would fill with unearthly cries and moans, as through being tormented beyond endurance. Neighbors said Lytle was a honored, respected citizen beyond everyone who heard him describe the wraith and the wailing believed him. They also understood why he and his wife left the house on the seventh day to find other quarters.

So, any evening when the air is cold and everyone is huddled around a warm fire, lend an ear when old Aunt Serilda pulls her shawl tighter around her shoulders and starts, "There was this time I recollect when I was a girl and this funny-acting man wearing a long black cape came to our house. Oh, and was he scary lookin'!"

Be a child and take notes, for ghost stories are a real part of Halloween in the Kentucky hills.

Club Stages Annual Bike-a-Thon

Despite threatening weather conditions, members of the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club participated in their second annual 15-mile Bike-a-Thon last Saturday. The event began at 8:30 a.m. from the Amphitheatre entrance, continued to Dovesy Dam and returned to the original starting point. Extensive coverage was given the event by WSAZ-TV, Huntington, W. Va.

The Bike-a-Thon served a two-fold purpose: 1. As a conservation project, it was intended to make the public aware of the nation's need to conserve fuel; 2. As a fund-raising project to aid in funding many Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club 1975-1976 projects, including the insufflator for Highlands Regional Medical Center, equipment for Peppermint Park, beautification and educational projects.

Clubwomen, husbands of clubwomen, high school and elementary students participated in the event. Record time of one hour and 16 minutes was set by Paul P. Burchett (rider for his wife, Carol). Leah Hicks was the first clubwoman to complete the 15 miles. Her time was one hour, 35 minutes.

The club was assisted in this Bike-a-Thon by the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad.

Mrs. Kenneth D. Brown, President of the Prestonsburg Jr. Woman's Club represented the club at the Seventh District Fall meeting in Pikeville on October 17, 1975. At the session she presented the club's recommendation that the Seventh District Junior Project be a $250.00 clubwoman scholarship. Motion carried and each Junior club agreed to contribute $50.00 toward this scholarship. Mrs. Brown also presented a three minute skit of the club's activities projected for 1975-1976. She was assisted in this skit by Woody the Owl and Dr. Mary Fox, Second Vice-President of Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs.

Abraham Lincoln's Favorite Poem

OH, WHY SHOULD THE SPIRIT OF MORTAL BE PROUD?

Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud? Like a swift-fleeting meteor, a fast flying cloud, A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave, He passeth from life to his rest in the grave.

The leaves of the oak and the willow shall fade; Be scattered around, and together be laid; As the young and the old, the low and the high, Shall crumble to dust and together shall lie.

The infant a mother attended and loved; The mother that infant's affection who proved; The father that mother and infant who blessed; Each, all, are away to that dwelling of rest.

The maid on whose brow, on whose cheek, in whose eye, Shone beauty and pleasure, her triumphs are by; And hidden from the minds of the living erased, Are the memories of mortals who loved her and praised.

The head of the kind, that the scepter hath borne; The brow of the priest, that the miter hath worn; The eye of the sage, and the heart of the brave,— Are hidden and lost in the depths of the grave.

The peasant, whose lot was to sow and to reap; The herdsman, who climbed with his herd up the steep; The beggar, who wandered in search of his bread,— Have faded away like the grass that we tread.

The saint, who enjoyed the communion of Heaven; The sinner, who dared to remain unforgiven; The wise and the foolish, the guilty and just,— Have quietly mingled their bones in the dust.

So the multitude goes, like the flower or weed, That withers away to let others succeed; So the multitude comes, even though we behold, To repeat every tale that has often been told.

For we are the same our fathers have been; We see the same sights our fathers have seen; We drink the same stream, we see the same sun, And run the same course our fathers have run.

The thoughts we are thinking our fathers did think; From the death we are shrinking our fathers did shrink; To the life we are clinging our fathers did cling, but it spreads from us all like a bird on the wing.

They loved,—but the story we can not unfold; They scorned,—but the heart of the haughty is cold; They grieved,—but no wail from their stumbers will come; They joyed,—but the tongue of their gladness is dumb.

