Electric rates going up 12.5 percent

SHELDON COMPTON
STAFF WRITER

ANKFORT — The Kentucky Service Commission voted a settlement Monday giving Kentucky Power Company an annual revenue increase of $63.7 million, a 12.5 percent increase in total. The amount is about half of what the company was seeking.

Under the settlement, the average bill for a typical resident would increase by about 17 percent. Had the company been given its original amount increase that percentage increase would have been at about 34 percent.

Representatives with PSC conducted public hearings in Ashland, Pikeville and Hazard in April to gather comments on the increase and followed this with another public meeting in Frankfort on May 25 before the agreement.

In the commission's order said the rate increase was "fair, just and reasonable."

Many of the public comments received by the commission leading up to the agreement dealt with the desire for Kentucky Power to be made to better maintain vegetation and overgrowth along power lines throughout the region. Part of Monday's agreement included sections that requires the company to spend more money on this over the course of the agreement period.

The company says the increase in spending on clearing the vegetation, which many said caused extra hardships during snowstorms that fell across the region this past December, will enable them to "achieve a four-year cycle" in clearing the overgrowth from power lines.

"We are pleased the commission has approved the settlement," said a company spokesman.

PRESTONSBURG — The city of Prestonsburg will hold its fireworks display on Sunday, July 4, after previously announcing that the event would take place on Saturday, July 3.

Fire Chief Bobby Carpenter said the date was moved to Sunday in order to better correspond with the carnival.

"We have a few specialty shots this year," Carpenter said. "We have around $18,000 worth of fireworks."

The display is scheduled to begin around 9:30 p.m.

"We will start shooting when it's dark enough to shoot," Carpenter said. "We will be shooting from the same location as last year."

The carnival is located at Archer Park and will feature rides, food and games.

Murder victim identified as Martin man

SHELDON COMPTON
STAFF WRITER

The body of a man found in the basement of a home in Louisville last week has been identified as that of former Martin resident James Carroll.

Carroll, who was 37, was discovered covered in the basement of a home on South Fourth Street in Louisville last week. Two men who lived there, Joseph Banis and Jeffrey Mundt, were arrested following discovery of Carroll's body and have since pleaded innocent to charges of murder, robbery and tampering with physical evidence.

Police were called to the residence over a domestic dispute between the two lovers. During his arrest, Banis gave statements concerning Carroll to investigating officers.

"He did give a statement to detectives implicating his boyfriend, Jeffrey Mundt, in a homicide and that the body was located in the basement where they had been staying," Louisville police officer Barry Wilkerson told local media. "Kind of an isolated area of the basement, very far away from where anybody would be able to see it."

by DAPHNE KIRK GOBLE

PAINTSVILLE — Big Sandy Community and Technical College (BSCTC) and the Kentucky Coal Academy (KCA) hosted the 19th cohort graduation on the BSCTC Hager Hill Campus, Friday June 18.

Harold Burton, BSCTC Coal Careers Program coordinator welcomed students, Jeffrey Nelson, Zachary Maynard and Matthew

Stevens as guest gathered for the ceremony. Burton remarked, "We are constantly looking for ways to improve the Program to make our students successful. It takes hard work and a good attitude to complete the Coal Careers Program." Burton further elucidated, "Eighty percent of jobs are lost by attitude, not skills." Burton encouraged the students to practice safety and caution in all employment ventures and to look to the future with optimism. BSCTC Special Projects Coordinator, William "Bill" Duke offered words of encouragement as he congratulated the students on their achievements. Duke remarked, "You have the support of the faculty and staff at BSCTC. We wish you good luck in your employment endeavors." Both Energy President Dennis Hatfield congratulated the students on their success and explained the benefits derived from the educational fundamentals of the Coal Careers Program. Hatfield remarked, "You have completed the essential components of coal mining. You accepted this opportunity with little or no knowledge of coal mining. You have achieved much during this thirty-week training. Now you have the skills, knowledge, tools and expertise to be successful in your jobs."

End of an era

The passing of the longest-serving senator and the longest-serving member in congressional history leaves a void hard to fill.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd leaves behind many years of dedicated service in which the West Virginia statesman was loved and hated for holding a wide variety of liberal and conservative political views.

His career catapulted Byrd to many roles including those of Senate Conference Secretary, Majority Whip, Minority Leader, and twice Majority Leader.

He is among a quickly vanishing breed of fine orators, and his keen memory enabled him to quote prolifically from the most notable works of literature, philosophy, religion and history.

With his legendary filibusters, Byrd could wear down the best of his colleagues with endless prose, poetry and political rhetoric. Called upon often to speak at commencement ceremonies, celebrations and newsworthy events, Byrd would most likely pull at least one quote from Cicero and would recite long passages from Tennyson or Keats with his unique dramatic flair.

His backers made sure the Mountain State Democrat never lost an election from the day he was elected to the U.S. House in 1952. Supporters held him in high esteem for his work through the Senate Appropriations Committee to fund scholarships, schools, federal courthouses, highways and prisons and for making sure West Virginia got its share of federal complexes, most notably the FBI Fingerprint Center near Bridgeport.

Admired by many for his stage presence, Byrd also made his share of political enemies during his eventful career. Outsiders, such as the Citizens Against Government Waste crowned him the "King of Pork," dismissing the billions of federal dollars he sent to West Virginia as worthless "Byrd Droppings."

But Byrd left his mark — and his name on dozens of places that bear their benefactor's name, from the Robert C. Byrd Regional Training Center for soldiers at Camp Dawson in Kingwood and Robert C. Byrd High School in Clarksburg, to the 17-mile, four-lane Robert C. Byrd Drive near his hometown of Sophia. Those are just a few.

He held West Virginia and its people dear to his heart. Byrd always did what he thought was best for the Mountain State.

His stately demeanor, quick wit and his devotion to his wife Erma, who died in 2006, were endearing qualities.

We will miss him. Our deepest condolences go out to his two daughter's and other loved ones.

It is the end of an era.

A legislative perspective

by REP. GREG STUMBO
SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE

The three lines in the state's 283-page budget may have taken up little space, but the study they authorized on Kentucky's corrections system could have a big impact in the years ahead.

My colleagues in the General Assembly and I set this in motion because it will give us a chance to work with the Pew Center on the States, an independent and highly reputable non-profit organization that has undertaken in-depth looks at various government programs across the nation.

