Scott Doesn't Want It . . .

Resolution Asks Plant's Location Changed to Area

Rep. Allen Sponsors
Committee Invitation
For Official Decision

The state's Interim Committee on Public Utilities and Transportation last Wednesday adopted by a 10-4 vote Representative James R. "Jitter" Allen's resolution urging that the coal gasification plant that is not wanted by Scott county be located in Floyd or some other Eastern Kentucky county.

"The U.S. Department of Energy, the Kentucky Department of Energy and Irvin Industries are urged to give consideration to relocation of the Georgetown-Scott County coal gasification plant to Floyd County or Eastern Kentucky, if Scott County does not agree to accept the project," the resolution proposed by Rep. James "Jitter" Allen, D-Martin, said.

Allen said he offered the resolution to further the economic development of Eastern Kentucky.

"We don't need to spend taxpayers' dollars on poverty programs but on getting programs that bring jobs to our area," he said.

He told the committee to compare the Scott county unemployment rate of less than 3 percent with the higher jobless rate in Eastern Kentucky.

He added that the plant eventually will mean 1,200 jobs.

Many Scott county residents oppose the development of the gasifier and proposed industrial park, saying it will pollute the environment and bring rapid, unwanted growth to their agricultural community.

The $6.5 million plant, proposed by Irvin Industrial Development, Inc. and financed by state and federal funds, would burn about a carload of coal a day to make low-BTU gas for industries in the

Court Position On Ex-Sheriff Set at Meeting

The Floyd fiscal court met in a special session last Friday afternoon to comply with the opinion recently handed down by the attorney general's office in the matter of Ex-Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis.

Magistrate Kenneth Roberts' motion to adopt the opinion as the court's resolution, without change, failed of a second. The resolution then proposed by Magistrate Edward Caudill was unanimously adopted. County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. explained that the resolution was prepared on the recommendation of the attorney general.

As adopted, it provides:

1. That the fiscal court disavows any recognition of Joe Wheeler Lewis as a deputy sheriff or county employee.
2. That the ex-sheriff shall not use any county vehicles or property.
3. That the sheriff's office employees, or other county employees, shall render no assistance to the ex-sheriff, except assistance lawfully required for the performance of his duties as deputy marshal for the city of Wheelwright.
4. That the funding of any employment of Ex-Sheriff Lewis be immediately stopped and that the present sheriff provide for the repayment and redeposit to the Sheriff Fees account the sum of $3,900, the salary paid to the ex-sheriff out of county (excess fees) funds.

Magistrate Says $9 Rate Not Approved

District 2 Magistrate Kenneth Roberts said last week the $9 rate announced by TELCOM, Inc. as a charge to its customers after its purchase of the Akers TV system has not been approved by the fiscal court, adding, "And as far as I am concerned it will not be."

He said he will not vote for TELCOM to benefit from charges higher than that charged by other transmission systems. "Everybody will be the same, if the other magistrates will go along with me, and I think they will," he said.

The fiscal court has set a $5-per-month ceiling on the charge per customer. System operators have contended that this rate is too low, in view of the higher costs of materials and labor, and that the $5 ceiling will not permit expansion or added services.

The $9 rate announced by TELCOM is a reduction of $1 from the charge made to TV customers by Akers.

LABOR DAY WEEKEND, summer's last fling for many, resulted in large crowds at Jenny Wiley State Park. This view shows part of the throng that packed the Stratton Branch swimming area.

This Town...That World

MOODY BIRDS?

At the end of a working Labor Day the Aging One (as Gordon Moore puts it, apply or otherwise) plopped into a back-porch seat and decided to listen to the birds for a while, just as a matter of change of pace.

But there wasn't a bird, except for two angry crows daring that hawk to set foot on their premises. Even the jays were keeping mum, and that cardinal which has defied wind, rain, whatever, morning and evening, to whistle his head off was neither to be seen or heard.

Is it that the time of year is not conducive to birdsong, or could it be that they are as moody as some other birds I know—namely, people?

APPREHENSIVE

Somewhere—where, I do not know—is a note from Bessie Draughn, now of Ashland, telling of the man she knew whose consuming ambition was to rest. Just rest. And he complained about the lack thereof.

"Never mind," a friend consoled, "there's a time ahead when rest will come and..."

"And," complained the complainer, "the day after I'm buried the Resurrection morning will come and I'll have to get up."

The man marvelled aloud:

"I know that God listens to me and hears my prayers, but it's a mystery I'll never understand, how the Almighty God will listen to the likes of me and the likes of people like you won't listen to a word I say."

Grand Jury Suggests Further Death Probe

Investigation by the grand jury during its session last week of a Floyd county slaying failed to produce an indictment.

The jury in its final report last Thursday to Circuit Judge Hollie Conley said:

"We...heard extensive testimony concerning the death of Walter G. Hall on July 15 at Jack's Creek, but we feel it would be unwise to return an indictment at this time from the evidence presented...We recommend that this case have the serious attention of a future grand jury..."

(Danny Meade was arrested in connection with the Hall slaying but evidence submitted at a district court hearing later was considered so weak that Meade's bond was reduced from $25,000 to $5,000, and District Judge Harold J. Stumbo commented that if the case were at trial on that evidence the court would not let it go to the jury.)

The situation arising from activities of Ex-Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis also resulted in extensive discussion by the grand jury the report said. It concluded: "Joe Wheeler Lewis has a long and commendable history of law enforcement, but we feel that he may be acting in excess of his powers by participating in any form of law-enforcement outside the city of Wheelwright. During our discussion we heard Joe Wheeler Lewis, District Judge Harold Stumbo, County Attorney Arnold Turner, Commonwealth's Attorney Dan Rowland. We have been advised that an appeal from the Floyd county district court will squarely bring the issue of whether or not Joe Wheeler Lewis can act as a law-enforcement official in any capacity outside the city of Wheelwright before the Floyd circuit court."

(The issue, it was explained, has been raised in district court by Public Defender Gary Johnson as legal counsel for a defendant reportedly arrested by Lewis. The appeal to circuit court would be from the district court decision.)

Continuing, the grand jury said:

"We...recommend that, in fairness to all parties concerned, Ex-Sheriff Lewis refrain from any law-enforcement activity outside the city of Wheelwright until a determination has been made by the Floyd circuit court, Joe Wheeler Lewis has informed us that he will abide by a ruling of the court concerning his activities as a law-enforcement officer, and we commend him for this attitude."

Another section of the report discussed its inspection of the courthouse and the new courthouse annex. The jury reported:

"We have toured and inspected the courthouse and the new courthouse annex. We feel the fiscal court should take immediate action to repair the roof and ceilings in the courthouse, and that a private cleaning service should be hired to keep the courthouse in a clean and presentable condition. The new courthouse annex is an excellent facility, and is kept in a clean and orderly condition. We wish to thank the law enforcement officers of the Kentucky State Police and the Prestonsburg Police Department who did an excellent job in presenting their cases before us."

The report was signed by each member of the jury.

Democrats To Send 20 to Convention

State Democratic headquarters has announced plans for the Democratic Congressional district conventions which will complete the delegate selection process for the mid-term conference to be held in Memphis in December. Congressional district conventions are scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday, September 9, at the LBJ Elementary School at Jackson.

Two delegates and two alternate delegates will be selected from each Congressional district, one of which shall be female. To be eligible to become a Congressional district candidate, one must have been chosen as a delegate at the county or legislative district level one week earlier.

The following delegates were elected at the Countywide convention here last Saturday to represent Floyd county at the Jackson Convention:

Death Penalty Is Possibility In Baril Case

The grand jury last week named 18-year-old Tony Greg Baril in a murder indictment which carries with it the possibility of the death penalty for the knife-slaying near here recently of Chester Earl Porter.

The indictment was marked a capital offense, thus applying that section of the law which provides the death penalty for murder in the course of a robbery or rape, for kidnapping and murder of a peace officer. A second indictment against Baril named him on a first degree robbery count.

Investigation of the Porter murder continues. Although cash receipts of the TCT Truck Stop on Katy Friend, near here, where Porter was night attendant at the time of his slaying, were reported missing, none has been found. Neither has the murder weapon, defined as a hunting-type knife.

A trial date had not been set last week.

In a second murder indictment Elder Lee Hamilton was indicted in the Mud

Criminal Term Of Court Begins

The Floyd circuit court began its September criminal term Tuesday morning, but only civil cases had been docketed for the first days of the session.

The criminal docket is scheduled for completion tomorrow (Thursday).

Among the civil hearings set is that of William Spradlin, of Middle Creek, against Mountaineer Mack, Inc., a West Virginia firm, in which Spradlin asks $200,000 damages.

Trial of the damage suit was scheduled to begin Tuesday. In his suit Spradlin alleges that negligence on the part of Mountaineer Mack and its truckdriver resulted in a collision with the U.S. government vehicle which he was driving. He claims that as a result of his injuries his employment as a federal mine inspector has been terminated.

It is not known if the two defendants named in murder indictments by the grand jury last week will be given trial during the term, but the murder case of Randy Hall was held over from a previous session expected to be docketed for trial.

AMONG THE FINE FIDDLERS at the Highlands Folk Festival held over the past weekend were Ollie Gray (left), of California, and Dave Sizemore, of Prestonsburg. (See additional photos of the festival elsewhere in this issue.)

Horn Suit Asks $277,500 Total Of Estate Heirs

In a circuit court suit filed last Friday Donald Horn, of Prestonsburg, asked a total of $277,500 of heirs of the Hiram Harris estate for alleged violation of a contract involving the sale of surface lands and the sale or lease of underlying coal.

Named as defendants were Patricia P. Wareham, Abigail Allen Grant, Myrtle B. Allen, Teresa A. Whitaker, John Marc Bolling, Julia Anne Leigh Henry, Paul Henry, Russell W. Pelphrey, and their spouses, and Arnold Turner, Jr., attorney-in-fact for them.

Horn's suit claims that he entered into a contract with all the defendants with the exception of Turner on Sept. 17, 1977 which designated him as their agent to negotiate the sale of surface lots on Pen Hollow of Katy Friend and Sing Factory Branch and to sell or lease the mineral rights. Plaintiff, it is claimed, was to receive 25 per cent of the net realized on the sale of real estate and 25 cents per ton royalty for coal produced, provided that the coal was leased at $3 or more. Plaintiff agreed that within 60 days of the date the contract was executed he would bind by written contract the mining of all merchantable and mineable coal under the property, and that failure to do so would make void the contract at the option of the landowners. The same provision applied to sale of surface. All leases, deeds or other instruments executed on both surface and coal were to be presented prior to delivery to Abigail Allen Grant for signature, review and

DAVIS-LAMB

Denise Davis became the bride of Randall Lamb in a double-ring, candlelight ceremony held July 15 at the Waynesville, Ohio, United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Davis, Waynesville, Ohio, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Lamb, also of Waynesville. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver McKinney and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Davis, both of Betsy Layne.

The bride's father gave her away in a 7:30 p.m. ceremony performed by Rev. Ermond J. Lamb, the groom's uncle.

The church was decorated with altar vases of white chrysanthemums and daisies and candleabra decorated with white ribbons and bows. Music was provided by Mrs. Ken Colvin and her daughter, Patsie. Dawn Schlichter sang "One Hand, One Heart", "If" and "Evergreen".

The bride walked down the aisle on her father's arm in a floor-length gown of cream-colored qiana with a lace-trimmed neckline and belled sleeves, empire waistline, shoulder-length veil and a full length cape of matching cream-colored lace. She carried a bouquet of daisies, yellow roses, peach-colored carnations and baby's breath.

The maid of honor was Jeanne Tilmans of Wright-Patterson airforce base, who wore a floor-length dress of peach-colored qiana with an empire waistline and a waist-length cape of peach-colored lace. She carried a simple long-stemmed yellow rose accented with baby's breath and cream-colored ribbons. Bridesmaids were Mary Jeanne Davis, sister of the bride, and Dawn Schlichter. Their gown and flowers were identical to that of the maid of honor. The bride's dress and bridesmaids' dresses were made by the bride's mother.

Best man was Bobby Gauder of Kettering and ushers were the brides' brother, Alan Davis, and the groom's brother, Tim Lamb. Another brother of the groom, Mike Lamb, served as acolyte.

The wedding reception was held in the church's basement. A four-tier wedding cake and wedding punch was served. The cake was baked by the bride's mother.

The bride is a graduate of Waynesville High School and Miami University. The groom is also a graduate of Waynesville, and of the University of Dayton. He is presently employed as band director of Carlisle high school in Ohio.

Grant Bridge Closed, Guard Is Activated For Emergency Cases

Gov. Julian Carroll has activated members of the Kentucky National Guard to transport emergency patients to Portsmouth (Ohio) Hospital, according to an announcement made Wednesday night by Kentucky Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson.

Twelve guardsmen will be on 24-hour call at (606) 932-3823, South Shore Legion Field. Grayson said the emergency service from the South Shore area is for emergency medical cases only.

"It should be understood that the National Guard assumes no responsibility for medical treatment," the transportation secretary said. He emphasized, "They are on call strictly for transportation services in emergency cases."

