

Whisman Credits 'Miracles' To Big Sandy Plans, Work

"We're ahead of schedule. You and I haven't just made planless plans—our plans are turning into things," John Whisman, states' representative to the Appalachian Regional Commission, told members of the Big Sandy Area Development Council Monday evening at the Paintsville Country Club.

Mr. Whisman said the Big Sandy program was described at the Appalachian States' convention as "the best rural development program in the United States" and that the Big Sandy Development Council was there hailed as "the best in the nation."

He said that, largely as the result of this program, employment is increasing in Eastern Kentucky at a pace that outstrips the rest of the nation.

The speaker looked backward "to where we were" and forward "to where we're going." He pointed out that the first part of the Appalachian plan was to help every person in Eastern Kentucky get a job, somewhere, and that the second phase was to create jobs at home. The program moved first he said, on vocational schools, next on hospitals. Eastern Kentucky, he added, is developing the best vocational education program in the nation. He pointed to the need for more centralized educational facilities and to highways which will draw widely separated areas together. Asked if the economic slowdown will affect the Appalachian highway program, the speaker said he did not foresee any adverse effect and that he anticipates an expanded road program.

The "things" which Appalachian planning has resulted in, he said, include new US 23, new homes, supermarkets, the new plant, American Standard — "another miracle," he added — as well as smaller plants.

Ten years ago, he said, American Standard would not have considered the Big Sandy as a plant site. Now, the lower Big Sandy is becoming known as "the Little Ruhr valley."

"The nation and the state at one time regarded Eastern Kentucky as having the worst problems. The Big Sandy is no longer a problem area."

He predicted that another miracle is about to happen at Salyersville, with the Royalton reservoir and a huge pilot program of development in the Licking River valley from Royalton to Salyersville already recommended to the Congress as "highly feasible."

"Eastern Kentucky's problems are modern—they are the problems which other areas are just now discovering. We had violence and poverty, years ago. Now, they're theirs," Whisman said.

At the annual election of Council officers Allan M. Perry, Paintsville, was elected chairman. Other officers are Albert K. Moore, Salyersville, first vice-chairman; Russell Williamson, Inez, second vice-chairman; Paul R. Gearheart, Harold, third vice-chairman, and Dr. W. C. Hambley, Pikeville, secretary.

Sales Clinic Will Open Campaign

A retail sales clinic, sponsored by Prestonburg business firms, will kick off a six week campaign of Harvest Time Values.

The clinic will be held Monday, October 27 at 7 p.m. at the Wise Steak House where participating firms and their employees will be guests of The Floyd County Times for dinner.

"When we increase customer satisfaction, business benefits," Mr. Barnett said here this week. "When we add to this the fact that the six weeks of the campaign will give shoppers big cash savings, the entire community gains."

After dinner, the clinic will be conducted by Roy Barnett, who won the title, U.S. Salesman of the Year in 1960. Each year the Salesman of the Year is chosen by Sales Week Magazine, published by the Nation's Sales Executive Club.

"The purpose of the clinic is to demonstrate to employees and salespeople methods of more effectively and efficiently serving their customers."

Barnett came to Prestonburg at the request of The Times after results of the program's success in other towns had been studied.

A number of checks were made in other towns where Mr. Barnett had held clinics. Every call got the same answer. Barnett has been received with a bigger welcome each time he came back, and that the Harvest Time Values campaigns were extremely successful.

Barnett became interested in sales studies while he was a law student. He was a district manager of Vision, Inc., a firm specializing in sales and human relations, before going into business for himself.

He uses charts to illustrate his talks, which were acclaimed by the manager of a large chain store as "doing more good in two hours than the average two weeks' training course."

Committee Interested In McDowell Clinic Row

The judicial committee of the Kentucky Medical Association has expressed to T. P. Hinkins, president of Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc., its interest in the situation at the McDowell regional hospital where the Daniel Boone Clinic and the new Regional Medical Clinic are at odds.

In a letter to Mr. Hinkins the KMA committee expressed its pleasure at learning he had offered a solution which would permit doctors of both groups to use clinic facilities at the hospital. But the committee expressed puzzlement at Hinkins' provision that ARH would employ paramedical personnel, and it asked the reason for ARH insistence on semi-control at McDowell alone in its chain of hospitals

("Paramedical personnel" includes nurses, semi-professional and lay assistants.)

When the Daniel Boone Clinic held its annual board meeting last Friday several telegrams were sent by private citizens in this county asking that the clinic waive the provision in its contract with Dr. Mary Hall that upon her separation from Daniel Boone she shall not practise her profession in a radius of 50 miles of McDowell.

Being circulated in the county are two petitions, one asking a waiver of the contract clause in the case of Dr. Hall, the other asking that the five doctors now associated with the Regional Medical Clinic be restored to offices in the regular clinic quarters.

