

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1964

This Town ... That World

'TWARNT MY FAULT!

I almost went hunting last week but chickened out at the last moment, and so it is that I give a second-hand report on the aforementioned venture afield.

It seems that this party which felt that I had ignominiously deserted them landed in Montgomery county and shot the place up. My informant tells of one incident which in particular took my fancy.

The other three—see me for their names—went on ahead, leaving the Informer, (Squealer, they call him) at a lonely corner of this big field. Then, of a sudden, the cannonading begins. Shot and empty shells rained all around, and this guy discreetly takes refuge behind a tree. Then he sees the cause of all the shooting. A rabbit comes hot-footing it across this open field, pursued by all the lead those three can produce. And he never turns a hair.

Finally, the hare tries to take refuge behind the same tree my friend has taken as his own, and they try to stare each other down. Then B'er Rabbit makes a mistake. He turns his back on the hunter and takes off—and, pow!

I understand miracles were happening, all over; dead rabbits showing their heels to fellows who never miss.

Finally, they decide the size shot they're using is a mile fine for Blue Grass rabbits. One walked over, picked up a wad of rabbit fur and sagely remarked: "No rabbit gets away from me with a whole skin. This one will freeze to death before morning."

Well, to make a long story short, they brought home four rabbits, those four who left me at home. And if I had gone, what with my reputation as a Jonah, it's possible they would have blamed me with all their bad luck and permitted me to explore the splendors of the Mountain Parkway on foot.

BOARD RESTRAINS POLITICAL ACTIVITY

NEW SCHOOL ENVISIONED AT EASTERN

Purchase Authorized When Funds Available; Supt. Clark Comments

Two important moves—one affecting political activities of central office employees, the other looking toward the founding of a new educational center in the county—were made Saturday by the Floyd County Board of Education.

After lengthy discussion, the board adopted an order setting out the principle that any central office employee should ask for a leave of absence as of the date he or she announces for public office. The order provides that if the employee presumes to be a candidate before February 1, he or she should immediately take a leave of absence from work with the board, and that if the employee does not ask for leave before February 1 he or she will be asked to resign without benefit of leave.

Commenting on the order, County Superintendent Charles F. Clark said, "I have no official information that any of our employees will be a candidate for any office, but our office employees are charged with county-wide duties, and they are paid 8 cents a mile for that travel. The board felt it could not pay a person 8 cents a mile for campaigning for himself or herself for public office."

The second major order authorized the purchase of properties (See Story No. 2, Page 8)

Two Homes Destroyed By Fire Within Days

Two homes have been destroyed by fire in the county within the last few days.

The Turkey Creek residence of Clem Martin, supervisor in charge of instruction, Floyd County Board of Education, was leveled Saturday night with all its contents. Mr. and Mrs. Martin were awakened by the crackling of flames in the kitchen and could not save any of their effects. Cause of the blaze was not definitely placed, although an electrical system defect is suspected.

The second residence to burn was that of Dennis Jackson at Estill, which was destroyed Monday morning. Nothing from the home was saved, according to a report received here.

AUTO VICTIM RITES HELD

Wallace C. Hayes, 48, Killed At Portsmouth; Burial Made At Louisa

Wallace Cisco Hayes, 48, Garrett native, who was killed, Tuesday night of last week, when struck by an automobile at Portsmouth, Ohio, was buried at Louisa last Friday.

Hayes, who was a son of the late Breckinridge and Jennima Hayes, was struck by a car driven by George L. Buffinger, of West Portsmouth. Buffinger said Hayes ran from the west side of the highway, near the Scioto River bridge at Portsmouth, into the path of his car. It was said that Mr. Hayes was en route to Maysville to visit a daughter.

He resided at Louisa. Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Goldie Ward Hayes; one daughter, Mrs. Robert Laney, of Maysville, and three sons, James and Tommy Hayes, of Louisa, and Clarence Hayes, of the U. S. Army at Ft. Dix, New Jersey; four sisters, Mrs. William Prazier, Baltimore, Maryland, Mrs. Oscar Beicher, Newport News, Virginia, Mrs. Bill Stone, of Garrett, and Mrs. James Barnett, Detroit, Michigan.

Funeral rites were conducted from the Louisa Free Will Baptist Church by the Revs. Clifford Austin and Kelly Patton. Burial was made at Louisa.

I V E L M A N IS ROBBED

James Hayton Charged With Robbery, Jailed; Hale Arrests Johnson

James Julius Hayton, 25, was jailed here Tuesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Sam Hale and Harold Johnson on a charge of having robbed Ben Woods of $60 at the Woods home at Ivel, earlier in the day.

Hayton, who was picked up by Pike county officers, was returned here from Pikeville. Hale and Johnson said the prisoner talked freely of the case, despite the fact that he was told that whatever he said might incriminate him. They quoted him as saying that he first asked the elderly man, at whose home he was a guest, for a quarter and was refused. They said he added that he waited till Woods was asleep, then made away with his money.

All but $7 of the $60 was recovered and returned to Woods, a Social Security beneficiary. Mander Johnson, of Weeksbury, was jailed Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Sam Hale on five warrants which accuse him of neglect of his children, withholding and diverting public assistance funds, abandonment of infant children under the age of 6, abandonment of children under the age of 16, and assault and battery.

His wife, Mary, said he took from her a public assistance check for the support of her dependent children. County Judge Henry Shumbo said he recovered the woman's check from her husband at the county jail Wednesday. She claimed her husband hit her with a broomstick in taking the check from her.

Judge Shumbo, County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill and a welfare worker visited the woman's home, the day preceding Johnson's arrest. They said she has nine children and that the only visible sleeping accommodations were a bed, a couch and a baby bed. The husband has been living at his store at Wheelwright Junction, Mrs. Johnson said. (See Story No. 4, Page 8)

FIVE LIQUOR CASES TRIED

Four Are Convicted, Fifth Pleads Guilty; Jail Terms Are Meted

In the last two days of the Floyd circuit court term which officially ended Saturday four defendants in liquor cases were convicted, a fifth pleaded guilty, and all were fined and sentenced to jail terms.

The recent Court of Appeals decision in the case of Cecil Layne, of Boyd county, resulted in the dismissal of the charge of illegal transportation of liquor against Nathaniel Moore. The high court held that the arrest of Layne did not empower the arresting officers to search his car.

Those given sentences, charges on which they were given trial and penalties for each follow:

Mrs. Howard Stone, selling alcoholic beverages in dry territory, $100 fine and 30 days in jail; Eugene Wright, selling, $100 and 30 days; Willie (Bear) Little, possessing beer, etc., $20 and 30 days; Anna Dingus, selling, plea of guilty, $20 and 30 days; William Riley Wells, Jr., possession, $100 and 30 days.

Trials of Mrs. Eugene Wright, charged with selling, Tommy Ratliff, selling and possessing, William Riley Wells, Jr., possessing, and Johnny Thornsby, selling, were continued till Jan. 12. Continued with bench warrant to issue was the selling case against Harold Yates.

Three cases were filed away, subject to being redocketed. In these Bill Adkins and Raleigh Barnett were accused of selling, and Ted Salisbury, Jr., of possessing.

PLAN GROUP URGES FLOYD HEALTH WORK

The report of the health and safety committee and an accompanying statement submitted recently for approval to the Floyd County Planning and Development Association is pointed statistical summary of sanitation needs in the county.

The section on health deplors the improper garbage disposal facilities in the county and the high incidence of highway accidents comes in for perusal with many recommendations. The problems of industrial safety and recreation are not neglected.

"This report on health, highway, recreational and industrial safety really condenses down to the point as to how much do we want improvement and how much we are willing to pay," the report concludes. "It could be a bargain."

The statistical report was prepared by Ralph Banks, chairman, with the assistance of Earl Compton and Joe Perraino, committee members.

