Bradley makes "listen and learn" visit to area

When U.S. Senator Bill Bradley, Dem.-N.J., made a brief visit to Eastern Kentucky last fall, he expressed an interest in coming back to the area to learn more about the people and the issues of the region.

That's what he did last weekend, at the invitation of Dr. Deborah Floyd, president of Prestonsburg Community College.

Bradley, who came without the usual congressional entourage, requested that the visit be as private as possible so he could meet and talk with the people in the area without drawing media attention.

He called this a "listen and learn" visit. Stating an interest in the college's health education and wellness programs, he asked Floyd to plan an informal visit that would focus on the people of the area.

The senator, hosted by PCC personnel, did not go away hungry. The former professional basketball player's visit was punctuated by meal stops. Shortly after arriving at the college on Saturday, he talked about health care reform over lunch with some area doctors at Billy Ray's Restaurant in downtown Prestonsburg.

That evening he joined the family of Harry Vincel and June Cooley at their Prestonsburg home for steaks on the grill and entertainment by noted Knott County author James Still.

Sunday breakfast was taken at the home of Woodrow and Narcie Burdett on Cow Creek. And Sunday "dinner" was served at the Warfield home of John and Bonnie Triplett.

Federal suit alleges board failed student

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A federal lawsuit was filed last week against the Floyd County School Board, superintendent and a grade school principal alleging that school officials are not providing an adequate education for a special needs student.

Velma Banks filed the lawsuit on behalf of her son, Travis Banks, who is an eighth grade student at Duff Elementary.

The suit claims school officials are failing to provide a free appropriate public education for Travis Banks and that the student has not been provided with an individual Educational Program as required under federal law.

The lawsuit also claims that the school system has shortened Banks' school day or school week; that the student was unlawfully expelled from school for the majority of the spring term; that the student was not fully evaluated to determine his individual educational needs; and the school system denied Banks an equal opportunity to participate in non-academic and extracurricular activities.

Also the lawsuit claims that Duff principal Ralph O'Quinn held Travis Banks on October 11 while other students kicked Banks about his head, a part of his body to which he has been subjected to brain tumors in the past.

O'Quinn said Thursday that he was unaware the lawsuit had been filed and that he would not comment on the case.

The lawsuit claims that Travis Banks suffers from a traumatic brain injury which has produced serious emotional disturbances and other health impairments and, therefore, the student is classified as an individual with handicaps.

The complaint also alleges that the student was expelled from school for possession of a white substance O'Quinn said was cocaine, but which turned out to be citric acid, "a harmless substance obtained... in the course of Banks' education in a science class."

The suit seeks punitive damages, costs for compensatory education, a temporary injunction requiring the school board to educate Banks, attorney fees and a trial by jury.

School board attorney Cliff Latta could not be reached to comment on the suit.

Saturday night set for Trick or Treat

Trick or Treat in Floyd County will be Saturday, October 30 from 6-8 p.m. county-wide.

All cities in Floyd County are also observing trick or treat on Saturday from 6-8 p.m. Children over 12 years of age are not permitted to wear masks.

Also, the Holiday Inn and the Prestonsburg Rotary Club's annual Safe Trick or Treat will be Sunday, October 31 from 3-6 p.m. Over 50 local businesses and merchants have sponsored rooms at the motel for the event.

Civil suit filed over incident at Wayland

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A Wayland woman has filed a federal lawsuit against a Wayland auxiliary policeman and Wayland City Commissioners claiming the officer discharged a weapon at her feet at her home last April.

Joyce Martin, who filed the suit, claims that auxiliary policeman Douglas Harvey fired his weapon in the ground beside her feet during an altercation between Wayland police chief Danny Francis and a juvenile, Martin's husband, Glen, said Wednesday.

The lawsuit claims that Harvey acted in a grossly negligent manner with obvious disregard to human life in the course of responding to the complaint.

Wayland Mayor Eugene Mullins and city commissioners were named in the suit because they allegedly failed to see that Harvey was properly trained and supervised.

There is no telephone listing for Harvey or Mullins and they could not be reached for comment on the lawsuit.

Grand jury gets six cases from 'Fall Harvest' busts

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

One preliminary hearing was held and five were postponed Wednesday for defendants charged with drug-related crimes in connection with the October 19 drug roundup by Kentucky State Police.

Six other cases resulting from the roundup were waived to the Floyd County Grand Jury, which meets next month.

At Wednesday's hearing, Pikeville attorney Randall Starnes represented Ronnie L. Lawson, 30, of Harold, who is charged with possession of cocaine.

Kentucky State Police trooper David Watkins testified Wednesday that he arrested Lawson July 4 at Store House Hollow near the Floyd/Pike County line. During a search of Lawson's vehicle, Watkins said that he found two half-gram bags of a white substance under a floor mat in the vehicle that Lawson said was cocaine.

Lawson said that he bought the substance earlier in the day from Joe Hopkins for $100, Watkins testified.

Hopkins, 59, of Harold was also arrested in the drug roundup and charged with four counts of trafficking in cocaine.

Starnes asked Watkins why Lawson was not charged July when he was arrested.

"Because Lawson said he was going to work with us," Watkins said. "We interviewed him and he was supposed to come to post to set up a meeting."

Watkins said that when he stopped Lawson's vehicle on July 4, the driver fled the scene. Lawson was charged with alcohol intoxication.

Watkins was asked by assistant county attorney Bob Bishop if he was trained to do field tests to determine if the substance was cocaine.

Watkins testified that he was not trained to do such tests, but that Lawson identified the substance as cocaine.

After Watkins' testimony, Starnes asked that the charge against Lawson be dismissed because the prosecution failed to prove the substance was cocaine and that there was no lab report indicating the substance was cocaine.

Judge Caudill ruled that Lawson identified the substance as cocaine and ordered that the case be waived to the grand jury.

In five other cases set for hearings Wednesday, an attorney for the public defender's office, who represents the five defendants, was not avail-

Collins

Collins is the son of Johanas and Mary Collins.

"The most important issue in this race is returning the government of this county, and it's financial affairs, back to the people where it belongs," Collins said.

When asked what his plans were should he be elected, Collins said,

"My plan would be to have an independent audit of the county's financial affairs for the last eight years to see where the money has gone, how much we owe and how much we would owe by the time I took office."

Collins said he would not build a political machine of any kind, but tear the one down that has already been built and restore the government to the people.

Collins said he would do the jobs that have to be done in the county and in such a way that they are considered favors.

"Politics won't play no hand in the way I would administer office because everybody would be free to come and go in their offices just like they should," said Collins.

Collins said the biggest problem he is having in this campaign is finding Republican election officers to protect them at the polls.

"It's almost impossible, according to the people I have talked to," Collins said.

"I've been to a lot of precincts and I've found good people that said, 'We won't fool with politics anymore, we quit because they run so crooked there is no way to do an honest job and I don't want to go out there because I may have to fight some of these racial.' Now that's just the words they've told me," Collins said.

"It's hard to find a Republican, or Democrat, that will serve as a challenger because they don't want to antagonize, or they're afraid of the repercussions with the political system in this county," Collins said.

"I have found a good reception all over the county. I've found a lot of big democratic families that have told me that they are going to be for me," Collins said.

"The thing about it is we've got an awful situation here trying to combat a political machine in a county where the registration is five-to-one or better.

"We've got about 2,000 Republicans in the county and most are registered with the other side because they seem to think they have to get food stamps, welfare and anything else that goes on here," Collins said.

"They don't leave much for a Republican to look forward to."

"This county needs a two-party system."

"They need the checks and balances between the two to make the politicians that are elected to give us good government."

"I don't have any kick against the Judge, but I do want to kick the machine. I want to kick the machine plumb out of the county because it doesn't belong in any county," Collins said.

Stumbo

Stumbo is a member of the County Board of Education for 31 years, 26 of those as chairman.

Stumbo graduated from Betsy Layne High School and is the son of the late John Morgan and Della Stumbo.

When asked what the most important issues in the upcoming election, Stumbo replied, "I feel it is the ability to run waterlines and to do the roadwork. I've done this all my life."

"I know how to run the waterlines and how to build the roads. I have 32 years experience in road building."

"I want fresh drinking water to most every house. There are places that are very tough to get but we're adding lines each year," said Stumbo.

"Beaver-Elkhorn system is now under contract to add another one million gallons a day. Prestonsburg city utilities is now under contract to add two million gallons a day so we will have the water to reach out to these places," Stumbo said.

Stumbo said the county had gotten to the head of the hollow in many places and wanted to continue to the other hollows with the waterlines.

Stumbo also said that he hopes to have all county roads blacktopped within the next five years. "I think that if we don't have a change in our coal severance tax we will be able to do that," Stumbo said.

Responding to the Wednesday edition of "Town Talk", a program aired on a local radio station, about allegations that Floyd County pays the highest taxes in the state, Stumbo said that Floyd County had actually lowered the tax rates since he had taken office from 19.5¢ to 16.2¢ per $100 valuation.

"We have lowered the tax rate since I've been County Judge, we have never raised the tax rate. We set our budget at the anticipated taxes we will receive. We don't spend and then set the tax rate," he said.

"Most people don't realize that the county was the one that did the work to get the two shopping centers and the Holiday Inn."

"Floyd County put the water and sewage in these places. After Floyd County got the centers, Prestonsburg annexed them into the city," Stumbo said.

Stumbo said he intends to do what he has always done. "The records are out there to see, the people see the blacktop, waterlines and fire hydrants," he said.

"We're talking about water, getting the roads built, that's not built, and blacktopped, fire protection and also we will have the enhanced 911 system in 1994," he said.

Those five defendants are: Joe Hopkins, 59, of Harold, charged with four counts of trafficking in cocaine; Junior Hall, 63, of Harold, charged with four counts of trafficking in a controlled substance and one count of trafficking in marijuana; Phoebe Caldwell, 43, of Harold, charged with trafficking in cocaine; Pam Hughes, 37, of Betsy Layne, three counts of trafficking in a controlled substance; and James Henry Hall, 23, of Gretna, two counts of trafficking in a controlled substance.

Advisory Board gave Bradley a quick tour of the area and an introduction to local coal mines.

Between meals, Bradley met with Eula Hall, founder of the Mud Creek Clinic, dropped in on several merchants in downtown Prestonsburg, and visited with residents of McDowell. Wheelwright and other communities on Left Beaver Creek, with Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson as his guide.

Bradley also exercised at P.C.S. River Walk Saturday evening, remarking that he was impressed with the one-kilometer track which is heavily used by students and the community. He attended services at the First Methodist Church of Prestonsburg on Sunday morning as the guest of Ditty Lockett and Floyd.

Saturday night he stayed in the home of P.C. and his wife Sally. The New Jersey senator, who grew up in Missouri, said he enjoys visiting and meeting informally with people in the various parts of the Bradley added that he is impressed with the college and with its goal to become a leader in health education and technology in the region.

Stumbo for Supreme Court

Reprinted from the Courier-Journal, Tuesday, October 26, 1993.

THE OUTRAGE that Gov. Brereton Jones committed in appointing Sara Walter Combs to the state Supreme Court can be undone in the upcoming election. Eastern Kentucky voters can have the last word by replacing her with Judge Janet Stumbo, who has established a fine record on the Court of Appeals over the last three years.

Sara Combs likes to quote from her favorite author, Antoine de Saint-Exupéry, who said: "That which is essential is invisible to the eyes."

What is invisible to the eyes—and inaccessible to ear, tongue, touch, or other human sensibilities—is any defense for Mrs. Combs' being on the high court in the first place.

The only sense that tells us much about her appointment by Gov. Jones last summer is the sense of smell. I had she not been the widow of former Gov. Bert Combs, Brereton Jones would not have given her the job. She does not have the background that, absent cronyism, would qualify her for it.

Such background as she does have is suspect, including her role in the legal tangle over contributions from employees of a billboard company to the campaign of former Gov. Martha Layne Collins. The charges were defeated by an expiring statute of limitations, but the odor of the case lingers.

The good news is that voters in District 7 have two excellent alternatives in Judge Stumbo and former Ashland Mayor David Welch. Both are well qualified. Both have earned consideration. Mr. Welch has an extensive record of significant public service, informed by his commitment to opportunity for women, minorities and other oppressed groups. But Janet Stumbo is an even better choice.

Like Mr. Welch, Judge Stumbo made her way without the help of the high and mighty. He grew up in a racially mixed neighborhood in Ashland. After losing his father at the age of 16, he was educated on scholarship at Berea College and later at Harvard Law. Judge Stumbo is a native of the Eastern Kentucky mountains whose father worked in the boiler room of United Mine Workers hospitals. As a judge she has earned a reputation for sympathy with injured workers and plaintiffs and for being sensitive to criminal defendants' rights.

However, her Appeals Court decisions are impossible to pigeonhole. She has proven to be a thoughtful, independent jurist.

Honored by Kentucky Women Advocates for her work in the area of spouse abuse, she will take that sensitivity to the high court if she becomes the first woman elected to that bench.

Judge Stumbo's judicial service has been marked by diligence, intelligence and imagination. She deserves an opportunity to bring those qualities to the Supreme Court. If you agree, vote for Janet Stumbo next Tuesday.

TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY

I have been your County Judge Executive for the last ten years. Together, we have accomplished many improvements that my opponent can only promise. When I came into this office, there were 465 miles of rural dirt roads here in Floyd County. With frugal fiscal management of you county monies, I have blacktopped 305 miles of these roads. During this same period, I have bought and installed 275 miles of new water pipe. By 1994, fresh water lines will cover 90% of Floyd County. I have bought and installed 617 fire hydrants for the Citizens of Floyd County at no cost to the homeowner. Our economic development committee has been very successful in bringing jobs to our county and the future looks very bright.