WHERE HAS THE SUMMER GONE? And the boaters and the skiers and the crowds at Deway Lake? On raw days, this early in the fall, except for a few fishermen, the waters around the Jenny Wiley boat dock are disturbed only by these wild ducks that have become tame, with a sprinkling of their domesticated kin.

Freak Accident Claims Ivel Man

Elbert Ratliff, 64-year-old Ivel man, was killed Monday afternoon in a freak accident near Pikeville when a rock bounded from the mountainside through an open truck window and struck his head. He was dead on arrival at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville.

Ratliff was a passenger in a C. & O. truck driven by Miles Thomas. The truck was travelling downriver over a section of US 23 under construction when a stone of about five pounds weight dislodged from the mountainside and hurtled through the window.

The victim, a native of Johnson county, had resided at Ivel for about 50 years. He was a C. & O. trackman nearing retirement.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Mary Collins Ratliff, and eight sons and daughters: Mrs. James Osborne, Ivel; Clyde, Houston, Roy and Claude and Ernestine Ratliff, all of the Ft. Wayne, Ind. area; Eugene Ratliff, Garden City, Mich., and Miss Barbara Ratliff, of Ivel.

Funeral rites will be conducted at 11 a. m. today (Thursday) from the Tom's Creek Free Will Baptist Church, the Rev. Robert Martin officiating.

Burial will be made in the J. K. Stratton cemetery at Ivel under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Floyd County Man The Johnny Cash Of Hound World

Bennie Moore with a part of the trophies his Plott hounds have won. Many of these were won by Stormy Man. Incidentally, Stormy Man was shot and killed this year by a drunk at Clifton, Virginia, where he was kept by his part-owner, Berlin King.

A Floyd county man is to the National Plott Hound Association what Johnny Cash is to country music—he takes home just about all the honors.

Col. Bennie Moore, owner of the Mountain Plott Hound Kennels, East McDowell, has a roomful of trophies—more than 70 this year, plus many more collected in other years.

The Plott hound is a tree dog par excellence, and Moore's contributions to popularizing the breed has won him an international reputation. This year he was voted the award for contributing most to the Plott breed and the national association, and received from the All-Japan Hound Association a plaque in recognition of his efforts.

The dog that took home practically all honors at the 16th annual Plott Days, held at Booneville, Ind. Sept. 18-20, was Stormy Man, a Plott owned by Moore and one of his trainers, Berlin King, Clifton, Virginia. This was Stormy Man's record there.

First in open hunt and high-point dog on the first day; on Friday, first place in the Champion of Champions hunt, also high-point dog; high-scoring dog for any one night, and winner of the Isaiah Kidd Memorial Trophy as the Plott scoring most points for the three nights. Screaming Luke, the Plott which ranked second in the Champion of Champions hunt on Saturday night, is also owned by Moore, whose

Report of Lawrence Gold Hit by Laboratory 'Findings'

A spokesman for the Hopewell Mining Company, which has made a sizeable investment in development of what has been reported as a Lawrence county area rich in gold and silver ore, said Tuesday that analyses made by nationally known laboratories fail to show either metal in appreciable amounts.

The statement was accompanied by this warning: "If you are thinking of investing in this development, first have an analysis made by recognized laboratory. Don't make any purchases on the basis of previous reports."

Hopewell was engaged as the financing firm and its spokesman said the company is anxious about getting the true story to the public. This source said he is certain the information supplied The Times for recent news-stories about the "strike" was given by an "outside party to the transaction, possibly one who had invested unwisely in it."

Hopewell has widely conflicting reports on the Lawrence-Elliott-Rowan field. It appears that the analyses were made on Lawrence county ores. The discrepancies exist in reports on several holes where core drilling was done. For instance:

On Jordan Hole No. 7 the Rapucci Testing Laboratories, Cincinnati, O., reported the analysis showed 11.8 ounces of silver per ton. The same hole the analysis made by the Colorado School of Mines Research Institute showed an average of less than .005 of an ounce per ton on tests of ore at depths ranging from 10 to 81 feet.

Wells Is Jailed On 3rd Offense Liquor Charge

William Riley Wells, Jr., who has been at liberty under probation for several months after his conviction on a liquor possession charge, was arrested Sunday afternoon at his place of business on new US 23, near here, when county and state officers found 359 cans of beer and 13 half-pints of whiskey and vodka on his premises.

Wells was booked for third offense possession of intoxicating beverages, and his 1956 Buick automobile was impounded.

Wells had been under probation since his conviction, several months ago. Probation was granted on his promise, officials said, that he would go to work for a coal company. They said he later quit that job.

Sunday's raid was made by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis, Deputy Sheriff Claude Flanery and State Troopers L. Bevins and Don Thornsberry. A recent raid on Wells' premises netted intoxicants and the arrest of Bill Crace, who said the intoxicants were his.