The U.S. Grant Bridge, originally closed July 7, to all but pedestrian and emergency traffic, was closed to all traffic at 2 a.m. last Friday by Ohio officials following a meeting at South Shore. Consultants for Ohio have been investigating the extent of damage in bridge cables.

Wednesday night's meeting with transportation officials from Kentucky and Ohio, including Grayson and local officials, was held to secure local suggestions and recommendations on alternative locations for a new bridge over the Ohio River, Grayson said.

10th ANNUAL HORSE SHOW

The Drift Woman's Club will host its 10th annual horse show Sunday, Sept. 10, at 2 p.m. at the Drift ballpark.

This year 16 classes will be offered. They include lead line, pleasure ponies, country pleasure, pleasure ponies, English pleasure, amateur racking, amateur walking horse, costume class, western pleasure, style racking, championship pleasure, open pacing, barrel race, championship racking, championship walking and pair riding. Trophies will be awarded for first place and ribbons for others. All classes will be judged by an official judge.

Proceeds from the horse show will go for scholarships and the advancement of community affairs.

Burchett To Address Jenny Wiley Council

Don Burchett from the State Department of Education, Frankfort, will be the featured speaker at the meeting of the Jenny Wiley Reading Council, Thursday, September 7.

Burchett will discuss the Educational Improvement Act and how it relates to competency testing. Thirty-three states, including Kentucky, have passed some form of legislation establishing minimum competency standards. Who, what and how are questions in the minds of parents, teachers and the general public. Burchett's presentation will explain and answer questions about the act and its implications.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. at the Floyd County Library here. The public is invited.

The Jenny Wiley Reading Council is a local affiliate of the International Reading Association, an organization devoted to improvement of reading and reading instruction.

In the covered wagon days, it was a common practice to cure fresh meat with salt in order to preserve it for later use. It's not surprising then, that the saving of money (in reserve, for later use) is often called "salting" it away. That's precisely what we encourage you to do with our Certificates of Deposit; your best choice when considering long-term investment. "Salt some away" with one of these high-yielding Certificates of Deposit.

Effective June 20, 1978, annual interest rates and requirements payable on Passbook Savings and Certificates of Deposit are as follows:

Historymobile, Coal Exhibit To Be at Safety Day Here

The Kentucky Historical Society Historymobile featuring an exhibit on the state's coal industry will participate in the Big Sandy Coal Mining Rescue and Safety Day Saturday, Sept. 16, at Archer Park.

The two-day event is sponsored by the Department of Mines and Minerals to increase the efficiency and skill of mine rescue and first aid teams from throughout the state in the event of mining disasters.

The Historymobile's exhibit, entitled "Kentucky Coal: The Emergence of an Industry," provides a historical perspective of the coal industry's evolution through two centuries, beginning with the small father-son operations and finally, the large corporations of today.

The story of coal mining is told with photographs, scale models and artifacts, like the puncher, an undercutting machine used by miners in the early 1900s. The exhibit also features a 13-minute slide presentation with voices and comments of old timers, along with photographs. Ballads written about coal mining during the industry's development provide the background music.

This mobile unit and the society's other Historymobile, which features the pioneer exhibit, have portable video equipment which the Historymobile staff use to collect and record history throughout the state. This equipment is also available for use by junior historians and local historical societies for various history projects.

Groups must schedule either Historymobile in advance, provide a 22-volt electrical outlet and a parking area. To schedule either the Historymobile or to arrange to use the video equipment, contact Dan Zwyer in Frankfort at (502) 564-3016.

Floyd Idle Rate at Even 6%

Unemployment in eastern Kentucky reached 5.9 percent in July, an increase over the 5.5 percent rate in June.

Floyd county's unemployment rate for the month stood at an even 6 percent, Martin county, which for months has had the lowest unemployment in the area, rose to 4.9 percent—behind neighboring Johnson (4.4).

Robert MacDonald, chief labor market analyst for the Department for Human Resources, attributes the increase to seasonal lay-offs. According to MacDonald, total unemployment in the state climbed to 84,100 by mid-July, passing the 80,000 mark for the first time since the first quarter of this year. The state unemployment rate in mid-July was 5.3 percent of the labor force.

The national rate for July was 6.3 percent.

County-by-county rates in Eastern Kentucky for July were:

Bath 7.8, Bell 6.5, Boyd 3.8, Breathitt 6.0, Carter 7.8, Clay 8.7, Elliott 4.9, Floyd 6.0, Greenup 3.3, Harlan 7.1, Jackson 11.0, Johnson 4.4, Knott 6.9, Knox 7.5, Laurel 4.6, Lawrence 6.2, Lee 8.1, Leslie 9.3, Letcher 8.7, McCreary 7.3, Magoffin 6.3, Martin 4.9, Menifee 7.3, Montgomery 6.4, Morgan 5.1, Owsley 8.1, Perry 7.2, Pike 5.0, Pulaski 4.0, Rockcastle 6.5, Rowan 4.0, Wayne 4.7, Whitley 8.0, Wolfe 7.0.

Why Only Scott County?

Urged to do so by Representative James "Jitter" Allen of this county, an interim committee of the Kentucky General Assembly has adopted a resolution urging the location of a coal gasification plant in Floyd or some other Eastern Kentucky county if Scott county doesn't want it.

And Scott, the site, selected for some unexplained, or unexplainable, reason for a coal-burning plant far from the source of the fuel, apparently doesn't want it.

But Energy Secretary David Drake says it's unlikely that the federal government will consider relocating the plant. "If it's not built in Georgetown, it probably won't be built," he is quoted as saying.

That is another decision that needs explaining, if it is explainable. Is coal gasification of such little importance that if one site isn't available it should be forgotten? Is the federal government guilty of the petulant attitude which says, "If we can't build this plant at a stated point in Kentucky, we will penalize the entire state, even at the expense of denying the nation vital research in coal gasification and the actual production of gas from coal?"

We would also innocently inquire why the federal government would not be interested in saving the cost of transporting the coal to Scott county by locating the gasification plant nearer the mines, but we are not that naive. When was it ever interested in saving money?

P'burg-Floyd County Allotment, $160,000

The office of Senator Wendell H. Ford announced Tuesday county allotments from the $1.5 million grant made from HUD funds to develop mobile home sites in flood-stricken areas.

The Prestonsburg-Floyd county allotment is $160,000. Pike county will receive $400,000, and Martin county $160,000. Bell and Harlan county share in the grant.

adjoining park. Noting that coal for a Scott county plant would have to be shipped in, Allen said it would be cheaper to operate in Eastern Kentucky, where coal is readily available.

Allen said that, in view of the citizen protest of the proposed Scott county location, it would be a good idea to let the federal government know that Kentuckians want the plant to stay in the state. "At least, we've given them a choice," he added.

State Energy Secretary David Drake said, however, it is unlikely that the federal government would consider relocating the plant.

"If it's not built in Georgetown, it probably won't be built," he said. Drake also said several other communities have expressed interest in the plant.

Allen said he plans to contact the developers to advise them of Floyd county's interest in such a plant.

The proposed gasifier is one of three under development in Kentucky and is the only one to run into opposition from local citizens. The other plants are in Pike county and near Henderson.

Drake said in a later interview he believes the opposition to the Georgetown plant is focused more on the impact of the proposed industrial park than on the gasifier.

Drake said the state Energy Department is not involved in developing the park. He said the developers have agreed to make one of the twin gasifiers available to the Energy Research Center and the University of Kentucky for three years.

Drake said the final environmental impact statement being prepared by the U.S. Department of Energy should answer concerns about the operation of the gasification plant.

Although Drake said the state is not prepared to pull out of the project, he added that the state can't proceed unless the Department of Energy does.

NO FAULT
Don't want to get the guy sued, even at this late date, so he must remain anonymous. Said he was in Lexington and found himself in a restricted zone; stopped dead, shifted to reverse and waited to back his car. Finally, traffic started moving ahead, and he decided to go with it, forgetting that the gears were in reverse.

Off came the foot from the brake, onto the gas pedal—and, wham! bang into a vehicle to the rear.

Somewhat shaken, he piled out to assess the damage. The door of the car which he had rammed opened, and out staggered a fellow who was, as they say, under the influence.

"Really sorry," the man apologized. "Never saw you till too late to stop."

Our anonymous friend reassured him. "No damage to me. If it's all right with you, we'll just forget the whole thing."

The drunk extended his hand "You're all ri', feller. That's real decent of you. Not many fellows I ever ran into so reasonable."

The Big Red Machine is in such a fix that the only hope left is for me to predict—as I hereby do—that they haven't a chance.

Purchase of the Reynolds Body Company, of Allen, one of the largest metal fabrication plants in the South, has been made by Blake Ratliff, of Paintsville, it was learned here this week. Bids on construction of the second of the town of Martin's housing projects are expected to be asked, around Dec. 1, Ray R. Allen, executive director of the Martin Municipal Housing Commission said last week. Floyd county's appeal from the "blanket raise" placed on real estate assessments by the Kentucky Department of Revenue will be heard Monday, County Judge Henry Stumbo has been notified. W. A. Carrington, president of Wil-May Sundry Stores, of Portsmouth, O., announced the opening of a retail store, to be named "Prestonsburg Sundry Store". Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mullett, of Weeksbury, a son, Jeffrey Scott, Aug. 31 at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Jarvis, a daughter, Aug. 31 at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Conn, of Enon, O., a daughter, Aug. 31, at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hall, a son, Roland Terry, Sept. 3 at a Warsaw, Ind. hospital. ## Twenty Years Ago

(September 4, 1958)

Floyd county's voters will, in addition to helping elect a Congressman and two members of the Floyd County Board of Education, decide at the November election if a new county courthouse is to be built. Two federal revenue agents and a Floyd deputy sheriff were pinned down by automatic rifle fire at nightfall last Friday when 200 shots were fired at them by moonshine still operators they were seeking to arrest on Riley's Branch near Bevinsville. A Labor Day meeting of the Martin City Council saw the appointment of a Housing Commission for the town and the passage of a resolution declaring an urban area there to be in need of development due to a major disaster. A reward of $500 was posted Wednesday morning, shortly after a coal tippie owned by Magistrate Johnny Caudill on Spewing Camp, near Orkney, had been destroyed by fire. The bovine tuberculosis testing program, beginning in this county in the early 1920's and continued every third year, will be discontinued, Robert M. Jones, county agent, said this week. Prestonsburg's Lowell Hughes is slated to figure heavily in the grid activities of the University of Kentucky as the Wildcats enter what promises to be a winning season. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Deskins, of Paintsville, formerly of Wayland, a daughter, Gigi Lee, Aug. 16 at the Paintsville Clinic. There died: Mrs. Myrtle Porter, 70, of the Johns Creek section, Friday at the Paintsville Clinic; Miles Reid, 61, formerly of Betsy Layne, Friday at Pinson, Alabama; Mrs. Amanda Hurt, 61, of Auxier, Tuesday at the Paintsville hospital; Ishamael Patton, 48, recently at his home at Langley; Mrs. Mary A. Vance, 76, of Beaver, Tuesday at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, W. Va.; Green Hale, 61, last Thursday at his home at Hueysville.

Thirty Years Ago

(September 2, 1948)

Miss Imogene Allen, clerk of Draft Board 25 here, the only Floyd county registration center for the country's second peacetime draft, called up reinforcements after Monday's hectic opening of registration. Relatives here learned Tuesday that the body of Woodrow Shepherd, former Prestonsburg man, had been found in the Detroit river at Detroit, Michigan. The fiscal court at its meeting last Thursday voted, in approving a contract with the Division of Forestry, to levy a tax of 2 cents an acre on each of the 176, 348 acres of forest land in Floyd county and thus create and maintain a county forestry fund. Floyd County Fish & Game Club officials expressed the belief this week that every fish between Martin and Allen has died within the week as a result, it is suspected, of acid-bearing waters escaping from a coal mine into the stream. Prestonsburg residents and visitors from other localities will see the new Floyd County Playground here under the lights for the first time Saturday night, it was announced as Winston Ford, contractor, put the finishing touches to the field. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Park Reynolds, of Martin, a daughter, Sandra Carol, Aug. 5. There died: John Spradlin, 36, Saturday at his home at Mare Creek of tuberculosis; Pikeville Police Judge Walter W. Reynolds, 75, formerly of Prestonsburg, Monday at Pikeville; Mrs. Florence Gibson Mullins, 58, Friday at her home near Hi Hat.

Forty Years Ago

Joseph Reynolds, holder of a contract for the construction of McDowell's new school, saw another contractor win the right to build the structure when the Board of Education in a special called meeting Saturday re-let the job to W.D. Patton, Prestonsburg, whose bid was approximately $18,000 under Reynolds'. A plan of amortization for Prestonsburg's indebtedness over a period of years, "maybe 30," at a rate of 4 or 4 1/2 per cent interest, was outlined by City Attorney Woodrow Burchett before the Kiwanis Club at its meeting here last Friday. Encouragement was given County Attorney Forest D. Short and County Clerk A.B. Meade for an increase in Floyd's W.P.A. work quota by State WPA Administrator George H. Goodman in a discussion they had with him in Louisville, Short said Monday. The Koppers Coal Company baseball team, of Weeksbury will leave this week for Carswell, W. Va. where they will play the Koppers team from Pittsburg, Sunday. Not understanding new methods of teaching, parents frequently retard their children by attempting to help them with their studies, Palmer Hall, rural school supervisor, wrote last Saturday in letters mailed to Floyd's newly-appointed sub-district school trustees. On annual leave as a member of the varsity football team at the U.S. Naval Academy, Louis Harkey Mayo, former Prestonsburg high school gridiron star, arrived here last week for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Mayo. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harmon, of Bonanza, a daughter; to Mr. and Mrs. Elza Poe, of Bonanza, a son; to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Prater, of Bonanza, a daughter, Shirley Marie. There died: Ison Gibson, 77, Monday at his home at Mousie; Mrs. James M. Yates, 66, formerly of Prestonsburg, Thursday at Huntington, West Virginia.

