

This Town-- That World

THOUGHTS ON A SPRING DAY:

Can deadly fallout be coming from skies as blue and friendly as today's? The poet raptly asked, "What is so rare as a day in June?" In Kentucky we prefer April, a time when Nature's regeneration and resurrection almost literally burst upon the eye. How I would like to a-fishin' go...

WHO WON?

Time was when the Russians excelled in the tragic novel. These days, their talent for fiction is turned to propaganda. Did you read the report the Russians gave out on the results of an athletic event in which only two teams—one Soviet, the other from the United States—competed, and which the U. S. won? This is the Russian report: "The Soviet team placed second. The U. S. team was next to last."

Roy Ramey last Friday pulled a 200-pounder from Dewey Lake. Says, judging from the yelp his "catch" put up, it wasn't a sucker but a largemouth. See Mr. Ramey or Earl Castle for the dripping details.

MINE MISHAP HURTS WOMAN

Garrett Woman's Leg Crushed by Rockfall As Abandoned Operation

The first woman known to have been injured in a Floyd county coal mine accident is 38-year-old Bessie Gibson, of Garrett, who was trapped last Friday by a rockfall in a small working on Stone Coal. The woman's left leg was so badly crushed that it later was amputated, above the knee, at the McDowell Memorial hospital. Her other leg was badly injured and may require amputation, it was said this week.

The accident took place about 4 p.m. in a country coal-bank at the rear of the Gibson home. The woman had gone inside the mine to get the family supply of coal. With her was a five-year-old girl who barely escaped as a portion of the roof collapsed. The child spread the alarm, and the injured woman was soon on her way to the hospital.

The coal operation is one at which nobody has been employed, and so the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals does not have jurisdiction over it, said Willard Stanley, of the Department's district office here.

GRAND JURY REPORTS 8-DAY PROBE RESULT

HALL YOUTH IS INDICTED IN SLAYING

Club Investigation Is Fruitless, Report; New Courthouse Asked

The lone murder indictment voted by the April grand jury named 15-year-old James Hall on a willful murder count for the shotgun slaying at Wheelwright of his father, John M. Hall. His is the only murder case on the court docket.

The jury at the end of eight days' work reported 41 indictments which accuse 54 individuals of crimes.

In a final report to Judge Hill the grand jury pointed out that its investigation of reported liquor traffic and gambling at the Veterans Club, Martin, and in the head of Left Beaver section of the county was fruitless because "we were not able to secure any information from which we felt action could be taken." The report, signed by Joe I. May, foreman, said a number of witnesses were summoned at the request of citizens in the Martin, Melvin and Wheelwright Junction areas but that those who appeared before the grand jury "were unable to enlighten us on any illegal activities..."

The jury reported it found the courthouse and jail in as good condition as could be expected as far as cleanliness is concerned. "We believe," it continued, "the jailer is doing a good job with what he has to do with."

The jury recommended that "action be taken to obtain better buildings for the jailer to work in. We strongly urge that any and all action be taken to construct a new courthouse."

The grand jury also recommended that Bill Hughes be released from jail because of his physical condition. It expressed the feeling that he is unjustly accused. He was jailed on a charge of molesting his step-daughter.

Noting the large number of non-support and child desertion cases the jury asked that the courts do their part toward reuniting the parties involved. One of the 54 persons indicted—listed in the indictment as Dean Castle—this week drew two one-year pen terms under two names. As Kermit Castle he was convicted of grand larceny. As Dean Castle he was given a year for jail breaking. He and three others escaped jail here recently, but he soon surrendered. His two terms are to run concurrently. (See Story No. 1, Page 5)

Youth Rally for Area Slated Here Saturday

The Associational youth rally for all churches in the four-county Enterprise Association will be held Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m., at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here.

Enterprise Association includes the counties of Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin.

ROAD MONEY IS RECEIVED

Bond Sale Proceeds Assure Turnpike Work To Be Speeded by State

Building 33 more miles of the Eastern Kentucky Turnpike, from Campton to Salyersville, will be speeded now that the money is at hand, Highway Commissioner Henry Ward said Friday.

The Kentucky Turnpike Authority received last week the proceeds from the sale of $29,000,000 in revenue bonds to finance the extension of the toll highway.

Ward said that appraisals of property have been finished and that representatives of the Department are negotiating with landowners. Contracts are expected to be let in early summer for construction work on this section of the turnpike.

The two-lane, controlled-access road will have interchanges with KY 15 east of Campton, at KY 1010, with KY 205 and KY 191 near Helechawa, at KY 30, and at KY 7. The turnpike will end one mile east of Salyersville at a junction with KY 114.

It will give eastern Kentucky a high-type highway extending 76 miles from Interstate-64 near Winchester.

Former Store Manager Of Inland Steel Dies; Rites Slated Friday

Arvid Little, 63, former store manager for the Inland Steel Company and other coal mining operations, died at his home in Pikeville at 4:10 a.m., Wednesday. Death followed an illness of seven years.

Before moving to Pikeville, he and his wife, the former Sue Huff, of Hueysville, lived in Ashland and Huntington, in the latter city owning and operating an antique shop. He was a member of the First Christian Church, Pikeville.

Besides his widow, he is survived by his father, Kano Little, of Heller, one brother, Elmer Little, of Heller, and a sister, Mrs. Sedie Anderson, Pikeville.

Funeral rites will be conducted Friday afternoon from the First Christian Church, Pikeville, the Rev. Joseph A. Garshaw, Jr., officiating. Burial will be made in Johnson Memorial Park under direction of the Baker Funeral Home.

WHEELWRIGHT PUPIL WINS SPELLING BEE

Nora Johnson, eighth grade pupil at the Wheelwright consolidated school, won the 1962 spelling championship in the Floyd county spelling bee held here Saturday and at the same time qualified for the right to represent the county in the Herald-Dispatch regional bee to be held in Huntington, West Virginia.