"There is a dire need for proper garbage disposal," the report said. "The means for solving this problem are well-known but the implementation of these means has not been used. The committee strongly recommends that the unsightly germ-breeding dumps so prevalent in Floyd county be eliminated."

The Floyd County Health Department does not have the personnel or funds to patrol and

AFFILIATION CHANGE MAY FORFEIT VOTE

A number of Floyd county voters have indicated a desire to change their party affiliation since the November general election, but by doing so they will forfeit their right to vote in the May primary election, according to Attorney General Robert Matthews.

The Attorney General gave this opinion in a recent letter to County Clerk C. Oille Robinson. Robinson said this week he has had difficulty explaining to voters the situation created when they change their party affiliation.

Wrote Matthews: "Any person who changes his party affiliation subsequent to the November election is disqualified from voting in the following primary under KRS 119.200. This statute provides that such voters shall possess not only the qualifications required of voters in regular elections but, in addition, they must be registered members of the party whose ballot they seek to vote and must have been registered as

UFG Promotes Fields

United Fuel Gas Company has promoted Luster D. Fields, of Prestonsburg, to the post of division superintendent of the company's Central Compressor Division at St. Albans, W. Va.

Mr. Fields, formerly assistant superintendent of United Fuel's Southern Compressor Division in Prestonsburg, began his new assignment Dec. 1. He replaced R. E. Adkins, Sr., who is retiring.

Born at Clendenin, W. Va., Mr. Fields has been in the gas business since 1928. In that year he started working as an oiler at United Fuel's Cobb Compressor in Clendenin, W. Va. He helped build Glenville Compressor and remained there as a tour engineer and as supervisor of the station until 1950. In 1954 he was promoted to supervisory engineer at Ceredo Compressor, and in 1956 to supervisory engineer at Kenova Compressor.

He became an assistant division superintendent at Prestonsburg in 1959. (See Story No. 1, Page 8)

GRANT MADE TO COUNCIL

Retarded Child Group Awarded Funds; Total Short of Actual Need

The Floyd County Council for Retarded Children will receive a grant of $2,000, plus a contingency grant of $1,000, Sunday afternoon when the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times and WHAS-TV will apportion funds raised during their recent Crusade for Children.

Dr. H. E. Markoff, of Prestonsburg, Council vice-president, will appear on the Awards program at the studios of WHAS-TV and on behalf of the Council receive the grant. Mrs. Dora Stephens, of Prestonsburg, is president of the Council.

The Floyd County Council itself raised $4,225 this fall to help carry on its work, which includes two classes at Martin and one here, with about 30 pupils in all. The $1,000 contingency grant will not be available till May.

With the $3,000 in Crusade for Children funds added to the $4,225 raised by the Council's efforts, the total available for the Floyd county work this year still falls $50 short of the 1964-'65 budget and leaves nothing with which to begin the work for the 1965-'66 school year, Mrs. Stephens said.

SUIT TESTS OFFICIAL PAY

Sheriff Hale Plaintiff Claiming Annual Pay Under New Schedule

A suit filed in circuit court here Wednesday by Sheriff Henry C. Hale against Floyd county, County Judge Henry Shumbo and the fiscal court is an agreed test of the constitutionality of a new Kentucky law pertaining to official salaries and to determine if that law are to be paid officials who took office prior to June 18, 1964, its effective date.

Sheriff Hale is president of the Kentucky Sheriffs Association, and his action here, destined eventually to reach the Court of Appeals for a decision, is intended to serve other Sheriffs and county officials.

His complaint points out that the old law and the state Constitution provided a maximum salary of $7,200 a year for officers compensated in part from fees and partially by salary. Acting under the old law (KRS 64.530), the fiscal court set Hale's salary at $7,200. Salary of the officer under the new law is $9,600.

Hale takes the position that he is entitled to the $9,600 salary. The County Attorney and the defendants claim the $7,200 salary figure stands, since, under provisions of Sections 161 and 235 of the Constitution, any change in compensation is prohibited during his term of office.

The law at issue applies to counties of population less than 75,000. Officials in counties of 75,000 or more population pay all fees to the Commissioner of Finance, and are in turn paid wholly in salary. The law governing their salaries is being tested in the Franklin circuit court.

Hale is represented in the suit here by Ex-Governor Bert T. Combs, of Lexington, and Paul E. Hayes, Prestonsburg. Defendants' counsel is County Attorney Barkley Sturgill.

HERALD SOLD IN JOHNSON

New Owners To Begin Newspaper Operation About January 1st

The Paintsville Herald, Johnson county's only newspaper, has been sold by Mrs. Douglas Galbraith, Miss Hermalee Wheeler, and Mrs. Edna Roberts to a new group, it is announced. The purchasers will formally assume the management January 1.

The new owners are Allan Perry, formerly with the Ashland Oil Company, Ashland, Scotty Patrick and D. H. Howard, formerly of Salsyville but now of Ashland. Patrick is a co-owner of the Salsyville Independent.

Mrs. Galbraith, editor of the Herald for years, will remain in that position indefinitely, it is said. No staff changes are anticipated. Perry will move to Paintsville in the near future to associate himself with the paper.

The Herald, which was destroyed by a fire several weeks ago, is buying new equipment and will locate in new offices and shop in the postoffice building on Main street.

Perry has resigned his position with Ashland Oil effective January 1. Patrick and Howard do not expect to actively participate in the publication of the newspaper.

SIX ROADS PLANNED IN FLOYD PROGRAM

Father, 3 Sons Plan New Enterprise Here; Firm Is Incorporated

A father and his three sons comprise a firm which is launching Prestonsburg's newest business, a carpet-cleaning enterprise.

Articles of incorporation were filed this week with Secretary of State Stovall by Otis Cooley and his sons, Otis Hansel, Harry Vincel and Ronald Lamarr, who seek a charter for the Cooley Carpet Cleaning Company, Inc.

Equipment which will enable the firm to clean carpets and rugs in the home arrived this week, it was said.

GROUP ASKS 3 PROJECTS

Educational Programs Submitted To Whisman By Floyd-Co. Group

The Floyd County Planning and Development Association, at its regular monthly meeting at the courthouse here Tuesday evening, reviewed the status of reports suggested months ago and heard discussion on the recently approved and submitted educational projects.

The three-pronged proposals in education, prepared by the group, were taken to Frankfort and offered for consideration for a grant under the Economic Opportunity Act recently passed by Congress. The projects ask aid on work training, pre-school and adult education.

Paul Gearheart, chairman of the planning group, County Superintendent Charles F. Clark and State Representative W. J. Reynolds submitted the education proposals to John Whisman, administrator of the Kentucky Area Program office, Frankfort.

Whisman, in a letter accepting the proposals at his office, subsequently wrote Gearheart and Clark that the adult education project would in all probability fall within the state education program and its implementation would be based upon an anticipated grant under the anti-poverty legislation.

The projects were referred to the Department of Economic Security and Department of Education, Frankfort, for transmittal to Washington.

Burchett Is Employed As Public Accountant

James B. Burchett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Beverly C. Burchett, of Prestonsburg, has recently returned here and has been employed by Harry P. Bishop, certified public accountant, who has offices in Prestonsburg and Paintsville. Mr. Burchett will be employed in the Prestonsburg office which is located on Court street.

Mr. Burchett, a graduate of Millersburg Military Institute, received a Bachelor of Science degree in Commerce from Bowling Green College of Commerce in May, 1962. After receiving his degree he was employed by Witschey, Harmon and White, certified public accountants, Charleston, West Virginia.