Eleven persons have been jailed within the week on traffic charges. Those booked at the county jail, offenses against each and names of arresting officers follow:

J. C. Butler, threatening and banding, arrested by State Troopers Angel and Rose; Joe Paul Hicks, no operator's license, by Trooper Bevins; Jesse Little, a.w.o.l., by Troopers Angel, Rose and Thornsberry; Isaac Bage, no operator's license, by Constable Gillis Conn; Gilbert Osborne, driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, by Trooper Thornsberry; Norman Little, reckless driving, possession of beer and no operator's license, by Sheriff Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Hall; Tony Isaacs, no operator's license and reckless driving, by Lewis and Hall; Claude Isaacs, no operator's license, by Trooper Rose; Herbert Collins, driving while under the influence of alcohol by Troopers Brenner and Rose; Bill Marsillett, drunk driving, by Troopers Allen and Thornsberry; Eddie Arnold Gayheart, drunk driving, by Trooper Angel; Frank Meadows, driving while under the influence of alcohol, by Trooper Rose.

Plans for Martin County Mines Told

Martin county is due for an economic shot in the arm with the opening of two major coal mining operations and the construction of perhaps 25 miles of railroad construction in the next two years.

Governor Louie B. Nunn told the annual meeting of the Kentucky Coal Association in Lexington last week of the coming development, which, he said, may mean a thousand jobs in the two mines and related industry.

About 700 persons will be employed in mines to be operated on two tracts by the Island Creek Coal Co. and the A. T. Massey Coal Co., the governor said.

Spokesmen for the two coal companies said they are leasing substantial tracts of virgin coal lands—the exact acreages weren't disclosed—from a land company controlled by the railroad.

They said the coal field, situated some 15 miles southeast of Inez, has been divided into three sections. It is expected that plans for the third tract will be announced later.

A. S. Peck, general manager of the Island Creek division of Island Creek Coal Co., said the rail line should be completed by the Norfolk and Western Railway Co., and the mines placed in operation by late 1972. Eventually, he said, Island Creek will open a second mine.

The Martin county field will be geared to produce at least 2 million tons of coal a year for power companies in North Carolina. Island Creek has a contract with the Carolina Power and Light Co. and Massey has one with Duke Power Co.

E. Morgan Massey, vice-president of mining for Massey Coal Co., said such operations long have been envisioned for the remote Martin county field. They have become possible, he said, through advanced methods of mining, processing, and hauling what previously was considered low-quality coal.

Massey said his company, which has headquarters in Richmond, Va., will gear up its new operations through a subsidiary, the Martin County Coal Corp.

Officials of both companies said they by conventional deep-mining operations, with the possibility of some strip mining. The first section of railroad will leave the main line at Lovely, west of Williamson, W. Va., and run to the coal field along Rockcastle Creek.

Need of Students For Social Security Cards Emphasized

"Each spring, beginning about the first of May, our office is swamped by students who need a social security card to apply for a job or for college entrance," Daryl E. Ratliff, district manager of the Pikeville Social Security Office, recalls. He explained that the necessary procedure for issuing a social security account number card requires about two weeks from the time the application is received in the social security office until the number is issued.

Mr. Ratliff urges all students 15 years of age or over who have never had a social security account number card to apply for one now. Students who are planning to work during the Christmas holidays will need a card when they apply for work. Anyone who has already had a card but lost it should apply for a replacement of the lost card. Applications for a new or replacement of a lost card may be obtained from almost every postoffice or by writing directly to the Social Security Administration, District Office, Box 802, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501.

Speaker Here Says Tourism Is Second Kentucky Industry

"Tourism is the second largest industry in Kentucky," Miss Patty Lou Davis, hospitality coordinator, Kentucky Department of Public Information, told 25 employees of business catering to the public at last Monday's Hospitality Clinic held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

David Hereford, business manager at Jenny Wiley State Park, presided at the meeting. Speakers on the program included Mayor George P. Archer; Curtis Clark, executive secretary of the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of the Prestonsburg Community College; Frances C. West, assistant to the director, Division of Clean-Up and Beautification, and Robert Talbott, assistant to the director, Kentucky Distributive Education Service.

In the quiz relating to the number of tourist attractions in the Prestonsburg area Robert E. Griffith, of the Wise Steak House, was the winner, with Chatty Hall, Jenny Wiley State Park employee, runnerup. Both received framed Kentucky Hospitality Awards from Governor Nunn. Merit Awards were presented Mr. Hereford on behalf of Jenny Wiley State Park for co-sponsoring the clinic and to Mr. Clark on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, also a cosponsor.

Door prizes were won by Lois Howard, of the Parkway Motel, and Raymond Sublett, park employee.