Volunteer Parent Says Parent Apathy Appalling

I have been a volunteer parent for the Prestonsburg High School and I know, first-hand, what condition the school is in.

First, I think the school board has seen fit to listen to our gripes and then go about their usual business. I'm here to state that I will continue to let them know about the school's condition.

Secondly, I'm appalled at the attitude most parents of these high school children have. We have tried to make them aware of how desperately we need their help, but a letter published in the Times and 120 letters sent via freshman students has brought us 5-6 replies saying they were interested.

I, for one, will continue to work for a better school system and quality education by active participation in the school, and I hope not one parent tells me how horrible the school's building looks or how bad the teaching quality is.

If you don't like it, parents—Do Something About It!

Alternate to KEA

Teachers do have a choice! They may put professionalism and dedication in their rightful places.

For many years Kentucky teachers belonged to what they considered a professional organization. As times change so have organizations such as the KEA, an organization now supporting unionization rather than their former emphasis on teacher and student benefits. As a result of these changes, we searched for and found an organization with child-oriented priorities.

In 1973, we found an alternative to the KEA—National Association of Professional Educators—a group which believes: 1, that the final decision-making authority must remain with the local people; 2, that students must have the right to an uninterrupted education; 3, that teacher-educators should never be required to pay tribute to a third party as a condition of employment.

If you agree with these beliefs and are interested in knowing more about Professional Educators, I cordially invite you to contact me.

Benefit Dinner Set For Betsy Layne Band

A fried chicken dinner will be served Saturday, Sept. 9, from 11 a.m. till 6 p.m. at Farmer's Market, Harold. All dinners will be carry-out. Proceeds will be used to buy new uniforms for the Betsy Layne band.

VISITS FROM INDONESIA

Larry Johnson, formerly of Prestonsburg, spent a few days here recently with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Johnson, before returning to his home in Jakarta, Indonesia. Mr. Johnson is an engineer with the Atlantic Richfield oil company there.

Cites Nursing Programs

A recent article appeared in the newspapers throughout the state of Kentucky stating that the Big Sandy valley was in critical shortage of nurses. This is indeed correct; however, there was some misinformation that was quoted in the article.

It was stated by Mr. Lee Keene, administrator of Pikeville Methodist Hospital, that until three and one-half years ago the closest nursing program was in Ashland or Lexington, Kentucky. I would like to inform the citizens of Kentucky, particularly those of Eastern Kentucky, that Mayo Vocational School in Paintsville, Kentucky, has had an LPN Program since 1955; and that the Prestonsburg Community College Associate Degree Nursing Program has been in existence since 1972 and that to date we have graduated 137 registered nurse graduates. These nursing programs have been attempting and will continue to attempt to meet the health care needs of the citizens of Eastern Kentucky.

The graduates from these two nursing programs serve in a variety of health care facilities in the Big Sandy Valley. They serve McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital in McDowell, Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin, Highlands Regional Medical Center in Prestonsburg, Paintsville Hospital in Paintsville, as well as Pikeville Methodist Hospital in Pikeville.

I would like to suggest to the citizens of Eastern Kentucky that, in addition to making financial contributions to the Eastern Kentucky University - Pikeville Methodist Satellite Program, they also contribute funds to support and serve the Mayo State Vocational LPN Program and the Associate Degree Nursing Program at Prestonsburg Community College.

Thanks for Support

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your support of our weekly column entitled "Talking About Alcohol."

With your assistance, the stigma of the disease of alcoholism has been lessened, making it easier for those suffering and their families to seek assistance and admit to their problem with dignity.

It is with regret that a lapse has had to occur with us submitting articles, but with your assistance and the success of our public information program, this service will no longer be offered exclusively in the Big Sandy area. An organization, the Kentucky Alcoholism Council, has been awarded a grant to continue and expand the program statewide.

County Seeks New Landfills While Guidelines Are Awaited

Two of the four solid waste landfills in operation in the county have reached full capacity and replacement landfills are being sought, County Judge-Executive Yvonne S. Jones said last week.

The two at capacity are on Mud Creek and on Turkey Creek, in the Right Beaver section.

A meeting of division representatives with members of the fiscal court last Monday failed to materialize when the former made a belated arrival here. They conferred, however, with Claude A. Snively, county planner, and will return here later for a meeting with the court.

New and old landfills are to be operated as in the past until the state Solid Waste Division and federal environmental agency officials reach a decision on guidelines which will apply after October, next year, Judge Stumbo said.

"We're trying to move as best we can until they (state and federal officials) come in and say, 'This is the way to do it,'" she added.

The guidelines aren't ready. As matters now stand, it was explained, each Area Development office is serving as an agency to collect information on conditions and needs in the counties they serve. This information, in turn, is to be fed into the state Solid Waste Division office as an aid in preparing a compatible waste collection and disposal system.

Judge Stumbo said she recently attended a seminar on solid waste, listened to long discussions of guidelines, but one word she did not hear—"money."

"And it's going to take a lot of money," she added.

Showcase of Crafts, Art, Foods

Homemade bread, country ham and biscuit sandwiches, soupbeans with cornbread and onions, molasses cookies, apple stack cake. If you want to enjoy these country foods in a beautiful eastern Kentucky setting, surrounded by hospitable people and skilled crafts-persons and artists, then plan now to take in the Morgan County Sorghum Festival in West Liberty, Sept. 22-24.

Minnie Johnson, of Cow Branch, has been stitching up bonnets since last year's festival in order to have a good supply for this annual event. Other area artisans have been crocheting laces for edgings on handmade linens, making patchwork quilts and quilting them in feather and scroll designs, carving woodenware and practicing on the banjo and fiddle.

West Liberty, seat of "the Bluegrass county of the mountains," is famous for its sorghum festival and friendly citizens. Mearil McGuire again will set up his mule-powered cane mill on Main Street where festival activities will take place.

McGuire will have pieces of green cane to pass out to festival visitors so they can twirl the cane in the thick, sweet, warm sorghum as it ripens in the pan and know the goodness of this product that still has a wild tang.

In the old-time country store visitors will have an opportunity to choose among calico yardgoods, plug tobaccos, cheeses, squash, pumpkins, leather-briethes, beans, Indian corn, ornamental gourds and other products of days past with the aroma of freshly-ground coffee mingling with the heady tang of country sorghum and winey scent of dried apples.

There will be Tom Faulker and his wooden toys and Kagen Krafts with their doll houses and doll furniture. Glen Taylor of Lexington will do pastel portraits on the spot. Joan Baber will throw pots and Villa Luz will demonstrate and offer for sale examples of stained glass. Wendell Bradley will offer handmade jewelry and others will have silver and gem stones. Chuck Woodhouse will make handsome wood signs, artists will paint in oils, watercolor and other media and youths from Woodsbend State Boys Camp will sell beautiful tables, benches, stools and other items handcrafted from tree trunks.

Folk art and tole work will be for sale as well as distinctive candles, cornshuck dolls and flowers, patchwork pillows, jackets, stoles and skirts, cookbooks, jute-woven stools, handmade rocking chairs, baby clothing and linens, Bybee Pottery jugs filled with Morgan-made molasses and hundreds of other items.

The festival is a showcase of local and area talent with wares of top quality materials and handwork.

Many Morgan countians work together to create a successful festival. Mrs. Boyd Blair directs crafts booths; Lenville Ball entertainment; Mrs. Tom Phipps the Saturday parade, and Mrs. Kenneth Baker is overall chairperson.

Through efforts of West Liberty Mayor Scottyee Franklin, Long John Silver Pirates will lead this year's parade starting at 1 p.m. Saturday. Parade theme is "Frontier Days."

Lenville Ball, evangelist and Saturday night performer at Renfro Valley's Red Barn, says country-rock groups, Bluegrass musicians, hoedowners and old-time mountain music makers will pick, strum, dance and sing throughout Friday and Saturday of the festival and gospel groups will entertain Sunday afternoon.

Insurance Sticker Deadline Extended

A statement clarifying the new state law requiring motorists to display auto insurance window stickers has been issued by state Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey.

Official instructions call for drivers to place the sticker in the lower left hand corner of the rear window. However, motorists who have already placed the sticker should not try to change its position, McGuffey said.

Persons driving vehicles which have no rear window, or which have electric rear window defrosters, may place the sticker in the lower left corner of the windshield.

The law requiring the sticker to be displayed officially went into effect midnight, Aug. 31. However, due to general confusion about the new sticker law, Acting Governor Thelma Stovall has issued an executive order granting an extension until the end of September for motorists who do not yet have their stickers. All drivers must, however, now carry in their cars some proof of insurance coverage such as a policy, a card indicating coverage or a binder, which may be obtained from an agent. "The vehicle owner will be able to avoid a citation (for failure to display the sticker), providing that he is carrying proof of a valid insurance policy in force at the time he is stopped," says State Police Commissioner Kenneth E. Brandenburg.

The law also allows new car buyers a 30-day "grace" period in which to obtain and display their sticker.

However, the commissioner again cautioned that, whatever the reason for not having a sticker on the vehicle, the owner should carry proof of valid coverage with him, either in the form of the policy itself or a binder issued by the insuring company.

By LARRY BURKE

The little girl sitting by her mother in church kept hearing the pastor referring to Christians, so she asked her mother, "What is a Christian, Mama?" "Shh," her mother replied. Again she asked, "Mama, what is a Christian?" Her mother, afraid she would disturb the others in church, leaned over and whispered, "A Christian is one who loves Jesus, and loves everyone."

The little girl looked up and whispered back, "We don't know any, do we, Mama?"

Every person is known by their capability to love and respond to the needs of others. We may not be told that very often, but we can rest assured that we are judged by our actions. I wonder if anyone knows us for what we really are.

As AF Academy Cadet

Paul C. Ackerman, son of Mrs. Margaret S. Ackerman, of Prestonsburg, Ky., and the late Bill Ackerman, has entered his freshman year at the U.S. Air Force Academy, near Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Ackerman is one of more than 1400 freshmen who were officially accepted into the cadet wing after completing six weeks of intensive field training, physical conditioning and survival instruction. His four years of academic study and military training will lead to a B.S. degree and a commission as a second lieutenant.

Cadet Ackerman is a 1978 graduate of Prestonsburg High School.

Enjoying the occasion with her were Mrs. J. B. Ford, Mrs. Kenneth Verley and daughter, Lisa, and Mrs. Alice Hornsby. Following the opening of her gifts, ice cream and birthday cake were served.

FBI Reports 48
Officers Slain

FBI Director William H. Webster has announced that 48 city, county and state law enforcement officers were killed feloniously in the United States and Puerto Rico during the first six months of 1978. Thirty-five officers were slain during the same period in 1977.

"This increase in the number of officers slain is grim evidence of the danger faced by law enforcement officers despite efforts to strengthen training programs and adopt more effective safety measures," Mr. Webster said.

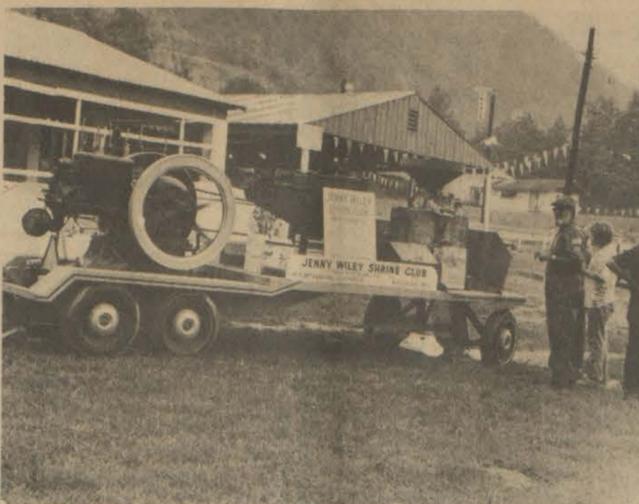

During the first six months of 1978, 26 officers were killed in the southern states; eight each in the north central and western states; five in the northeastern states; and one in Puerto Rico.

Ten officers were slain while enforcing traffic laws. Seven were killed while attempting to thwart robberies or in the pursuit of robbery suspects; two while attempting to apprehend burglary suspects; and eight while attempting arrests for crimes other than robbery or burglary. Six officers were slain in unprovoked or premeditated ambush-type attacks; an additional six while handling or transporting prisoners; five while handling disturbance calls; and four while investigating suspicious persons.

