Contract awarded for track facilities

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

A construction contract was awarded Wednesday to a Floyd County company for the development of a "million dollar facility" at the site of a new harness racing project.

Ted Naim, whose company Naim Inc. will build the grandstand/clubhouse facility on the Route 3 site, declined to discuss specifics of the construction contract signed Wednesday with Mountain Racing, the track developers.

Construction of the harness racing and intertrack wagering facility was turned over last month to private developers by the Floyd County Public Properties Corporation.

Naim said Thursday that his phase of the project could be under construction within two or three weeks and finished "in the spring sometime."

Mountain Racing has been awarded racing dates, to begin July 1, and the facility must be completed by that time.

Naim said he saw "no problem" with meeting the July 1 deadline.

The company will build a two-story 2,000 seat grandstand, enclosed on three sides and covered by a roof and a 5,000 square foot clubhouse that will house intertrack wagering facilities.

Mountain Racing has been authorized to conduct intertrack wagering at an alternate location, Center Stage nightclub in Prestonsburg, while the new facility is being built.

Floyd County man is convicted on mine safety counts

by Ronnie Parsons
Staff Writer

John Larry Cline, of Lovely in Marin County, was convicted Thursday on six counts of conspiring to operate the Todco No. 1 mine in Auxier in violation of mine safety standards set forth in the Mine Safety and Health Act of 1977.

The verdict stems from an investigation into the mine's safety that began after a November 1989 roof fall resulting in the death of Martin County coal miner James Stone.

The roof fall that killed Stone, a coal cutting machine operator, occurred in the area of the mine where the illegal pillaring was being done.

Cline was convicted of conspiring with Thomas Wayne Marcum, of Inez, and Marion Dalton Jr., now a resident of Columbus, Ohio to oper-

Christmas parade is slated for today

Christmas festivities will get underway in Prestonsburg today, Friday, December 10.

A Christmas parade with Santa Claus and the Prestonsburg High School band begins at 4 p.m. at the House of Flowers on South Lake Drive. The parade route will turn left on Court Street from South Lake Drive, then right on Front Street at the Playhouse Restaurant. It will turn again onto Arnold Avenue and down to First Commonwealth Bank where the parade will head back to Lake Drive.

The parade route ends in the municipal parking lot.

At the conclusion of the parade, a tree lighting ceremony will be held. Several church groups and individuals will lead the group in caroling.

Anyone who hasn't been contacted to participate in the parade and the caroling session should call Henry Lewis Mayo, Main Street manager, at Prestonsburg City Hall before noon today, Friday.

Parade participants will line up at 3:30 p.m. at the House of Flowers.

Santa Knows Best

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

When mom and dad say no, the world falls apart, life stinks, and a child feels betrayed. It's a tough word that's hard to say. It's a tough word that's hard to accept.

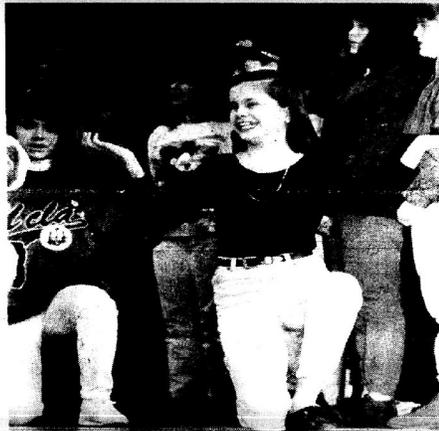

The Kentucky Opry Junior Pro All-Stars are learning that no isn't as bad as it sounds, and they will present that lesson in a delightful holiday youth musical, "Santa Knows Best." Santa, the elves and the children learn that no means "I love you."

The play opens with the energetic song "Just Another Christmas." As the play develops, Santa is confronted by "Gim'me, Gim'me." What happens when Santa can't say no to his elves when they ask to go skiing or cruising? No toys! What happens when Santa can't say no to the youngsters on his lap? An overworked, stressed-out Santa Claus.

Santa's cousin, Uncle Beat Nick, the Beboppers and Mrs. Claus come to the rescue by convincing Santa that his only hope to get through this Christmas with his sanity still intact is to take assertiveness training.

Assertiveness training? Yes, assertiveness training for Santas.

Santa steps into the 90s and joins a hilarious class filled with Santas. Santa learns how to be firm, but fair. He learns that saying "no" can mean "I love you." So do his elves, so do the children on stage and so does the audience.

This play is a must-see for Eastern Kentucky families.

"Santa Knows Best" will be held Sunday, December 19, at 2:30 p.m. in the Kentucky Junior Opry's Little Theatre at Prestonsburg Elementary.

Wesley Nelson of Prater Elementary will portray Santa. Nelson, son of Dean and Jeanne Nelson of Banner, said he has learned a valuable lesson from the play. "I thought he still doesn't like it when his parents say no, now he understands it. 'I used to pout and go to my room (when my parents said no). Now, I get over it.'" he

Statistics put county with bad company

by Ronnie Parsons
Staff Writer

Floyd County leads Eastern Kentucky in reported cases of spouse abuse and ranks 8th worst out of 120 counties in Kentucky, according to a report released by the Cabinet for Human Resources.

The report covers fiscal year 1993 reported cases of adult abuse.

Counties worse than Floyd are (in order) Jefferson, Fayette, Kenton, Warren, Hardin, Daviess and Campbell, all of which have much larger population bases than Floyd County.

Floyd County also leads in other areas of abuse: Neglect by caretaker, 8th worst; Self Neglect, 9th worst; Exploitation, 20th worst; Overall adult abuse, 9th worst; and Total adult abuse reported, 8th worst.

According to Linda Hutchinson, a case worker at the Big Sandy Family Abuse Center, some of the leading causes of spouse abuse in the Floyd County area come from family stress, economic stress and drug and alcohol abuse.

"As we watch the coal industry slow down, our statistics go up," Hutchinson said. "We also see an increase around the holidays."

Hutchinson said she has been with the Big Sandy Family Abuse Center for six years and has seen a change in the way some women are handling abusive situations.

One change Hutchinson mentioned was that women once called late at night seeking help or to leave. "Now they are making plans, packing clothes and sneaking away when their husbands are gone."

According to Hutchinson, women are not the only ones being abused. "We get about three calls a year from men that are abused. We make arrangements for them to get away from the abuse but since our center is mostly for women, we have to find other locations for them," Hutchinson said.

Hutchinson said men are a little more reluctant to call since it threatens their pride.

Another fact passed on by Hutchinson is that one in five women have suffered some sort of abuse and one in ten have suffered some sort of severe abuse, such as broken bones or cuts requiring stitches.

For the second straight year, investigations of abuse involving ul-

Two school projects trimmed; South Floyd gymnasium costs rise

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

It appears that two Floyd County school construction projects will be scaled back and costs continue to mount on the South Floyd gym project.

At Tuesday's special school board meeting, board members appeared closer to agreeing on a plan to reduce the scope of a classroom addition at Betsy Layne Elementary.

Project architect Paul Hoffman prepared a history of the project for board members and told them that he could reduce the project from $3.8 million to $2.2 million by reducing the two-story structure to a one-level addition. Hoffman added that the proposal would not include professional service fees or a kitchen/catereria.

Hoffman estimated that it would cost just over $100,000 to redesign the project. The architect has been paid approximately $132,000 to design the two-story building.

Adding a kitchen/catereria and demolition of the old two-story elementary building would be accomplished in Phase II of the project under Hoffman's proposal, and would cost an additional $850,000.

Controversy has surrounded the Betsy Layne Elementary project because former board members apparently failed to properly award the architect and construction management contracts for the project.

An engineering error in determining the building's foundation, to comply with flood plain regulations, required that the site be raised an additional two feet.

Local board members ratified the architect and construction management contracts in October. Since the project was awarded in October 1991, the local board has spent just under $500,000 on the addition for site work and professional service fees.

Hoffman's report, which was billed at $3,477,500, said that "the whole issue about the raising of the flood plain is much to do about nothing" and that the board had received the value of the additional two feet of fill needed on the site.

Accompanying documentation to Hoffman's report, however, says that the flood plan error cost the local board over $30,000 due to revisions

Martin City Council puts final approval on plan to raise rates for sewer use

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

After waiting for over 40 minutes for a quorum to be present, Martin City Council took action Wednesday to proceed with the city's multi-million dollar sewer project.

Council held second reading of an ordinance to raise sewer and water rates, which will become effective after the sewer plant is constructed. The rate hike is necessary to ensure that the city will generate enough funds to retire a $900,000 loan for the plant construction.

City officials have received over $1 million in grant monies to build the $2 million sewer plant, which was mandated by a federal court order.

Martin residents can expect to pay just over $20 per month for the minimum sewer and water services when the plant is completed, about a year from now. Minimum rates are based on a 2,000 gallon water usage.

With just enough council members present to have the meeting, outgoing councilman Tom Jones became upset with councilwoman Hazel Robinson's "no" vote on the ordinance.

"I don't understand you," Jones told Robinson. "You're about to hang the rope over the cliff. Do you want to pay $20 a month or a $100?"

Robinson responded that "it didn't matter" because city residents would have to pay the cost for the services no matter what. She added that the city sewer plant should have never gotten into the shape that it is in.

The city was facing $10,000 per day in fines from state environmental officials for discharging raw sewage

Tech trainers honored

Six Floyd County Schools technology coordinators were honored by the Floyd County Board of Education at the November meeting. The six coordinators were among approximately two dozen coordinators statewide selected to serve as technology trainers for other school districts. From left are: Debbie Dixon of Prestonsburg Elementary, Kenny Caldwell of Allen Elementary, Board Chairman Ed Patton Jr., Kim Reynolds of Adams Middle School, Laura Hyden of Martin Elementary and Stanton Watson of Duff Elementary. Honored but not present was David R. Leslie of Prestonsburg High.

nerable Kentucky adults jumped 35 percent over the previous 12 months. The statewide reports of abuse, neglect and exploitation involved 29,338 adults, compared with 22,403 in fiscal year 1992 and 16,708 people the year before. "Spouse abuse accounted for 18,488 investigations, 59 percent of last fiscal year's investigations," Newman said. The 1992 total was 15,080.