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927,

In last week's issue of The Floyd County Times, I mentioned the fact that I expected to form an Investment club, the name of which I expect to be The National Guaranty Club, into which any person may invest $100.00 or more each month. I as well as my wife expect to put a few thousand dollars into this firm ourselves. I will solicit funds from such persons as Richmond Stone, Wayne Ratliff, Charles Clark, Glenn C. Spradlin, Burl Spurlock, Russell Hagedorn, Ed Music, E. C. Moore, Pete Grigsby, Norman Allen, T. J. Allen, Johnny Hall, Mike Little, H. T. Hill, and others, and a board of directors will be formed as what to buy and when to sell. A complete set of books will be kept and these will be open for inspection for any, or all, of such persons as participate. Each person who is a participant will share in the profits, less expenses, to the extent of the amount so invested by each party.
I hope to have the cooperation of any person who may have confidence in this organization.

New Wage Pact Reached, Ending Threat of Strike

A widespread gas industry strike was averted Saturday night when union employees of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company voted at Allen to accept terms of a new two-year contract offered by the company.
The final negotiating session, with a federal mediator sitting in, ended at the company offices here late last Thursday night, and at that time a work-stoppage seemed inevitable. Vote of members of the local union, No. 3510, Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers, however, was necessary, and the strike deadline was changed from Thursday midnight to the same hour Sunday.
Terms of the new contract provide workers a pay increase, the first year, of 25 cents an hour and an additional 20 cents the second year. A raise in mileage compensation also was gained. The old mileage rate was 8c per mile, with a limit of $9 cost per day. The new rate is 9c, with no limitation. A $4 increase on workers' hospitalization also is included in the new pact, along with certain other minor fringe benefits.
The contract assures continued work by approximately 300 employees of the company in Floyd, Pike, Letcher, Knott, Johnson, Martin, Perry and Lawrence counties.

Give Us an "E" For Effort

THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES this week appears in new format as it departs from the time-honored production method known as letterpress to begin printing by offset. To do this, a sizeable monetary investment has been made, and the pangs of conversion to a new and strange process are not expected to be over quickly.
Then why change? More than one consideration prompted it. Offset, we hope, will eventually make the task of publishing a paper easier and more quickly done, permitting us to publish on Wednesday and give advertisers an extra day's benefit. It also offers definite reproduction advantages, especially in the reproduction of photographs and illustrations and in the use of color.
The change is intended to give Floyd county a better, more attractive and more readable newspaper. The Times is nearing its 42nd anniversary, and some of those responsible for its publication are much older than that, but age has not dimmed our desire to improve and give those who have been with us, as friends, readers and advertisers, the best paper we are capable of producing.

We shall be making mistakes, especially during the first weeks as we learn, largely by trial and error, but we think readers and advertisers alike are going to like the end result.
Your forbearance while we grope and sweat and struggle will be appreciated. Of one thing we, at this stage of the game, before what we are working on just now appears in print, are certain: We will merit an "E" for Effort, even if it doesn't mean Excellent.

Craig Hunter Dies In Ohio, Sunday

Craig Hunter, 70-year-old former Floyd countian, died Sunday in Sunbury, O., where he resided.

Born April 1, 1899, he was a son of John and Elizabeth Hamilton Hunter and was a retired miner. He was a member of the Regular Baptist church.

The KEA and Its Plans

The Kentucky Education Association (KEA) has announced that it will "carry to the people" its campaign to induce the next General Assembly to increase tax revenues in order to meet the growing demands of education.
Kentucky, it is pointed out, is being hard-pushed in the face of rising costs on every front to hold the notch or so it has gained over the last eight years or so in education. Better pay, it is argued, will give Kentucky better teachers. Additional money will mean improved educational programs.
These arguments, on the whole, are sound, although they have their fallacies. Nobody yet has come up with a way of getting school boards and administrators to hire only the best and to fire the worst. In fact, they are so circumscribed by the law that they find it impossible to achieve these ends. The teacher with the most college credits holds prior claim, according to law, on the job, and the Teacher Tenure Act tends to keep him on the job unless the school board files charges and goes through the unpleasantness of a hearing, and so on.
We do not say this in opposition to KEA and its hopes for improved education in Kentucky. But we do disagree with the organization when it suggests a condensation of financial statements which state law requires to be published. KEA suggests that names of individuals be omitted from these annual reports. This suggestion obviously is made on the premise that this would save school boards money and leave more for other purposes.

Newspapers, naturally, react strongly to such a suggestion, because it means less revenue for them. The Times is not adopting a lofty attitude in the matter, disclaiming all interest in making money. But it does say on behalf of itself and other newspapers that they are convinced that the publication of financial statements has resulted in sounder fiscal policies. And we are also convinced that no half-baked report of fiscal spending, with names, amounts and purposes concealed from the paymaster, the public, serves the aim of having the custodian of public funds make an accounting of his stewardship.
Thus skeletons could not only be stashed away in the closet — they could be hauled and buried deep.
More money for education or any other purpose must not be accompanied by a reduction in the responsibility for its handling.

Caudill, Stahr Join in Plea Against Strip-Mining in Area

A former secretary of the Army joined Harry M. Caudill, Whitesburg attorney-author, last week in appeals which, they hope, will cause the Bethlehem Steel Corporation to drop its plans to strip-mine its coal holdings in Floyd, Fletcher, Knott and Pike counties.