Forty-seven of the 48 officers were killed with firearms. Handguns were used in 38 of the slayings, and in nine of these incidents, assailants killed officers with their own service weapons.

Benjamin H. Cooke, special agent in charge of the FBI for Kentucky, advised that the records for Kentucky reflect one police officer was killed during the first six months of 1978. This death was the shooting death of the chief of police in Campton, June 26. Mr. Cooke further stated that preliminary figures for the calendar year 1977 showed 91 local, county, and state law enforcement officers were killed in the line of duty. That figure represented a dramatic decline, Mr. Cooke stated, in that not since 1969, when 86 officers were slain, have fewer duty-related deaths been reported. The first six months figures for 1977 showed 19 officers were killed in the southern states. The Kentucky figures for the calendar years 1977 and 1976, reflect two and three officers were slain each year, respectively.

60-Year-Old Grist Mill in Use

The grist mill above, which has seen use since 1917, was displayed recently at the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club horse show. Originally in use at East Point, the mill is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bierman, of Prestonsburg, who grind and sell stone burr ground corn meal and turn all proceeds over to Shriners Crippled Children's Hospitals to further their work.

Mr. Bierman, member of the Jenny Wiley Shrine Club, and stepdaughter, Miss Sharon Watson, at right, watched as the mill was placed at Archer Park fairgrounds.

Kinzer's Win Adds to Allen's Reputation

WILLARD KINZER

It happens from time to time in the world of athletic competition that one city or locality will gain a reputation as having produced a number of outstanding athletes in one particular sport. The Martin county communities of Inez or Meade Memorial, for example, will long be remembered for their consistently excellent baseball teams. Some other section may be identified as "football country."

But of all such instances that come to mind, none is more remarkable than the years-long dominance of the increasingly popular sport of motorcycle hillclimbing that is claimed by the small Floyd county community of Allen.

Allen's Terry Kinzer, now retired from hillclimbing competition, has amassed a hillclimbing record that may never be excelled. In American Motorcycle Association (AMA) professional competition, Kinzer won the Grand National Championship four consecutive years (1973-76) in the 750 c.c. class. In addition, he won the amateur national championship in 1970 in the 750 class. The same year, his younger brother, Jerry, also a top hillclimb competitor, won the amateur national championship in the 500 c.c. class. The 1976 professional Grand National Championship in 500 c.c. competition was claimed by David Mosely, of Allen, as well as the National Championship in the same class. Mosely, who is the first rider to win both titles in the same year, also won the nation's top spot in amateur competition in the 750 c.c. class.

Allen's reputation was further enhanced last week-end as two of the town's residents took the top two spots in the 750 c.c. (open class) competition in the AMA national amateur championship hillclimb at Stratton Branch, Dewey Lake, and nine other Allen riders turned in fine performances, as well.

Sunday and Monday's hillclimb, sponsored by the Pioneer Motorcycle Club, of Marietta, O., featured 250 of the nation's top amateur hillclimbers representing every section of the country, from California to New England, but it was 50-year-old Willard Kinzer, father of the hillclimbing Kinzers, who won the national championship, setting a new amateur record time of 6.678 seconds on his specially prepared 750 c.c. Honda four-cylinder bike. Adding to Kinzer's accomplishment is the fact that he first became interested in motorcycle hillclimbing only five years ago, at the age of 45. Ranking second in the nation, as a result of the week-end race, was Honda-mounted Paul Douglas Porter also of Allen, of course.

Sixth place in the 750 c.c. class was claimed by another Allen resident, Earl Cline, with Larry Allen, a former Allen resident, placing a respectable 22nd.

John Mosely, formerly of Allen, placed 12th in the nation in the 500 c.c. category, and Jim Wright, of Allen, took fourth place in the popular 250 c.c. competition. Keith Arnett and James Click, both of Cow Creek, placed 13th and 14th, respectively, in the 250 class and another Allen resident, Mike Mays, took the 29th spot in the same class.

A good deal of interest was generated by the Allen brother and sister team of Tim and Paula Spencer, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Spencer. Tim, 14, a top competitor in the 125 c.c. class, placed 12th in the nation in Sunday's competition, while Paula, 11, was unable to complete her run up the mountain after the engine blew in her highly tuned 100 c.c. bike.

An estimated crowd of 3,000 spectators each day enjoyed the competition and the gathering was described as peaceful with no disturbances reported.

HONOR MRS. ISBELL

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Vickers and son, Shad, entertained with a dinner and a surprise birthday party at their home recently, honoring Mrs. Vickers' grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Isbell. Others enjoying their hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Isbell and children, Sammie, Mark and Nancy Ann, and Joe Isbell. Birthday cake was served by Mr. and Mrs. Vickers and son, Shad.

The Prestonsburg Blackcats will host the Pikeville Panthers in a key class AA, Region IV, District II contest this Friday at 8 p.m.

Pikeville won the district last year, and Prestonsburg won the title the year before, and both are 20 on the current season. Pikeville owns wins over Louisa (41-6) and Whitesburg (27-13) while Prestonsburg has defeated Frankfort (9-6) and West Carter (21-7).

Both teams are basically young as graduation losses hurt both, but Pikeville will have a slight advantage in experience, especially in the offensive backfield, as they will field three seniors and one junior. Prestonsburg has only two seniors on the entire squad. Pikeville appears to be a little more explosive offensively as they can break the big one, compared to the Cats' time-consuming, grind-it-out offense. Prestonsburg may have a slight edge in size and strength, while Pikeville may be slightly quicker with more speed. Both teams boast strong defenses and both will hit. Each has a good extra point and field goal kicker and a sound kicking game.

It should be "some kind" of football game.

Leaders for Canvass In 2 Towns Listed

Elated members of the Ridgeway Fuels team, of Louisa rush onto the playing field at Archer Park after downing Virgie Pharmacy to win the annual Labor Day softball tournament. The Virgie team placed second, with Floyd county's R. & S. Truck Body team coming in third.

In mens' play, the Kentucky State Police Post 9 team from Pikeville won the tourney after their game with Lloyd's Hardware, of Prestonsburg was called due to heavy fog, Monday night. The undefeated KSP team won as it was the only team left in the winners' bracket. Placing third in the mens' competition was the East Kentucky Explosives team.

Blackcats Down West Carter, 21-7, Friday

The Prestonsburg Blackcats defeated West Carter 21-7 in a Class AA Region IV District II contest Friday night. Though Prestonsburg threatened 3 times in the first quarter, it was midway into the second before the Cats could get on the scoreboard.

Tom Hastings made the initial Cats' touchdown on a 5-yard run. Dwayne Rodebaugh kicked the extra point as the first half came to a close. Prestonsburg received the kick-off to begin the second half, and Hastings broke loose on a 60-yard scamper before being pulled down on the enemy 3. Rodebaugh took it in from there, kicked the extra point, and the Cats led, 14-0. Moments later, Rodebaugh hit Marty Branham on a HB pass that carried to the West Carter 6. Jack Goodman immediately scored from 6 yards out and Rodebaugh tacked on the extra point, making it 21-0.

West Carter scored in the final minutes of the game on a fourth down pass from the Cats' 6 to Maxie Hammonds. Hammonds also kicked the extra point.

The Cats, who were plagued by penalties—10-yards—had three of them in the Comets' touchdown drive. The Blackcat defense was strong, especially in the first half, as it allowed West Carter only 27 yards through the 1st two periods and only 104 for the entire game. The defense was led by Dewey Layne, Rodebaugh, Lonnie May, Branham, Lee Carter, Bill Greer, Terry Click, Alan Frasure, Ralph Gillian, Jack Goodman, Jack Wells, and Greg Haywood. Haywood, Goodman, and Wells each had an interception for the Cats.

The win upped Prestonsburg's record to 2-0.

Paul Vernon Hicks

Paul Vernon Hicks, 37, of Louisville, and a native of Topmost, died last Friday at Louisville General Hospital of gunshot wounds reportedly inflicted by his stepson. Other details of the shooting were unavailable.
A son of Mabrey and Hazel Layne Hicks, of Topmost, he was employed as a truckdriver for the St. Joe Paper Company. Besides his parents, he is survived by his widow, Donna Hicks, two sons and four daughters, Glenn, Shannon, Kimberley, Christina, Lisa and Sandra, all of Louisville; a brother and two sisters, General Hicks, Ypsilanti, Mich., Mrs. Gwendolyn, of Hollybush, and Mrs. Reba Wallen, of Dema.
The body was returned to Topmost where graveside rites were conducted Tuesday in the family cemetery, the Hall Brothers Funeral Home directing.

Miss Goble Victim Enroute to Reunion

What was to have been a time of reunion for the Goble family became one of tragedy last Friday night when three members of the family traveling from St. Clair Shores, Michigan were involved in a fatal auto accident in Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

Miss Pauline Goble, 19, was killed, and her aunt and uncle, Harry and Dorothy Sherman, formerly of the Auxier area, remain in intensive care in a Sandusky hospital after their car was forced off the highway by a tractor-trailer and struck a concrete guardrail post.

Miss Goble and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman were returning to this county to attend a family reunion which was to have been held last Saturday.

A daughter of Billy Goble, of St. Clair Shores, and the late Betty Manual Goble, she is also survived by two brothers and a sister, Bobby Ray and Harmon Westley Goble, and Miss Patricia Goble, all of St. Clair Shores, Mich. Also surviving are the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Goble, of the Auxier Road.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m. Monday in the chapel of Floyd Funeral Home. Burial was made in the family cemetery in Jenny Wiley State Park.

Floyd Store Loses Food Stamp Status

Atlanta, Ga.—Marie Hall Grocery, Route 2, Galveston, Ky., has been barred from accepting food stamps for a year because of violations, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) reports.

Owned by Mrs. Marie Hall, the store was disqualified for a year, starting Aug. 11, after being charged with redeeming food coupons that had been accepted in violation of the food stamp regulations.

Robert L. Cunningham, who is in charge of the Prestonsburg field office of the Food and Nutrition Service, explained that the store will not be allowed to accept food coupons during the year's disqualification period.

Cunningham added that food stamps, by law, can be used only to buy food. The only exceptions, he said, are garden seed and plants to be used to produce food.

Yatesville Area Hunting Allowed But NO Camping

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers advises that, although hunting is permitted on the Yatesville (Blaine Creek) project, camping is prohibited by federal regulations. Campers will be subject to citation federal court. Among other prohibited activities are littering, destruction of vegetation, open fires and operation of vehicles off existing roads.

John Adkins

He was a native of Johnson county and before retirement was a contractor for the United Fuel Gas Company. Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Mary Ann Jarrell Yoak, of Hopkinsville; two sons, Robert H. and William H. Yoak, both of Flint, Mich.; two daughters, Mrs. Mildred Williams, of Florida, and Mrs. Barbara Tidwell, Hopkinsville; three brothers and four sisters.
Burial will be made in the Newman cemetery at Hi Hat under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS (ATTORNEY GENERAL)
Free vacation offers are SO tempting to the public. Who wouldn't want an all-expenses paid week on Daytona Beach? But look out! Your "all-expenses" paid vacation may end up costing you plenty of money. Offers for free gifts or free vacations are abundant in the promotion world - especially in real estate.

One lady complained that she had signed up for a give-away at the local county fair and the next week was called by a young lady who wanted her to answer a riddle. The woman answered the riddle correctly and was informed that she had "won" a free vacation. The only requirement was a trip to the real estate development that this company was building in the other part of the state. She visited the site and was given an extremely high pressured sale. When she finally convinced the company representatives she was not going to buy, she was informed that the "all expenses paid" vacation was two nights in a low class motel, nowhere near a beach and could only be taken in early October.

Of course, real estate developments are not all guilty of such tactics and some "free vacation" schemes do not even involve real estate. Some companies request a sum of money to be deposited for a "certificate" for a vacation. The fifteen to eighteen dollars is sent to the company and the company is never heard from again.

There are many types of rip-offs in free vacations and free merchandise, but the aware consumer will always investigate before he invests. If the offer is coming from another state, it would be worth a long-distance phone call to the Better Business Bureau or local Consumer Protection agency to investigate the reputation of the company. If they are Kentucky based, you may write the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, 209 St. Clair, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. You may also call on our toll-free Consumer Hotline number 1-800-372-2960.

Lawson's Fall Fest Set this Weekend

A number of talented Bluegrass groups will be featured Friday and Saturday at Melva and Kellard Lawson's Fall Bluegrass Festival which will be held at the mouth of Little Mud Creek, one mile from the Harold bridge.

Beginning at 7 p.m. Friday, the festival will feature such groups as Lum Patton and the Half Mountain Boys, Billy Hall and the Greenwood Mountain Boys, Larry and Ernie and the Bluegrass Echoes, Calvin Waddles and the Lonesome Mountain Boys, John Steele and the Hillclimbers, and others.

Saturday's program, which will begin at 2 p.m., will also feature a horseshoe pitching contest for the athletically inclined.

Plenty of concessions and free parking will be available.

Sgt. Isaac, Recruiter For 3-County Area

Army Sgt. Tommy Isaac has been named to represent Army Recruiting in Knott, Letcher, and Perry counties. He will serve the area from the Hazard Army Recruiting Station.

