C. & O. DOUBLE-TRACKING IS BEGUN

TIMES EDITION HONORS RAIL, MINE WORK

DOUBLE TRACK SEEN FROM PRESTONSBURG TO BUFFALO

With the Middle Creek railroad completed and the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company operating steadily on a scale that places it in the front rank of Eastern Kentucky coal producers, the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company this week was engaged in the construction of a two-track bridge across Abbott Creek at Cliff, near here, in an improvement program reported as envisioning a double track from West Prestonsburg to the old Mary Luck mine site near Auxier.

News of this new undertaking comes with publication of this week of the largest newspaper ever published in Floyd county, an edition in which THE TIMES and its advertisers join in congratulating the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company, its contractors, the firm of Haley, Chisholm & Morris, and the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company for development of the Middle Creek coal field, virgin ground for progress.

Though reports of proposed double-tracking are lacking official confirmation, it is known that the railway company will be busy in this vicinity for several months.

The double-tracking work may include, in addition to the bridge construction, double tracking from Cliff to "OX Cabin" at the Mary Luck mine site. From that point on to the Buffalo tunnel, below Paintsville, double-tracking already is laid.

Harry LaViers, Paintsville, president of Princess Elkhorn, this week said an annual production of 500,000 tons of coal is expected from the Middle Creek operations. The coal is already on the market, but reaction of consumers has not been recorded. While this judgment was awaited, the operators were secure in analyses of the coal, made months ago, showing that the product was of the finest grade in Eastern Kentucky—a section of the country famous for fine coals.

Accomplishments of the railway company, its resident engineer, G. R. Jenkins, and of the contracting firm which built the 10-mile stretch of rail from West Prestonsburg to the mine site on Lick Fork of Middle Creek becomes more remarkable in view of the fact that C. & O. officials planned and asked that the line be completed by April 15—and that coal cars were on the line, under the tipples on the morning of April 15, even before the tipples were completed.

The time schedule on the work—handling of yardage estimated at 600,000 cubic yards, construction of bridges, making fills, laying of track—was made last November. And the train schedule to and from the mine will never be more "on the dot" than that followed by Haley, Chisholm & Morris in completing the railway as desired by

RECORD NEWSPAPER FOR FLOYD-CO.— IN YOUR HANDS

The biggest newspaper ever published in Floyd county, any season, any year—you're looking at it. Twenty-four pages of it. Credit for this record-making edition is hereby given to W. H. "Bill Henry" Wheeler who sold the advertising and to the boys in the "back end" who got all this matter together.

Personally—I'm regusted.

302 STUDENTS TO GRADUATE HERE FRIDAY

EVANS TO DELIVER ADDRESS AT 5TH MASS GRADUATION

Unless final exams throw a few of them for a loss, 302 seniors of Floyd county high schools—176 girls and 126 boys—will receive diplomas here Friday night at the fifth annual county-wide graduation exercises.

The mass graduation will take place in the gymnasium, Prestonsburg.

George E. Evans, director of finance, State Department of Education, will deliver the Commencement address. Superintendent Town Hall said. Mayor E. P. Arnold of Prestonsburg will deliver the address of welcome to the graduates-to-be.

Free transportation of graduates and their parents by school buses will be supplied.

Decorations of the graduating scene will be in colors of the nine schools represented. Names of schools sending seniors here for the graduation, school colors and number to graduate (according to "The Floyd Countian," county school annual) follow:

Auxier, red and black, 14; Betsy Layne, blue and white, 35; Garrett, orange and black, 32; Martin, purple and gold, 41; Maytown, black and gold, 25; McDowell, blue and gold, 19; Prestonsburg, red and grey, 59; Wayland, blue and gold, 30; Wheelwright, maroon and white, 40; Wheelwright colored, 7.

SETTLING POOL WORK BEGUN

TO ELIMINATE DUST HELD INJURIOUS TO WATERLIFE

Completion of work now under way on a settling basin for coal dust from the washer of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation will divert from Right Beaver Creek all dust and other substances injurious to fish in the stream, E. R. Burke, Prestonsburg, district conservation officer, said last week.

Mr. Burke quoted B. M. Roger, Elk Horn superintendent, as saying that the settling basin and filter system being constructed will eliminate from the water leaving the washer every objectionable feature except a darker appearance of the water.

The settling basin will be completed within two weeks, barring a labor shutdown, Mr. Roger predicted.

To make room for the basin, a 10-room building formerly in use as a boarding house was leveled. Around an area of approximately half an acre wooden forms have been erected to a height of about five feet, with rye straw packed between the walls of the form. The water from the washer is to be directed into the basin enclosed by this straw-packed form, and as it seeps back from the settling basin into Beaver Creek the dust and other substances are left in the basin.

It was said here that the settling basin was of such size that removal of dust deposits will not be necessary oftener than once a year.

This addition to its Wayland plant is being made by the coal company upon request of Mr. Burke after the Floyd County Fish and Game Club had announced tentative plans for construction of a dam on Right Beaver Creek as a fish re-stocking and conservation project. Elk Horn officials had been notified by Mr. Burke that analysis made by a chemist of the Division of Fish and Game showed that water from the coal washer contained dust in sufficient quantity to be deleterious to fish.

HERE FROM DETROIT

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Wheeler, of Detroit, are visiting relatives here.

SEWER WORK BEGUN HERE

THIRD STREET READY FOR 'BLACKTOP' SURFACING

Work of removing curbs and filling with stone the spaces between curbs and sidewalks on Third street completed, city workmen and prisoners under the supervision of Policeman Arthur Blackburn this week turned their attention to construction of a sewer between Friend and Dingus streets to remove the open sewer nuisance in that section of Prestonsburg.

The Third street work was completed Friday and the thoroughfare will, within the next two or three weeks, be given a two-inch blacktop surfacing by the State Highway Department employees who already have temporarily patched the street.

The Third street improvement by the highway department was procured for the town by County Judge E. P. Hill, Jr., and Mayor E. P. Arnold.

Policeman Blackburn predicted Monday that the sewer improvement job will be completed this week.

J. W. COCKILL DIES AT 72

COAL FIELD PIONEER IS HEART VICTIM AT HUNTINGTON

Joseph William Cockill, well-known coal operator of Minnie, and one of the oldest men in the Big Sandy field, died in Memorial hospital, Huntington, W. Va., Tuesday at 2:30 a. m.

Mr. Cockill was born at Llewellyn, Pa., July 1, 1868, the son of Mary Sinsell Cockill and Ezra Cockill, where he spent his boyhood. In 1892 he went to Middlesboro, Ky., with his father and founded the Bryson Mountain Coal Co. at Hartman, Tenn. In 1901 he moved to Huntington, W. Va., and operated a mine near there. Later, in 1905, he opened the Henry Clay mine at Henry Clay, Pike county, and remained there until 1917 when the mine was sold to the Semet Solvay Company, known as Kentucky Solvay. That same year, he started the Edgemont Fuel Company at Minnie, and was president of that company at the time of his death.

Mr. Cockill had been in poor health for the past four years with heart trouble, but continued to attend to his duties up until three days ago.

GREETINGS AND CONGRATULATIONS (AN EDITORIAL)

THIS WEEK, by word and picture and with the co-operation of progressive advertisers, THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES publishes the largest edition in its history to welcome the new industries of this vicinity, the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company and the new Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company line to the coal company's Middle Creek developments.

This editorial is intended to be more than a welcome to new industrial enterprise; it is the purpose of the newspaper and its advertisers to congratulate both companies on work well done and well begun.

THE TIMES has, during its fourteen years, seen many the coal company, many the other business venture, come and go. These it has not greeted with special editions. But they have not entered virgin territory as have the C. & O., and the Princess Elkhorn in this latest undertaking. Had the newspaper been in existence when the railway company drove its rails toward Wayland and Weeks-bury to open what yet remains the section's heaviest producers of coal, we of its staff would have given such enterprise commensurate recognition.

It is not only to the railway company and the coal company that this edition extends greetings and congratulations. THE TIMES and its advertisers join in congratulating Floyd county labor on a new and great field of activity.

The success of the companies which have invested heavily on the promise of the Middle Creek section, the workers who will carry on with the labors necessary to their successful operation—to all these THE TIMES, its advertisers and its readers, all interested in a greater Floyd county, extend their best wishes.

Edward L. Allen, Prestonsburg attorney, this week was designated by the Court of Appeals to preside as special judge of the Martin circuit court in the trial of cases in which Judge J. F. Bailey had disqualified.

"The Children's Call to Democracy," a musical pageant written by Mrs. N. Graves Davis (Mrs. Whaley), was presented at the Parent-Teacher Association meeting last week. Though abbreviated, the pageant was highly praised.

LEFT BEAVER WOMAN SAYS HUGHES SERVED SENTENCE IN MURDER SHE COMMITTED

Within 10 days of the date when Billie Hughes, Hueysville man, becomes eligible for parole from his 18-year penitentiary sentence imposed upon him six years ago for the slaying of Ashland Ousley, Mrs. Lucy Hall, of Clear Creek, told Commonwealth's Attorney John Allen here Monday morning that she killed Ousley and that Hughes is innocent.

"I killed him, I want to pay the penalty—and that's all that'll satisfy me," she told the prosecutor in an interview at the county jail where she was lodged Sunday by Deputy Sheriffs Tom James and W. B. Boyd after she had gone to Paintsville, told officers there of her guilt and asked to be taken into custody.

The woman, buxom wife of Dola Hall, was committed to the Eastern State Hospital, Lexington, for observation. If she is declared sane, she will be granted her request to be permitted to expiate for her crime.

Commonwealth's Attorney Allen represented Hughes in his trial here in 1934. He said that his client had always maintained that he did not kill Ousley.

Statements made by Mrs. Hall in her interview with the official closely adhered to her testimony at Hughes' trial in which she appeared as a defense witness. She declared that Hughes' revolver was at her home and that she took it home at noon on the day of the slaying. This was, in effect, her statement as a witness. She also told Monday, as she did six years ago, of hearing groans and of going to the spot where Ousley lay mortally wounded.

The Hughes' and Hall families were "next-door" neighbors. It was alleged at the trial that McKinley

18 FAMILIES ARE EVICTED

PEACEFUL REMOVAL OF RIGHT BEAVER MINERS EFFECTED

Families of 18 former employees of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation at Garrett and Wayland were evacuated from the company's houses Friday and Saturday by Sheriff Dial Salisbury and deputies.

Five deputies and two trucks accompanied Sheriff Salisbury, and household effects of the miners were moved to available quarters outside the two towns, some being taken into the country as far as six miles away.

Threats of resistance to eviction were not fulfilled, and peaceful evacuation of the property was effected.

Forty other miners at Wayland have filed answers to execution of writs of forcible entry and detainer, and hearings will be held at Wayland this week. Police Judge G. R. Spradlin, Prestonsburg, who issued the writs, will preside at the hearings, it was said.

DRIFT WOMAN IS SOUGHT

AFTER P'BURG GIRL SUFFERS STAB WOUNDS

Arrest of Mrs. Charles Buchanan, 30 years old, of Drift, was sought this week in the stabbing of 16-year-old Opal Music, of Prestonsburg, late Sunday afternoon at Drift.

Miss Music, suffering a knife wound in her abdomen which penetrated the bladder, and also a wound in her hip, was given a "good" chance of recovery, barring complications. She was taken to the Beaver Valley hospital at Martin.