Caudill urged Governor Nunn to call a public hearing on Bethlehem's plans, which, he said, will, if carried out, result in "needless destruction."

In a separate move Elvis J. Stahr, president of the National Audubon Society, has made a similar plea to S. S. Cort, the Bethlehem president.

Caudill said Nunn's record on two other conservation matters has encouraged him to believe something can be done in this instance.

Caudill was referring to the governor's role in buying Lilly's Wood in Letcher County for preservation and his intervention to prevent damming of the upper reaches of the Red River Gorge.

Bethlehem owns about 40,000 acres of land in Letcher, Knott, Floyd and Pike counties, but has stayed away from strip mining because, Caudill said, "adverse criticism outweighed any economic advantages."

But this year, he said, officials of the company living in Kentucky persuaded the board of directors to alter the previous decision and the board agreed reluctantly.

Caudill said in the letter to Nunn:

"Most of this land has already been deep-mined or is scheduled for deep mining... Subterranean operations will recover all of it except a small band in the outcrop.

"Bethlehem plans to clear-cut and strip-mine the outcrop on three levels. This will, of course, destroy the forest and turn the land into a massive ruin totally bereft of any ecological system.

"If the best reclamation procedures are followed and are highly successful, it will eventually be covered with fescue and some pines and locust trees."

Caudill said the land lies in the heart of the Cumberlands, the oldest hardwood forest region in the world.

If Bethlehem practices strip mining, he said, "The forests will be uprooted and destroyed, the creeks will be silted with mud, natural beauty will turn into manmade ugliness."

As usual, he added, almost all benefits from the operation will leave Kentucky "and we will keep the problems." He said "very few" Bethlehem shareholders live in this state.

Caudill said a request from Nunn to the company to revert to its original policy of no strip mining "would have a strongly persuasive influence with the company directors."

At the least, he said, a public hearing would assure that "a decision to tear up a large area of this state and disrupt its streams and wildlife (would) not be made in secrecy."

Stahr's letter to Cort said: "Your great company has an opportunity and a duty to provide leadership in preserving the land and maintaining its natural and scenic beauty."

He cited a U.S. Forest Service study at Berea College which he said indicates "that stream siltation and congestion from strip mining is as bad under the present (state strip mining control) law as under the earlier one."

Stahr, a native of Hickman, Ky., is a former secretary of the Army and president of Indiana University.

He told the Bethlehem president that "if your lands are preserved, the harvest of public good will more than offset any temporary economic loss the company may sustain."

Area Education Scored at Meet

State Representative Everett Akers, of Martin, said here, early last week, he intended to register some strong protests against the educational system in general when he met later in the week with other members of House interim committee on education at Frankfort.

And he did just that. He told the committee that "political tyranny is rampant" in many Eastern Kentucky counties. He alleged that many school superintendents are more concerned with perpetuating themselves in office than in "teaching little Johnny to read and write." Akers did not name any specific superintendent but in his sweeping charge he said "they" keep their offices by making certain that certain citizens are elected to the board of education.

Several committee members were quoted as saying they disagreed with him.

Akers said he also is concerned that children in his area's schools are not receiving sufficient education. "I'm talking about little Johnny... We're putting a lot of money into education but it's not enough to teach him to read and write," Akers said.

After lengthy discussion, the committee finally defeated an Akers proposal that the LRC draft legislation calling for popular election of school superintendents instead of their appointment by boards of education.

"At least this way we wouldn't have some of these fellows hanging around for 20 years," he asserted.

His proposal, defeated by an 8 to 6 vote, called for four-year terms for superintendents.

"I know something is wrong in many of our school systems, but I'm not certain the popular election of the superintendent is the way to handle the problem," said Sen. Vernon McGinty, R-Louisville.

Floyd Grid Teams Are Easy Winners

The Prestonsburg Blackcats won their fifth game of the season and spoiled Whitesburg's homecoming Friday night blasting the Letcher countians, 45 to 0.

Mark Miller, Blackcat senior quarterback, did an outstanding job of passing and running. He teamed up with halfback John Paul Leslie and Wayne Brown for one of the Cats' best offensive displays. Miller passed for three touchdowns to Brown on passes of 40 to 60 yards, and Brown scampered 50 yards for his fourth touchdown of the game. For the night Brown scored 27 points, which gives him a total of 100 and ranks him among the top scorers in the state. Miller also scored on a 25-yard run, and halfback, Leslie again displayed his running power by scoring on a 50-yard run and a 3-yard power play.

Prestonsburg's record now is 5-3, and the cats will entertain the Hazard Bulldogs, Friday night.

The Wheelwright trojans won their third game of the season and their second straight Friday night by defeating the Mullins Tigers, 40 to 22. The Wheelwright attack was led by Quarterback Jackie Watson, who scored twice and passed to James Gibson on a 56-yard play. Also scoring twice was their scatback, Kenny Armour. Dwight Jackson added a touchdown on a 43-yard run.