She won over a field of 20 school champions. The new title is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Estill Johnson, and is a pupil of Arlan Isaac.

The Wheelwright girl won over Patricia Vance, of the Beaver school's seventh grade. Patricia stumbled on "relief," then Miss Johnson spelled that word and the next, "sunset."

The county contest was held at the grade school here, with Lawrence B. Price pronouncing the words. Parents and teachers served as judges.

GROUP BUYS FIRE TRUCK

Burchett Announces Successful Bidders On Chassis, Equipment

The Community Fire Department, recently organized to serve Allen, Dwale and other Floyd county communities which do not have fire protection, has entered into a contract to purchase a truck and equipment, it was announced this week by Graham Burchett, president of the organization.

Successful bidder on the truck chassis was the Johnson Motor Company, of Martin, with a price of $3,558.16. A contract to equip the chassis was awarded to Sutphin Fire Equipment Company, Columbus, Ohio, on its bid of $7,673.73 to furnish and install the equipment.

Burchett, in announcing the awards, noted that the department is in need of funds to pay for the truck and equipment. The department has raised approximately one-half the amount needed and will continue a drive for funds until the entire amount is raised.

"We thought that since we had one-half the money needed and the communities were in need of fire protection that we should go ahead and obligate ourselves for approximately $6,900," Burchett said. He noted that the department would have 90 days in which to complete the fund drive and pay for the truck and equipment.

SCALF'S BODY DISCOVERED

Missing Endicott Man Found In Swimming Pool At Ohio Amusement Park

The body of Ralph Scalf, 27, of Endicott, was found at 1 p.m. Monday in a Zanesville, Ohio, swimming pool. He had been missing since March 22 when he had not reported for work at an amusement company park.

An intensive search for Scalf was begun the day after his disappearance was reported by Mrs. Tim Nolan, wife of his employer, who said the victim had checked all his clothing in the firm's office immediately following his arrival but had not used the room or reported for breakfast.

The body was discovered by Charles Decker, an elderly maintenance employee who drained Mokahala Park swimming pool to ready it for use this season. The body was lying in 12 feet of water, the deepest section of the pool.

No evidence of foul play was found on the body, according to Fred B. Uffner, Muskingum county sheriff, and an autopsy report made by Muskingum county Coroner, Dr. S. S. Daw, reported death was due to accidental drowning. The victim's two pocketbooks containing $23 were still in his pocket. Uffner said he had been drinking at a nearby tavern and was last seen at 12:30 a.m.

Scalf, who was employed by Nolan last year, received a wire in mid-March from his employer to report for maintenance work, which consisted chiefly of painting. He went by bus to Dayton, Ohio, where Nolan picked him up and the two bought a supply of paint and drove to Zanesville.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Scalf, parents of the victim, spent considerable (See Story No. 4, Page 3)

Former Residents' Child Victim In West Virginia While Playing At Mine

Seventeen Cases Found In Charles Osborne Car; Parent of Truant Jailed

A seven-year-old daughter of a former Betsy Layne family was fatally injured at Hatcher, West Virginia, Monday evening, in a freak accident near a mine while she and several other children were playing.

The child, Vicki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Blankenship, and her playmates had gone on a mine railway track and a loosened mine car ran over her. She lived but a short time.

Funeral rites were conducted today (Thursday) at the home at Hatcher and burial was made there.

RESCUE SQUAD SEEKS FUNDS

For Diving Equipment; Captain Burchett Notes Vain Government Appeals

The Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad has three qualified divers but no diving equipment, it was pointed out this week by Graham Burchett, captain of the squad.

He pointed out the efforts the group has been making to procure the necessary equipment for the trained divers.

"All our present funds are used to keep present equipment maintained and replaced," he said. "As sufficient funds were not available to purchase diving equipment, a request was made to our former governor and the present one, asking for this equipment on a donor basis. Our Congressional representatives were contacted and informed of our need and with no luck at all."

The Squad, failing to procure the equipment through these channels, is now asking the general public to furnish the funds.

"As various business houses are asked to donate time and again to the Squad, I feel it is time for individuals of the county to assist in the purchase of the needed diving equipment," Burchett said.

"This equipment will make our rescue operations more effective and our lives may depend on the efficiency of these men and the type of equipment at their disposal during an emergency," he added.

Twelve individuals and firms have agreed to receive funds on this drive to buy diving equipment, it is said.

They are Adkins' Steak House, Maytown, Luther Adkins store, at Betsy Layne, John Brock, Wheelwright, Carter & Callihan Funeral Home, Prestonsburg, Dermon's store, Martin, Foster Stumbo, McDowell, Fountain Korner Drug, Prestonsburg, J. E. Campbell, Garrett, Bennie Lafferty, Allen, T. A. Patton, Auxier Allen Stone, Blue River, and Wright's Jewelry Store, Prestonsburg. Checks may also be made payable to Treasurer, Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad, Equipment Purchasing Fund, Prestonsburg.

RAY CRUSHED BY COAL CARS

At Ligon Operation; Death of Tipple-Man Under Investigation

William M. Ray, 63, tipple-man for the Beaver Mining Company, Ligon, was fatally injured late Tuesday afternoon when crushed between two loaded coal cars. He died at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin, at 8:30 p.m., about four hours after the accident.

It was said that he was dropping loaded cars down on the siding beneath the tipple and was riding one car which was approaching another on a second converging track. He apparently moved too late to leave the car and was crushed between the two. Internal injuries were given as the cause of death.

Willard Stanley, head of the district office here of the State Department of Mines & Minerals, was investigating the tragedy Wednesday.

Mr. Ray had been a mine employee at Ligon 40 years. He was a native of the Robinson Creek section of Pike county and was a son of the late John Henry and Eliza Little Ray. He was a member of the Regular Baptist Church.