The Rev. Henry Music, father of the wounded girl, said there was no known cause for the stabbing. He said he had been told that his daughter had sat with Mrs. Buchanan during the Drift-Allen baseball game and that she later was looking for the truck driven by Jim Blackburn in which she and others hoped to return to Prestonsburg, Meeting Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan, this statement continues, she asked the couple if they had seen Blackburn. The cutting followed.

Officers here said they were told the assault was the result of jealousy.

Mrs. Buchanan had not been arrested Wednesday morning.

John Oglesby, Wheelwright negro, driver of the auto which struck and injured Eula Mae Rackley, 16, and Alta Stewart, 19, at Melvin Sunday as the girls were bicycling on the highway, was released from county jail here under bond Monday after the girls' parents had told authorities they believed the accident was unavoidable. County Attorney Forrest D. Short said. Both girls are in the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, but their hurts are not serious, it was said. Both suffered bruises, and the Rackley girl sustained a cut on her side. The accident took place within a few feet of where Miss Rackley's father, Henry Rackley, was killed by an auto several months ago. Miss Stewart is a daughter of Lee Stewart.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WHAT WILL THE DRAFT DO TO OUR AMERICAN YOUTH?

To Editor of The Times: It is the cry and prayer of every American mother that the morale of her son will not be degraded or that his Christian home teaching will not be degenerated. The fervor and unrest that accumulates within her heart because of the lurking apprehension that the moral character of her precious son will pass into minor significance; is an overwhelming power. This feeling is deeper seated than anything in human nature; the feeling of motherly love and protection. The deep patriotic feeling that is the true sentiment of this democratic race gives encouragement for the useful and more perfect government of tomorrow. It is our boys that are the basis of higher ideals, higher ambitions and worthy ideas that form the foundation of the future America. We must instill in them greater objectives that can only be reached by better educational facilities, clean, healthy recreation and the strong creation of a deep desire to be worthy citizens that America is proud to produce.

The call of our government for our American youth affords an excellent opportunity to bring these lofty ideals into realization. Educational advancement has elevated the standards of the American home and especially the homes of the mountain youth. Our government realizes the necessity of creating a desire in our boys to spend their leisure time in a constructive manner while in service. Recreation that builds up the cultural, moral and aesthetic sides of the young citizen is an external sign that true thinking of America's welfare is being thought out.

We know that our government is for America and it is the public plea that it will continue to foster worthy citizenship.

These matters must be looked into so that an understanding of the future citizens can be used to an advantage of our public. Therefore, we cannot let the draft affect our fine gentlemen, but hope that it may afford a chance for better character building.

THE HIGHWAY OF THE FUTURE

U. S. 23 (in this section known as the Mayo Trail) is the highway of the future. This is a fact little-recognized, or at any rate little-noted, in this Big Sandy section; but importance of the route to the nation is becoming more and more apparent. And its importance does not lie altogether in the emoluments to be derived from the pleasure-seeking tourist trade that will naturally follow this shortest route from North to South, once the highway leaves the detour stage. Its importance in the all-important matter of national defense will become greater.

For the route leads from the industrial North to the agricultural South; links the Ohio and Tennessee valleys, is the shortest route to Norris Dam, to Knoxville and other cities destined to figure heavily in America's preparations for defense.

Of the one billion dollars to be spent by the federal government on defense highways, it is not altogether wishful thinking to believe that Route 23 will get its share.

From the great industrial centers of the North, with the upper Ohio and Great Lakes region to link in with it, charted over the nation's great scenic route to the cities and defense centers of the Old South, over the storied Lonesome Pine Trail, to the Great Smokies and on down to Florida's playgrounds—this highway leading from the realities of this machine age to the picturesqueness and romance of hill-hemmed valleys and on out again to the hurry and derring-do of great cities of a great nation—U.S. 23 is, indeed, the highway of the future.

FOR JAILER

We are authorized to announce UNCLE GEORGE MEADE of Amba, Ky., as a candidate for JAILER OF FLOYD COUNTY subject to the action of the Democratic party at the August, 1941 primary.

A man who has braved the battles of life for his friends, and Democracy, and who has never asked for public favor.

I now ask my relatives and many friends to support me in this race for jailer of Floyd county. A man who is just and deserving. I am taking this opportunity to thank you for the many past favors, and for your vote on August 2, which I am sure you will contribute. 5-22-31-pd.

To the Democratic Voters Of Floyd County

After consulting with a host of my friends in dear, old Floyd county, I become a candidate seeking the nomination for Jailer of Floyd county. Being a poor man and having a strong ambition to serve the people of Floyd county as a public officer, I ran two years ago for Circuit Court Clerk and lost by a small margin. I feel by so many of my friends requesting me to be a candidate this year if I can win in the August primary I can win in November.

So, kind friends, while you journey through dangers of life and its unseen future, I hope and sincerely trust that a kind providence may always smile upon you. None of us know when nor where we may need assistance. But if fortune has been more kind to you than to me, please help me all you can to cast a ray of sunshine on my sad and gloomy pathway. Your aid will be thankfully received and wisely used so that I will be self-supporting and not a burden on my fellowman. So when you come out on August 2 to vote, please let your good conscience direct you how you should vote. Your friend in need, ## the worst is yet to come--unless . . .

BILL SHEPHERD for Jailer

Listen America,

LIKE every other patriotic citizen, you have worried about the wave of strikes that has swept the country.

You know how seriously they have disrupted the nation—that they have halted billions of dollars of defense work—that they have already affected, let's hope not fatally, the safety of the United States.

◆ But the worst is yet to come!

Over the head of every American hangs the threat to close down, not one factory or group of factories, but every factory and every industry throughout the land. The threat to deprive us of most of our heat, nearly all our light, practically all of our railroads, subways, street cars and elevators.

Who has made this incredible threat? Who holds the titanic power to make that threat effective?

John L. Lewis has publicly announced that unless the Southern Coal Operators agree to every syllable of his outrageous Mine Workers contract, he will strike every soft coal mine in the country. And this before the nation has recovered from the disastrous strike of April.

If he keeps his threat, this country, within 15 days, will be without coal. Industry will begin to shut down completely. Railroads will begin to stop. Lights will begin to go out in our cities.

◆ All right, you say, why don't we sign the contract? Here's why:

By the very words of that contract, John L. Lewis will become what so many believe he wants to be—dictator of this country. A man potentially more powerful by far than the President of the United States. A man who holds in the palm of his hand the life or death of every industry, the success or failure of our entire defense program, the comfort or hardship of the bulk of our citizens.

It's there in black and white, in the contract which we, under threat, are ordered to sign without the dotting of an "i" or the crossing of a "t." It's there in John L. Lewis' own sinister words. He demands of Southern Operators a 50 per cent greater wage increase than the North will pay. But that—the so-called differential clause—is not, as the public has been mistakenly led to believe, either the sole reason or the chief reason why the Southern Operators have refused to sign this contract. John L. Lewis demands the power to call unlimited "memorial periods." He demands the right to change entire systems of mining. He demands that all the mines be shut off at one time, for a yearly vacation period, thereby completely stopping the flow of industry's life-blood, coal.

But that is far from all. By the very words of the contract, he would have the right to strike any and every mine at any time at his own will or pleasure. He would have the right to shut off any and every industry from its coal supply. He would have the right to deprive any and every city of light, heat and power.

We have long since given our 150,000 men a 7-hour day and a 5-day week.

We have given them the check-off for union dues and assessments, and a labor contract which Lewis himself hailed only two years ago as the model labor agreement of the world! We've offered, not only to renew this "model agreement," but to liberalize it.

As an industry, we have paid higher wages than those given any comparable group of workers in the nation.

At the request of the President of the United States, we are already paying a minimum basic wage increase of $1 a day — an increase that will almost certainly bankrupt many companies in an industry that lost $35,000,000 last year—that has lost money every year save one for the last 12 years.

But that's our worry, not yours.

◆ Your worry is this:

Shall we, by agreeing to John L. Lewis' demands, sign away the liberty of our country? Shall we place in the hands of any one ruthless, domineering man power to control the security of our nation? Shall we, with a stroke of the pen, place in jeopardy your well-being, your safety, perhaps your very life?

John L. Lewis is no fool. While America slept, he has craftily gained a death-grip on the one industry which affects the destinies of all others. Now he is apparently using that death-grip to shoot for the dictator's crown.

He called the strike in April. He threatens to call another if he doesn't get what he wants. We can't stop him. All we can do is what we have done—refuse to authorize by contract such dictatorial acts.

No, we can't stop him.

◆ The only person who can stop him is you!

You can. Your voice—the voice of the great American public—has kept this country a free country for 165 years. It can do so now.

Write your Governor. Write your Congressman. Write your Senators. Write the President of the United States. Write the Department of Labor. Write the National Defense Mediation Board. They'll listen to you. Send a letter. Or a telegram.

Tell these representatives of yours in your own words whether or not you want John L. Lewis to control the industry of this country, and through that power, to control the freedom and safety of every man, woman and child in the United States.

This is not a matter of tomorrow. This is a matter of today—NOW!

Here's What Will Happen in Floyd County and the Big Sandy if John L. Lewis Strikes the Coal Mines!

Immediately 12,000 miners will be out of work.

Over $100,000 per day in payrolls will be lost.

Railroad crews will be laid off.

Merchants will lose thousands of dollars in trade.

Business generally will be paralyzed.

TWO-THIRDS OF SCALES USED IN STATE STOCKYARDS, 'OFF,' SAYS PERRY

Of all livestock scales located in Kentucky stockyards and packing houses, 66.2 per cent are weighing inaccurately as reflected by tests just completed by the Division of Weights and Measure of the Kentucky Department of Agriculture, according to an announcement by Wesley V. Perry, Jr., director of the division.

The Department's testing unit has just completed a five-weeks tour of 77 stockyards under state supervision. The examination of weighing devices was made by experienced scale technicians, using a mobile testing unit, under the direction of John B. Simpson, a field supervisor for the Department. The result of these tests showed that a large majority of the livestock scales throughout the state were in very poor repair. The discrepancies in weight ranged from a shortage of 55 pounds to an average of 25 pounds per one thousand pounds. It was evident that no operator deliberately intended to cause his scales to weigh inaccurately. The variances apparently grow out of the owner's failure to have his scales periodically checked and adjusted. However, each establishment where errors were found has made corrections, or is having them made at this time.

It has been the stated policy of Commissioner of Agriculture William H. May that a business purporting to act as a scales agent for the farmer should, at all times, have its weighing devices in order. The officials of the Department have frequently called attention to the fact that the stockyards are supported entirely by farmers' commissions and should, therefore, be operated in his best interest. The Department's statistics indicate that 521,748 cattle of all types, 462,868 hogs, and 315,372 sheep were handled during the last year over the scales examined. The law under which the tests were made was enacted at the last session of the Legislature at the instance of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation and Department of Agriculture officials. The same act requires the filing of statistics by the operators, indicating the number of head and average price paid by species. Also, employees of the yards engaged in the weighing of livestock are required by the same law to give bond to the Commonwealth of Kentucky in the amount of $1,000 to insure the faithful performance of duties.

GOOD ROADS AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION PROPOSED

A good roads amendment to the Kentucky Constitution was suggested by Herbert L. Clay, of Louisville, secretary of the Kentucky Petroleum Industries Committee, speaking at a meeting of the Floyd County Petroleum Industries Committee at the Valley Inn in Prestonsburg last Thursday afternoon.

"For many years the Kentucky road fund has been the object of threatened raids, and before any such raids are successful the road fund should be protected by a constitutional amendment," Mr. Clay said.

"Gasoline taxes and motor vehicle license fees are paid by motorists in addition to general taxes solely for the purpose of building and maintaining roads, and the continued use of these taxes for road purposes should be guaranteed by constitutional provision."