That puts reports of adult mistreatment in the state for fiscal year 1993 at 35,157, or 82 percent over reports just two years ago, according to statistics compiled by the Kentucky Department for Social Services. "As in every year, we are troubled by the huge increase in reported incidents of abuse," said Social Services Commissioner Peggy Wallace. "Yet the numbers indicate that people in the community are more alert to dis-ness signs, and more willing to call an agency that can check and offer help."

"Many people read about the horrible assaults and deaths of wives or girlfriends, but they may not be aware of other vulnerable adults who are victimized in physical, sexual, emotional and financial ways," Newman said.

"These are individuals who are physically and mentally impaired, and trying to locate resources and services for those in harmful situations or neglecting themselves is a major challenge."

Resources may include shelter, food, clothing, in-home services, weatherization, and financial, medical or legal assistance.

Newman emphasized that, "Our goal is always to provide protective assistance with the least disruption to their lives. The only time the department can act without the adult's consent is when the court agrees, based on our findings, that the person lacks the capacity to consent to services and is at risk of death or immediate and serious physical harm."

That can be a tough call when you're dealing with nutrition, hygiene, continence and sanitation, Newman added, "and we often struggle with when conditions are bad enough, and when the person is no longer capable of making decisions about his/her own well-being."

Reports of all types of abuse of people over 60 were up 17.5 percent, to 5,344 last year.

Among this age group, spouse abuse investigations totaled 502, adult (not by spouse) abuse, 1,997, neglect by caretaker in a private home, a nursing home or anywhere in the community, 2,104, self-neglect, 1,811, and exploitation, 665.

Newman urged that anyone knowing or suspecting that a vulnerable adult is being harmed call their local social services office or the statewide abuse hotline, 1-800-752-6200. The numbers to the Big Sandy Family Abuse Center is 886-6025, 24 hours a day.

in the construction documents, modifications to the mass site improvement contracts, and additional engineering.

Board members made no decision Tuesday on the Betts Layne project because they received the report during the meeting and did not have time to study it.

The board did agree that Hoffman should discuss the revised plan with state school officials to see if they would approve it before the local board took any action.

In other construction related matters, Jim Osborne, chief of operations, told the board that the size would have to be reduced for three science classrooms to be added to Adams Middle School. Osborne said that state officials would not approve using state school construction money to build the 1,000 square foot labs because the rooms were not part of the original facility plan.

State officials and the local board could reach a compromise, Osborne said, by reducing the size of the classrooms to 800 square feet.

The middle school addition was to include six additional standard classrooms, no science labs, Osborne said. School officials, though, can install the necessary sinks and other science equipment in the additional rooms.

Board member Ray Brackett said that the board should alter the design of the addition and move forward with the project. The board voted unanimously to do that.

Also Tuesday, Osborne reported that additional work required to install caissons for the South Floyd gym would require the approval of a change order for $19,312.55. The change order represented the cost of an independent observer to monitor the depths of the drilled holes for the caissons and for the additional concrete needed to secure the steel posts. Other additional costs for the gym include from $1,500 to $2,000 to replace tiles in the school lobby and the board approved spending up to $5,000 to provide fuel for heat in the gym so contractors can continue working through the winter months. In other action Tuesday:

The board approved obtaining an easement from Fletcher Gayheart of Eastern because a retaining wall for the Allen Central track will encroach on Gayheart's property. In return, the board will restore his natural gas line and make repairs to his driveway after the gas line is relocated. The board will also provide fill dirt for one to two acres of property adjacent to the track.

The board cut short a report on the district's special education program because board members did not have written report concerning problems with special education. The issue is expected to be discussed at the board's regular meeting on December 21 at Prestonsburg Community College.

Board member Brent Clark was absent from Tuesday's meeting.

into Right Beaver Creek. City and state officials reached an accord in the summer of 1992 to build a sewer line to the creek.

The city council approved the plan on Wednesday. The plan will be opened at 2 p.m. at city hall on December 15.

Also Wednesday, council agreed to approve a resolution to permit the city to purchase a portion of the city's sewer system. The resolution would allow the city to purchase up to 25 percent of the system.

Allen to assist area veterans

Charles Allen, a volunteer veteran assistance officer for the Kentucky Office of Veterans Affairs, will be at Prestonsburg National Guard Armory from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Wednesday.

Veterans and their families will be provided counseling and assistance in filing claims for state and federal benefits. This is a free service provided by the state of Kentucky. There is no charge or fee of any kind. For more information, contact Bill Jenkins at 886-6025 or 886-6026.

"A hundred dollars is not adequate," Jones said. "What can you get for a hundred dollars?"

Councilman News Jenkins offered a compromise to Jones' proposal and suggested that full-time workers receive $150 and part-time workers $75.

Council voted to accept Jenkins' proposal.

In other action Wednesday, Jones reminded council that they had voted to purchase a cell tower for the police department. Mayor Bowman said he had been receiving conflicting reports from cell phone companies about the site. He said he had agreed to proceed with purchase.

Council agreed to pay three court appointed appraisers $300 each for their work to assess the value of property located for rights of way for the sewer plant project.

Council also agreed to ask Kentucky Power to determine why several street lights at Grigsby Heights are not working and to see if the metal poles the lights are attached to are grounded.

Council members Hoss Halbert and E.P. Grigsby Sr. were absent from Wednesday's meeting.

A public hearing in ceremony on Tuesday, January 11, 1994, will be held at 10 a.m. at the city hall in Martin.

Two county high school choral groups to participate in Kentucky Christmas Chorus

On Tuesday evening, December 14, more than 82 choral groups from 32 Kentucky counties will fill Lexington's Rupp Arena with the sounds of holiday music at the sixth annual Kentucky Christmas Chorus. Allen Central High School Chorus and Betsy Layne High School Chorus are among the choral groups participating. The 1993 Chorus is a large colorful sing-along which has become a holiday tradition in Kentucky. Groups registered to date represent more than 3,000 singers. Groups must preregister for reserved seating.

Tips from the postal service

Proper packaging and addressing of parcels is the best way to prevent parcel damage and loss. When packaging for mailing, use a container strong enough to protect the contents during handling. Cushion the contents with crumpled paper, foam shells or air-pocket padding to make sure they do not move within the container. Always include the address information inside your parcel. This will ensure that, should damage occur, the parcel can be identified and delivered. Use a pressure-sensitive filament or reinforced tape to seal the flaps and seams on the container. Cellophane and masking tapes are not recommended, because they are not sturdy enough to withstand handling. If it is necessary to wrap a parcel in brown paper or tie it with twine, paper can tear and get separated from your parcel, and twine can get tangled in mail processing equipment. Be sure the address, including zip code, is clearly written on one side only. Remove any other labels and addresses on the carton. Always address not just parcels, but cards and letters too, with smudge-proof ink. Attention to these few mailing pointers will help insure that your packages will arrive on time and in good condition.

ate the Auxier mine in violation of the safety standards and was also convicted of aiding and abetting Marcum in committing the following specific offenses:

- That the pillar mining was done at the mine when there was no MSHA-approved roof control plan providing for such mining;
- That the pillar mining was done without setting timbers or other roof supports;
- That the method of mining exposed the miners to hazards caused by excessive air flow, roof entries and crosscuts and by faulty pillar recovery methods;
- That the mine roof was not supported or controlled to protect the miners from hazards related to roof falls; and
- That the miners at the mine worked and traveled under unsupported mine roof.

Marcum and Dalton had previously been charged with the charges arising out of the alleged illegal pillar mining.

Cline faces a maximum sentence of one year in prison, a fine of up to $100,000, or both, on each of the six counts.

The cases resulted from an investigation conducted by special investigators of the Mine Safety and Health Administration's District #6 Office in Pikeville.

Automatic payment deductions offer easier, less expensive way to repay student loans

To make student loan repayment easier—and encourage timely payments—Sallie Mae announced recently that it is offering the Direct Repay Plan, a repayment benefit that allows student loan borrowers to authorize transfer of money from their checking or savings account directly to Sallie Mae for their monthly loan payments. Beginning May 1, 1994, borrowers who elect to use the Direct Repay Plan will receive a 1/4 percent interest rate reduction on their loans paid electronically for as long as they continue in the plan.

"Direct Repay's techless, soon-time payment is guaranteed every month provided borrowers have sufficient funds in their accounts," says Lydia Marshall, Sallie Mae senior vice president. "This helps borrowers avoid missed payments, makes it easy for them to maintain a good credit rating, and allows them to pay less on their student loans."

Marshall notes that Sallie Mae can offer the interest rate reduction because loans that are paid electronically are less costly to administer. Through Direct Repay, the corporation will pass savings it realizes in servicing costs on to participating borrowers. The plan will be available initially to those Stafford loan borrowers whose loans are owned by Sallie Mae, are in repayment, and are serviced at one of its loan servicing centers. The plan will be available to all PLUS and SLS borrowers in July 1994.

In addition to Direct Repay's au-

OMATIC 1/4 percent interest rate reduction, eligible Stafford borrowers can reduce their rate further by qualifying for Sallie Mae's Great Rewards benefit—a rate reduction of an additional two percentage points for borrowers who make their first 48 scheduled payments on time. Borrowers with a $5,000 loan balance would realize approximately $327 in savings with the combined 2 1/4 percent Direct Repay and Great Rewards interest rate reductions. Students who borrowed each year as undergraduates—totaling as much as $2,000 in Stafford loans—would save more than $1,500 over the life of the loans under both programs.