It was this organization that showed Kentucky having the highest prison growth rate in the nation in 2007, giving us a wake-up call that has already started to pay dividends.

As proof, consider the fact that we are one of about two dozen states that saw a decrease in its prison population from 2008 to 2009. This coincides with an overall drop in the number of state prisoners nationwide, the first time this has happened since 1972.

This downward trend at the state level is driven by several factors. For one, the country is becoming safer, with the crime rate 25% lower in 2007 than it was in 1997. The difficult economy is also causing states to look for more savings, especially as their prison costs continue inching toward $50 billion annually, and there is greater reliance on technology and better use of such things as counseling.

The General Assembly has taken additional steps to control costs during the last two years. For example, we increased the use of home incarceration and drug-treatment programs while increasing the financial limits on some felony theft crimes to reflect inflation.

Our Judiciary Committee has considered additional changes through a subcommittee that spent 2008 and 2009 looking at our penal code, which has not seen a major update since the mid-1970s. One suggestion from the subcommittee is to follow other states and create a fifth level of felonies for non-violent, non-sexual crimes. Under current law, someone convicted of stealing $500 could cost the state up to $100,000 to incarcerate, if that person spends five years in prison.

During our legislative session earlier this year, the General Assembly voted unanimously to create a broader task force to study the prison issue. This expanded task force will include representatives from the Kentucky Supreme Court; the Justice and Public Safety Cabinet; county judge/executives; and prosecutors and public advocates.

Surveys indicate the public supports this move toward alternative punishments for those convicted of non-violent crimes. In Texas, more than 80 percent surveyed favored going this route versus spending $1 billion on new prisons.

One direction we may opt to take in Kentucky is a risk assessment of convicted felons about to be sentenced. While I was Attorney General, my office pointed out the effectiveness of pre-sentencing risk assessments; we noted Virginia's success in using a variety of factors to help determine the proper punishment for those convicted of non-violent crimes, rather than taking a one-size-fits-all approach.

Being smarter on crime and improving public safety, while saving tax dollars, promises to be a leading topic of discussion for years to come in the legislature. With the right information in hand, the kind the Pew study can provide, we are poised to continue building on the gains we have already made.

Osteopathic Scholars Program selects first class

PIKEVILLE — Pikeville College is pleased to announce the 2010 participants of the Pikeville College School of Osteopathic Medicine's Osteopathic Medical Scholars Program (OMSP). The inaugural class of 10 students includes Katherine Baker of Buckhorn High School, Christopher Castle and Megan Johnson of Johnson Central High School, Sarah Helphinstine of Lewis County High School, Anne Klee of St. Patrick's High School, Thomas Lambert of Phelps High School, Joshua Salyers of Perry County Central High School, Sally Smith of Hazard High School, Amber Wireman of The Priest School and Lucas Wright of Scott County High School. "We are proud to welcome our first group of Osteopathic Medical Scholars for the fall 2010 term," said President Paul Patton. "Our commitment to academic excellence and the career focus in our programs of study are an important part of our mission. We are pleased to offer this opportunity to prospective students." In December 2009, in conjunction with the School of Osteopathic Medicine, Pikeville College began offering students a cooperative eight-year program (4+4) leading to a bachelor's degree and a Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine (D.O.) degree. The medical school accepts 75 students each year out of more than 2,000 applicants. OMSP candidates must apply as an incoming college freshman, have a minimum 1200 SAT or 26 ACT, be in the top 10 percent of their graduating class or have earned a 3.75 GPA on a 4.0 scale and be a resident of Kentucky, Virginia or West Virginia. Up to 10 scholars will be selected each year. After completion of the bachelor's degree program at the undergraduate college, scholars will be automatically admitted to the medical school if they have maintained a required cumulative and science GPA in undergraduate work, met a required score on the MCAT and participated in program activities. Scholars will also participate in extracurricular health-related community service activities, community physician "shadowing," and pre-med club and School of Osteopathic Medicine student activities. The OMSP does not carry a monetary award; however, applicants are eligible to pursue other scholarship opportunities. "We are excited to implement this new program for outstanding high school seniors who want to pursue a career in medicine and desire the opportunity to serve their communities in a significant way," said Boyd R. Buser, D.O., vice president and dean of the medical school. "The Osteopathic Medical Scholars Program will be an important step in helping us to continue to fulfill our mission of easing the physician shortage in rural and underserved areas of Kentucky and Appalachia."

Hall attends Circuit Court Clerks Summer College

FRANKFORT — Floyd County Circuit Court Clerk Douglas Ray Hall participated in the 2010 Circuit Court Clerks Summer College held June 15-17 in Lexington. The Administrative Office of the Courts hosted the college, which offered nine hours of continuing education credit.

The theme for the college was A Day in the Life of a Clerk.

"The Circuit Clerks College is an invaluable tool that fills a key educational gap," said Jefferson County Circuit Court Clerk

David L. Nicholson, president of the Kentucky Association of Circuit Court Clerks. "The college keeps circuit court clerks across the state updated on changes in statutes, regulations and rules as they relate to our core business and allows for important discussion regarding emerging trends in the courts."

The circuit clerks elected Nicholson as KACCC president during the college.

Chief Justice of Kentucky John D. Minton Jr. addressed the circuit court clerks during the college. AOC Director Laurie K. Dudgeon and the AOC budget director provided a budget overview.

The college included sessions on foreign documents, the KY VINE service, Drug Court participant transfers between jurisdictions, records retention, court exhibits, and clerk processes for involuntary commitments through Casey's Law. The clerks also received updates on legislation from the 2010

Kentucky General Assembly session and the Trust For Life program. The college is sponsored by the KACCC to promote organ and tissue donation through driver licensing and the computer-based Kentucky Organ Donor registry.

In addition to Nicholson, the circuit clerks elected these clerks as KACCC officers during the college: Stephanie King-Logsdon of McLean County, first vice president; Loretta Crady of Hardin County, second vice president; Krissie Coe Fields of Barren County, secretary; and Jim Barker of Rowan County, treasurer. Mason County Circuit Court Clerk Kirk Tolle is past president.

The AOC Division of Judicial Branch Education provides training conferences for circuit court clerks, who are responsible for managing the records of Kentucky's circuit and district courts. Circuit court clerks are constitutionally elected officials from all 120 Kentucky counties who serve a six-year term.