The Floyd County Petroleum Industries Committee meeting is one of 120 now being held in every county in Kentucky for the purpose of safe-guarding Kentucky's highway program and the interests of highway users.

The meeting was presided over by C. H. Smith, chairman of the Floyd county committee, who pointed out that 78 per cent of Kentucky's 4,530 communities depend entirely on motor transportation, a greater percentage than in any other state in the union, and that Kentucky should therefore be particularly interested in promoting and fostering use of the highways.

The meeting was attended by 18 oil men.

Officers selected at the meeting to serve for the current year were: C. H. Smith, chairman; J. M. Turner, secretary; R. V. May, legislative chairman; H. B. Patrick, public relations chairman; and C. R. Marshall, Wm. Arrowood, J. H. Nunnery, Chas. Gilley, Fred Williams, Wm. Greenwade, vice-chairmen.

TWO CHILDREN DROWN IN PIKE

BROTHER'S ATTEMPT TO RESCUE SISTER ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Two of the four children of State Agent C. W. Saling and Mrs. Saling drowned in the Big Sandy river Tuesday afternoon near their home, five miles south of Pikeville.

Conor W. P. Call, of Pike county, said the four children were wading near the bank when Barbara, 9, slipped into water over her head. Charles, 10, attempted to rescue her and in so doing lost his own life.

Call said Wilma, 13, and James, 8, made unsuccessful efforts to rescue their brother and sister.

Barbara's body was recovered within a few minutes after the drowning and Charles' was brought to the surface about an hour later. Efforts were made to revive the two with inhalators sent from Pikeville.

Bodies of the two children were taken to Sweden, Ky., for burial.

Appellate Court Voids Hazard License Fees

City license fees which it said were "grossly excessive" and designed to prevent out-of-town concerns from soliciting local business were given another knockout blow Tuesday by the Court of Appeals.

In invalidating a Hazard annual city license fee of $400 for laundry solicitors employed by concerns having plants elsewhere, the court said the fee had been raised "at the instance of the owners and managements" of two local laundries whose license costs remained $50 a year. That formerly was the fee for out-of-town concerns.

The opinion was given in an appeal by the Southern Linen Supply Company, Knoxville, Tenn., which recently won a similar decision which invalidated Corbin's $200 a year license fee. The concern operates trucks through Tennessee and Kentucky, supplying linens to hotels, hospitals, barber shops and other businesses. The Court of Appeals said the fees "amounted to more than the profit of the business" and were "levied in order to prohibit" the out-of-town concerns from operating locally.

Hitler vs. Lincoln, Subject of Debate

New York—The Council for Democracy recently marshalled opposing opinions of Abraham Lincoln and Adolf Hitler in a mythical "debate" over democracy vs. dictatorship. Hitler's arguments were chosen from "Mein Kampf" and other writings and speeches attributed to him, Lincoln's from his recorded addresses and letters.

The opposing arguments follow:

Hitler: "The very enormity of a lie contributes to its success . . . the masses of the people easily succumb to it."

Lincoln: "You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you cannot fool all of the people all of the time."

Hitler: "Only in the eternally regular use of force lies the preliminary condition for success."

Lincoln: "Let us have faith that right makes might."

Hitler: "We may be inhuman . . . we may be unjust . . . But if we save Germany we have repaired the greatest injustice of the world."

Lincoln: "Among freemen there can be no successful appeal from the ballot to the bullet."

Hitler: "Anyone who tries to interfere with this mission (his leadership) is an enemy of the race-state."

Lincoln: "No man is good enough to govern another without that other's consent."

Hitler: "The Nazi party must not be the masses' slave, but their masters."

Lincoln: "Those who deny freedom to others deserve it not for themselves and, under a just God, cannot long retain it."

Bell System Expects To Spend $400,000 On New Construction

The Bell System expects to expend approximately $400,000 on new construction during 1941 as a result of accelerated industrial and military activity under the national defense program, President Walter Gifford of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, said at the annual stockholders meeting.

Mr. Gifford revealed that long-distance traffic is running about 25 per cent above last year, and that an average more long distance calls were being handled now than during the previous peak experienced in September, 1939, when war broke out in Europe.

Emphasizing the part the Bell companies are playing in providing defense communication needs, Gifford said: "In the midst of extraordinary activity, the Federal Communications Commission announced that it had instituted a formal rate case against the Bell System Companies."

Mr. Gifford, according to the commission, is disappointed that the commission should see fit, especially at this critical time, to depart from the practice which it has followed in the past of handling rate matters by informal conference with the company—a procedure which, the Commission has said in its annual reports and other public statements, has been productive of results without the necessity of legal proceedings.

He declared that the speed and vastness of the defense program and the importance of the telephone to its success are a challenge to every man and woman in the Bell System, and expressed pride in which the entire telephone personnel is meeting the challenge.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE

REPRESENTATIVE

Congratulates the workers and the companies making possible the development of Middle Creek and every other section of Floyd county. (Pol. adv.)

To The Citizens of Floyd County:

WM. HAGANS

I wish to take this means to announce the opening of my campaign for the Democratic nomination for Sheriff of Floyd county at the August 2, 1941 primary election.

I have had a few friends say to me, "Bill, we would like to see you Sheriff and we believe you would make a good one; but we think you are too good a man to get mixed up in the kind of politics that you will get into in this election." It is true that I don't get around and "sworp" around and that I have not shot anybody and that I have not been accused of robbing the county. I don't think a man should have to have a reputation that to be able to run for office in our county.

I have worked in the Sheriff's office now for the past three years and I have met many of you coming into the office on business of some kind and at all times I have tried to give you prompt service, and to help you in any way that I could as long as it was right and just. I will say to you who have not met me to ask your neighbors what they know about me.

There are several in this campaign for Sheriff. I think you should give each candidate some consideration and when you have made up your mind as to who you think will be the best man for your county, then stick to him.

I have no wild promises to make to you that I would not or could not keep if I was elected. But if elected I will give you a clean, honest, sober and business-like administration of the Sheriff's office, both of myself and any deputies that I may have. I am going to try to get around and see as many of you personally before the election as I can and ask for your help, but if I fail to get to you, I want to ask you here for your support.

Kilburn had fired a shot in front of the Hall home while Hughes was a visitor there and had threatened Hughes. At the trial Hughes admitted firing several shots from the porch of his home but not until several shots had been fired at him. The shooting took place at night, and Ousley was not known to have had any part in the exchange of shots.

Mrs. Hall said that, after Kilburn had fired the shot in front of her home, she entered the Hughes home by the back door, took the revolver from the mantle and fired from the front door.

"I'm sure I fired at least three shots," she said. "I've felt bad about it all these years, but I feel better now," she added.

"I don't want any trial—just let me confess and go on to the pen," the woman asked the Commonwealth's Attorney.

Jailer Will Halbert said that Mrs. Hall came here Saturday and informed him that she had robbed the bus which bore her to Prestonsburg. Jailer Halbert discounted her story and she later told Paintsville officers that she had killed a man.

Questioned by Allen, she at first declined to admit guilt, saying that "Something put it into my head to tell that tale." Later, after close questioning, she asked, "Well, what if I say that I did kill him?"

Mr. Hall during the interview was nervous, but recalled most of the events in connection with the crime.

Judge Cope Succumbs At Lexington, May 13

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Allen were called last week to Lexington by the death there, May 13, of Mrs. Allen's father, Judge T. T. Cope, 88 years old.

Body of Judge Cope was returned to Jackson, his former place of residence, for burial Saturday. He had been ill for several months, and his death was ascribed to senility.

For the last 60 years of his life, until his retirement five years ago, he was a public official of Breathitt county, serving as County Attorney and Commonwealth's Attorney, and at the close of his public career as Police Judge of Jackson. His wife died five years ago.

Surviving him, besides his daughter here, are three sons and one daughter: Chas. M. and Robert Cope, Houston, Texas; Fred Cope, Hazard, and Mrs. C. S. Landrum, Lexington.

With two other contracts under way, Haley, Chisholm & Morris could not put into operation on the Middle Creek job all their equipment, and so the Gilbert Construction Company and the Perkins-Barnes Construction Company were called in as associate contractors, to furnish designated pieces of machinery.

During 3½ months of winter work, three shovels, two large and two small "carry-all" units moved the estimated 600,000 cubic yards of earth and stone along the right-of-way.

At the mine itself, with complete mechanization installed, the work of turning out the expected half-million tons a year of coal is no herculean labor.

Wenner-Gren Airplane Testing Lab at U. of K. Unique in Field

Classes are scheduled to begin about May 15 in the new Wenner-Gren Aeronautical Research Laboratory at the University of Kentucky, according to Prof. A. J. Meyer, director of the laboratory. It will be used not only to test aircraft motors but to improve them so that they can attain greater speed, operate on less fuel, and attain greater altitude. It also will provide specialized training to graduate engineers who desire to study aircraft engines.

Groups of United States Civil Service engineers from Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, proving ground for the army air force, are to be trained at the University of Kentucky laboratory. The laboratory has been designated as a subsidiary to the United States air corps power plant branch at Dayton.

The $200,000 Wenner-Gren laboratory, which is expected to play a major role in today's international struggle for military aircraft supremacy, was financed through a grant from the Viking Foundation, whose president is Axel L. Wenner-Gren, Swedish philanthropist and industrialist. Fifteen highly-trained graduated engineers will be employed as a minimum operating force, and subsequent additions will probably increase the number of full-time engineers to 30. In order to supply the industry with personnel that is at least familiar with its problems, methods and equipment, intensive short courses will be given students during the defense emergency. The laboratory is the only one of its kind in the United States.

The above photos of the interior and exterior of the laboratory are: (1) Control desk for motor test room; (2) airplane engine on dynamometer test; (3) Wenner-Gren Aeronautical Laboratory; (4) main observation room; and (5) student at control desk.

MAGNESIUM SHORTAGE

Causes Concern As War Orders Given Priority

Washington — Informed of an "acute shortage" of magnesium for airplane manufacture, administration leaders asked speedy Congressional approval of legislation giving the Office of Production Management full control over the disposition of raw materials and military equipment.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky said he expected little Senate opposition to an amended House bill permitting the OPM to fix priorities for defense production and to slow down—or cut off, if necessary—the flow of strategic materials into civilian channels.

Minority Leader McNary of Oregon predicted most Senate Republicans would support the measure. The Senate military committee deleted a House provision to establish a priorities division outside the OPM, but indications were that the House would accept this change and send the measure to President Roosevelt.

The need of immediate action was urged upon Congress by Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., OPM priorities director, and other defense officials in testimony before a closed session of the military committee, printed records disclose.

RIVALS FOR PROMOTION

Richard McGuire, Jr., and Taulby McGuire, Jr., brothers, and former residents of Bull Creek who are now in the same infantry company at Ft. Jackson, S. C., are in a race for promotion, with the former now leading, according to their mother, Mrs. T. P. Carlton, Hartley, Ky. They enlisted July 20, last year, and both became corporals in November. Now, however, Richard is a sergeant.

Exempt Men Over 30, Urges Draft Head

The national director of selective service wants to revise U.S. draft procedure to exempt men over 30 years old.

"They are too settled after that age," declared General Lewis S. Hensley at a gathering of draft board members in recommending Congressional action to give the President the right to defer by age classes.

"They are past their physical peak and find it hard to learn new skills. That has been our experience in the draft to date."

A $100,000 building to house the University of Kentucky's Animal Pathology Department will be constructed on the University's campus, with the WPA putting up $41,342.