Burchett attended the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants staff training course in August, 1962, at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Virginia, and has attended the West Virginia Tax Institute in 1962 and 1964, in Charleston, West Virginia. (See Story No. 5, Page 8)

NEXT YEAR JOBS VIEWED BY JUSTICES

$231,000 Is Allocated For Secondary Roads; State Abandons Road

A highway program involving the expenditure of $231,000 in rural secondary road funds allotted the county was adopted Friday by the Floyd fiscal court at a meeting which was attended by District Engineer Wendell Bayes, of the Department of Highways.

The plan which was adopted provides for $100,000 of the allotment to be spent in the maintenance of 80.9 miles of existing secondary highways. The remainder will be spent on seven projects, six of which are highways. These projects and the amount each is estimated to cost are:

Hall Fork-Hamilton road to Big Mud Creek, 1.6 miles, grade and drain, $40,000; Arkansas Creek, 3 miles, grade and drain, $50,000; Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek and Mare Creek, each 1.5 miles, grade and drain, $20,000 for each job; bituminous surfacing for Anker streets, 1.3 miles, $13,000; Buffalo Creek, 1.4 miles, $15,000; Salsyville Branch, 1.2 miles, bituminous surfacing, $15,000.

The court received from Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward notice that the state is abandoning the old section of the Prestonsburg-Salsyville road from and including the old bridge across the Big Sandy here to its junction with the Mountain Parkway arm, near the home of Mrs. M. T. Stumbo, 2.9 miles from the southwest city limits of Prestonsburg.

"The old road," Ward wrote, "is located adjacent to the newly constructed road, and it is not felt that it is the obligation of the Department to maintain both lines."

Maintenance of the old road will be the obligation of the county. All rights acquired under the right-of-way deeds for the route are being assigned to Floyd county or to the city of Prestonsburg, depending upon their location.

AWARD MADE TO PERKINS

Recognition Offered At Annual Convention Held At Minneapolis

Congressman Carl D. Perkins was presented the American Vocational Association's highest award Tuesday night at its 58th annual convention. The award was given "in recognition of the most outstanding contribution in the field of Vocational Education" for the year.

The presentation was made by Dr. Bryl Shoemaker, director of vocational education for the state of Ohio and President of the A. V. A., and Miss Mildred L. Jackson, supervisor of distributive education for the state of Georgia, chairman of the Awards Committee.

Prior to the presentation, Perkins told the 4,000 leaders in Vocational and Practical Arts Education attending the convention from the United States, Canada, and several other countries that there was great danger that progress being made on federal legislation to improve educational programs would create the belief that educational needs are being fully met. "Nothing could be further from the truth," said Perkins.

Perkins challenged the resources and leadership of the American Vocational Association to continue more vigorously its support of measures to strengthen financial support of elementary and secondary education.

He said that elementary and secondary education are the foundation for good vocational training, college work, and an individual's ability to contribute to the growth and development of the nation as well as to self-reward. Perkins said that recent federal enactments to help finance a construction program on the higher education level, to expand the Vocational Education program, to expand the National Defense Education Act, to strengthen the library program, to make progress in the (See Story No. 5, Page 8)

FLOYD TO GET PART OF $7.5 MILLION FUND

Congressman Carl D. Perkins said Sunday in an address before the Kentucky Association of School Administrators in Louisville that Floyd and eight other Eastern Kentucky counties will share in $7.5 million within the next 10 days under the federal anti-poverty program.

Other counties which will receive their share of federal funds under Title V of the new Economic Opportunity Act are Pike, Knott, Breathitt, Bell, Harlan, Letcher, Leslie and Perry.

The $7.5 million, the Congressman said, is an all-federal grant, and does not require matching funds from the state.

The funds will provide work-experience programs and training to 3,500 persons who are unable to support or care for themselves and their dependents, he said.

The Kentucky Department of Economic Security, working with the counties, submitted the program plans and fund request to the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Perkins said he feels the 39 Kentucky counties of Appalachia can receive $18- to $20-million in all-federal funds under Title V in the next project year.

All that is necessary, he said, is for Kentucky to submit working plans showing that poverty conditions exist and demonstrate that the state has no available matching funds.

"I personally am of the opinion that the results we will be able to obtain under Title V will be tremendous," the Seventh District Democrat said.

Perkins said $150 million has been transferred to the Title V program for use as the anti-poverty director, Sargent Shriver, funds necessary. Kentucky can get much of this, Perkins said.

THREE CASES FILED AWAY

Action Follows Meeting Of Floyd-Co. Board; Hospital Plans Reports

Charges filed against three doctors at the McWell Appalachian Regional hospital, alleging violation of the Kentucky law which requires surgeons and physicians to register in the county where they practice, were filed away in quarterly court Monday.

The cases are subject to being redocketed if the hospital fails to provide the Floyd County Board of Health a list of its doctors and internes and to maintain this record on a month-by-month basis, showing transfers of doctors and employment of new staff members.

This settlement of the cases was agreed upon Monday afternoon at a meeting of the board of health, and Dr. Carl Kleck, chief of the Appalachian Regional Hospital Association, and its legal counsel agreed to acknowledge by letter responsibility for supplying such information.

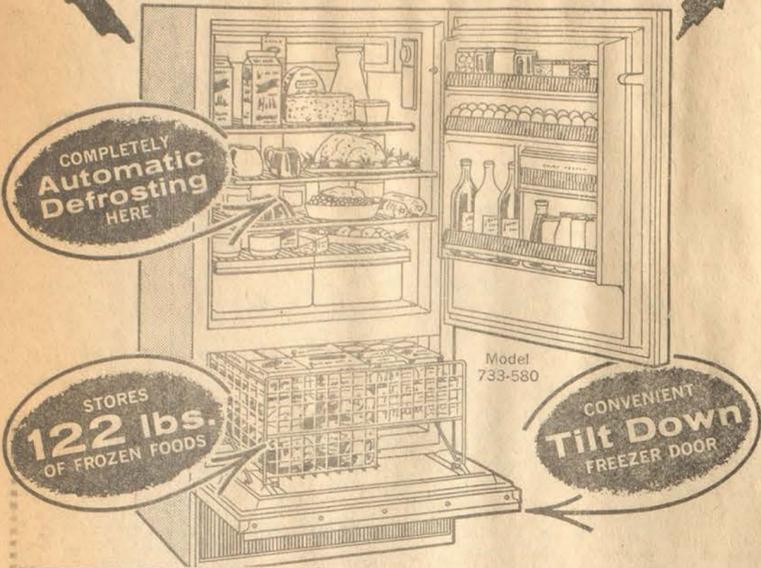

Defendants in the action instituted here are Drs. Spence Johnson, Romeo Berardi and Luiz E. G. Minerio. The warrants for the three, alleging that they had not registered at the County Clerk's office here, as required by KRS 311.585, were sworn out by Dr. Russell L. Hall, secretary of the county board of health, last September.

Dr. Johnson later registered. The other two doctors, it was explained, are residents, or internes, at the McDowell hospital. (See Story No. 3, Page 8)

CHURCHWOMEN VOICE
APPEAL FOR DECENCY

Editor, The Times:
Knowing that you are very much interested in our young people, we hope that you will let us talk to the people of our city and county through your paper.

A recent official FBI report shows that four serious crimes are committed each minute of the day. Many of these crimes are committed by juveniles.

We hear so much about juvenile delinquency and the breakdown of manners, and morals of our young people. This is of great concern to us. We know that for such things to happen there has to be a cause. We may not want to believe it but we adults are to blame.

For years we have had what is called the "Yellow Press," which seeks to gain financially from the exploitation of immorality.

Also for years we have had the "Yellow Motion Picture Industry" which is going from bad to worse. Three-fourths of the pictures shown in our theatres are a shame for an adult to see, much less children and the very impressionable teenagers. For example, the recently shown "Tom Jones". Many of these shows run until midnight and sometimes into the early morning hours.