Sallie Mae, which buys education loans from originating lenders, is the nation's largest holder and servicer of such loans. Sallie Mae owns one in three guaranteed student loans outstanding today, representing financing for 5 million students and their parents.

Borrowers who are current with their payments may sign up for Direct Repay at any point in their repayment period. For more information on the Direct Repay plan, borrowers should call their Sallie Mae loan servicing center.

Stop the hurting . . .

by Scott Perry

Violence on page 5 sadly shows our area has a significant problem.

We're not being very nice to one another.

The statistics on adult abuse are alarming but they are even more frightening when you realize that a rural area like ours ranks right up there with high population metropolitan areas.

When we measure abuse we don't count ourselves because of violence. Negligence is just as common as a contributing factor.

And the numbers are rising.

This year more than 35,000 cases of abuse have been reported, an 82 percent increase over the year before.

It's obvious that not only are we unable to get a handle on the problem, we're in danger of losing our grip altogether.

Perhaps we can attribute the cause to the fact that we're only human.

But we must remember that human is not the word in humanity.

Without humanity we are no different than other forms of animal life.

And the statistics suggest we may not be as far removed from them as we thought.

Small Business Angles
by Jack Farris

The health reform juggernaut is loosed. President Clinton's legislation has arrived on Capitol Hill. Now there is no turning back. Something will be done. We can only hope that what we eventually wind up with will be a medical system that will, in the spirit of the Hippocratic oath, do more good than harm.

But the American private sector isn't waiting for Washington to act. Whether we like it or not, health reform is already underway. Businesses and organizations that have shied away from tinkering with their health insurance plans for years are beginning to look for ways to trim costs, streamline benefits and reduce paper work.

What's more, many employers realize that the current regulations are taking another look at the size and makeup of their workforces. That fact of economic life is going on right now especially among those employees who are beginning to realize that the Administration's plan becomes costlier the more workers they have on the payroll, the more they're going to pay for health insurance.

President Clinton has said that millions of American workers are just a pink slip away from losing their insurance. He's right! Small-business employees in particular have this fear because they know that if the government forces their companies to foot the bill, many small employers will have to close their doors, a pink slip away.

Small-business owners and employees should realize that the National Federation of Independent Business has determined that many of the small-business employees who are being hit by the health reform bill are actually self-employed. After all, the health reform bill is a tax on self-employed workers.

proposals, researchers found that those plans which demand payment from businesses—similar to the Administrations' bill—would threaten the livelihoods of between nine million and 19 million people.

Although several new ideas have been suggested, such as sweeteners or subsidies for employers, doubt remains. Just ask any small-business owner two important questions about health care reform: First, do you trust the government to manage a health system? Second, do you want a government subsidy or affordable health insurance?

Cost. Cost. Cost. In three words, that's the reason many small businesses do not provide insurance. Sweeteners, subsidies, government promises aside, the No. 1 problem is the cost of health insurance.

Even if small-business owners can obtain health insurance, the price is often astronomical, more than paid by big companies. Once insured, all it takes to ignite the cost rocket is for a firm to file a slightly higher than-normal claim.

Recently First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton said: "I cannot be responsible for saving every undercapitalized small-business owner in America." That's okay, small business does not want our government to save us. Left to do what it does best—free enterprise entrepreneurs—small businesses can take care of itself, thank you.

What small business—and all Americans—need is common sense lawmaking that does not skewer one segment of society to curry favor with another. To demand that all employers cough up the cash to pay for a national health care program makes no sense. That scheme pits business owners against their own employees and against other taxpayers and will inevitably result in pink slips for millions.

Jack Farris is the President of the National Federation of Independent Business, representing over 600,000 small-business men and women.

Why retirement age might go up

The Social Security Administration says that the retirement age may be necessary. A look at why this might happen.

Workers will be retiring later
 Retirees now get full benefits at age 65, but longer wages are ahead as a result of a 1983 law that ultimately delays retirement to 67.

What others are saying

The following articles are excerpts of editorials taken from Kentucky newspapers.

School isn't for sissies!

In case you missed it, the Louisville Courier-Journal and the Kentucky Education Association have independently canceled their statewide spelling bees for the 1994-1995 school year because, according to the Associated Press, "of concerns that the competition don't fit with the Kentucky Education Reform Act."

Apparently, the Courier-Journal and the KEA feel spelling bees violate the spirit of KERA because they "emphasize competition and rote memorization and also place incredible stress on young participants."

Ohhh, those poorooooo widdle kiddies. The message here, folks, is that education reform is all about touchy-feely "I'm-okay-you're-okay-let's sing-Kum-bah-yah" horse hockey!

While we freely and whole-heartedly support KERA and everything it stands for, we sincerely doubt that teaching our children that it's important to excel academically goes against its grain. The whole point of KERA, we thought, was to make sure that each child received an equal opportunity for education. Not that each child would be held back to keep from offending those less willing to strive for excellence.

Although both the Courier-Journal and the KEA have hinted that they would consider some alternative to the demon spell-offs, for those poor kids who get saddled with the label "weak worm and unfortunately we were among that number," such big-time academic competitions as spelling bees are the only outlet they have to show that they, too, can be winners.

The only real accomplishment that can be achieved by banning academic competition is to reinforce the outdated, misanthropic notion that academic prowess is somehow less important than athletic performance.

Unless of course they ban sports competitions, too. Which is the next logical step. That's right. No more spelling bees. No more football. No more basketball.

Because we don't want to "stress out" the youngsters.

What's that going to teach them? That they don't have to compete? That they don't have to push themselves to excel? That they don't have to measure their personal performances against those of others?

That isn't very realistic. That doesn't teach them about real life.

Real life isn't for sissies. School shouldn't be, either. —The Big Sandy News

Common sense overruled by ignorance

Why is it that in most cases common sense is overruled by ignorance?

Most know that a hardened criminal—murder, rapist, etc.—needs to be behind bars, not in a prison with a hole-in-the-wall atmosphere. In Kentucky, though, many of our convicts have had the luxury of minimum security prisons, which are more or less like detention centers.

In our recent state tragedy, the roads to wrap up a man in a "caped prisoner" in minimum security to murder a Kentucky killed a Tennessee man and was then killed himself. Kentucky Governor Jones finally decided to do something, to be "practical" in executing a man that will keep people out of jail. It was a "real" and not a crime from being sent to minimum security prison.

Why does it take a tragedy for government officials to wake up something that has been a problem for so long? —Partsville Herald

Debating drugs

When I heard the news called for further study of the idea of legalizing drugs, she was doing her job as surgeon general. It's her responsibility to think of ways to improve the nation's health.

Drugs are responsible for many of this country's greatest health problems. Drugs — and the violence associated with them — kill people. In most major cities, dirty, intravenous needles are the main cause of AIDS.

Of course drugs are also a law enforcement problem, which is why the war on drugs has been fought primarily with law enforcement tools. The federal government spends $12 billion a year in that war, but not many folks think they're winning. The General Accounting Office reports that drug traffickers have been forced to adopt new smuggling methods, but the supply on the streets has remained relatively stable.

The idea of legalizing drugs sounds crazy, but it may not be. And it certainly isn't a new idea. Conservative William French Jr., former Secretary of State, George Shultz, Nobel Prize-winning economist Milton Friedman, and a number of thoughtful judges have proposed the very same thing. —Courier-Journal Louisville

Ten Years Ago (December 14, 1983)
 Natural gas users supplied by Kentucky/West Virginia Gas Company may see another rate hike in addition to the November 1 price increase. An attorney for the family of Mary Vinamie Tackett, 19, will press for a coroner's inquest into her death after she was found hanged in her jail cell. A late-night raid by state police last Thursday on a reputed gambling joint at Beaver resulted in the arrest of three, Dexter Hamilton, 54, of Beaver, Earnel Bentley, 56, of Grethel, and Charles Bentley, 32, of Beaver. Construction of new schools—and raising the money to finance it—is now the main item on his agenda, said E. P. "Pete" Gingsley Jr., who was named to his third term as superintendent of Floyd County Schools. Floyd County School Board treasurer Ray Brackett said that the way things are going that the school district will finish with a $225,000 deficit. There died: Edgar Preston Stephens, 69, of Prestonsburg, last Wednesday in Lexington; Sol Prater, 69, of Garrett, Saturday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; George Glen Sloan, 22, from an apparent fall in the logjam at Mountain View; Virgil Smith, 74, of Allen, Sunday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Minnie Frazier Smith, 77, of Martin, Monday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital; Estill Boyd, 69, of Prater Creek, at his home; Sadie Johnson, 62, of Wecksburg, November 23, at McDowell Hospital; Walter Scott Collins, 56, of Prestonsburg, Friday at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Twenty Years Ago (December 19, 1973)
 One club here was reopened Monday in a compromise of litigation surrounding its closing, and another here and two at Martin may reopen on the same terms. Plans for financing the construction of Phase II of Allen Central High School were completed last Wednesday at a joint meeting of the Floyd fiscal court and the board of education, and the court voted to advertise the sale of $1,825,000 in bonds to cover the cost of the project. John Allen has sold the States Motel and other property lying between Lake Drive and Arnold Avenue here to the Burl Spurlock estate, it was learned last week. Allen Central's first homecoming, held here last Saturday night, was highlighted by half-time ceremonies which included the crowning of Miss Cathy Everage as Homecoming Queen by Isabelle Teresita Robinson, homecoming queen. Born to Mr. and Mrs. John R. Turner, of Salsyerville, a daughter, Margalee, December 9 at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville; to Mr. and Mrs. Boone Prater, of East McDowell, a daughter, Dec. 12 at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital (MARH); to Mr. and Mrs. David Gilliam, of Wheelwright, a son, Dec. 12 at MARH. There died: Fred R. Mann, 81, former mine superintendent and state mine inspector, Saturday at Highlands Regional Medical Center (HRMC); Wallace Conroy, 78, of Wheelwright, December 14 at Methodist Hospital, Pikeville; Walter Jacobs, 61, of Redfox, last Friday at the U.K. Medical Center, Lexington; Mrs. Neva Blair Hughes, 75, of Prestonsburg, last Wednesday at HRMC; Will Bolen, 63, of Garrett, December 4 at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin.

