nifee, Morgan and Pendleton counties, which were subject to the disaster declaration when it was first issued March 6.
The news was especially welcome in Mingo County, where current estimates are that 80 businesses and 300 homes were destroyed, and damages are estimated to be over $45 million.

"This is welcome news for many, but not all families in our region," said U.S. Rep. Hal Rogers, who announced the first nine additional Friday night. "I've been told damage assessments are continuing and we know this is only the beginning. Our families face enormous challenges with home repair, finding temporary housing, replacing vehicles, and getting life back to normal.

"These are trying times, but with the help of these disaster aid funds, we are taking a step in the right direction toward recovery. As I told FEMA Administrator (William Craig) Fugate this week, our people are strong, but this is more than our local efforts can overcome — we need a firm commitment and sustained help to get back on our feet."

Individuals and local governments claiming a storm-related loss and seeking assistance from storm damages should contact the Federal Emergency Management Agency at (800) 621-3362 or TTY (800) 462-7585 for persons with speech or hearing disabilities.

Additional information about this disaster and required forms to apply for assistance are available at <http://www.disasterassistance.gov/>.
In order to apply for individual assistance, an applicant should have on hand his or her social security number, current and pre-disaster address, telephone number to be contacted, insurance information, total household annual income, bank routing and account numbers, and a description of losses that were caused by the disaster. The disaster declaration number is FEMA-4057-DR.

Grave

According to deputies, they received a tip last week that Vicars was in possession of the memorial.
Following the tip, Deputy Landon Hall met with Vicars and questioned him about the theft. Hall later returned with an arrest warrant for Vicars, and on the second trip, Vicars produced the stolen memorial that he had "found."
"I want him to be punished to the fullest extent of the law," said Osborne. "I want an example made of him."

Osborne says she hopes a stern punishment handed down by the courts will give would-be thieves pause before stealing memorials, not only from the grave of her son, but from any grave.
Vicars was transported to the Floyd County Detention Center, where he continues to be held on a $10,000 cash bond.
Violating graves is a Class D felony.

storm relief efforts.
Country Music Highway "Road to Fame" talent competition organizers hope the first round of auditions will give local residents something positive in the midst of such great sadness. "We are expecting hundreds of people to attend the four auditions," said Ken Carriere. "I saw we had an opportunity to use this competition to raise funds for our neighbors in need."
The competition will be heavily promoted to ensure the best possible pool of entrants. The final is expected to be held at the Mountain Arts Center, although producers say that could change.

The grand prize winner will receive a scholarship to participate in a course of career development and coaching under the direction of PGC Nashville, valued at $25,000. He or she may also receive career-related benefits. Each runner-up will receive an acoustic guitar and a certificate of achievement. Other prizes and gifts may be provided by participating sponsors.

Contestants who don't make it through will be given tips to work on to help them improve, so they can come back and give it another shot later.
Winners may also be featured on the nationally syndicated Crook & Chase TV show, appear on professionally produced and recorded CD and make personal appearances throughout the region.
An added benefit of the contest is the creation of the Country Music

Highway Road to Fame Arts Education Fund, a nonprofit organization formed in conjunction with the Road to Fame. The intention of the fund is to provide financial and educational support to music and arts programs in area schools. The fund will be administered via the Bluegrass Community Foundation.
More information about the Country Music Highway Road to Fame competition can be found at www.cmhroadtofame.com.

to choose the teams you think will rise to the occasion this year in the NCAA Basketball Tournament.
Just go to www.floydcountytimes.com and click on the "Contests" link, under the "Local Features" menu, or click the trophy icon in the top left corner of the website.
On the next page, you will find a link to the contest, where you can begin filling out your brackets.
This year, there are two ways to play. You can pick a winner in all the brackets before the tournament begins, and then just sit back to see how your teams do as the tournament progresses. Or, you can visit the contest site before each game and pick who you think is going to win each upcoming game, once both teams for a game are known. If you pick teams as the tournament progresses, you can pick the winner until 20 minutes before the game is scheduled to start. You can sign up to play at any point in the tournament.

You could win $1 million if you pick all of the games correctly. You could win $10,000 if you only miss one or two games. And, you could win $1,000 if you only miss three games. The national grand prize for the player with the highest score is a 32GB iPod Touch sponsored by Upickem and a NCAA Fathead sponsored by Fathead.com.
The top winner among "Times" participants will receive $50.

AppalReD legal aid helps disaster victims

AppalReD Legal Aid, provider of free civil legal services to people who are living at or below the federal poverty level, is able to provide free civil legal assistance to disaster victims in Magoffin, Martin, Johnson, Laurel and Lawrence counties. Often during disasters, legal problems are the last thing on people's mind. However, issues pertaining to lost property, insurance, mortgage, unemployment and food-stamp benefits often occur. AppalReD Legal Aid can help disaster victims with these legal problems and many others. In times of disaster and distress like we are seeing in Kentucky, there are extraordinary things AppalReD can do to help people who would not ordinarily qualify for services. "AppalReD is here to help people in our community. Some programs help our community with food or shelter, AppalReD can help with legal needs," says Jonathan Fickelstimer, Interim Executive Director of AppalReD Legal Aid. "We will be at relief sites over the next week to talk with people and help as much as we can." If you need civil legal assistance for a problem arising from the March 2, 2012 Tornado disaster and you live in Laurel County, please contact the AppalReD Legal Aid Office in Barbourville, at 800-441-5115. If you are a resident of Martin, Magoffin, Johnson or Lawrence County and need legal assistance, please call 800-556-3876.

Commonwealth Cleanup slated for March 17-24

Volunteers from across Kentucky are set to fill trash bags and pick up old tires March 17-24 during the 14th Commonwealth Cleanup Week.

The annual weeklong event is implemented by the Energy and Environment Cabinet (EEC) and kicks off the Great American Cleanup, spanning from March through May. Its purpose is to provide Kentucky communities with an opportunity to "spring clean," recycle and promote personal responsibility across the Commonwealth.

EEC Secretary Len Peters said Commonwealth Cleanup Week establishes civic pride and allows citizens to take ownership of their communities' environment. "I am impressed each year with the number of Kentuckians who participate in this annual event. Thousands give their time to numerous cleanup projects, picking up litter and trash from our roadways, valley and streams, and recycling where possible."

"I know that we've accomplished a great deal in the past 14 years, but we can work to make this year's cleanup better than the last and to keep up the momentum throughout the year."

During the 2011 cleanup week, more than 34,000 Kentuckians picked up 36,774 bags of trash and 2,481 tires along 4,212 miles of roadway. In addition, these same volunteers cleaned nine illegal dumps.

The timing of this initiative also helps prepare our state for visitors and tourists who visit Kentucky their travel destination during the spring and summer months.

Kentucky Educational Television (KET) will promote this year's event, and Kentucky Life host Dave Shuffett will be taping a special "Dave Does It" segment during Commonwealth Cleanup Week.

Nonprofit groups that register with their county solid waste coordinator and complete a Commonwealth Cleanup Week cleanup are eligible to win one of six $100 cash prizes in a random drawing.

Visit the DWMW's website at <http://www.ky.gov/RLA/Pages/CCW.aspx> for scheduled events and a listing of county solid waste coordinators in Kentucky.

UPike students to host benefit concert

PIKEVILLE — The University of Pikeville Student Government Association will host Sundry Best in concert to benefit victims of the recent tornadoes in Eastern Kentucky.

The concert will be held Wednesday, March 14, at 7 p.m. in Booth Auditorium. Sundry Best, composed of UPike alumni Nick Jamerson and Kris Bentley, both of Prestonsburg, are currently recording their first studio album.

Admission is $5. UPike students are admitted free with UPike ID and a donated item. All proceeds and items will benefit tornado victims.

PRIDE provides funds for spring cleanup

SOMERSET — PRIDE will reimburse Floyd County, Prestonsburg, Allen, Martin, Wayland and Wheelwright up to $7,250 for leading the local PRIDE Spring Cleanup Month in April.

Floyd County is eligible for $6,000. Prestonsburg, Allen, Martin, Wayland and Wheelwright are eligible for $250 each. The funding levels are based on the number of road miles in the county and cities.

The PRIDE funds will offset costs to the county and cities for removing litter and dumps and for offering free trash drop-off events. The funds also may help communities clean up debris from recent storms.

PRIDE also will give the county and cities T-shirts and cleanup supplies to distribute to Spring Cleanup volunteers.

"Volunteers have such a good time cleaning their community together, and they are really successful at picking up litter," said Tammy Wilson of PRIDE, the nonprofit organization that organizes the annual Spring Cleanup campaign in 38 counties of southern and eastern Kentucky. "Disposing of the trash volunteers collect costs money, and that's where the Spring Cleanup Funds come in," Wilson continued. "The funds also help local governments pay contractors to remove dumps that are too big or dangerous for volunteers."

"This is the 15th anniversary of PRIDE, and we can celebrate a visible difference in our region," Wilson added. "PRIDE volunteers have picked up 699,442 bags of trash since 1997, and 2,869 illegal dumps have been eliminated from our landscape."

"It all starts with one cleanup and one volunteer — you," Wilson said. "Please answer the call for volunteers as your local leaders announce Spring Cleanup events. Stay tuned to your local media and kypride.org."

During PRIDE Spring Cleanup Month in April, PRIDE works with communities to create a clean, healthy environment just in time for new recreation and tourism seasons. Local governments organize Spring Cleanup events, and PRIDE provides cleanup supplies, T-shirts and funding assistance.

All local governments in PRIDE's 38-county service area are eligible for Spring Cleanup funds, thanks to a grant from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. To qualify for its available funds, each local government must attend PRIDE training and comply with funding guidelines.

The region-wide Spring Cleanup is also made possible by these sponsors: Waste Connections of Kentucky (Gold Sponsor), Outdoor Venture Corporation (Silver Sponsor), New Horizon Graphics (Bronze Sponsor) and Lightyear Network Solutions (Bronze Sponsor).

To volunteer to pick up litter during PRIDE Spring Cleanup Month, please call your local PRIDE Coordinator, PRIDE Coordinators' names and phone numbers are available by calling PRIDE, toll free, at 888-577-4339 or by visiting www.kypride.org/ service-area.

MSU West Liberty campus to reopen March 15

WEST LIBERTY — Morehead State University at West Liberty will reopen Thursday, March 15, for all classes and related activities.

The center had been closed since the March 2 tornado struck West Liberty.

Since the disaster, several Morgan County offices have relocated to West Liberty Academic Center. MSU has made changes to class schedules to accommodate the move-ins and an updated schedule of classes.

According to Brent Jones, executive director of MSU's distance education and regional campus system, "ITV classes will remain in the same location, but many face-to-face classes have been moved to the ITV rooms or room 105 (computer lab). Also be advised that the 105 computer lab will be operated as an open computer lab when it is not being used as a classroom, and a schedule will be posted by the door."

Jones also noted that MSU's Office of Information Technology will continue to record ITV classes through March 16, and after that date, will return to an as-needed basis for taping ITV classes.

MSU at West Liberty also is serving as a Volunteer Center (606-783-8756) to request assistance with property clean-up, relief efforts, or to volunteer.

MSU has set up a website at www.moreheadstate.edu/msucare with information for students, faculty, staff, alumni and community with resources on how to assist and what to do if you are an MSU student or employee affected by the storms. Inquiries may also be made by phone to 606-783-9055.

Students, faculty and staff with questions about classes and other activities scheduled for MSU at West Liberty may call 606-783-5381.

Kentucky ranked sixth in nation for obesity, fourth in high blood pressure, second for diabetes

A new report shows 29.5 percent of Kentuckians are obese, sixth highest in the nation. The state ranked second in the nation for the highest percentage of diabetes, with 13.7 percent of Kentucky residents diagnosed with the disease, and fourth in high blood pressure, at 36.3 percent.

According to the Gallup-Healthways Well-Being Index, West Virginia had the highest rates of obesity (35.3 percent), diabetes (15.7) and high blood pressure (38.9) in the country. Colorado had the lowest, with 18.5, 6.8 and 22.6, respectively. Colorado "is the only state where fewer than 20 percent of adults are obese," reports Elizabeth Mendes for Gallup. West Virginia's obesity rate is the highest for any state since the study began in 2008.

The survey asked respondents if they had been diagnosed with diabetes or hypertension. To measure obesity, participants were asked to report their height and weight, allowing Gallup to calculate their body mass index," reports The Huffington Post. A person with a BMI of 30 or higher is considered obese.