The AOC is the operational arm of the Kentucky Court of Justice and supports the activities of approximately 3,400 court system employees and 403 elected justices, judges and circuit court clerks. The AOC also executes the Judicial Branch budget.

Volunteers needed to assist children placed in foster care in Boyd, Elliott, Martin, Morgan and Pike counties

FRANKFORT -- Citizen Foster Care Review Boards for Boyd, Elliott, Martin, Morgan and Pike counties are seeking volunteers to make a difference in the lives of local children in foster care. Volunteers are needed to review cases of children placed in foster care because of abuse, dependency and neglect to ensure these children are placed in safe, permanent homes as quickly as possible.

Volunteers are not required to reside in the county where a board meets.

The Kentucky General Assembly created the Citizen Foster Care Review Board, or CFCRB, in 1982 as a way to decrease the time children spend in foster care. CFCRB volunteers review Cabinet for Health and Family Services files on children placed in out-of-home care and work with the cabinet and the courts on behalf of the state's foster children.

All volunteers must complete a six-hour initial training session and consent to a criminal record and central registry check. A recommendation is then made to the chief judge of the District Court or Family Court for appointment.

For more information, contact Toni Mullins, 606-349-1245 or 877-246-3457.

Approximately 800 volunteers across the state serve as members of the Kentucky Citizen Foster Care Review Board. The boards operate within the Division of Dependent Children's Services of the Administrative Office of the Courts in Frankfort. The volunteer reviewers help ensure that children receive the necessary services while in foster care and are ultimately placed in permanent homes.

The AOC is the operations arm of the Kentucky Court of Justice and supports the activities of approximately 3,400 court system employees and 403 elected justices, judges and circuit court clerks. As the fiscal agent for the state court system, the AOC prepares a biennial budget draft and executes the Judicial Branch budget.

PCSOM hosts PEPP Program

PIKEVILLE — Forty Kentucky high school students from 18 counties across the region recently completed the annual Professional Education Preparation Program (PEPP) at Pikeville College School of Osteopathic Medicine (PCSOM). This two-week residential program provides high school students with an opportunity to learn about the medical profession. More than 600 students have participated in the college's program since its inception in 1999.

Floyd County student Sharae Blackburn is among the participants in the program. This year, students spent two weeks on campus learning anatomy, histology, physiology, biochemistry, pathology, and pharmacology of the 10 major human organ systems through presentations provided by PCSOM faculty and second-year medical students. PEPP students participated in gross anatomy and functional anatomy labs at PCSOM and engaged in clinical observations at Pikeville Medical Center.

"I want to be a surgeon and thought PEPP would enhance my interest in medicine," said Josh Penix, a junior from Sheldon Clark High School. "It was right. My favorite part was getting to scrub in for surgery and observe a surgical procedure up close." The PEPP program is designed to provide a better understanding of rural medicine, what it takes to get into a medical education program, and the dedication needed to succeed in the medical profession. It also helps to build confidence and self-esteem and provides students with the encouragement to seek challenging course work as they prepare for higher education.

Forty students took part in the PCSOM PEPP program.

Kentucky State Parks offer free golf for minors

FRANKFORT — Ever wondered if you and your offspring, parent, sibling or best buddy could find some quality time on the golf course? Pair up in July when Kentucky State Parks make it well worth the experiment by participating in the Professional Golf Association's Play Golf America promotion.

From July 6-31, at any of the 18 park courses, players 18-years of age or younger may play a free round and smack a free bucket of balls on the driving range when accompanied by a paying adult (cars not included).

"Golf is absolutely family friendly," said Commissioner Gerry van der Meer, of the Kentucky Department of Parks. "Novice or experienced duffer, this special is a nice deal and a neat way to introduce kids to golf, build the players of tomorrow and create memories of a lifetime," he said.

"Kentucky State Parks have a time-honored relationship with golf and top-notch courses. The entire family can plan a weekend getaway. Combination golf/camping trip and loads of other outdoor adventures." Six of the park system's golf courses have been recognized over the past several years as "bests" by Golf Digest and Golfweek Magazine. Honors include most affordable, best place

"I am delighted that 40 Kentucky high school senior and junior students successfully completed the PCSOM PEPP Program this year," said Linda Dumatov, associate dean for student services at PCSOM. "The PCSOM PEPP Program offers Kentucky high school students a unique opportunity to learn about osteopathic medicine as a possible career." The Pikeville College School of Osteopathic

Free vascular screenings scheduled July 16 in Salyersville

ASHLAND — One in five Americans over age 65 suffer from peripheral arterial disease (PAD), but only about 20 percent get the recommended treatment, according to the American Heart Association. PAD is a serious condition that, left untreated, could lead to amputation or death.

King's Daughters Medical Center, in cooperation with the Kentucky Heart Foundation (KHF), is offering a free screening to detect PAD. The screening will begin at 8:30 a.m. Friday, July 16, at Hope Clinic, 835 Parkway Drive, Salyersville, Ky.

KDMC nurse practitioner Deb Cummings will review results with participants immediately following the screening.

Appointments are required and may be made by calling 1.866.HEART.KY (432-7859).

The screening is open to persons ages 50 and older and is recommended for those who:

- have leg pain when walking that goes away with rest;
- have a family history of vascular disease;
- use or have used tobacco products;
- have poor circulation or swelling (edema) of the legs and ankles.

Additional screening criteria apply, which allow KDMC to see those most at risk for PAD.

The vascular screening consists of:

■ fasting lipid profile - This test will give a breakdown of HDL and LDL cholesterol, triglycerides and total cholesterol.

■ ankle brachial index (ABI) screening - Blood pressure measurements are taken at the ankles and arms and compared to determine whether there is decreased blood flow to the legs.

■ blood glucose - Level of sugar in the blood. Studies have shown those with diabetes are at increased risk for vascular disease.

■ electrocardiogram (EKG) - A non-invasive test to measure electrical activity to the heart by attaching electrodes to the skin.

KHF is a nonprofit organization working to improve the life expectancy of people affected by cardiovascular disease. The foundation oversees cardiac research, education and prevention programs and is closely linked with heart and vascular specialists at KDMC.