Thirty Years Ago (December 19, 1963)
 The entire West Prestonsburg community was threatened with destruction by fire, shortly before noon Monday, when a mechanical gas control failed, resulting in fires and explosions in perhaps a score of homes. A posse of 17 officers descended Thursday of last week on a moonshining, manufacturing installation on Blueberry Creek near Ransom and captured two large copper stills, 120 gallons of whiskey and 725 gallons of mash. State ABC personnel said it was the largest still and the most whiskey found in recent years in Eastern Kentucky. Toll collections began Monday on the section of the Mountain Parkway from Canton, east to Salsyerville. The U.S. 23 Association has adopted a resolution recommending that U.S. 23 in Kentucky be modernized along its entire length, from the Ohio River to the Virginia line. Delbert Gearheart, 38, Hucyville father of four, was killed Saturday morning when crushed beneath a slatefall in a mine at Dema. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Hicks, formerly of Maytown, a son, December 2 in Ohio; to Mr. and Mrs. Luther Sheld of Bays Branch, a son, Steven Dean, December 2 in Ohio; there died: Barry Wayne Hays, 22, formerly of Stanville, in a car wreck Monday at Silver City, New Mexico; Mrs. Lydia N. Preston, formerly of Prestonsburg, Tuesday at Paintsville; Mrs. Milly (Pink) Williamson, 76, of Auxier, last Thursday at the Paintsville Hospital; Mrs. Easter Lee Cox Singleton, formerly of Lackey, November 15 at Louisville.

Forty Years Ago (December 17, 1953)
 Barring outbreaks of violence between this date and the end of the year, the Floyd circuit court will open its January term without a murder case on its docket. County Clerk DuRan Moore last week became the first Floyd countyman to be elected president of the Kentucky County Clerks' Association. (P) Raymond Stevens, of Betsy Layme, has been awarded the title of "father of the year" for his role in Korean fighting. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ball Jr., a son, Michael David, November 29 at Ypsilanti, Michigan. There died: Mrs. Susan R. Fleming, 67, of Martin, Saturday at McDowell; Mrs. Julia C. Burchett, 98, Monday at Sloan; Mrs. Sarah Reed, 50, formerly of Garrett, December 8 at Sandusky, Ohio; Harry M. Shannon, 79, at Drift, Sunday; Melvin Campbell, 72, of Prestonsburg, Saturday at Lexington General Hospital; Mrs. Thosa B. Stratton, 46, of Marc Creek, Friday at a Martin hospital; Joe Grant Hall, 60, of McDowell, last Wednesday at a Martin hospital; Boyd Poe, 68, Abbott Creek native, Sunday at Albion, Michigan.

Fifty Years Ago (December 16, 1943)
 Keus, Martin and Bill Mitchell, of Ison, reported this week that they were beaten and robbed of $260 on the mountain near Ligon Saturday night. The Daughters of the American Revolution have announced the locating of the graves of 17 Revolutionary War veterans in this county. The latest found is that of Fred Ash at Honaker. Ed Moore, 38, formerly of Allen, was seriously injured Monday in Chicago in a fall from a locomotive. State Commissioner of Agriculture William H. May and his brother-in-law, Nathan Christopher, this week purchased "Glen-Ary," the 260-acre farm near Frankfort which formerly was owned by Judge E. C. O'Rear. County Judge E. P. Hill and T. R. Rainer are constructing a tripper for truck mine coal, a short distance from the West Prestonsburg railway station. There died: Mrs. Neva Allen Hays, 50, of Prestonsburg, Saturday at Lexington; Betty Lois Patton, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Patton, of Mantion, Tuesday at a Martin hospital; James Wade Maynard, 66, formerly of Dwaite, Sunday at Dearborn, Michigan.

Sixty Years Ago (December 15, 1933)
 Sale of all county road machinery was authorized Monday by the fiscal court when the motorist's deadlocked on the issue. County Judge W. L. Stumbo cast the tie-breaking vote. Now, from Allen to Lackey, an automobile can be driven where only last winter travel was afoot or on horseback. All this results from gravel-surfacing of the new Ky. 80. Nine Hundred seventy six men were employed this week on Floyd Civil Works Administration projects. Charles Henry, of Martin, has been appointed director of the WPA sandstone drive in the county. The Shields Construction Company, of Hazard, has been awarded the contract to build the bridge at Lackey which will connect the Floyd and Knott divisions of the new Allen-Lackey-Hindman highway (Ky. 80). The firm's bid of $37,866 was lowest offered. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Maggard, December 10, a daughter—Sally Frances. There died: Joe A. May, 64, of Allen, last Thursday at a Martin hospital; Mary Elo McGuire, 7, of Johns Creek, last Thursday night of an accidental revolver shot; Thomas Hale, 19, Tuesday at Goodloe; Norma Roberts, 15, Monday on Johns Creek.

Worrying about raising our children

It was one of those predictable stories about how a small community was reacting to the impending visit of a world-class celebrity. The town barber put it this way, as he nodded toward pictures on his wall:

"We're not worried about (who's coming) to town... We're worried about raising kids."

For those of us worried about raising kids, he said a mouthful.

Nothing concentrates the mind quite as much as the responsibility responsible parents feel for their children. These days, those of us trying to do the job right feel surrounded by those who (I don't do it) and (2) a culture constantly working against us.

Under the best circumstances, parenting is hard work. It can be consuming, at every stage of a child's development—and now into extended adolescence. It has always been hard work—for our parents' parents and for our parents. None of us, at all, were perfect angels growing up.

When our parents told us they'd get their revenge when we became parents, we understood what they meant. But times changed dramatically, and the "revenge" is not sweet: The big difference is that the dominant cultural message is not on our side anymore.

As an example, take Ed Rollins. He's been in the news lately. He's one of a relatively new breed of political strategist who are larger than the candidates they work for. This is work that our culture says is legitimate and respectable. It gets a person a lot of attention, near celebrity status, big money, book deals and the chance to speak with authority as a television commentator. In short, all the trappings of success are accorded people who do well what Ed Rollins did for a living.

What do we know about people who do what Ed Rollins does? One thing we know is that they will strategize for anybody who pays them; this means their "convictions" are for sale. Another thing we know is that "strategy" is a nice word for some not-so-nice things—like manipulation, dirty tricks and lying. But we don't call it "lying" either; the term is "spinning."

So here we have a perfectly respectable Ed Rollins doing for a living the kind of stuff we're trying to teach our kids not to do. While we're telling our kids to stand up for their convictions, money isn't everything, don't tell lies, don't "use" people... Ed Rollins and society are telling them something else. Mostly, the particular something else Ed Rollins did was value for the party that claimed "family values" for its very own. It was also done for a short time for the fellow who was an attorney to all those who got us in such a mess. But Ed is just one of many.

Anyway, poor Ed Rollins came to a point my grandmother warned us about. She told us that if you always tell the truth you won't have to worry about remembering which lie you told to whom. There are those who are saying he had to be the biggest lie to a grand jury, which is very bad timing for a lie. Who knows how it will come out? What we do know is that none of these messages are helpful in creating a positive atmosphere for child-rearing.

We worry about the effects of fiction—like Beavis and Butt-Head and R-rated television—when it's the stamp of respectability we need to be more concerned about.

We worry about Madonna at the same time we're making her rich and famous for doing the things we're worried about.

We worry about California surfers making mass murderer Charles Manson from I-shirt royalties while we rush to the bookstores to buy the bestsellers of puff-up radio talk show hosts.

We worry about Jose Buttarucco and his Long Island Lolita, while Bob Packwood hangs on in the Senate and Clarence Thomas sits on the Supreme Court.

In short, society's messages are mixed. Our children are caught in the crossfire. And today's responsible parents are swimming against the cultural tide.

We're very worried about raising our kids.

Picklesimer takes oath, but not office

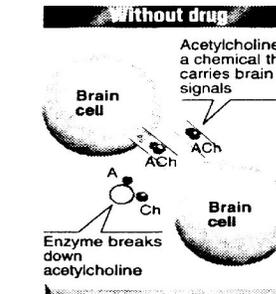

Unlike other property valuation administrators, Center Picklesimer went home instead of to the office Monday after being sworn-in for a fifth term as Johnson County PVA. Picklesimer was removed from office in July by the state Revenue Cabinet. Cabinet officials claim Picklesimer has not done his job of reassessing property in Johnson County. A relatively new law allows the cabinet to remove PVAs for insufficient job performance. The office is presently being operated by Larry Harney, who was appointed acting PVA. Whether Picklesimer will be able to resume his duties depends on the outcome of an appeals process, which will begin with a hearing before the Revenue Cabinet. Picklesimer said Monday that a hearing could possibly be held in January. —The Paintsville Herald

Teen gets 25-year prison term for rape, assault

A Johnson County teenager will serve 25 years in prison for raping an 83-year-old Hager Hill woman in November 1992. Larry Dwayne Hulsey, 19, also of Hager Hill, received the sentence last Friday from Johnson Circuit Judge Stephen N. Frazier, who said the teenager "should be held accountable" for his actions. Hulsey, who attended the hearing, apologized for the elderly woman's rape. —The Paintsville Herald

Boosting memory

Tacrine is the first drug approved for the treatment of Alzheimer's disease. It works by preventing an enzyme from breaking down the chemical messages sent between brain cells.