The family of Sharon Michael Shelton would like to thank Nelson Frazier Funeral Home, Rev. Donnie Patrick, Faith Freewill Baptist Church and everyone who brought food. Perhaps you sent a lovely card, or sat quietly in a chair, perhaps you sent a floral piece, or if so we saw it there. Perhaps you spoke the kindest words as all friends could say, perhaps you were not there at all, just thought of us that day. Whatever you did to console our hearts, we thank you so much whatever the part.

The Amendment

Worth Repeating ...

A liberal is a man who is right most of the time, but he's right too soon.

Amendment I

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people to peaceably assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

HB 260: Good, but could be better

Paul E. Patton
President, University of Pikeville

Make no mistake about it, Speaker Stumbo, Representative Combs and I are still convinced that if there had been a state university in Southeastern Kentucky for the past 90 years as there has been in Northeastern Kentucky, our region and the Commonwealth would be a much different and much better place today. We will not give up on that goal but we will not let the perfect deny us the good. And that is what the revised HB 260 is. While a state university in any region has a multitude of positive impacts on that region, a major argument on behalf of taking the University of Pikeville into the state university system was, and still is, to give our students the opportunity to attend a quality university within the region and at the same cost as the students in the rest of the state pay to attend a state university.

HB 260 will bring us closer to that goal. The revised proposal will provide as much as $6,000 to students from the region to attend one of the four bachelor-degree-granting colleges in the region. These colleges are Alice Lloyd, Union, the University of the Cumberlands and the University of Pikeville. Now, they must leave the region to attend the more economically sound universities and many of them never return. This $6,000 will make the cost of attendance at one of the four institutions comparable to, but not less than, the cost of attendance at a state university. Students could also receive a $2,000 scholarship to attend a state university extension campus that is located within the region.

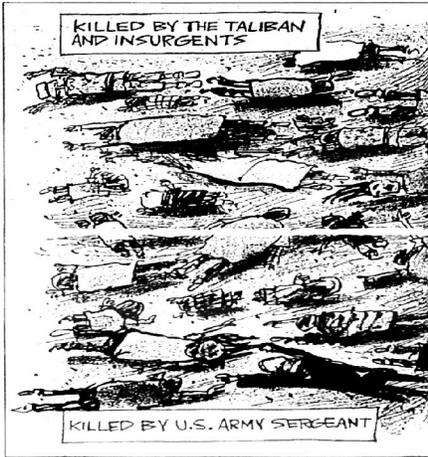

The problem is not with the low-income students, although they will get a grant under the revised proposal. Currently, a student with an 18 ACT and a $1,500 KEES scholarship from a family of four with an income of $30,000 a year will pay no tuition at the University of Pikeville and still have the $1,500 KEES scholarship available to buy books and other expenses. Any new grant they receive can be used to pay living or transportation expenses. That same student from a middle class family with an income of $61,000 will pay $13,050 for tuition after receiving a $3,200 institutional grant from the University. The maximum grant under the revised HB 260 will reduce that amount to $7,050, almost exactly equal to the tuition at Morehead and Eastern. We desire no advantage over these two great universities, just equality.

If it is wrong to give grants to students from middle class families, then it is wrong to give $1 billion to the state universities because that is a subsidy to every student enrolled there, poor and wealthy alike. The middle class should be served by government just like the poor. The University of Pikeville has served low income families for 123 years. Sixty-eight percent of our students from this region receive state and federal need-based grants but 32% do not.

No, this bill will not do as much as the original HB 260. It only devotes $255,000 to helping high school and community and technical college students work towards a bachelor degree instead of the $2 million the University of Pikeville planned to spend. But then it only anticipates half as much money. It will give our students the option to get a bachelor degree in our region at about the same cost as they will pay if they chose to attend one of the other good state universities outside the region but it won't hold them hostage in the region by forcing them to either come back or repay a forgivable loan. This is not a cure-all. It is very narrowly focused on making the last two years of a four-year bachelor degree course of study in the region cost-competitive with the same course of study outside the region. It will not generate any more money to these in-region colleges than they will receive if the student chooses to pay the full amount to attend the school without the new grant. It will result in more of our students getting a bachelor degree and more of them will stay in the region. Only time will tell how many. HB 260 is good, but could be better!

KILLED BY U.S. ARMY SERGEANT

KILLED BY FIGHTING A NEEDLESS WAR

A legislative perspective

Rep. Greg Stumbo
Speaker of the House

During each year's legislative session, no month is busier than March. The issues that have been debated for weeks begin moving toward their conclusion during this time, and the later we go in the month, the bigger the votes become. Last week, the Kentucky House of Representatives put its stamp on what I think are the session's two most prominent issues when the chamber overwhelmingly approved its budget and the legislation I'm sponsoring to crack down on prescription drug abuse.

The budget is important, of course, because it dictates state government spending for the next two years. We have known for some time that this one, which will take effect in July and run through June 2014, would be the toughest any of us have seen. That's because, over the last several years, we have already made about $1.3 billion in cuts and are facing the prospect of reducing spending by several hundred million dollars more to keep the budget balanced, as we're constitutionally required to do. It's important to note that, since this recession began, Kentucky has been able to avoid taking the drastic steps many other states have taken, some of which have laid off thousands of teachers and state employees and raised taxes significantly. The proposed budget that the Kentucky House of Representatives passed last week maintains that positive trend. Our plan largely follows what Governor Beshear proposed when he presented his budget about two months ago. The House agrees that we must live within our means, but to do that, most state agencies would see cuts of 8.4 percent, though some areas would see less or even a modest increase.

For example, we don't cut the overall total for the per-pupil funding formula known as SEEK, but we understand a growing student population means schools would have to stretch that money a little further. The House trims post-secondary schools by about six percent, and we also limit how many new facilities they would like to build with their own revenue. We want to make sure our debt level remains reasonable and the schools don't take on more than they can handle financially given the state's limited resources.

There are no proposed cuts to student financial aid in the House budget, and that includes the lottery-based KEES scholarships that high schoolers earn for college. The House budget differs slightly from the governor's in a couple of key areas in education. We provide more money for schools' family resource centers and programs like gifted education, and more would be given to KEE, because further cuts could significantly hamper its ability to meet its statewide mission. We also believe more money is needed for Meals on Wheels and other services helping the elderly, and we add more money to help better maintain our state parks.

The overall theme of this budget is fairness. We recognize that some areas, such as the classroom, need to be protected as much as possible, but in other cases, we tried to spread the cuts as broadly as possible. That means all three branches of government are taking the same reduction, and that state employees and their retirees alike will not see any raises. The next two years will be difficult, but there is hope that, if state revenues continue growing, it's possible that the outlook will brighten in the months ahead.

In the other major vote last week, the House approved my two-pronged proposal to dramatically increase the number of doctors and pharmacists using KASPER, the state's prescription drug monitoring program, and moving KASPER from the Cabinet for Health and Family Ser-VICES to the Attorney General's office.

This approach will make it much easier for law enforcement to spot unwarranted spikes in prescription drug use and then move quickly to stop it. KASPER has been very effective in telling us where the problem areas are, but it hasn't been used to its full potential. My bill, I believe, would fill that gap.

For now, the House awaits whatever changes the Senate might propose to that bill as well as the budget. If all goes as scheduled, compromises on both will be voted on by the end of the month. On a more personal note, I want to add that the General Assembly is committed to doing all it can to help those victims who lost so much from the devastating storms on March 2nd. My colleagues in the House and I and the legislature's staff have raised more than $20,000 to donate to those most affected (We're hoping to reach $25,000), and we will do whatever it takes to help these communities get back on their feet.

As always, I value your opinion on legislative matters and would enjoy hearing your thoughts or suggestions on the issues of the day. You can leave a message for me or for any legislator at 800-372-7181. For those with a hearing impairment, the number is 800-896-0305.

state lawmakers returned to Frankfort last week to face the hard, but necessary, task of voting on an Executive Branch budget bill that would represent yet another round of cuts from already stripped-bare state agency budgets over the next biennium.

The $19.5 billion Executive Branch budget plan in House Bill 265—which passed the House 78-17 last Wednesday—closely mirrors the governor's proposal to cut an additional 8.4 percent from most agency budgets over the next two years. Like previous cuts approved in recent years, the new round results from the anemic economy, which has plagued the state since revenues bottomed out at a -2.7 percent 'growth' rate in 2009. All this is tied to the terrible lingering recession that began in 2007. Kentucky has recently experienced an encouraging turnaround in growth and revenues, but the bottom line is, we're not even back to even. State agencies are as tired of budget cuts as the rest of us Kentuckians are tired of the slow economy and poor job market. And the agencies have a right to be stressed and weary. Over $1 billion has been cut from agency appropriations in Kentucky over the last four years—yes, that's billion with a 'b'.

Now, with another 8.4 percent in planned reductions in the budget we passed last week, the overall percentage of cuts to Executive Branch services since the start of the recession is well over 30 percent for many agencies, with some seeing cuts as large as 38 percent since 2007.

Another round of cuts will be hurtful, to put it mildly. But our commitment to passing a responsible budget without any accounting trickery or further putting off the day of reckoning requires we do what we must this year to get our finances under control. It's bite-the-bullet time.

Disaster cleanup carries health risks

The Kentucky Department for Public Health is reminding Kentuckians about guidelines for safety during post storm clean-up regarding tetanus, mold cleanup and food safety. The guidelines come after Friday's severe storms and tornadoes that caused widespread damage, injuries and loss of life.

"Emergency situations like this one emphasize the importance of preparedness in the home," said Steve Davis, M.D., acting DPH commissioner. "Those without power in storm damaged areas should remember that public health safety measures such as food safety, mold cleanup and tetanus can be serious and, in some cases, even life-threatening. By following safety recommendations, illnesses can be prevented."

Tetanus

- Avoid contact with flood waters. Flood waters are unclean and can be a risk for tetanus for those who have open wounds that come into direct contact with them. Contact your regular health care provider or your local health department if you believe you may need a tetanus shot.

Mold Cleanup

- Mold may be present in homes that were flooded. An air conditioner or dehumidifier may be used to lower the level of humidity to prevent mold growth. Use exhaust fans when showering and cooking.

- When cleaning up small areas affected by mold, make sure the area has enough air by opening doors or windows. Use protective glasses or goggles, rubber boots and waterproof gloves. Wash clothing afterwards. If there is heavy mold growth, use a respirator or suitable mask to prevent breathing the mold.

- Remove all wet items that have been wet for more than 48 hours and are not able to be cleaned and dried.

- If mold is growing in your home, you will need to clean up the mold and fix the moisture problem. Mold growth can be removed from hard surfaces with commercial products, soap and water, or a bleach solution of no more than 1 cup of bleach in 1 gallon of water. Severe mold cases may require an expert to clean up.

Food Safety

- If you have power outages keep freezers closed to help keep frozen food from going bad. A full freezer will keep the temperature for about 48 hours and for 24 hours if the freezer is half full.

- Refrigerated foods should be safe as long as power is out for no more than four hours. Throw away any perishable food in your refrigerator, such as meat, poultry, lunchmeats, fish, dairy products, eggs and any prepared or cooked foods that have been above 40 degrees Fahrenheit for two hours. Fresh fruits and vegetables are safe as long as they are still firm and have no mold or slimy feel.

To remove spills and refresh the freezer and refrigerator, DPH recommends washing with a solution of 2 tablespoons of baking soda dissolved in 1 quart of warm water. To get rid of any odors, place an open dish of baking soda in the freezer or refrigerator.

In addition to these common post-storm risks, cold winter temperatures can make staying warm and safe a challenge, especially during long-term power outages. DPH strongly encourages residents to be aware of the dangers of carbon monoxide poisoning when using alternative heating sources such as portable generators and kerosene heaters. Kentuckians should also be aware that exposure to cold temperatures (whether indoors or outside) can also cause life-threatening health problems such as hypothermia, which occurs when the body's temperature drops below what is necessary for normal body functioning. For more information about cold weather risks, visit <http://healthalerts.ky.gov/Pages/WinterSafety.aspx>.

FEMA, AmeriCorps partner on disaster relief

WASHINGTON — The Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) on Tuesday announced an innovative new partnership designed to continue to strengthen the nation's ability to respond to and recover from disasters while expanding career opportunities for young people.