Wheelwright will face the Cavaliers of Jenkins high school Friday night at Wheelwright.

FRANK LESLIE Says . . .

"KEEP FLOYD COUNTY DRY"

Election Day is rapidly approaching and as is usual in many cases a desperate opposition seeks to run now upon the platform that I pledged myself to in the Primary. I was the first and only candidate in the Primary to offer a no-holds-barred platform of enforcement of the dry laws. I ran upon that platform then—I am running upon it now.

My position and activity on the day the Wet-Dry local option election was held was consistent with my platform. I filled my personal car up with gas and turned it over to a dry worker. All my family voted dry. I was a dry in the Primary, I was a dry on local option election day, I am a dry now and running on a platform of enforcement of the dry laws. I will be your dry Sheriff for the next four years.

And now, as in the Primary, allow me to offer other points in a platform for honest government.

So far I have not promised a single person a job as deputy sheriff. The deputies I shall select must be men with good background and with no criminal record whatever. These deputies must be men of high integrity, men of whom you as citizens and myself as sheriff will be proud.

I pledge full cooperation with the State Police to lessen crime and apprehend law violators.

I will cooperate with the funeral homes to regulate traffic upon those sad occasions when we are burying our loved ones.

I will set up a system to eliminate crowding when the taxpayers come to the office to pay taxes just before a deadline. This can be done and I pledge you it shall be done. Your time is valuable and it should not be wasted by standing in line at the courthouse.

All youth gatherings should have the full protection of the law. Drinking and peace disturbances should be prevented at these gatherings. Our young people are entitled to orderly and peaceful fun events.

I pledge full cooperation with the miners in any and all efforts they may make to improve their lot through legislation. They will have the full cooperation and influence of the Floyd County Sheriff's office in promoting black lung legislation.

Upon this platform I submit my appeal to the voters. I pledge to honor this platform when elected Sheriff and as a guarantee of good faith I offer the record of my personal life. JUDGE A MAN BY HIS PAST. One of the greatest assets a man can have is the confidence of his neighbors. Ask them and judge me now as you did in the Primary. I have confidence in the voters' judgment, for I have ever been a man of integrity who worked hard for a living with his hands and arms and dedicated himself to his family and cooperated and tendered service to his neighbors, friends and people.

Your vote will be appreciated with deep gratitude.

Homes for Forgotten People

By BILL WODRASKA

"I was sick then, but I'm better now. . . . I used to fall down but I don't any more."

Barbara is 24 years old and—you can tell from her speech—mountain born and bred. Her chestnut hair comes to the middle of her back. She's childlike and painfully shy with visitors as she sits on the arm of the upholstered chair, as close as she can get to her friend, Mountain Mental Health Service Social Worker Roberta Slone.

Barbara has been a patient at Lexington's Eastern State Hospital. She left there early last year, benefited from psychiatric treatment, but not in any traditional sense "cured." She was, however, ready to come to Pike county.

There she lives with the Bakers—a warm and open-hearted family—and two other former ESH patients. Between the three of them they had spent most of a lifetime at the hospital, 150 miles away. They're glad they're back.

So is Pat McDonald, who helped them get back to the mountains where they were born, where they live as "family" with the Bakers. She is director of ESH's community placement program which has placed more than 400 homeless patients with people like the Bakers in two years. The 400 had been in the hospital an average of 19 years before they returned to the community. Three years ago, their future was dismal.

Take Ed, for example. He was admitted to the hospital in 1930. What his diagnosis was then isn't important. His illness, whatever it was, had long since burned itself out when he was released in 1967 to the care of his Pike county niece. That placement didn't work out. Then he met Tim Atkinson, social worker and director of the Pike county branch of Mountain Mental Health Services, one of the 22 comprehensive community mental health centers now serving Kentucky. Between the hospital and the local workers, placement with the Bakers was arranged.

Or take Bill, an engaging, middle-aged retardate. For years he lived with his mother and was hospitalized off and on for brief periods. Then his mother died and there was no home but ESH.

Barbara, Ed and Bill are typical of the 1,600 patients in Kentucky psychiatric hospitals who are there, not because they need psychiatric care but because, until now, they had no other place to go.

And they are typical of the people Pat McDonald's staff works with. "They aren't really sick anymore. . . they've just forgotten how to live in society," she says. And so the thrust of the program is to help patients relearn community living with help in grooming, personal hygiene, buying and caring for clothes, using public transportation, telephones and vending machines, activity programs and guidance in social skills such as dining and getting along with others.

Staff members often eat with the patients and take them for sightseeing and shopping trips in the community. When a patient is ready to leave the hospital—a decision made by a psychiatrist-nurse-social worker team—he is taken to visit homes where other patients have been placed. Talking with these former patients relieves some of his anxiety about leaving the hospital, his only home for many years.