His first wife, Liza Jane Ray, died in 1951. His second wife, Bertha Ray, survives. He leaves two sons, Edgar and Victor Ray, both of Beaver, and six daughters, Mrs. Edna Bentley, Knobnoster, Missouri, Mrs. Elsie Newsome, of Minnesota, Mrs. Opal Henson, of Beaver, Mrs. Joyce Stone, of Ligon, Mrs. Willadean Gill, Bowersville, Ohio, and Mrs. Mildred Leming. AUTO SEARCH NETS WHISKEY

Seventeen cases of whiskey of an estimated market value of $1,000 were confiscated here early Wednesday morning by Policemen Ray Collins and Ray Click, and Charles Osborne was placed under arrest as driver of the auto which contained the haul.

Osborne was fined the maximum $100 and costs by Police Judge Watt Hale. The fine, Hale said, was paid by Norman B. Martin, whom he quoted as saying the whiskey was intended for delivery at a club.

The whiskey taken by the two officers is being stored in the police judge's office. Judge Hale plans to destroy it.

He added that this will not be the only maximum fine he will exact in liquor cases. "If the time comes that I will let a bootlegger or those transporting liquor off with less, I'll quit," he declared.

Fined $100 last Friday in quarterly court for drunken driving was Vernon Clay.

Alonso Shepherd was jailed Monday by the Sheriff's department on a charge of violating the Kentucky school law. Others jailed: Charles Webb, drunk and resisting arrest; David Webb, interfering with an arrest; Sherman Crisp, possession of alcoholic beverages.

COUNCIL BUYS FIRE TRUCK

Successful Bidder Named On $23,097.16 Contract; Branham Move Protested

Successful bidder on the new fire truck for Prestonsburg is Midwest Fire & Safety Equipment Company, of Indianapolis, it was learned Thursday evening of last week when the bids were opened by the City Council. Price, complete for the truck and equipment, is $23,097.16.

The truck will be paid for over a period of approximately three years by funds derived from the tax on fire insurance policies. The Council, after studying the five bids submitted, determined that the Indianapolis firm was not only the low bidder but was offering to meet all state specifications on the vehicle.

The City Council is also advertising this week for bids on a new hydraulic refuse packer garbage truck of 16 to 20 cubic yard capacity. The last city-owned garbage truck was purchased in 1953. (See Story No. 3, Page 3)

CLOSURE LAW INVOKED IN FOREST EMERGENCY

Wheelchairs, Crutches Listed in VFW Project

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 5839 is sponsoring a drive to purchase wheelchairs and crutches which will be made available for future use, without charge, by Floyd county residents. Donations are not being sought, but funds will be raised instead through commissions from the sale of subscriptions to various magazines, Harold Baldrige, post commander, said.

Those who will solicit subscriptions were listed as Cleo Drake, Lawrence Ingram, G. D. Oldham and Theophilus Barker.

OFFICE MOVES ARE PLANNED

Judge, County Attorney, Others In Room Shuffle After Board Departs

A shuffling of the location of county offices will be made as a result of the move of the County Board of Education's offices from the courthouse to the old Prestonsburg high school building.

Offices of the County Judge and County Attorney will be moved into the courthouse wing vacated a few weeks ago by the Board of Education. Then the Food Stamp office will move into the rooms vacated by the County Judge, and the County Clerk will move a part of his records into the space left by the County Attorney.

Moving the Food Stamp office into the courthouse will save rent of $75 a month.

Minor repairs were being done by Jailer Lawrence Hale on the courthouse roof this week, but a major operation may be necessary to stop the leak, it was said. Files in offices on the second floor above the former county board offices have been damaged by leaks, it was said.

Wright Buys Market At W. Prestonsburg

Jesse Wright, of West Prestonsburg, has purchased the Fannin Super Market of Rev. G. R. Fannin, it was announced recently. Mr. Wright assumed operation of the store April 6. The new owner was a former salesman for General Shoe Corporation.

1,000 ACRES BURNED LAND IS ESTIMATE

Many Fires Indendiary Forest Personnel Say; Labor Cost Is $5,200

The threat of forest fires became so great this week in Eastern Kentucky that Governor Bert Combs invoked the closure law which prohibits all except specifically authorized persons from entering upon woodlands and fields.

In this six-county forest district 64 woodland fires were raging Saturday and Sunday. Since last Saturday 15 fires were reported in Floyd county woods and fields—10 of these starting over the week-end.

Upwards of 1,000 acres have been burned over in this county since last week, it was estimated. Don Graves, of the Forestry Division's office here, said the fires ranged over tracts from 20 to 150 acres with the average of the 15 tracts running about 60 acres.

The closure law was invoked Wednesday morning. It forbids any person to enter upon state, county, municipal or private forest lands or idle or abandoned lands in the area, except the owner, a tenant of the land, the owner's authorized agent or persons engaged in official duties. The penalty for violation of this law is a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $500, or 30 days' imprisonment, or both.

Forestry personnel here said 80% of the fires in this county have been deliberately set. One fire which broke out Tuesday night, they said, had been set in five places. Another which spread Sunday apparently was set in spots all the way from Ar-

Former Bluefield Firm Moves to Prestonsburg

United Heating and Stonecrafters, which is owned and managed by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McElroy, has moved from Bluefield, W. Va., to Prestonsburg and has begun operation of its business here.

BOY SCOUT LEADERS PLAN TRAIL ON JENNY WILEY ESCAPE ROUTE

If plans of Boy Scout leaders of the Lonesome Pine Council materialize approximately 3,000 Boy Scouts from several Eastern states will hike the nearly 20 miles of the Jenny Wiley Trail next year.

The trail, beginning at the scene of her escape on Little Mud Lick Creek in Johnson county, will end at the mouth of Johns Creek. It will probably be made in two stages, with an overnight stop on the road.

Jack Hodge, Scout executive of the Council, recently made a preliminary study of the borderland heroine's escape route from the cave in which she was held prisoner to Harman's Station in Block House Bottom near East Point.