FEMA Corps is a historic collaboration which will create a new unit of AmeriCorps' National Civilian Community Corps (NCCC) whose members will be devoted solely to FEMA disaster response, and recovery efforts. The five-year agreement provides for a full service corps of 1,600 members annually who will be an additional workforce in support of FEMA's current disaster reserve workforce. "The initiative we're launching today underscores our commitment to shared responsibility and strong partnerships to help communities across the United States more effectively prepare for, respond to, and recover from disasters of all kinds," said Secretary Napolitano. "This new partnership will help us respond to disasters in a way that is cost-effective, and that draws on the strengths of our communities and our people."

This new effort will promote an ethic of national service and civic engagement by mobilizing corps members and community volunteers to provide critical disaster services. Once trained by FEMA and CNCS, members will provide support in areas ranging from working directly with disaster survivors to supporting disaster recovery centers to sharing valuable disaster preparedness and mitigation information with the public. The first members will begin serving in August 2012 and the program will reach full capacity within 18 months.

"This new partnership is important for many reasons but none more important than the positive impact it will have on disaster survivors," said FEMA Administrator Craig Fugate. "FEMA Corps will strengthen the nation's disaster response by providing a dedicated, trained and reliable workforce—to support disaster survivors and impacted communities during their greatest time of need. At the same time, we hope to inspire a generation of young people to take up careers in emergency management."

"By opening up new pathways in emergency management, this partnership will give thousands of young people the opportunity to serve their country and gain the skills and training they need to fill the jobs of today and tomorrow," said Acting CEO of the Corporation for National and

Community Service Robert Velasco. "This is a historic new chapter in the history of national service that will enhance our nation's disaster capabilities and promote an ethic of national service while achieving significant cost savings for the taxpayer."

The NCCC members will strengthen the Nation's disaster response capacity and increase diversity of the disaster workforce, while providing educational and economic opportunities for young people as they consider their future careers. FEMA Corps members will serve for a 10 month term with an option to extend for a second year. The program will prepare thousands of young people for careers in emergency management and related fields. During their service, they will gain significant training and experience in disaster services and will provide important support to disaster survivors.

"President Obama has made it clear that government alone can't solve all our problems," said Director of the White House Domestic Policy Council Cecilia Muñoz. "But government has a vital role to play, and the program we're announcing today is a perfect example of a government that's leaner, more efficient, and making a difference in people's lives."

"This new partnership between FEMA and the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) will be crucial in supporting cities, counties and states in their time of need," said Tuscaloosa Mayor Walter Maddox. "I commend FEMA and CNCS for understanding that to effectively respond during a crisis, we have to extend beyond political, geographical and even bureaucratic boundaries to ensure all resources are made available to the citizens we serve."

While strengthening the nation's disaster response capacity with a trained and reliable resource, this initiative will achieve significant cost savings for taxpayers. When the program is at full operational capability, and in an average disaster year, the initiative is expected to see a savings of approximately $60 million in a year. Moreover, as a partnership between CNCS and FEMA, the program represents a smart modernization of government operations. Rather than creating duplicative structures, this collaboration will advance the President's management goals of working across government, managing across sectors, and promoting efficiency.

To learn more about FEMA Corps or to apply (individuals aged 18-24), please see the AmeriCorps website at <http://www.nationalservice.gov> or FEMA's website at <http://www.fema.gov/>.

House passes Stumbo's bill to limit prescription drug abuse

FRANKFORT — House Speaker Greg Stumbo's legislation to make it easier to identify and stop prescription drug abuse easily passed the Kentucky House of Representatives last week, moving a top priority of his, Governor Beshear's, Attorney General Jack Conway's and many others a step closer to becoming law.

"Prescription drug abuse has long been a major problem for Kentucky, but it has gotten significantly worse in recent years," said Speaker Stumbo, D-Prestonsburg. "What is especially troubling is that most of these drugs are being prescribed right here in the Commonwealth. The one area where we should have the most control is the one area where the ball has been dropped. Today, the House made a statement that this is going to change."

"House Bill 4 offers a broad range of essential improvements that will allow us to attack the prescription drug epidemic more effectively," Governor Beshear said. "From enhancements to KASPER to increased scrutiny of pill mills, House Bill 4 will give Kentucky a more muscular response to this scourge."

"I applaud Kentucky House members for recognizing the importance of enacting sweeping prescription drug legislation during this legislative session," said Attorney General Jack Conway, whose office would play a much more prominent role if House Bill 4 is enacted. "I am proud to have worked with Speaker Stumbo and Gov. Beshear on this bill to give law enforcement increased access to KASPER data and to keep entrepreneurs out of the pill mill business."

State Rep. John Tilley, who chairs the House Judiciary Committee and is playing a major role in curbing drug abuse this legislative session, said "House Bill 4 would be a sizeable leap forward in getting prescription drugs out of the hands of those abusing them. It will help us put a stop to one of the key drivers behind the past decade's prison population growth."

The hallmark of House Bill 4 is moving the state's nationally recognized KASPER program — which stands for Kentucky All Schedule Prescription Electronic Reporting — from the Cabinet for Health and Family Services to the Attorney General's Office, the Kentucky State Police and the state's medical licensure boards would be called upon to work closely together, sharing information related to suspected prescription abuse.

Commonwealth's Attorneys and County Attorneys would be added to the list of law enforcement officials that could also access KASPER. Medicaid will monitor both prescribers and those enrolled in Medicaid who are watching for prescription abuse.

Under the bill, all physicians and pharmacists would be required to register with KASPER. According to the Cabinet for Health and Family Services, less than a third of prescribers and less than a fourth of pharmacists had accounts as of 2010. Once registered, prescribers will be required to run KASPER reports on all new patients and periodic checks on those they already see.

To help stop the proliferation of pain clinics, Speaker Stumbo's legislation would require these businesses to be owned by a licensed physician or an Advanced Practice Registered Nurse. Prescribers charged with abusing their prescription privileges would be barred from prescribing medicine, and those found guilty — either here or in another state — would see their prescription privileges stripped. Speaker Stumbo's legislation also limits Schedule II and III drugs to 30 day supplies, though prescriptions for these drugs — including such things as OxyContin — could still, in some cases, be written for 90 days.

"Prescription drug abuse has destroyed so many of our families, so the need to stop this as quickly as possible is an absolute necessity," Speaker Stumbo said. "I stand ready to work with the Senate, Governor Beshear and Attorney General Conway to continue to develop a comprehensive plan that will enable us to achieve this goal."

House Bill 4 now heads to the Senate for its consideration.

DFI warns of after-storm scams

FRANKFORT — This National Consumer Protection Week, it is important to beware of scams and frauds, especially in the wake of recent storm damage across the state.

Often after disasters, scams linked to charities, contractors and others seek to cash in on insurance settlements and potential financial relief from the government. The Department of Financial Institutions (DFI) reminds consumers to double check special storm damage "deals" and offers that sound too good to be true.

"Con artists pay attention to the headlines and don't hesitate to take advantage of a terrible situation in order to scam victims in need of food, clothing and shelter," said DFI Commissioner Charles Vice. "The best way to recognize and avoid fraud,"

Common scams after a storm include the following:

Charity scams — Many people are ready to give after a storm, and scammers are ready to cash in on sympathy for victims. Only donate to charities you know and trust. Ask what percentage of the donation goes to the charity. Check out a charity with the Better Business Bureau at www.give.org.

Home improvement fraud — Self-proclaimed contractors may go door-to-door offering to help victims repair their homes or clean up debris. Or they may claim to have supplies left over from doing another job and offer to work at a discount to you. Be suspicious if the price seems too good to be true or if the workers are not known in your area. Don't pay for services until the work is complete, and always verify licensing of HVAC, electrical and plumbing contractors with the Department of Building and Construction at <https://ky.joportal.com/License/Search>. You can also check out your contractor with the Better Business Bureau at www.bbb.org.

Insurance fraud — Don't let anyone pressure you into filing premature insurance claim. Lying to an insurance company in an attempt to get money is fraud and illegal.

Spam, phishing and attempts — Emails that appear to come from your bank, creditor or a charity may actually be an attempt to steal your identity or account information. Remember that financial institutions will never contact you requesting this information.

"If you suspect fraud, report it to local law enforcement, the Better Business Bureau or a state regulatory agency," said Vice. "Reporting fraud is the best way to keep others from falling victim."

The following are a few additional tips for protecting yourself from scams:

- Don't give out personal or financial information unless it's absolutely necessary. Ask for identification before doing so.

- Don't pay in cash. Using a check or money order will ensure your donation or payment goes to the correct organization and you have a record for tax purposes.

- Don't pay for service work until the service is complete and you're satisfied with the results.

- Get more than one estimate for repairs or service.
- Read and understand a contract before signing. All promises should be made in writing.

- Shop around, but be careful of "baiter" sales that may just be gimmicks.

- Be suspicious of great promises and fabulous offers.

The 14th annual National Consumer Protection Week is March 4-10, 2012 and is sponsored by the Federal Trade Commission and other government agencies and nonprofit organizations. The website www.nepw.gov offers a variety of free resources to help consumers protect their privacy; manage money and debt; avoid identity theft; understand mortgages and other loans; and recognize fraudulent scams that target consumers.

Report suspected disaster fraud to the National Center for Disaster Fraud (NCFD), toll-free at 866-720-5721.

Also, you can find more information on avoiding scams on DFI's website at <http://kfi.ky.gov/public/Pages/scam.aspx>.

DFI, which traces its origin to the Banking Act of 1912, is an agency in the Public Protection Cabinet. For 100 years it has supervised the financial services industry by examining, chartering, licensing and registering various financial institutions, securities firms and professionals operating in Kentucky. DFI's mission is to serve Kentucky residents and protect their financial interests by maintaining a stable financial industry, continuing effective and efficient regulatory oversight, promoting consumer confidence, and encouraging economic opportunities.

Information on the disaster recovery, relief efforts, safety tips and important information is available at www.kyem.ky.gov.

The Commonwealth Joint Information Center is available for media inquiries from 7:30 a.m. ET to 11:00 p.m. ET, until further notice.

Kentucky Cares telethon raises over $400K

Last Friday, the Kentucky Cares Telethon, in partnership with the American Red Cross, WKYT TV, Clear Channel Radio, the Lexington-Herald Leader, and UK IMG Sports Marketing, raised $404,682.

Money raised as part of the Kentucky Cares campaign will support Red Cross relief efforts in Eastern Kentucky.

Financial support is critical as we begin transition our operation from immediate emergency relief to more long-term recovery," said Terry Burkhart, CEO of the Bluegrass Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Over the next several days, Red Cross case workers will meet one-on-one with families to explain the recovery process, help with emergency medical needs and assist those who need help registering for other relief programs such as aid from the Federal Emergency Management Agency. The Red Cross will also be providing direct financial assistance to people with verified, disaster-caused needs.

"This is a tremendous outpouring of support and we are excited to be able to help those Kentuckians who have been so greatly affected by this disaster," Burkhart said.

Kentucky Horse Park opens 34th season with new attractions

LEXINGTON — The Kentucky Horse Park's 34th season is set to begin Thursday, March 15, when the park returns to its regular hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily through Nov. 4. Visitors will be entertained and delighted as the park features special events and themed weekends throughout the season.

Highlights of this season will include the park's newest attraction, the Kids Barn, which features interactive exhibits, while the park's education department staff will host daily hands-on activities with the park's resident horses in the Kids Barn each day.

Also new this season is a daily show called "Horses of the World," which is an updated and energized version of the traditional Parade of Breeds show. It's a perfect opportunity for park visitors to watch and learn about some of the horse breeds that may not be familiar and will include horses representing some of the park's many different breeds from as far away as India, Turkmenistan, Egypt, and Europe.

The park's latest blockbuster, "The Horse," will be in its final weeks of exhibition in the International Museum of the Horse. It can be viewed through April 6, at which time it will move to San Diego, CA.

Another museum exhibit, "Where were you in '62? Saddlebreds, the Museum and the Sixties" will be on view through the end of the year in the Showplace for Saddlebreds at the American Saddlebred Museum & Gift Shop at the park.

In addition, the Kentucky Horse Park will host literally dozens of horse shows, dog shows, special breeds weekends, and other events, most of which are included with park admission.

Educational classes and youth riding programs will be offered once again through the park's education department.

Daily equine presentations will also include the Hall of Champions, where visitors can meet Kentucky Derby winners Go for Gin and Funny Cide. The always-popular Mare and Foal Show will be offered Memorial Day through July 31.

Events are scheduled every weekend at the park, and a full listing of these events and their dates is available at www.KyHorsePark.com.