They died,—ah! they died,—we things that are now; That walk on the turf that lies over their brow, And make in their dwelling a transient abode; Meet the things that they met on their pilgrimage road.

Yes, hope and dependency, pleasure and pain, Are mingled together in sunshine and rain; And the smile and the tear, and the song and the dirge, Still follow each other like surge upon surge.

'Tis the wink of an eye! 'Tis the draught of a breath, From the blossom of health to the paleness of death; From the gilded saloon to the bier and the shroud; Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?

Posthumous Honor Accorded Floyd Native, Aviation Pioneer

The late Frank Mayo Fairchild, Floyd county native, has been selected as a member of the OX-5 Aviation Pioneers Hall of Fame.

The posthumous honor was conferred at the National convention of OX-5 Aviation Pioneers of America held in San Antonio, Texas, October 9-11, in recognition of contributions to the establishment of the air industry. The Wright Brothers (Orville and Wilbur) and Charles A. Lindbergh received similar awards on this same date.

Mrs. Fairchild, the former Margaret Gaines, who was prior to retirement with the Greater Cincinnati control tower, was in San Antonio to accept the honor on behalf of her husband. Formal ceremonies will be held next May when she will unveil the Frank Fairchild nameplate on the Hall of Fame plaque in the Glenn H. Curtiss Museum at Hammondsport, N. Y.

Mr. Fairchild, who was a native of Allen was known in the Greater Cincinnati area, where he lived and worked for years, as "Mr. Aviation". He was prominent in all matters pertaining to aviation whether it be directing and coordinating courses of study, supervising instructors under his jurisdiction, assisting the City of Cincinnati and the Chamber of Commerce in Airport site selections and planning, or whatever aspect of aviation. He was a member of the Ohio Wing of the OX-5 Aviation Pioneers of America.

Mr. Fairchild was born in Floyd county July 1, 1900. At the age of 16 he enrolled in East Texas Normal College, after which he entered Berea College, where he spent four years. While at Berea he became interested in auto mechanics, a field took him to Cincinnati, where in 1923 he attended the McSweeney Auto and Electrical School. Upon graduation, he was asked by Mr. McSweeney to go to Chicago and assume the duties of superintendent of instruction for the new McSweeney Auto and Electrical Chicago-based school.

It was then he became interested in aviation and started flight training at the site of the present Chicago Midway Airport. He had been a pilot since 1924. Returning to Cincinnati, he established his own flying school on a part of what is now Lunken Airport. Instruction included aviation ground school courses authored by him. In 1929 the Cincinnati Board of Education was considering adding an aviation department to its vocational education programs and asked Mr. Fairchild to assume this phase of training. He spent 5 years with the Aviation Department of the school and retired in the Fall of 1934.

When Lunken Airport was preparing for a city-operated control tower, Mr. Fairchild prepared for this also. His was the first tower operator certificate issued for Lunken Tower.

Fairchild used the Cincinnati Tower for his base of operations on week ends and in spare time in order to expedite the opening of the tower by the City, and officially represented the City of Cincinnati in negotiating with the Air Traffic Control Section of CAA for the establishment of an Air Route Traffic Control Center in Cincinnati. He also prepared air traffic control study material and recommended to the Cincinnati Board of Education that their Aviation Vocational High School include courses in airport and airway traffic control. This was officially adopted by the board in 1940. As well as conducting aviation courses in his own Aviation Department, he instructed War Training Service (WTS) and Civilian Pilot Training (CPT) college-level students at the University of Cincinnati and St. Xavier University in Cincinnati. His school was selected by government and military personnel to train students sent in groups from other states.

"Too young for World War I and too old for World War II," he said, he served his country with a great degree of personal satisfaction, knowing his students would leave his school with an aviation background that would carry them thru any part of aviation to which they might be assigned during their tours of duty with the Air Force. He was one of the first to join in the Civil Air Patrol Squadron on Lunken Airport and subsequently became its commanding officer. He was promoted up through the ranks to colonel.