These are not the campaign promises that my opponent is making—these are the honest to God facts! Look around, see the blacktopped roads, see the water lines and fire hydrants; don't listen to promises, see for yourself!

I was born and raised at Harold, except for the two years I spent in the U.S. Army during World War II. My wife of 48 years, Pauline, and I have 2 sons who also reside in Floyd County. I have one granddaughter, Jessica, who attends Betsy Layne Elementary. All of my life, I have had a reputation of being honest and trustworthy. I have spent my entire adult life working to improve Floyd County.

During this past primary and general election, I have learned first hand that local radio station ownership gives quick and continual access to the airways and unlimited means to lie, slander and falsely accuse. Never before in my life have I experienced such malice and eagerness to inflict upon me and my family, such personal and political pain. All of this has been done in an effort to gain for my opponents, the office of your Floyd County Judge/Executive.

Help me keep progress moving in Floyd County. I am asking you and your families to vote for me, John M. Stumbo, as your County Judge/Executive. May God bless each and every one of you, is my prayer.

Re-elect

JOHN M. STUMBO

FLOYD COUNTY JUDGE/EXECUTIVE

A True Family Man, A Lifelong DEMOCRAT and a Dedicated Floyd Countian!

Vote Straight Democratic

WE, THE PEOPLE—

During the May Primary Election, We, the people, elected a Democratic slate of candidates. We, the people, decided who we wanted to represent us for the next five years. We, the people, had a choice of several candidates and several different platforms. We, the people, made the decision to elect a slate of Democrats to continue the progress here in Floyd County. We, the people, are very proud of our slate of candidates.

The Republican Party, on the other hand, hand-picked a slate of Republicans who had a free ride in the May Primary. The Republicans of Floyd County had no choice of who they wanted to represent them. The head of the Republican Party selected a slate, pure & simple, without any opposition what-so-ever, and said these are the people who will represent the Republican Party in November. They never mention their party affiliation. Why?? Are they ashamed of the fact that they represent the Republican Party?? If I was ashamed of my party, I would change! One such Republican did just that in the May Primary, but just like the Republican that he is, he is still "crying" about losing in the attempt to unseat a Lifelong Democrat!

We, the people, cannot always donate to candidates' campaigns, but when we support a candidate, we vote for that person in the Primary Election. To support a candidate, as the Republicans are now saying about Grady Stumbo, you must be able to vote for him in the May Primary election. That's what we, the people, do. When Our Grady Stumbo was defeated in the May Primary, We, the people, solid Democrats, know that we did all that was humanly possible. We voted for Grady! The Republicans donated some of their money, but they did not vote for Grady Stumbo!

It appears that having an FCC license to run and operate a radio station here in Floyd County is simply allowing people to preach from their "bully pulpit" about honest, hard-working Democrats and our dream to lead our people into the twenty-first century. Don't be deceived! We, the people, demand the best leaders with the highest degree of integrity.

The Republican nominee has printed free bumper stickers by the thousands saying Floyd County's elected officials are for sale and gleefully encourages the public to proudly display them. You will notice that they have no program, no platform, no position on any issue facing our county. They have nothing to say but lies and slander and a simple campaign slogan that ought to be "everybody's a crook but us!"

My friends, we the Democrats believe you deserve better. By accusing us, they are accusing you. They are saying you, the voting majority of our county, sell your vote to the highest bidder. This is an ugly lie from desperate men who will trash anyone to get themselves into an elected office. We know—You, the voters of Floyd County, have demanded leadership and service, not payoffs!

Look and see the facts—not the fantasy. We ask that you help those who are serious about leadership and progress, continue with the Democratic leadership. Vote for a diverse group that is unified to a single cause—to make Floyd County better for each and every one of us...

VOTE THE STRAIGHT DEMOCRATIC TICKET ON NOVEMBER 2ND!

We, the people, are very proud of our heritage and our party!

Dr. Clark responds

Editor:

When I became board member, we had one project (the 21-room addition) which the state had put a stop to until things could be made legal. All the problems (dirt pile included) I inherited. Harold was to close, so was Prater. I immediately had to hit the ground running.

Many sleepless nights went by trying to come up with the right decision. It became obvious to eliminate the large number of aging mobile classrooms as quickly as possible; especially the rented ones. Early in July, I made a public statement. "I know I may be committing political suicide but I have to do what I believe is right." A middle school first, centrally located between Betsy Layne, John M. Stumbo, Harold and Prater. This would help eliminate the need for mobile classrooms at four schools. Also, keep Harold and Prater open as a K-5 until the 21-room addition is completed. If you remove half of the students from Betsy Layne and put them in the middle school this would alleviate a lot of the dangerous congestion while the 21-room addition is being built.

I publicly announced my decision several weeks before the candidate filing deadline in August. I attended two special called public hearings on this in July. I have attended all board meetings except one and on that evening I was in Frankfort meeting with Gov. Jones discussing the need for a protective retaining wall at Harold Elementary. I read and hear often that I have given no rationale for my decision, that I dodged the public. I have given many hours to the board and the public, concerning this issue.

A lot of people have asked me, why do I not respond to the mud-slinging, why do I not fight back? I could display my signs in yards and on automobiles. I could sling some mud in our local newspaper and on campaign flyers. However, I feel that this approach does divide our community and that is not what I want to see happen.

The conclusion is (whomever wishes to take the credit) we will now have two schools, the 21-room addition and a middle school. Harold and Prater will remain open.

All we can do, is the best we know how.

Please go out to vote. Keep your vote to yourself, that is what the curtains are for.

United we stand, divided we fall.

Floyd County's obligation

Editor:

We were in fiscal court October

15 with a problem that should concern any citizen that lives on the outlying boundaries of Floyd County. They may encounter the same problem we have in the near future. Namely, having phone service from another county other than Floyd.

The fiscal court promised to do what they could to remedy our problem, and I might add that they treated us with respect.

Only, our problem remains the same. We need phone service in Floyd County.

Although we can reach some of the offices in the courthouse through an 800 number, this hardly solves our problem.

Because we need to be able to reach all of the places where one usually spends his or her money. In this case, Floyd County. If our needs are not met, we need to spend our money in some other place besides Floyd County. For each county has an obligation to the citizens of its territory. The biggest of all is to see that they are not discriminated against—and we are. When most of this county has access to county-wide phone service, we do not.

It is my belief that everyone on route 7, above Wayland, feels the same way.

Need review of criminal justice system

La. Governor Paul Patton is asking for a "comprehensive" review of Kentucky's criminal justice system. His call should be considered more than just a platform for his upcoming gubernatorial campaign.

His ideas make sense:

- Make the punishment fit the crime. Patton says Kentucky's prisons are "bursting at the seams" even though the most violent criminals are back on the street.

- Restore honesty to the sentencing of criminals. Make a life sentence just that, Patton says. "We have all grown tired of reading about life sentences for violent criminals in the same paragraph that tells us when they will be eligible for parole. Sentences for violent criminals should be swift and severe... jail time, no parole."

- Develop alternatives to sentences for non-violent offenders. For non-violent criminals, Patton says, "punishments must be created requiring criminals to make full restitution to their victims, to support their families and to repay the state for the burden they have imposed on society.

These are all good ideas. Since Patton brought them up, he should work with the attorney general and present legislation to the General Assembly. The Paintsville Herald

Fight the drug war

In past times of war, the American people banded together in their support for troops and their efforts to fight for peace. Though no wars exist today, at least not yet anyway, there is something like a war that needs your support.

It's not a pull-out-the-gun type of war. It's not a fly-across-the-world type of war. But, it is a marsh-al-your-efforts type of war.

The drug situation nowadays reveals a pathetic condition where our kids and loved ones suffer while someone who doesn't care about their welfare wallows in ill-gotten gains.

We need to band together, marshal our forces if you will, and stop this insidious problem. Thankfully, many people throughout Pike County's wide-ranging communities are doing just that with Red Ribbon Week.

Red Ribbon Week is an event bringing schools, businesses, families, local leaders and others together this week to fight the drug war. Through events like wearing red ribbons and poster contests to speakers and clown shows, our kids, as well as a few adults, will see the need to keep drugs out of life.

And, if they see the need to shun drugs, then they'll go and tell others the same. Then, those others will tell more, and those will tell still more, and so on until maybe the problem can be eradicated.

But, we don't want to be too optimistic here. Drugs are a big problem and it will take a big effort to dent their already huge effect on the lives of many.

What we can say is that hope for a better tomorrow will always be stronger than the problems of today — if we all stand together and put our best efforts into the drug war.

Like the posters used to say, we want you! — Appalachian News Express (Pikeville)

Paving the way

The sound of winter in Eastern Kentucky is muffled: a branch dropping on snow.

The sound of spring is energetic: birds building nests, and leaves sprouting so fast you swear you can hear them grow.

Summer sounds thick: bees and crickets, flies and mosquitos — squirrels and dogs and kids.

But the sounds of fall are something else: As October turns into November, the sound is of gravel being spread on driveways.

The gravel is being spread in preparation for elections, not winter. It's being paid for by county governments, not individuals. Incumbents who see that the gravel is spread deny the ritual has anything to do with politics, but Captain David Williams of the Kentucky State Police has a different idea. "It seems to be a very common complaint... especially prevalent around election time," he muses.

In other words, that driveway paving is likely to be vote buying, an old Eastern Kentucky tradition.

Clearly some new sounds need to be heard this season: the sound of county attorneys warning county judges/executives about the penalties for using public money for private purposes; the sound of state police investigating.

And the sound of Attorney General Chris Gorman stepping in if paving practices do not change. — Louisville Courier-Journal

THE CASE FOR HIGHER EDUCATION

Dan Lacy
Chairman of the Kentucky
Advocates for Higher Education

It was good news for all Kentuckians when Governor Brereton C. Jones announced he would spare Kentucky's eight public universities any further financial cuts this year. However, Kentucky's continuing money woes give little reason to expect that our centers of higher education will be adequately funded in the 1994 General Assembly and beyond unless the extreme importance of full funding is fully explained to the people.

Few would publicly proclaim that our state universities are unimportant. Yet, there are also far too few who would step forward and plead the case for higher education in the face of all the state's many needs. Therein lies the danger to the future of quality higher education in Kentucky.

Unless we begin to widely and convincingly tell the real story about the value of higher education, we face the potential loss of this state's greatest assets — the well-educated young people we must depend on to be the leaders, teachers, doctors and business people of the future. We can ensure our own mediocre future if we fail these young people today.

We also stand to lose our finest resource for training and retaining a workforce that must adapt rapidly to ever-changing technologies. And we endanger what is perhaps the state's most important vehicle for improvement in elementary and secondary teaching, economic development and the creation of new jobs, health care and more.

Kentucky's eight state universities — Eastern Kentucky University, Western Kentucky University, the University of Kentucky, the University of Louisville, Morehead State University, Murray State University, Kentucky State University and Northern Kentucky University — play vital roles in all of our lives every single day. Too often, we just don't realize it.

The Kentucky Education Reform Act has changed forever and for the better how we teach our children from kindergarten through high school. Who is training our elementary and secondary school teachers how to do that? The state's universities. Western Kentucky University has even taken the bold step to offer a quality assurance program for its teacher education graduates. That means if a Western teaching graduate is not adequately prepared in any area, that teacher will get additional training at no cost to the teacher or the school system. Pretty good offer.

Research, the key to new knowledge, also touches each of us in many positive ways. There are thousands of examples of how university research has helped Kentucky agriculture, boosted economic development, created new jobs and improved health care for all of us.

For example, University of Louisville researchers have developed a biological way to help clean up environmental pollution, while the University of Kentucky's Kentucky Agricultural Diversification Program has helped Lake Cumberland/Western Kentucky poultry industry grow from a $24 million to $165 million industry in just four years.

The researchers themselves bring millions of dollars in grants into the state that otherwise wouldn't be spent here. At the University of Kentucky alone, research grants totaled a record $69 million this year.

Overall, the universities are tremendous contributors to Kentucky's economy. New research from the University of Kentucky shows that every dollar of state money invested in the eight state universities in 1991-92, generated $3.40 in total spending. That represents an additional $2.29 billion pumped into the state's economy.

The universities are making these invaluable contributions even as they deal with soaring enrollments of more than 25 percent in recent years. Community college enrollment is up an amazing 94 percent.

The good news is more Kentuckians than ever are getting college educations. The troubling news is that state support for higher education continues to erode in the face of revenue shortages. Recent cuts alone have totaled 10 percent.

The Information Age is upon us. There has never been a time when a top-quality higher education system was more vital to the future of Kentucky's citizens. Now is the time for the best and boldest efforts to advance the cause of education — from preschool to graduate school. Don't let our state's economic engine run out of fuel. Funding higher education pays off for all Kentuckians.

Plea made in sexual abuse case

A Lawrence County man agreed to undergo psychological counseling in a plea bargain in Boyd District Court Monday in an effort to have four felony sex abuse charges against him dropped.

James David Bartlett, 24, of Louisa, was indicted in April on four counts of sodomy stemming from an incident in which he allegedly had sexual contact with a seven-year-old boy in December of 1991.

Bartlett pleaded guilty at his arraignment in April and continues to maintain his innocence. The charges against him were reduced to one misdemeanor count of second degree sexual abuse last week under an agreed order with Boyd Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Jeff Preston.