Finding suitable homes for former hospital patients is a big job, one that requires the combined efforts of hospital staff, regional mental health center personnel and local public assistance and child welfare workers. Many elderly patients go to licensed nursing and personal care homes.

The 22 regional mental health programs now under way in all corners of the state supply much of the crucial follow-up care—medication, counseling and needed backup service. The regional programs are operated by non-profit corporations, Regional Mental Health-Mental Retardation Boards, made up of interested citizens from multi-county areas. They are autonomous, but receive technical and some financial assistance from the state.

In their new homes patients get individualized attention, participate in community life . . . a Lexington club for former mental patients provides activities and social contacts . . . and perhaps, like Ed and Bill, tend a garden and hunt squirrels.

Mrs. Baker and Barbara worked for days in advance to prepare for the Fourth of July picnic with 21 guests. Barbara goes to church every Sunday and she likes to stay overnight occasionally with an old lady down the hollow.

Bill lists the vegetables they grew in last summer's garden: tomatoes, peanuts, mushrooms, cabbage, watermelons, beans, corn, potatoes. When he's not in the garden he likes to trade pocket knives with neighbors down at the store.

Mrs. Baker, who raised six children of her own, plus a sister's three and two others of distant kin, is looking forward to Thanksgiving. She doesn't get too much, she says, because "a cook is hard for a family to do without."

Barbara laughs and touches Mrs. Baker's shoulder like a loving daughter.

Observe Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Newman, of East McDowell, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, August 30. An anniversary dinner was served at the home of their eldest daughter, Mrs. Bill Hamilton, of East McDowell. Those present included their six children, in-laws, grandchildren, four great-grandchildren and several close friends.

Many gifts were received, including an eight-place setting of china, an eight-place setting of gold flatware, and an engraved gold cake knife.

An early celebration was planned because their children were able to be home during the Labor Day holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Newman will have been married 50 years on October 14.

LO, THE SUMMER IS PAST . . .

And comes now the season when Eastern Kentucky's hills will burst into a glory of color. But, if autumn comes, winter cannot be far away with naked woods cold, rain, snow . . . It all adds up to good times and bad, which is the norm in this business of living.

Build your home or business with materials fit and ready for any and all weathers, for shadow as well as sunshine.

Floyd Man Carries Fight With Army to U.S. Court

James Darwin Stephens, formerly of Prestonsburg, last month carried his continuing fight with the Army in which he was a war-time lieutenant colonel by filing suit in U.S. district court at Lexington against Secretary of the Army Resor.

Mr. Stephens asked for a clarification of his status with request of reinstatement and recognition of a promotion to colonel which he said was due and back pay to which he says he is entitled.

He charges the army did not abide by its own regulations in the matter and has lost or misplaced records concerning his case. The court suit climaxes a 10-year, one-man battle with the Army by Mr. Stephens to get his position.

Stephens asked for an inquiry by the physical evaluation board and a record of their opinion to which he says he was denied.

He also wants an established record of his service. He says his active duty report dated June 17, 1956, cannot be located. He was physically examined to perform active duty in Fort Meade, Md., in the summer of 1957. While on duty there he suffered a myocardial infarction on Aug. 2, which disabled him from service connected with strenuous activity.

He was ordered to Walter-Reed Hospital where his hospitalization lasted until Oct. 4, 1957, and was released in November. But permanent records of the adjutant general show him on active duty from July 20 to Oct. 4.

He was reportedly released from active duty Oct. 4, but Stephens says this is not so because he received his final pay March 19, 1958, and he was not released because he did not exercise his right to request a release in writing from his commanding officer and that he did not report to the physical evaluation board. He says he was not informed of his rights to a formal board hearing.

He was given an informal board hearing and was not apprised of the board's opinion in order to either accept or rebut their findings. On April 20, 1960, the commander of the Second Army issued the order to discharge Mr. Stephens with a certificate of honorable discharge due to physical disqualifications.

The same commander following this notified Mr. Stephens that he was a member of the "Ready Reserves" as of July 21, 1960.

After graduation from K. M. I. and the University of Kentucky ROTC, Stephens entered the armed forces and became first lieutenant April 21, 1941, after preliminary service as second lieutenant.

From April 21, 1941, to April 23, 1946, he served overseas in the European theater of operations with the 95th Infantry Division of the Third Army and later with the 12th Armored division of the Seventh Army. He was awarded the Bronze Star medal. Combat Infantryman's Badge and letters of commendation which included one from Gen. George Patton.

Army hearings conducted to hear his pleas do not show a record of his overseas duty, according to his father, Henry Stephens, of Prestonsburg. He re-entered active duty and served from Oct. 14, 1946, to May 31, 1959.

A separation certificate indicated that he was not to be assigned or transferred to army reserves, but was, although he had no further reserve service obligation under law.

Notice

Any property listed with the Department will be made available, free of charge, to those people displaced by highway construction and at no cost to the property owner offering the property.