When the armed services selected the Wright Aeronautical Plant in Cincinnati to build aircraft engines for Air Force aircraft, the Aviation High School was selected to train the civilians who would be building these engines. This phase of aviation training under his principals ran 24 hours a day preparing Wright Aeronautical employees to assume the responsibilities for which they had been selected.

The first pilot from Floyd county, Mr. Fairchild had his own landing strip on the family farm near Allen, and had often flown from Cincinnati to his childhood home.

Many times he would bring two or three other pilots and their aircraft with him over holidays. Many still speak of sitting on hillside above the landing strip and watching in awe the performance of a plane.

Mr. Fairchild died Dec. 21, 1972 at his retirement home, built on a hill overlooking his flying field, near Allen.

OUTDOOR LORE

by Nevile Shackelford
UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

October is the month of maturity, the time of ripening wild grapes, persimmons, and the glorious tang of apple cider and wincey apples on a frosty morning. Likewise, it is the month of golden pumpkins scattered about like jewels among picturesque corn shocks that stand like Indian wigwams on rural hill-sides and bottomlands.

October is a month of mystery and asks some tantalizing questions for which satisfactory answers are difficult to find or understand. For instance, as this writer was asked the other day, what causes the leaves of a dogwood to be a brilliant red white at the same time another dogwood not 20 feet away keeps its leaves a dark green until killed by frost?

Where does a woolly bear caterpillar think he is going and how does he know when he gets there? The same question applies to wild geese, ducks, warblers, and wood thrushes. Also how does a gray squirrel know which side of a buckeye is poisonous?

Plant scientists say all parts of the meat of a buckeye are of the same chemical composition. Yet only half of buckeyes found in squirrel woods are eaten by these critters.

Tallent Likes GW Prospects With Eight Lettermen on Team

Maytown's Rob Tallent begins his record year as head basketball coach of George Washington University, Washington, D.C. in a happy frame of mind. He has a new gym and eight lettermen among his 14 players who began practice last Wednesday.

"We probably have more experience this year than we've had since I've been here," says the former, Colonial, All-American. "We'll be as strong or stronger in every position with the possible exception of the center spot," he says. And that speaks highly for a team that finished with a 17-10 record a year ago that included the best regular-season mark (17-8) in 19 years.

Reasons for Tallent's optimism include the return of his younger brother Pat, a 6-3 sharpshooting guard and GW's All-American candidate, and 6-7 forward David Harper, who had to sit out last season because of back surgery. Harper appears fully recovered.

Tallent and Harper are both five-year players, who are getting an extra year of eligibility due to injuries. Tallent had knee surgery two years ago. Along with returning starters Greg Miller, 6-6 forward, John Holleran guard, and Les Anderson, 6-4 forward, the Colonials sport a great deal of experience.

Pat Tallent had an outstanding junior season last year. He led the Colonials in scoring with a 20.3 average, led in assists with 85 and shot 48.9 percent from the field. He was named by the Eastern College Athletic Conference to the All-ECAC team and Basketball Weekly named him to their first-team All-Atlantic Coast team. He has become only the 13th player in GW history to score 1,000 points in a career and only the second to do it as a junior. He led the Southern Division of the ECAC in scoring and was an All-Tournament selection at the Poinsettia and Presidential Classic. Anderson is one of the most exciting players to come along at GW in years. Tallent says. A 6-4 leaper from Washington, D.C., he plays in the mold of David Thibault and has recorded a 37-inch vertical jump. As a freshman last year, he started the final 17 regular-season games, and GW won 14 of them. Despite all the talent at the guard and forward spots, it is in the middle where GW's fate most likely will lie. Kevin Hall, 7-2, 230-pound junior, inherits the pivot from 6-11, Clyde Burwell, who graduated. Hall has scored 12 points and added 20 pounds since last year and appears ready to move in as a starter.

Kevin appears a lot more aggressive this year," says Coach Tallent. "He improved tremendously during last season and had some very good games for us. His second half against West Virginia when he scored 12 points and got 20 rebounds showed the kind of player he can be."