Preston told reporters Monday that he agreed to the plea bargain because the case against Bartlett was based solely on statements made by the alleged victim, who changed his testimony three times.

Boyd District Judge Edwin Rice ordered Bartlett to participate in a counseling program and to have no contact with his accuser. Rice is scheduled to review the case in April, 1994, and charges against Bartlett will be dropped if he has followed the terms of the agreed order. —The Big Sandy News

Doctor sued for negligence

A lawsuit was filed in Pike Circuit Court on October 1 against South Williamson doctor Diane Shafer, alleging she negligently caused the death of Roger Ratliff, formerly of Ransom, by prescribing excessive medication.

The action taken by Ratliff's wife, Carolyn, contends that he went to Shafer for treatment of an ankle fracture, and continued to see the doctor from February 1990 until his death on October 3, 1992.

During this period, Shafer allegedly prescribed a number of medications which included Lofidine, Tylenol 3, Xanax and Robaxin.

The suit charges that the defendant, Dr. Diane Shafer, did negligently prescribe an excess of medication for the decedent, Roger Ratliff, and this action by Diane Shafer was a departure from the standard acceptable medical practice.

Anita Johnson, one of the Ratliff's attorneys, said information pertaining to the cause of death was taken from a medical examiner's report.

Shafer, an orthopedic surgeon, was sentenced in May to five years in prison for bribing a hearing officer, whom she allegedly married while he was investigating her, to recommend dismissal of Kentucky Board of Licensure charges alleging she overprescribed drugs, gave poor surgical care and admitted patients unnecessarily for treatment.

Shafer is reportedly appealing the bribery conviction. —Appalachian News Express

Jury set to probe shooting

As Kentucky State Police Trooper David E. Ross continues to recuperate from gunshot wounds he suffered last week while responding to a reported domestic dispute, a Lawrence County Grand Jury prepares to hear testimony in the incident.

Ross, 26, a three-and-a-half year veteran of the force, was critically wounded on October 24 when he and Lawrence County sheriff's deputies Ed Cordle and Tim Ellis responded to a domestic complaint at the Meade's Branch home of 56-year-old Billy Joe Hinkle.

A grand jury will convene on November 12 in order to hear testimony from officers and eyewitnesses in the case, after which all information relating to the case and subsequent KSP investigation will be made public, as per standard procedure. —The Big Sandy News

Mexico's Growing Market for U.S. Goods

- Mexicans spend more on U.S. goods than Europeans and Japanese — 70 cents of every dollar Mexico spends on foreign products is spent on U.S. made goods.
- The U.S. now has a $5.6 billion trade surplus with Mexico, its third largest and fastest growing export market.
- U.S. exports to Mexico have doubled in 5 years, to $40 billion, surpassing 700,000 U.S. jobs.
- The North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) is expected to further increase U.S. exports, creating 200,000 more U.S. jobs.

Because Halloween's frights should be all in fun, safety officials ask that children and their parents be mindful of a few simple safety precautions.

* Before leaving home, children of all ages should be reminded of common safety precautions—don't run between parked cars, don't talk to strangers or accept rides from them, stay out of high-traffic areas and strange neighborhoods, do not walk through lawns but use sidewalks instead.

* Young children need adult help in crossing streets and knowing which houses to visit. Parents should try to notice the treats given at each home in case there's a question later about the safety of a particular item.

* Children should not eat candy before parents have checked each piece for signs of tampering, such as puncture holes in wrappers or candy that has been unwrapped and repackaged. Suspect items should be reported to fresh fruit discarded.

* Avoid ankle-length clothing that should be walked in. Avoid costumes that should be made of materials.

* Costumes should be rated with "dark" tape holes should be low good disguise.

Kentucky Paralegal Week

$22,500 biomass energy grant could fund Kentucky projects

The Tennessee Valley Authority's Southeastern Regional Biomass Energy Program (SERBEP) is making $22,500 available to help fund one or more projects demonstrating the use of biomass to produce energy. Biomass includes wood and wood waste, agricultural crops and residues, organic processing waste, animal wastes, and municipal solid waste. SERBEP will fund up to 25 percent of the cost of a demonstration project, which may be based anywhere in Kentucky.

Projects that have been funded through this program in the past or are currently in progress include:

- A sawdust-fired boiler to heat a dry kiln at a wood products company.

- An engineering study of co-firing 10 percent sawdust with 90 percent coal at an electric power plant.

- A demonstration of the use of corn burning stoves in low-income households.

- A study to identify optimal mixtures of wood, lime stone, and biomass fuels for burning in a fluidized bed combustion system.

- A demonstration of a process to manufacture pellet fuel from waste wood.

- A project to recover methane from a closed landfill to power an industrial boiler.

Those interested in requesting partial funding for a biomass energy project should contact Geoffrey Young at the Kentucky Division of Energy, 800 E. 242, 606, to discuss the project and request a proposal form. Formal proposals are due at the division by January 14, 1994.

PCC students to rally against tuition increase

Prestonsburg Community College students will rally against a proposed tuition increase. The rally will be held at 9:30 a.m. November 8, 1993, at the Johnson Building.

The demonstration will be held as part of a state-wide campaign by the University and community college students to protest tuition increases of 20 percent or more. Kentucky Higher Education will vote on the increase November 8. The Council raised tuition by 20 percent last year, increasing $5.00 a tuition from $25 to $45 per semester.

The rally will be held on November 8, College Day, when area school teachers and students visit the college. No classes are held until 11:30 a.m. during College Day.

Federal Ruling Food Supplements Not Drugs Under Medicaid Program

Medicaid Commissioner Harold R. "Red" Blum (Blum) announced last week that effective October 31, 1993, food supplement products will no longer be available to Medicaid recipients as drug products.

These products have a National Drug Code designation and because of this were being treated as drugs for Medicaid billing purposes but have now been ruled as food supplement products by the federal government.

The Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), a federal agency, has advised the Department for Medicaid Services in Frankfort that the food supplement products also referred to as mineral nutrition products are considered to be food and as such may no longer be covered under the Medicaid Drug Program. The department is notifying the providers and recipients that these products will no longer be available as drugs. The products will continue to be available to children under 21 years of age through the Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment Program.

RAY BRACKETT

SCHOOL BOARD

As a member of the original citizens group that formed to get the asbestos out of Prestonsburg High School in the late 70's which then became the Floyd County Citizens Education Council, I had many dealings with Ray Brackett. I found that if I wanted the truth about something, I could get it from Ray. I know that he was constantly in trouble with the school board administration, because he did tell the truth. In my opinion, he wasn't rehired as superintendent because he was too honest. The only person who voted to rehire him was Ray "Shag" Campbell. I do know that in the years that he was superintendent he accomplished a lot. When I heard that there was an opening, I called Ray and asked him to apply for the position. He was still interested in the schools and has so much knowledge that he could share with others. I'm sure Mr. Isaac is a good person who also has the desire to improve our schools, but I feel that Ray has the knowledge that it would take many years as a board member to obtain. I felt compelled to put this in the paper, because I have heard people say that he shouldn't be elected since he was part of the original problem. I know for a fact that he was honest with our organization in the twelve years that I dealt with trying to improve the system. We were treated as outcasts and troublemakers by most of the people running the school system at that time, but Ray never treated me that way. He wanted improvement in the schools as we did. Since I devoted twelve years of my life to improving our school system, I would never have asked Ray to apply for the position of school board member if I didn't think he could do the job.

This campaign is about to end. Our family would like to thank everyone who has helped in any way. We would also like to thank all those who have been so warm and gracious as we have visited with you door-to-door. Your thoughts and ideas are much appreciated and will be considered as priority when we are allowed to lead and govern. People hurting under current health care system testify before task force

by Becky L. Meadows

KPA News Bureau Director
One day James Johns was a happy college graduate, a young professional who had really just begun to see what life had to offer.

The next day life dealt him a harsh blow. He had to have a kidney transplant, and he had to have dialysis treatments while he waited for a donor.

"I was basically wiped out," the Lexington resident told the Task Force on Health Care Reform during its public hearing last Thursday. "I became uninsurable. I'm lumped in with someone who has AIDS."

He found a donor and got the life-saving kidney transplant, but there was no way to save his job or his lifestyle.

"My medicine right now is about $8,000 per month," he told task force members. "That's out of my pocket. That's only prescription medicine."

Last month, he got some money from the United Way to help pay his medical bills. That money ran out Friday, the day after about 15 members of the 25-member task force heard his story.

"That's it," Johns said. "I sold my car. I've lost everything."

Johns isn't alone. Several people testified on their own behalfs during the public hearing, pointing similar pictures.

They had no health insurance. A catastrophic illness struck them. They cannot finance their medical bills.

Some even go without treatment because they can't afford it.

But the number of people who testified on their own behalfs was in stark contrast to the loads of lobbyists from medical professional societies, hospitals and other medical-related businesses who went before the committee to basically say they oppose price controls or other strict measures to control health care costs.

The task force drafted a proposal for health care reform in Kentucky, and took public testimony to hear what people had to say about the proposal. Gov. Brereton Jones is now working with legislative leaders to see when the best time would be to call a special session of the General Assembly to enact health care reforms.

Officials with Humana Health Care Plans filed written testimony with the task force stating what provisions they liked and disliked about proposed health care reforms the task force has been drafting.

Patricia Davis with Suburban Medical Center/Columbia Health Care testified, as did Bob Barnett of the Kentucky Pharmacists Association. Other medical companies represented included American Medical Security, the Kentucky Society of Chiropractors, HMO of Kentucky, AETNA Insurance, the Kentucky Mental Health Coalition, the Kentucky Dental Association and HCA Kings Daughters Hospital.

Each person was limited to 10 minutes of testimony before the task force, but few stories caught the breath of the audience like James Johns'.

"If it can happen to me, it can happen to anybody in this room," Johns said. "I would think that some of the sharp minds in this room could come up with something."

There was little response from lawmakers after Johns told his story. But the testimony of Bob Barnett with the Kentucky Pharmacists Association caught the attention of Rep. Marshall Long, D-Shepherdsville.

Long asked Barnett why prices for prescription drugs can be so much higher in a regular pharmacy as opposed to a hospital pharmacy.

"If it costs $1 at the hospital pharmacy and it costs $10 at the pharmacy right next door, somebody's getting ripped off," Long said. Barnett said he would be happy to work with the General Assembly to try to correct this problem.

"Tosca" filmed in authentic settings

Authentic Roman settings provide the background for Placido Domingo and Catherine Malfitano in the Great Performances production of "Tosca," airing Wednesday, November 3 at 8:00.

This Emmy-winning production of Puccini's opera was filmed not only in the exact settings described in the libretto but also at the appropriate time of day. Broadcast live this summer in Europe, the production made headlines worldwide with its daunting demands on the singers and musicians.

Utilizing microphones in wigs connected to conductor Zubin Mehta and the orchestra two miles away, the work was sung in the exact noon-to-daybreak time frame indicated by Puccini. Long waits between acts were awkward but not insurmountable. Domingo watched TV all night between Acts I and II. "I felt the voice was in good shape and if I went to sleep maybe it would go down," the tenor said.

Great Performances is presented by an alliance of public television stations WNET/New York, KERA/Dallas-Fort Worth, KQED/San Francisco, MPT/Maryland, SCETV/Columbia, S.C., and WTTW/Chicago.

Corps health and safety fair

On September 9, the Corps of Engineers staff at Dewey Lake held a "Health and Safety Fair" for 56 employees in the Big Sandy Area. The Big Sandy Area includes the following lakes: Yatesville, Paintsville, Dewey, Fishtrap, John W. Hannagan, North Fork of Pound, Beech Fork, Grayson, and East Lynn. The fair was held at the First Presbyterian Church in Prestonsburg.

Representatives from five health care agencies assisted Dewey with the fair during the morning segment. Kathy Kubicko, Jeannette Reese-Voisine, Teresa Slone and Lisa Blackburn of Highlands Regional Medical Center performed cholesterol checks and provided heart and cancer risk profiles.

Shirley Smith, LPN at Eastern KY Cardiology took blood pressure readings. Ruth Anne Fairchild and her staff (Debra Burchett, Tena Ousley) from Cowley Medical Equipment, Inc., performed blood sugar screenings. Ethel Hunt of the Floyd County Health Department set up an information booth, providing literature on a number of different women's issues. After the labwork and screenings were conducted, Dewey Park Ranger Bob Llanane ended the morning with a workshop entitled "Life Choice Eating."

During the afternoon, Zina Goble, an RN in Cardiac Rehabilitation at Highlands, presented a informative program entitled, "A Grocery List for Your Heart."

Bob Hutchison and his staff at the Prestonsburg McDonald's donated healthy snacks (fat-free muffins and juice) to the participants.

This is the second year that the aforementioned agencies and businesses have so generously contributed of their time and resources for a Corps Health and Safety Fair.

In appreciation

Ruth Anne Cooley, representing Cowley Medical Equipment Inc., accepts a certificate of appreciation from Corps of Engineers for her company's assistance at the health fair.

Corp employees line up for blood sugar screenings at the health and safety fair on September 9.

Scholarship deadline nears

High school students with a grade point average of "B" or better and who are U.S. citizens interested in applying for $1,000 college scholarships should request applications by December 15, from Educational Communications Scholarship Foundation, 721 N. McKinley Road, P.O. Box 5012, Lake Forest, IL 60045-5012.

To receive an application, students should send a note stating their name, address, city, state, zip code, approximate grade point average and year of graduation. All requests for applications will be fulfilled on or about January 14, 1994.