Admission is $16 for adults and $8 for children 7-12. Children six and under are always admitted free of charge when accompanied by a paying adult. Admission includes the International Museum of the Horse - a Smithsonian Affiliate and the American Saddlebred Museum & Gift Shop.

The Kentucky Horse Park is a working horse farm/theme park and equine competition facility dedicated to man's relationship with the horse. The park is an agency of the Kentucky Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet and hosted more than 825,000 visitors and campers, as well as 15,000 competition horses in more than 200 special events and horse shows in 2011. The park is home to the National Horse Center which comprises more than 30 national and regional equine organizations. Located at Exit 120, Interstate 75, just north of Lexington, the Kentucky Horse Park is the place to get close to horses. Open daily March 15 to Nov. 4, and Wednesday through Sunday, Nov. 5 to March 15.

UK satellite camp set for JCHS

Times Staff Report

LEXINGTON — The University of Kentucky Men's Basketball program is pleased to announce the dates and information for the 2012 John Calipari Satellite Camp Tour.

The 2012 summer tour includes nine stops throughout the Bluegrass in five days during the month of June. These camps offer the unique opportunity for Kentucky Basketball fans to learn from and interact with Coach John Calipari, the UK Coaching staff and available Wildcat players. It is the goal of the Men's Basketball program to bring the Commonwealth's team to different stops every summer, and allow campers to participate in drills and competitions within their own communities.

The cost for each camp is $75 per camper, and includes Camp T-shirt, three hours of instruction with Coach Calipari and the Kentucky Basketball staff, competitions, autograph sessions along with question and answer sessions with Coach Calipari.

The 2012 Satellite Camp tour dates and locations are:

Monday, June 11

Morning Session (9-Noon EST) at Corbin HS - Open to grades K-12.

Afternoon Session (1:30-4:30 EST) at Boyle County HS - Open to grades K-12.

Tuesday, June 12

Morning (9-Noon EST) at Ryle HS - Open to grades K-12.

Afternoon (1:30-4:30pm EST) at Campbell County MS - Open to grades K-12.

Wednesday, June 13

Morning (9-Noon EST) at Johnson Central HS - Open to grades K-6.

Afternoon (2-5pm EST) at Montgomery County HS - Open to grades K-12.

Thursday, June 21

Morning (9-Noon EST) and Afternoon (1:30-4:30 pm) both at Christian Academy of Louisville - Both Camps open to grades K-12.

Friday, June 22

Morning (9-Noon CST) at Bowling Green HS - Open to grades K-6.

Afternoon (3-6pm EST) at Nelson County HS - Open to grades K-12.

Due to gym capacities there will be a limited number of spots available for all camps. Online registration is recommended as the fastest and most efficient form of registering campers.

All Satellite Camps are open to both boys and girls of the appropriate age/grade level, which may vary between locations. Camper's grade level is based on the grade in which the camper is enrolled during the 2011-12 school year.

On-Site camp registration will begin one hour prior to the designated start time. All pre-registered campers will receive a confirmation email for their specific camp that includes details of necessary paper work needed (Physical, Insurance, and Consent). It is important to insure the safety and participation of all campers, that the basketball office receives all necessary paper work two weeks prior to the start of your specific camp date.

Walk up registration will be available at all camps unless noted on the UK Athletics website as closed. Once each individual camp has reached its maximum capacity, then that particular camp will be closed to all forms of registration (Online and Walk ups).

Any camp related questions can be called into the Men's Basketball Camp line at 859-257-9457.

Anthony Davis named USBWA Freshman of the Year

Times Staff Report

ST. LOUIS — The U.S. Basketball Writers Association (USBWA) has selected Kentucky freshman Anthony Davis as the men's National Freshman of the Year in conjunction with the 2012 Wayman Tisdale Award.

The Chicago, Ill., native was selected as a first-team All-American selection by the USBWA on Monday. He averaged 14.3 points and 10.0 rebounds per game en route to leading the Wildcats to a No. 1 overall ranking in the NCAA Tournament and a perfect 16-0 record in Southeastern Conference action.

Davis is the second Kentucky player in three years to win the USBWA's National Freshman of the Year Award, joining John Wall, who won the award in 2010. Davis, the USBWA's District IV Player of the Year, is also a finalist for the Oscar Robertson Trophy given to the National Player of the Year by the USBWA.

He has started all 34 games this season while shooting 64.2 percent from the field, which ranks as the second best in the nation. Davis also leads the nation in blocks (157). In 28 of the Wildcats' 34 games, he has scored in double figures while recording 17 double-doubles. The 17 double-double efforts rank as the second-highest total in a single season by a UK freshman.

The other four finalists for the award this season were Davis' teammate Michael Kidd-Gilchrist, Duke's Austin Rivers, Washington's Tony Zeller, and Indiana's

The USBWA has chosen a national freshman of the year since the 1988-89 season when LSU's Chris Jackson was the recipient. Other previous winners of the award include Kevin Durant, Carmelo Anthony, Jason Kidd and Chris Webber. This season marks the second year the award has been named in Wayman Tisdale's honor.

The late Wayman Tisdale was a three-time USBWA All-American at the University of Oklahoma. Following a stint on the 1984 U.S. Olympic basketball team, he played 12 seasons in the NBA before retiring in 1997 to focus on a blossoming jazz music career. In March 2007, he was diagnosed with cancer and, following a courageous and difficult battle that included the amputation of his right leg in 2008, he passed away in May 2009.

Student's perseverance earns new career

PIKEVILLE — Sylvia Damron, a graduate from the medical billing and coding program at the Pikeville Campus, has a job she enjoys and lots of opportunity for career advancement as a physician's office assistant at the Pikeville Medical Center. "I've got a career that I can grow with and that's what everyone looks for," said Sylvia.

Sylvia enrolled at National College after working as an assistant supervisor in a newspaper's mailroom for nine years. "I was stuck," she said, "I wanted something more. It was time."

Although it was difficult working long hours and staying up late into the night completing homework while taking classes, Sylvia persevered and even earned an award for perfect attendance. "I was so motivated and so determined to do better that I didn't let it bother me. I just kept going," Sylvia said.

Sylvia worked closely with the career center at the campus during her job search. Career Center

Sylvia Damron gained a new career after studying at National College.

Director Kelly Raupach assisted her with her resume and held mock interviews with her. "That was very, very helpful," said Sylvia. "Not many colleges have that at all."

Sylvia is proud to have earned her diploma at National College and to work for Pikeville Medical Center "When you put your mind to it, nothing can stop you," she said.

Elementary students take part in academic competition

Jack Latta
Staff Writer

Floyd County students continued to make improvements this year in the recent Jenny Wiley Academic Conference Elementary School Division. Recent scores on various tests have shown improvement in various subjects. Floyd County Schools Supt. Henry Webb congratulated students on their work.

"As you are aware, we have raised the bar with our academic teams this year and are seeing our students and teams make more and more progress," said Webb. "Congratulations to May Valley Elementary for placing first and thanks to all our teams for a great season."

Grimm pitches Colonels past Wofford

Times Staff Report

SPARTANBURG, S.C. — Junior left-hander Shane Grimm turned in a quality outing on the mound while seniors Richie Rodriguez and A.J. Jamison, junior Austin Grisham and sophomore Sean Hagen all collected three hits apiece as the Eastern Kentucky University baseball team cruised past host Wofford, 10-2, on Sunday afternoon in the decisive game three of this weekend's series at King Field.

With the series win, EKU improves to 6-9 on the season. The loss drops Wofford to 8-8.

Grimm (1-3), a Paintsville High School graduate, earned his first win as a Colonel on Sunday, throwing seven innings and surrendering just one hit while striking out three batters. Senior right-hander Matt Fyffe (Johnson Central HS), and junior right-hander Anthony Bazzani held the Terriers scoreless over the final two innings of the game.

Left-hander Pete Noordsy (1-1) picked up the loss for Wofford, although he did not get much help from his defense as only one of the four runs Noordsy allowed was earned, as the Terriers committed four errors on the afternoon. Wofford committed 13 errors in the three-game series.

The Colonels collected 13 hits, stole three bases and drew a season-high eight walks as their offense was clicking on all cylinders. Rodriguez finished the game 3-for-3 with a pair of doubles, three RBI and a run scored while Jamison was 3-for-6 with two RBI and three runs scored. Grisham was 3-for-5 with a pair of RBI and Hagen, who batted a team-best .429 over EKU's five-game spring break trip, was 3-for-5 with three runs scored.

Stephen Cantrell paced the Wofford offense, going 2-for-3 with a run scored.

Rodriguez got the EKU offense going in the top of the third inning with a two-run double down the left field line that plated Jamison and freshman Demetrius Moorer, who was making his first start in center field since Opening Day. Hagen also scored on an error in that inning to make the score 3-0.

Wofford got a run back in the home half of the third, but EKU added another in the top of the fourth and two more in the top of the seventh as Jamison singled home a run and then scored himself, on a wild pitch.

The Colonels then put the game away with four runs in the top of the ninth.

EKU has this week off before hosting Bowling Green State in a three-game series at Turkey Hughes Field over the weekend.

Freedom Ford raising money for Magoffin school repairs

IVEL — Freedom Ford and Magoffin County High School are partnering to help raise up to $6,000 in support of the school, as part of Ford Motor Company's Drive One 4 UR School program.

Local residents will have the opportunity to raise money for storm repairs at the school by test-driving a Ford vehicle on Saturday, March 17. For every vehicle that test-drives a new Ford vehicle at this one-day event, Ford Motor Company and Freedom Ford will donate $20, up to a maximum of $6,000.

In addition, the dealership is taking donations of toiletry items, clothes, shoes and food and other items for the local community.

Freedom Ford & Honda will also be donating $500 for every vehicle purchased between now and the end of the event on March 17, to Salyersville Grade School, up to $10,000.

The event will take place at Freedom Ford's dealership on U.S. 23, at Ivel, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

McConnell pays tribute to storm victims

WASHINGTON, D.C. — U.S. Senate Republican Leader Mitch McConnell released the following statement Monday regarding Kentucky's continued recovery from the tornadoes that hit the state on Friday, March 2, 2012:

"The tornadoes that hit Kentucky were very severe, with at least 11 funnel clouds confirmed to have touched down in the Bluegrass State by the National Weather Service, blowing at wind speeds up to 125 miles per hour.

"We now know that these deadly storms claimed 23 lives in Kentucky, and more than 300 were injured. We've heard stories like that of Stephanie Decker, currently in stable condition at the University Hospital of Louisville, who raced home during the storm just in time to hurry her 8-year-old son and 5-year-old daughter into the basement of their three-story, brick-and-stone house.

"She covered their tiny bodies with her own as the tornado crashed the house down on top of them. Stephanie has lost one leg above the knee and the other above the ankle, but her children survived without a scratch.

"The weekend immediately after the storm I visited the part of Kentucky that was arguably hardest hit by them, the town of West Liberty. The town is home to just 3,400 people—and all 4,400 lives have been thrown into chaos, as virtually the entire population had to be evacuated.

"Churches, homes, schools, and businesses are reduced to rubble. The town courthouse and city hall are both in ruins. Basically, Mr. President, I visited a once-thriving happy little community is now, barely there.

"Scenes from West Liberty are repeated across the State in places like Magoffin, Menifee, Kenton, Morgan, Laurel, Lawrence, Martin, Pulaski, Johnson, and Trimble counties, which are among the hardest hit.

"And too many Kentucky families are mourning what was taken from them by the storms that can never be replaced.

"In Lawrence County, Joyce Chaffins, 65, and her granddaughters, 14-year-old Samantha Wood, died when a tornado struck their home. Samantha was a ninth-grader at Lawrence County High School, where she played in the band and was a member of the National Junior Honor Society.

"The storm has also claimed the lives of James Gregory Brooks, 48, Donald L. Beemon, 78, and Linda Beemon, 73, of Kenton County.

"In Johnson County, in Middle Fork, a tornado ripped the home of Gregory Perry, 20, right off its foundation and carried it over a 25-foot embankment into rushing creek rapids, where, according to the county coroner, the house "just disintegrated."

"Gregory was killed, along with Sean Shepherd, a 16-year-old boy from Prestonsburg who had the misfortune of visiting Gregory at our county jail.

"More lives taken by this destructive force of nature include Sherman DeWayne Allen, 49, Debbie Allen, 49; Wilbur Pitman, 81; Virginia Pitman, 73, and Ethel Pruitt, 64, all of Laurel County.