Convicted FBI agent talks with victim's sister on 'Sally Jessy Raphael'

The saga of former FBI agent Mark Putnam, who killed his Pike County informant/lover in 1989, moved yesterday to syndicated TV. Appearing by satellite on "Sally Jessy Raphael," Putnam spoke for the first time with a family member of his victim, Susan Daniels Smith. Carla Dean, 29, of Knoxville, one of Smith's three sisters, asked Putnam how he could live with himself after strangling Smith on June 8, 1989. Putnam confessed to investigators that he choked her to death after she told him she was pregnant and threatened to ruin his FBI career and marriage. He was sentenced to 16 years in prison and became the first FBI agent convicted of a homicide. "It makes me so angry that he just threw my sister away like a toy," Dean said. Putnam told Dean that he regretted the slaying every day. Also appearing on the show were Pike Commonwealth's Attorney John Runyon; Putnam's wife, Kathy; Joe Sharkey, author of a book about the slaying called Above Suspicion; and a former Frechburn hairdresser, Billy Lacourse of Chicago. —Lexington-Herald Leader

Car accident claims life

An 83-year-old Emmalena woman was killed Monday, December 6, when the vehicle she was riding in left the Montgomery Creek roadway in a single car accident, the state police reported. Clara Combs died at the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington. A family member said she had suffered internal injuries as well as several leg injuries. Combs was a passenger in a 1989 Corolla driven by Vicky Blankenship, 30, of Emmalena. Blankenship was treated at Hazard ARH. State policeman Dean Craft reports that the vehicle left the road around 7:45 a.m. and struck a small tree on the passenger side before traveling south around an embankment, striking two more trees. Combs and Blankenship were not wearing seat belts. —Troublesome Creek Times

Ex-Magoffin man pleads guilty in murders

A 66-year-old former Magoffin County resident pleaded guilty Wednesday to an 11-year-old double murder and agreed to accept a sentence of 15 years in prison without possibility of parole. Garland Watson of Ocala, Florida, admitted that he killed Ben Patrick, 70, and his son, Crt Patrick, 27, on July 10, 1982, during an attempted burglary while the Patrick's were visiting a friend near the Elise post office. Formal sentencing was scheduled for February 3. Watson and his stepson, Danny Ray Howard, 34, of Lawrenceburg, Georgia, were arrested separately in 1990 and charged with capital murder in the case. Howard is scheduled to enter a plea soon, the sheriff said. —Lexington-Herald-Leader

LEWIS, YE HARDLY KNEW ME

A couple of years ago, I wrote in this column about Lewis Grizzard being a pen pal of mine. The truth of the matter is that he wrote me—once. One time and only one time did his stationary reach my desk where I coveted it along with my autographed picture of Johnny Mathis.

The second time I posted a letter to Mr. Grizzard, I did not receive a reply. Even though I knew Lewis was a busy man, I chose to believe that my letter had gotten lost in the mail, or it had been confiscated by pigmy Tribesmen from Peru in the mailroom. As an ardent fan, I refused to accept that Lewis had severed our penpalship forever.

Then, like a bolt out of the blue, news came that Lewis was going to have to undergo his third heart surgery. My husband read me the news the morning of the afternoon I found out that my thyroid had "given it up" and would make me dependent on medication for the rest of my life. Even in my fog-like state, I understood that Lewis had not written back because he was too upset about himself. Being the compassionate person I am, I did not continue to harbor bad feelings about him. In other words, I forgave him for nothing.

When news came that Lewis was going to be in Lexington to sign his new book, "I Look A Licken" and "Kept on Tickin' and Snow-Believe in Miracles," I decided that I would go see him and tell him that I apologize for being upset about his not writing back.

The time at the Joseph-Beth bookstore in Lexington was so long, I had time to read half of the book before it was time to have mine signed. I should have been suspicious of what was going to happen when, with only three people ahead of me, a store worker took my first name down on a "Post-It Note" and pressed it to my book. At this point, I could see Lewis and it was obvious that he had clearly taken "a licken" by how thin he was. It was even more obvious that he was still "a tickin'" by the way his hand moved when he made his mark. Amazing what the human body can stand, I thought as I watched.

At this point, I remembered my camera and began focusing the lens. Don't laugh! I felt somewhat foolish about taking the camera, but after I saw a man with a video camera and a tripod, I dismissed the thought. Anyway, Lewis would certainly want to have his picture taken with me, wouldn't he? After all, we were buddies.

When the person in front of me finished and Lewis thanked him, I inhaled deeply and leaned over the desk. "I knew you had to be seriously ill when you didn't answer my letter. I'm Sara Hopson from Eastern Kentucky and I wrote you a letter and you wrote me back." I said quickly.

"I might have been his blank expression, but mainly it was his answer that threw me." "Well, thank you," he replied with a smile. Was that the proper response to my statement? I turned to look at my husband and another, who were standing directly behind me, and stammered my shoulders. He didn't know me. Hadn't heard of me. Didn't care. How quickly we forget those who make us a household name in their own homes. I sighed and inappropriately said, "You're welcome" before I turned and left.

"What did you expect, Sara?" my husband asked as we headed the 1 1/2 miles back to the dark of night in the pouring rain. Recognition? I smiled.

THE TIMES' WEEKEND

Christmas in Appalachia

This holiday season treat the whole family to a very special gift. Come share the warmth and remembrances of a community event, Christmas in Appalachia, Thursday, December 16, at 7:30 p.m. and a Roadside Theater performance of South of the Mountain Friday, December 17, at 8 p.m. at the Appalshop Theater in Whitesburg.

Members of the community are encouraged to participate in Thursday night's CHRISTMAS IN APPALACHIA, a celebration of the holiday through stories, memories, and songs from the Appalachian Mountains with performances by the Macedonia Baptist Church Choir, members of the Singing Revelations, Harman Elementary School Tale Tellers, members of Mountain People and Places, and Roadside Theater.

The reasons behind holiday traditions are often forgotten. CHRISTMAS IN APPALACHIA is an informal and jolly opportunity for folks in eastern Kentucky and southwestern Virginia to reminisce and celebrate an old-fashioned Christmas.

Admission on Thursday evening is free and seating is limited so come early. No reservations will be taken. Bring your Christmas memories, stories, and songs to share.

Traditions and memories are also the focus of Friday's performance of SOUTH OF THE MOUNTAIN, a musical play written by Dickinson County, Virginia native Ron Short that tells the story of two generations of an Appalachian Mountain family.

The play's story is traced from life on a small farm through the personal, dramatic changes that shape the lives of the younger generation as industrialization moves into the mountains.

Guitar, banjo, and fiddle accompany the dozen original songs which are woven into the story.

Admission to South of the Mountain is $5 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and students (18 and under). Seating at the Appalshop is limited so make your reservations for South of the Mountain by calling Katie or Valeria at (606) 633-0108 from 3:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

No reservations will be taken in the evenings or on the weekends.

Canned and dried food donations for the Letcher County Food Pantry will be accepted at the door prior to both performances.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE TO ALL YOU POOR, POOR PARENTS OUT THERE:

Y es folks, as you no doubt already know, Christmas is almost upon us, and traffic accidents statistics are way up as you all career heading into oblivion in a mad rush to buy some cheaply-made, over-priced plastic trunket for your ungrateful rugrats so they don't exercise their Constitutional rights and use a handgun on you, Christmas morning.

In an effort to stem the tide of all this senseless violence, we here at "news central" would like to take this opportunity to provide you with a brief list of ACTUAL toys that can be found in ACTUAL stores and are readily available in ACTUAL sale catalogs, so that you can do all your shopping by phone and STAY OFF THE #000 ROADS!!! We offer this to you at no charge as a public service because (a) we don't want any more of those nasty accidents, and (b) because we don't want to be unavoidably INVOLVED in any of those nasty accidents. So here they are, from the sublime to the ridiculous (mostly ridiculous):

• Army Barbie® and Ken® dolls. — Yes folks, Army Barbie® and Ken® are sergeants in the 101st Airborne and wear "authentic" desert fatigue uniforms. Because in the politically-correct '90s, war games aren't just for little boys anymore. Won't Daddy be surprised when his "little girl" learns to appreciate the value of a good bayonet through the throat and the sweet smell of napsalm in the morning.

• Soul Train Sham® and Friends. — From the same people who brought you Barbie®, and Ken®, Soul Train Sham® and her Friends™ wear cool hip-hop fashions inspired by the hot T.V. dance show.™ Because obviously, all black kids must love Don Cornelius and ugly M.C. Hammer-inspired clothing. Must be part of friendly purple ta la! Barney® and sports a satin baseball jacket, big beautiful eyes, a flowing mane of luxurious green hair and a buck-toothed, lip-sticked grin. Just like the REAL dinosaurs did!

• Lil' Miss Executive Set — Now little Sarva can be just as obnoxious as all those ADULT I supplies with this genuine imitation cellular phone, beeper, leather briefcase and "personal organizer" set. Because after all, we want our kids to know that time IS money and money IS everything.

• Sega Genesis® Street Fighter II — What child's Christmas would be complete without the ability to graphically rip someone's head and arms off and watch the blood spurt everywhere? Hours of fun for the whole family.