One hundred twenty-five winners will be selected on the basis of academic performance; involvement in extracurricular activities and some consideration for financial need. A total of $125,000 will be awarded.

Adams invaded

"Christian" and "Rock Group" are two words you don't hear together very often, but the rock group AM/PM is trying to change that stereotype. AM/PM performed for the AMS Student body on Wednesday, September 15, and Thursday evening, September 16.

AM/PM is a rock group traveling throughout Eastern Kentucky. However, it is not their music that they really want everyone to listen to. They emphasize their Christianity and that they are drug-free. Everyone in the group understands the effects of drug and alcohol abuse, and are trying to get the point across to everyone else.

Approximately 200 students attended the second concert on Thursday, September 16.

New Rotary member

Kevin Yeager, past president of the Prestonsburg Rotary Club (left) recently inducted Trent Narin, of Narin Inc., as a new member. The Prestonsburg Rotary Club is one of 43 clubs located throughout the eastern half of Kentucky that help the community with their many service projects. The next community project, Safe Trick or Treat, will be held on Sunday, October 31st, at the Holiday Inn from 3-6 p.m. Admission is one can of food per child and adult to be donated to God's Pantry.

TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY:

I would like to continue to be your school board member in Educational District No. 2. I am very dedicated to being a school board member. I have not missed a single meeting since my appointment in May. I feel that I have the background for this position. I am a 1970 graduate of Martin High School. I received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Geology in 1973 from Morehead State University. I received a teacher certification, Grades 7-12, in Earth

Sciences from Morehead State in 1974. After receiving teacher certification, I tried to get a teaching position in Floyd County, but my family did not play the political game that was in the school system, so I had to seek employment elsewhere. I have been employed by a local company for the past 19 years. During my employment I have advanced to the position of Plant Manager because of my dedication, hard work and business management abilities.

Recently, my experience with the school system has been at Maytown Elementary where I was a parent member of the School Based Decision Making Council. I received several hours of training on school based decision making, so I am knowledgeable of the current trend in school management.

If you elect me, you will have a board member who is interested in a better education for all Floyd County Children.

Haunting Tales

Nighttime

by Kevin Stone

I remember its teeth, so sharp and so cruel.
It hid at my bed post.
Every night I could hear it breathe.
Long slow gasps of hot air escaped its jaws,
Jaws of hunger,
Jaws of no mercy.
It can see me!
My covers were pulled up to my neck.
My hands were sunk deeply into
The protection of my pillow.
But I knew there was no protection from it.
It was almighty.
And, I knew when I closed my eyes ...

These tales of the dark side of nature were written by Floyd County High School students and are reprinted from Mountain Magic's eighth edition, May 1993

Things That Go Thump In The Night

by Sean Little

"I think it's out of gas," said Ken. He turned to Sarah and grinned sheepishly. "Honest."
Sarah frowned. "Can't you check the engine or something to be sure?"
"Yeah, okay. But I'm sure we're out of gas."
Ken got out of the car, popped the hood and disappeared under the raised expanse of metal.
"How could this be happening," thought Sarah, "and on prom night too."
So far, this evening had been everything she had ever dreamed of. Her dress was perfect — everybody at the dance had complimented her on it. And her date, Ken, was the most popular boy in the school. He looked great in his tux, and he had even rented a BMW for the evening.
Now they were on their way to an after-prom party at an exclusive country club several miles outside of town.

"But now this!" Sarah thought. "It will ruin everything."
"Ken we are going to be late," called Sarah. "Can't you get it started?"
Ken got back in the car and tried the key again. The car still wouldn't start.

"Look," he said, "the gas gauge reads empty."
Sarah was getting angry. "Well, didn't you notice that when you picked it up this afternoon?"
"Yeah, but I thought the gauge was broken. They told me the tank is always full when a car goes out, and I'm supposed to make sure it's filled when I bring it back."

The couple sat in silence, both staring into the night. Suddenly Ken sat up straight, opened the car door and jumped out.

"Wait!" Sarah called, instantly alert. "You're not going to leave me here, are you?"

Ken peered back into the car. "I'm just going to look in the trunk to see if there's a gas can in there." In a few minutes he returned, empty-handed. "Nothing," he said. "I guess I'll have to find a gas station."
"Ken, you can't leave me here alone!" Sarah was beginning to sound panicky. "Didn't you hear about that maniac on the loose?"
"Sarah, those news reports about the lunatic are exaggerated. Besides, you'll be safer in the car. You can't walk anywhere in those spike-heeled shoes, that's for sure. I can go faster alone anyway. That way we won't miss much of the party."
"But Ken, we were one of the first couples to leave the prom. Everybody else will be there already."
"I'm sorry, but I can't get us there without gas," said Ken. "There was a service station by the turnoff about a mile back. I'll run down there and get a ride back."
"I'm scared. Don't leave me."

"You'll be okay. Just keep the doors locked. Wait, I've got an idea." Ken returned to the trunk and came back with a blanket.
"Here," he said, offering her the blanket. "Lie down in the back and put this blanket over you. If anybody passes the car, they'll think it's deserted. Nobody will bother you. Keep the doors locked and you'll be safe."

Sarah could see she didn't have much of a choice. Ken was right — the shoes she had on certainly weren't made for trudging down gravel roads in the night.

"How will I know you when you're back?" she asked.
"I'll knock on the hood of the car three times. Then you'll know it's me."

"Well, all right. But please hurry and be careful." Ken gave her a quick smile and a wave, and then disappeared into the darkness.

Sarah crawled into the backseat with the blanket. According to the clock on the dashboard, it was after 1 a.m. Glancing out the car windows, she realized how alone she was. With no moonlight, the night was especially dark. No houses could be seen anywhere. The BMW sat under a huge oak tree at the edge of the woods. On the other side of the road was an open field.

Sarah made sure all the doors were locked, then ducked under the blanket, hoping Ken would return soon. After a while, her eyes slowly closed and she drifted off to sleep.

Thump.

Sarah gave a frightened gasp as she awoke. Then she realized it must be Ken.

Thump, thump.

Relieved, Sarah started to pull the blanket off her head.

Thump, thump.

A wave of fear again rushed over her. She felt paralyzed. Didn't Ken say three knocks? Sarah thought.

Her mind raced. Should she call out to see if it was Ken? What if it wasn't him? If it was him, she decided, he'd call her name. She lay perfectly still.

Thump, thump ... thump ... thump.

Now Sarah was certain it wasn't Ken. Her heart was pounding and she was suddenly short of breath.

Someone was knocking on the hood of the car. Could it be the escaped maniac? If it was, why would he be knocking on the hood of a parked car?

For what seemed like hours, the irregular thumping shook the car's hood. Sarah was so tense that her muscles screamed in pain. But she dared not move.

Finally, she heard another car approaching. It stopped somewhere behind the disabled vehicle. Then, even through the blanket, she could tell that bright light was being passed over the BMW.

A loudspeaker blared out in the night, and she nearly jumped off the car seat. "This is the police. Is there anybody in that car?"

Sarah wanted to scream, but her throat was so dry she couldn't make a sound.

"I repeat, this is the police. Is anybody in that car?" Sarah slowly sat up and looked out the back window. The brilliance of the searchlight blinded her. She tried to shield her eyes.

The voice behind the light called, "Miss, are you all right?"

Sarah nodded her head, still trying to find her voice.

"Okay, I want you to get out of the car and walk this way. Walk directly toward the light. Do not look behind you. Whatever you do, DO NOT look behind you. All right?"

Sarah unlocked the door and stepped outside. Her legs were so stiff she could barely move, and she wobbled on her high-heeled shoes. Swallowing hard, she took a few hesitant steps toward the light.

"You're doing fine, Miss. Come this way. Remember, don't turn around."

As she moved forward, Sarah began to gather her wits. What's going on? She thought. Where's Ken? Why can't I turn around?

She could make out the police car now, and the two policemen standing behind the cruiser's open doors. One of the men had his arms outstretched to her.

But Sarah could no longer stand the suspense. She threw a glance back at the car. Suddenly, the scream that had been building up inside her broke forth.

Above the BMW was Ken hanging from a noose tied to a limb of the old oak tree. His legs dangled freely, swaying in the breeze. His lifeless feet were hitting the hood of the car. Thump, thump.

Someone is watching

by Alena Meade

Do you believe in the supernatural? I never thought I would until one night when something happened. That particular occasion changed my feelings on the subject. When I went to bed, everything was as always; nothing seemed out of the ordinary. I sure wasn't expecting the strange event that was about to take place.

I awoke from a restless sleep to a room filled with an unusual warmth and peered over at the pale pink wall beside my bed. I lay there still somewhat sleepy, but I knew I was too fidgety to sleep. Suddenly I got an eerie feeling that someone was watching over me. Being the coward I was, I wasn't about to roll over and look up to find out exactly who or what was lurking above me.

Within mere seconds, curiosity got the best of me. I turned from the uncomfortable sideways position I had been trying to sleep in and slowly looked above me. I had a series of reactions while about a million things came to mind at once: Should I scream, faint, roll back over, and die were only a few of them.

Soon my mind was nearly blank as my complete concentration was devoted to the figure before me. His hair was light brown, with a natural wave to it. My eyes were now fixed on his in a dead stare. Dead was the perfect word of description. His eyes gave off an empty stare and his face held no expression. He was clothed in a large white wrap that looked almost like a sheet. Never a movement did he make. He had his arms outstretched, and in them he held a small white box. He looked as though he were trying to get me to take whatever may have been inside.

Then an even stranger feeling came over me. It was almost as if his presence made me feel at ease. The thought entered my mind that he might be some sort of guardian angel. I wanted to reach out to him and see what was in the box, or if I could feel something, but I couldn't find the courage. Then, almost as suddenly as the ease came, the feeling of terror shot back at me. I shut my eyes tightly and let out a loud, piercing yell for my mom. My only wish was that this figure would disappear.

I reopened my eyes and found my mom beside me saying, "What's wrong with you?" The figure had vanished thin air, the same place from which it had come. Some times I think it was only a dream, but I've never experienced anything that real. Still, I often feel that there was some meaning behind the visit that I may have uncovered if I could only have conquered my fear. Someday, I hope to have the same experience when fear is no longer a problem.

Emptiness

by Glen Floyd

The quiet wind blows through the battered, mangled, disarranged house.
The surroundings of this house of horror was of the dead and the creatures lurking around it was of rats and creatures of its sort.

The people who once lived here were friends to me, but not friends to each other. This house of incandescent light, turning itself off and on, possessed them in wrong doings.

I would be invited every day for a glass of lemonade, to sit and talk in peace. The talks were always of nature and harmony, but as I left I heard the talks of evil and murder. I never entered into the house afraid of being behind closed doors.

Now as I wait for my hand to turn the door, I will finally see the reasons for the departure of their minds. As I entered, I saw but pictures and locks. Locks all over the well-aged floors. I wandered on and saw nothing.

Emptiness left a rare state of pondering in my heart. I looked and thought and decided. The pictures must have been what they wanted to be and the talks with lemonade of hopeful dreams. The locks were the ones they had worn in their hearts and the screams were but cries of help.

This house of evil whose family was of rats ate away at their souls. So I left to never be inducted into the house of the battered, mangled, disarranged, and swore not to listen when the death wind blew a message at me.

Julian's mind

by Greta Heintzelman

I know this guy named Julian. He is an ordinary, nonchalant, nobody kind of a guy except he carries only one different trait: his deep dark secret that no one ever knew.

He carries this alarming truth with him, and he thinks this secret will be his own personal wound forever. He often sits in a deep stare.

Julian realizes the vitality in his hidden knowledge, and he knows someday he will be found out. His secret will be revealed for the whole world to know and prosecute.

Julian often wonders what will become of him and his thoughts.

He tries to block it out of his mind just to survive an average day, but as hard as he tries, his thoughts are collapsed by his unforgiving memories.

He thinks back and remembers that cold January day when his crime of passion was constructed. That cold day at Mill Branch well haunts him still.

The body of his unfaithful lover was thrown into the deep darkness of the abandoned well. Love, was it worthy of this act. His thoughts scramble as I destruct his mind. My memory destroys his everlasting reminiscence. My cold, rain-soaked corpse bobs in and fro forever in the molded rock well. I wonder if I could, would I tell, or has unfaithful actions been punished?

Young Authors

Rhonda Newsome

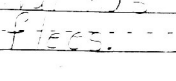

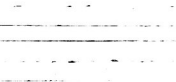

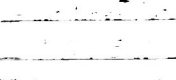

The Floyd County Times and the Department of Instruction of Floyd County Schools jointly wish to feature the student work of Rhonda Newsome, a primary Young Authors' winner from Mrs. Linda Elliott's class at McDowell Elementary. Rhonda is the daughter of Teresa and Cline Newsome Jr. Her book, A Cat Named Nat, printed with permission, was the winner in the primary "Poetry" book competition.

Rhonda was a room winner, a school winner, and a county-wide winner for the 1992-93 school year for her book. She received a $50 U.S. Savings Bond at a spring awards ceremony. Approximately 5,000 elementary and middle school students participated in competition throughout the county.

Phone home

Johnny Martin, consultant for Student Services and Attendance at Allen Central, recently demonstrated to Jody Sword, principal at Allen Central, the Phone Master program that is underway at the school. The program automatically calls an absent student's home to report that he/she is not at school.

Phone home program stops playing hookey

Skipping school isn't what it used to be. Technology has moved into the truancy office with the Phone Master, a computerized phone home program that notifies parents when their children aren't in school.