Sergeant Isaac, who has been in the Army for five years, was assigned as an infantryman at Fort Knox before becoming a recruiter. He previously was a member of the Old Guard, an Army ceremonial unit in Washington, D.C.

The new recruiter is a native of Wheelwright, where he graduated from high school. His wife, Kathy, is a native of Knott county. The couple and their son and daughter reside in Hindman.

He says the Army offers "many challenging opportunities" for men and women high school graduates. "Cash bonuses of up to $2500 are currently being offered to graduates enlisting in some Army career fields, including infantry," he added.

Proposed Ban on Sales of Candy, Soft Drinks in Schools Delayed

Final regulations to ban the sale of candy, soda water, frozen desserts and chewing gum in school cafeterias until after the last lunch period will not be implemented at the beginning of the coming school year, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman has announced.

The Department delayed its plan to issue final regulations in time for the new school year in order to consider more fully the large volume of public comments, she said.

Public Law 95-166, enacted last November, authorized the Department to regulate the sale in schools of foods which compete with school food service programs. Rules to implement the new provision of the law were proposed in April. The Department's Food and Nutrition Service received more than 2,100 comments from students, parents, teachers, school administrators, nutritionists, doctors, dentists, the food industry, concerned citizens, and many others before the comment period closed on June 30.

"Those who support the proposed rule far outnumber those who oppose it," Foreman reported. "However, many letters urge that the ban be extended throughout the day and apply to other low-nutrient, high-calorie foods as well. "Some of those who oppose the proposed rule believe it infringes on individual choice, or that the distinctions it makes regarding food categories are unfair and arbitrary. Some commentators also would like to restrict the ban to the school cafeteria, rather than apply it throughout the school.

Until new rules are issued, schools will continue to operate under existing regulations which allow state and local authorities to adopt and enforce their own competitive foods policies.

District Court Cases

Three defendants pleading guilty in district court to charges of possessing marijuana have been fined and given jail terms at recent court sessions.

Marvin E. Marsillett and Rodney B. Blackburn were sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $50 each. Vernon Music was fined $100 and given a 10-day jail term, the jail term to be probated after payment in full of the fine.

Charges of criminal littering against Lenville Ousley and Charles Howard were dismissed when it was determined that the charge should have been lodged against others.

Other pleas of guilty, beginning with the Aug. 28 court session and continuing through last Friday:

Michael Collins, third degree assault, 30 days in jail and court costs; Bart L. DeRossett, $115 fine; and these fined $10 each and costs on drunk charges: Sam Ferrell, Willie Hall, Jr., Carl R. Keen, Roy Tackett, Robert Richmond and Jean Eloise Richard.

Cases dismissed: Larry Hall, third degree assault, and Haskel Tackett, first degree wanton endangerment, both for lack of prosecution; Willard Hall, third degree assault, at request of the prosecuting witness, defendant to pay court costs; Tony Ratliff, second degree assault; Chester Jarrell, leaving the scene of an accident; Jimmy Burchett, no motor-cycle license.

Folk Fest Features New Talent

The 13th annual Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Jenny Wiley State Park amphitheatre was held in memory of the late Dennie Slone, an outstanding old-time mountain musician and singer who dedicated his time and talent to the festival since its beginning. And if Dennie could have seen the variety of talent at this year's fest he would probably have been pleased.
 Many new musicians participated in this year's event as well as the best from past years and the quality of entertainment was of the highest quality. Particularly outstanding were the numerous fiddle players who gathered for Friday and Saturday nights' presentations of secular mountain music. In addition to the fiddle music of such regular festival performers as Dave Sizemore, and Buddy and Angie Ratcliff, two new fiddlers, Ollie Gray, of California, and James Day, of Morehead, set toes to tappin' with their excellent musical styles. Also playing at the festival after an absence from last year's program were J. P. Fraley, recognized as one of the state's finest fiddlers, Alfred Bailey, a well-known Fleming county fiddle player, and Fiddlin' Dewey Shepherd, fiddler and song writer, of Blue River.
 New voices were also heard at the festival including a Friday performance by Denzil Ray Hall, of Allen, who was backed up by a group which included his younger brother, Mike, also a newcomer to the folk festival. Saturday night's audience enjoyed the old-timey sound of Stevie Hall, of Martin, another young singer who is helping perpetuate the ages old mountain music tradition.

 New to the festival was the South Salyers group from Magoffin county. Salyers, a veteran of the Bluegrass music field, is a former member of Bill Monroe's Bluegrass Boys.
 Other new acts included a folk ballet presented by a group of young dancers who interpreted two traditional ballads performed by the Jenny Wiley Chantresses. The Dancers were under the direction of Snookie Meade.
 Sunday's program featured a performance by the Archer Senior Citizens' Center choir as well as a presentation of old time hymns by George and Mary Jane Brown. Several other choral groups and individuals from past years also participated in the day's performance of religious music.
 The festival, presented under the direction of Katherine Frazier, was founded by noted folk music collector, Edith F. James, of Prestonsburg, who directed Sunday's program.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pangle, of Morristown, Tenn., were here during the week-end for a visit with their daughter, Mrs. David Pack, the Rev. Pack, and daughter, Kara, at the parsonage of the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church. Also visiting the Pangle's was his mother, Mrs. Iva Pack, of Greenville, South Carolina.

HERE FROM FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Vickers, and son, Shad, had as their guests last week-end Mr. Vickers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Vickers, of Tampa, Florida. Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Vickers and Shad entertained with a dinner honoring their guests. Others attending the dinner were Mrs. Carol Susan Burchett and sons, Paul Preston, Jr., and Brad, of Lexington, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Francis.

RECOVERING FROM INJURY

Oliver Webb, Sr. is recovering nicely at his home here from injuries suffered from a fall a few weeks ago.

VISITORS HERE

Mrs. Belinda Jo Herald and daughter, Kelli, and a friend from Mr. Sterling visited Mrs. Eula Branham and Mrs. Jettie Shreve here last week. Mrs. Herald and Kelli Jo left Saturday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Montgomery at their condominium at the Bahia Mar resort on South Padre Island, Texas. Later, they will visit with the Montgomeries at their home, in San Antonio, Texas.

CONCLUDE VISIT

Mrs. William Feek and daughter, Lisa, of Dade City, Fla., have concluded a visit here with her brother, Bill Pettrey, Mrs. Pettrey and Mrs. Rebecca Rasmick.

ENTERTAIN FAMILY MEMBERS

Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Collins, Sr. entertained members of their family with a covered dish dinner, at their home here Sunday. Approximately 30 family members and friends enjoyed their hospitality.

SPEND WEEKEND HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wiley and children, Susie and Jim, of Lexington, were here during the week-end for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Kitty Sandige.

REMAINS ILL

The condition of Gene Wells, who has been ill for some time at his home, is satisfactory.

FAREWELL PARTY

A farewell party was given for Mrs. Troy Shepherd this week by Sadie Salyers and Mrs. Jimmy Powers, of Prestonsburg.

Mrs. Shepherd moved Thursday from her home here to Bellecenter, Ohio.

Those attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. G.C. Shepherd, Mr. and Mrs. James Russell Shepherd, Mrs. Gary Crisp, Mrs. Howard Sample and son, Mark, Mrs. Bobby Hackworth and son, Bobby Lee, Mrs. Rudolph Lewis, Mrs. Brady Shepherd, Sandy and Don Salyers, Mr. and Mrs. David Shepherd, Scotty Powers, Troy Dean Shepherd, and Billy Joe Shepherd.

HOMEMAKERS TO MEET

The Day Homemakers will hold their first meeting of the club year, Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 12, at 1 p.m., in the clubroom of the Kentucky Power Company, with Mrs. Becky Short, Mrs. Phyllis Herrick and Mrs. Ruth Francis as hostesses. Mrs. Phyllis Herrick and Mrs. Opal Dingsus will present the lesson on, "Snacks and Non-Foods." All members and prospective members are urged to attend.

FAMILY PICNIC

Enjoying a family picnic at the park below Dewey Dam Saturday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Goble, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wells, Mrs. Bonnie Walters, Mrs. Julia B. Stephens, Mrs. Docia Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Stephens and son, Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Leslie and son, Michael, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Walters and children, Jessica and Jennifer, Misses Linda Wells and Delores Baker, and James Wells and David Walters.

UNITE WITH CHURCH

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Clark, who recently moved here from Miami, Fla., were welcomed as new members of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church during the Sunday morning services.

RETURNS TO CALIFORNIA

Mrs. Callia Simmons Branham, who recently visited her mother, Mrs. Lona Simmons, and her sister, Mrs. Margaret Ackerman, here, left last week for a visit with her brother, Paul Ackerman, Mrs. Ackerman and children in Huntington, W. Va., before returning to her home, in California.

HERE FOR VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Graham Leslie and children, of Lexington, were here last week for a few days' visit with his mother, Mrs. Maman Leslie, who accompanied them home for a week-end visit.

To Wed, Sept. 15

The marriage of Miss Sandie Porter and Mr. Tom H. Music, both of Prestonsburg, will be solemnized Sept. 15 at 4 p.m. at the Community Methodist Church. The gracious custom of open church will be observed. The reception following the ceremony will be at the church. (Photo by Nelson)

UNDERGOES SURGERY

Mina Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Howard, was released Monday from Highlands Regional Medical Center where she underwent surgery for appendicitis last Friday. She is recuperating nicely at her home at Little Point.

District Meeting Set For Methodist Women

The Ashland District United Methodist women's prayer retreat will be held at The First United Methodist Church, Louisa, Sept. 9. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. The program will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with Mrs. Lucille Smith, of Shelbyville, the speaker. Communion will be served at the afternoon session.

Come in and see the Great Palm Beach Fall Line-up.

HAS Palm Beach® GOT A LINEUP FOR YOU THIS FALL.

There are country suits, plaids and stripes (all vested, of course), blazers, sport coats and slacks in solids and checks, and the Palm Beach® Fashion Fiver®... the original wardrobe on a hanger.

There's a terrific assortment, in Fall's smartest colors and fabrics, including 100% wool, polyester/wool blends, and 100% Dacron® polyester. It's great to know a tailor you can trust, and for my money, that's Palm Beach.

Federal Officers Say "No" To Plan To Leave Flat Land

Federal officials say they can't support Kentucky's plan to give strip miners the chance to leave flat land on Appalachian hillsides.

Thus, even if operators can win state permission to leave flat land, they'll face being shut down by the U.S. Office of Surface Mining.

The state is open to requests for permission to leave flat land, said Lindsay Ingram, counsel to the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

But top federal officials said that federal law doesn't allow operators to seek such permission—at least not for many months.

The conflicting policies stem from opposite readings of parts of the 1977 federal strip-mine law. The basic rule is that mined land be restored to its "approximate original contour."

The concept was fought by Kentucky coal men, who strip hillsides that are costly—if not impossible—to rebuild.

The concept is especially unfair in Appalachia, they argued, where flat land that isn't flood-prone is scarce.

Coal state senators punched three small and specific loopholes in the rule.

The one at issue now allows operators working on steep slopes to get a variance from the contour rule if:

The owner of the surface land requests in writing that it be left flat.

The land is to be "rendered suitable" for factories, homes, businesses or parks.

A host of environmental and planning requirements is met.

State officials say that they can begin using this variance procedure now.

But federal officials say it can't legally be put into effect for many months—until a state has a permanent strip-mine program or until Washington assumes total control over strip-mining in a state.

For now, Kentucky and other states have interim programs that don't allow the post-mining use variance, federal officials said.

Under the federal law, it's possible that Kentucky won't have a permanent program until mid-1980.

Richard M. Hall, who heads the Office of Surface Mining's inspection and enforcement division, said federal officials weren't happy about the situation.

He said that the problem came from a mistake in drafting the law—a mistake that distorted Congress' intent.

But the federal agency is stuck with the law, said Hall and William Eichbaum, the office's top lawyer.

Eugene Mooney, who heads Kentucky's Natural Resources Department, discussed the matter in Washington with Eichbaum and Leo M. Krulitz, the top lawyer in the Department of the Interior.

Eichbaum said Mooney warned that the federal view would generate litigation by coal operators.

The first federal legislation requiring administrators of health and pension funds to file financial reports annually to the Secretary of Labor was the Welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act in 1958, according to the U.S. Labor Department booklet, "Labor Firsts in America."

Runners-Up in Beauty Pageant

Susan Dawn Mayo, left, and Amy Elizabeth Mayo were both runners-up in the Fourth of July Beauty Pageant sponsored by the Martin Woman's Club. They are daughters of Don and Ruby Mayo, of Martin. Susan was an entry in the 2-5 group; Amy in the 6-9 group.

POT POURRI

By WILMAY

Floyd countians thrill to note that Jack Friar has received an honor past due. Few leaders in any discipline could excel him, for he has what it takes to be a winner in any field: dedication. No matter what the institution or undertaking, dedicated, consistent leadership always brings results. This county is deeply indebted to Mr. Friar for his many years of service to its youth. Parents know their youngsters are in the best of hands when out with this extension agent.

It is highly probable that the renowned shroud of Turin will be proved to have been worn by Christ when he was entombed. The verdict will be watched with interest by millions.