"In Morgan County, husband and wife Charles and Betty Sue Endicott, both in their early 50s, were caring for Charles's mother, Elizabeth Endicott, 72, after her recovery from a stroke. A tornado struck their trailer home, killing all three of them. Charles's sister, Marita Moore, surveyed the scene of destruction and said this: "There's not even a memory left down there."

"More Kentucky families who don't deserve such a painful loss include the families of Beverly Bowman, 47, Anita Smith, 53, and Vershal Brown, 79, all of Menifee County; and Alex

Clayton Dulin, 86, Emma Dean Cecil, 87, and Wilmer Cecil, 90, all of Morgan County.

"In Pulaski County, 74-year-old Helen Placke was found dead in her home. She had sought shelter from the storms inside a closet—but to no avail.

"In Kenton County, in the town of Falmouth, Courtney Stephenson died when her car was suddenly lifted and catapulted across six lanes of traffic on I-75. She was 42 years old.

"It's sobering and humbling to think about the many wondrous technologies and abilities we have in this great country—from the medical advances that can place tiny tools into the smallest human capillaries, to our santon cameras that enable us to send cameras to the outermost edges of the solar system and actually take pictures of other planets and send them back to Earth.

"And yet human life is still so fragile when confronted with the powerful forces of the natural world.

"I would be remiss, if I didn't conclude with a note of gratitude—and that is gratitude for the many brave and heroic first responders and other Kentuckians who have rushed to the aid of those hardest hit by these storms.

"Over the last week, my office has been contacted by people throughout the country asking how they can help. We've pointed them to the places in the Commonwealth where the people on the ground have coordinated incredible assistance to those in need.

Committed to Creating Healthier Communities

Saint Joseph and Flaget facilities' commitment to community outreach continues to be at the center of everything we do. We provided more than $48 million in charity care from July 1, 2010, through June 30, 2011. Combined with our various programs and services, we provided more than $81 million in outreach care for which limited or no reimbursement was received.

This represents who we are as a faith-based organization dedicated to creating healthier communities and advocating on behalf of those who are disadvantaged and underserved.

As a Catholic organization, we believe that everyone, regardless of their ability to pay, has the right to health care – it is a basic human right, not a privilege. This was our founding Sisters' mission more than a century ago and one that we are still called to live out today.

Thank you for your support as we continue our journey to transform health care across the state of Kentucky.

Community Outreach For People Who Are Poor

Christmas Basket Program – Saint Joseph Martin (SJM) assisted the efforts of employees who donated 1,374 items for 63 families through the Christmas Basket Program. The program is organized through Social Services in collaboration with Martin First Baptist Church.

Other community outreach programs for the poor include, social services programs and patient financial counselors.

Community Outreach For The Broader Community

School Programs – SJM's Community Health Outreach Department collaborates with all area schools and many community organizations to provide prevention programs. The following programs were presented to more than 4,000 students: Let's Talk About Drugs (primary), Tobacco Prevention (primary, middle and high schools); Nutrition (primary and middle schools); Heart Health/CPR Information (middle and high schools); CPR Heartsaver (middle and high schools); Student Self-Breast Exam (high schools).

SJM continues to be dedicated to Respect – an abstinence based program for 5th and 7th grade females, which began in 1994. Real Care dolls are an integral part of the program. The program was conducted in six of the seven middle schools in Floyd County serving more than 100 students. A parent said the following about the program: "I think it should be that they have to do this, not optional. It was a great training experience for (my daughter). Thank you for having this program."

Other community outreach programs for the broader community include: the Dental/Oral Health Care Initiative, Floyd County Communities Against Drug Addiction (CADA), Relay for Life, Senior Health Fest, and community donations.

Collaborative Efforts To Improve Community Health

Floyd County Diabetes Coalition – SJM is a member of the Floyd County Diabetes Coalition, a branch of the Tri-County Coalition (Floyd, Johnson and Magoffin) that was created approximately three years ago by the Friedell Committee. The goal is to investigate and address the needs of people with diabetes in the three previously mentioned counties. According to The Courier Journal (2005), in the eastern Kentucky area, adult diabetes rises as much as 74 percent above the national average.

Other collaborative efforts to improve community health include: Healthy Floyd County, Floyd/Pike Agency for Substance Abuse Policy (ASAP), health professions education, and community building activities.

"We are honored to continue the legacy of care established by our Foundresses in 1917. Our mission is to build a healthier community and this guides us in the programs we provide and strengthens our partnerships with other organizations. It is our goal to serve all people with compassion and respect."

EASTERN - A member of the 2011 15th Region champion has signed a scholarship agreement with the University of Pikeville.

Amanda Hodge of Allen Central High School has signed to continue her education and play volleyball at UPIKE beginning this fall.

Hodge helped the Lady Rebels to a 30-11 record en route to an Elite Eight berth in last year's state tournament, which was the second tournament in her four-year career at Allen Central. In addition, Hodge helped her team to three 15th Region All "A" Classic championships where, in 2011, they reached the semifinals of the event with four wins in the state tournament.

A two-time all-conference and all-district selection, Hodge helped her team to four straight district titles. She was named blocker of the year in 2009 and blocker and hitter of the year in 2008.

She is a member of the Beta Club, History Club, STLP, RADD, Senior Leadership Program, Work Program and Unite at Allen Central.

When she enrolls at Pikeville, Hodge will join her sister Brittany, who will be a senior next season.

Bears split doubleheader with Taylor

Times Staff Report

PIKEVILLE - The University of Pikeville softball team improved to 5-3 overall with a split of a doubleheader with Taylor University on Friday night.
 The Bears dropped the first game 12-7 before winning the nightcap, 9-6.
 The split dropped Taylor to 8-2 overall.
 Pikeville will open league play on Saturday when it visits the University of Rio Grande for a twinbill.
 Taylor 12, UPIKE 7: The Bears overcame a four-run first to take a three-run lead but gave Taylor a six-run sixth and two more in the seventh for the win.
 Junior Hannah Vinson had two hits, drove in three and scored a run for the Bears. Kayla Morgan had three hits and a walk in four plate appearances, and freshman Shamy Williams had a pair of singles, runs and RBIs from the leadoff spot.
 Sophomore Kayla Cantrell singled, scored and had a pair of sacrifice bunts in the loss.
 UPIKE 9, Taylor 6: Taylor posted another four-run first but saw Pikeville rally for five in the bottom of the frame and take a lead it would never relinquish.
 The Bears won the game with only six hits thanks to working three Trojan pitchers for nine walks. Vinson had another two-hit, three-RBI game with a double and a walk. The other four hits were singles by Cantrell, sophomore Emily Castle and senior Chanae Bledsoe. Both Cantrell and Williams scored two runs in the win.
 Junior Emily Pointer pitched into the seventh to even her record at 1-1 on the season. She struck out four and allowed all six runs, only three of which were earned. Sophomore Caitlin Conkey earned her first save of the season.

Fondelius named MSC Men's Tennis Player of the Week

Times Staff Report

PIKEVILLE - University of Pikeville's Marcos Fondelius is the Mid-South Conference Men's Tennis Player of the Week, conference officials announced on Monday.
 The weekly award is Fondelius' first of the season and the first of his career.
 Fondelius finished the week with a 2-1 singles record and a 3-0 doubles record as the Bears participated in the Auburn University Montgomery (Ala.) Invitational over the weekend.
 The Magaluf, Spain, freshman teamed with Sven Rodenbusch to win 9-8 (5) over No. 9 Xavier (La.) University's No. 2 doubles team of Viktor Svoboda and Corey Huggins. Fondelius dropped his only match of the week at No. 5 singles with a 1-6, 6-1, 7-5 setback to Xavier's Amir Rahbar.
 Against No. 10 Shorter (Ga.) University, Fondelius and Rodenbusch swept Cody Carr and Colt Kelley 8-0 in doubles action. Fondelius dominated his singles match as well with a 6-0, 6-3 win over Grayson Jones.

Fondelius closed out his weekend with two more wins in Pikeville's win over No. 21 Tennessee Wesleyan College.
 He started with partner Rodenbusch to beat David Escobosa and Rodney Pineros 8-5 and completed the match with a 6-4, 6-0 win over Pineros at No. 5 singles.
 The Bears finished the weekend with a 1-2 team record. They lost to Xavier 7-2 and Shorter 5-4 and beat Tennessee Wesleyan 6-3.
 Pikeville is 2-4 overall this season and 1-1 in the MSC.
 The next men's tennis player of the week award is scheduled to be announced on Monday, March 19.

Eagles travel south for spring break

Times Staff Report

ALC pitcher Corey Brewer suffered a loss against Clearwater Christian College.

PIPPA PASSES - The Alice Lloyd College baseball team traveled to Florida during Spring Break to face Clearwater Christian College in three contests. More on each game follows.
 CCC 19, ALC 6: The Eagles opened up play against a hard-hitting Clearwater club on Friday and fell in a slugfest. The contest was tied after four innings and remained tight until CCC exploded for eight runs in the bottom half of the eighth inning. Clearwater pounded out 19 hits while the Eagles rapped 15 of their own.
 Defensively, ALC committed four errors. The host team played error-free in the field.
 Six different ALC players turned in a multi-hit game. Jeff Cyrus paced ALC with three hits. Kevin Smith, Shane Pack, Brandon Arnold, Devon Pelfrey and Trey King each added two hits for the Eagles. Both Cyrus and Smith smacked long homers.
 Pitcher Cory Brewer allowed eight hits and gave up five earned runs and suffered the loss.
 March 10 - CCC 3, ALC 1: Alice Lloyd's bats cooled off considerably after a night in the Florida air. Cody Hyden had the lone hit for the visiting team as CCC prevailed 3-1 over the Eagles on Saturday in the opening game of a doubleheader. Pitcher Neil Dillon tossed a solid game, holding CCC at bay until the bottom half of the sixth inning. The host team scored all of its runs in a last at-bat. Homestander Clearwater Christian manufactured three runs on seven hits.

 CCC 8, ALC 5: ALC battled hard before once again falling in the closing innings. CCC claimed the victory, winning 8-5.
 The Eagles were outthit 11-8 and committed five costly errors.
 Will Leonard led ALC with two hits. Shane Pack delivered two RBIs for the Eagles.
 ALC pitcher Trevor Corns allowed five earned runs, picking up the loss on the mound.

Hall, Host headed into College Basketball Hall of Fame

Times Staff Report

KANSAS CITY - Former University of Kentucky men's basketball coach Joe B. Hall, along with UK graduate and lifetime contributor Jim Host have been selected as members of the National Collegiate Basketball Hall of Fame induction class of 2012.
 As a Kentucky assistant coach in 1972, Hall had the unenviable task of succeeding Adolph Rupp. Unfazed by the task, Hall guided the Wildcats for 13 seasons, winning 75 percent of 397 games. Within three years, he reached the NCAA championship game and, in 1978, he earned National Coach of the Year honors while coaching Kentucky to its fifth national title with a 30-2 record. His Wildcat teams won eight SEC championships and earned a Final Four berth for the third time in 1984. He was named SEC Coach of the Year four times.
 Host a former letter winner for the Kentucky baseball team is the founder and principal of Host Communications. He played baseball for the Wildcats from 1957-59. Host realized the potential growth of men's basketball and partnered the NCAA with major corporations like Gillette, Valvoline and Pizza Hut. Host, who also had a background in broadcasting, went on to create a model for multimedia rights, bundling everything from coaches' radio and TV shows, promotional appearances, endorsements and publishing into a single package for some of the nation's top programs. He has been recognized as one of college athletics' most influential people.

 The Class of 2012 will be inducted into the National Collegiate Basketball Hall of Fame Sunday, November 18, 2012, at the Midland Theatre in Kansas City as part of a three-day celebration of college basketball. The hall of fame is located in the College Basketball Experience, a world-class entertainment facility that provides a multi-faceted interactive experience for fans of the game. On November 19-20, Kansas, Saint Louis, Texas A&M and Washington State will compete at Sprint Center in the CBE Classic.

 Hall and Host will be joined by Patrick Ewing, Joe Dean, Phil Ford, Clyde Lovellette, Earl Monroe, Willis Reed, Dave Robbins and Kenny Sailors as additional members of the 10-person 2012 class.
 Each year, a Blue Ribbon committee, composed of long-time coaches, administrators, former players, broadcasters and basketball writers selects a class of inductees including players, coaches and contributors. The Founding Class of the National Collegiate Basketball Hall of Fame includes all individuals who have been previously inducted for men's college basketball into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame.