Today we are getting "Yellow TV." Much of the broadcasting depicts nudity and sadism which disgraces the wonderful home sight-and-sound medium of information, entertainment and education.

It is true that one picture is worth a thousand words. A picture that moves and talks is worth twice as much. How are we going to improve these situations?

The first steps will have to be taken in the homes. Parents, please check on what is being shown before you drop your small children off at the theatre to do a four- or five-hour baby-sitting job for you, and just telling your teenagers to come straight home when the show is over. Know what they are being exposed to all the hours they are sitting safely—you think—behind the closed doors of the theatre.

Do not let your children watch the TV crime and horror programs that can put them into a state of shock, and often cause them to awaken in the night, screaming with terror.

Watch what kind of books and literature your children take an interest in and guide them in their selection.

Starting in the home and through the cooperation of civic and church organizations, these types of degrading entertainment could be effectively combated.

We believe if the writers, executives and producers of this licentious "disease" that is sweeping our nation were fully aware of the harmful consequences to the children and teenagers, there would be a change for the better.

Let us make them aware through all our efforts and the fervent prayer of all Christians.

We have already sent a letter to Mr. Lawrence Keathley, kindly asking him to cooperate by the kind of pictures he books for our theatre.

Our next meeting will be Jan. 20 at 1:30 p.m., in the Baptist Church. We would like to urge Christian women from all churches to attend these meetings and help us plan for a better community, and by so doing, more greatly honor our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

Sincerely,
The Prestonsburg Council of Churchwomen

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

THEN AND NOW"

Nearly everything has changed since I could first remember, and this is perfectly normal, for my memory runs a long way back. Nearly every day I am reminded of some startling change in human thinking since I was a boy at Fidelity. One thing that has undergone marvelous and, in the main, sensible changes is the attitude toward recreation.

Our older philosophy held that work was an end in itself, that anything that did not in some way relate itself to work was dangerous and wicked. Thus fishing had to justify itself by the string of fish brought home; and the boys who went hunting at night or in the daytime felt less guilty for having had a great time if they could add some tasty game to the monotony of pork and beef. Even when we went to the creek on a Saturday afternoon to be wild men, we had to tote along a towel and a cake of laundry soap to make it appear that our only purpose was to remove some layers of sweat and dirt from our bodies that had accumulated since our last trip to the creek or since we had bathed in the family washtub. It would have been almost wicked to have admitted that only a fear that some other boy might tell on us kept us from leaving the soap and towel behind a bush and taking them back home as unused as they had been.

When we held picnics, we had to have a program to pretend that it, rather than the dinner on the ground and the chance to live for a few hours in the woods along the creek, furnished the main reason for our coming together. Many times a religious occasion furnished a good excuse, such as Quarterly Meetings at Sulphur Springs Church, where a small portion of the crowd actually reported the doings of their churches, but the rest of us waited impatiently until it was time to eat or to play, somewhat furtively, in the creek.

Recreation, wholesome recreation, is now big business. If you think otherwise, come with me some summer day to any of our numerous state parks and recreation areas. Often it is impossible, even in mid-week, to find a camp site; and I have been told over and over, it is imperative, if one wishes to have a room in a lodge, to make reservations well in advance. Every form of recreation offered in state or national parks is enjoyed by hordes of people, from our own state and from everywhere else. Our own Mammoth Cave National Park opened a new campground in the summer of 1954 and overgrew it within a few days, so that the old campground had to be roped in again for use.

The family vacation, formerly limited to visiting relatives, has widened out into a series of summer trips that furnish relaxation and education for all the group.

I know of no finer way of knowing the basic good people of America than by traveling across country and visiting state and national parks. I have discovered that some of the finest friendships among like-minded people thus grow up, tying people from remote places together. Some groups arrange to meet every summer in a different park, so that they can add to their store of knowledge and keep up their campground friendships. I have been the beneficiary of some of these groups and have come to have a great respect for the American family on its annual vacation trip.

The thing I most admire about this annual traveling by the American people is that it is now a part of the plan of the family budget, looked upon as valid and necessary. There is no longer any need to feel guilty when one goes in his car to see the mountains or the seashore or some historic or scenic place. And the wholesomeness of the average family group that I have known makes me feel that recreation for its own sake is well worth the attention it is now getting from state and national groups. As I am on the mailing list of the National Park Service, I get, almost every day, some new reminder of new places that are being added to our vacationing spots, where history and scenery and rest can all play their parts.

It contains the following chapters: 1. The Van Hooser Family In The United States. 2. The Van Hooses of Alabama and Georgia. 3. The Van Hoose Family of Eastern Kentucky. 4. John Van Hoose Family of Fayette, Arkansas. 5. The Van Hooses of Tom's Creek. 6. Descendants of Levi Van Hoose of Big Paint Creek. 7. William "Billy" Van Hoose of Barnett's Creek. 8. SALYERS OF ARKANSAS

A HISTORY OF NORTHWEST ARKANSAS, published by Goodspeed Publishing Company, 1889, is a history of the counties of Benton, Washington, Carroll, Madison, Crawford, Franklin and Sebastian counties. The old volume has an interesting section on John P. Salyer and Fieldan Salyer, who migrated there before the Civil War.

From the section on Madison county, pages 459 to 460, we excerpt the following:

"St. Paul is situated upon Sections 4 and 5, Township 13 north, Range 25 west, originally entered by Fielding Salyer and William Ake. The former came from Floyd county, Kentucky, in 1849. Ake subsequently removed to Texas and at the time the town was first thought of, J. P. Salyer was sole owner of the site. In the spring of 1837 when it was decided to extend the Fayetteville branch of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railway, this farm was noticed with favor by the projectors of the road as its terminus. The river at this point pursues its course at the base of the hills on the south, thus leaving a wide and sloping area, well situated for the purpose. The railroad was opened to the town from Powell, eight miles distant, July 15, 1837. At that time the home of Mr. Salyer was the only dwelling in the place. A. B. Lewis built a box shanty in June, 1837, and opened the first store. The first house was built by Charles Pierce, in the same month, and was also occupied as a store building July 29, 1837. J. P. Salyer began business and G. H. Davis a little earlier. The first year of its history finds St. Paul provided with more than a dozen places of business, as follows: J. P. Salyers, groceries and hardware. . . ."

In a biographical appendix to Madison county, page 1114, is the following:

"John P. Salyer was born in Floyd county, Kentucky, in 1846, and is a son of Fieldan and Margaret Hale Salyer. The father was born March 11, 1805, and was a son of William Salyer, also a native of Virginia and of Irish descent. William settled in Kentucky soon after Daniel Boone. Fieldan grew to manhood on his father's farm in Kentucky and, October 2, 1823, married and afterward farmed there until 1849, when, with his wife and seven children, he came by water to Ozark, Arkansas. He landed on the present site of St. Paul in May, 1849, and improved a farm upon which he lived until his death, April 14, 1880. He took an active part in church and school interests and was an influential citizen. Margaret Hale was born in Kentucky, May 23, 1810. She was reared in her native state and although she never became identified with a church, was a good wife and mother and a believer in the teachings of the Bible. She died December 26, 1881. She was the mother of seven daughters and one son: Mary, born June 25, 1823; Sarah, born January 15, 1832; Ursley, born April 25, 1834; Arty, born May 29, 1836; Malinda, born August 22, 1839, died April 23, 1876; John

Three Precincts See Unscheduled Testing Of Voting Strength

Although unscheduled tests of voting strength were staged in three precincts at last Saturday's election of Democratic precinct committeemen, there was no visible evidence this week that the agreement reached two weeks ago will be violated.

That agreement provided for the naming of Earrit Hayes as chairman of Legislative District No. 95 and Oliver Hall to the same post in No. 96, with the eventual naming of James "Red" Conley, of Wheelwright, as county Democratic chairman to succeed Sam Hale.