Civic leaders of Paducah and McCracken county put in a bid with the National Defense Commission for $750,000 with which to build a modern airport on a 486-acre tract eight miles from the city.

BRITAIN GETS U.S. FOOD

$90,000.00 Worth Of Commodities Sent to Various Ports

Washington — Farm supplies worth $90,000 already have been "sent to ports" for Great Britain, Carl Robbins, president of the Commodity Credit Corporation, said this week.

Robbins made the statement during a House Banking Committee discussion of corporation loans to other farm agencies for purchase of farm crops.

"Some emergency needs of the British have arisen for supplies that could only be met by the surplus marketing agency," Robbins said. "They were placed very promptly and were sent to ports."

"Reimbursement will come from lease-lend funds in case the British will not be able to pay out of their ordinary dollar exchange."

sharp blue skies, blossoming and fresh green fields; the breezes and lengthening days—it is Spring. These are crucial in our lives for this is when armies move. In the world military manhandle over rugged terrain death while in this hemisphere motor cars glide over smooth streets on peaceful missions. Army of motor vehicles may make history as bloody as the organized divisions—but lives depend upon their movement. A great difference exists in the conduct of the two armies—the soldiers are aware constantly of danger and expect disaster, death, or imminent death, while motorists do not expect danger and are unprepared when trouble comes. Some of the worst traffic accidents occur on open highways where the pavement surface is dry, obviously hazardous locations show accident rates. The conclusion is that motorists will drive when they can see and recognize danger, but when no danger is evident they relax their vigilance and—as has been so often—lulled into a false sense of security.

Another great difference is the circumstances, under which the soldiers move, soldiers have no choice but to do or die as they are commanded, while motorists are masters of their own fate! By this attitude toward driving, a motorist determines his safety. Spring could be a happy season for motorists—let's try to make it that. Remember!

DEATH TAKES NO SPRING OR SUMMER VACATION!

Fall From Fence Results in Death Of Floyd Woman

A ruptured blood vessel suffered in a fall from a rail fence May 13 resulted in the death Thursday, last week, at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, of 29-year-old Bessie Sammons, wife of Hurley Sammons, of Cracker.

The daughter of Elcana and Mrs. Emma Crum Conn. Mrs. Sammons was born and reared on Prater Creek. She is survived by her husband, her parents, five brothers and four sisters. ## THE AVERAGE WOMAN

Some facts and fancies about the average woman were recently compiled by a writer in Your Life magazine, but we do not undertake to vouch for which of his statistics, if any, are accurate. Anyway, he asserts that the Average Woman:

Is five feet, four inches tall, and weighs 120 pounds until she begins to get careless about her figure.

Marries at the age of 24, and lives five years longer than her husband.

Quarrels with her husband at least twice a month.

Threatens eight times to go home to her mother, but never does.

Spends three years and eight months talking over the telephone.

Attends 3,027 movies, many of them double features, and listens to 18 radio serials a week.

Spends a year and a half in beauty parlors, and four years washing dishes.

Is positive that her children are better than the brats next door.

Devotes the best seven years of her life trying to make her husband over, but without success.

Occasionally wishes she had married someone else.

And makes a darned good wife at that.

What is horse-sense? Something the mule and automobile haven't got.

May Calls For Study Of Proposed Changes In Draft Laws

Declaring the selective service headquarters was "not going to cram anything down our throats," Chairman A. J. May of the House Military Affairs Committee, called last week for a thorough study of a proposal to defer older registrants from the call to arms.

Congressman May advocated a "go slow" policy on all proposed changes in the selective service act, saying that his committee wished to investigate operation and administration of the law thus far before approving any change.

Brigadier-General Lewis B. Hershey, deputy draft director, recommended an amendment which would permit the President to order deferments by age groups without removing the liability of those deferred from eventual military service.

Hershey, writing to Speaker Rayburn, did not suggest an age at which group deferment might start but informed officials said there had been considerable official discussion of postponing the training of all those 31 years old and more. All men from 21 through 35 were required to register last October, and Hershey's proposed amendment would permit deferment of any group within that range.

May's attitude toward this and other pending amendments to the draft law indicated that Congress might not make any change in the statute prior to the expected second registration on July 1. Youths turned 21 since last October will be required to register at that time, under present plans.

CONCENTRATION

F. J. MacKie of the Santa Fe Railroad, Los Angeles, Calif., recently told me of a most valuable lesson he learned from the late Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. It happened back in 1912.

The country was agog over a political cyclone. Theodore Roosevelt after serving two terms in the White House, denounced the party that had made him President, formed the new Bull Moose party and started out on a hot, fighting, spectacular speaking tour. The most sensational figure in America then was Theodore Roosevelt. Wherever he went, vast crowds thronged to hear him.

Mr. MacKie traveled with Theodore Roosevelt for thousands of miles during that campaign; and the thing that astonished him most about Colonel Roosevelt was his ability to find time to read under such circumstances. And what do you suppose he read? Newspaper and magazine articles about himself? No. He read about the French Revolution.

When the train arrived at a town, Roosevelt would drop his book, rush out to the back platform, make a speech; return to his seat and go on reading about events that had happened in France more than a century ago.

How would the average person have read such a book under those circumstances? In the first place, the average man doesn't possess enough mental curiosity to read a book about the French Revolution. But even if he did want to read it, he would say it was impossible to read in the midst of such distraction.

But Theodore Roosevelt possessed the all-important ability to concentrate on whatever he undertook. When he started to read a book, he read it in spite of all the din and uproar of a political campaign.

Paderewski had this ability. His life also bristled with distractions. The biggest distraction came on New Year's Day, 1919. That day he became Prime Minister of Poland. A few days previously, he had started a book by the American writer, Henry Thoreau, dealing with the early days of our country. Great crowds gathered at Warsaw to greet him, and suddenly he was plunged into handling problems of state.

For more than one hundred years his country had suffered under alien yokes. Now freed, national shaking problems had to be solved. He worked 15 hours a day to stabilize his country. He could speak seven languages which made him a most important man at the peace conference. No other diplomat could do this. At the end of eleven months the crisis was over and he resigned. Then he had a little time for himself. So he hunted up the book of Thoreau!

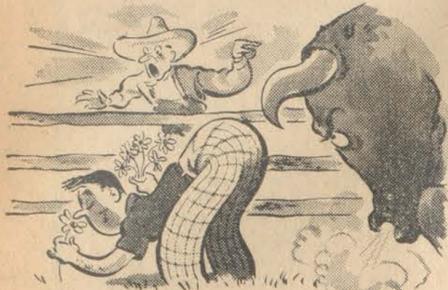

Thomas A. Edison said: "The world is filled with people who start things; few who finish them." Which category are you in? If I knew, I could tell a lot about your chances for advancement.

Mrs. Izetta Jewell Miller, special assistant in the Works Progress Administration at Washington, told the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs meeting at Ashland that the nation depends on its women as "the second line of defense."

25-BARREL OIL WELL DRILLED IN MARTIN

The Warfield Natural Gas Company brought in a 25-barrel oil well recently on the Grace Stepp farm, three miles southeast of Inez, in a section hitherto untested. The well is seven miles from any other well. The Virginia Gasoline & Oil Company hit a dry hole at 1,365 feet on the W. H. Blankenship farm on Rockcastle Fork in Martin county, and the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company brought in an 852,000-foot gasser on the G. J. Carlisle tract on Coldwater Fork in that county.

The first minimum wage and hour law violation conviction in Western Kentucky was recorded at Paducah when Gladys Shops, Inc., women's apparel concern, was fined $50 for working clerks overtime.

BONANZA

By "DAB"
Dear Level Country Friends:
There's not a soul to be seen out in Bonanza. I think most of the women folks are at Rushie Wright's quilting, and what men are left are about equally divided between the grist mill on the upper end and the saw mill on the lower end.

Aunt Betty Hale was here when I came home Monday, and we could hardly hear each other speak because those mills were "cutting such a dash."

People around here have been working like "white heads" to get a little stuff into the ground. It looks like crops are going to be good, and there's a fine prospect for fruit this year if frost doesn't get it.

The little school here is out. One of those big school buses comes up here and takes a bunch of youngsters to P'burg, to high school. Nell Music graduates over there this year. Arthur James started in, but quit to help install light fixtures in this rural electrification program.

WELLS SHOE STORE

PAINTSVILLE, KY.

Milt Stanley is president of the firm here. He and Josie were up here in a big red truck today with "REA" on it.

Virginia and Dorcus were down here with their boys yesterday. Those boys are a sight. Dorcus and Worth live over at her "Dad's" now.

Jim and Hazel have moved to the Roe Frazier place in the Gap. I saw Lillie and Jim go up the lane this morning and Lillie was "all dressed up." Marie and Catherine were over a few Sundays ago.

Muriel has come back from the hospital. Mama ate dinner down there the other day, and she said Muriel looked the best she's seen her in a long time.

I saw Mildred and Nannie over in town Friday before Easter. Mildred is a "hustler." They said she'd sold three cows this spring and had chickens nearly big enough to fry. She said she'd send "Red" after us if we'd come over for a week-end—I thought we'd give the chickens a little more time.

Guy Merritt is back from the Navy. He's been down to Bonanza several times wearing his uniform. His aunt Julia Stephens brought him home the other day. Julia's awfully good to her "people."

Jack and Biddie had a sale Wednesday. They're selling out to go to Oklahoma for Jack's health. Beatrice and Malcolm are going to live up there at the "home place."

Armenis and Mae have a new baby girl, named Lula Belle. They say Docia Mohle has a pretty full store and gets a "heap" of trade. One of her little boys looked at my coat collar and said, "That's a winter coat," and when I said it wasn't, he said, "Well, it's no hot coat."

Hazel Hill is down at "State." She and Ruth Fitzpatrick are majoring in Home Ec. Ruth said most people thought all the training that is required was a little cookin' and sewin'.

Lucille and Pauline ("Sally" and "Polly") are graduating from Silver Lake high school this year. They're all so "dead gone" on THE TIMES I guess we ought to give them a subscription if they send us one of their "little cards."

Tommy Hall has been going to Pikeville College. He was sick for a week or two.

Forrest passed a while ago—he "kicked like he had "Larry on the brain."

Albert and Nannie have had a house built below Bud's, and are about moved in. Harry Burke had one built up the lane for Rushie and Maynard.

I think Woodrow and Mabel have gone back to Bonnie Blue. They've been visiting Wes and Mahala and George and Agnes.

Senie is working for the NYA.

Leona and Raymond have bought the Hezzie Bays place and moved up there. Ruth and Otto went to Indiana.

"Little Sarah" was planning to go to Richmond after her school was out, but "Big Sarah" got sick and she couldn't go.

Julia and Stuart stayed nearly a week over here. Stuart hid Dad's cane and wouldn't find it for less than two cents. Carl is coming over today. We bought some products from Willie, and I baked a "batch" of pies.

Hollie B. ate dinner with us the other day. She has a sense of humor like the Governor's first name.

Dad hasn't been feeling well for a long time. Mama feels fine, and works hard—married 54 years ago last January and hasn't hardly a gray hair in her head.

Molly Short stays with Gladys. Ottis works up at Pikeville. Those red-headed boys of theirs are nearly grown.

Earl's and Geraldine's baby is "growing like a pig."

Bob's two boys are in the Navy, and Patton's two boys are in the Army.

Butler, Sis and Alice were up last Holiness Church time.

As Mama says, "There's just two more meetings until the foot-washing." We reckon we'll see all of you then.

I've written all I've "seed and heer'n" since here I've been and borrowed some news from the "Fur Fork."