KDMC is a locally controlled, not-for-profit, 465-bed regional referral center, offering comprehensive cardiac, vascular, medical, surgical, maternity, pediatric, rehabilitative, psychiatric, cancer, neurological, pain care, wound care and home care services. Mineral Mound State Park near Eddyville; Hidden Cove at Grayson Lake State Park in Olive Hill; Yatesville Lake in Louisa; Dale Hollow Lake near Burkesville; Wasiole Winds at Pine Mountain State Resort Park near Pineville; and My Old Kentucky Home State Park in Bardonia all got a thumbs up from the publications.

EVERYBODY'S SCIENCE

Falling through Alice's looking glass

by SANDY MILLER HAYS
AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH SERVICE

I've been thinking a lot lately about "Alice in Wonderland" — yes, the Lewis Carroll classic. It's meant to be a book for children, but sometimes I wonder if children's books aren't really written more for adults.

I would be willing to bet that you've never really thought about how much of the dialogue of "Alice" (the actual name of the book was "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland") has seeped into our everyday life. Have you ever caught yourself thinking, "Curiouser and curiouser," or "I'm late, I'm late, for a very important date!" or perhaps "Off with her head?" All from Alice!

"Alice" has been on my mind lately because of one of the book's basic premises: Things aren't always what they seem, or at least what they appear to be. Or, to quote The Duchess, "Never imagine yourself not to be otherwise than what it might appear to others that you were or might have been was not otherwise than what you had been would have appeared to them to be otherwise."

Sometimes research can be like that. You think a story is headed one way and it veers off in a totally different way, or you think that something's supposed to be bad, and it turns out to be quite good.

We all know viruses are bad, right? Turns out that's true, except when they're good! Agricultural Research Service (ARS) scientists have shown have shown that enzymes from bacteria-infecting viruses known as phages, actually could have beneficial applications for human and animal health.

Phage enzymes called endolysins attack bacteria by breaking down their cell walls. And unlike antibiotics, which tend to have a broad range, endolysins are comparatively specific. This means non-target bacteria could be less likely to develop resistance to the endolysins.

Studies by ARS scientists have shown that the phage enzymes could be used to wipe out multi-drug-resistant pathogens that affect both animals and humans, such as the dreaded MRSA (methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus).

The scientists also showed that the enzymes can knock out pathogens in biofilms, which are matrices of microorganisms that can attach to a variety of surfaces. Biofilms are resistant to antibiotics, and contribute to many human infections.

And the scientists have shown that using two endolysins — lysostaphin and LysK — together can inhibit the growth of staphylococcal strains that cause mastitis in cattle and staph infections in humans.

Turning a totally different direction, ARS scientists and their university colleagues have just published a new study on the possible causes of Colony Collapse Disorder (CCD), the mysterious problem that's plagued beekeepers over the past few years. You remember this one: It's the disease that causes bees to simply disappear.

The research team looked more than 200 individual variables in 91 bee colonies from 13 apiaries in Florida and California, where many beekeepers overwinter their honey bees. Among the factors for which the researchers screened were bacteria, mites, protozoan parasites called Nosema, viruses, the nutritional status of the bees, and yes, 171 pesticides. Adult bees, wax comb, stored and processed honey, and young bees, called "brood," were all sampled.

Now, some folks who have followed the CCD story for a while have been quite insistent that the problem is pesticides, plain and simple. But this

STARBOOKS CAFE

South Floyd opens eatery in library

by JARRID DEATON
FEATURES WRITER

HI HAT — The days of prohibited food and drink in the library are over at South Floyd High School with the opening of the "Starbooks Cafe" on June 9.

According to Cheryl Hall, media specialist at South Floyd High School, the project began with a tiled floor in an area of the library to mark the site of the cafe.

Tabitha Berger, math teacher at South Floyd, gave a donation toward the project and other donations came in soon after. Randy Lawson, a local artist, was hired to paint an Italian-style mural that serves as the backdrop for the cafe. South Floyd STLP students, along with sponsor Greg Moore, provided the rest of the money that allowed for the purchase of a cappuccino machine. The seating at the cafe was donated by Trish Ceislak, owner of The Perfect Setting.

"Welcome to the 21st century of librarianship," Hall said. "The library is not teacher-led.

It's student-centered, and marks a huge departure from the days when librarians strictly prohibited food, drinks and talking. Once I have them in the library hopefully I will have their eyes and minds for a little while and I can encourage them to check out a book to read."

According to South Floyd Middle School Principal Carolyn Martin, teachers are using the cafe as a reward system for students by handing out Starbooks coupons to students for achieving certain school expectations.

"It's something students can earn," Martin said. "It motivates them to do well in the classroom."

Those with the school hope that the cafe will expand to include a variety of other options in the near future.

"This is only the beginning," Hall said. "The cafe is seeking business sponsors to add a flat screen television and other types of drinks to Starbooks Cafe. The dream is now a reality. We are serving it and they are coming...to the library."

Groups from Floyd, Magoffin to commemorate soldiers of the Civil War

by FLOYD DAVIS

The Civil War was Eastern Kentucky's war too. The evidence left by long-ago armies and soldiers in and on the fabric of the land is too strong to question. Yet most of us have little, if any, knowledge of this momentous period; and those that do often have little sense of how wide-spread and interconnected the webs of war were.

The Friends of Middle Creek, the Magoffin Sesquicentennial Committee, the Prestonsburg Tourism Commission, and the Magoffin County Historical Society will be joining forces on Friday, July 2 to commemorate the men, Union and Confederate, who fought in that war, to affirm the interconnectedness of Floyd and Magoffin County's Civil War histories, and launch the creation of a new Civil War Park on the grounds of South Magoffin School.

The Battlefields Corridor Project will provide an opportunity for reenactors and citizens alike to join in this commemoration through a caravan of wagons, horses, carriages, mules, antique tractors, 4-wheel drive trucks and jeeps, ATV's and other vehicles up KY 114 to the Adams Cemetery Road and then up the hill to Punchedon Creek in Magoffin County, ending at the Punchedon Battle Site at South Magoffin School. We regret that ATV's cannot be sanctioned due to insurance regulations. Please bring a pick-nick lunch to enjoy on top of the hill. Camping facilities will be provided at the school for those who would like to participate in Salyersville's July 4th Parade the next day. Dinner, water, restroom facilities and electric power will be provided on the battle site. Breakfast will be available the next morning prior to the parade.