In the precincts where the opposing factions had a test of strength anti-administration forces won, it was reported here. These precincts were Melvin, Antioch and Jack's Creek.

District 95 precinct committeemen and committeewomen will meet at the courthouse here at 10 a.m. Saturday to elect the legislative district chairman, and District 96 committee members will meet at McDowell high school at the same hour for the same purpose. Their action will set the stage for the election of the county chairman at 2 p.m. Saturday when the two legislative chairmen and County Chairman Hale vote.

Former Floyd Woman Succumbs in Michigan After 2-Year Illness

Mrs. Juanita Adams, 24, wife of Jimmie Adams, died Monday at a Marshall, Michigan hospital after a two-year illness of leukemia. PERSPECTIVE
BY ROBERT J. HASTINGS

A New Jersey clergyman who recently visited Moscow reports that one of the hottest items on the USSR black market today is the Bible. One emigrant said he was offered a cow in exchange for his Russian-language Bible. On another occasion, he was offered an entire month's wages for it.

Porter W. Routh, of Nashville, Tennessee, visited the Baptist Church in Moscow last summer, and he saw worshippers bringing Bibles and hymnbooks in paper sacks. At first he thought they were bringing a lunch. Later he learned they wrapped their Bibles for protection so they could be preserved as long as possible.

In this five week period between Thanksgiving and Christmas, the American Bible Society is again encouraging Christians all over the world to join in reading the same portion of Scripture daily. Since practically every home in America has from one to six Bibles, locating a copy will be no problem. The only problem will be that of time and concern. Do we care enough to reserve a few minutes each day to read a choice passage?

One of the blessings we can count on this season is an open Bible and a free press. But let us also remember that a stack of Bibles a mile high is useless unless its message finds a place in our hearts. This is the meaning of Psalm 119:11. "Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee."

Many Free Library Services Available Here On Request

BY HOMER L. HALL, Regional Librarian
Floyd county's new library surely is an opportune meeting place of minds. The library has a wealth of information for citizens of all ages—from the child who is ready for his first picture book to the retired citizen who now has time to catch up with his reading. Our lending book service includes some 40,000 books for your reading enjoyment, whether for profit or pleasure.

Books alone do not create a library. With this in mind, your new library offers many services that you may not have had the opportunity to explore. Magazines, films, film strips, talking books, phonograph records and bookmobile service are all part of your free library service.

From time to time we shall attempt through this column to keep the public informed and aware of the many available services accorded them by their public library. Also, we will provide information in regard to current best-sellers, along with a brief biographical sketch of the authors. An announcement of any event, of public interest, taking place at the library will be published.

All library facilities are available on Tuesday and Thursday nights, 6 until 9 p.m. Anyone desiring more information about the library or needing one of the available services should contact your Floyd county librarian, Charles Patton, telephone Number 896-2981.

NEW GENEALOGICAL WORK PUBLISHED ON MUSICKS

BY SHIRLEY DONNELLY

There has never been such a resurgence of interest in genealogy as there is today. Folks in retirement and many who have a long way to go to reach retirement age, are giving a lot of time and effort to tracing their ancestral lines.

Just off the press is one of the most ambitious efforts in that field to reach my desk. It is entitled the "Genealogy of the Musick Family and Some Kindred Lines" and is the work of the Rev. Grover Cleveland Musick, Baptist minister, Meadow Bridge, West Virginia. It is close to 200 pages of painstaking work.

One thing that makes the book highly useful is the very copious index at the end—24 pages of names and their page location in the volume. In addition to the index, the illustrations are interesting and numerous. As might be expected in a case of this kind, the book was privately printed. At the author's request, I wrote the introduction to the Musick book.

One of the progenitors of Rev. G. O. Musick was killed by the Indians. On August 12, 1792, a band of Shawnee Indians attacked the David Musick home a few miles north of Honaker, Virginia. He lived on what is today the Henry Combs place in the Big A Mountain section in Russell county.

David Musick was killed and scalped. His wife and five children were taken prisoners. When the Indians started to their towns in the Ohio country they killed one of the Musick steers and skinned it. They used the hide as a sack to carry part of the meat of the steer with them.

One of the Musick boy captives was Abraham Musick, red-headed lad of 15 or 16 years old. As Indians were uncommonly fond of red hair they permitted Abraham Musick to ride, but made the rest of the family walk on their way to the Scioto Valley. To this day the ridge over which the sad captives were taken is called the "Indian Ridge."

(Abraham Musick is buried on Little Paint Creek near the Floyd-Johnson county line.—Editor.)

Some time back, while over in Honaker, Virginia, on a mission, a little side trip was made to the site of the Musick massacre. There the Indian Ridge was pointed out. A party of pioneers trailed the Indians and recaptured the captives in short order. All returned to their desolate home unhurt.

One Indian was killed by the posse who overtook the savages on Russell Fork River, a tributary of the Big Sandy River, at the present Hayti, Virginia, approximately 30 miles from where David Musick had been slain. John Fletcher headed the party which rescued Mrs. David Musick and her five children.

The book has a lot of interesting sidelights on members of the Musick generations.

Historical Notes

In the Goopspeed book, page 111, is the following account of George W. Prater:
"George W. Prater, a farmer of Hillburn Township, was born in Kentucky in 1832, and is a son of Jonathan and Margaret (Griffin) Prater. His father was born in Virginia and when a young man located in Floyd county, Kentucky, where he engaged in farming. Our subject lost both parents when a small boy and when about sixteen accompanied an older brother to Arkansas, locating upon the farm where he now lives. The brother made this his home until his death during the war. He accompanied Price on his famous raid through Maryland and died from the effects of a wound. George W. lived on White River until the commencement of the war, where he remained until the close of hostilities, doing service in the Confederate Army. He located upon his present place about 1880. In 1855 he married Melinda J. Salyer, a native of Kentucky. She bore him eight children and died April 23, 1876. Her children were named John, Mary J., George, William (deceased), Daniel, James C. (deceased), Joseph, Thomas J. Mr. Prater afterward married Mary Combs, a sister of Captain Combs, and a native of Kentucky. Mr. Prater is a successful farmer of 100 acres of well cultivated land; is a member of the Christian Church and in politics is a Democrat."

AREA SCHOOL IS DROPPED

Accreditation Lost By Whitesburg High; To Reapply Next Year

Nineteen high schools in the South, including the one at Whitesburg, lost their accreditation last week in action taken by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

The Whitesburg school was dropped because it violated the association standard requiring the school superintendent to hold a master's degree with most of the graduate work in administrative courses.

Superintendent Dave L. Craft said that he took over the school last year after the previous superintendent died. Craft has an advanced degree but not enough courses in administration. He said he intends to take the necessary courses and apply for accreditation again next year.

An association official said the violation was "innocent and not too serious," but that the standard must be followed for reasons of desirable educational practices.

Two Tennessee high schools were dropped for similar reasons. Also, the school superintendent of Duval county (Jacksonville), Florida, schools was unsuccessful in his final appeal to delay dis-accreditation of the 15 high schools there.

The 15 schools have lost their accreditation, primarily because the citizens of Duval county have not provided enough money to operate an adequate school system.

Prestonsburg high school, which was dropped in 1960, did not apply for reinstatement because it was feared crowded conditions would be unsatisfactory to a review team. Work toward reinstatement is planned next summer.

Two Kentucky high schools, Barbourville and Owensboro Catholic, did not reapply for membership, and were dropped.

Nine Kentucky high schools were accredited, either for the first time or after the required reevaluation after 10 years.