Prestonsburg Wins Tight Hill Duel By 4 To 3 Score

In a game featured by fine pitching and constant bickering between payers and umpires, Prestonsburg came from behind Sunday, May 11, to defeat Drift here, 4 to 3.

Drift jumped ahead in the second inning by scoring two runs, added another in the fourth and held Prestonsburg scoreless until the sixth as Price completely baffled local batters, permitting only one hit in the first five innings. Prestonsburg picked up two runs in the sixth off Price, and Buck Stumbo came in to pitch the last two innings. He fared slightly worse at the hands of Prestonsburg, allowing four hits and two runs during his tenure on the mound.

Each team made eight hits, but three of Drift's blows were for extra bases. A wobbly infield defense was costly to the visitors. Vanhoose, Crum and Salisbury led the Prestonsburg attack, while the Butcher brothers garnered half of Drift's hits. M. Stumbo, Shelton and B. Butcher hit two-baggers.

TESTAMENT OF A REPORTER

I saw Jack Dempsey knocked out of the ring at Atlantic City and come back to win.
I saw Ben Jey knocked down three times, climb back on his feet and land a haymaker.
I saw Pepe Ortiz tossed on the horns of a bull, land on his feet, running blood, wave his toreros to make the kill himself.
I saw the coal miners of Herrin, walk unarmed into the barking dogs of the militia, fall in heaps of dead, and win their strike.
I saw Blackie Weed stand on the gallows and spit in the sheriff's face, laugh when they tightened the rope around his neck and go through the trap still guffawing.

I saw Joe Gans riding in an ambulance to his death bed with his fists still clenched and twitching and his chin still tucked down against Bat Nelson.
I saw Chris Haggerty of the AP climb an icy telegraph pole in the Dayton flood, tap out his last message: "Dayton, Ohio—AP everywhere"—and slide unconscious to the earth.
I heard Hugo Haase stand up in the first National German assembly at Weimer and proclaim: "I am a German who believes the might of guns will only win for us an ignoble place in the human family. If this is treason, kill me." They killed him on the Reichstag steps in Berlin.

I saw Lou Gehrig bat out his last homer with his spine tied in a knot.
I saw Jesus Maria Lopez, before a firing squad in Chihuahua smoke, his last cigarette, grin at the leveled rifles and say: "Your bullets, my friends, will have no effect on the thoughts in my humble head. They will continue in other humble heads."
I saw Teddy Roosevelt, shot by an assassin, stand up that night in a Milwaukee auditorium and with a bullet still in his midriff, deliver the finest oration of his career. If anything happened to him as a result of the morning's accident, he cried to the throng, he hoped their mourning would be tempered by the memory of what a hell of a good time he had had out of life.
I saw Ben Welch, blind as a bat, come prancing out on the Palace theater stage and crack jokes that convulsed his audience.
I saw Eugene Debs, the Socialist leader, come out of the Atlanta jail and say: "America is the greatest country in the world with the brightest future. I only hope nothing happens to dim that future."
I saw George Gershwin writing his last tunes for the Goldwyn Folies with a brain tumor driving an ice pick through his skull.
I saw Billy Petrolle, twice beaten, come back in his old Indian blanket in Madison Square Garden and whale the daylight out of Jimmy McLarnin.
I saw garment workers in Chicago march singing into a double wall of mounted police, get trampled to death and win their strike.
I saw a survivor of the Titanic, a servant girl from Galway, who told me how her friends in the steerage had died. Unable to find places in the life boats, they had crowded into the forbidden but now deserted precincts of the first-cabin saloon, taken possession of the elegant piano and played and sung Irish tunes as the ship went down, themselves with it.
I saw Bill Haywood on the night he skipped bail and fled from his native U.S.A. to die in Russia. He was under sentence as a radical. I met him in the gallery of a burlesque theater. He had been touring the town, having a last look at the country he loved. "They put on a great show here," he said, chewing on a bag of peanuts. "I always like to come to places like this just to watch those bums in the audience laugh."
I saw an AEF soldier on a hospital cot with both legs off and a fake jaw riveted to where his face had been, move his mouth stiffly and squeak like a mamma doll: "We won."

I've seen these things and many things like them.
Along with the endless saga of misfortune that hits the eye of the reporter he gets to see the queer stamina of little people in big troubles. He is given a privileged look at the undaunted moments that are the soul of human history. He sees a lot of disaster and wreckage, but if he keeps his eyes open he usually gets a look at the flag of man still flapping above some corner of the shambles.
I've seen this flag a hundred times where it never belonged. I've seen it come out of the many big and little hells in the hearts of people and straighten up in victory. And I'll see it again. I'll see England win.—Ben Hecht in PM.

It is Thanksgiving as I write this. I am reminded of the good-luck value of the pullybone of a chicken or turkey. Some people say the shortest piece when two break it is the lucky part; some counter by saying the holder of the longer piece will live longer, as if that could remunerate one for not getting married sooner. Anyway, it is good luck to put your lucky piece above the door; the first eligible person walking under it will be your future partner. A few years ago when an old house was torn down, we found a double handful of chicken pullybones over the door.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

TALISMANS

MANY superstitions are subjective and thus cannot be seen, in origin or in practice; others are subjective and stand a much better chance of being known and perpetuated. In our time many of the superstitious customs or objects are deliberately phony, just for the fun of the thing. It is hard to tell whether some of them are to be taken seriously or not. This is especially true with objects that are supposed to bring good luck or ward off evil.

Of the numerous talismans that still persist I suppose the asafetida bag is the one of widest use. There is never a year that I fail to find it in use in some part of the state, in the open country, in coal-mining towns, in villages of the old type, even in cities. Some of the best students I have taught have assured me that they wore an asafetida bag when they were younger, to be like the other children if for no other purpose.

Rheumatism is probably as common as formerly, but it bears high-sounding names now and requires dieting, the extraction of teeth, the removal of appendixes, and other troublesome and expensive remedies. Rheumatiz, though, could be stopped dead in its tracks by the use of a buckeye carried in the pocket or by wearing a ring made of a horseshoe nail.

When I was teaching my first school, in 1907, I lived on a farm where a negro cropper's daughter, otherwise above the average in intelligence, whether of white or black folks, always wore around her neck a home-made necklace containing one of her own teeth. I never asked just what it was supposed to cure or prevent, but I just supposed that it must be a charm or talisman against toothache. Lately it has occurred to me that it may have been a voodoo charm, to ward off the evil eye of a rival or to prevent some witch from having power over her.

After all, red flannel must have been regarded much in the nature of a talisman, for common sense and reason would have long ago condemned it. The color itself had something to do with its charm, for I cannot recall having heard of any other color that was worn by babies and by people who feared rheumatiz and other fearful diseases. Infant mortality, I read, is much less than formerly. I wonder whether red flannel as a passing institution may not have had something to do with this condition.

Horseshoes are so common as signs of good luck that it seems almost superfluous to mention them. Rather oddly, though, people do not always agree what constitutes the proper position for the shoe, with the open or closed part up. Years ago I found horseshoes nailed over the door of every imaginable place: stock barns, smoke-houses, henhouses, pumping stations along the railroad. Undoubtedly many of these are still in their time-hallowed places.

New Series of Exams To Be Conducted

Frankfort, Ky.—J. P. Glasgow, supervisor of the state merit system committee, announced this week that another series of statewide, open competitive examinations for certain positions within the Unemployment Compensation Commission and the Old Age Assistance divisions would be given in the near future. The tentative date for the examinations has been set for June 21.

Glasgow explained that due to the rapid rise of employment in private industry, especially with reference to such positions as machine operators and clerk stenographers, the present eligible list is being rapidly depleted and that it is desirable to augment the register established by a previous examination.

Applications for participation in the examination will be accepted until midnight, May 24, Glasgow said. Application blanks may be obtained by writing the Merit System Supervisor, Division of Personnel, Frankfort, Ky., or from an area office of the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Commission. Such offices are located in Ashland, Bowling Green, Corbin, Covington, Frankfort, Harlan, Henderson, Hopkinsville, Lexington, Maysville, Middlesboro, Newport, Owensboro, Paducah, Pikeville, Somerset and Winchester.

The examinations will be held simultaneously in Ashland, Bowling Green, Covington, Frankfort, Harlan, Louisville, Murray, Pikeville, Owensboro, and Somerset. With the exception of Owensboro and Somerset, these are the same cities in which the previous examinations were held.

The positions for which the examinations will be held, with the annual salary range for each are as follows:

Addressing Equipment operator, $1,080-$1,320; Senior Addressing Equipment Operator, $1,389-$1,740; Duplicating Equipment operator, $1,200-$1,440; Senior Duplicating Equipment operator, $1,500-$1,740; Clerk-stenographer, $1,200-$1,440; Senior Clerk-stenographer, $1,500-$1,740.

Supervisor of Tabulating Equipment, $2,400-$3,000; Junior field auditor, $1,500-$1,800; Field auditor, $1,920-$2,280; Interviewer-examiner, $1,380-$1,800; Senior interviewer-examiner, $1,860-$2,160; Field worker, $1,080-$1,320; Senior field worker, $1,380-$1,740; Departmental Health Nurse, $1,620-$1,980.

Glasgow said examinations for the Old Age Assistance division are particularly necessary since in 83 of the state's 120 counties there are less than three persons upon the register for various positions with that agency.

A kind heart makes a homely face attractive.

FIRE DESTROYS LOUISA PLANT

DAMAGE OF $100,000 SUSTAINED MAY 15 AT LUMBERYARD

Louisa, Ky., May 15—Firemen resorted to dynamite Thursday in an effort to control flames which caused damage estimated at more than $100,000 at the Republic Crotching Company.

The blaze was believed to have originated in a sawdust pile. It ignited the company's saw and planing mills, quickly destroying them, and whipped by a hard wind, bridged the gap to the nearby lumberyard containing more than 1,000,000 feet of rough and finished lumber.

Fire Chief Jim Heston directed blasting efforts, no water supply being available at the plant, which is outside Louisa.

Three charges were set off, but each time the wind whipped the flames across the gap. Emergency call for dynamite were sent to nearby towns.

The plant is one of twenty-two operated by the company, which has headquarters in Indianapolis. It was established in Louisa three years ago and employed twenty-five men, besides providing employment for woodcutters and farmers of the district.

D. B. White, superintendent, could not be reached, but experienced lumbermen of the district said the damage might be considerably greater than the $100,000 estimate. The plant was the largest on the Big Sandy river.

The Harlan county grand jury indicted six men on charges of murder in connection with the April 3 shooting at Crummies Creek Coal Company where four men were killed and seven wounded. All were employees of the company each was placed under $5,000 bond.

SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

Volume XIV

Prestonsburg, Ky., Thursday, May 22, 1941

NUMBER 8

SOUTHERN MINES TO CONTINUE WORK

ISBELL CITES CROP NEEDS FOR MINERS

SAYS UNEMPLOYMENT STRAIN LESSENERD BY GOOD GARDEN

By COUNTY AGENT S. L. ISBELL
The number of farmers in Floyd county has increased from 2,773 to 4,026 in the last 10 years and, as a result, the average size of farms in the county have been reduced from 59.6 acres down to 39.6 acres, or a reduction of 20 acres per farm.