Help us highlight the importance of the Middle Creek and Punchedon battles, breath life into a new living history park, and honor those who fought to make history anew on these historic and hallowed grounds. Join us at the Middle Creek National Battlefield Friday, July 2nd at 10:00 and bring your children so that they may become part of their own history while honoring the horrific price paid by our ancestors for the freedoms we enjoy. Additional information may be obtained by calling/emailing Randall Risner at krrgoats@yahoo.com or Floyd Davis at fddavis@mikrotec.com, or visiting the Friends of Middle Creek website at www.friendsofmiddlecreek.org.

Ten Years Ago (June 25, 28 and 30)

Governor Paul Patton appointed four men to serve as administrative law judges in the Department of Workers Claims last week. One of those names is Floyd County Commonwealth's Attorney and local practicing attorney John Earl Hunt. Hunt, who has been unavailable for comment, will join Walter Bedford Jr. of Louisville, Ronald E. Johnson of Louisville, and Kevin King of Cold Springs to serve a term that will expire in 2004.

The city of Martin will learn this week whether $700,000 sponsored by U.S. Rep. Hal Rogers as seed money for a flood control project in that community will win approval from the U.S. House of Representatives. The money is part of the Energy and Water Development Appropriations bill which is slated for full House consideration during the upcoming week. That bill provides funding for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Appalachian Regional Commission and other agencies responsible for energy and water development.

Robert Darrell Bryant, 39, was arrested and cited with several charges after he allegedly aided his daughter in an assault of a 14-year-old. He was arrested by Floyd County Deputy Lt. Ricky Thornsbury, Thursday afternoon, after he and his daughter paid a visit to a Paintsville teen.

Officials with the Floyd County Health Department have reported finding another potential case of nisseria meningitis in the county. Carol Holbrook, director, of the health department said Monday that apparently a toddler had been taken to the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital, last Thursday, June 22, after he had developed a rash and fever.

An overdose of prescription medicine sent 7-year-old John Hunt, of East Point, to Highlands Regional Medical Center trauma team, Sunday. He apparently gained access to a prescription sleeping pill and took about 15 tablets.

Awards, food, fellowship and fun were a small part of events in the Pike County Chamber of Commerce's 42nd Annual membership dinner and awards banquet, Monday evening. A small crowd amassed for the $50 a plate gathering to see the honorable Heather French, Miss America 2010.

Yet another football season will come and go before two high schools can begin playing at new facilities. Architect Joe Jones told the board that 98 percent of the design work has been done on the football complex at Prestonsburg and South Floyd High Schools. He said the board could speed the process by purchasing the rest of the property needed to complete the complexes.

While a certain amount of sorrow was unmistakable, the overall tone of the first Sunday services held by worshippers at Cow Creek Freewill Baptist since their church burned down last week was one of hope. The church was completely destroyed by fire during the early morning hours of June 20. While investigators continue to search for a cause, arson has not been ruled out.

For the fourth time in four years, residents of educational district 3, will be getting a new school board member. Superintendent Paul Fanning confirmed, yesterday that he had received a letter of resignation from board member, Don Roberts.

The coal companies have departed and the buildings have all fallen into disrepair. What remains of the bustling coal camp community of David is thick with memories of what was. One of the highlights of the David community during the 1940s through the 1960s was the musical group the Patsy Teenagers. Members of that group will reconvene for a reunion performance, Saturday, at the David Crafts Center.

Members of the medical community worked a tag team effort in saving a life last week. A local resident, a pet store owner, an ambulance crew, and two area doctors worked together in an emergency to save a young victim from sure death. About 1 p.m., Saturday, Randy Allen of Hueysville, called Penelope Roberts, owner of Penelope's Pets, asking if she could take a deer off his hands. Allen transported a seriously injured deer to the pet store, where Roberts immediately took action to save the fawn's life.

The Floyd County Grand Jury handed down several indictments, Wednesday. Jacob Ellis Carroll, 19, was indicted on a reckless homicide charge for the death of Edgar Dewayne Hughes. In June 1999, Carroll was allegedly driving under the influence of alcohol along Route 979, with Hughes as his passenger that resulted in the loss of Hughes' life.

A murder suspect dropped a wanton endangerment charge against his alleged victim's son, Monday. Henry Clifton Jr. appeared in Floyd District Court for a preliminary hearing on a charge of first-degree murder, dangerousment. That charge was held by Denver "Bucky" Collins, after Clifton came close to his residence with a gun. A call to the Prestonsburg police department told dispatchers Clifton was en route to Collins' residence to exact revenge for the death of his father.

There died: Hilene Isaac Ulrich, 69, of Grovetown, Indiana, Saturday, June 10, at the Hospice Center of St. Joseph County, South Bend, Indiana; Roger Lee Kestner Jr., 25, of Oil Springs, Friday, June 23, at the Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center; Dr. William Gordon "Bill" Sargent, 74, of Martin, Monday, June 26, in HRMC; Billy Wright, 73, of Wheelwright, Sunday, June 25, at his residence; Tilda Boyd Bentley, 54, of Banner Sunday, June 25, at Pikeville Methodist Hospital; Bernos Ousley, 62, of Elina Green, Indiana, Friday, June 16, in Valparaiso Care & Rehabilitation Center; Russell Thornsbury, 72, of Prestonsburg, Sunday, June 25, at his residence; Delmer Keathley, 86, of Galveston, Tuesday, June 27, at his residence; Lindse Henderson Stricklin, 56, of Piedmont, South Carolina, Saturday, June 3, at Greenville Memorial Hospital; Quentin B. Harris, 78, of Prestonsburg, Saturday, June 24, at his residence; Darvin Gibson, 53, of Kite, Tuesday, June 27, at Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington; Daniel E. Gardner, 72, of Stratton Branch, Prestonsburg, Sunday, June 25, at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital; Clara Brown, 90, of Ada, Ohio, Friday, June 30, at the Richland Manor Nursing Home in Bluffton, Ohio; Christopher C. DeRossett Sr., 76, of Peru, Indiana, Tuesday, June 27, at the Howard Community Hospital, Kokomo, Indiana.