The schedule is a tough one with the likes of Maryland, Wake Forest, Pitt, Duquesne, Cincinnati, Virginia Tech, West Virginia, Georgetown and American U. to contend with, but 15 games will be played at the Smith Center, including nine of the first 12.

Cats Scratch Bulldogs, 18-13

By BRIAN STURGILL

The Prestonsburg Blackcats went to Louisa last Friday night with a 4-3 record to play the Bulldogs, who also were 4-3 for the season. The Cats came back from the muddy Louisa field with a 5-3 record after beating the Bulldogs, 18-13.

The scoring started when Prestonsburg received the opening kickoff on their own 26-yard line, and from there they drove down the field, the touchdown finally coming on a one-yard run by Greg Dixon. The run for the point after was stopped.

The next Blackcat t.d. came late in the first quarter. It was again scored by Dixon on a one-yard run. The conversion run failed.

In the second quarter the Bulldogs came alive. Their first touchdown was scored by Mike Franklin on a two-run plunge. The point after, also a run, failed.

The next Bulldog marked came in the third quarter. It was scored by George Vinson on a run of 24 yards. The conversion, a kick by Clay Bromley, was good, making the score: Louisa 13, Prestonsburg 12.

The determined Blackcats came back to score a touchdown late in the third quarter on an 18-yard run by Dixon. The conversion run again failed.

The Blackcats' junior quarterback, Greg Dixon, had a great night offensively as he ran the ball five times for three touchdowns and 41 yards. The Cats take on Madison Central at home, this Friday night.

Craftsmen Club Notes

Weeksby—Current projects and new crafts were discussed at the Oct. 13 meeting of the Craftsmen Club, and members and visitors alike decided to start making their own holiday decorations. New ideas were introduced for table centerpieces, Christmas candles, wreaths, spreads, ornaments and gifts. A set of "Grandma" and "Grandpa" dolls made from dishwasher liquid bottles was loaned to the club for display by Grace Branham. The dolls were dressed in gingham and overalls with intricate detail work by the craftsman. Also on display were two net dolls dressed in lilac and gold net, a completed bargeello needlepoint pillow and crocheting with a simple design. Corn husks were available to the club for anyone wishing to make corn husk dolls or flowers. The club offered complete kits for anyone wanting to start a project in needlepoint, cross stitch embroidery, crewel embroidery and punch and pull rugs.

Among those present were: Sadie Bakay, who has finished her project in needlepoint and has started a new crocheted afghan in the "Granny Squares"; Ebert Gibson, who displayed his crocheted octagon-shaped pieces that he has made into a bedspread and tablecloth; the also had with him a coathanger to do a form of weaving to make a lingerie rack, and instructed Mrs. Bakay in the "weaving" art; Lilly Hall, Katie Newsome, who was making a pink clothed net doll; Frances Stumbo, who was putting the final touches on a patchwork Christmas tree wall hanging; and Karen Thornberry who made a net doll dressed in green.

The next meeting of the Club will be at the Weeksby Community Center, October 27 at 5 p.m. All persons interested in handicrafts are invited to attend meetings.

Interim Committees Have Some Bills Ready for Session

By PHILIP W. CONN
Director, Legislative Research Commission
Lawmakers, both old and new, will come to Frankfort next year already knowing what many of the key issues facing them will be, thanks to the work of interim legislative committees.
More than 500 meetings of committees and subcommittees during the past 14 months have produced proposed legislation on dozens of subjects. Here is a rundown of some of the key bills that have been approved for preflight for the session, which begins January 6.
The Interim Committee on Agriculture and Natural Resources has approved a bill to implement a 1965 amendment to Kentucky's Constitution requiring that the assessment value for taxing purposes of farm land be based on the land's agricultural value rather than its potential greater value as a site for commercial or residential development.
The bill would base tax assessments on a farm's gross income producing capability, which would vary with the size of the farm.
The Interim Committee on Appropriations and Revenue approved a school financing bill which would implement a concept known as "power equalization." The bill would guarantee that any school district in the state could raise the same amount of money per pupil as another district, up to a certain level using the same property tax rate, regardless of differences in property values. If property values limited the amount a poorer district could produce, the state would make up the difference between the amount raised per student in that district and the amount the same tax rate would have produced in the wealthiest county-wide district.
The Interim Committee on Cities, which visited more than 60 Kentucky communities during the interim, approved legislation to create eight regional transportation authorities throughout the state. The bill also would require the state to help local communities to qualify for federal mass transportation funds.
The Interim Committee on Education approved a bill that would require the Department of Education to establish accountability standards for public elementary and secondary schools.