Four are in Louisville and Jefferson county: Angela Merici, St. Xavier, Western, and Westport. Other Kentucky schools accredited were Holy Family high school at Ashland, Ballard Memorial high at Barlow, Nicholas County high at Carlisle, Carrollton high and Union County high school at Morgantown.

At the college level, Cumberland College at Williamsburg was accredited as a senior college. It had been accredited as a junior college since 1931.

Three Southern colleges were placed on probation for various academic and financial deficiencies. They are Benedict College at Columbia, South Carolina; Florida Memorial College at St. Augustine, and Tusculum College at Greeneville, Tennessee.

In a discussion of air-conditioned schools, the principal of such a school in Tampa, Florida, said that student behavior is much better when the temperature and humidity are kept at a reasonable level.

The principal, Frank Farmer, said that "it's amazing how many people have learned to live with, and like, air conditioning. It is no longer considered necessarily a 'frill'."

Farmer said that the "pure discomfort" of a non-air-conditioned school in hot weather is "a most adverse circumstance, and detracts from good learning."

Former Resident Here Succumbs In Michigan

Oscar (Sport) Hale, 54, former Prestonsburg man, died Nov. 28 at Washtenaw County hospital, Michigan, after a year's illness of cancer.

A son of the late James and Rhoda Wallen Hale, he spent his entire life here until he moved to Michigan, where he resided with Mr. and Mrs. Farley Gibson, of Ypsilanti.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Sylvia Green, of Louisville, and a sister, Mrs. Daisy McGuire, of West Prestonsburg.

Funeral rites were conducted Nov. 30 from the Moore Funeral Home in Ypsilanti by the Rev. Richard Preston and other ministers of the United Baptist Church. Burial was made in Udell cemetery there.

"...the State Board of Health hereby authorizes foreign medical graduates who have passed the ECFMG examination to further their medical training at approved training hospitals in Kentucky as interns under the direct supervision of physicians holding regular licenses issued by the State Board of Health, provided such persons have first registered with and been approved by the Kentucky State Board of Health, prior to beginning such training in this state. No such person shall act outside the scope of his internship duties, and the hospital employing such interns shall be deemed to have accepted full responsibility for their acts."

field of educational television and special education programs for the handicapped, while urgently required and representing meaningful progress, did little to meet the urgency of providing funds for elementary and secondary school programs.

"In many areas of our nation, children are being denied a full opportunity for a sound educational foundation because of the lack of local financial resources to support the kind of educational programs which will equip all our youngsters for future study, training, and work. In our modern age where one out of four families moves every year, the educational deficiencies of individual school districts are no longer local problems but take on national concern," said Perkins.

Commanding priority were the financially poorer and sometimes isolated regions and school districts of our nation, indicated Perkins.

The award presented to Perkins by the American Vocational Association was the highest given by that Association. Past recipients of the award which was started in 1953 are: Senator Walter L. George, Senator Lister Hill, Henry Ford II, Senator John Sparkman, Congressman Graham Barden and Dr. Benjamin C. Willis.

Previously Perkins had received similar tribute from the National Association of Local Vocational School Administrators for his authorship and Congressional leadership in securing the passage of the Vocational Education Act of 1963.

Earlier in November, Perkins was given the National Award of the American Association of Adult Educators for his contribution in sponsoring and securing the passage of the Adult Basic Education Act which was incorporated into the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

Perkins' address was one of two major speaking highlights of the convention. On Monday night, Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps and the Office of Economic Opportunity, discussed the major provisions of the Economic Act.

Deductions Cut On Sales Tax

Frankfort, Ky. — Kentuckians will not be able to deduct as much in state sales tax from their federal returns as in previous years.

The State Revenue Department Wednesday issued a revised table identical to the federal sales-tax deduction table.

For example, a family of three or four earning $5,000 had been allowed to deduct $96 to $100 from the three percent sales-and-use tax. Now it will get only $87 in permissible deductions.

The same sized family earning $10,000 had $150 to $154 in deductible allowances, but now the ceiling is $132.

In fact, the family of three or four gets the same allowance henceforth. The previous table granted the family of four a few more dollars of exemptions in all brackets than the family of three.

Revenue Commissioner James Luckett said the Internal Revenue Service recently changed all deductibility tables for sales-tax status on the basis of new studies of family income and expenditure patterns.

"In the interest of uniformity and to avoid confusion to taxpayers," he said, "the department's policy is to conform closely to federal practice."

PEDIATRIC CLINIC

Frankfort, Ky. — A pediatric clinic has been established in Bowling Green to provide comprehensive medical care and necessary hospitalization for needy children of Warren county who are not eligible for services under any other state or volunteer programs. The weekly clinic, which opened in October, is operated by the Warren County Health Department and the Division of Maternal and Child Health of the Kentucky State Department of Health.

at Eastern as a possible site for the location of a Right Beaver Creek senior high school when and if construction funds become available. The property involved is that of the Mary Osborne heirs and of Earl Webb, comprising 10 to 12 acres. The Webb property is to be purchased for $17,500. The board has an option from six of the 10 Osborne heirs to purchase the entire Osborne tract for $35,000. Condemnation proceedings may be filed against the four heirs who have not agreed to the sale of the land.

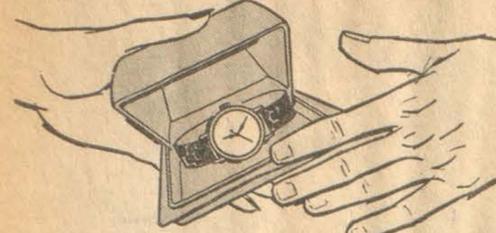

The Spradlin Branch school on the Auxier road was leased for a period of five years to the Floyd County Council for Retarded Children at a rental of $1 a year. The rental for the first five years was paid by Board Member Bill Wells. It was said that the building will be used by the Council for classroom purposes.

After a study of natural gas rates currently in effect, based on an average usage of 450,000 cubic feet per month, the board voted to purchase gas from the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company for heating of the new Wheelwright elementary school. These figures showed that the cost from Kentucky West Virginia would be $228.40 per month as compared with $315.93 if purchased from United Fuel and $275.84 if from the Mike Little Gas Company.

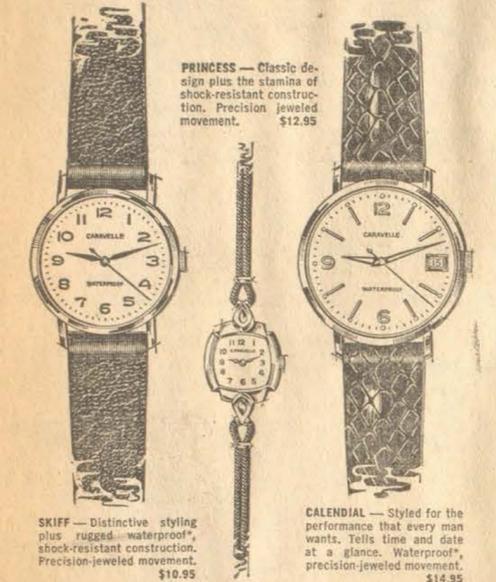

The chairman and secretary of the board were authorized to renew the contract with the Mayo State Vocational School for training of students at the Garth Vocational School. The superintendent was authorized to advertise for a sewage pump and fixtures for the Prestonsburg high school. Because of the elevation of the main sewer line, the school line is below it, necessitating pumping.

Other actions of the board included the employment of Leonard Joseph as substitute bus driver and Shirley Jean Whalen, Edith Patrick and Marie T. Reynolds as emergency substitute teachers.

Ask Kennedy About Operation -- He Might Let You Listen In On Battery-Operated Heart

If you meet 63-year-old Bennie E. Kennedy on the streets of Coeburn, Virginia, he will probably tell you about his operation. And you will find that his story is unique and interesting. Bennie Kennedy has spent his entire life in and around the small rural communities of Coeburn and Wise, Virginia. Normally a very active person, Mr. Kennedy found it difficult to adjust to the relatively inactive life necessitated by a heart attack which he suffered three years ago. But a strong will helped him to adjust.