Kentucky to make 52nd appearance in NCAA Tournament

Times Staff Report

LEXINGTON — The University of Kentucky has received the NCAA Tournament's No. 1 overall seed and will serve as the top seed in the South Region. UK will play the winner of the first-round game of Mississippi Valley State (21-12) and Western Kentucky (15-18) on Thursday, March 15 in Louisville, with a 6:50 p.m. ET tip. The game will air live on TBS with Verne Lundquist and Bill Raftery on the call.

The No. 1 seed is the 11th in school history for the Wildcats, who will play their second and third round games in Louisville.

This is just the third time in school history UK will play in the Derby City during the NCAA Tournament, in its last appearance in Louisville, Kentucky defeated Morehead State before losing to Ohio State during the 1961 tournament.

Kentucky has played in its home state on seven previous occasions. UK was last in the Bluegrass State during the 1984 tournament when the Wildcats appeared on their home floor, defeating Louisville and Illinois.

Western Kentucky won the Sun Belt Conference Tournament Championship this year, claiming an automatic bid into the NCAA Championship. UK is 3-2 all-time versus Western Kentucky with the last meeting coming in 2001 when WKU defeated the Wildcats 64-52.

Kentucky and the Hilltoppers have met twice before in the NCAA Tournament with the squads splitting the two meetings. WKU captured a win over the Wildcats during the 1971 tournament, with UK prevailing 71-64 in 1986.

The Mississippi Valley State Delta Devils, coached by former UK letter winner Sean Woods, won the 2012 SWAC Tournament Championship, claiming an automatic bid into the 2012 NCAA Championship. The Wildcats are 3-0 all-time vs. the Delta Devils including an 85-60 win a season ago. A matchup with the Delta Devils during the post-season would be a program first.

If UK prevails over Mississippi Valley State or Western Kentucky, it will face the winner of eighth-seeded Iowa State (22-10) and ninth-seeded UConn (20-13) on Saturday, March 17.

Kentucky is 1-0 during the NCAA Tournament against the Cyclones with the lone victory coming during the 1992 season. UK owns an all-time mark of 2-0 against Iowa State. In addition to the 1992

Tournament game, Kentucky earned a home victory in 1965.

UK has faced the Huskies twice before, dropping both matchups including last season's 65-55 loss in the Final Four. Connecticut owns an all-time record of 4-1 against Kentucky. UK's lone victory came during the 2009 season.

Also joining Kentucky in Louisville will be four teams from the West Region including Murray State, Colorado State, Marquette and the winner of the BYU/Iona play-in.

Should the Wildcats advance past the second and third rounds, they will play in Atlanta, in the South Regional Semifinals on March 22-23. If UK continues to win, it will play in the South Regional Finals on March 24-25 with a victory moving the Wildcats to the National Semifinals on March 31. The National Championship game is scheduled for April 2 in New Orleans.

Tickets for the first and second round games in Louisville are sold out with the exception of All-Session packages. However, tickets for Regional Semifinal and Regional Final in Atlanta are available online at ticketmaster.com or available through the host site.

MSU men's basketball team assists area tornado victims

Times Staff Report

MOREHEAD — The Morehead State University men's basketball team handed out 394 assists this past winter, but its most notable assist was the work it did to help Kentucky's tornado victims last week. The Eagles travelled to WKYT-TV in Lexington to take phone calls for the "Kentucky Cares" campaign, which supports efforts by the American Red Cross.

According to Kentucky.com, the "Kentucky Cares" campaign has already raised more than $400,000 for those in need throughout Eastern Kentucky. Morehead State has also put together its own plan, called "MSU Cares," and the university strongly encourages Eagle fans to assist in any way they can (financial contributions, volunteering time, etc.).

"The events of March 2 were certainly tragic, and we want to do anything we can to assist those people in need," Morehead State

Head Coach Donnie Tyndall said. "Over 1,500 MSU students have been impacted directly by this terrible event. It's our hope that we can help a life get a little bit better and help a community grow a little bit more."

United States President Barack Obama issued a major disaster declaration for Kentucky last week, triggering the release of federal funds to help people recover from the awful storms. The action made federal funding available to businesses and residents in Johnson, Kenton, Laurel, Lawrence, Menifee, Morgan and Pendleton counties.

"To have Coach (Donnie) Tyndall and the (MSU men's basketball) team give of their time, and come to Lexington to answer phones for the Kentucky Cares campaign, is truly remarkable," WKYT-TV News Anchor and MSU Alumnus Amber Philpott said. "It's been amazing to see what the university has been able to do in a short amount of time."

Medicare Part B deadline approaching

Michael W. Grochowski
Social Security Regional Commissioner in Atlanta

If you didn't sign up for Medicare Part B medical insurance when you first became eligible for Medicare, you now have an opportunity to apply — but time is running out. The deadline for applying during the general enrollment period is March 31. If you miss the deadline, you may have to wait until 2013 to apply.

Medicare Part B covers some medical expenses not covered by Medicare Part A (hospital insurance), such as doctors' fees, outpatient hospital visits and other medical supplies and services.

When you first become eligible for hospital insurance (Part A), you have a seven-month period in which to sign up for medical insurance (Part B). After that, you may have to pay a higher premium unless you were covered through an employer's group health plan or a group health plan based on a spouse's employment. You are given another opportunity to enroll in Part

B during the general enrollment period, from January 1 to March 31 of each year. But each 12-month period that you are eligible for Medicare Part B and do not sign up, the amount of your monthly premium increases by 10 percent.

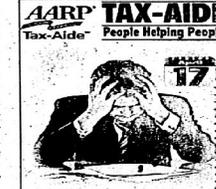

There are special situations in which you can apply for Medicare Part B outside the general enrollment period. For example, you should contact Social Security about applying for Medicare if:

- you are a disabled widow or widower between age 50 and age 65, but have not applied for disability benefits because you are already getting another kind of Social Security benefit;
- you worked long enough in a government job where Medicare taxes were paid and you meet the requirements of the Social Security disability program and became disabled before age 65;

- you, your spouse, or your dependent child has permanent kidney failure;
- you had Medicare medical insurance (Part B) in the past but dropped the coverage; or you turned down Medicare medical insurance (Part B) when you became entitled to hospital insurance (Part A).

You can learn more about Medicare by reading our electronic booklet, Medicare at www.socialsecurity.gov/pubs/10043.html. Or visit the Medicare website at www.medicare.gov. You may also call Medicare at 1-800-MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227; TTY 1-877-486-2048).

TOPS helps members build nutritious meals

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Spring is on its way, and many people are focusing on weight loss. March is National Nutrition Month, an opportunity for individuals to focus on nutrition, receive information, and make wise food choices. TOPS Club, Inc. (Take Off Pounds Sensibly), the nonprofit weight-loss support organization, offers tips to assemble healthy meals and think about nutrition year-round.

This year's National Nutrition Month theme is "Get Your Plate in Shape," a philosophy that TOPS has continually advocated. Successful weight loss stems from lasting lifestyle changes. MyPlate, a plan introduced by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), reminds consumers that it's important to fill half of their plate with fruits and vegetables. The remainder of the plate should include lean protein and grains. How should you fill your plate? Here are some tips for balanced meals from ChooseMyPlate.gov:

- Vegetables — Vegetables should have a large presence on the plate because they provide vitamins and minerals. There are many options to make sure you get in enough servings each day — fresh or frozen vegetables, vegetable soup, and canned vegetables labeled "low sodium" or "no salt added," such as tomatoes, garbanzo beans, or mushrooms. When dining out, consider swapping a side of French fries with vegetables or salad.
- Fruits — Fruits offer essential nutrients, including potassium, fiber, vitamin C, and folate. To incorporate more fruits into your diet, keep a bowl of fruit on the counter, purchase dried or frozen fruits, top your cereal with bananas, peaches, or strawberries, or toss some with a salad.
- Whole-grain — Choose whole grains rather than refined grains. Barley, quinoa, plaf, brown rice, whole-wheat pasta, and bulgur are great options. When choosing products, select options that include whole-grain listed first on the ingredient list. Don't let foods labeled "multi-grain" or "100% wheat" fool you. Many of these products don't contain any whole-grain.

- Fat-free or low-fat dairy — Pair your nutritious meals with skim or one percent milk. These options offer calcium, vitamin D, potassium, and more. Include more low-fat dairy by substituting ingredients — plain yogurt instead of sour cream, fat-free milk instead of cream, and ricotta cheese instead of cream cheese. Also, be careful with sweet dairy options, such as flavored milks, frozen yogurt, and pudding, because these items contain added sugar.
- Protein — Variety is the key to incorporating protein into your diet. Choose proteins — such as lean beef and pork, chicken, turkey, nuts, eggs, beans, peas, and soy products. Prepare a seafood meal twice a week. Limit your intake of sodium and processed foods, including hot dogs, ham, and sausage.

- Shop smart — Be seasonal. Produce can be expensive, so buy items that are in season or on sale to help save money and get the best flavor.
- Stick to the list. Plan your meals in advance and make a list of groceries. Stick to the list and don't shop on an empty stomach, so you aren't tempted to purchase extra items.
- Buy larger amounts of staple items. Divide the food into smaller portions and freeze the ingredients. They aren't being used right away.
- Plant your own. Start an outdoor or kitchen garden to save money. Grow herbs, cucumbers, tomatoes, and peppers.
- Save time, cook wisely — Prepare meals ahead of time. Prep dinner includes retail and wholesale trade, transportation and warehousing businesses, and utilities. It is the largest sector in Kentucky with 369,100 positions. Since January 2011, the number of jobs in this sector has jumped by 5,900.

"This sector has had 18 months of continuous year-over-year growth and is just about 4 percent short of returning to its pre-recession peak of 386,900 in October 2011," said Shanker.

Employment in the other services sector, which includes such establishments as repair and maintenance businesses; and food services, religious organizations; and civic and professional organizations, increased by 500 positions in January 2012. This sector had 100 more positions than in January 2011.

The state's leisure and hospitality sector gained 400 jobs in January 2012 compared to a month ago. Since January 2011, the sector has grown by 3,900 positions. The leisure and hospitality sector includes arts, entertainment and recreation, accommodations and food services, and drinking places industries.

The information sector had 200 more jobs in January 2012. This segment, which includes firms involved in publishing, Internet activities, data processing, broadcasting and news syndication, has lost 400 positions since January 2011.

Employment in the mining and logging sector remained steady from December 2011 to January 2012. The number of jobs in the sector dropped by 400 from January 2011.

The government sector, which includes public education, public administration agencies and state-owned hospitals, recorded a decline of 100 jobs in January 2012.

years ago, TOPS is the only nonprofit, noncommercial weight-loss organization of its kind. TOPS promotes successful weight management with a "Real People, Real Weight Loss," philosophy that combines support from others at weekly chapter meetings, healthy eating, regular exercise, and wellness information. Kentucky's jobless rate drops below 9 percent in January FRANKFORT — Kentucky's seasonally adjusted preliminary unemployment rate fell below 9 percent for the first time in three years as it dropped to 8.8 percent in January 2012 from a revised 9 percent in December 2011, according to the Office of Employment and Training (OET), an agency of the Kentucky Education and Workforce Development Cabinet.

The preliminary January 2012 jobless rate was 1.1 percentage points below the 9.9 percent rate recorded for the state in January 2011. The state's January 2012 rate is the lowest since the January 2009 rate of 8.9 percent.

The U.S. seasonally adjusted rate fell to 8.3 percent in January 2012 from 8.5 percent in December 2011, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

Labor force statistics, including the unemployment rate, are based on estimates and are compiled to measure trends rather than actually to count people working.

In January 2012, Kentucky's civilian labor force was 2,066,349, a decrease of 2,694 individuals compared to the previous month.

"For the first time since January 2009 Kentucky's unemployment rate is below the 9 percent mark after having peaked at 10.7 percent just two years ago in January 2010," said economist Manoj Shanker of the OET.

"Overall the employment indicators are moving in the right direction. An employment gain of nearly 1,300 from the previous month and a drop in unemployment of around 4,000 easily offset the net decline in the labor force."

Preliminary estimates show that since January 2011 the state has added about 19,600 jobs for an employment level of 1,884,484. The number of unemployed has fallen by more than 22,800 over the same period, said Shanker.

Seven of the 11 major nonfarm North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) job sectors reported an employment increase in January 2012, while three decreased and one stayed the same, according to OET.