The committee approved another bill to establish regional day schools for youngsters with hearing problems and one to implement career education programs throughout the state.
The Interim Committee on Health and Welfare approved a bill to set up a general assistance program for individuals who need emergency assistance and do not qualify for other public benefits.
The Interim Committee on Judiciary approved legislation to eliminate minimum markups in the sale of alcoholic beverages and minimum prices for milk.
The committee also approved bills to compensate crime victims, establish small claims courts in Kentucky and revise the state's arbitration, probate and eminent domain laws.
The Interim Committee on Labor and Industry approved a bill that would require manufacturers to replace or refund the purchase price of any vehicle found to have a major, non-correctable defect during the first 12 months or 12,000 miles.
The Interim Committee on State Government approved a bill which would assure public access to virtually all government records not specifically closed by law.

Dana-Banner Group Working For Park and Water System

In May of this year a group of residents from the Dana-Banner area met with Bill Bridges, development specialist from the University of Kentucky, to discuss the possibility of organizing a community development club. Since then the club has been organized and officers have been elected. Clinton Akers, president, Bobby Akers, vice-president, Barbara Akers, secretary, and Kathryn Akers, treasurer. Members of the board of directors are Fred Conn, Darrell B. Hall, Leo Rice, Shirley Rice, Russell Mont Frasure, Gene Davis, Ervin Akers, Lynn Boyd, Elmer Rice, Martin Holbrook and William Rice.

The members decided to call the club the Frator Creek Development so that members of Dana and Banner could join together to form the club. Some of the projects they have had are bake sales and a chicken dinner. Their top project is the establishment of a community park. Several committees were formed to investigate the

Five Geologic Maps Ready, Hagan Announces

Dr. Wallace W. Hagan, state geologist and director of the Kentucky Geological Survey at the University of Kentucky, has announced the release of five new geologic maps covering portions of eastern, central, and western Kentucky.

The new geologic maps are of the Chaplin quadrangle, covering parts of Anderson, Nelson, Spencer, and Washington counties; the Hardinsburg quadrangle, covering parts of Brackenridge county, the Owsingsville quadrangle, covering parts of Bath and Montgomery counties; the Shelbyville quadrangle, covering part of Shelby county, and the Wheelwright quadrangle, covering parts of Floyd and Pike counties.

REAR-WINDOW GUN RACKS for pickups can be handy, but they can also encourage theft, shorten the life of firearms and perhaps even cause a brush with the law. The best policy is to use these racks only while transporting rifles and shotguns to and from the hunting field or firing range.

By JOHN WILSON
Those gun racks which fit over the back window of pickup trucks are handy gadgets, but there are potential problems associated with their use, particularly if rifles or shotguns are kept in them all the time.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is conducting a stepped-up campaign this fall against illegal night deer hunting, an activity which has grown alarmingly in the past several years. Conservation officers will be making a number of night patrols, in many instances aided by aircraft surveillance. Any suspicious-looking light in the observation area will be investigated.

Municipal Parking Lot Facts

The downtown merchants requested the City Council to permit free parking for shoppers with a two-hour limit. This was discussed and agreed on at a regular council meeting.

The downtown merchants agreed to reimburse the city for this loss of parking meter revenue. To date payments have been made to the city that far exceed the average monthly income from the meters.

We feel this is sound business policy for both the city and our local merchants.