Twenty Years Ago (June 27 & 29, 1990)

The annual Floyd County Chamber of Commerce dinner at May Lodge held quite a surprise for Chalmers Frazier, who was shocked when former Gov. Bert T. Combs made an appearance in Frazier's honor. Combs presented a plaque to his friend of 40 years, representing a scholarship set up in Frazier's name at Prestonsburg Community College.

An inspection conducted June 19, by a representative of the state Division of Air Quality, reports "O" percent capacity, or cloudding, in emissions from a medical waste incinerator operated by Medisin Inc. behind Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Seven members of the Elkhorn City football team have filed a lawsuit against the Floyd County Board of Education in response to an incident at Wheelwright High School last year. Charges of conspiracy to distribute controlled drugs were dismissed, Monday against Martin pharmacist Ronald Reid.

After deliberating for about 10 minutes Thursday, a Floyd County Circuit jury found Darling Newsome of Wayland not guilty of manslaughter in the shooting death last year of Rody Martin.

Telling newpeople she will delay announcing her candidacy for governor until later in the year, First Lady Martha Wilkinson chose Thursday to keep the spotlight on literacy, during the third annual Floyd County Literacy Luncheon.

Residents of the Clear Creek voting precinct have submitted a petition for an alcohol referendum special election, which has been scheduled for August 4.

Like it or not, the Kentucky general sales tax goes up to six percent on Sunday. In addition, sales will begin to be assessed at nine cents, whereas now the sales tax kicks in on items of 11 cents and more.

There died: George Kenneth Elste Sr., 62, Endicott, June 24, at his residence; Lizzie Alice Endicott Jarell, 48, East Point, June 21, at University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington; Dorothy Short Burke, 84, Prestonsburg, June 21, at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Clayton Jordan Slone, seven weeks, son of Bobby J. and Lenora Reed Slone, Prestonsburg, June 22, at HRMC; Alice Shirley Pitts Chumbley, 50, Louisville, June 21, at Humana Hospital; Anna May Hatcher Mellon, 79, Prestonsburg, June 26, HRMC; Aggie Ousley Howard, 78, Fredville, June 21, at Paul B. Hall Medical Center, Paintsville; Joe Harold Conn, 65, Harold, June 23, at HRMC; Nancy Newsome Tackett, 88, Grattell, June 24, at Pikeville Methodist; Mary Sturgill Oliver, 83, Lackey, June 25, at her home; Elder Clinton Huff, 53, Eastern, June 22, at his residence; Grace Gibbs, 41, Satellite Beach, Florida, formerly of Betsy Layne, June 23, at Wuesthoff Memorial Hospital; Willie C. Harvey, 59, Honaker, June 26, at HRMC; Mickey Parker, 32, Prestonsburg, June 27, at HRMC.

Thirty Years Ago (June 25, 1980)

County Judge Executive Bill Wells went to Frankfort last Thursday and returned with a coal severance tax check of $76,940, far short of the $181,432 received last year. Governor Brown's severance tax proposal calls for 40% of the allocation to be spent on county roads and 60% on the state roads in the counties receiving money.

A jury empaneled for the inquest in the slaying of Chester Calhoun deliberated for only six minutes before deciding that the slaying was justifiable homicide and committed in self-defense. State Trooper Phillip Nickles shot Calhoun during a struggle.

In a three-hour meeting, the Floyd County Board of Education decided a multiplicity of issues; teachers will receive a $900 raise across the board; school will begin August 13, for students and the calendar was unveiled; $18,000 was allocated for the new Gifted and Talented Program, with the pioneer programs at Prestonsburg and Clark Elementary Schools and the repair of Allen Central High School, damaged by fire, was authorized.

Identity of the principals in the burglary a year ago of the Frasure Ammunition and Gun Shop at Bonanza is no longer a mystery. Marty Gore, 20, of Wheelwright, and Marvin Clay, 23, of Louisville, formerly of Prestonsburg, confessed to the crime last week.

Faulty wiring of a type now outlawed by modern building regulations was the probable cause of a mobile home fire early Saturday morning at Town Branch. The fire took the life of seven-month-old Amanda Webb and seriously burned her parents.

The Prestonsburg City Council on Monday, dismissed Lt. Bill Green from the city fire department for failing to answer a fire call and missing five consecutive work shifts. Five police and fire dispatchers were also dismissed by the council.

There died: Bessie Elam, 80, of Emma, at Our Lady of the Way Hospital; Woodrow Bradley, 63, of Cedar Hill, Tn. (formerly of Knott County), at his home; Ruth Dixon Stratton of Flatwoods, at Riverview Manor Nursing Home; Shirley Spillman Sikes, 46, of Louisville, (formerly of Wayland), at University Hospital, Louisville.

Forty Years Ago (June 25, 1970)

Toll-free telephone service and direct dialing inside most of Floyd County will become effective at 12:01 a.m., July 1, it was announced, Tuesday, by Bill Gibson, local South Central Bell manager.

Prestonsburg's biggest budget, designed to cover expenses for the fiscal year July 1, was adopted recently by the City Council, and, though totaling $284,596, it was described as "tight."

The 765,000-volt, 1,250 mile transmission line to be built through Floyd and other counties of the area by Kentucky Power Company and the seven other operating companies of the American Electric Power System will, when completed, be in the highest voltage line anywhere in the world.

Operations at the Island Creek Coal Company on Left Beaver Creek were at a standstill this week as 300 or more workers remained on strike. Cause of the labor trouble was undefined.

B.F. Reed of Drift, treasurer of the Turner-Elkhorn Mining Company, has been reappointed to the Morehead State University Board of Regents for a record fifth term.

There died: Jeanette Taylor Dolly, 49, of Hueysville, at General Hospital, Cincinnati, Ohio; Erna Harper Waltman, 48, of Hueysville, at Logansport, Indiana; Albert Moore, 75, of Garrett, at Pikeville Methodist Hospital; Emmaline Stanley, 88, at a Jenkins Hospital; Thomas Tuttle, 69, of Minnie, at McDowell Hospital; Mary A. Ratliff, of Minnie, at McDowell Hospital; Virginia Casey Turner, 58, in a Lexington hospital; Martin Lee May, 57, formerly of Prestonsburg, at his home; Elder Marion Moore, 76, of Minnie, at McDowell Hospital; James Richard Allen, 74, formerly of Hueysville, at Cabell-Huntington Hospital; Rev. E.R. Holbrook, 73, of Kite, at his home; Will Halbert, 90, of McDowell, at Mountain Manor Nursing Home; Clawson Gibson, 76, of Garrett, at Our Lady of the Way Hospital.