Hodge, E. B. May, Jr., Ezra Robinson and others have been talking the trail plans for months. It poses huge problems but they see no insurmountable obstacles. They are the first to agree that bringing 3,000 Boy Scouts to Little Mud Lick Creek, parking hundreds of cars and steering them over the trail will be no easy job.

Kawida Lodge, Order of the Arrow, at Somerset, just recently sponsored a hike over the 18-mile stretch of The Zollcoffer Trail in commemoration of the Civil War Battle of Fishing Creek or Mill Springs in which the Confederate General Felix Zollcoffer was killed. Somerset was host to 2,789 Scouts who made the trip. The Jenny Wiley Trail, having the allure of one of the region's greatest borderland stories, would attract as many, it is thought.

The Jenny Wiley Trail would begin in one of the most picturesque and rugged areas in the section. The cave in which she was imprisoned near Little Mud Lick Creek is in the rugged falls of that stream and in an area that, although it is near Highway 400, is as pristine as it was when Mrs. Wiley was held captive. The stream plunges over a series of waterfalls where it has cut through a mountain ridge and tall hemlocks and other evergreen trees line the banks.

Down in the canyon the stream rushes between narrow, rocky walls, splashing over huge sandstone rock slabs that have been falling from the cliffs above for centuries. Mountain laurel drapes the vertical walls. It is a fascinating place of wild beauty and it held a peculiar attraction for the redskins two centuries ago.

Mrs. Wiley fled her captivity at Little Mud Lick, waded down the stream to where it intersects with Big Mud Lick Creek, followed it to Big Paint Creek, ascended that stream to Lick Fork, went up it and came out on Bear Branch of Little Paint Creek. She descended it to Little Point, down it to the Big Sandy River at the present East Point. Following a path on the west side of the river she arrived at the mouth of Johns Creek, opposite Harman's station. Henry Skaggs made a raft of mulberry logs and set her over before the pursuing Indians arrived. According to official reports now in the Calendar of Virginia State Papers at Richmond, Virginia, it "was in the late winter," probably March, 1790.

Scout leaders will make another inspection of the escape route in the near future and definite plans will be formulated this spring.

SUNDAY SCHOOL REPORT

Total Sunday School attendance in Prestonsburg on Easter, last Sunday of the attendance drive sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, was 1,421, with three churches showing gains for the day of more than 100% over their base attendance.

The Kiwanis Club and its committee on Support of Churches expressed gratitude for the support and cooperation of the 10 churches and Sunday Schools represented and for the assistance given by the two radio stations and the newspaper.

Certificates of Merit will be awarded to the Sunday Schools of the Free Will Baptist Church and the Presbyterian Church, which finished the drive in first and second places, respectively.

Commented the Kiwanis Club's committee on the drive, its results and general effect: "Each church has its particular work to do, but we are all working toward the same goal, and whenever a concerted effort can be made, such as we have just experienced, it tends to create good Christian fellowship and understanding.

"The life of each individual in a community is touched by the Christian influence of the church, whether or not he ever attends church. Therefore the church demands community interest.

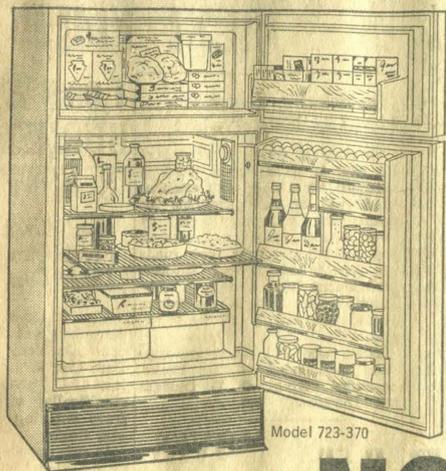

"It is our hope the drive will not end with Easter. Our Christian religion must be applied seven days per week and fifty-two weeks a year. If you have been encouraged to begin Sunday School or church attendance during this drive, or if your interest has been rekindled, keep it up."

The final attendance report follows:

BLOCK HOUSE BOTTOM SCENE IN 1899

Looking south across the Big Sandy River at East Point in 1899 the photographer caught the expanse of Block House Bottom which was the site of the first permanent settlement in the valley. At the extreme south end of the bottom Johns Creek enters the river. It was here Mathias Harman built a hunting cabin in 1755 and where he founded Harman's Station in 1789. The center of the bottom shown here was the site of the Auxier settlement and where the family located their block house in 1795.

One of the homes shown here was that of J. C. B. Auxier. The other is unidentified.

Methodists Schedule Revival With Outstanding Evangelist

The First Methodist Church is attempting the greatest revival crusade ever undertaken here with the sole purpose of presenting Christ and His teachings to friends and neighbors throughout the greater Prestonsburg area. It was said this week by the pastor, the Rev. Orin M. Simmerman.

When the crusade opens Sunday morning, April 29, Dr. Ford R. Philpot, a "star salesman" will be there every night at 7:30 o'clock, "selling" the Bible and its teaching to men, women and children.

"Dr. Philpot believes that only as the Bible enters into men's hearts and brings their lives into relation with God will its fruits appear to the public eye," the pastor said. "No one will go to sleep during his messages because he thunders them out much the same as the founder of Methodism, John Wesley, must have done."

Appearing nightly with Dr. Philpot will be the full complement of his evangelistic team including the well known White Sisters, Howard Whitmore, lyric tenor, and Ralph Kratzer, talented musician who accompanies the trio and soloist, and also plays for the lively congregational singing.

Dr. Philpot is a dedicated man who at the age of 18, felt the call to evangelism. But he received no encouragement, so he pushed the idea from him. After marriage and a tour of duty with the U. S. Marine Corps in the South Pacific, he again engaged in business with a firm in Cincinnati, Ohio.