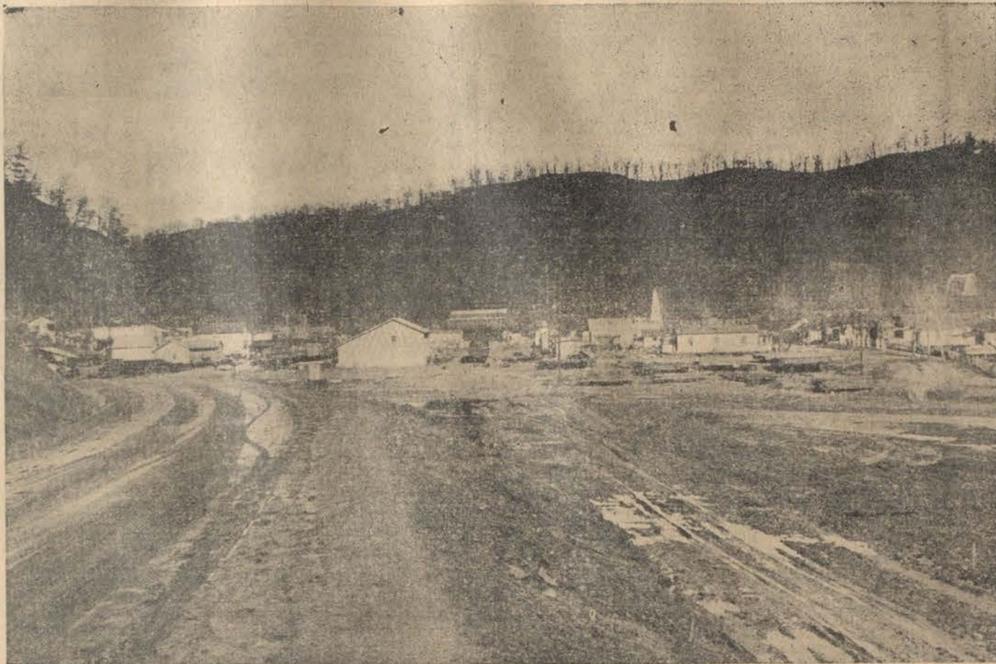

At the present time there are 2,368 farms in the county of less than 30 acres in size or 58 per cent of the total. This size farm, under the present agricultural system, is not large enough to support a farm family, so a large number of farm families are part-time farmers and work in coal mines, with gas companies, railroads or are receiving WPA employment.

The industrial worker who lives on a small farm where he can grow a garden, keep a small flock of chickens and a milk cow is improved from a financial standpoint because of reduced cost of living, and also has a much better chance of giving his family a better food supply and his cash income will also permit him to secure things for his family that he cannot produce on his own farm.

A well-kept garden with the surplus products canned for winter use, is worth on the average about $350 per acre while the milk produced from one cow adds another $100 worth of food to the farmer's food supply. Thus it can be readily seen that a farmer who lives on a small farm can survive industrial unemployment much more easily than a non-farm family.

It should also be pointed out, however, that a farm of that size in this county will not provide steady year-around employment and that some type of non-farm work will be necessary to give this farmer a decent standard of living.

FROM START TO FINISH OF RAILWAY UP MIDDLE CREEK TO LICK FORK

WAGE PARLEY DISPUTANTS IN TRUCE

LEWIS ADAMANT IN WAGE RAISE DEMANDS

An agreement to continue production of soft coal during further negotiations between Southern Appalachian operators and the United Mine Workers of America (U. M. W.) was announced Saturday night in New York City, by William H. Davis, vice-chairman of the National Defense Mediation Board.

Davis said conferences between operators and the union would continue in New York, and if no agreement was reached by 10 a. m. Friday, both sides would report at that time before the Mediation Board in Washington.

Negotiators had indicated previous to Saturday night's meeting with Davis that they were unable to reach agreement. John L. Lewis, union chieftain, had said a work stoppage might begin Wednesday of this week among the 330,000 miners in the east state Appalachian area.

After his conference with the soft coal miners and operators Saturday night, Davis announced that should it be necessary for negotiations to be resumed before the Mediation Board, it was understood that the present retroactive agreement would be in effect, that the status quo would be maintained and the mines kept in full operation.

"We are aware," he said, "of the meeting scheduled for Monday of the National Policy Committee of the United Mine Workers to receive a report from the union's negotiating committee. We have been given assurance that our request will be granted."

"The mines will be kept in operation so that we can meet with production of coal going on and can continue our discussions in Washington for a reasonable time while production still continues."

Negotiations were resumed Monday. Davis had called Saturday night's meeting for "the purpose of stabilizing the situation." He said the soft coal situation had aroused "some uneasiness."

His announcement marked the second time the Mediation Board has intervened in the soft coal dispute. When the Southern operators bolted the joint Appalachian conference last month and established a separate bargaining group in Washington, the board brought to effect an agreement.

After a personal appeal by Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, the Southern operators resumed negotiations and the mines, closed a month, were re-opened under a tentative agreement.

Wage demands stood in the way of settlement in both branches of the industry.

The average wage rate in the Southern Appalachian soft coal fields is $5.60 a day. The union is seeking an increase of $1.40, to match the $7-a-day wage agreed to by the Northern operators, who previously had paid $6 a day. The Southern group has offered an increase of $1, but balked at the added 40 cents.

S. T. Putnam, of Beckley, W. Va., spokesman for the Southern soft coal operators, asserted in a statement Saturday that "the real issue is the continuance of the right to own and manage private property or surrender to the union's nationalization program."

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, has contended that the operators have already raised coal prices sufficiently to cover a daily wage increase from $5.60 to $7.

BAND, CHORUS REHEARSE

FOR APPEARANCE AT COUNTYWIDE GRADUATION

Fifty-five members of the Floyd County Band, a composite of instrumentalists from eight county high schools, rehearsed here Saturday for the part they will play at the county-wide graduation exercises here Friday evening.

Jesse Elliott, band instructor, said that plans for a music program larger than that of last year include the possibility of presenting a short concert for the processional.

Rehearsing with the band were 70 members of the Floyd County Chorus. Mrs. Palmer Hall said approximately 100 students are expected to form the chorus appearing at the graduation exercises.

Represented in the rehearsal were the Betsy Layne, Prestonsburg, Martin, Maytown, Garrett, McDowell, Wheelwright, Wayland and Auxier schools.

Band members present for Saturday's rehearsal were:

SHIKE'S POKES

(Views expressed in this column are those of the writer and not necessarily those of The Times)

Well, this week brings back memories of the false prosperity of the boom era—for wasn't it on the 21st of May that Lindy and the spirit of St. Louis made their memorable trip—when a man could buy a little batch of stock and wake up a millionaire—when the stocks of all the worthwhile railroads in Europe were sold in the American market—with official blessing? Lindy was asked to give college because of his poor grades—yet, after his flight, he was covered with college diplomas—of course That was the time we were just riding for the fall—then, about 14 years ago, a bunch of dumb cluck Senators, business men, etc., bring the dumb aviator back and that we should heed his advice about how to run this country—the only claim to states—that he has is the 33 years he spent flying to France. because he wears the iron cross no reason we will. The plane that made the trip—the Spirit of St. Louis, is in the museum. And it is to be plain about it that is just where its owner should be—in a museum as a relic of our great nothingness.

A Jitterbug has its good points—for last week, when the jitterbug broke loose in the Stumbo and trapped the Jitterbug, he split his arm around a cross-bar covering him all up but a narrow escape—well, but a jitterbug could have that shape without breaking some bones.

Many of you fellows know that M. is learning to be a pilot and from the first he was kinda nervous? He held the stick and froze the stick and bombed his own place of.

Beginning to believe that the bombing of the German work is having its effect. They must be getting short of bombs, for on May 10th that being short of bombs drops BUM in Scotland.

Good can Hess do Britain? I hope that it wasn't his neck of his ankle that was broken. After all, a Nazi is a Nazi in country—and why waste food? And we know that the reports of him being crazy are—for it takes a d— fool to believe in Hitler.

General Sherman was right when he said, "War is hell." And in this time we can add "on Allen, 1. Nice going, Mr. The Allen sluggers were four hits.

We are committed to all-out for Britain—we'd be darned to let the products of our be sunk by German submarines. Let's CONVOY them and sure that supplies arrive.

Some little ragged fellow up in this section failed to answer the call of his draft board he and be arrested and probably be three to five years in prison—Lindbergh, showing his yellow streak when fighting draws near, "resigns" from the army and hangs grimly on to his Iron If Mr. Lindy would pull a "trick" and parachute to earth where in "Axis" territory the ole USA would be the winner. We who have to do the actual fighting are glad and proud to fight our way of life, but we hate hell to protect such things as Lindbergh.

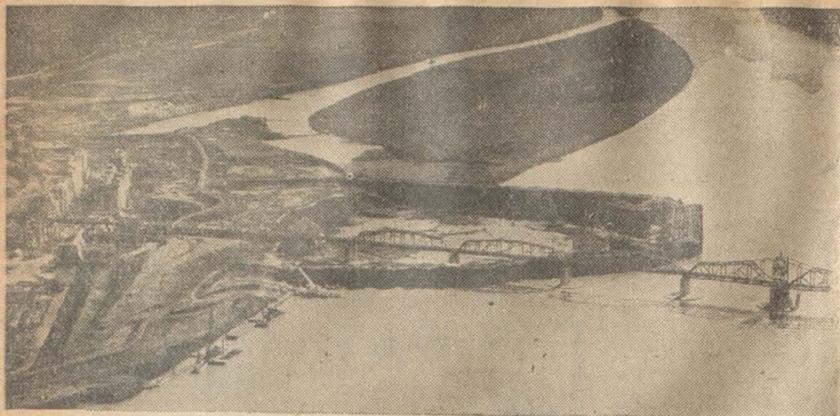

Our Left Beaver road now under construction is in the same shape as the number three Nazi—"In a of a Hess."

TVA Dam At Gilbertsville Ky., Is Largest Federal Project East Of The Mississippi

KENTUCKY DAM FROM THE AIR—This aerial view of the Tennessee Valley Authority's Kentucky Dam at Gilbertsville, on the Tennessee river in Western Kentucky shows, at the left, the navigation lock, which soon will be completed, and in the center, the coffer dam. Visitors may view the construction work from the bridge which spans the stream. Because of its large storage capacity and its strategic location near the confluence of the Tennessee and Ohio rivers, the dam will be important for flood control in the Mississippi as well as the Tennessee and lower Ohio Valleys.

(This is one of a series of articles sponsored by the Kentucky Press Association which in 1941 would tell Kentuckians of Kentucky as Kentucky should tell the world in 1942—Sequel-Centennial Year.)

By JOE LAGORE
Managing Editor, Paducah Sun-Democrat

UNCLE SAM'S largest construction project in the eastern half of the country is in Western Kentucky.

At Gilbertsville on the Tennessee river 22½ miles upstream from Paducah, the Tennessee Valley Authority is in the third year of the construction of its Kentucky Dam, which with its reservoir development will have cost about $105,000,000 when completed in 1945.

Kentucky Dam, largest of TVA's system of nine dams, will be a combined flood control and power project. Its reservoir will extend 184 miles to Pickwick Dam in Tennessee, and will have a shore line of approximately 1,800 miles, providing one of the finest fishing and water recreation grounds in the country. Provision is being made for the installation of generators which will provide 128,000 KW of electric power.

The dam is drawing hundreds of tourists daily to watch the construction operations, on which 2,000 workers are engaged. The public has not been barred from the site as from other big construction projects.