Fifty Years Ago (June 30, 1960)

Kentucky and other coal-producing states won a two-year battle, Monday, as the Senate passed a bill setting up a coal research facility.

The Floyd fiscal court met Thursday to approve a contract with the state and its Division of Rural Highways which envisions wide scale rural road building in this county. latest study suggests the answer is neither plain nor simple. While the researchers find detectable levels of residues from 50 different pesticides in all the sampled colonies, they found no association between increased pesticide levels and CCD.

In fact, the pyrethroid insecticide, Esfenvalerate, which is used to control a wide variety of pests on vegetable, fruit and nut crops, was actually more prevalent in the wax of the colonies that had never suffered from CCD. This insecticide was found in 32 percent of the non-CCD colonies, compared with 5 percent of the CCD colonies. And, compounds used to treat Varroa mites in honey bees, was also found in higher levels in the non-CCD colonies.

However, the researchers did find a higher total load of pathogens — viruses, bacteria and fungi — in the colonies that had suffered CCD, providing some good clues as to where to look (or not look) next for answers. Viruses that could be good for you, higher pesticide residues in healthier bee hives — Alice would feel right at home!

Craynon named Second Team All-State

by STEVE LEMASTER
SPORTS EDITOR

PRESTONSBURG — Prestonsburg High School track and field competitor Josh Craynon, a recent PHS graduate, has been named Class 2A Second Team All-State in the high jump event by the Kentucky Track and Cross Country Coaches Association.

Craynon led the Blackcats in this year's Class 2A State Meet at the University of Louisville. He finished fourth in the high jump during the state event.

State champion Chris Ulis (Elizabethtown) and runner-up Alex Connelly (Covington Catholic) were first team selections in the high jump. Devin Webster (Taylor County) and Max Rogers (Russell) joined Craynon as second team honorees.

Craynon was the lone Prestonsburg High School track and field athlete to earn all-state recognition.

Class 2A state champion Central, an accomplished program from Louisville, swept the individual honors as Haile Jemane was named Athlete of the Year and Edward Newton netted the Coach of the Year nod.

PRESTONSBURG — Week three of live harness racing at Thunder Ridge was highlighted by driver Terry Cullipher reaching the 1,000th win milestone on Saturday. Cullipher entered the winner's circle for the 1,000th time aboard HALEYSHEARTDESIRE, a three-year-old filly that he trains and owns. Cullipher was joined in the winner's circle, where he was presented a plaque commemorating the milestone courtesy of track photographer Amanda Webb-Stephens and the KHHA, by his 13-year-old daughter. Cullipher's next milestone may come as a trainer with him needing just 60 wins to join the 500 club.

Driver/trainer James Stiltner had a dominant three days of racing as he drove a total of nine winners, including his third straight with Open Pacing mare THAT'LL BEESWEET. Stiltner is both the leading trainer and driver during the current Thunder Ridge meet.

REAL DEALIN broke her maiden for owner/trainer Brian Loney on Thursday. The 3-year-old pacing filly comes out of familiar connections to Kentucky racing. Her mother SHE DEALS TOO (once owned by former University of Kentucky and NBA star Sam Bowie) was an Open Class pacing mare for several years for Johnson County horse owner William D. Cantrell before being bred to the champion sire Real Artist.

Live racing at Thunder Ridge will continue Thursday and Friday at 6 p.m. and Saturday at noon.

Shooting ranges on WMAs a free place to hone shooting skills

by LEE McLELLAN
KENTUCKY AFIELD

FRANKFORT — Kentucky's wildlife management areas (WMAs) are a blessing to all Kentuckians. Although managed primarily for wildlife habitat and hunting and fishing access, any citizen of the state may use these thousands of acres to hike, watch birds, picnic, photograph wildlife and pursue other outdoor-related recreation, as well as hunt and fish.

Kentuckians may use these lands whether or not they help pay the bill by purchasing a hunting or fishing license. These wildlife areas are a gift to the rest of the state provided by hunters and anglers.

Shooting ranges are another service provided on some of Kentucky's wildlife management areas. Most Kentuckians don't have easy access to a private gun club where they can sight in their rifle or practice their wingshooting.

Wildlife management areas across the state have public shooting ranges for target shooting with a rifle, pistol or shotgun. On Curtis Gates Lloyd WMA in Grant County and Miller Welch-Central Kentucky WMA in Madison County, shotgunners may use the self-serve trap ranges to hone their skills.

Kentucky Fish and Wildlife approved clubs operate skeet and trap ranges at Curtis Gates Lloyd WMA, Miller Welch-Central Kentucky WMA and West Kentucky WMA in McCracken County. Participants in the club event may use these facilities.

The Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Commission recently passed new regulations to improve safety at public shooting ranges on wildlife management areas by banning certain types of weapons and ammunition.

Users may not discharge cannons, artillery or any replica of those weapons on public shooting ranges on wildlife management areas. Mortars, grenades, incendiaries, explosive devices or explosive bullets are prohibited as well.

Modern firearm bullets 500 grains or larger may not be used at these public shooting ranges. Shotgun slugs larger than 10-gauge or muzzleloader balls or bullets larger than .78 caliber are also prohibited from use. Also, people may not fire rifles that are not shoulder-mounted or pistols that are not hand held.

"The impact of those rounds creates significant damage to the safety backstops at those ranges," said Brian Clark, assistant director of public affairs for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife.

Feel free to use these public shooting ranges this summer as you prepare for the coming hunting seasons. Enjoy these public areas and appreciate them as gifts. They belong to you; treat them as you would your own.

Here is a list of shooting ranges on wildlife management areas:

- Curtis Gates Lloyd WMA, Grant County: shooting range with tubes for single projectile firearms, self-serve public trap range, archery range, club-operated skeet trap and rifle/pistol ranges
- Miller Welch-Central Kentucky WMA, Madison County: shooting range with tubes for single projectile firearms, self-serve public trap range, club-operated skeet and trap ranges
- Taylorsville Lake WMA, Spencer County: shooting range with tubes for single projectile firearms
- John A. Kleber WMA, Owen County: shooting range with tubes for single projectile firearms
- Peabody WMA, Muhlenberg County: shooting range with tubes for single projectile firearms
- Higginson-Henry WMA, Union County: shooting range with tubes for single projectile firearms
- Jones-Keeney WMA, Caldwell County: rifle-pistol range and archery range
- West Kentucky WMA, McCracken County: Club-operated skeet range and archery range.