If you wish to hear a fine young minister tell it like it is, hear Jerry Waugh deliver a sermon. Elder son of the Rev. and Mrs. Earl Waugh, of Allen, Jerry is a junior at Cumberland College, where he started a service for jail occupants. He spent the past two summers in Michigan and Arizona doing mission work, and is establishing a reputation for excellent content and delivery, showing signs of such marked consecration that friends predict a brilliant future for him. Many rejoice because Donald Noe, of Kentucky, who is dying from leukemia, is at last receiving veteran's pay for himself and family to which they are justly entitled.

No one seems shocked that fraud is widespread in the General Services Administration. Unfortunately, swindling seems to be the name of the game in many places and in all levels of government sometimes. Until it is reduced or checked heavy inflation and exorbitant taxes will continue. August Reader's Digest exposes another boondoggle—graft and corruption in the federal government. Our nation is being destroyed from within. High-paying "created" jobs for some supporter or friend of some public figure are just one cause.

No one is surprised to have Dr. Billy Graham predict a big depression for the U.S. We have long said the same. It will make previous ones look like a grain of sand in comparison. But lawmakers continue the waste and extravagance that is bankrupting us, while citizens plead for more programs, when scores overlap, and personal liberties are being whittled away by bureaucrats. Some seem unaware that we pay for everything the government provides.

Various authorities warn that some food additives are highly suspect in regard to malignancy in human beings, since tests prove they cause it in mice. Most of us go blithely along, eating anything we desire.

"Canned" biscuit keeps for weeks. Milk and bread are loaded to keep for days. One nutrition expert said recently on TV that housewives would make their own bread if we knew what goes into that we buy. Not a pleasant thought.

Extending ERA is worse than ridiculous. The constitution sets no specific time for ratification of laws by states, but the same limit has been adhered to always. This new precedent will create problems if approved by the Senate, and those advocating the change do not favor permitting recession. Ah, no!

July Reader's Digest, page 200, carries an interesting story of one of our Eastern Kentucky girls, Dr. Carol Kennedy, only child of Carl Stewart, of Malone, Ky., and his late wife. Carl was reared in Maytown. Irma Carol was named for her aunt, Mrs. Jones Tallent. She is a child psychiatrist, and the story shows that she put righteousness, integrity, and children above any position or honor. You will be glad you read it. We salute Irma Carol, who married another fine young physician. America needs more like her in all professions.

A very intelligent close friend remarked this week that youth today find few heroes worth recognizing. One thinks of the three-hour special on "King Elvis," as some call him, though Jesus should be the only king of any land. Compare feelings following the death of Presley with those expressed when crooner Bing Crosby was called home. The contrast explains much about our land and people. One statement by Crosby puts him in focus. Asked what he would do if one of his unmarried sons lived with a girl and brought her to his home for a visit, Crosby replied vehemently, "No way! This is God's house!" Something every home should be. If more parents, the laity, clergy and other leaders stood for what they know is right much of the evil overtaking the U.S. would decrease.

Having feared or believed that the great Russian philosopher - writer, Solzhenitsyn, was correct in his evaluation of the West currently, we felt fully vindicated this week to hear Dr. Graham in his Toronto Crusade sermons enumerate many of the identical sins cited by Solzhenitsyn, though some luminaries cannot see them. The mere fact that America has given far more and done much more for mankind at home and abroad than any nation in all history does not permit us to be blind to the wickedness engulfing our land, even though there are now more and perhaps better Christians than in any previous period.

Sept. 5 Marks Beginning Of New Crisis Program

Local Department for Human Resources public assistance offices will begin accepting today (Wednesday) applications for aid under the new Crisis Oriented Program for Emergencies (COPE). COPE will offer financial aid to individuals or childless couples who are experiencing a severe crisis precipitated by financial need, necessity or destitution.

Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn describes the COPE program as "a means to help individuals bridge a crisis situation, returning them to control of their lives and circumstances."

Administered by the department's Bureau for Social Insurance, the program will provide benefit payments to eligible recipients for one 30-day period during 12 months' time. Direct payments to providers of services and, in some instances, cash vouchers will be issued to cover living necessities such as food, clothing, shelter, utilities, home repairs, home furnishings, appliances and transportation.

Unemployed recipients will be required to register for work unless they are elderly, incapacitated or students officially enrolled in an accredited school or recognized training program. Any individual claimed as a tax dependent by another party will be ineligible for benefits.

To be eligible for assistance under the COPE program, an individual's income cannot exceed $265 a month; a couple's income cannot exceed $350. A single person's liquid assets will be limited to $500 and a couple's to $750.

Persons who become eligible for retroactive payments from other benefit programs will be required to repay COPE funds allocated in emergency situations.

The Department for Human Resources will coordinate COPE with other assistance programs administered by local governments or private agencies to eliminate possible duplication in benefits, Conn noted.

The General Assembly's biennium allocation of $1.5 million is expected to serve about 3,800 Kentuckians presently ineligible for financial aid under other human resources programs.

7th District Democratic Women's Clubs To Meet At Park Here, Saturday

The Seventh District Democratic Woman's Club convention will be held here Saturday (Sept. 9) at Jenny Wiley State Park, with some 50 delegates from around the area expected to attend.

The event will be co-hosted by the Floyd and Pike county clubs, according to Mrs. Cliff Latta, Prestonsburg, Seventh district director, and will begin with a 10 a.m. business meeting.

Mrs. Sara Bell, Frankfort, president of the Kentucky Democratic Woman's Club, will be the luncheon speaker and will install new district officers to be elected during the morning session.

Mrs. Latta also announced that the Floyd County Democratic Women will meet at noon Friday (Sept. 8) at the lodge to elect delegates to the convention and make final convention plans. She asked all Democratic women to try to attend both these events.

To Subscribers

Please note date shown opposite your name on your copy of The Times or on the wrapper. If the date reads, for instance, "July 78" your subscription will expire at the end of July.

Because of increased mailing costs, notices to subscribers of their expiration dates will be discontinued. Subscriptions which have expired must be cancelled within one month of the expiration date.

Yearly subscription rates are: $6.30 in Floyd county; $7.35 elsewhere in Kentucky; $8.50 outside Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack May, daughter, Barbara, and son, Garland, of Miami, Fla. visited his cousin, Mrs. Lula Webb and Mrs. Thurmal Click last Saturday. The Mays were here to visit his family in this county. They are former residents of Stephens Branch but have resided in Florida for the past 28 years.

Mecca Carol Webb observed her tenth birthday with a lawn party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude J. Webb on Sunday, Aug. 27. She received gifts from all present and from Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Woods and Steve and Mr. and Mrs. John Turner. Refreshments were served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hicks, Amy and Maria, Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Goins, Dawn and Delbert Milton, Mrs. Clettis Howard, Mrs. Lula Webb, Mrs. Thurmal Click, Mrs. Claude Webb, Mrs. Velva Cooley and Harold, Mrs. Lois Mullins and Greta, Linda June Turner and Tony, Hattie Cooley, Stacia Sexton, Marie Martin, Gina and Lisa Slone, Karen and Lea Moore, Ron Moore, Angela Howard, Keith Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Claude J. Webb, Jennings and Gary. After gifts were opened and refreshments were served, games, supervised by Mrs. Webb, were enjoyed by the young guests.

Mrs. Delbert Goins and Delbert Milton were in Lexington Monday on business.

Mrs. Lula Webb and Mrs. Thurmal Click accompanied Mrs. Mary Webb to Wise, Va. on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Goins, Dawn and Delbert Milton spent the Labor Day weekend in Richmond, Ind. visiting his parents and his aunt who is very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Webb and Katina, South Charleston, Ohio were Sunday night guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Webb. They were also guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Howard in Prestonsburg over the weekend.

Russell Gibson underwent surgery at St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington last week. Friends wish for him a speedy recovery.

Hugh Rowland is recuperating at home after being a patient at Highlands Medical Center.

Mrs. Ruth Miller, Sue and Shane, Mrs. Phyllis Bare, Mark and Chippie and Mrs. Beulah Koontz, all of North Wilkesboro, N.C. were Labor Day weekend guests of Mrs. Gertrude Webb and family. Mrs. Webb and Kenneth Webb drove to Lexington and back with their guests, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilbanks, Pensacola, Fla. are here visiting Nancy and Sally May.

OUTDOOR LORE
by Neville Shackelford
UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

In the days of chivalry when knighthood was in flower, the humble and unassuming common daisy that covers fields of summer with blankets of white, was the emblem of love and fidelity. In modern flower language, however, it represents modesty and simplicity.

"Fresh from the dell," the daisy has long been the poet and song writer's darling and because it is typically an American wildflower, the American Legion has chosen it as that patriotic organization's flower emblem.

The common white daisy is a species of wild chrysanthemum which plant detectives say was brought to North America in the ballast of ships that also brought the early colonists. And while in bloom it delights the eyes of many people, it is often a nuisance to farmers. It is hurtful to pasturelands and hayfields and once established, is difficult to eradicate.

But its good qualities outweigh its bad. Besides the beauty and attractiveness it lends to summer landscapes, it is still put to use as a namesake for girl babies and as an insecticide to put a halt to the nefarious career of fleas.

The flowers and leaves of the daisy also figured prominently in the early practice of medicine. Physicians of the late 19th century used it as a tonic, diuretic, antispasmodic and in large doses, as an emetic.

A tea made by steeping or boiling the leaves and flowers water was used internally in the treatment of whooping cough, asthma and nervous excitability. Externally the tea was used to treat wounds, stubborn ulcers, "scald head" and other diseases of the skin. The recommended dosage for internal treatment was a teaspoonful three times a day.

In folklore, the daisy's white petals can be used to determine whether or not a lover's love is returned. Pluck a daisy and one by one pull off the petals while intoning "he or she (as the case may be) loves me, loves me not." Whichever comes up on the last petal is how the situation is.

In folklore also, the daisy's name comes from "day's eye," and its yellow center represents the sun. It is a tough, tenacious and pretty little wildflower without which summer would not be summer.

CONCLUDE VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Neil Allen returned last week from a vacation spent in Maine and other northeastern states.

HERE FROM DETROIT

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Maston, of Detroit, were here recently for a visit with Mrs. Alice Ball. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Ball, who spent a week visiting relatives and friends in Detroit and Ypsalanti, and in Shippensburg, Pa., before returning home. Mrs. Ball's son, Richard Ball, and Mrs. Ball came home with her for a visit.

George L. Moore . . . at Home In Quiet of Royal Oaks

BETWEEN THE OAKS—George L. Moore, retired schoolman whose knowledge of Eastern Kentucky transcends county or regional borders, pauses between the two oaks in his front yard which gave him the name for his home. Moore is probably the most widely read columnist in Eastern Kentucky.

By GEORGE WOHLFORD
(In The Ashland Daily Independent)

OLIVE HILL—High on a ridge, in a corner of Elliott county jutting into the community of Olive Hill, perches a broad farm, the home of a man who holds credentials as a lifetime educator, a leading conservationist, and perhaps the widest-read of Eastern Kentucky columnists.

George L. Moore's broad reach has an interesting beginning and a three-way channel. He lives in Elliott, where he was reared, but his nearest neighbors are mainly Carter Countians, for the line is just over the next ridge from his house. He spent most of his years in the ancestral home of Floyd county, and knows nearly as much about that county as does Henry Scalf, dean of the Big Sandy historians.

With this three-point entrance, three sets of newspapers have at first been willing to run, then sought his historical columns. They have reached into Elliott-Morgan-Wolfe; Carter-Greenup-Rowan; and Floyd and adjoining counties. That combined circulation, with its mailing lists reaching out to California and Michigan and points around the globe, gives him access to readership any writer would envy.

His columns reach back, generally, to the time he was growing up in the neighborhood where he now lives. His father, "Coon" Moore, had moved north from Floyd, "after he shot a couple of fellows and thought he'd killed them," according to George. Son George grew up here, in a land of cliffs and steep shadows, observing and hearing stories of liquor and pistols, but himself seeking an education, including a stint at Christian Normal Institute, forerunner of Kentucky Christian College.

The elder Moore served a brief stint as a deputy U.S. marshal, working with the renowned George Castle in one "hard case." Marshaling in those days usually meant picking up some person on a warrant, and in times of primitive communication and transportation, that could mean confrontation—and action.

Ever after, the older Moore spent a lifetime "trying to help elect Republican candidates—and he did, too." At age 17, George went to Floyd county, where he stayed with his brother, Kendall, who was serving as the first Republican sheriff of that county. "I voted for John Langley (for Congress) that year—it didn't matter how old you were."

In Floyd, he started teaching school, settling in at Wayland where he met his wife, daughter of a mine company administrator. "I stayed there seven years, but then there was a change of administrations and they moved me to McDowell, where they thought I'd have less of an influence. I guess time fooled 'em, for McDowell grew while Wayland went down in size, and when I left there were 1,100 students at McDowell—second only to Prestonsburg in size."

Between Wayland and McDowell, George returned to his boyhood home for a year, teaching just over the hill in Lawton. "I had the Raybourn and Hillman boys," he recalls, "and I guess I remember that year here better than any of the others."

There were a lot of those others, 29 at McDowell, and a plaque hangs on his wall thanking George Moore for his years as a leader of youngsters and of community activity.