Early in October, however, he was faced with another crisis when his heart weakened severely. He was immediately admitted to the Wise Appalachian Regional Hospital where it was determined that his heartbeat had dropped to a dangerously low point.

He and his family were informed by Dr. Victor Liszka, a chest surgeon, that an operation designed to regulate the heartbeat might offer some hope. He was also told that the operation had never been performed in that hospital before.

Mr. Kennedy felt positive, he said, that the operation would be successful. It was set for October 9.

Mr. Fred Bingham, administrator of Wise ARA Hospital, immediately began the detailed preparations necessary for the operation. Additional equipment was borrowed from the Beckley, West Virginia, ARA hospital. An internal pace-maker—equipment that was essential for the procedure—was flown from Milwaukee. An anesthesiologist from Harlan, Kentucky, came to assist. Other members of the hospital staff stood by.

The operation began. While Mr. Kennedy was conscious, and under a local anesthetic, an external pace-maker—an electric device used to regulate the heartbeat—was connected through an artery in the arm directly to his heart. Then he was given a general anesthetic, and an internal pace-maker was attached to the surface of the abdomen just under the skin and connected by wires directly to the heart muscle. After this was accomplished, heartbeat regulation was taken over by the internal pace-maker, and the external device was removed.

This small piece of electronic equipment, no larger than a cigarette package, functions independently on long-life batteries and will remain inside the body to continuously insure proper regulation of the heart.

Five days after the operation, Mr. Kennedy was out of bed and moving about. He was discharged from the hospital in 11 days, and he now enjoys an almost normal, active life.

Dr. Karl S. Klicka, president of Appalachian Regional Hospitals, attributes much of the success of the operation to the "tremendous cooperation and coordination of the skill of the doctors and other specialists." The Wise hospital is one of the 10 non-profit, community hospitals operated by Appalachian Regional Hospitals in Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

"This was definitely a team effort," Dr. Klicka said. "Without the help of the other hospitals in the system, their equipment and staff and the skill of the surgeon, this operation would not have even been possible. I think it is very significant that such a difficult and delicate operation could be performed in a rural area. Previously such patients have been required to travel to a metropolitan area for the services offered by a large medical center." He added:

"Of course, we must not forget the confident attitude of Mr. Kennedy meant a lot to the success of the operation itself."

So if you meet Mr. Bennie Kennedy, ask him about his operation. He might even let you listen to his "battery-operated" heart.

Utility Firms Organize Power Pooling Network In Midwestern Region

Organization of the largest power pooling network in the United States was announced by a group of electric companies operating in an area embracing much of the midwestern part of the country and extending east as far as Virginia.

The group has set up a formal regional organization called the Mid-America Interpool Network (MAIN).

The electric systems involved include American Electric Power Company of which Kentucky Power Company is a part, the Commonwealth Edison Company, the Illinois-Missouri Pool, the Indiana Power Pool and the Wisconsin Planning Group.

The members of MAIN, which for more than a year have cooperated on an informal basis, will plan and coordinate the power supplies for their service areas under the new arrangement. These systems use 345,000-volt transmission lines and other high voltage facilities for extensive interchange of electricity.

The program involves operation in 19 states—Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, southern Michigan, Missouri, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin. More than 7 million customers are served in this region. Utilities interconnected with MAIN members include public as well as investor-owned systems.

The MAIN members and their pool affiliates now have total electric generating capacity of approximately 27 million kilowatts. By 1968 this capacity total will exceed 34 million. By 1980, it is estimated, it will reach the 70 million-kilowatt mark.

Christmastime
 In loving memory of husband and father, T. Y. Martin, who passed away February 1, 1960:
 I try in vain to understand—
 Forgive me, Lord,
 In tears I pray
 As this ends four sad
 And lonesome years today
 Memories are a heartache
 No one can heal.
 Some may forget you,
 Now that you have gone;
 I will remember, Tom,
 No matter how long.
 We all loved him very much;
 God must have loved him, too.
 We know how many helpful things
 His kind hands found to do,
 Sadly missed by his wife and son,
 MRS. T. Y. MARTIN

Hatfield Family Cemetery

One of the most famous cemeteries in the region is that of the Hatfield family on Island Creek, near Omar, West Virginia, where many of the Hatfield feud leaders are buried. It is annually visited by thousands.

Shown here is a statue of Anderson (Devil Anse) Hatfield, leader of the Hatfields against the McCoy's, erected at his grave. The monument was carved in Italy. The smaller monument is at the grave of Johnse Hatfield, his son, who was tried in the 1880's at Prestonsburg for his participation in the New Year's Day, 1882, attack on the McCoy family on Blackberry Creek, Pike county.

The First National Bank presents these pictures in recognition of our historic heritage.

RATINGS

Tuesday's first statewide high school basketball ratings have three of the 15th region's teams in the top 25 teams. Hellier, 7-0 against weak opposition, is tabbed as the 14th best team; Denzil Halbert's Martin Purple Flash holds down 20th place and the Meade Memorial Red Devils are 24th.

Louisville Manual, who will be host to Prestonsburg and Paintsville on successive nights in Convention Center this weekend, is rated the state's No. 19 team.

SUCCESSFUL TOURNAMENT

The Floyd county pre-season basketball tournament, won by the Martin Purple Flash, netted $2,361.50 for the county yearbook publication. Competing teams do not share in the proceeds. Prestonsburg won the team free throw trophy with the highest percentage for any one game. Wayland won the cheerleading trophy. Donnie Hall, McDowell sophomore, won the individual free shot trophy for the highest number of successful attempts in any one game.

Freddie Setser paced the tournament in individual scoring with 66 points in three games. Martin's Larry Hall had 64 in three games and McDowell's Rickey Hall tabbed 65 in three games. Beecher Hale totaled 45 in three games, Donnie Hall posted 42 in three games and Maytown's Raymond Goble tossed in 47 in three outings.

Hellier and Belfry, both 57th district teams, are the lone two undefeated cage teams in the 15th region. Four invitational basketball tournaments in the region have been completed, and four more will be played this month. Morgan County and Johns Creek have four-team meets, December 18-19, and Pikeville has a tourney December 28-29.

Wheelwright's eight-team meet gets under way December 23 and runs through the 29th. Paintsville's annual affair does not open play until January 13.

Both Prestonsburg and Paintsville radio stations will broadcast doubleheaders from Louisville's Convention Center, Friday and Saturday nights. Prestonsburg meets Shelbyville, and Paintsville tangles with Manual on Friday night, Saturday night. Prestonsburg plays Manual and Paintsville plays Shelbyville.

Floyd Clean-Up Group Appointed by Governor; Beautification Viewed

Mrs. Connie Quinn, director of the Division of Clean-up and Beautification in the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources, has announced the appointment of a state-wide committee composed of representatives in all of Kentucky's 120 counties.

Floyd countians named are: Mrs. R. V. May and N. M. White, Jr., both of Prestonsburg; B. F. Reed and Mrs. Lloyd Stumbo, both of Drift, and Bob Martin, of Allen.

Appointments were made jointly by Governor Edward T. Breathitt, Commissioner of Natural Resources J. O. Matlick, and Mrs. Quinn.

"This committee is made up of dedicated people from every county in the state who are working to clean-up and beautify their local areas as well as the entire Commonwealth," Mrs. Quinn said.

Plans are under way to hold a state-wide meeting sometime in the early spring to prepare Kentucky's 1965 clean-up and beautification program.

Kentucky's clean-up and beautification program was established in 1960 by Governor Bert Combs, and since that time has received a number of national awards. Kentucky was the first state to receive the National Keep America Beautiful award.