At Allen Central, that technology was installed last year, and the school plans to use it again this year. When Allen Central students miss school, their parents will hear the recorded message telling them their children aren't in school. The program also leaves a phone number the parent may call for further information.

The telephone program is in conjunction with a new effort at the school to increase attendance. Some of the ideas being implemented include notifying parents by letter when a student misses five days of class and having students make up time missed when their absences reach 10 days. If a student fails to make up class time missed beyond nine days, he/she will receive an incomplete grade.

A drop-out prevention coordinator will be hired at the school. An attendance committee has also been organized at the school in the effort to control absenteeism. The committee consists of the principal, designee, counselor, teachers, non-certified personnel and parents. The committee will review each absentee case on an individual basis.

Home visits will also be made for students who miss an inordinate amount of class time.

Technology comes to South Floyd

by Carl Bentley

This is the first year for South Floyd Technology class. The class has been planned for years, but has never been accomplished until this year. For South Floyd it is a new era of technology.

The class is taught by Mr. Fletcher and Mr. Maxey. The class has several different modules in it. In each module, students are expected to perform different tasks. There is usually a workbook in each module to keep the students on the right track. The modules are:

- Audio visual—students learn different parts in an A/V system.
- Problem solving—students learn different problem-solving techniques.
- Aerospace—students learn basic principles of flight.

- Robotics—students learn applications and programming techniques.
- Desktop Publishing—students learn to use Aldus Pagemaker Software. They produce a newspaper.
- Computer Numerical Control—students study the use of computer.
- Production—students study the manufacturing field.

- Engineering Structures—students study structural engineering.
- Computer Aided Design—students learn how to use CAD.
- Computer Graphics—students learn the Animator Pro System.

Each of these modules has a table with two chairs, a dust pan and a broom, a garbage can, and a light to turn on to let Mr. Fletcher know you need help.

Think about it

by Sheldon Lee Compton

Are you published?

I've been doing some reading lately and during this time I have run across some pretty strange things about the world of publishing. I recently read somewhere that there was an author who got her first book published after seventy-four years of trying. She was ninety years old.

This is almost enough to make a hopeful author ball up into a corner somewhere and never pick up a pen or sit down at a typewriter again. But not me. I look at it as inspiration. After all if I never get a book contract with Signets I'm still going to write. I'm going to write every day of my life no matter what, and I know that. If it happens on the way I get something published and go on to write dozens of successful novels and roll in money for the rest of my life, then all the better.

I was reading an interview with a popular author who gave her views on the public opinions of a writer. She said that before she got her first book published people would come up to her and ask what she did for a living and she would reply that she was a writer. The first question that would come back would be "what have you got published?" She went on to say that this made her furious and could not figure out why a person must first get something published before he or she can say they are a writer. If you write, you are a writer. I agree one hundred percent.

I can relate to this because I feel that until my dying day I will strive toward getting a book in print, to see my name on the bookstands rubbing covers with King and Straub, but if I never succeed, and my novel never goes as far as my own desk, I will still consider myself a writer.

Right now you may think that I am crazy for actually finding inspiration in the fact that it took someone seventy-four years to publish a book, but this is one time that I am looking at the bright side. At least the woman got published, she never gave up. If she can do it, then so can I.

I think that I've been getting consumed in the need to be published and it is hindering my writing. I think I will just take the time now, while I don't have to worry about making a living, and just write, without the pressure of wanting to see my stuff in print. Maybe by doing this I'll produce some better material.

The main thing about writing is that it has to stay fun. If you can take the comments about not being published and go ahead and write the way you want to, and produce the kind of writing you want, it will show.

South Floyd opens a new bookstore

by Samantha Ray

Here at South Floyd we have something new—a bookstore.

The bookstore is sponsored by Mrs. McCoy and Mr. Phipps. Students who work in the bookstore have to be in Mrs. McCoy's or Mrs. Phipps' classes or be a member of FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) or S.T.P. (Students Technology Leadership Program).

In the bookstore, students can purchase many types of school supplies such as glue, pencils, notebooks, glitter, and computer discs. Students can also find many different types of candy such as M & M's and Reese's.

I interviewed three people who have had a chance to work in the bookstore. The first student I talked with was Betty Stone. Stone said that the bookstore is a great place to meet and to talk to new people. "The experience teaches you a great deal of new things like how to take inventory," she said.

Misty Shepherd said, "We have a very special privilege of having a bookstore. Working in there is a very learning and appreciated experience."

I also talked to Lisa Mullins who said, "I think it is fun to work in the bookstore, because I meet new friends. Plus I have something to do during lunch."

Overall, I think that everyone at South Floyd likes the bookstore. The teachers also like having something this nice in the school for everyone to enjoy.

The Kentucky River Giant

The railroads expanded rapidly into the western United States in the years following the Civil War.

The W. W. Cole Circus organized the first extensive tour of the west and contracted the giants, Martin Van Buren Bates and his wife Anna, as the feature attraction. The success of the venture led to other big shows to follow.

The following year the giants anxiously awaited the arrival of a baby. Anna's pregnancy was normal except that she became unusually large. "I was called to the Bates home in Seville, Ohio, on January 15, 1879," Dr. A. P. Beach wrote later. "Mrs. Bates was of such a tremendous size that I could not make a satisfactory examination. She remained in the initial stages of labor for 24 hours, and delivery began at 36 hours."

Dr. Beach called Dr. J. D. Robinson, of Wooster, Ohio, to assist him and after much difficulty they delivered the baby. "When the membranes broke, what I estimated to be six gallons of fluid came pouring out of the mother," Dr. Beach recorded. "The baby was the size of an average six-month old baby."

It was the largest known baby in history, weighing a fraction under 24 pounds at birth and measuring 30 inches in length. The baby's feet were 5 1/2 inches long.

The birth was unique in another respect. Giants are usually born to normal parents and usually have normal sized children. But Martin and Anna gave birth to a giant son.

Unfortunately, the baby lived for only a short while, dying eleven hours after birth. Dr. Beach wrote about the giant delivery in the Medical Record, a physician journal of that era. Martin Van Buren Bates also recorded his thoughts.

"We have been blessed with many things during the years," Bates wrote. "But affliction again visited in January, 1879, with the loss of our son. He was perfect in every respect. He looked like an ordinary child except he appeared much larger and older."

The following year found Martin Van Buren Bates and his wife, Anna, the eight-foot tall "Love Giants," touring the Western United States with the Cole Circus again. Afterwards they retired to their farm home in Ohio.

Bates was a good businessman and became quite wealthy. Although he was a large man and magnificent physical specimen, Martin chose to use the legal system to settle problems instead of bullying anyone.

Anna was active participant in activities involving the ladies of the area prior to her death at the relatively young age of 43.

Captain Bates sent a wire to a firm in Cleveland to have a special coffin made which would be adequate for his wife. The worker, upon receiving the order felt the dimensions must be in error, and made a normal-size coffin. Bates was irate over having to wait another three days for a casket to be made for burying his wife.

The funeral service was held on the veranda with the people observing from the yard. Although the Bates home was large, it still couldn't accommodate the large number of people who attended. The following Sunday their special pew in Seville First Baptist Church was draped with flowers and plants. Rev. Ashley preached from the 14th chapter of Mark. "She hath done what she could."

Bates had a large statue made in France and shipped to Ohio where it shadows her grave. Many people have said that it resembles Anna at a young age.

In 1900, Bates married LaVonne Weatherly, the daughter of a local minister and they lived in the town of Seville instead of in the country.

Bates, a refined man, spent his later years enjoying a gentleman's life of leisure. LaVonne, whose father was a former pastor at Seville Baptist Church, was slightly more than five feet tall.

Bates enjoyed discussing the Civil War, its causes, and other issues of the day. He attended street fairs where he towered over the townspeople. They helped him recall his days of long before when the world's royalty paid to rub shoulders, or elbows, with him and his wife.

Ray Weldon was a next-door neighbor and business associate of Bates but at times they had heated disagreements. Bates bought a parrot and trained it for weeks before putting it's cage on the porch where it would continuously tell Weldon, "Get off the grass, get off the grass."

Editor's note: Jason writes about the final days of the Kentucky River Giant in From The Mountains next week in the Floyd County Times.

IN MEMORY

Gregory Dean Perry

10-30-83 to 9-9-91

Autumn leaves are falling,
Along with tears of sorrow,
To that the Lord's calling.
Has taken your tomorrow.

It is your birthday soon,
And beneath the Autumn moon,
We will celebrate,
And keep this sacred date.

And in your tradition,
Scary stories will we tell,
Around an open campfire,
Built upon a hill.

In our minds we miss you,
Our hearts hang on to love,
But we understand,
God needed you above.

We love and miss you, Greg

James Keith Hall

7-14-71 to 10-24-93

Keith was blessed to see much of the world in his short life. After graduation from Betsy Layne High School, Keith joined the Navy. He served in the Persian Gulf during the conflict and was stationed in San Diego, California.

Keith was honored in many ways throughout his life and his room remains filled with trophies, but perhaps the greatest honor of all, Keith did not see.

The family was very proud to see all his friends, who came out to pay their respects last October. Keith would have been proud, too.

Although Keith is gone, he is not forgotten. He will always live on in our hearts.

We love you, Keith.

Vote

Stephen T. Allen

We would like to ask the voters in the City of Prestonsburg to support our son-in-law, Stephen T. Allen, in his bid to secure a seat in the City Council race. We feel he will do a very good job and deserves the opportunity.

Thank you,

CITIZENS OF MARTIN

I have been a City Council Member for the past 11 months. Yes, I have voted no on several issues, not all issues. The Mayor or his wife bring up issues, they are not explained by the Mayor or the City Attorney. I voted yes to loan the Sewer Department $5,000.00 to pay the balance owed on repair of the lift station behind Pic Pac; $2,500.00 for fireworks, and several others.

The statement made in the Floyd County Times, October 27, 1993, was not true. YOUR PROPERTY TAXES HAVE NOT BEEN LOWERED 4%.

If elected I will continue to vote no on issues that are not clarified.

I am an elderly person living on a fixed income.

I am not a yes person, unless it is legal.

Write in LANCE BLACKBURN Board of Education District #3

- I want to see both the Middle School and the Betsy Layne Elementary Project built.
- I think an addition at Stumbo Elementary should be considered. This addition could function as an on-site Middle School for the children of the Stumbo area. Busing needs to be minimized.
- I think the State is wrong in their push to close small schools such as Harold. Bigger isn't always better.
- I think we need to spend our tax dollars wisely. We can't afford to "scrap" tax money.
- I support the efforts of our bus drivers to have their problems addressed.

Here Are A Few Facts About Plastics And Plastic Bottles That May Surprise You

The experts at the Society of Plastics Engineers point out that plastic bottles and other packages help preserve our food.

- (NAPS)—Did you know that plastic comes from nature? It is a by-product of petroleum. There are about 50 different varieties of plastic.
- In the U.S., plastics account for only three percent of our energy consumption? Plastic bottles gain popularity over heavier packaging because plastics require less energy to convert from raw material and their light weight saves fuel costs required to transport products.
- The history of plastic goes back more than 100 years? The first plastic, actually cellulose nitrate, was introduced as a replacement for ivory in billiard balls.
- What distinguishes plastic from other materials is its seemingly endless ability to be molded, shaped, modified or diversified to meet society's demands? For food packaging, this may mean keeping moisture out, carbonation in, or withstanding high temperatures. Virtually all plastic bottles prevent breakage, which means fewer losses during shipment and lower prices for consumers.
- The use of plastic bottles reduces waste? Americans have the best food delivery system in the world; waste less food than most other industrialized nations, and spend a smaller portion of their incomes at the grocery store.

THE DETOUR
(Part 3—Next to the Last Episode)

The sign which read "Gallinburg 5 Miles" looked better to me than a plate of fried chicken with a side order of gravy and mashed potatoes. And for a mountain girl with an appetite of a ditch digger that's really saying something.

"We're almost there!" Paula screamed above our applause.

"I'm so excited!" I remarked. "I haven't been to Gallinburg since I was six years old."

"I was here last April, but we took a slightly different route."

"No doubt," Tara laughed. "You must have missed a lot of scenery then," Mother added.

"I do know we missed North Carolina," Bonnie snickered.

It was nearly twelve o'clock when we pulled into Gallinburg. Weary and hungry, we searched for an open restaurant.

"There's one," Marcia said. "Nope it's closed."

"Here's one!" Tara exclaimed. "They're closing now."

After looking around for another twenty minutes, we decided to find our motel and then hunt for food. When we pulled into the motel breezeway, the night clerk looked at us warily.

"Why is he looking at us funny?" Marcia asked.

"Why wouldn't he?" Paula answered. "I haven't looked at myself, but I've seen all of you."

"That's not nice," Tara remarked. "I still have on my mascara."

"You certainly do, and it's right under your eyes and on your cheeks," I laughed. Of course, we were all punchy from the long drive, but a carload of women with luggage had to be a comical sight—with or without make-up.

"He's getting us two roll-away beds," Bonnie announced as she got back into the car.

"You mean we're all sleeping in the same room?" my mother asked.

"We don't have, too, Jeanne," Bonnie replied. "You can sleep in the truck."

"No, I don't mind. It's just that I snore."

"Oh, no!" Paula cried. "How loud? Not louder than Uncle Jim and J.R.?"

After we unloaded the truck, we went back into town and hunted for a place to eat. As we drove through the narrow streets I noticed that Gallinburg sure had changed since I was six years old. Instead of The Bear Motel and the SkyLift, there were hundreds of motels and the sky-lift was above the entire town.