Newspapers

On Oct. 1, Mikey Sprout, age 3, made national news when he commiserated the family car, which had one flat tire, and cruised down U.S. 41 near Tampa, Fla., hitting two parked cars and narrowly missing several moving ones. Mikey's assessment: "I go zoom." On Nov. 11, using a cigarette lighter, Mikey burned down his family's house, sending his father to the hospital with second- and third-degree burns. Mikey's assessment: "Now I have no more house."

EH-UUUUUH, GROSS — A 25th wedding anniversary party was disrupted in Webster, Mass., in November when 20 people were hospitalized because the chicken-gizzards-and-bananas dish, which is a Puerto Rican delicacy, spoiled.

China's Nanjing Daily reported in May that farmer Li Hongzhong, 42, has eaten a snake nearly every day for the past 20 years. Feels miserable on the days he can't eat one, and not surprisingly has had difficulty meeting prospective marriage partners. Reporters witnessed Li eating a two-foot-long snake that was twisting violently as he swallowed it.

In March a small dump truck overturned in Marietta, Ohio, littering the street with cow parts. A smaller shipment fell off of a truck on the same street the following week, running the total of cow-parts spills to four within a year. Sand's City Councilwoman Katie McGlynn, "I would just like to know why this continues to happen. Maybe we need a stronger ordinance to make this a more serious crime."

In April, Merriam, Kan., District Attorney Paul Morrison said the body of a man who committed suicide went undetected for three days in a bathroom of a house that was being shown by a real estate agent. Apparently, neither the agent nor prospective buyers were interested in looking inside that particular bathroom. And over a four-day period in February, guests slept in a room at an Edmonton, Alberta, motel unaware that a woman's body was stuffed between the floor and the box spring.

In June, Steven Mays, 27, and Candace Temen, 21, were charged with mistreatment of animals in Park Forest, Ill., after police responded to a neighbor's complaint of a bad smell coming from their home. Mays told police the smell was probably the cat's litter box, but when the police went to the basement to view it, they found 42 snakes and nearly 800 mice and rats, which were apparently being bred as food for the snakes.

Dairy farmer Anthony Iworek, 31, slipped from a stepladder in Clarksville, Mo., in May, falling backward with such force that he impaled himself by the neck on a 1 1/2-inch-thick pole. The pole entered alongside his carotid artery but did not touch it and went through the roof of his mouth, missing his brain by half an inch. He is still recovered.

PEOPLE UNCLAR ON THE CONCEPT

In July, three armed men held up the clerk of the bail office inside the Durkop and Brown in South Africa, forced him to open the safe and made off with $21,000.

In February, in Columbia, S.C., a bullet was fired through the office window of county treasurer Marjorie Sharpe, a woman who has been discredited. It lay in her office's floor-appeal hearings. Sharpe told reporters, "Don't (the candidates) realize it's going to make their tax bills (even) higher when we have to replace these windows."

In March, Medford, Pa., police charged James G. Avallone with several DUI-related offenses. Avallone allegedly smashed into a tree and a lamppost, then dutifully drove to the Medford police station to report the accidents. However, he had no driver's license or registration and refused to take a blood-alcohol test.

INEXPLICABLE

In Bay Minette, Ala., Raymond Giadrosich, 39, on trial in September for killing his wife and mother-in-law near the end of a stormy divorce proceeding, was convicted on one count. Although Giadrosich shot his wife, and then, 10 seconds later, the mother, the jury found him not guilty by reason of insanity for the first killing but sane and guilty for the second.

MY UNCLE'S HORSE

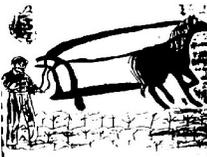

by Breanne Akers

The horse is big. The horse is brown.

It lives in the barn.

My Uncle plows with the horse.

Sometimes he pulls a sled with it. My Uncle lets me ride the sled.

I love him when he lets me ride it.

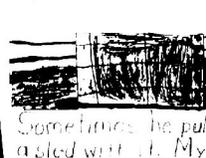

My Uncle has a horse.

It eats corn and hay.

I walk with the horse.

I am glad my Uncle has a horse.

I am glad my Uncle has a horse.

Think about it...

by Sheldon Lee Compton

A Wacky World
First of all, just let me say that I'm going to stray from my ordinary teenage subjects for this article. The reason for this is because there are some things that you just have to share with others.

Okay, so we all know that there are some pretty crazy people out there in the world, and not all of them are unknown, like, for instance, the heavy metal band Guns N' Roses just recently recorded a song on their current album written by none other than Charles Manson. About now you're thinking that I should know a lot about crazy people, because I'm one of them, but it's the truth, I mean, can you imagine G N' R sending Charlie his royalty check? The way this strange turn of events happened was, Manson tried to start a rock band long before he wanted to help Satan take over the world (you know, give it to him had to have something to do), and during this time he wrote some songs, just a few little, harmless tunes, I'm sure. Well, as I imagine you already know, the music thing didn't work out so he went ahead and gave into the next thing on his list of goals, satanic worship. Now, somehow, G N' R got their grubby little paws on some song that Manson wrote and decided, hey, you know, what would be really cool if we could maybe play this song that the son of Satan wrote on our next album! Some kind of plan, guys. I gotta tell you, I'm pretty big G N' R fan but this is definitely going too far. I hate to say that, because I see that I'm already beginning to sound like my parents, but if there's one thing I believe in, it's that the truth should be told, no matter how bad, because what's the good in holding back the truth about something that's going to be eventually found out anyway? Doing something that's going to raise eyebrows is one thing, but this little trick fits into a whole other category. I can just see Manson now, slumped in the corner of his 8 by 10 cell, griping the radio in his hands awaiting his satanic message to arrive to the free world.

Another item of sick insanity that I need to share with you happened to me last week in Wal-Mart parking lot. My friend Doug and I had just left Wal-Mart, the idea of Charles Manson and Guns N' Roses combining forces still fresh in our minds, when I caught a glimpse of something deep between the shadows of two parked cars. I looked closer and made out that it was a dog, lying stiff on its side, unmistakably dead. I thought that a dead dog in Wal-Mart parking lot was bad enough but little did I know there was more to come. After the shadows stretched away revealing more of the dearly-departed, I began to see portions of muscle structure and before too long I had figured out the horrible truth. It had been skinned. Every inch of his hide and been stripped from head to toe. After I pointed it out to Doug and he had finished wretching, an elderly woman strolled up from between the cars and began to give us a concerned look, not yet seeing the subject of our attention. We told her to turn around and look at what she had just about stepped on, and she did, nearly falling backwards. She walked off in a daze, mumbling something about the horrible state of the world today and I agreed with her, telling Doug that it was time to get out of there. I mentioned, before we left, that as much as I wanted to get out of Slaughter Central, that maybe we should go in and tell them about the dog so they could get rid of it before the sight of it scared any more people. Doug said that we would probably be blamed for it, and that we should just leave. That was enough reasoning for me.

I can only say, that before I go, if by some crazy chance the sadists who did that innocent dog like that find the knowledge to somehow read this article, I'm sure Satan has reserved you a nice warm seat in hell.

Floyd County Technical High School attends VICA leadership conference

On November 19 and 20 twenty-three students and their advisors, Gary Mullins and Annette Biary, attended the VICA Leadership Conference at the Ashland Vo-Tech School in Ashland. Students participated in leadership workshops concerning Parliamentary Procedures, Conducting Business Meetings, Fund-raising and Planning Agendas. Workshops were also held separately for VICA officers. Students interacted with students from all the regional centers exchanged ideas and individual plans for leadership activities.

Thirty-seven students from The Floyd County Technical High School participated in the College Day Program held on November 3 at The Prestonsburg Community College. Representatives from all area state colleges and vocational schools were on hand to discuss post-secondary plans with students. Floyd Tech students received information and brochures concerning admission requirements, financial aid, and housing.

The students from South Floyd High School who attend Floyd County Tech were permitted to return to their parent high school to welcome Governor Jones during his visit.

Blue Apple

On Thursday, October 14, the "Blue Apple Players" of Cincinnati, presented a program on "Child Abuse." "No More Secrets" is a musical production which attempts to inform young people about the threat of child abuse. This intervention is designed to help victims deal with guilt and low self-esteem. The Blue Apple Players are in part with and funded by the Kentucky Arts Council.

E.K.U. honor choir

Five Prestonsburg High School students were selected for the Eastern Kentucky University Honor Choir this past October. After two days of intensive practice the E.K.U. Honor Choir joined with the E.K.U. University singers in a final concert. The following students were selected: Sherri May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William May; Crystal Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Watson; Suzanne Hunsucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Hunsucker; Wes Holland, son of Rev. and Mrs. Russ Holland; and Kevin Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Webb. The students were accompanied by Elizabeth Frazier, choral director and Mrs. Judy Burchell.

EKU Show Choir to perform as part of Hazard Performing Arts

The state's only collegiate show choir is coming to Hazard.

As part of the Greater Hazard Area Performing Art Series, the Eastern Kentucky University Show Choir will present a concert at 7 p.m. Wednesday, January 5 at Hazard High School. Tickets are $6 for adults, $4 for senior citizens, and $3 for students 17 and under. They may be reserved in advance by calling 436-5721, ext. 316, or bought at the door the night of the event.

Eastern's Show Choir, a popular group that frequently performs to capacity of near capacity audiences in Richmond, blends diverse musical styles and dancing in its high-energy performances. Earlier this year, it performed its country music segment at Renfro Valley, but the 17-member group also includes popular, rock, jazz and show tunes in its ensemble and solo repertoire.

Eastern's Show Choir has a rich history of placing its members in theme parks such as Kings Island and Opryland, and other venues across the country.

"I think this is a dynamite group," said Rob Lawrence, director. "They're all very talented, and all solo material."

In addition to the concert, the choir, which includes several students from southeastern Kentucky, will present a clinic at Hazard High during the day. The Hazard concert is part of a two-day swing through the area for the choir, which will also perform Tuesday, January 4 in Manchester.