According to the seasonally adjusted employment data provided by the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Current Employment Statistics (CES) program, Kentucky's professional and business services sector jumped by 3,700 positions in January 2012. This area includes professional, scientific and technical services; management of companies; and administrative support and waste management, including temporary help agencies. Since last January, jobs in the sector have grown by 13,100 or about 7 percent.

"The prolonged recession has made primary employers wary about the signs of recovery. Instead of expanding their core workforce these employers first contract with employment service companies. Employment for business and technical consultants, as well as temporary help agencies have surged because of this wait-and-see attitude," said Shanker.

Construction sector jobs rose by 1,800 in January 2012. Since January 2011, employment in the construction sector has increased by 1,300 jobs. "The unusually mild winter has caused traditional spring construction activities to move into December and January," said Shanker.

Kentucky's manufacturing sector gained 1,100 jobs in January 2012. Since January 2011, employment in the manufacturing sector has climbed by 5,800 positions.

Within manufacturing, employment in the durable goods industries was up by 7,300 jobs from a year ago. "The broad-based improvement in the national economy has resulted in an increase in consumer confidence and consumer spending. As a result, the demand for durable goods including automobiles has increased," Shanker said.

The trade, transportation and utilities sector rose by 900 jobs in January 2012. This area includes retail and wholesale trade, transportation and warehousing businesses, and utilities. It is the largest sector in Kentucky with 369,100 positions. Since January 2011, the number of jobs in this sector has jumped by 5,900.

"This sector has had 18 months of continuous year-over-year growth and is just about 4 percent short of returning to its pre-recession peak of 386,900 in October 2011," said Shanker.

Employment in the other services sector, which includes such establishments as repair and maintenance businesses; and food services, religious organizations; and civic and professional organizations, increased by 500 positions in January 2012. This sector had 100 more positions than in January 2011.

The state's leisure and hospitality sector gained 400 jobs in January 2012 compared to a month ago. Since January 2011, the sector has grown by 3,900 positions. The leisure and hospitality sector includes arts, entertainment and recreation, accommodations and food services, and drinking places industries.

The information sector had 200 more jobs in January 2012. This segment, which includes firms involved in publishing, Internet activities, data processing, broadcasting and news syndication, has lost 400 positions since January 2011.

Employment in the mining and logging sector remained steady from December 2011 to January 2012. The number of jobs in the sector dropped by 400 from January 2011.

The government sector, which includes public education, public administration agencies and state-owned hospitals, recorded a decline of 100 jobs in January 2012.

The sector had 4,300 fewer jobs than in January 2011.

The educational and health services sector fell by 400 jobs in January 2012. The sector has gained 4,700 jobs since January 2011. This sector includes private and nonprofit establishments that provide either education and training or health care and social assistance to their clients.

"For the second month in a row, the educational and health services sector has lost employment, which is unusual. At this point, it appears that the nursing and residential care facilities have reduced jobs," Shanker said.

The financial activities sector decreased by 500 jobs from a month ago. This segment, which includes businesses involved in finance, insurance, real estate and property leasing or rental, had 1,900 fewer positions than in January 2011.

Civilian labor force statistics include nonmilitary workers and unemployed Kentuckians who are actively seeking work. They do not include unemployed Kentuckians who have not looked for employment within the past four weeks.

Kentucky's statewide unemployment rate and employment levels are seasonally adjusted. Employment statistics undergo sharp fluctuations due to seasonal events, such as weather changes, harvests, holidays and school openings and closings. Seasonal adjustments eliminate these influences and make it easier to observe statistical trends. However, because of the small sample size, county unemployment rates are not seasonally adjusted.

Winter heating cost savings

STEPS TO HELP SAVE ON YOUR ELECTRIC BILL

It happens every winter. Customers open their electricity bills and see higher-than-expected amounts due. While increasing energy costs are, unfortunately, becoming a bigger part of daily living, there are some actions you can take to reduce and control your electricity costs. First, remember you only pay for what you use. Any step you take to reduce your electricity usage will save you money. The following are some energy and cost savings tips.

- Set your thermostat between 66-72 degrees
- Turn lights off when you leave a room; don't burn lamps and overhead lights unnecessarily
- If you are not watching TV, leave the set off
- Install energy efficient light bulbs such as compact fluorescent bulbs (CFLs)
- Properly insulate your home, windows and water heater
- Unplug cell phone chargers and other recharging/transformer devices when not in use

You can find more energy saving tips and information about energy saving programs offered by Kentucky Power at: kentuckypower.com/save/.

If you have questions about your electricity bill, contact Kentucky Power toll free, 24-hours a day, at (800) 572-1113.

Country Wildfire Band heats up Rural Roots Series

PAINTSVILLE — Appalachian Artists Inc. will present the sixth in a series of eight concerts in the Rural Roots Series, as the Country Wildfire Band, of Scottsville, is set to entertain at 7 p.m. Saturday.

With a vast repertoire of songs that span the ages, this exciting group burns up the stage with outstanding musicianship and heart-felt harmonies. Best known for their multi-instrumentation and strong vocals, these talented musicians have successfully melded the genres of Classic Country and Southern Rock into a unique sound of their own. They perform an exciting mix of both old and new country, with heavy emphasis on traditional tunes. You'll hear everything from Loretta Lynn, Merle Haggard, Patsy Cline and Johnny Cash, to the modern sounds of Sara Evans and Toby Keith.

The Country Wildfire Band includes Jimmy Mandrell, lead guitar and vocals; Melissa Mandrell, female vocalist; Gary Mandrell, keyboards; rhythm guitar and vocals; Craig Dillard, bass guitar; and James "Catfish" Reed, from Flat Gap, on drums.

Musical talent runs deep in a family group that's distantly related to the famous Mandrell Sisters. Their motto is Family, Love, Life & Music. "We can't go a day without it," said Melissa. "We're just good, ol'-fashioned country Azoreans with Southern ways."

Participating sponsors in the Rural Roots Series include U.S. 23 Country Music Highway Museum; Appalachian Wireless; Citizens National Bank; Hutch Buick/Chevrolet; GMC; McDonalds of East Kentucky; and Ramada Inn. The series will continue through the spring of 2012.

Concert tickets at $15 per person are available at the U.S. 23 Country Music Museum in Paintsville, the Johnson County Public Library, Paintsville City Hall; and at the door. For further ticket information, contact Tyler Stephens, 606-205-9644. For band information, call Melissa Mandrell at 270-622-1703 or Gary Mandrell at 270-618-0105.

Pests in paradise

Sandy Miller Hays
Agricultural Research Service

At my house, we have what's known as "The Sandy Curse."

You know how it goes; whatever checkout line Brian and I choose at the grocery store, that line grinds to a halt five people ahead of us. If we switch to a different line, our second-choice line grinds to a halt, and the previous line starts zipping along like that famous chocolate-factory conveyor belt in "I Love Lucy." Sometimes I tell Brian, "Next time you hear me say the words, 'Hey, I've got a good idea,' just run!"

So I was totally sympathetic when I read recently that in some of the most beautiful places on the face of the earth, they have some of the most horrendous insect pests...but I've never even been there, I swear it!

Seriously, wouldn't you jump for joy if you found out you'd just won a trip to, oh, say, French Polynesia? Or the Azores? Unfortunately, the pests in question have already beaten you there.

The good news, though, is that the scientists of the Agricultural Research Service (ARS) are using Mother Nature to keep things naturally beautiful in those luscious spots. Even if we don't ever get to go there ourselves, the ARS scientists' efforts could also benefit us, because the pests in question are also invasive in the United States (just think of this as an ounce of prevention being worth a pound of cure).

Let's start with the Azores (yes, please). In case you're unfamiliar with them, they're a group of nine volcanic islands off the coast of Portugal some 930 miles west of Lisbon. People flock there to take in the lush scenery, splash in the blue and green lagoons, and partake of the laid-back island lifestyle.

Unfortunately, people aren't the only species that has flocked there. In the early 1970s, the Japanese beetle was accidentally introduced onto the island of Terceira. Over the next 40 years, the beetle population has exploded, causing major agricultural damage and threatening Terceira products. Because of frequent travel between the islands, the pest has now spread through most of the other islands in the archipelago.

But there's bad news for the beetles: Starting in the late 1980s, an ARS entomologist conducted research on development of a fungus called Metarhizium anisopliae as a biological control against the marauding pests. After his retirement, another ARS entomologist picked up the reins and has been collaborating with the Azoreans to further develop the fungus to control the beetle.

In 2008, that entomologist traveled to the Azores to teach the Azorean scientists how to mass-produce spores of the fungus. He describes the fungus' effect on the beetles as being "like fatal athlete's foot," since the fungus infects the bug by penetrating through its hard shell, often via the feet. Once the fungus gets inside, it begins to grow, and within a week, that beetle is dead. With any luck, the dead beetle also is covered with fungal spores which then spread to other beetles to repeat the cycle.

Now, let's island-hop (a very long way) over to French Polynesia, another archipelago whose six island groups are considered a tropical paradise. The fly in the ointment there actually is a fly: the Oriental fruit fly, a pest well-known to the United States, and now busy causing severe damage to French Polynesian agriculture, a major industry with exports of tropical fruits and vegetables.

In 2003, an ARS scientist based in Hawaii introduced into French Polynesia the parasitic wasp Papilio arisanus, a natural enemy of the Oriental fruit fly that's already proven highly successful in biocontrol programs in Hawaii.

The wasp attacks the fruit fly by laying its eggs inside the fruit fly egg. The wasp egg continues to develop during the fruit fly larval and pupal stages. However, before the adult fruit fly can emerge, the wasp comes out first, killing the fruit fly.

More recently, the ARS scientist has introduced a second species of beneficial parasite, Diachasma mirum longicaudata, in Tahiti. The program is continuing its success against not only the Oriental fruit fly, but also the Queensland fruit fly.

This is great news for these island paradises—but I think I'll postpone making my vacation plans, because I don't want to jinx things with The Sandy Curse!

The Agricultural Research Service is the chief in-house scientific research agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. You can read more about ARS discoveries at <http://www.ars.usda.gov/news>. Everybody's Science.

(Mar. 11 to Mar. 13, 1992)
A Pike County man was found not guilty by a Floyd County jury, Tuesday in the March 1991, shooting death of a Floyd County man. Jurors deliberated just an hour and twenty minutes before returning a not guilty verdict for Ralph Gerald Newsome, 27, of Virgie, Newsome was charged with first degree murder in the March 9, 1991, shooting of Greg Perry of Printer. The two-day trial began one year to the date, after the shooting.

With little fanfare and only limited opposition, Prestonsburg's City Council approved annexation measures, Monday, that set the stage for the start of parimutual wagering in Floyd County. Council adapted four ordinances, Monday, that incorporate a section of Route 3 and the proposed site of an intertrack wagering (ITW) facility into the city limits, also authorizing the sale of liquor by the drink at the ITW development.

A Prestonsburg police officer has denied the allegations made by his 18-year-old daughter in a civil suit filed February 28. In the suit, Virginia Slone alleged that she was brutally beaten by her father, Anthony Slone, three years ago while Prestonsburg police officers ignored her pleas for help.

The Floyd County Board of Education unanimously approved a recommendation from superintendent Ronald Hager, Tuesday, evening to proceed on developing one of four alternate sites proposed as the location of a new Prestonsburg High School. Hager's site recommendation was part of a series of proposals to be made by the superintendent during Tuesday night's regular meeting of the board.

Floyd County will play host to at least 92 Kentucky county treasurers and finance officers, this week, when the organization meets for its spring conference at Jenny Wiley State Park. Floyd County Treasurer, DeLoris Dingsu said the local meeting is the first ever, east of Lexington, for the organization.

Kentucky Education Commissioner Thomas Boysen began ouster proceedings against Floyd County School Superintendent Ron Hager, Thursday, by accusing Hager of willful neglect of duty and misconduct in office. The written charges were presented to the State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education, Thursday morning, when they resumed their March meeting.

All but about a dozen of Wheelwright High School's 218 students walked out of their classrooms, Thursday, in a show of support for their principal, who has been charged with sexually abusing a female student. The students left school at 8:55 a.m., Thursday, setting up a picket line outside the school, and vowing not to return to classes until principal Lewis Berkheimer is reinstated to his position.

A Floyd County truck driver was injured, Tuesday, in a traffic accident on the Mountain Parkway that left one person dead. James B. Hays, 43, of Betsy Layne, was driving an oil tanker truck east of Campton in Wolfe County, when it collided head-on with a car driven by Betty Jo Sluss of Inez. Sluss was pronounced dead at the scene.