"There's a place to eat," Tara announced.

Paula came to a screeching halt. And we all piled out and ran like a herd of buffalo to the window of the sandwich shop.

"What would you like?" the boy asked in broken English.

"A hamburger with..."

"Just minute." The boy then went back into the kitchen and returned 10 minutes later with a hamburger. "What do you want on it?" he asked. "Lettuce, tomato, and onion."

"Just minute." He left again and returned a few minutes later with the condiments and asked, "What would you like to drink?"

This scenario was repeated on all six of us. And as you may have already guessed, we suspected that we saw a glint of sunrise from above the mountains.

"That boy could have used some help," my mother stated.

"When did you expect that? Before or after you finished?"

THE TIMES' WEEKEND EXTRA

Dragons, peasants and puppeteers

Arts in Morehead (AIM) will present an evening of family entertainment featuring the Wood and Strings Puppet Theatre on Wednesday, November 3, at 7:30 p.m. in Burton Auditorium at Morehead State University.

Two productions are scheduled that evening: "An Irish Tale," the story of two poor peasants who have been granted three wishes, and "Out of the Mist...a Dragon," a magical tale of an ill-fated pair of Japanese lovers.

AIM is a cooperative effort of MSU and the Morehead/Rowan County Arts Council.

General admission tickets will be available at the door on the evening of the performance at $6 for adults and $3 for non-MSU students and children. MSU students with valid I.D. cards will be admitted free.

"The performance is scheduled to begin 30 minutes earlier than traditional AIM productions in order to encourage families to attend," said Thom Yancy, AIM program chair. "Although the stories are simplistic in nature, the visual effects are breath-takingly stunning," he added.

During its visit to the MSU campus, Wood and Strings Puppet Theatre will present two performances for area primary school children and a master class for MSU theatre and art students.

While an "Irish Tale" is full of detailed masks, colorful costumes and endearing puppets, "Out of the Mist" is a journey around the world of traditional folk puppetry, according to Wood and Strings artistic director Clarissa Lee.

The show uses reproductions of carved masks of Native Americans on the Northwest Coast, Punch and Judy from Europe and the rarely seen shadow puppets of Indonesia. However, the main characters are reproductions of the exquisite classical style of Japanese puppetry known as Bunraku.

"They become very lifelike after you start posturing them," said Lega, who carefully researched the Bunraku movement. The two male Bunraku puppets stand four feet tall and the young princess is three feet six inches.

Each Bunraku figure features jet-black hair, alabaster white skin, exaggerated eyes and richly detailed kimo-

nos. The puppeteers are dressed in traditional black, complete with black hoods that cover the face. Sometimes it takes as many as three puppeteers to operate a single puppet.

Lega and Leon Fuller, her husband, created Wood and Strings Puppet Theatre, a professional touring company which is part of the Tennessee Arts Commission's Touring Arts Program and the Visiting Artists Program of the Southern Arts Federation.

The company operates on a year-round schedule with three or four puppeteers, three productions and a host of many different types of puppets. One of the most requested artists associated with Tennessee's "Art on the Road" program, Wood and Strings tours regionally throughout the Southeast.

Additional information on the November 3 performance or a group rate on tickets are available by calling (606) 783-2602.

AIM's next presentation, the popular musical "Cotton Patch Gospel," is scheduled for April 18.

AIM brings puppet theatre to MSU

Arts in Morehead, a cooperative effort of Morehead State University and the Morehead/Rowan County Arts Council, will present the Wood and Strings Puppet Theatre in Burton Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, November 3. Here Biddy and Paddy Mahoney are confronted by elves in the production, "An Irish Tale," one of the two shows slated to be presented. General admission tickets will be available at the door on the evening of the performance at $6 for adults and $3 for non-MSU students and children. MSU students with valid I.D. cards will be admitted free. Additional information may be obtained by calling (606) 783-2602.

Okay, class, now that your bellies are all full from the Halloween candy you ate a week before the Trick-or-Treaters had a chance at it and your pockets are full from all the cash you got by selling your votes a week before the election, let's begin to focus on the most important issue facing us all right now:

"Just what exactly does Geoff want for Christmas this year?"

Long-time readers (if, in fact, there are any) will note that we debated that subject last year, so why, you may ask yourselves, are we having to sit through this again?

The answers are simple. First of all, I'm strongly in favor of recycling ideas. I intend to be your environmental columnist.

Second of all, this is another year, and I want different things. And third — and most of important — Y'ALL DIDN'T GET ME A SINGLE $5&8* THING I ASKED FOR LAST YEAR!!

And I certainly hope we don't have a repeat of that sorry mess. You'll all be sorry.

And I might cry. So anyway, here it is. Please remember I'm only doing this as a public service so you won't end up in the stores at the last minute dodging old ladies and little kids looking for just exactly the perfect gift for me.

Plus, I got enough ties and key chains last year to choke Bill Clinton.

GEOFF'S CHRISTMAS WISHLIST (in no particular order)

1. As always—Cash!!!
2. A slinky (and I really mean it this time).

3. Cash.
4. World peace (I know it's unrealistic, but I keep hoping, anyway. I mean, Israel and the PLO are finally settling down a little bit. Now all we have to really work on are the Democrats and Republicans).

5. Money.
6. Rogaine (and if you can't afford Rogaine, just get me a bottle of Armor-All so I don't have to worry about waxy yellow build-up).

7. A new Cindy Crawford workout videotape because I wore out the old one. Maybe I might even work out with this one.

8. Cindy Crawford (and if you can't afford Cindy Crawford, just get me any other superstar-type babe—except Madonna, of course, because I don't want to have to worry about waxy yellow build-up).

9. Cash.
10. A universal health care plan (okay, I was just kidding around—I know it's impossible, but a guy can dream, can't he—just look at Clinton).

11. Money.
12. A "Beavis and Butt-Head" T-shirt, jumbo-size. And please make sure it's fire-proof.

13. For Lori Anderson and Burt Reynolds to settle their differences AND GET THE 6$%&* OFF MY TV SET!!!

14. For my wife not to kill me when she gets to the part about Cindy Crawford.

15. And finally—Cash.

Okay, that's about it. If I think

TV violence. What is it and why are so many people so violently upset about it?

Since we consider ourselves to be a TV expert, having logged more viewing hours than Carter has little pills, we'll attempt to enlighten you on the matter.

As far as we can see, TV violence is that intangible element which forces people to do unspeakable acts, hire lawyers, sue for unthinkable amounts and then sell the rights to their stories to the producers of made-for-TV movies.

The strongest evidence to support arguments that constant barrages of TV violence cause viewers to lose touch with reality comes from the forty-something age group, which discovered that the Partridge Family lip-synched all their songs too late to prevent the invention of polyester leisure suits.

While most of you probably don't associate the Partridge Family with TV violence, we're sure you can see how that show spawned a decade of programming that desensitized our society to the evolution of broadcast bloodlust.

Who among us, for example, would decry the Skipper's routine clobberings of Gilligan, who deserved everything he got for spending so much effort at mischievousness when he should have been making out with Ginger or Mary Ann?

And how many times did you have to see poor Wile E. Coyote fall off that cliff before you started wishing he'd catch that Roadrunner and wring its smart-alecky neck?

Even Godzilla, who leveled Tokyo a record number of times and who sent thousands of Japanese to their deaths, turned out to be the good guy in the end.

If we are truly desensitized to violence because of what we watch on TV, there is only one logical conclusion we can find for making that so.

We had no sense to begin with.

A Look At Sports
by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

NEWS FROM DALLAS...
I received a letter from Roger Manuel, a former Martin Purple Flash and an avid Kentucky Wildcat fan. Roger lives near Dallas where the "Monster Mash" has taken his game to the big state of "Txxxxxxus."

Roger sent along some clippings from Dallas newspapers of Jamal and it looks like there is a love affair blossoming between the fans and Mash.

Writing in his column in the Dallas Morning News, staff writer Brad Townsend wrote of the debut that new coach Quinn Buckner had in the Mavericks' first home exhibition game. It also marked the first game for players Lucious Harris and Popeye Jones.

"But the biggest fan response Friday night at Reunion Arena was for the pro debut of Jamal Mashburn," Townsend wrote.

In his column for the Dallas paper, Kevin B. Blackstone wrote, "Mashburn leaves Buckner spinning."

"Even though he was in the open court, it still was quite a move he put on Friday night during his debut as a Maverick."

"It was the second quarter. He spun to his right. A perfect pirouette, really. And then with his right arm, yanked down, putting his elbow into his gut. Kind of like a train conductor would do his horn, or a tractor-trailer driver, maybe. "Yes, indeed so. He's worth the price of his contract and admission. Quinn Buckner, we're speaking of, of course."

Back to Roger. He now resides in Mesquite, Texas which is near Dallas. He attended the University of Kentucky, "and has always been a Cats fan."

"What happened to Rex?" is the question that Roger asked. "I thought he'd be much better."

We appreciate the letter and clippings from Roger and hope that he will drop some more this way as the pro season progresses.

RICK SAYS
HE HAS NO CONCERNS...
Rick Pitino. A great motivator. I was just reading where he says that he "has no concerns" about this year's addition of Wildcat basketball.

I sure am glad that he said that because I was concerned. But not now. Rick has motivated me to believe they are a final four team once again. Thanks, Rick.

From what I can glean from all the press information, Kentucky fans should not expect too much from last year's Prop 48 casualty Walter McCarty. "We're not going to count on McCarty," said Pitino. Well, I can understand that. Then Rick tells us that he always thought that Tony Delk was overrated. Well, maybe he was.

Another surprise from Rick is that Rodrick Rhoades has made significant changes -- as a person. But Rick, what about as a player?

Oh, dear! Forget what I said about being motivated. Now I'm concerned again.

Midnight Madness on ESPN tonight. The season opener against Louisville is just days away (November 27). We can all come alive again.

WANT TO SEE SOME GREAT FOOTBALL?

Journey on down to the Prestonsburg stadium tomorrow morning and you will see some stars of the future in high school football.

It will be the first annual Big Sandy Valley Conference Gridiron Classic. Four games featuring all eight conference teams and all four games promise to be good ones.

The "B" team game will kick off the action at 9:30 a.m. and the big game will feature conference champions Allen against second-place South Floyd. You don't want to miss this one.

Until Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports. Like Ollie used to say, "Don't send your kids to Sunday School. Take them."

High school football regular season finals tonight...

Allen Central plays for playoff berth; Betsy Layne winning season

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Blackcats will be looking for a perfect 10-0 record. The South Floyd Raiders will be looking for their first win. The Betsy Layne Bobcats want a winning season. The Allen Central Rebels just want to make the playoffs.

That is the scenario as the high school football season enters its final week and all four county schools will be in action.

Three of the four schools will honor and recognize their seniors as they play at home for the final time. The season will end for two of the Floyd county teams; one will go on to a playoff berth and the other still clings to hopes of a win.

ALLEN CENTRAL AT PHELPS
For Coach Glenn Reeves' gridironmen, this is the biggest game of the year. Allen Central finds the final game of the season as the one that will determine if the seasons ends here or do they go on.

Currently, Phelps is surprisingly tied with Fleming-Neon for third place in District 2. Region 4 with identical 3-2 records by virtue of the Hornets' upset of the Finches last Friday.

Allen Central is fifth in the standings with a 2-3 mark. Fleming-Neon will host second place Jenkins tonight. Should the Rebels win over Phelps, and Jenkins down Neon, then all three teams would have identical 3-3 marks.

By virtue of their win over Phelps earlier in the season, Neon would become the number-three team, and Allen Central, by defeating Phelps, would get the fourth playoff berth.

An Allen Central loss would eliminate the Rebels and Neon would go to third and Phelps fourth.

Should Neon knock off Jenkins, they would move to 4-2 on the year and claim the second place spot while Jenkins would drop to third and Phelps fourth.

Is it all clear now?

Allen Central's fate rests in their own hands. The Rebels must win to secure their first playoff berth in school history.

Key for the Rebels...

Glenn Floyd must carry the football as he has never done before. Shawn Howard must be utilized to get the short yardage that he is capable of getting.

Allen Central should forget about throwing the football and concen-

Allen Eagles finish season 7-0 with win over Paintsville

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It has been 1986 since the Allen Eagles won a county grade school football championship, but that all ended this season as the Eagles flew past everyone else and claimed their first title in seven years.

On top of being crowned county champions, the Eagles won the first Big Sandy Elementary Football Conference, a league that included eight teams. The Eagles finished the season 7-0 to win the prestigious conference title and did it in good form as they defeated a very strong Paintsville football team on the road, 8-0, this past Tuesday night.

"I'm proud of these kids," said assistant coach Jackie Howard. "Ian Stone played a heck of a game for us tonight. He has such good quickness."

It wasn't an easy win for the Eagles as the two powerhouses battled on even terms for 31 minutes and 56 seconds. The last four seconds? That was when the Eagles won it.

Seth Crisp, on a designed play, went on a sweep to the left and found his way into the end zone from the Paintsville 2-yard line. Stone kicked the PAT (which counts for two points in grade school) to give the Eagles an 8-0 lead with four ticks left on the scoreboard.

"It was a designed play," said head coach Monte Brashers. "I called two plays in the huddle and the last one was for Seth to go on the sweep."

Allen picked up a first down on the Tigers' 8-yard line with 1:34 left in the game. Stone had a run of 2 yards to the six and he bulled his way to the two with :29 on the clock.