There followed a strange, mixed-up period of a life of too much alcohol, cards and gambling. Dr. Philpot recalls numbering among his friends those who frequented bars and liquor establishments, giving small thought to church or God. But he could not deny the ever-increasing feeling of conviction enveloping him, and in October 1947 he headed for Wilmore, Kentucky where he enrolled in Asbury College to prepare for the ministry.

Some 500 evangelistic crusades have been conducted by Dr. Philpot and he now has been led into a new field of ministry, that of television and radio.

"The Story" is the name of a series of half-hour TV programs now being presented by stations in some 22 states and Canada. The same type program is carried over many radio stations as a part of Dr. Philpot's full-time evangelistic mission. He is the author of several booklets which detail his life, and he has held several Methodist pastorates.

Samons-Davis Wedding Solemnized April 22

Mrs. Geneva Samons announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Edith Nyoka Samons, to Mr. Charles Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis, of Inez, Kentucky.

The open wedding took place Sunday, April 22, at 2 p.m. at the Church of Christ on Arkansas Creek. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Bennie Blankenship.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, George Edward Rickman, wore a white, street-length gown of organza and lace, with a finger-tip veil. She carried a white, lace-covered Bible with blue carnations and white satin streamers.

Mrs. Anna Tackett was her sister's matron-of-honor. Miss Gillene Samons, niece of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore identical sheath-type deep-blue dresses with short, organza overskirts, matching circular veils, gloves and shoes. Their corsages were white carnations.

Mr. Curt Mosley, of Jackson, Michigan, formerly of this county, served as best man. Ushers were Larry Samons, Junior Tackett and Rutherford Tackett.

Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Martin high school and of Jackson Beauty School, Jackson, Michigan. Mr. Davis is a graduate of Inez high school and is employed by Walker Manufacturing Company, Jackson, Michigan, where the couple will make their home.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride.

GARDEN CLUB OPENS MANY HISTORIC HOMES TO PUBLIC

In May, the Garden Club of Kentucky will put out the latching in eight Bluegrass state locales. The club's annual, increasingly popular, tour makes it possible for visitors to see outstanding residences in one of the country's most beautiful states.

This year a new high of more than 40 houses and/or gardens have been selected for public inspection. Not only has the Garden Club extended its horizons to include eight stops in Southeastern Kentucky but a number of Louisville, Lexington, and Paris homes and gardens not available in the past, are included this May.

Springtime is when Kentucky puts its best foot forward. As much of the state is devoted to raising blooded livestock, many of the Tour houses and gardens are set against a panorama of white-fenced, green-carpeted countryside that abounds with frisky foals, lambs and calves.

Kentucky cannot be accused of living in the past, yet many of the homes on the Tour are monuments to the elegant, enlightened, gracious way of living that settlers brought with them down the Ohio, over the Appalachians, and through the Cumberland Gap.

Many of the Garden Club Tour homes are virtual museums of American and English furniture, glassware, silver and china. And many floors are covered with fine Oriental rugs.

The Tour also lists several recently built one-floor plan homes that are charming compromises between the advantages of modern living quarters and the use of traditional, inherited appointments.

Kentucky's hospitality is legendary. After the state was settled, it served as a springboard to the new West and travelers stopped en route to and on their return from the new territory. Now the Kentucky Derby rings up the May curtain and the entire month is dedicated to entertaining.

Some of the highlights of the 1962 Garden Club trek are, at Louisville, a handsome Greek Revival house, a French Manor house, and an English farm house. At Frankfort, a reception is planned at the redecorated Governor's Mansion. Lexington, in the heart of the bringing their catches around—the better to pester you, my dear! So what I report below is gathered, second-hand:

Steve Stout, of Martin, has come up with the real heavyweight bass of the young season from Dewey: a 9 1/4-pounder. Tuesday was a good day for jigging in those waters. Raymond Copley landed two six-pounders, and two Ashland men, Elmer Baldwin and Chester Hutchinson, had one which ran Conservation Officer Copley's De-Liar out to the end of the string and would have gone farther, he says. This one measured 24 inches. The same two anglers had several other bass.

ON TRAVELING NORTHWARD
We have always insisted that the Negro deserves equal opportunity, and on occasion we may not have been exactly charitable toward folks who appeared to be "nigger-haters." Yet we get a bang out of that New Orleans idea of sending a Freedom Train northward, paying every Negro's fare one way who will go. Strikes us that if the folks up North are so, so concerned about the Negro they surely will not object to taking a few thousand of them into their communities and there share with them places in their schools and in other areas of life.

We do not argue that the fellows in Louisiana are simon-pure altruists as they pay the one-way fare of Negroes northward. But we do maintain, despite the agonized yelps of "inhuman" and "monstrous" from the North, that the Southern boys are inflicting no cruelty on these they send North that is as great as the suffering brought down on Negroes' heads when Northerners send them South as Freedom Riders.
Maybe, if some of the Northern towns will get their white and black populations in a ratio commensurate to what it is in some of these Southern communities, both North and South will have a fuller understanding of the problems of the other.

INNOCENT LIARS
Someone has said that it's absolutely useless to hold a man to anything said while he is madly in love, drunk, running for office—or fishing.
And according to one of the bait manufacturer's researches, the very nature of fishing makes it a perfect foil for those loose with the truth.

For instance, if you ask a fisherman if he's catching any fish, he will probably say: "Just started." This means he's been out four or five hours, and so far he's skunked. Or he will reply: "Oh, a few little ones." This could mean that he has a stringer full or he doesn't want to show them for fear that you'll move in and foul up his hot spot.
Then there's the fellow fishing with his son. He will probably say: "Now, I'm just showing the kid how to fish." This usually means the kid is out-fishing him 10 to 1.
And there's the fellow who gazed at a large mounted fish over a bar who, after a couple of drinks, said: "The man who caught that fish is a dang liar."—Ray Lambert, in The Huntington Advertiser.
(Who was it said, "All fishermen are liars but all liars aren't fishermen"?)