Other plaques hang there, too. One tells how he became the Henry Wallace Award winner for Elliott after returning here to reclaim an old farm which had gone to burrs. It was not his family farm, but belonged to a family member. "I've got five of those plaques, mainly for putting out the trees on this farm, but not all of them are on the wall. I think they pick out a winner on the basis of how much he's spent on setting out trees, anyway."

"People ask me why I came back here, and I guess it's like Eisenhower said, my ambition is to leave a piece of ground in better shape than I found it. Huh, that's not hard to do here. When I came, in 1965, this farm wouldn't have kept one cow; I've had 50 head up to this year, but with cold winters, and the inexorable forces of nature aging me, I've decided not to this year."

"Then, too, this is the place I was born and reared, and I have a fondness for it."

The sign at the foot of the hill reads "Royal Oaks", just a name George said he came up with, although many of the ancestral farms in the area bore fancy titles in the past century. A pair of 200-year-old oaks stand in front of his home, majestic in their reach and shrugging off a lightning blast which last week ripped a second Royal Oaks sign attached to them.

The house he lives in, now as a widower, reflects an exterior of age and an inside of sheetrock and aluminum windows. He points out it was crafted by "Mechanical Tom" Brown, who planed the wood by hand, carved the mantelpiece, and was gifted enough to make the tools with which he worked. "Tom once invented a churn that you wound up," George recalled one of the characters from his past.

There were others, right in his own family, and a colorful country from which they came to write about. "You think that hill you came up was steep? You should have seen my uncle Ell Johnson come up it, bringing six barrels of whiskey from his distillery in the valley up to the aging house here on the hill. And that was before I blasted out the cliff."

Moore's tales range from geography ("coon-hunters know it best") to modern philosophy. "I guess the most response I got out of 200 articles I wrote for the county papers was on Old Dan, a mule that lived alone back here on the farm for three or four years. He was about 40 when he died, but he stayed here when no one was around, living on fescue through the winter."

He hasn't been paid for his columns, but he did get $50 for a brief piece concocted for Mercury Records. The album is "Tom T. Hall, The Storyteller", and the second selection on one side of the disc tells how Tom T. sought out "an old man who lives way back in the hills who might have a story I could tell."

Tom T. picked George's brain for a little philosophy, asking his opinion why former students all left Kentucky, and Hall's lyrics, using little poetic license, quote the unidentified old man as saying "You can't make it on this land...unless you work it with your hands."

"That's so," George allows. "And the young people don't want to. A lot of it stems from their parents, who have brought them up telling them 'I don't want you to have to work like I did.'"

RETURNS TO NORTH CAROLINA
Miss Linda Sue Stephens, who spent a part of the summer visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claybourne Stephens, and other relatives here, has returned to Charlotte, N.C., where she serves as guidance counselor in one of the schools.

$2 Million Grant For Better Housing

Gov. Julian M. Carroll has announced that a $2 million Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) grant has been approved for the Kentucky Appalachian Housing Program and Fund.

According to Kentucky Development Cabinet Secretary William L. Short, Carroll's alternate representative to the ARC, the funds will be used to recapitalize the program, which is in its second year of operation. The purpose of the Appalachian Housing Program and Fund, according to Short, is to stimulate the construction and rehabilitation housing for low and moderate-income families and individuals in Kentucky Appalachia. Under the application, the Kentucky Development Cabinet, which will be the official grant recipient, will subcontract with the Kentucky Housing Corporation for implementation of the program.

"The performance of the Kentucky Appalachian Housing Program and Fund has been outstanding," Short said. "This $2 million grant represents a large investment in Kentucky Appalachia and its people and is a vital step toward a better way of life for all Appalachian Kentuckians," he continued.

To date, 14 housing projects have been approved through the program. Seven additional projects have been submitted to the ARC and are currently under review.

A Kentucky Housing Corporation staff, which has been increased from two to five full time employees, works full time on the Appalachian Housing Program, and in addition will be increasing technical assistance services to regional non-profit housing corporations, the Area Development districts and other local non-profit groups in Appalachian Kentucky, Short said.

SECOND PICNIC SCHEDULED

The Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association will hold its second picnic of the year at the Dewey Dam Recreation Area, Tuesday, September 12, at 6 p.m. (In case of rain, the picnic will be held the following Tuesday, same time and place.) Any who are interested in becoming a member of the organization are invited to attend. Those attending are asked to bring utensils to eat with (including plates), beverages for your family, a blanket or something to sit on, and a dish to share.

At the picnic there will be a general meeting of members and those who would like to become members, also a discussion of the purposes of the group and a vote on by-laws and officers.

The Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association is sponsored by the Prestonsburg Community College's Community Service Program.

IN APPRECIATION

Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, who suffered a broken arm and hip in a fall several weeks ago, wishes to sincerely thank all her friends, relatives, and neighbors, for the flowers, candy, gifts, cards and personal visits, and especially their prayers, while she was a patient at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, and since she has been recovering at the Mountain Manor Nursing Home here. She also offers her appreciation to the hospital and the nursing home for the kindness and care received there.

RETURNS FROM PERU

Mrs. Richard N. Belding arrived recently from Peru for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Allen. She has been with her husband, who is on a Fulbright grant to do ethnohistorical studies in the archives and archeological sites of Peru.

UK Students To Work With Floyd Physicians

Charles Elliott and Helen Williams, clinical associate students from the University of Kentucky, will be working under the supervision of Dr. Alan Hyden, Prestonsburg, and Dr. Mary Hall, McDowell, for five weeks, beginning Sept. 5.

The purpose of their work with a local physician is to acquaint them with the practice of medicine in a rural area and with the culture and social system of a rural area.

The students will be fulfilling their family practice clinic responsibility under Dr. Hyden's and Dr. Hall's supervision. Their stay here is being coordinated by the Big Sandy-FIVCO Area Health Education System, which is a program of the Council on Public Higher Education funded by the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

PCC Community Service Dept. Offers Wide Range of Study

Community Service classes at PCC offer a wide range of opportunities for adults this fall. Classes beginning during the first two weeks of September include block and brick-laying, radio, photography, folk dancing, jogging, family and childbirth education, knitting, macrame, a new course entitled Caves and Caving, and a variety of music classes.

Although a few of these classes have already begun, students may still register by contacting the Office of Community Services. All of these courses are offered in the evening and are for people who want to learn skills and techniques which will benefit their personal lives, increase their professional or vocational abilities, or benefit the community.

The folk dance class, which has already begun, is being taught by T. Auxier, who is a graduate of Berea College with a major in recreation, and folk dancing is his specialty. He is on the staff at Hindman Settlement School. The class is held in the Student Center at 6:30 p.m., Wednesdays.

Basic photography is scheduled to begin Tuesday, September 5 from 7 to 9 p.m. and will meet weekly through October 24 in Room 115 of the Technology Building. There is still room for more participants. Each must own or have access to a camera. Instructor is John South.

The new Caves and Caving class will be of interest to many young and adventurous adults. The class will meet in Room 207 of the Technology Building, 7 to 9 p.m., Thursdays, beginning September 7 through October 5, with a field trip taking place October 7-8. The course will culminate with a weekend trip to a West Virginia cave. Students going on the trip must provide their own caving and camping gear. Suzanne Williamson, instructor for the class, is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Also beginning September 7 is beginning knitting, taught by Helen Wells. The class will meet in Building A, Room 1 from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursdays through October 12.

For adults who are interested in promoting and participating in jogging or running as an exercise or sport there will be a meeting in Room 105 of the Technology Building 6:30 p.m. September 7.

Beginning macrame will be taught in Building A, Room 1 from 7 to 9 p.m. on Mondays, September 11 through October 16. The class will be taught by Diane Bailey.

The Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association will have an organizational meeting 6 p.m., Tuesday, September 12 at the Dewey Dam recreation area. This is an organization for parents of small children and infants. One-evening workshops are held monthly. For more information call Leatha Kendrick at 886-8796.

Radio class will be taught again by Kenneth Robinson if there is sufficient interest. There will be an organizational meeting in Room 114 of the Technology Building at 7 p.m., Tuesday, September 12.

James D. Daniel will again teach block and brick laying. Block laying will be taught on Wednesdays, beginning September 13, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. This course is prerequisite to brick-laying, or both courses may be taken concurrently. Brick-laying will meet on Thursday evenings beginning September 14.

Beginning guitar class will be taught by Wally Ratliff, a graduate of PCC and University of Kentucky Music Department, who is now band director at Prestonsburg High School. The class will be taught in Room 159 of the Administration Building from 7 to 8 p.m. on Tuesdays, beginning September 12 and continuing through December 12. Enrollment will be limited.

Violin, viola, cello and string bass is being offered by Buddy Ratcliff. Those interested in studying orchestral strings or banjo should meet in Room 155 of the Administration Building, 7 p.m., Tuesday, September 12.

Other opportunities in music include voice and band instrument lessons, which are taught by Gus Kalos, and Community Chorus, which meets every Monday night at 7 p.m. in Room 155 of the Administration Building.

For information on registering for Community Services classes, contact Connie Brackett in the Office of Community Services, telephone 886-3863, extension 244.

Thomasson, New Division Engineer for Island Cr.

Edward M. Thomasson has been promoted to the post of chief mining engineer of the Island Creek Division of Island Creek Coal Co., headquartered near Paintsville.

Mr. Thomasson will be responsible for co-ordinating mining engineering projects. He began his career with Island Creek in 1947 in the engineering department in Holden, W. Va., and has held various positions in the engineering department during the past 30 years. He and his wife, the former Lucille Sergent, now reside at Thelma. Mrs. Thomasson is also a longtime employee of Island Creek.

Citizen Council Rights Reviewed

A city council is the legislative body of the city and only members may enter into the official business of the council meeting, according to a written opinion from the state attorney general's office.

Walter C. Herdman, assistant deputy attorney general, was responding to a series of questions put to the attorney general's office by Ralph Ed Graves, commissioner of the Department for Local Government.

According to the opinion, Graves indicated that the city of Tollesboro had been challenged regarding the conduct of its council meetings—specifically, its permission of citizens, other than those elected as council members, to make motions, participate in debate on motions before the council, and to vote on motions.

Herdman said, "The city council should adopt appropriate rules of procedure for the conduct of its meetings. These rules should be enforced by the mayor who acts as chairman at all meetings and rules on all points of order. Also, it is obvious that no nonmember of the council has any right whatsoever to make any motion or vote on any matter before the council."

Herdman cautioned, however, that the right of a citizen to attend a public meeting should not be interfered with. And, should there be a provision for a public hearing, there should not be any restrictions on a citizen's right to be heard, Herdman wrote.

 Of Craynor, Ky.
Secretary-Treasurer, Dist. 30

Dear Sir and Brother:
 I take this opportunity to introduce myself as a candidate for District 30 Secretary-Treasurer to fulfill the vacancy of Julius Mullins, who is now Chairman of the Board Trustee of the Health and Retirement Fund, and personal and very close friend of mine and my family.

I am a coal miner and a graduate of Pikeville College with a Master's degree, yet I chose to work in the coal industry since it's a tradition of my father, brothers, and family on both sides of my parents. I have served as Recording Secretary of Local Union 8100 for the past 5 years.

I am asking your support and nomination in my endeavor, for I feel I can do a good job and help you and this membership in many ways because of my education, experience, and above all my desire to serve the membership of District 30.

In closing, I want to assure you I will do everything in my power to make you a good and honest District Secretary-Treasurer, and I can work with anyone elected, or whoever may be elected in the future.

Come out and vote Thursday, September 28, 1978.
 Best wishes and kindest regards to you and your membership.
 A friend,

KY 80 Bids Among Record $72 Million Received, Aug. 25

A total of $72.9 million in low bids for road construction projects was received Aug. 25 by the state Bureau of Highways in the largest bid-letting in the history of the highway program. Contracts are to be awarded after bids are received. Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson said 87 projects were up for bids, including sections of I-24 in Livingston and Lyon counties and new KY 80 in Floyd and Knott counties. Bids also were received for rehabilitation in I-64 in Fayette county and I-75 in Kenton county, and reconstruction on US 23 in Lawrence county. The previous record letting was last June 23, said Grayson. At that time low bids totaling $54 million were open.

Zoellers To Succeed Wood

Wood

Jarrett M. Wood, Kentucky Power's Pikeville division manager since 1968, retired Sept. 1. Choosing an early retirement, Wood ended a 32-year utility career, most of which was spent in Pikeville.

W. W. (Bill) Zoellers, longtime Pikeville resident, succeeds Wood as Pikeville manager. He returns from Hazard where he served as division manager for just over a year.

Wood began his career with Kentucky Power in 1946 in the Pikeville engineering department. He later served as power engineer in Pikeville before moving to the company's general office in Ashland as heating services supervisor. Five years later, he was named customer services manager for the company and in 1967 he returned to Pikeville as assistant division manager. In 1968 he replaced retiring H. H. Kincaid as division manager.

Wood has served as chairman of the board of trustees of Pikeville College and was a member of the board 20 years, is a past president of the Pike County Chamber of Commerce and director of the state chamber, a past president of the Pikeville Rotary Club, past president of the Lonesome Pine Council of Boy Scouts of America and the recipient of the Silver Beaver and Order of the Arrow awards. He and his wife, Dorothy, have moved to Alderson, W. Va., her hometown.