Crisp handed off to Stone at the two but the big fullback was met at the line of scrimmage for a no-gainer. The second play worked for Allen as Crisp scored.

The drive started on the Eagles own 11-yard line with 6:46 left in the game.

The biggest play of the contest came with just under five minutes remaining when the Eagles faced a second and 14 after Billy Mitchell was thrown for a loss of 4 yards.

On a bootleg play, Crisp handed off to Stone who then lofted a pass deep for Mitchell who was surrounded by three Paintsville defenders. On an almost unbelievable play, Mitchell went up high between the defenders and pulled the ball down for a 24-yard completion pass and the ball in Paintsville territory.

On a third-and-eight play, Mitchell, on a reverse, picked up 10 valuable yards moving the ball to the Tigers' 20-yard line. Dennis Lafferty carried the ball 12 yards to the Paintsville eight with 1:34 left.

The Eagles still had to kick off to Big Sandy Football Conference closes season with gridiron classic

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Big Sandy Valley Elementary Football Conference will officially close its football season by staging its first annual Big Sandy Valley Conference Gridiron Classic at the Prestonsburg stadium tomorrow (Saturday) with five games on tap.

It will be a football fan's delight as the day's contest kicks off with a "B" team game between Paintsville and South Floyd. Both teams were the top two teams in the "B" team standings with Paintsville finishing undefeated at 7-0. South Floyd's only loss came at the hands of the junior Tigers, and they were 6-1 on the year.

The "A" teams get underway at 11 a.m. with Betsy Layne facing Allen Central in a battle of seventh and eighth place teams. Betsy Layne finished the season 1-6, and Allen Central went winless at 0-7.

A good Paintsville team (4-3) will take on an equally good Adams Red team in a 1 p.m. start. Paintsville tied for second place in the conference with Magoffin County, and the Adams Red team finished 3-4 on the year.

Paintsville lost to Allen in their final game of the season, and that tied them with Magoffin County. The Adams Red team won over the Tigers White this past Tuesday night.

Football action continues as a very solid Magoffin County team takes on the Adams White squad at 3 p.m. Magoffin finished 4-3 in the conference and Adams White was 3-4.

This will be two evenly matched football teams and should be a fan's game to enjoy.

The evening will climax when the number one and two conference teams collide in the nightcap at 5 p.m. The Allen Eagles, conference champions, will take on the ever tough South Floyd Raiders, conference runners-up.

The last time the two teams met was earlier in the season with Allen coming away with a 14-12 win in what many fans will tell you was the best grade school football game of all time.

Allen's win over Paintsville Tuesday night gave them an unblemished record at 7-0, while the junior Raiders finished 6-1.

The winner of the game between Allen and South Floyd will be the bowl champions, who will receive a trophy for their efforts.

Each player will receive a T-shirt with the Big Sandy Valley Conference logo on the front.

Admission to the games will be $4 adults and $2 students.

The South Floyd Raiders coaching staff, like all the other teams, urges their crowd to come out early and come a-yelling.

Coaches consensers: Part II

Osborne returns strong team...
Veteran high school coach Bobby Osborne of the Shelby Valley Wildcats agrees with the assessment that there is more parity this season.

"Parity should be as good if not better than last year," he commented. "There will be several teams that will compete for the championship of the regional tournament."

A lot of teams have good experience, players coming back, and I think with the consolidation of South Floyd (McDowell and Wheelwright) they will be a strong team.

"Paintsville will be a strong club. Allen Central has the nucleus to be the region's top team. Elkhorn City will have a good team. Parity will be as good if not better this season."

Osborne looks for some good basketball games this season and the fans should be in for a lot of excitement. The veteran coach views the different camps in the summer as getting the players ready for the big show.

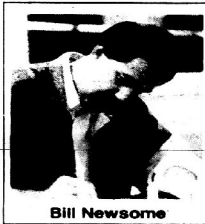

"Anytime, I've been in it a long time. You used to see some real, real good basketball. Nowadays, it is a little more systematic than what it used to be. More kids are getting a little more help and a little more attention. Youngsters are getting more help from camps in the off season and they used to not get that before."

But Osborne believes that despite all the help from camps and other sources that today's players lack something.

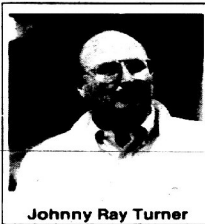

"Heart. Years ago we had kids with a lot of heart," said Osborne. "This is what is lacking in abilities today — heart. The heart to play is not like it used to be years and years ago."

The Wildcat mentor said that he has seen that change over the years. "I think that basketball is still good. It's still good in this region. It's still as good here as it is in the state of Kentucky. We don't get the publicity here like the other part of the state gets but still we have a lot of good talent here."

Turner to guide Golden Eagles...
Former McDowell coach Johnny Ray Turner has switched counties this season and will be at the helm of the Johnson Central program that has been down in the past two seasons. Coach Turner echoes the same sentiments of others in that there's going to be a lot of parity in the region."

"You have to look at Allen Central. They have a strong club coming back. Betsy is going to have a good team along with Elkhorn City who got a transfer in this year. I heard a lot of good things about him. They should be pretty good."

"Betsy Layne. We played them this summer and felt like they were going to have a very fine ballclub. Then there is Shelby Valley. We have a lot of good ballclubs."

Turner said that he looks for a real even season in 1993-94 and there should be plenty of excitement.

"I look for a lot of exciting things this season, again," he said. "I'm glad to get started back. We've been practicing a couple of weeks now and I'm excited about being at Johnson Central. I look for a good season."

When asked for his number one regional pick, Turner replied: "Coach Martin at Allen Central has an awfully good group coming back. If they're healthy and are working right, they would be the front runner."

Newsome says

don't overlook Magoffin...
"There are three or four teams that stick out in my mind right now," said the Betsy Layne coach, "as being the co-favorites. There's a lot of good talent coming back on several regional teams."

"Allen Central, Elkhorn City and Paintsville will all have good ballclubs. You can take your choice will shock some..."

Betsy coach Raymond Justice knows what it is to make the trip to the Sweet Sixteen. He made three consecutive journeys until Elkhorn City replaced the Pirates as regional champions last year. The Pirates lost to the Cougars in the championship game.

To start with, you would have to say Elkhorn City would have to be the preseason number one pick."

said Justice. "With Conley and the kid from overseas they will be a good ballclub."

"Shelby Valley will shock some people, as will Paintsville. They've had some good, young players over the past years. Right now it's hard to look back over the past season and see. I think right now those are the three teams to beat."

Last year the Pirates were faced with what many expected to be a rebuilding season with the loss of Shawn Hager and J.J. Hylton two years ago. But Justice said that it was more serious this time around.

"We're in an ever-more serious situation," he said. "I've got one player back who started as the Jarrod Hager. He's an excellent little point guard, one of the best in the 15th Region, if not in the state."

"That is my biased opinion, but he's a nice little point guard and I really like him. Everything else is a coin toss right now."

Justice said that Jamie Baldwin had a good summer for him, but other than that, it's a toss up and he will just have to wait and see what will happen.

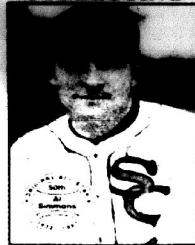

"I don't want to forget old Johnny at Allen Central," Justice said when reminded of the Rebels. "His guard is back (Jeremy Hall) and he's a nice one. That's probably the top four teams if you look at them right now."

The Original All Stars set was issued in 1983, for the 50th midsummer classic. The cards depict members of the 1913 teams, including AL SIMMONS, then laboring for the Chicago White Sox. "Backfoot Al" was hitting .368 going into that '33 game, and finished at .331, one of his 11 straight 300 seasons, which included two batting titles. Al played with many teams, 1924-44, but had his best years with the old Philadelphia A's, where he was a favorite of Connie Mack... The Hall of Famer wanted 3,000 hits, but he finished with 2,927... Jimmy Goble just can't understand what happen with his picks last week after going 5-7. His plea for help has fallen on deaf years. The Prestonsburg Blackcats should complete their regular season with a win over M.C. Napier. Betsy Layne looks good over Knott County. The Kentucky Wildcats, playing well against SEC teams, are the likely choice to win on the road for only the second time this season and third time in three years. The Browns and Bengals have the weekend off, but the Cowboys should lasso the Eagle's in the city of brotherly love.

It's Senior Night in Floyd County...

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Floyd County high schools will be saying good-bye to their senior football players tonight as three of the four schools hold senior night.

Allen Central held their senior night last Friday night in their final home game against Magoffin County.

Prestonsburg will lose 16 players and a strong 16 they will be. Allen Central graduates 10 while Betsy Layne loses only three. South Floyd will see 15 leave after this year.

Allen Central

The Rebels will lose two of their running backs. Shawn Howard and Glenn Floyd leave after the school year.

It is really a shame that these two didn't get into the football mood earlier because both have been standouts this season.

Howard came on very strong this year and developed into a strong back. Floyd is one of the county's leading scorers and has had three games of over 200 yards.

Another late bloomer was Scott Bellemy. Always known for his defensive play, Bellemy had some good games out of the backfield for the Rebels.

Jeremy Hall, the football player, may be short in stature but he certainly is a hard hitter off the defensive line for the Rebels. A solid performer and one who Coach Glenn Reeves will miss.

Kevin Dye is another one who is in the mold. A strong defensive lineman. Austin Sheodon and Rondal Stewart played the end position as well as on defense and both showed some promise early this year. Both are strong defensive linemen.

John Baca will complete his tour at Allen Central by finishing as an improved player defensively. Pat Collins has been a solid player for the Rebels. Perhaps the best defensive player the Rebels had this season was Charlie Wade. A hard-nosed football player who seemed to always come up with the big hit.

Betsy Layne

The Bobcats will be the least hit by graduation. They will only lose three seniors, but all three are key personnel.

Marty Keith Hamilton says good-bye to the football program, and he has been a good one this season. Hamilton is probably one of the three area quarterbacks who have thrown with any consistency this season.

Adam Roberts departs after proving that he could play anywhere the coach put him -- quarterback, backfield or on the defensive line. Wide receiver Jamie Robinette has the soft hands that made him a target for Hamilton this season. A very strong defensive player as well.

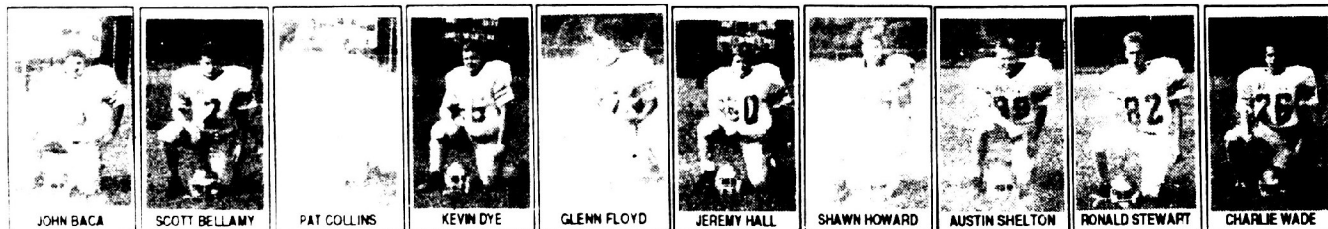

Prestonsburg

What can you say about this group of seniors that hasn't already been said?

Seth Hyden. Proved to be Mr. Consistency after having banner sophomore and junior years, came back from what was thought to be a career ending injury and ran that much harder.

Dwayne Garza. Has teamed with Hyden to form one of the most talented duos in high school football. A strong runner and a good college prospect.

Jody Cornette. Definitely the South Floyd loses 10 seniors....

Blackcats' MVP. Not necessarily because he is the leading rusher but because of the way he took charge when Hyden and Garza had to miss some games.

Cory Reitz. A first-year player but proved to be very valuable to the Blackcats' offense. Daniel Adams will be leaving the football program, and he was solid player.

When the kicking game needed a boost, it got it from John Stout who has kicked 25 this season. A stalwart on defense has been Greg Jones who has given the Blackcats some good playing time.

Mr. Everything. Matt Porter. Just an all-around performer for Prestonsburg. It didn't matter where he played, he performed. Clab Slone saw limited playing time for the Blackcats but did make a contribution to the team and their success.

On the defensive side of the football how can you sing the laurels of this bunch. What a job they have done. Brad Wells, Kyle Fitzpatrick, Ryan Elliott and Kevin Vaughn. It has been a super season for them.

Kevin Farthing include in the afore mentioned company. Just a great job by Kevin. Freddie Collins has doen a very good job on defense. Ritchie Hall did get his catch in again Morgan County and has been a steady player for the Blackcats.

South Floyd

South Floyd will lose one of the top receivers over the past three seasons for Wheelwright and now South Floyd. Charles Johnson has been a stalwart in catching the football as well as playing defense.

William Willard will be saying good-bye in only his first year at South Floyd. Arnold Adams and Patrick Tackett have had to watch on the sidelines this season but they both have

Cruise Caudill came a long way. What a fine football player he turned out to be. John Caudill is another who didn't receive the notice that he deserved. A very good defensive player.

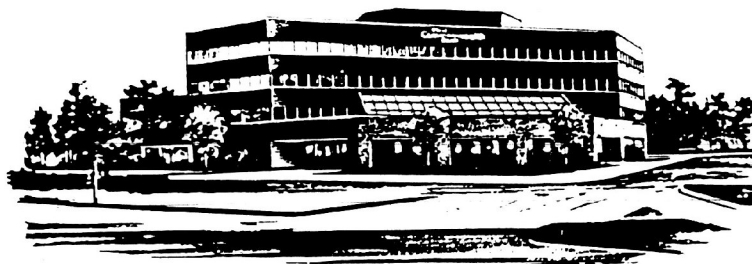

Mike Tackett and Jason Martin leave the Raiders' program after spending a year in which they worked hard.