BOXELDER BUGS
Lexington, Ky. — Boxelder bugs this spring will be feeding on flowers of that tree, plus flowers of maple and ash trees. But, says R. L. Miller, UK Ag Extension Service entomologist, their principle effect is as a nuisance in and around houses. On warm days the bugs will congregate in houses or on trunks of trees, porches, walls, walks and house foundations. This alarms homeowners.

Daredevils Open Season At Maytown, Wednesday; Wheelwright Game Slated

The McDowell Daredevils opened their 1961-62 baseball season Wednesday by splitting a doubleheader with the Maytown Wildcats. Maytown withstood a fifth inning rally to beat McDowell in the opener, 4-3. Bob Tallent paced the Wildcats to victory. He collected two hits, batted in one run, and scored one. He was also the winning pitcher. He limited the Daredevils to two hits.

The Daredevils won the nightcap, 12-5. They jumped on the Maytown hurler for five runs in the first inning. Maytown scored three in the first and two in the second to tie the score at 5-all. McDowell scored three in the third to take the lead at 8-5. McDowell put the game on ice in the fourth, when they added four more runs. Kendrick, Akers, and Ratliff had two hits each for McDowell.

The Daredevils won their second game of the season by downing Prestonsburg, 7-4. McDowell struck early, getting five runs in the first three innings. They added two more in the sixth to put the game on ice. David Turner went all the way for the Daredevils to gain the victory. He allowed only six hits, while striking out 7. The Devils banged out a total of 8 hits with Kendrick, Howell, and Stumbo getting two hits each. McDowell's record is now 2-1. The Daredevils will be looking for their third victory Tuesday night against the Trojans at Wheelwright.

Explore Kentucky Week To Open Tourist Season, Gov. Combs Announces

Kentucky's tourist season will officially get under way with "Explore Kentucky Week," May 6-12, when 12 Jaycee delegations, as ambassadors of the Bluegrass state, will visit governors of nearby states. ALCOHOLISM IS DISCUSSED BY CONTROL COORDINATOR

Life for an alcoholic is a paradox—lonely, yet affecting the happiness and welfare of many others.

"Every alcoholic adversely affects four or five other people directly—husband or wife, children, employer, friends—and another four or five indirectly," says John Dawes, control coordinator of the Division of Alcoholism, State Health Department.

It takes money to supply an alcoholic's tremendous demand for drink. If he has a family, its members often suffer financially.

He often seeks solitude, escaping from others and trying to escape from himself, sometimes brooding over imagined wrongs and becoming highly critical of others. This anti-social behavior leads to the loss of friends and perhaps his job. And he becomes more alone than ever.

This is part of a common pattern, but by no means a consistent one. Because there is no consistent pattern, the problem of early diagnosis and treatment is complicated.

Very often it begins with the alcoholic looking and acting much like any other social drinker. But there is a progression in his illness. Drinks are consumed hastily, and whenever possible, drinking begins before and continues after the social occasion at hand.

The alcoholic begins to drink in the mornings to relieve the physical distress of the previous night's drinking—and possibly to dull feelings of guilt and remorse. Although his control of how much he drinks is gone, he often steadfastly maintains that he can quit drinking whenever he wants.

According to many psychiatrists, what he refuses to recognize is that drinking and intoxication have become goals in themselves. Consequently, they say, the use of alcohol becomes a technique for denying the reality of a distorted life and for numbing his conscience, which is constantly challenging him to change his behavior.

Psychiatrically, his uncontrolled use of alcohol is actually a misguided attempt at adjustment to life, many psychiatrists contend.

In becoming more hopelessly ill, however, he affects others more and more. Things become more difficult for his family, often leading to broken homes and emotional disturbances in children. His employer is forced to seek someone to take his place and learn his job. He often becomes a burden to taxpayers—if not because he is arrested, tried and jailed then perhaps because state, county and city welfare agencies must support his family.

However, even in the face of the overwhelming evidence that every alcoholic eventually becomes a liability to society, Dawes says, the public must remember one thing: The alcoholic is ill.

"Some juvenile authorities have gone so far as to blame an alcoholism background for an incredible 60 to 70 per cent of the juvenile problems in the United States. That is just another aspect of the over-all problem," he says.

In industry alcoholism creates the half-worker. He is the man who when on the job is neither physically nor mentally capable of doing his work properly because of heavy drinking bouts. He becomes a part of the industry's statistics which rank accidents, absenteeism and alcoholism as leading, challenging problems.

"Industries which have tackled these problems realistically feel these three factors are often interrelated," Dawes says. "They result in the loss of millions of dollars and thousands of lost man hours annually."

In addition to the waste of human talent and ability, the breakdown of homes and families and other misery brought by alcoholism—none of which can be measured in dollars and cents—it has been estimated that the annual economic loss nationally runs to almost a billion dollars.

The only way to remedy the alcoholism problem is to educate people before they become victims of alcohol and to treat and rehabilitate those who have already fallen prey to the bottle, Dawes says.

There is no cure for alcoholism, but, like tuberculosis and diabetes, it can be arrested. However, no known remedy makes it possible for an alcoholic ever to become a moderate, controlled drinker.

Various kinds of treatment exist, but not every alcoholic responds to the same method. Psychiatric appraisal helps to determine the best approach in some cases. In general, the treatment of the acute case is primarily medical while the chronic case depends largely upon psychological or educational guidance.

Treatment is a long-term process, involving not only correction of any physical imbalance but also adjustments of the psychological and social stresses which disorganize the alcoholic. But again perhaps education plays the major role, this time on the part of the alcoholic's family, friends and employer. It is imperative for them to understand him.

BEAUTIFICATION DRIVE SET TO MAKE STATE GREENER

Frankfort, Ky., April 24 — Kentucky's beautification drive is well under way, but for those who still haven't caught on to the theme, "Spring Made Kentucky Green, You Can Make It Clean," Robert Montgomery, director of the Make Kentucky A Cleaner, Greener Land program has some advice on starting places.