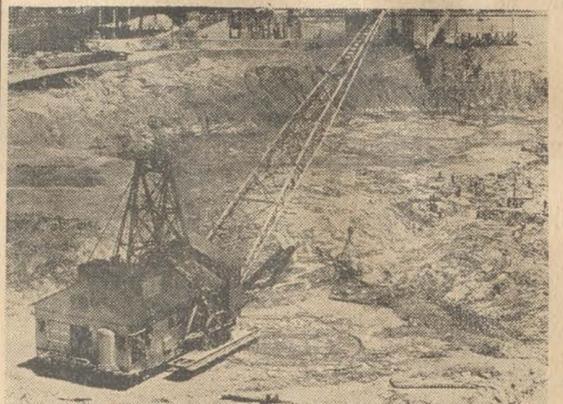

Paved roads lead to the dam site. It is easily accessible from Federal Highways 60, 62, 68, 45 and 51.

The dam is being built on a bed of solid limestone. Approximately 500,000 yards of overburden will be removed so that the concrete structure can be built directly on the rock, which extends to an average depth of 600 feet below the river bed.

The dam will be 3,650 feet in length, 160 feet in height, about 160 feet in width at the base and about 50 at the top. Across the top will be a railroad and perhaps a highway.

Many TVA workers and their families live in the TVA model village at Gilbertsville. There are 80 modern homes, 25 dormitories, and a modern school which the workers' children attend. There is also a mess hall for workers and visitors, a hospital, recreation hall, and numerous office buildings which combine to make a neat and attractive town.

George P. Jessup, who built the TVA's Wheeler dam, is the project manager of the Kentucky Dam.

UNTIL LAST NOVEMBER the area where this dragline is working was a part of the Tennessee river bed at the TVA's Kentucky Dam site. One of the greatest coffer dams ever erected in dam construction encloses this area, which covers about 40 acres. This giant dragline removes six cubic yards of material at a bite.

NEW VACCINE FOR INFLUENZA IS REPORTED

3 INFECTIOUS AGENTS SAID TO BE CAUSE OF DISEASE

A new influenza vaccine which has brought science a "step" closer to "eventual control" of one form of the disease is reported by Dr. Frank L. Horsfall, Jr., of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

He also disclosed that influenza, instead of being a disease of the two forms already known and classified as to cause, may be due to any one of at least three infectious agents and that all forms may break out concurrently during an epidemic. Cause of the newly-found type remains a mystery, he said.

The vaccine was used for the first time and the new conception of influenza was verified, Dr. Horsfall said.

said, during experiments conducted in various institutions of the country last winter when a widespread outbreak of the disease occurred in the nation.

Declaring "large groups" of persons participated in a controlled study, Dr. Horsfall told the American College of Physicians that some of the persons were vaccinated last fall with the new vaccine, which was designed solely to offset a known form of influenza called influenza "A." Other persons in a "control" group were not vaccinated.

The vaccine was prepared from chick embryos inoculated with both the influenza "A" virus, or germ, and a strain of the virus that causes distemper in dogs.

Several months later, he said, outbreaks of influenza occurred in a number of the institutions, and it was found that the incidence of the "A" form of the disease among those not vaccinated was twice as great as that among those who had received the vaccine.

Explaining, however, that this represented a collective figure and that there was a wide range of results among the institutions, Dr. Horsfall said:

"Obviously these results do not indicate that a satisfactory and trustworthy immunizing agent against influenza "A" has been found. On the other hand, the reduction in incidence observed is not negligible and suggests that a step, however small, has been made in the direction of the eventual control of the disease."

He said, too, that among the cases studied, there were outbreaks of a form of influenza known as "Influenza B" which, like the "A" type, is known to be caused by a submicroscopic organism known as a virus. Furthermore, Dr. Horsfall said, there were outbreaks of at least one other form of the disease which has been identified as of unknown origin.

S. NAVY AVIATORS HAILED FOR HEROIC RESCUE WORK

Two naval aviators who snatched a marine parachutist from death mid-air may receive the Navy Medal of Honor for their heroic work. The aviators, Lieut. W. W. Lowrey, of Dallas, Texas, and Aviation Lieutenant Mate J. R. McCantz, of Jordan, Mont., looked lightly on their spectacular feat. "Any experienced navy pilot could have done it," Lowrey said.

But others differed, particularly Marine Lieut. Walter S. Osipoff, 23, Akron, Ohio. He knew that were it not for Lowrey's skill and daring and for McCantz' bravery and strength, his life would have been forfeit when he leaped with his parachute from a marine transport plane over a navy landing field. The automatic chute release somehow failed to function. The static line snarled and left Osipoff dangling head down, below and aft the big plane. Passengers still aboard found they could not haul him back, and Capt. M. Johnson, pilot, headed for the field to draw attention to the parachutist's plight. Lowrey and McCantz, test pilots who had never flown together before, noticed Osipoff's predicament. They hurried into a navy biplane dive-bomber and took off in pursuit of the transport. Far out over the ocean and up to 1,500 feet they went, for the air over land was too rough for the precise flying their rescue plane entailed. Slowly the smaller plane nudged up under the larger. Within 20 feet of the transport's tail assembly, Pilot Lowrey held his ship, while McCantz reached over the side and hauled Osipoff in—as much as he could, considering the cockpit wouldn't hold two men. Then Lowrey pointed the nose of his plane directly at the lines attaching Osipoff to the transport and with a slice of the propeller snipped them through. Such close work did the maneuver require that the propeller nicked the bottom of the passenger ship and broke away a piece of metal. There were still ticklish moments. The partly-opened chute, cut free, flared over the front of Lowrey's cockpit and, until at last it blew backward, blinded the flier. "We didn't know where we were for a while," the lieutenant said. McCantz, too, had his difficulties. The force of the propeller's slipstream against Osipoff's partly-exposed body, and the drag of the chute, to which the marine was still attached, set up such a pull that navy officers said it must have required "superhuman strength" to hold the rescued man aboard.

County Board Asks Bids for Dwale School Work

The Floyd County Board of Education this week asked for bids on construction of a two-room brick school at Dwale, prices on two new school buses and bids on dismantling and removal of the five-room Stamper Branch school, near Wayland, to the Lick Fork of Middle Creek and its re-construction there. The Stamper Branch building is a frame structure, built in 1935, and is not needed, County Superintendent Hall said, since the Wayland school plant is being enlarged. One of the new school buses ordered will replace the old '36 bus in operation in the Mud Creek section; the other will be an addition to the present fleet of buses bearing students to and from school daily, bringing the number of such conveyances owned by the board of education to 10 for the next school year.

Flying Cadets To Be Trained At Colleges

Washington—The army, ordering an intensive campus recruiting campaign for air corps pilots, announced a decision to train flying cadets from each college as an individual unit. The decision was admittedly intended as an incentive to qualifying youths to become army pilots. The army did not say so, but it appeared it might also mean carrying college athletic rivalries into flight training. Cadets from the same city also will be trained together. Instructions went to corps area commanders to concentrate recruiting efforts on students in the few remaining weeks of the college year as the air corps accelerates the training of pilots from 12,000 to 30,000 a year. Outstanding athletes and campus leaders, officials said, will be sought as organizers of units of 20 flying cadets, each of which the War Department promised to keep intact during the training period of 7½ months. There was no promise, however, to keep units together indefinitely in the manner of the Eagle squadron of Americans in Britain's Royal Air Force of existing National Guard organizations.

Fisherman Gets Last Laugh On Game Warden

Dallas, Texas—Here's a fish story where the fisherman had the last laugh, and not the game warden as usual: One of the state's hawkeyes was strolling around Dallas county fishing locations, and saw a negro with a tremendous catfish. "I'll give you $2 for that fish," offered the minion of the law. When the negro demurred, the man raised the ante to $5. The deal was closed, and the warden, with a gleam in his eye, declared: "Now, you're under arrest. You just sold me a fish and you don't have a license to sell fish." "You're wrong, boss," grinned the negro. Sure enough, he produced the necessary license. And he kept the $5 despite his would-be captor's protests.

Historical Papers To Be Stored Secretly

Washington—The Library of Congress is preparing for secret storage of the originals of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, George Washington's papers and other irreplaceable documents, in case the future makes such storage necessary. The hiding of this priceless material, it was said, is part of an elaborate plan to guard the library's valuable collection from any rain of bombs and shells.

Wages Quadruple Material Cost

A survey shows that wage and salary costs account for two-thirds of the total selling price of aircraft, trucks and other defense materials. Wage and salary costs in defense industries, the report said, "are four times as important as material costs."

"Because German wage levels average only one-third of American standards, and Hitler has in addition the advantage of a large "slave labor" force, the $36,000,000 United States defense program now under way will be equal to about $15,000,000,000 to $18,000,000,000 of German armament expenditures, the report said.

The survey was based on figures "secured from plants representing from 30 per cent to 90 per cent of the various industries involved in producing raw materials, parts and finished aircraft, trucks and tractors."

According to the survey, the average United States aircraft manufacturer pays 28 per cent of his selling price for direct labor, another 12 per cent for indirect labor (supervision, designing and testing) and 39 per cent for parts and materials.

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

I hereby declare myself a candidate for the office of Jailer subject to the action of the Democratic party at the August primary.

I am a son of old Greenville Stumbo who was born and reared at McDowell, on Left Beaver Creek. He was a farmer and rafted timber from McDowell to Catlettsburg and was well-known up and down the Big Sandy. He never held public office of any kind.

I have but few promises to make to the people. I served as Deputy Jailer under Mr. Halbert, about one year and a half until I resigned. The prisoners who served sentences during the time I was Deputy Jailer can tell you about me, what kind of a man I was. I will promise the people that, if elected, I will give all a square deal and keep the jail in good, sanitary condition at all times. My second promise is, if elected, I will make away with those pig pens and serve the prisoners from trays and have tables in the jail for the prisoners to eat off. My third promise: When any prisoner is thrown in jail and wants bond, I will help him get bond instead of holding him there for his board. Fathers and mothers, I will treat your sons and daughters right. When they are in my care I will not blackmail them or abuse them; and, if elected, my door will be open to all to come in and visit at any time and I will be at your service at all times.

Elect me to this office for the next four years and I will not ask for the office again. I will stand back and let some other poor man have a chance.

If elected, I will make you all forget about the other Stumbos who have held office in this county. My motto is, "Live and let live."

Your friend, and Floyd county's next Jailer, J. C. W. BECKHAM STUMBO. (Pol. adv.) McDowell, Ky.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

J. M. TURNER of Wayland, Ky.

Democratic primary, August 2.

I was born and reared in Floyd county and expect to remain here all my life. I think I know the people's problems, being one of them, and will do my best to do the things that are so obviously needed.

Frontier Sells Lease To New York Man

READER'S PHILOSOPHY

Sooner or later, a man, if he is wise, discovers that life is a mixture of good days and bad, victory and defeat, give and take.

He learns that it doesn't pay to be a sensitive soul; that he should let some things go over his head like water off a duck's back.

He learns that he who loses his temper usually loses out. He learns that all men have burnt toast for breakfast, now and then, and that he shouldn't take the other fellow's grouch too seriously.

He learns that carrying a chip on his shoulder is the easiest way to get into a fight. He learns that the quickest way to become unpopular is to carry tales and gossip about others. He learns that buck-passing always turns out to be a boomerang, and that it never pays. He comes to realize that the business could run along perfectly well without him. He learns that it doesn't matter so much who gets the credit so long as the business shows profit.

He learns that even the janitor is human and that it doesn't do any harm to smile and say "GOOD MORNING," even if it is raining. He learns that most of the other fellows are as ambitious as he is, that they have brains that are as good or better, and that hard work and not cleverness is the secret of success. He learns to sympathize with the youngsters coming into the business, because he remembers how bewildered he was when he first started out.