Prestonsburg surprises Sheldon Clark, 71-63

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coch Gordon Pando and his Prestonsburg Blackcats may have struggled in their first three games during the Floyd County Preseason Tournament, but fans would have never guessed this was the same team that played at Sheldon Clark Tuesday night.

The young and out-manned Blackcats surprised the Cardinals, a team that was ranked as a strong unit this season and considered one of the top 10 teams in the 15th Region.

Corey Reitz, who is slowly getting his basketball legs after the football season ended, tossed in 22 points to lead Prestonsburg to a 71-63 win. It was the first win of the season for the 1-3 Blackcats.

Loby Robinson and Ryan Ortega added 12 points each. It was Robinson and Reitz who carried the scoring for Prestonsburg in the second half, particularly in the fourth quarter. The two combined to score all but four of the 20 points they put on the scoreboard in the final stanza. J.P. Skeans and Ortega had two points each.

Reitz, who did not start for Prestonsburg, came off the bench and scored 11 first half points to propel the Blackcats to a 34-27 halftime lead. He hit six of three pointers in the first half. He was nine of 11 from the free-throw line for the game.

Ortega also had two treys in the first half with Brett James drilling one Skeans had the only three-pointer in the second half for Prestonsburg. Sheldon Clark wasn't ready to surrender easily, and they battled back in the fourth quarter to narrow an 11-point Prestonsburg lead down to four. 59-55. Senior Jason Pinson went to war on the boards, hitting a three-pointer, scoring on a fast-break layup and sinking two free throws to bring his team back. In fact, Pinson scored the last 13 points of the game for Sheldon Clark.

Robinson hit a medium range jumper and, after a long jumper by Pinson, Reitz hit one of two free throws for a 62-57 game.

The taller Cardinals beat the Blackcats on the boards and got two to three attempts at the basket. Skeans scored behind the Cardinals' press for an easy layup on an assist by Ortega and Robinson hit a free throw to give the Blackcats some breathing room at 65-61 with 46 seconds left to play.

Pinson hit an eight-foot jumper to keep his team close at 65-63, but the Blackcats took advantage of some Cardinal turnovers to score the final six points. Robinson had two layups and Reitz connected on two free throws.

Prestonsburg held a 54-42 lead after Reitz completed a three-point play to start the fourth period. Sheldon Clark attempted four consecutive three-point baskets, only to come up empty as Ortega grabbed the rebound and David McGinnis came off the bench and lit a fire for the Cardinals, scoring three straight field goals to bring his team to within 10 points, 58-48.

In the third period, Prestonsburg added to their seven-point lead and extended it to 13 points, 44-31 as Sheldon Clark found a lid on their basket. A three-point basket by Skeans, coupled with David Gearheart's three-point play gave the Blackcats a 13-point lead.

A trey by Pinson, a 14-footer by Scott Davis and Jason Evans layup narrowed the margin to six, 44-38. Prestonsburg led by nine after three quarters on Jason Burke's rebound basket at the buzzer to end the third period.

Pinson led all scorers with 23 points, which included three three-pointers. Evans netted 19 points with 13 coming in the first half. Evans had three first half treys. Davis finished in double figures with 10 points. McGinnis had six points in the second half, totaling seven for the game.

South Floyd rolls past Millard

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The old Wheelwright gym, once home to the Trojans and now home base for the new South Floyd Raiders basketball team, was a crowded place when the Raiders opened their 1993-

94 basketball season against Leon Stewart's Millard Mustangs Tuesday night. The name Trojan has been removed, the maroon colors that once graced the walls have been repainted; the jump circle has been changed to "South Floyd Raiders," and a new tradition has begun at the Cliff Beaver school.

The new tradition got off to a new start as the Raiders blasted the Mustangs 102-66 to go 3-1 on the young season.

Four players scored in double figures with Charles Johnson tossing in 21 points to lead the scoring parade. Chad Stone added 16 with Alan Joe Moore scoring 13 and John Hall netting 10. Stone connected on three consecutive three-point baskets in the fourth period.

The taller Mustangs managed to stay close to coach Jim Rose's ballclub through the first quarter but

South Floyd's Chad Stone (24) pulled up for a short jumper in the lane between two Millard Mustang defenders Tuesday night as the Raiders opened their home schedule on a positive note. Stone scored 16 points, hit three treys in leading the Raiders to a 102-66 win over Mullins. The Raiders travel to Pikeville tonight. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Betsy Layne finds Lady Raiders more difficult second time

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

First impressions are sometimes misleading. First-time meetings are not what they seem to be.

That's what the Betsy Layne Lady Cats found out this past Monday night when they played the South Floyd Lady Raiders for the second time in three days.

The first meeting between the two schools was a "cakewalk" for the Lady Cats as they breezed to a 76-46 win over Jimmy Hopkins ballclub last Saturday night in the Floyd County Preseason Tournament.

But the second meeting was an entirely different ballgame as the Lady Cats of coach Bill Newsome had to claw their way to a 47-46 win, and had to run come from behind style.

See Doc Martin looked like her former self as she slashed the Lady Raiders' defense for some easy baseline baskets and scored underneath in totaling 15 points to lead Betsy Layne in scoring. Jessica Hamilton added eight points.

Misty Clark's tough shooting in the first three games was absent as the senior point guard totaled only seven points in the game. But the big basket came from Clark when her four-foot jumper in the lane gave Betsy Layne the victory. Clark had been Local Howard led a trio of double figure scorers as the Maytown Wildcats bested the McDowell Daredevils in grade school basketball last Monday night.

Howard tossed in 19 points with Edmund Stone and Lumbo Hagans scoring 17 each. Stone had 17 rebounds in the game and is averaging around 13 a game. Howard had nine rebounds and dished off seven assists. Howard is averaging 23 points a game this season.

Cabe Hall led McDowell with 12 points. Nathan Reed had six for the Daredevils.

McDowell grabbed the early lead at 18-4 and led by nine points, 20-11 at the half. The now improved Maytown's record is 7-1 on the season. Local Martin scored 16 points for Maytown with Jackie Owens scoring in six. Curtis West and Jason Cooper led the Wildcats.

Darren Newsome scored four points. Justin Pate, Ryan Shannon, Daniel Jaffery, Fred May and Josh Browning each had two points for the Daredevils.

Ratcliff pours in 41 points in 65-54 win over Paintsville

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

'Call out the fire department!' The Paintsville Fire Department should have been called out to put out the scoring of Prestonsburg's Jamie Ratcliff in last Monday night's girls' high school basketball game at Paintsville.

All Ratcliff did was toss in 41 points, a career high for the junior guard, in leading her team to a 65-54 win over the Lady Tigers.

It was the first win of the season for coach Bridget Clay's ballclub who improved to 1-1 on the year.

"Jamie played a very good game for us," said Clay. "She was hot and the other players just got the ball to her."

Ratcliff scored 17 of her 41 points in the fourth quarter to help her team pull out the win.

"Paintsville switched to a zone on us," explained Clay, "and Jamie got the hot hand. Our kids saw that she was hitting and they just the ball to her. Prestonsburg got off to a slow start but managed to stay close to the Lady Tigers. The score was tied at 12 after the first quarter as both teams struggled offensively at the onset.

Paintsville managed a five-point lead at the half as they went to the dressing room with a 26-21 lead.

In the third period, Prestonsburg fell behind by eight points and had to play catch-up ball. The Lady Blackcats, behind the hot hand of Ratcliff, trailed 48-46 at the end of the third period. Ratcliff continued to score at will as she began to bring her team back into the game and eventually into the lead.

Ratcliff scored 26 points in the second half, hitting three three-pointers. For the game she was 10 of 14 from the free-throw line.

"She just did a great job for us," said Clay.

Prestonsburg had to play without two starters against Paintsville. Jamie Clay, starting point guard is out until January, and senior center Christy Little was ejected in the Paintsville game early and will face a one-game suspension.

Little and two Paintsville players were ejected for fighting.

"In all the years that I have been coaching, she is the first player that I have ever had that got ejected from a game," said Clay.

The ejection came when the other cat ejected Little and two Paintsville players for fighting.

"Shag" Campbell/Pepsi Invitational continues

By Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Eight teams remain in the "Shag" Campbell/Pepsi Invitational grade school basketball tournament being held at the Allen Elementary gym this week.

Action continues tonight with two games on tap with the consolation and championship games scheduled for Saturday evening.

Allen Eagles vs Harold Red Devils

The Allen Eagles opened the tournament with a 58-31 win over the Harold Red Devils on Monday night. Ian Stone and Kyle Conley combined for 31 points to lead the Eagles. Stone scored 17 points and Conley netted 14.

Allen's full court pressure defense kept the undermanned Red Devils from getting the ball in bounds on several occasions. Harold turned the ball over as Allen cut off the passing lanes.

Jonathan Triplett led Harold with 12 points and Justin Bartley scored seven. Michael Gross, Jason Salisbury, Shannon Potter, Ronnie Kidd, Eric Cecil and Jacob Skeens scored two each.

Billy Mitchell tossed in eight points for Allen. Jason Keathley and Dennis Lafferty along with Earl Akers had five points for the Eagles. Scotty Walls added two and Josh Barnette had one.

Duff falls to Millard
Brad Childers scored a game-high 19 points as the Millard Mustangs defeated Duff Elementary 43-33 in the second game Monday night. Duff had jumped out to a 12-6 first quarter lead but could only score four points in the second period and led by one at the half, 16-15. Mike Pack had the only Duff field goal in the second quarter. Childers tossed in nine points for the Mustangs in the comeback effort.