"Your home is a good place to make a specific contribution to the community effort," Montgomery said, offering these suggestions:

Clean stairways. See that they are uncluttered and well-lighted. Paint cellar steps a light color so they be easily visible.

Remove old newspapers, magazines, unused furniture, etc. from the attic or garage and give to charity.

If screening on the house is rusty, rub away and repaint. Be sure mesh is intact to keep flies and mosquitoes out.

Check and clean furnace, flues and chimney. Keep oily rags used in painting in tightly covered metal containers to avoid spontaneous combustion. Reseed bare spots on lawns. Trim hedges.

Make sure garbage cans are covered tightly to keep flies away and foraging animals from scattering contents.

Repair spots where concrete is broken on sidewalks and driveways.

"Naturally, hardly anyone will find that each of these areas will need attention. But there are sure to be some faults which you can correct as part of your contribution," said Montgomery.

Governor Combs has designated April 15 to May 15 as Clean-up and Beautification Month in Kentucky. Local officials are proclaiming the week of April 25-May 2 as "Kentucky's Clean-Up Derby" to make Kentucky more attractive for visitors.

Kentucky was the first state to win the first place "Keep America Beautiful" award for beautification efforts in 1961.

VIRGINIA'S FIRST GERMAN COLONY

At hand, for review, is a new publication, VIRGINIA'S FIRST GERMAN COLONY, by Elizabeth Chapman, Denny Vann and Margaret Danny Dixon. It was issued at Richmond in 1961 and is kindly loaned this column by Dr. C. L. Hutsinpiiler, descendant of the pioneer settlers of the colony.

The Germanna colony had its origin deep in the history of the colony and in Europe. Events in both contributed to the founding. A thriving German and Swiss colony had been founded at New Bern, North Carolina, long before Germanna was thought of but it succumbed to Indian massacre in 1711 and its leader, Baron Christopher von Graffenreid, was made prisoner. Governor Alexander Spotswood of Virginia secured his release.

Graffenreid told Spotswood then an associate, Franz Louis Michel, had discovered silver in the Shenandoah valley. The baron procured a land grant from Virginia which supposedly would cover the area laden with the precious metal and Michel went to Switzerland and consulted Johann Justus Albrecht, of Siegen, Germany. Albrecht gave Michel money and authorized him to recruit miners from Siegen.

Siegen was a center of iron making and, although it had had periods of prosperity, religious wars had depressed the area when Michel sought recruits. With the aid of ministers of the Reformed church, Michel gathered a group that was willing to try its fortunes in America. They left Germany in 1713, reached England in the late summer.

In England the colonists were met by Baron Graffenreid who informed them that he was poverty-stricken and could not sponsor their trip to America. Only through the intercession of Gov. Spotswood were they finally able to complete their journey to the New World. Forty-two of the colonists arrived in the spring of 1714 and settled on the Rappidan River. The governor planned to make these sturdy Germans a frontier bulwark against the Indians.

In the colony were Martins, Haegers, Brumbacks, Holtzclaws, and many others with sturdy German names. Their lot was hard the first year. They had been used to a predominantly grain diet in Germany and meat, so often the only fare in their frontier cabins, was disagreeable to them.

The iron works, so long envisioned as an industrial asset by Spotswood, were opened in 1715 and 11 Germans were employed to work at the metallurgical venture. Two other iron-making attempts in America had failed but the Germans of Siegen knew their business.

However, the colonists were dissatisfied at Germanna, for they were not citizens and could not own land. To become a citizen it was necessary to pay 50 shillings and most, if not all of them, didn't have the money. Finally, they pooled enough money to pay for the naturalization of three persons who could secure land grants. The three were Jacob Holtzclaw, John Hoffman and John Fishback. They were granted 1,800 acres from the Lord Fairfax estates.

Between 1718 and 1721 the Germans left Germanna for their own land and the settlement fell into decline. Their new homes were laid out in what is now Fauquier county, Virginia, on Licking Run, north of the present village of Midland. On two sides was unbroken forest and their nearest neighbors were ten miles away. Their new settlement became known as Germantown.

They turned from iron making to agriculture but first they built a necessary blacksmith shop and a grist mill. They raised corn and tobacco, built up great herds of hogs that ran in the forest and subsisted on the "mast" and prospered in cattle raising. Their method of getting tobacco to the sea coast for export was unique although it became a common method with the colonists. The tobacco was firmly pressed in great hogheads, shafts were affixed to them and these were rolled along the earthen road to Ship-mouth, the loading point for shipment abroad.

These staunch Germans, feeling need for a church, built one with patronage, chiefly by their own hands following an almost vain appeal to their kinsmen in Germany. Pastor Henry Haeger died and Jacob Holtzclaw became the religious leader. Historians, after patiently re-searching the old records, are very willing to note the contribution of the Germans to the settlement of what was then western Virginia and the added contribution to the opening of the transmontane river valleys.

The names of Jacob Holtzclaw, John Fishback, John Jacob Rector, John Joseph Martin, Melchior Brumback, John Kemper, Joseph Cuntz, Peter Hitt, John Spilman, Joseph Weaver, Stephen Hotsinpiiler (Hutsinpiiler) and Henry Haeger were very Teutonic when these residents of Siegen, Germany, founded Germanna and Germantown in Virginia.

Today, a century and a half later, their descendants still carry their ancestral names although a few of them have been Anglicized. They merged with the Scotch, English, Irish, Welsh, French and other nationalities to become the American people.

Invitation To Bid

The Floyd County Board of Education will accept bids until 12 o'clock noon, May 5, 1962, for the construction of a four-room addition to the Prestonsburg high school, work to begin about June 1, 1962, or as soon as the present school term ends.