He learns not to worry when he loses an order, because experience has shown that if he always gives his best, his average will break pretty well. He learns that no man ever got to first base alone, and that it is only through cooperative effort that we move on to better things. He learns that bosses are not monsters, trying to get the last ounce of work out of him for the least amount of pay, but that they are usually fine men who have succeeded through hard work and who want to do the right thing.

He learns that folks are not any harder to get along with in one place than another, and that the "getting along" depends about 93 per cent on his own behavior.

HEALTH NEWS

Outbreaks of both scarlet fever and measles were reported here this week.

Homes of Johnny Hagans and V. A. Smiley were quarantined after Barbara Ann Hagans, 4, and Donald Smiley, 7, became ill of scarlet fever. The Floyd County Health department also quarantined all known contacts of the two children.

Measles were so widespread here that no estimate of the number of cases were available.

Dr. Marvin Ransdel, health department director, issued the following advice relative to scarlet fever:

"Scarlet fever is a contagious and serious disease. Grown people may catch scarlet fever, but children under 15 years are most likely to have it, if exposed. It is especially dangerous for children under five years, and for babies. Do not let your children take any chances with scarlet fever. Call the doctor as soon as the symptoms described are noticed.

How Scarlet Fever Is Spread

"The germs of scarlet fever are spread through discharges from the nose and throat and sometimes from the ears of a person sick with the disease. The person just coming down with scarlet fever or in the first stages of the disease is most likely to give it to others.

How to Recognize It

"If your child is going to have scarlet fever, the first signs you may notice are that he seems tired, restless, and out of sorts. Usually there is a sore throat, chill, vomiting, or convulsion. The child has fever. His skin is dry and hot. His tongue is furred, and under this white covering it is red and swollen.

"In ordinary cases these early signs are followed in a day or two by a rash. Little flat red points, close together, appear first on the neck and chest. Soon the rash is over most of the body and is brilliant in color.

WHAT TO DO IF YOUR CHILD HAS SCARLET FEVER

Put him in a room by himself at once and do not allow others to come near him.

Call the doctor. Follow his instructions as to food, clothing, and general care.

The doctor may wish to use scarlet fever antitoxin if the case is serious.

Do not let the child get up and be active until the doctor says he is able. This is very important, because the heart and kidneys are often affected by scarlet fever.

Careful nursing may be necessary after the skin has peeled and the child is apparently well.

How to Protect Others

"The doctor is required by law to report the case to the Health Department. Do your part by following quarantine instructions.

"Children who have had scarlet fever or who have been exposed must not return to school until permission has been given by the health officer.

"The same precautions are necessary for a mild case as for a severe one. Remember that scarlet fever is the same as scarlet fever.

"A severe or fatal case of scarlet fever may develop from contact with someone who has only a light attack."

RE EXTENSIVE PROGRAM BY CONSERVATIONISTS

By JAMES J. GILPIN

Frankfort, Ky., May 16—With the seventh annual convention of the League of Kentucky Sportsmen ended, representatives of game and fish clubs and other interested conservationists are beginning to make plans for a more extensive program of wildlife restoration in the state during the coming year.

Burt L. Monroe, of Anchorage, was elected president of the League, succeeding Dennis Gooch, of Somerset, as the concluding event of the group's annual meeting.

The five vice-presidents chosen at the same time, are Harry Nicholson, Ashland; Dr. H. O. Randall, Columbia; Joe B. Bredt, Covington; W. J. Helm, Paducah, and Bowen Carter, Frankfort. Dennis Gooch was re-appointed editor of the League's magazine, "The Kentucky Sportsman," and Mrs. Gooch was named business manager.

Throughout the entire convention the tone of thought presented by the speakers dealt with the importance of wildlife habitat improvement, rather than the increased propagation and distribution of wild game and fish.

Governor Keen Johnson, in his address before more than 200 delegates and members at the convention banquet of the League, praised the work of S. A. Wakefield as director of the Kentucky Division of Game and Fish. Governor Johnson stated that "the Commission is functioning with greater efficiency and better results than ever before." He added that not all of the credit was due to Mr. Wakefield as director, because the aid and interest of the sportsmen had a great deal to do with the results.

The Governor said that "the deadwood has been weeded out of the Commission," and that Wakefield is "destined to be the best game and fish Commission director the state has ever had."

Addressing the assemblage, Wakefield said that "the director of the Game and Fish Commission must have the help and co-operation of the sportsmen regardless of who the director at Frankfort might be." He said that the state was hampered in enforcement of game and fish laws because it now has funds for only 40 wardens, each of whom must handle three counties.

He added, however, that three federal agencies, the Fish and Wildlife Service, the Division of Forestry and the Soil Conservation unit were working in Kentucky for the conservation of game and fish.

Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington, D. C., said that feeding grounds and re-stocking were of equal importance in the conservation of migratory water fowl and fish. The population of migratory waterfowl, he said, is beginning to show a "substantial increase."

The 1942 convention was voted to Frankfort, with no other bid being submitted. Either Paducah or Owensboro, or both, are expected to bid next year.

Three "request" resolutions were adopted by the delegates:

1. For a substantial increase in the appropriation for the State Division of Forestry.
2. For the consideration of recreational possibilities in all matters of water-use in Kentucky.
3. For the use of the entire funds available for federal aid to wildlife projects which come under the provisions of the Pittman-Robertson Act.

Five matters were referred to the legislative committee for disposal:

1. A spawning season close on the taking of frogs.
2. A closed season on fishing in navigable streams.
3. A restriction on the possession of ferrets.
4. More adequate protection for squirrels.
5. A provision that the men in the U. S. armed services stationed in Kentucky be allowed to fish and hunt with resident licenses.

Three endorsement resolutions were passed:

1. For the pure water bills pending in Congress.
2. For the Buck bill also pending in Congress, which would set up federal aid for fish restoration.
3. For the co-operation of Governor Keen Johnson and the agencies in the state government with the league.

The list of 40 directors for the state will not be completed for several weeks.

Delegates to the convention represented the 15,000 members of the 123 local clubs in 97 of Kentucky's 120 counties. It was resolved that by the time the eighth convention of the League is assembled in Frankfort next May the remaining 23 counties will have game and fish organizations within their boundaries and the entire state will be organized behind the program of the Division of Game and Fish.

Lawrence County Enters 'Dry' Column

Lawrence county Saturday became Kentucky's 53rd county to go back into the "dry" column. Voting in a special local option election, the dry forces carried 15 of 23 precincts and totaled 2,068 votes to 1,335, a majority of 733 for local option.

The county has had the sale of liquor and beer since 1936, when the election returns favored the "wets" by a margin of 186 votes.

The five Louisa precincts voted 763 for local option, to 443 against. A petition was filed in March by the Louisa W.C.T.U. to secure the special election.

HIGH PRICES NOT NECESSARY IN WAR, DECLARES ECONOMIST

By DANA G. CARD
University of Kentucky
College of Agriculture

Although in the past our periods of extremely high prices of both agricultural and non-agricultural products have been associated with war, they are not a necessary part of war-time activity. Memory of the hardship suffered by many farmers from falling prices following the World War of 1914-18, stimulates interest in avoiding similar hardships in the future. If prices can be kept from going up, they will not have to come down.

Rising prices in times of war come largely from three causes: (1) Competitive bidding for goods and raw materials between private citizens and their government; (2) Disrupted supplies as a result of decreased production, interrupted shipping, or greater risk in transportation; (3) Depreciation of currency as a result of extended government credit, or the attitude of the people.

Disruption of normal food supplies for England, is now placing special demands upon this country for such products as pork, dairy products, and eggs. In other wars currency depreciation played a vital part in raising prices. Supplies of money alone do not create higher prices, however, as illustrated by the fact that money in circulation in the United States now is nearly 50 per cent greater than in 1935, and bank deposits are about 80 per cent larger. If the other causes begin to take effect, however, plentiful currency and credit make it easier for prices to rise.

WANNA KNOW ABOUT HESS?—C.-J. WRITER REVEALS ALL

By SAM BRIGHTMAN
(In The Courier-Journal)

UNTIL Friday night I enjoyed the dubious distinction of being the only typewriter owner in the United States who had not written a piece giving the true inside facts on the Hess affair, or l'affaire Hess, as the more experienced war experts call it in their fluent French.

That is the chief of the whole matter. Hitler is a very nervous man and he bites his toenails, so that they never grow long and always live like Hess'. Furthermore, Hess favors red toenails, and Hitler thinks coral pink is a nice shade.

Friday night I got tired of urchins following me and jeering, "Yah, he don't know the inside of l'affaire Hess!" I started checking over my qualifications to write the inside story on Hess and I found they were pretty good.

Now, Hess' chief rival as a successor to Hitler is Goering, who wears a hair net when he plays tennis but keeps his favorite shade of tomato polish a closely guarded secret. Now Hess did not wear a hair net when he played tennis and this made Goering jealous. Also he kept going around saying to Goering, "Hey you wish for hair-net why don't you wear a hair-net?"

I had never seen Hess, the Duke of Hamilton, Hitler or any of the other persons involved in the case and all the information I had was what I read in the newspapers. This put me on a par with the other experts except for the fact that I spent a little time in Germany before the war. However, I frittered away most of this time in museums and beer halls, and didn't learn much of anything—so I figured that the mere fact that I had been in the country shouldn't rule me out as an expert. I am now an expert, please.

The result of all this was that Hitler and Goering, whom Hess called "Dutch," got too up with Hess and his red nail polish. This brought on a quarrel, and Hess flew into a rage and into Scotland to get some red nail polish. In return for a Woodworth store his agent gave him away and he was captured.

A New Angle On It

The first thing you have to realize about Hess is that he is either sane or insane. This is very important, because if he is sane, then he was obviously crazy when he made his flight to Scotland—although on the other hand perhaps he really likes bagpipe music.

Hitler and Goering, whom Hess called "Dutch," got too up with Hess and his red nail polish. This brought on a quarrel, and Hess flew into a rage and into Scotland to get some red nail polish. In return for a Woodworth store his agent gave him away and he was captured.

That is the story I got from my German underground sources about to high places and it definitely disproves the theory of other experts that the red on Hess' toenails was poison and that he meant to take off his shoes and poison Churchill if he could secure an interview with the British Prime Minister.

In conclusion I want to point out that the capture of Hess by the British will have little effect on the outcome of the war, because Hitler has thousands of young men with red toenails in reserve.

YOU GOTTA TELL 'EM

The other day a merchant in a nearby town saw a farmer returning goods at the station from a mail order house. The goods were in his line, and the same he had carried in his store for years.

He approached the farmer and said: "I could have sold you every article you have there for less money than the Chicago house and saved you the freight besides."

"Then why on earth didn't you say so?" answered the farmer. "I have taken the local paper for years and have never seen a line about you selling these goods. The Chicago house sent advertising matter to me asking for my business, they got it."—Big Sandy News.

Now, regarding his peace plan that some so-called experts say that Hess brought with him, how do we know Hess is his right name? This fellow Hitler should have been called Schickelgruber and the Duke of Hamilton changed his name from something else a few years ago and his sister-in-law is named Prunella, so you see what kind of shifty people we're up against. Regarding the peace plan, I would say that time will tell, although on the other hand it may not.

Toenails Vs. Hair Net

The story, as I get it through my own underground German sources, is that the peace plan is the old malarkey and the simple truth is that Hess flew to England in a rage after a spat with Hitler.

Here is the story I get from my secret sources:

Madison county farmers planted approximately 4,000 acres to hybrid corn, compared to 1,800 acres last year.

Hess paints his toenails red, as dispatches from England report.

Laurel county farmers are growing 175 acres of potatoes and 38 acres of onions for northern markets.