Any property owner having property for sale, rent, or lease, is requested to send a brief description of the property; giving the lot size, type (brick, frame, block), number of rooms, type of heat, if gas and water are available, location and whether or not the house has a bathroom. If the house is for rent, state monthly rent; if house is for sale, the sale price. Be sure to indicate the name and address of the owner and telephone number, if any.

All properties listed must be safe, decent, and sanitary, and available for sale or rent without regard to race, creed, color, or national origin. All replies should be sent to David Watson, District Relocation Assistance Agent, Department of Highways, P.O. Box 2468, Pikeville, Kentucky.

Problems Studied

Methods for solving some of the problems confronting physicians, hospital administrators and other health care personnel in Appalachia were examined at a conference in Lexington last week.

The conference, attended by 70 members of the medical and allied professions, was sponsored by the Office of Education of Appalachian Regional Hospitals.

The delegates were told of an Illinois Supreme Court decision, likely to become applicable in all other states, which makes hospital trustees, in addition to doctors, legally responsible for the proper care of hospital patients.

Two attorneys who specialize in hospital law said that hospital nurses and administrators now have an obligation to monitor medical treatment and call in other doctors on a case if the attending physician's treatment is not satisfactory.

A discussion of how to provide more help to surgeons was moderated by Dr. John A. Ritter, Harlan surgeon.

Dr. Joseph Hamburg, of Lexington, said that competent persons other than medical doctors are being trained to work efficiently in the operating room under proper supervision.

"Surgical technicians," who handle instruments for the doctor, were cited as an example.

Another discussion dealt with increasing the effectiveness of hospital emergency rooms. It was moderated by Dr. Joseph B. Deisher, of Harlan.

dog, Little Joe, rated 10th. Hansford's Brindle Babe, owned by Orville Hansford, of Wayland, was 9th, and Miss Hobo, a dog sold to Wayne Jeffries, of Ohio, by Moore was in the top ten.

The McDowell man, the only person ever to have attended every Plott Hound event, was awarded a 15-year membership pin, and Henry Moore, of McDowell, received a Life Membership plaque from NPHA.

Tallahassee Billy Joe, owned by Moore and King, won the top award in water races for the year.

In wild coon hunts Mississippi Hobo, a dog sold by Moore to Wayne Jeffries, won first place with 5,175 points to 5,137 1/2 points by Trent's Rowdy, owned by Moore, second-place winner. Rowdy was the 1968 winner.

In the last five years four of the five winners of this event have been owned by Moore. Five males from Moore's Mountain Plott Hound Kennels probably set an alltime record when each won trophies at the 1969 Plott Day.

The award conferred on Moore by the All-Japan Hunt Association is the first ever to be won by an American. Two members of the Japanese association plan a visit to the McDowell kennels this year.

To date, Moore and his handlers have won more than 70 trophies in 1969. It is believed that his Trent's Rowdy is the biggest winner the Plott breed has ever had.

This year's awards are proudly displayed, along with several hundred others won in the past. "Dogs" he says, "are a hobby with us, and we like to win. We have been very fortunate in owning so many winners and in having so many fellows to help handle the dogs."

He acknowledged the help of handlers, Myron Jones, Franklin Furnace, O.; Wayne E. Harrison, Gallipolis, O.; Bobby Thorp and Berlin King, both of Clifton, Va.; Orville Hansford, of Wayland; Ronnie Carter, McDowell; Carl Webb, Wayland, and Ralph Clere, Ashland.

Sheriff Lewis and deputies raided premises of two Bypro sisters Tuesday, arresting one of the two, Mrs. Charles Eads. The other, Mrs. Ed Wright, was not found. A moonshine raid on Clear Creek Monday night by Deputy Sheriff Bill Hall and federal agents resulted in the arrest of Ernest and Edgill Hall, of Ligon, who were taken before the U. S. Commissioner at Pikeville. The officers poured out 100 gallons of mash.

who will be observing with Mrs. Herald next Sunday their Golden Wedding anniversary, continues to bring in big bass from Dewey Lake. Where the hotspot is he declines to say, and this has created a problem. He lost his spectacles there, some days back, and can't afford to say exactly where. THE CROSS—AN OFFENCE TO SOME

Up in Oregon a plain, simple, concrete cross, emblematic of The Cross, has given offence, and a small group of citizens are up in arms. They argue that, since the cross is in a public park, the principle of separation of church and state is violated. They've gone to court, and the court has finally decided the cross must come down.

So this country goes its hair-splitting way, emulating the ancient Jew with all his "tracking" of the letter of the law and getting matters so involved that the spirit was lost. The atheists of the country are in the saddle.

If this court decision stands and that cross must come down from its hilltop spot in that Oregon park, what is to happen to all the crosses, "row on row," in Arlington cemetery? Justice traditionally is a hoodwinked goddess. Maybe the blindfold should be taken off.