Shane Hall and Billy Little, along with Shannon McKinney and Shawn Howell, have made a contribution to the program at both Wheelwright and South Floyd.

We wish each and every senior the best after they leave high school.

Consensus

Feds Creek Ralph Good is chomping at the bits to get the season underway because the Vikings will return a veteran ballclub that some have just overlooked.

"It is going to be a balanced region this year," said Good. "The old favorites are still the old favorites. Pikeville will be tough to beat as will Elkhorn City with their new addition. Belfry will be Belfry again."

While Good likes the above-mentioned teams, he is quick to add that there are others.

"Paintsville, they tell me, is loaded. Danny Adams will have a strong club over in Magoffin County."

The veteran Viking team will have to be a good choice for a regional title.

"We return nine seniors this year," he said. "So, if we're ever going to win, we should win this year." Sloane, Siltner, Fuller and Miller return for the Vikings and all four are solid players. "We have nine or ten who have played a lot of basketball for us."

Coach Good doesn't see any surprises emerging out of the 15th Region this year.

"No, no surprises. There will be some good games in the 15th Region this year. It will be real tight when the tournament comes around and the winner will depend on who is playing the best at that time."

Rose to inherit strong club... While South Floyd will be in their first year of operation, the Raiders will have some strong talent returning from both McDowell and Wheelwright schools.

Coach Jim Rose will inherit a strong ballclub that several regional coaches say could be a sleeper.

But Rose, who coached in the 14th Region the past four seasons, likes the local team Allen Central as his top choice.

"At this time Allen Central will have to be my favorite to win it all," he said. "Then you have Elkhorn City, Shelby Valley and Paintsville as the next three."

"After those three, you've got parity and just play the field of wait and see."

Rose said that overall, the other teams can be put anywhere.

"After you get into this thing, some other team just might surface and be a contender. I don't know just who yet, but all the other teams are so equal after the top four."

Parido doesn't see much change.

While most of the coaches are singing the parity tune, Prestonsburg coach Gordon Parido says there are three teams that could take the title.

and the other teams capable of beating those three.

"Allen Central is the best team in the region right now," said the Blackcat coach whose team won it all in 1989. "Elkhorn City is an unknown factor. They've got the kid who transferred in."

"Paintsville had a real young team last year. All those players will be juniors and seniors. I look for those three teams to be the top three."

"I feel like there are four or five other teams that will be capable of beating those three teams."

Parido said that he doesn't think anything has changed in the region. Everybody has a shot. There's a couple dominating teams like there has always been in the past.

Is there a dark horse?

"I was pretty well impressed when I saw Magoffin County play. Those guys always play hard. They got a little bit of talent coming back and Danny (Adams) over there always tries to down play it as much as he possibly can. They will have a good team."

Parido likes South Floyd. "They're kind of an unknown factor right now. They've got some good guys coming back from McDowell and Wheelwright. If Jim (Rose) can put those two together like he's capable of doing, they will be a team to be reckoned with by the end of the year."

Belfry. Don't even count Belfry out. They have such a good program. Raymond Justice does a great job over there. They always come around and have a good ballclub."

Parido mentioned Pike Central as a possible sleeper in the race after Mullins and Johns Creek emerged this season. "Mullins had some good kids this year. We played against last year," he said.

"Shelby Valley is always a traditionally strong team like Betsy Layne. You've got to always count them in your top ten every year. Just tradition alone will beat a lot of people."

Whoever you like this year, you can listen to these coaches and expect to see some of the best high school basketball to come down the Parkway in recent years.

time on their ground game.

The Rebels have three top backs in the region but the offensive line must do their part and give the needed blocking.

This should be a good one with both teams charged up. Neither team can afford to sit back and wait for the other one to fold. They must go out and play up to the expectations that the game dictates.

M.C. NAPIER AT PRESTONSBURG

In 1934, under then coach C.W. Watson, the Prestonsburg Blackcats had their only undefeated season but they did not win a regular season game for a 10-1-0 record.

In 1984, with Doc Tennill at the helm, the Blackcats had an undefeated, untied regular season losing only to Lafayette in the Recreation Bowl 27-19 to finish 10-1-0.

Bobby Crager's Blackcat team posted a 10-1-0 record in 1987 but the Cats lost to Belknap during the regular season.

Tonight, Prestonsburg has a chance to do what no other Blackcat team has done since the '67 season and that is to finish the regular season with a perfect 10-0 record.

It has been a banner season for Bill Letton's crew. They haven't been seriously challenged on the gridiron this season, except for the Belknap game which they won 12-3 without Seth Hyden.

The lack of competition this season in the district has Blackcats fans wondering if that may not catch up with the Blackcats during next week's playoffs.

But you have to stop and realize that this is a very talented Prestonsburg football team and their play has made the other teams look as if they were not competing.

Keys for the Blackcats...
Staying focused for tonight's game is important for the Blackcats, not looking ahead to next week when the big show starts.

So far, it has been the kind of season that everyone predicted it would be for the Cats. Now, in focus, they can make the playoffs the kind that fans are predicting again, a rematch with Danville in the semis.

However, there looms some stiff competition in the playoffs in the likes of Lawrence County and especially Russell. But this is a solid Prestonsburg team and we like their chances of meeting the Admirals again.

KNOTT COUNTY AT BETSY LAYNE

Not since the early '70s has the Betsy Layne football program known a winning season. Then the Bobcats finished 6-4.

When the Knott County Central Patriots (0-9) motor into the Lloyd Hamilton Athletic Complex tonight, the Bobcats will be looking to duplicate the same record and finish 6-4.

Betsy Layne (5-4) would love to give Coach John Derosetti a winning season. The second year coach has turned the program around after going winless last year.

Knott County, on the other hand, would at least love to close out their rather disappointing season with a win over the 2A school. Knott County plays in the 3A.

For the Patriots, the winless record could be misleading when you consider the district they must compete in.

I look at these teams that make up the Class 3A, District 2, Region 4 group: Breathitt County, Leslie County, Belknap, Clay County, along with Knott County.

Betsy Layne can't afford to look at the 0-9 mark that Knott County will bring to the Hamilton field.

The Bobcats know that one more year remains away from district competition and a win here tonight to produce a winning season will bring momentum for a strong weight program through the winter and a reason for next season to get even better.

KEYS FOR THE BOBCATS...

No one has been running the football any harder than Rocky Hamilton has. The fullback has been a solid performer for Coach Derosetti.

Keith Hamilton is, no doubt, one of the top quarterbacks in the region and has been one of the reasons for the success of this Betsy Layne team.

The line must provide the holes for the Bobcats to run through. A good defensive effort will be needed.

as Knott County will be looking to sweep to the outside, something that they do well.

ELKHORN CITY AT SOUTH FLOYD

It's ironic that the last place teams in Class A, District 2, Region 4 will face each other tonight.

Both South Floyd and Elkhorn City are winless as far as conference records are concerned. However, the Cougars do own a couple of wins and one came Friday night over Betsy Layne, a team that defeated the Raiders in the season's opener.

Whoever wins tonight will have their first win and escape the basement of the district. It has been a down year for the Cougars' football program, a program that almost didn't exist until current coach B.J. Elswick volunteered to head up the team.

South Floyd (0-8) is a team that has had its share of problems in their first season of existence. The Raiders were forced to suspend two top players after being declared ineligible. They in turn had to forfeit their only win back to Phelps.

Coach Donny Daniels then had to fill those vacancies with young, untested and inexperienced personnel.

Now, the Raiders will finish off the 1993 football season hosting the Cougars on Senior Night at Brackett Field. Coach Daniels will return a different team next season. A team with experience and players (who had never played the game before) knowing what needs to be done.

Keys for the Raiders...

South Floyd must contain the running game of the Cougars, especially that of Jamie Rose and quarterback Isaac Swiney. The Cougars will run the ball most of the time.

A player who has been rather quiet this season for Elkhorn City has been Aaron Blizard, who normally is the leading rusher. In the past, Blizard has had good games against Wheelwright teams.

But this is South Floyd and the Raiders are a better defensive team than last year's Wheelwright squad.

Senior night...

South Floyd, Prestonsburg and Betsy Layne will be holding their annual senior night as they say goodbye to senior players.

The Prestonsburg/Hapier game will start at 8 p.m. while Betsy Layne will start at 7:30 p.m.

South Floyd plays Elkhorn at 7:30 and Allen Central will kick-off at 7:30 at Phelps.

County scoring race close... The county scoring race is very close and no doubt will be settled after tonight's games.

Glenn Floyd of Allen Central and Jody Cornette of Prestonsburg are tied with 78 points each on 13 touchdowns. Prestonsburg's Seth Hyden and Betsy Layne's Rocky Hamilton are close behind. Dwayne Garza is a close fifth with 66 points.

CITIZENS OF MARTIN

We the undersigned incumbent City Council members respectfully ask you for another term. We feel we have done a good job managing your business. We feel we have served you well and spent your tax money wisely and with utmost caution.

We have lowered your property tax by four percent and your insurance tax by two percent. Even with this reduction in revenue our city finances are the best in its history.

As your Councilmen, we have moved our city forward by building a new city hall and fire station. We have purchased four police cars and completed Purple Flash Park for our children. We have also constructed a well-lighted, blacktopped walking track for our citizens.

As your Council we have given 100% cooperation to our youth baseball and basketball teams. We are also generous supporters of our Senior Citizens Center and Red-White-and Blue Day.

Our Mayor has three years remaining on his term. Our city needs a strong Council to help our city to keep moving forward. We are not City Council candidates just to harass the Mayor and brag about how many times we will vote NO on critical issues.

During our next term we will work hard to build a new police station, buy a new fire truck, finish the sanitary sewer system, and complete the city park at Grigsby Heights. All this will be done with NO additional taxes. We are working for you.

If its not broke—don't fix it! Better be safe than sorry!

the Tigers and then prevent the ball from being run back. What ensued thereafter had everyone wondering what was going on.

The ball was returned to the Paintsville 14, where it was lateral on four different attempts before a Paintsville runner was brought down on the Allen 49.

On the first play from scrimmage, Lafferty broke loose for a 45-yard punt and what appeared to be a sure Allen touchdown. However, he was dragged down at the Paintsville 48.

Paintsville fumbled on their first play from scrimmage with Allen recovering the football. But three plays later, on a pitch out, the Eagles returned the favor.

Paintsville got into Allen territory when they moved to the Eagles' 38. But an alert Kyle Conley picked off an errant Paintsville throw and returned the football 28 yards before being stopped as the first half ended.

With 2:43 left in the third period, Allen fumbled the football leaving Paintsville with excellent field position at the Eagles' 22-yard line.

Paintsville got inside the Eagles' 20 for the first time when they were stopped on the 10-yard line. But that would be as close as they could come. The Tigers were hit by an off-side penalty and 4-yard loss. The Tigers tried a fake punt, but were stopped at the 11 where the Eagles took over on downs and eventually scored the winning TD.

"These kids played all season with a lot of heart and determination," said Branham of his team. "Last year, they were 1-9 and came to finish 7-0. I hope they still keep it up as they have come a long way. I'm going to miss everyone."

The Eagles will face a South Floyd team that finished second in the conference standings when they meet on the gridiron tomorrow (Saturday) at the Division Stadium for the Big Sandy Elementary Football Conference Gridiron Classic.

All eight teams will play in the classic which is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m.

Stone, whose quickness kept the Tigers' defense honest, led the Eagles' ground attack with 105 yards on 13 carries. Lafferty finished with 68 yards on seven carries. Allen had 177 yards on the ground with 24 coming by air for 201 offensive yards.

Paintsville had 50 yards rushing and 11 passing for 61 total offensive yards.

After the game, the Eagle players presented the four coaches with trophies in appreciation for their contribution to the football success in 1993.

Coaches for the Eagles include Branham, Howard, David Mosely and Jackie Day Crisp.

"Monte and Jackie did the coaching," said Crisp. "They are the two responsible for the success of this team."

MAIL CALL: It seems every time the national media picks up on the story of a Vietnam-era vet who is accused of terrorizing a residential neighborhood in New York City when he's high on cocaine, it opens the flood gates to a torrent of mail. He has been hospitalized many times for drug abuse, but apparently is unable to deal with his addiction.

Much of your mail deals not so much with his problems, but with the fact that he gets $3000 a month in veterans' benefits.

Many of you have said that while you don't begrudge him the money, as such, you do begrudge the fact that it goes up in smoke in his crack pipe. As Milt from New York put it, "A lot of veterans never got the benefits they should have had. This guy gets them and supports drug dealers with that money. Someone should be appointed by the VA to administer his funds so that he can have what he needs, but not for drugs."

Allen quarterback

Seth Crisp, quarterback for the Allen Eagles, tossed to the backfield in last Tuesday night's gridiron battle with Paintsville at Paintsville. Crisp scored the winning touchdown with four seconds left in the game to give the Eagles an 8-0 win over the Tigers. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Happy campers!

It was a happy Allen Grade School football team that celebrated at the Paintsville field Tuesday night after defeating Paintsville 8-0 on Seth Crisp's late fourth quarter touchdown. The Eagles finished the season at 7-0 and were crowned conference champions of the Big Sandy Valley Elementary Football Conference. (photo by Ed Taylor)