Ryan Owens led Duff with 11 points. Byron Patton, Mike Pack and Mike Conns each scored four points. Brian Crawford, Nick Sammons and Jeff Potter had three apiece.

Tim Coleman added eight for the Mustangs. Bill Bevins netted seven with David Mullins netting six.

Stumbo edges Melvin
Neil Newsome scored 14 points and Brent Tackett added 13 as the John M. Stumbo Mustangs edged the Melvin Cougars 48-42 in first round action Monday night.

Stumbo led 13-7 after the first quarter behind the scoring of Tackett and Newsome. Newsome scored five first quarter points with Tackett getting four in the first stanza.

Kenneth Johnson picked up the scoring for Stumbo in the second quarter by netting six points as Stumbo rolled out to a 27-19 halftime lead.

Melvin trailed by five, 34-29, after three quarters.

Coby Little led the Cougars with 14 points getting 10 of those in the second half. Nick Compton and Adam Tackett had eight each with Justin Holbrook scoring five. Brent Hamilton had two points.

Kenneth Johnson finished with nine points for the Mustangs. Craig Johnson tossed in five and Adam Tackett added four. Russell Hall scored three.

Martin edges Mullins
The Martin Purple Flash outscored the Mullins Tigers 10-9 in the fourth quarter to nip the Tigers 40-39 in Tuesday night's games.

Jimmy Branham scored 10 points and Shannon Myner added nine to lead the Flashes. Branham had a three-point basket in the fourth quarter that proved to be the difference.

Matthew Mayo and Todd Samons each scored six points for the Purple Flash. Mayo scored all his in the first half.

Jimmy Don Johnson led Mullins with nine points and J.R. Goodman scored eight.

Martin led 7-4 after the first quarter but led by a slim 21-19 margin at the half. The two teams came out of the third period tied at 30-30.

Pikeville easy winner over Dorton

Pikeville had an easy time with Dorton as they posted a 66-47 win Tuesday night. Jay Ramsey scored 16 points and Todd McCoy tossed in 11 for the Panthers. Mark Cox netted 10.

Game scoring honors went to Jason Tackett with 20 points. Shawn Akers had 10.

Pikeville went on top by 10 points in the first period, 18-8 and led at the half 35-22. Tackett had eight second quarter points, hitting one three-point basket.

Elkhorn City over Osborne
Jarrod Johnson scored 11 points to lead the Osborne Eagles, but it wasn't enough as the Elkhorn City Junior Cougars recorded a 69-23 win over coach Roger Johnson's ballclub.

Eleven players scored for the Cougars led by Brandon Adams 12 points. Brent Miller added 11 with B.J. Ratliff, J.R. Swiney and Taz Mullins had nine each. Randy Stremmel added six.

Anthony Mays scored six for Osborne and Timmy Butler scored four. Dustin Allen netted two points.

Elkhorn City held a 19-point lead at the end of the first quarter with Adams scoring nine points. It was 31-16 at the half.

Virgie handles McDowell
Sterlin Isaac scored 20 points to lead the Virgie Eagles past McDowell in tournament play at Allen. Lonnie Scott scored 11 for the Eagles.

Clabe Hall had a game high 25 points to lead all scorers but found little support from teammates as the Darddevils failed to generate any kind of offense. Hall went to the free throw line 22 times and converted 14. He had a first quarter three-point basket. Nathan Reed scored six points and Ryan Shannon hit a three-pointer in

"The Dipper Show" moves to WSGS

Beginning Thursday night, December 16, "The Dipper Show," the live two-hour high school sports talk show heard each week for the past three years on WJXX, 94.3, and hosted by "The Big Dipper," will move to WSGS, 101.1 FM.

Time in each Thursday night, from 7-9 p.m., for "The Dipper Show," on WSGS 101.1 in Hazard.

Some players are defensive specialists, and some are offensive specialists. DAVE KINGMAN was a home run specialist. Dave smashed 442 homers in a wandering career that saw him move from the Giants to the Mets to the Padres to the Angels to the Yankees to the Cubs to the Mets again and to the A's. When he retired he was 20th on the all time homer list. "Kong" had league leading home run totals for the Cubs (48 in 1979) and the Mets (47 in 1982), but he did not get along with writers and others, and found himself unemployed after a 15 homer year in 1986. The 1984 Herd said, #590, is worth about 20 cents the fourth for three points.

Allen plays well against Millard
Kyle Conley scored 14 points and Ian Stone 12 as the Allen Eagles advanced to the semifinals of the Shag Campbell Invitational Friday night. The Eagles flew past the Mustangs 51-24 in a strong defensive effort.

"They played the best defense we have played all year," said assistant coach Kenny Conley.

Jason Keathley added seven points and Scotty Walls scored seven also. Seth Crisp added five for the Eagles with Dennis Lafferty and Akers scoring two each.

The semifinals will be held tonight beginning at 6 p.m. as Allen will square off against either Martin or Stumbo. The Prater/Pikeville winner will face the winner of the Elkhorn City/Virgie game in the second game Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

The championship round will be held Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

"April is going to give us a big lift," said Clay.

Freshman Crystal Layne scored five points while running the team at the point guard.

"Crystal did a good job for us," said the Lady Blackcat coach. "She had only three turnovers and that's good."

Sophomore center Misty Price played but played sick, according to Clay. "Misty, before she got sick, did real well for us."

"The Prestonsburg coach is worried about the lack of rebounding her team has shown in the first four games. "We're not rebounding well at all," she said. "Hether is our leading rebounder with 19 for the four games, and that's not good. We're getting beat on the break. We need better transition and better rebounding."

Coach Clay believes that her team will improve and, hopefully, can stay close in upcoming games.

"If we can stay with a team in the first half, we have a good chance of winning it in the second," she said.

Both Blankenship led Paintsville in scoring with 15 points. Pinson added 11 and Cooper scored eight.

averaging 16 points per game through the first three games.

The leadout was a surprise to Coach Newsum.

South had held a one-point 46-45 lead and had the ball with less than a minute remaining.

Clark hit a 3-point shot to tie the game.

After Clark's basket had given Betsy Layne the 47-46 lead, the Lady Raiders still held the destiny of the game in their hands since they had the last shot.

With 19 seconds left on the clock, the Lady Raiders called a timeout to set up their offense.

The shot banked off the backboard and rolled off the front of the rim.

Yes, they did. We called the first time out to set up against the man-to-man defense they had been playing.

We made some mental mistakes tonight," said the South Floyd coach.

The Lady Raiders trailed by 11 points, 22-11 at the half. They missed eight free throws and only scored two field goals in the second quarter.

Betsy Layne ran the lead back out to seven points, 35-28, before a long jumper by Crystal Newsum made it a four-point game after three quarters.

the first quarter at 42-41 in the fourth quarter. A lay up by Shepherd at the 2:43 mark gave the Lady Raiders the advantage.

The lead changed hands on each team's next two possessions and South Floyd was able to tie the game.

With some good ball movement, Jessie Hamilton cut the lead back to one, 46-45 with a backcourt shot.

We made a lot of mental mistakes tonight," said the Lady Raiders coach.

According to Misty Johnson, the Lady Raiders have been a little over confident.

We thought we had the game in the bag," said the senior forward.

South Floyd's Kristal Isaac (33) was closely guarded by Shawnda Lawson (4) during conference action at Betsy Layne Monday night.

them. We thought we had them beat."

South Floyd's coach said that at 2:50, Betsy Layne scored on a 12-2 run to go from 41 to 43 on the first stop.

Misty Clark had seven points for Betsy Layne with Kristal Isaac also scoring seven points.

Both players had made double free throws for South Floyd.

Betsy Layne improves to 4-0 on the season and will host Prestonsburg Tuesday night.

South Floyd falls to 1-3 on the year. The Lady Raiders will travel to Phelps Tuesday night.

South Floyd

trailed by 16 points at the end of the first half. South Floyd held a 17-13 lead at the first stop and won the locker room with a 46-37 halftime lead.

Mike Thacker and Adam Justice each scored 16 points to lead Millard in scoring. Thacker hit two three-pointers in the game.

"We played well tonight," said Coach Rose about his team's efforts.

South Floyd's Ryan Hamilton went solo for two points against Millard Tuesday night as the Raiders opened their 1993 home basketball schedule.

and Bear Stephens scoring two each. Little hauled in eight rebounds for South Floyd. John Smith had seven rebounds, Moore and Stone collecting in five each.

Charles Johnson, playing a good defensive game, had four steals. The Raiders turned the ball over only 10 times, and that pleased the Raiders' coach.

"That's more like what we want," smiles coach Rose. "We can live with that. It's our first three games, we will make mistakes in the future."

The Raiders out rebounded the Mustangs 46-41. Millard turned the ball over 22 times.

South Floyd continues their schedule by traveling to Pikeville tonight to face a good Panther team.

Millard. We played smart in defense and had some easy baskets.

"I thought our kids played a selfish basketball tonight. We made some very good passes to one another. That's how it's a good sign."

In the fourth period, South Floyd went on a 14-0 run. Stone hit back-to-back three-pointers. Charles Johnson connected on two free throws and completed an old-fashioned three-point play. James Patton made two charity tosses and Justin Ray, off the bench, scored back-to-back layups.

The large crowd wanted the Raiders to hit the century mark in the final seconds of the game. With the score 99-62, Millard scored the next two baskets to make it a 99-66 game.

Joe Bryant went for the layup, scored and was fouled with 15 seconds left. He connected on the free throw for the final 102-66 score.

Ryan Hamilton first missed double figures with nine points. Hamilton played a strong floor game at the point guard and had four assists in the contest.

Matt Rose, the starting point guard, finished with eight points and he dished off five assists. Scotty Little scored five. Ray finished with four while Strathairn also had four points. Aaron Hall netted three with Patton