EXPANDED VACCINATION PROGRAM CONTEMPLATED

A $274,413 federal grant to continue and expand the vaccination program in Kentucky has been announced by Dr. Russell E. Teague, state health commissioner.

The U. S. Public Health Service grant was over $100,000 more than the $173,000 one which started the program in September of 1963. It will expand this special vaccination service from the present 40 counties to all 120 counties.

Dr. Donald B. Thurber of the State Health Department is director of the Kentucky Vaccination Assistance Project. Aronid Kannwischer, from the U.S.P.H.S. Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, Georgia, is the Kentucky coordinator.

The program was made possible by the Vaccination Assistance Act passed by Congress in 1962. It supplements an on-going state program and works toward 100 percent immunization, with the federal funds paying for the cost of vaccine.

"It is aimed at four specific, preventable diseases," Dr. Thurber said. "These are polio, diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus. Special emphasis is on pre-school children."

During the first year of the project, more than 200,000 Kentuckians were immunized against polio, and more than 125,000 against the three other diseases, Dr. Thurber reported.

Children and adults still get sick and die unnecessarily of these preventable diseases," he added. "As long as they do we have not accomplished our purpose. Effective vaccines against these serious diseases have been available for several years, yet the diseases still occur."

Main purpose of the Kentucky program, Dr. Thurber explained, is to seek out those persons who have not been immunized. This is done, for example, by using birth certificates in the pre-school age group.

"With this individual approach," Dr. Thurber said, "we identify, locate, and immunize."

Procedures vary in different counties, he said, and involve private physicians and county health departments. Any questions concerning the program should be directed to the county health department.

'Toys for Tots' Drive Begun at Wheelwright By Youth Organization

The MYF of the Community Methodist Church at Wheelwright this week announced a "Toys for Tots" drive which it hopes to continue as an annual event to provide toys for needy children in the area surrounding Wheelwright.

Those who would have a part in this work to gladden the hearts of children at Christmastime are being asked to contact the pastor of the church, the Rev. Donald R. Guth (Phone 2432, Wheelwright), Bill Jenkins (Phone 2941) or Mike Phillips (Phone 3241), who will have the toys picked up as soon as possible.

Hundreds of new or usable toys are needed for needy children. Such toys also may be taken to the Community Shopping Center at Wheelwright and there left in the "Toys for Tots" barrel.

FOSSILIZED ROOT SYSTEM ASSEMBLED AT MOREHEAD

Morehead, Ky. — A fossilized Silurian root system over 235 million years old was recently discovered and assembled for display at Morehead State College.

First located by James E. Chaplin, assistant professor of geology, and Allen Lake, assistant professor of biology, on a field trip in Elliott county, the root system weighs over one ton.

It is now displayed on the first floor of Lappin Science Hall at Morehead State College.

"This particular root system," said Chaplin, "is assigned to the subterranean organs of the giant scale trees and closely allied plants that inhabited the coal forests of Eastern Kentucky during the geological period of time called the Pennsylvania Period, approximately 235 million years ago."

Chaplin said that Eastern Kentucky, during the time the root system was alive, was a low-lying region and subject to periodic floodings by marine seas and, probably as a result of land subsidence, several feet of mud accumulated, resulting in the death of the huge trees of the region.

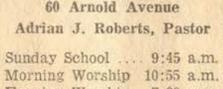

"When this happened," he said, "the remaining stumps and 'root' systems eventually decayed but not until the surrounding matrix had been partially consolidated and the pith cavities were then partially filled with mud. This resulted in partial casts of the original stems and roots."

"After later accumulation of sediment, the region was then uplifted, resulting in a lowering of the sea level and the formation of the current land surface. Finally, through the curiosity of man, the remnants of the long-buried forests were revealed," said Chaplin.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our gratitude to all our friends and relatives who helped us during the sickness and upon the passing of our dear mother, Mrs. Tammie Caroline Roberts. We appreciate the kindness and the efficiency of Hall Brothers Funeral Home, also the comforting words of Revs. Lorrie Vannucci, George Downes and Robert Martin. We wish to praise our God publicly for His mighty spirit which has upheld and sustained us through this time of sorrow.

The root system on display at Morehead took more than a year and a half to assemble and is one of few on display in the nation. "We strongly believe that further excavation and field work will reveal an entire Pennsylvania fossil forest in this region, perhaps comparable to the only one in existence today, which is located in Victoria Park, Glasgow, Scotland," said Chaplin.

Shoplifters' Photos Planned In Program; Thieves List Compiled

The faces of shoplifters are becoming better known as a result of a program put into effect recently through the cooperation of State Police, local police forces and Kentucky retailers.

Photographs of known thieves who specialize in shoplifting, have been compiled by the State Police Bureau of Identification, and are being circulated quarterly to over 2,000 retailers, 120 county sheriffs, and 270 police departments in the state.

"This is of tremendous help to the retailer," said Ivan Jett, executive vice-president of the Kentucky Retail Federation, Inc. "Shoplifting losses amount to approximately $20 million each year to Kentucky merchants."

Hindman Man Appointed Boy Scout Executive; Serves Two Districts

The appointment of Robert O. Simpson, of Hindman, as a district Scout executive of the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, was announced last week by Byron F. Pennebaker, Scout executive of the council.

Mr. Simpson assumed his new post, December 7, and will serve the Kentucky River and Letcher districts with administrative responsibilities for the promotion, operation and extension of the Scouting program.

The Kentucky River and Letcher districts comprise all Scouting units in Perry, Letcher, Breathitt, Leslie and Knott counties. They have 521 boys enrolled in four Cub Scout packs, twenty-one Boy Scout troops, and one Explorer unit.

Mr. Simpson entered Scouting in 1951 as a Cub Scout and went on into Boy Scouts at Hindman. He is a graduate of the 262nd National Training School for professional leaders in Scouting, conducted by the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, at the Schiff Scout Reservation at Mendham, New Jersey, completing his work there on December 3, 1964. He was graduated from Morehead State College in the class of August, 1964.

Mr. Simpson is married and will reside at Hazard with his wife Betty Sue and young son, Robert Shawn.

MAYTOWN

The Maytown Band Boosters held their regular monthly meeting Wednesday, December 2, in the school auditorium. The following schedule was planned for the Christmas activities:

On Wednesday, December 16, at 5 o'clock, the annual lighting of the Christmas tree will be held in the square in the center of town. The tree is sponsored by the Maytown Woman's Club, and bandmembers will play and sing carols during the lighting. Everyone is invited to participate in this event.

The Christmas concert, under the direction of Doug Smith, will be held in the high school auditorium at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 17. The concert, which has been presented the past two years, will feature the high school chorus, junior high chorus and the bandmembers. An added attraction this year will be an art exhibit in the hallway. Persons attending the concert may view either before or after the performance. Even though the students have had only a few weeks' classes in art, they have done remarkably well under the instruction of Jack Lovely.

The week will be climaxed with a Christmas dance featuring the Continental Five which will be held in the gymnasium. All band parents are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Bailey entertained their family to a Thanksgiving dinner. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Wolfe and Mrs. Archie Carter and families, of Columbus, Ohio; Elmer Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rowe and family, Rhonda Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Rowe and son and Mrs. Delmar Rowe and children.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Amanda Turner who passed away at the Beaver Valley hospital, early Monday morning.

Rex Osborne, of Ravenswood, W. Va., was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sid Bailey, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Laferty, of Ft. Knox, Ky., and Nora Hayes, of Ashland, were called home last week due to the illness of their mother, Mrs. Kendall Hayes. Mrs. Hayes has now recovered.

Mr. Ivan Bouch returned to her home Friday after spending several weeks in St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, where she had surgery on a broken leg.