UIFL announces Canton team

TIMES STAFF REPORT

CANTON, Ohio — The Ultimate Indoor Football League (UIFL) has announced Canton, Ohio as the fifth market for the 2011 season. The Canton team will play seven regular-season home games at the Canton Civic Center Arena, which has a capacity of 4,000 fans.

The newest team in the Ultimate Indoor Football League will be known as the Canton Cougars. The Canton ownership group includes UIFL co-founders Michael Taylor and Andrew Haines.

"We are excited that indoor football is returning to the Civic Center and the City of Canton," said Geoff Tompkins, General Manager of the Canton Civic Center. "The indoor game offers fast-paced action and lots of scoring and is always a great option for family entertainment. We look forward to working with the Canton Cougars along with the Ultimate Indoor Football League and wish the team and its staff the best of luck in the months to come."

"We are excited to bring arena football back to Canton," Taylor stated. "In addition to making sure we have a top notch product on the field, we will make sure we are a positive influence off the field in the local community. We strive to be the most fan-friendly sports league and team in the country."

The Cougars will hold a formal press conference in July to announce corporate partners, its front office and the coaching staff.

Five Wildcats selected in first round of NBA Draft

TIMES STAFF REPORT

LEXINGTON — Five former University of Kentucky Wildcats made history Tuesday night as all five players were selected in the first round of the NBA Draft, led by John Wall, the first Wildcat ever selected as the first overall pick.

Wall was selected No. 1 overall by the Washington Wizards, followed by DeMarcus Cousins at No. 5 by the Sacramento Kings. Patrick Patterson went 14th to the Houston Rockets, while Eric Bledsoe went 18th to the Oklahoma City Thunder.

In addition, UK head coach Daniel Orton ended the night for Kentucky when he was selected 29th by the Orlando Magic.

It marks the first time that five players from the same school were selected in the first round of the NBA Draft.

Prior to Wall's selection by the Wizards, the highest UK draft pick was Sam Bowie in the 1984 NBA Draft. Bowie was taken second overall by the Portland Trailblazers, behind Akeem Olatunwo who was taken first by the Houston Rockets and before Michael Jordan who was taken third by the Chicago Bulls.

In addition, UK head coach John Calipari became the fifth college coach to have coached two overall No. 1 picks. Calipari coached Derrick Rose, the 2008 No. 1 pick, at Memphis in the 2007-08 season.

"For a program that makes history pretty regularly, Thursday night was a truly historic evening," UK Coach John Calipari commented. "An unprecedented FIVE Wildcats were chosen in the 1st round of the 2010 NBA Draft. I am so proud of John, DeMarcus, Patrick, Eric and Daniel and I love the way they have represented our University, our program and the Big Blue Nation."

Energy to host second tryout

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIKEVILLE — The East Kentucky Energy recently signed Neil Rasnake after the professional basketball veteran impressed during the team's first tryout held in May.

With five players on the roster, the Energy is continuing to evaluate talent.

Aspiring professional players will get a second opportunity to compete for a contract on July 17. The team's second tryout will be held at Pikeville High School, beginning at 3 p.m. Registration will begin at 2:30 p.m.

"We had some very talented players attend our first tryout and I think more of them than just Neil will find a spot with the team," said Energy co-founder Tom Hamilton.

Joining Rasnake on the Energy roster are former Kentucky Mr. Basketball J.R. VanHoose, defending ABA Defensive Player of the Year Daniel Price, his fellow Pikeville College alum, Jarell Jones, and Sandell Spann.

"We've got a good core of players assembled and we're looking to add to that," said team co-founder Jerry Boggs. "These tryouts combine individual drills and scrimmages which allows our group to evaluate the players in a variety of situations."

"We had several guys come out and work hard and show what they can do at the first tryout."

Players must sign a waiver to participate in the tryout and a $100 entry fee is required.

PERK UP YOUR

Picnic

FAMILY FEATURES

Warm weather is here, and there is no better time for a picnic at your local park or beach. Quick and simple recipes are the way to go, but the typical bologna sandwich doesn't always stimulate the taste buds. This season, experiment with new recipes and flavors, and make your casual alfresco dining experience extra special. By adding a few key ingredients to seasonal favorites, you have the power to transform everyday recipes into delicious dishes the whole family will enjoy. Here are some great examples on how to plus up an otherwise run-of-the-mill picnic.

For a twist on the classic barbecue chicken, opt for a Grilled Herbed Chicken, seasoned with Grey Poupon Dijon mustard and Italian spices. But, don't let those leftovers go to waste. The chicken can be refrigerated for up to two days and made into a quick-and-easy Caesar salad with the addition of romaine lettuce, Caesar dressing and grated Parmesan cheese.

Instead of ordinary potato salad, try the Butter Bean Salad on for size. Chock full of ham, butter beans, sun-dried tomatoes and red onions, this recipe adds a touch of mustard and cilantro to really titillate your taste buds and give you a side dish full of flavor.

Finally, kick your lunch up a notch and enjoy a Cheddar, Bacon and Pear Sandwich, made with Harvest Coarse Ground Mustard. Whole mustard seeds paired with fresh ingredients create a crisp, robust flavor. Perfect for the family on the go, this gourmet goodie can be prepared in only five minutes.

Picnic Food Safety

- Cool It: Store perishable foods in plenty of coolers with ice or frozen gel packs. Keep the food at 40°F. A full cooler stays colder longer than a partially filled one. Carry the cooler inside the air-conditioned car, and keep it in the shade when you reach your destination. Use separate coolers for drinks so the food container won't be opened and closed.
- Two Hour Rule: Don't leave perishable food out for more than two hours. (Cold foods should not sit out for more than one hour.) Any leftovers that have been sitting out longer than that should be discarded.
- Proper Prepping: Wash hands before preparing food, and make sure storage containers are clean. Cooked foods need to be properly cooled — spread the food out in as many pans as needed so that it is no more than two inches deep. This allows it to cool faster, reducing the chances of bacteria growing.