Prestonsburg Housing Authority members voted, Wednesday, to hire a consulting firm to oversee an $850,000 renovation project at Indian Hills, Sassing, a Paducah management consulting firm, was picked to oversee the project and the company scored a 92 on a Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) evaluation form.

Flood control dams in the Big Sandy River watershed saved the valley an estimated $1,466,000 flood damage during late February, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers said this week.

"Surface mining is not a problem at Dewey Lake at this time, and the lake is not in bad shape at all," James Lynch, of the Huntington district office, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, said last Friday. More than a year ago, a Kentucky Parks official reported 60 or more surface mining operations in the Johns Creek (Dewey Lake) watershed.

Before a plumber could arrive and repair a gas leak detected earlier in the day, the home of Mrs. Liddie Miller on Highland Avenue here "blew up" last Thursday afternoon.

Miss Susie Meador, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Meador, of Prestonsburg, won the title of Junior Secretary of 1972 in the state conference of PBS, held recently at Cumberland Falls.

Born: A daughter, Kristi Lynn, on February 25, to Mr. and Mrs. William Jarvis May, of Prestonsburg; a son, William Ronald, on March 9 to Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Newsome, of Water Gap.
There died: George W. Hale, Sr., 77, of Kermit, W. Va., formerly employed by the First National Bank here; Cesco Slone, 76, of Wayland, Sunday, at a Martin hospital; Mrs. Callie Paige, 94, of Dwayne, Sunday, at a Martin hospital; Woodrow Meade, 54, of Prestonsburg, Saturday, at the Prestonsburg General Hospital; Fred Cottrell Hecker, five-week-old daughter of Corrie Miller and Mark Hecker, of Prestonsburg, Tuesday, at UK Medical Center; Tilda Hamilton, 66, of Teaberry, last Tuesday at Pikeville Methodist Hospital; Troy Hicks, 82, of David, Sunday, at Paintsville Hospital; Jenny Stephens, 84, of Prestonsburg, Tuesday, at Riverview Manor Nursing Home.

The Prestonsburg City Council, faced with a big fiscal problem, met with the taxpayers in a town hall meeting Monday evening, to present a budget of $107,628, approximately $40,000 greater than the revenue last year.

The Small Business Administration office temporarily set up here, Monday morning, closed at noon Wednesday.
Services which otherwise would cost many thousands of dollars were rendered without charge to 31 children at the pediatric clinic held Tuesday, at the Floyd County Health Department.

The district community development contest has been won by Prestonsburg, and the city is one now being considered for state honors.

Contractors' bids on the construction here of 40 low-rent public housing units will not be opened March 26, as originally scheduled, it was said here this week by Joe Hobson, executive director of the Municipal Housing Commission. The bids will be opened April 3.

Announcement was made this week that the Spurn Insurance Agency here, has been purchased by C.R. Hatton.

J.B. Clark, disaster chairman of the Floyd County Chapter, American Red Cross, announced that, as of Monday, 73 families have applied for Red Cross assistance because of the recent flood.

Born: A daughter, Kathleen, on February 28, to Mr. and Mrs. Rondall Hall Leslie, of Louisville.
There died: Jake Walters Jr., 39, of Drift, Sunday, near his home; Mrs. Angeline Bates, 96, of Kite, at her home, last Wednesday; Steve Pieratt, 90, retired Mt. Sterling banker, farmer, and former legislator, last Tuesday, in Mt. Sterling; William T. Hatcher, 76, of Lackey, former Floyd County tax commissioner, last Wednesday at a Huntington, W.Va., hospital; Mrs. Lily May Gibson, 46, formerly of East, Friday, in Rochester, Mich.; Alto Bradley, 38, of Auburn, Ind., formerly of Martin, February 26, in an Auburn hospital.

(March 13, 1952)
County Judge Henry Stumbo said this week, that a recent conference with Dr. Bruce Underwood, state health commissioner, have convinced him that the only possibility of construction of the proposed, and much argued, Floyd County War Memorial Hospital rests on selection of a site at or near Martin, and he is not certain even agreement on that location will result in the hospital being built.

Lexia Potter and Ira Fields, Jr., assumed the charge, Tuesday, of the Grapette Bottling Company plant here which they purchased from Orville Howard, Harlan, and H. K. Howard, of Prestonsburg.

Approximately 75 persons were busy this week as volunteer workers, soliciting funds from Floyd Counties in an all-out drive to reach the county's $8,730 Red Cross quota this year, L.B. Breashear, Fund chairman said Tuesday.

Among the news shows billed at the Martin Theatre in coming days is "Stage to Blue River," with Whip Wilson and Fuzzy Knight.

There died: Russell Smith, 56, Glo miner, following a mining accident last week in which his leg was mangled by a coal-cutting machine; Martha Newsome Tackett, 40, Monday, at her home at Dony; Joe Cole, janitor at Eastern Gas & Fuel Associates (Koppers), Sunday afternoon.

70 years ago
(March 12, 1942)
Prosperity in the Eastern Kentucky coal fields is not around the mythical "corner" but is only a matter of a week or two away, was the opinion expressed here this week by observers of trends in the industry. Full operation of the National Youth Administration's machine shop here began Wednesday, with 96 boys at work in three separate experience units.

B. F. and A. B. Combs, Prestonsburg attorneys, Wednesday, purchased from S. R. Auxier, the Auxier Hotel property on First avenue here at a reported price of $18,000.
Although defeated twice during the regular playing season by the Betsy Layne Bob Cats, the Prestonsburg high school Black Cats are the twice-crowned champions of Floyd County by virtue of tournament victories over the selfsame Bob Cats.
An automobile battery complete with two-year guarantee, was advertised this week by Ernest Evans' Western Auto Store here at a price of $5.95.
Born: to Mr. and Mrs. John Delong, of Banner, a son, Feb. 11; to Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Conley, of Auxier, a daughter, Vanda Sue.
There died: Mrs. Will Rowe, 60, Saturday, at her home at Myrtle; Lewis Merritt, 89, formerly of Prestonsburg, recently in Searcy, Arkansas; Mrs. Mary Adams Stratton, 77, Friday, at her home at Ivel.

First Lady visits teachers, parents at Reading Recovery event

SOMERSET — Kentucky First Lady Jane Beshear met this week in Somerset with educators and parents from seven Southern and Eastern Kentucky counties—including Floyd County—to discuss ongoing efforts to improve reading skills in young children.

Mrs. Beshear, a strong advocate for education and former high school teacher attended a book-reading demonstration by a first-grade participant in the Reading Recovery program, followed by a roundtable discussion on the program. The program is changing the lives of struggling young readers across the region.

The event, hosted at The Center for Rural Development by Forward in the Fifth in partnership with the Kentucky Valley Educational Cooperative, was held Thursday, March 8, as part of a series of special statewide activities planned in observance of the second annual Kentucky Literacy Celebration Week.

"Our Commonwealth has made great strides in recent years, being the only state to show significant statistical improvement among fourth- and eighth-grade readers in both the 2007 and 2009 National Assessment for Education," Mrs. Beshear said. "However, we still have a long way to go to increase literacy at all levels and must work to promote literacy not only as an education tool, but to stay competitive in the 21st Century.

During the program, Jennifer Shoen, Debbie Goble, and Charlene Horn of Prestonsburg shared with the First Lady some of their success stories and personal experiences in working with Reading Recovery. The program is a school-based, short-term intervention designed for 5-6 year olds who have difficulty with reading and writing.

Many of the participants talked about the social and academic changes they have seen in their students as a result of the program. Elijah Davidson, a first-grade student at Hopkins Elementary School, proved that point by demonstrating his reading skills for the entire group.

Davidson, who was accompanied by his mother and his Reading Recovery teacher, read from the children's book, "Ratty-Tatty," a story about a rat who was too clever for anyone to catch.

"I cannot say enough good things about this program," said Elijah's mother, Christina Devlin. "Elijah has improved so much since he started working with Mrs. Wilson in the Reading Recovery program. It is a truly amazing program."

The program at the Center was in continuation with Mrs. Beshear's ongoing work with Forward in the Fifth to help advance education in the region and throughout the state. Forward in the Fifth, a non-profit organization and affiliate of The Center, serves a 42-county primary service area in Southern and Eastern Kentucky and beyond.

Mrs. Beshear was in Somerset last fall to attend Pulaski County Literary Day, where nearly 1,000 fourth-grade students in Pulaski County were each presented a complimentary book by Somerset businessman and education supporter Chuck Coldiron, and participated in a region dropout prevention summit hosted by Forward in the Fifth in 2010.

"Literacy is so critical to our daily lives," said Forward in the Fifth Executive Director Jim Tackett. "These skill sets were at the heart of our mission more than 25 years ago when Forward in the Fifth was created and still rings true today."

Forward in the Fifth was created in 1986 by U.S. Congressman Harold "Hal" Rogers (KY-05) and other leaders to work to reverse low educational attainment levels in the Fifth Congressional District.

"Those who can read and effectively communicate have a limitless potential that will never be surpassed," Tackett said.

The Kentucky Literacy Celebration was created by the Collaborative Center for Literacy Development (CCLD) and First Lady Jane Beshear. Established by legislation in 1998, the CCLD's mission is to promote literacy and address the diverse needs of all learners through professional development for Kentucky educators and research that informs policy and practice.

ward in the Fifth Executive Director Jim Tackett. "These skill sets were at the heart of our mission more than 25 years ago when Forward in the Fifth was created and still rings true today."

Forward in the Fifth was created in 1986 by U.S. Congressman Harold "Hal" Rogers (KY-05) and other leaders to work to reverse low educational attainment levels in the Fifth Congressional District.

"Those who can read and effectively communicate have a limitless potential that will never be surpassed," Tackett said.

Established by legislation in 1998, the CCLD's mission is to promote literacy and address the diverse needs of all learners through professional development for Kentucky educators and research that informs policy and practice.

Educators and parents from seven Southern and Eastern Kentucky counties met with Kentucky First Lady Jane Beshear on Thursday, March 8, at The Center for Rural Development in Somerset to collaborate on the importance of improving reading skills in young children. Meeting with First Lady Jane Beshear, front row, second from left, are Keith Lyons, coordinator of communications, marketing, and promotions for Collaborative Center for Literacy Development; Jim Tackett, executive director of Forward in the Fifth; and Vickie Stone, Hazard; second row, from left, Debbie Goble and Jennifer Shoen of Prestonsburg; third row, from left, Danna Duff, Hazard; Eunice Waddles and Allisa Huff of Hindman; Patricia Buzard, Harlan; and Donna Singleton of Hazard; and back row, from left, Mindy Ketcham, Tonya Halcomb, and Carla Hinkle of Barbourville; Charlene Horn, Prestonsburg; and Pam Miller and Susan Lacey of Campton.

MSU offering alternative certification info sessions

College graduates who are interested in becoming a teacher may want to attend one of the upcoming information sessions on the Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT) program at Morehead State University.

MSU offers three MAT programs (middle school/secondary/special education) in which degree holders with no prior teaching experience may obtain a master's degree and teaching certification, while employed as a teacher.

Orientation sessions for the MAT program at MSU will be held in various locations from March 20-April 10. At the sessions, program design, including admission and application processes for middle, secondary and special education teaching will be discussed. Interested persons are encouraged to bring transcripts, GRE scores and any PRAXIS test results they may have.

Sessions will be held on various dates at several locations:

- Tuesday, March 20, 4 p.m., University of Kentucky, James W. Stuckert Career Center;
- Thursday, March 22, 3:30 p.m., MSU at Jackson;
- Friday, March 23, 3:30 p.m., Morton Middle School in Lexington;
- Monday, March 26, 4 p.m., Main campus (610 Ginger Hall);
- Monday, March 26, 4 p.m., Mason County High School;
- Tuesday, March 27, 4 p.m., MSU at Ashland;
- Wednesday, March 28, 4:30 p.m., MSU at Mt. Sterling;
- Wednesday, March 28, 4:30 p.m., MSU at Prestonsburg;
- Thursday, March 29, 4 p.m., MSU at West Liberty;
- Tuesday, April 10, 3 p.m., Kentucky State University/Frankfort.

Date and location are tentative for the West Liberty event. Check with MSU officials prior to March 29.

On MSU's Morehead campus, orientation meetings are available by appointment.

Additional information on the Master of Arts in Teaching is available by calling the program office at 606-783-2079, or by sending e-mail to Michelle Roberts, MAT admissions coordinator, at m.roberts@moreheadstate.edu.