Plans and specifications may be secured at the office of the Floyd County Board of Education or the office of George Lee Shannon, architect.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Plan Intense Drive To Beautify Kentucky; Clean-Up Month Slated

Frankfort—A stepped-up campaign to beautify Kentucky is in the works for this spring to "better live up to Kentucky's recognition as the first state to win the national 'Keep America Beautiful' award in New York last month." Conservation Commissioner J. O. Matlick has announced.

Gov. Bert Combs has designated the period from April 15 to May 15 as Clean-Up month in Kentucky and is urging mayors and county judges to proclaim a special week April 25 to May 2 within Clean-Up Month as "Kentucky Clean-Up Derby."

"We are attaching special importance to the local effort of cleaning-up prior to Kentucky Derby on May 5 because hundreds of thousands of out-of-state visitors start coming through all our communities at that time. It behooves us to look our best when company is in our home," said Robert Montgomery, director of the State "Make Kentucky A Cleaner, Greener Land" program.

Montgomery explained that counties and communities have an added reason for organized drives against unsightly spots during this time because Kentucky is starting a program of recognition with this effort.

MANDT IS WARNING MINERS OF DEATH-TRAP CONDITIONS

Constant reminders that mines are dangerous places to work unless adequate safety precautions are taken are going out from the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals office at Lexington to miners at their homes.

When inspectors from the department discover unsafe conditions in a mine, letters warning of the danger are sent to all mine personnel and the mine operator, commissioner A. H. Mandt said.

About 500 letters a month are being sent to miners' homes under the new program. A typical letter might read:

"You have been working in a death trap. The last inspection report shows that you failed to set safety timbers near the face and also failed to keep line timbers within seven feet of the working face. Forty-three Kentucky coal miners were killed last year by slate falls. Eighty-five per cent were killed near the working face. Will you be the next victim?"

An average of 600 letters a month go to mine owners. A typical letter might read:

"The special timbering report on your mine shows that your miners are working under extremely dangerous conditions. It is your responsibility to comply with the Kentucky mining laws and to operate your mine in a safe and orderly manner. Your failure to do so may cause the loss of life."

Commissioner Mandt said he has 30 inspectors covering 2,800 mines. Each inspector sketches the interior of the mine and offers detailed information to the mine owner and Mandt on what should be corrected to meet state law.

Mandt said proof that the letters are effective is the fact that before this program started three months ago, an average of three mines a day were closed for failing to meet safety standards. During March, an entire week went by without a single mine being closed.

"I'm convinced that the letters are not only saving lives but are actually adding to the revenue mines produce because closings are much less frequent," Mandt said.

The commissioner under state law has authority to close a mine and keep it closed until the mine complies with safety standards by state law. Only Mandt or his assistant, R. L. Vines, has the authority to schedule re-opening of a mine after it is closed to protect lives.

Mandt said to his knowledge no other state in the nation has a comparable program of protecting the lives of miners by this method.

In many instances in Kentucky, Mandt said, the miner is paid a certain amount per ton for the coal and thereby assumes responsibility for proper timbering where he works. He emphasized that in most cases it is the joint responsibility of the miner and mine owner to adopt and enforce the necessary safety precautions.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son, George Stone, Jr., who was killed April 28, 1961.

A precious one from us has gone, A voice we loved is stilled, A place is vacant in our home, Which never can be filled.

Just when his life was bright and gay,

Just when his years were best— He was called from this world of sorrow,

To go home to eternal rest. In our hearts his memory lingers, Always fond and true, There's no day nor night, Dear Son, we do not think of you. But until we reach that city, Where grief is all consoled, We will never know the joy he has found, Beyond the sunset gold.

Sadly missed by Mother and Dad.

Rural Scouting Leader Speaks At Lonesome Pine Council Meet

Scouters from the 15-county area of Lonesome Pine Council had the benefit of the experience of Charles S. Griffin, assistant national director of Rural Scouting.

Mr. Griffin works in all 50 states, concentrating on Rural Scouting. The Lonesome Pine Council is considered perhaps the most rural Council in America.

Talking to the Scouters, Griffin pointed up the great importance of well-organized districts of volunteer Scouters to serve Scouting through the institutions of the area and urged that the district executive should serve as a coach to this volunteer team who work with and for the boys for better citizenship through the Scouting program.

Those in attendance included Bill Williamson, Marris May, Dr. W. H. Proudfoot, Harry M. Altman, Don Combs, Jack T. Page, Dr. Joseph Geiger, Walter P. Walters, Ervin S. Pruitt, B. P. Bogardus, Rev. Harold Dorsey and Bruce Elliott, all of Pikeville; Chalmers Frazier, Woodrow Allen and Arthur Leach, of Prestonsburg; Roy M. May, Langley; James Cecil, Jr., Allen; George Leatherman, Raymond W. Gibson, and Dr. J. L. Patterson, Wheelwright; James J. Watkins and Robert Baur, Grundy, John Hinchey and W. A. Dawson, Norton, Va., and Jim Somerville, Wise. Also in attendance at this meeting were Byron F. Pennebaker, Scout executive, Jack Hodge and G. Clifford Judd, district Scout executives.

The entire show was judged a success because of the variety of fashions modelled, and the attendance of the crowd. Musical selections were furnished by the former Caney boys' quartette, Leonard Gibson and Bill Patton representing Maytown in the group. The Maytown Woman's Club wishes to thank all who helped make the show a success. The money received will go to finance the club's annual donations which include some of the following that the club helped the past year: Red Cross, March of Dimes, Methodist Church, Veteran's Christmas Fund, Care, Heart Fund, Boy Scouts, Little League, Science Award, Library, T. E. Seals, and Pony League.

An examination has been announced by the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Departments of the Army and Navy, Louisville, Kentucky, for the positions of Surveying Technician. Salaries for these positions range from $4,345 to $5,355 a year.

Rolling out dough took nine per cent more energy when sitting rather than standing. Lifting things from a kitchen counter to shelves above also took more energy when sitting—six per cent more for a 1-pound object and four per cent more for a 5-pound object.