Zoellers, a 28-year veteran of Kentucky Power, was Pikeville customer services manager from 1966 to 1977. A graduate of the University of Kentucky with a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering, he began his career in Pikeville as an engineer trainee in the meter department in 1951. He also served as distribution engineer, power sales engineer, distribution engineer, sr. and division supervising engineer.

Zoellers is a past president of the Kiwanis Club after having served as a member of the board of directors and as vice-president of the club. He has been involved in Little League baseball for 25 years, including serving nine years as president of the organization. He also is a past chairman and served on the board of deacons of the First Presbyterian Church and is a past president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He and his wife, Florence, are the parents of three sons, David, Charles and Joe. Zoellers is a native of London, Ky., and served in the U.S. Navy from 1943 to 1946.

Senior Citizen News

The month of August was one filled with various activities and trips for the Archer senior citizens.

A trip to Pikeville to see "The Book of Job" included a day at Tombstone Junction. "Wilderness Road" was seen at Berea and afterwards dinner was enjoyed at Boone Tavern there. "The Stephen Foster Story" at Bardstown and plays at the Jenny Wiley Amphitheatre here were also attended.

The championship Rook and checker play-off was held for the five-county area of Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Pike and Martin counties.

A farewell party was given for Rhoda and Glen Brickley, who have moved recently.

The Senior Songsters participated in the Highland Folk Festival held this past weekend at the Jenny Wiley Amphitheatre.

A special trip to the Smoky mountains was enjoyed by Dorothy Harris, Margaret Harris, Viola Cooley, Ora Reynolds, June Adams, Lillian Hardin, Vivian Fraley, Leven Burchett, Alka Burchett, Hazel Rorrer, Sola Blackburn, Anna Mae Spencer, Thelma Jones, Goldia Sayers, Bertha Flannery, Peacie Warrens, Roshia Moore, Leatha Joy, Lillia Mae Price, Willa Mae Branham, Lula Wallen, Willie Warrens, Ora Warrens, Lozan Fraley, Mr. Kennard, Mylvena Scott, Myrida Pratt, Tribley May, Ann Moore, Patsy Evans, director of George P. Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary

Ollie and Zona Sammons, formerly of Prestonsburg, now of Dayton, O., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a buffet-reception given in their honor at the Dayton Convention Center, Dayton, Ohio, on Saturday, August 12. Those attending the party included their eight children and their husbands and wives: They are—Joyce and Evan Langdon, Ruth and Charles Howard, Sylvia and Chuck Smith, Pat and Bart Campbell, Brenda and Curt Howard, John and Debbie Sammons, Judy and Asher McGeorge, Stan and Pat Sammons. Grandchildren, attending are Rodney Mollett, Rickey Mollett, Radford Mollett, Tim, Tom, Tony and Toby Howard, Curt, Mark, Dale, Shawn, and Keith Howard, Cathy, Fawn, and David Smith, Charlotte, Debbie, Lisa and Ryan Campbell, and Shawn Sammons. Great-grandchildren attending are David and Tayla Marsh. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Mable Poe, Mrs. Grace Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodman, all of Prestonsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sammons, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sammons and Bobbie Jo, all of Ashland. In addition, many friends from their church, as well as neighbors attended the reception.

2-Year Accreditation Granted Med Center

Highlands Regional Medical Center of Prestonsburg has won accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH) according to Les Rankin, hospital administrator. The two-year accreditation was granted to Highlands Regional after an extensive, on-site survey by a team of experts from JCAH. About 4,800 of the nation's 7,200 hospitals have earned accreditation from the 60-year old commission. Sources indicate even fewer hospitals are granted two-year accreditations. In announcing the results of the recent survey, Administrator Rankin expressed pride that Highlands Regional received a full two-year accreditation. He added, "A two-year accreditation is becoming more and more difficult to achieve with the ever-increasing standards and regulations being imposed on hospitals." The accreditation indicates that Highlands Regional has chosen to follow, and meets, the standards set by the commission.

Circus Under Big Top Slated Friday Evening

The Great American Circus, a traditional show under a huge big top, will present two shows Friday evening on Ky. 80, between Allen and Martin, below the Almar Drive-In Theatre.

Performances will be given at 6 and 8 p.m. with elephants, trained goats, performing dogs, aerial ballets and trapeze acrobatics, along with tumbling, balancing, juggling acts and all-time favorites of every circus, the clowns.

The circus is being sponsored by the Martin Woman's Club, and Mrs. Fred Barnett, chairman, urges everyone to buy advance tickets from any club member. "Advance tickets are lower in price, and the sponsoring club also receives a higher percentage from these sales," she said.

Our Legendary Heroes

By GEORGE L. MOORE

In considering our legendary heroes, we have to make a distinction between fact and fiction. Paul Bunyon was a figment of the imagination, while Johnny Appleseed was real flesh and blood.

It has been said that if we are remembered when we pass to the Great Beyond, it will be for services we have rendered to others.

For a very long period of time the state of Ohio led the nation in the production of Roman Beauty apples. This was, for the most part, due to the untiring efforts of Johnny Appleseed.

This strange character roamed over hills and valleys of Ohio, planting appleseeds as he went. He had two extra large pockets which he filled with seed as a gift from the cider mills. As he tramped about over the countryside, he would press apple seeds into the moist soil with his thumb. He always carried a large roll of evergreens under his arm, part of which he used to pay for his lodging for the night. He would not, under any circumstances, sleep inside a house. It might be said that his motto was, "Don't fence me in." He always slept in the yard and did all of his cooking and baking in a single cooking utensil. After he had partaken of his morning meal, he would wipe the kettle clean, and place it on his head for a cap. The handle stuck out in front and served as a bill for this odd looking headpiece.

After spending the night in the farmer's yard and before he took his leave, he would give the lady of the house an evergreen. Even today, as you drive through the state of Ohio, you can still see clusters of evergreens clustered about ancient farm houses and if you love trees as I do, you will say, "Thank God for Johnny Appleseed."

As far as the mythical, legendary Paul Bunyon is concerned, you can write your own ticket. Some say he was domiciled in Canada; others will tell you that this mythical giant was an inhabitant of the American North Woods. There was no physical feat too great for him to perform. Compared with Paul Bunyon, Hercules was a mere weakling.

One account of Paul Bunyon says he ruled American life. In the period between the winter of the blue snow till the spring, the rain came up from China.

His Ox, Blue Babe, was even more fantastic than his master. He was 42 ax handles and a plug of chewing tobacco between his horns. There was no load too heavy for him to pull. On one occasion his feet sank so deep in the mud that after they were withdrawn, water collected in his tracks and formed the Great Lakes.

One of America's unsung heroes, legendary or otherwise, was a black man named George Washington Carver. Born in abject poverty, without even a name, by hard work and strong determination he rose to become one of the greatest scientists of our time. Ford, Edison and Firestone thought of him as the greatest. He sounded the death knell for one-crop agriculture in the South.

I listened intently as he told this story: "I liked to take long walks through the woods before the first peep of dawn. This gave me time to think and commune with my Creator, alone. On one such walk I said, 'Mister Creator, why did you make this universe?'"

"The Creator replied, 'Little man, this question is too big for your little brain to handle.'"

"Then I asked, Mr. Creator, why did you make man?"

"The Creator replied, 'Little man, this is still too big for your little mind to grasp.'"

"As the first gleam of light penetrated the forest, I turned in final desperation and said, 'Lord, why did you make a peanut?'"

"And the Lord said, 'Now you're talking. You can handle a peanut all right.'"

Dr. Carver took a supply of peanuts with him and locked himself in his laboratory. He began to take the peanut apart. He broke it down into all its components and made a chemical analysis of each. When he finished his work of 36 hours of continuous toil, he knew all there was to know about the peanut. He gave the world peanut butter and some 300 products made or extracted from this simple little nut. The South was given a new lease on life.

It can truly be said of George Washington Carver that he did more for the South than all the politicians, Congressmen and Senators put together.

IN APPRECIATION

We, the family of Johnnie Moore, take this opportunity to thank all our friends and relatives who through their thoughtfulness helped us upon the passing of our beloved husband and father. We especially thank Dr. Hall and the nursing staff of the McDowell Hospital for everything they did; also, the ministers, Ted Shannon and Lori Vannucci, for their words of encouragement and comfort, and the Drift Pentecostal Singers for their solace in song. We also want to express deepest appreciation to the Hall Bros. Funeral Home for its kind and generous help in our loss.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF KENTUCKY HAS SCHEDULED A PUBLIC HEARING FOR 1:30 P.M., MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1978, AT ITS OFFICE AT 730 SCHENKEL LANE, FRANKFORT, KENTUCKY, ON THE IMPLEMENTATION BY KENTUCKY POWER COMPANY OF THE COMMISSION'S MANDATED STANDARD FUEL ADJUSTMENT CLAUSE, WHICH WILL REQUIRE THE COMPANY TO REVISE ITS BASE RATES. THIS STANDARD FUEL ADJUSTMENT CLAUSE AND THE REVISED BASE RATES ARE AS FOLLOWS:

FUEL ADJUSTMENT CLAUSE

Applicable.

To Tariffs R.S., G.S., L.P., C.P.O., L.C.P., H.T.P., T.P., M.W., E.H.S., E.H.G., S.S. AND C.P.

Rate.

This rate shall provide for periodic adjustment per kilowatt-hour when the unit cost of fuel (F (m) - S (m)) used to meet the Company's Net Energy requirement (S (m)) is above or below the base unit cost of 1.200 cents per kilowatt-hour (F (b) - S (b)). The charges provided for in the net monthly rate shall be increased or decreased respectively by the product of the kilowatt-hours furnished during the month and a Fuel Adjustment Clause Factor (A), where "A", calculated to the nearest .001 cent per kilowatt-hour, is as defined below:

Adjustment Factor (A)  $\frac{F(m) - S(m)}{S(m)}$   $\frac{F(b) - S(b)}{S(b)}$

In the above formula, "F" is the expense of fossil fuel in the base (b) and current (m) periods; and "S" is the KWH sales in the base (b) and current (m) periods, all as defined below.

2. Fuel Costs (F) shall be the most recent actual monthly cost, based on weighted average inventory costing, of:

a. Fossil fuel consumed in Kentucky Power Company's generating plants and the Company's share of fossil and nuclear fuel consumed in jointly owned or leased plants, plus the cost of fuel which would have been used in plants suffering forced generation or transmission outages, but less the cost of fuel to substitute generation, plus

b. The actual identifiable fossil and nuclear fuel costs associated with energy purchased for reasons other than identified in paragraph (c) below, but excluding the cost of fuel related to purchases to substitute the forced outages, plus

c. The net energy cost of energy purchases, exclusive of capacity or demand charges (irrespective of the designation to such transaction) when such energy is purchased on an economic dispatch basis. Included therein may be such costs as the charges for economy energy purchases and the charges as a result of schedule outage, all such kinds of energy being purchases by the Company to substitute for its own higher cost energy, less

d. The cost of fossil fuel recovered through inter-system sales including the fuel costs related to economy energy sales and other energy sold on an economic dispatch basis.

3. The cost of fossil fuel shall include no items other than the invoice price of fuel less any cash or other discounts. The invoice price of fuel includes the cost of the fuel itself and necessary charges for transportation of the fuel from the point of acquisition to the unloading point, as listed in Account 151 of FERC Uniform System of Accounts for Public Utilities and Licenses.

4. Forced outages are all nonscheduled losses of generation or transmission which require substitute power for a continuous period of six (6) hours. Where forced outages are not as a result of faulty equipment, faulty manufacture, faulty design, faulty installations, faulty operation, faulty maintenance, but are Acts of God, riot, insurrection or acts of the public enemy, then the Company may, upon proper showing, with the approval of Public Service Commission, include the fuel cost of substitute energy in the adjustment.

5. Sales (S) shall be all kilowatt-hours sold, excluding inter-system sales. Where, for any reason, billed system sales cannot be coordinated with fuel costs for the billing period, sales may be equated to the sum of (i) generation, (ii) purchases, (iii) interchange-in, less (iv) energy associated with pumped storage operations, less (v) system sales referred to in section (2) (d) above, less (vi) total system losses. Company used energy shall not be excluded in the determination of sales (S).

6. Sales (S) shall be modified to reflect line losses on the Company's delivery of energy to Kentucky Jurisdictional Customers.

Q I am not a smoker. However, many of my friends do smoke in my company. Is the smoke which they are generating hazardous to my health?

A Scientific data linking ill health to breathing sidestream and exhaled smoke are not as positive as that for smoking itself. However, many substances, including nicotine and carbon monoxide, are found in much higher concentrations in sidestream smoke, and concern has arisen over the levels of carbon monoxide in smoke-filled atmosphere. This type of involuntary smoking appears to be potentially hazardous. Discomforts reported among non-smokers include eye irritation, headaches, nasal and throat irritation, and serious allergic-like reactions. Individuals suffering from chronic cardiovascular and pulmonary diseases, such as chronic bronchitis and emphysema, are highly vulnerable in involuntary smoking situations.

Q I have had the lymph nodes in my armpit removed. My doctor says that my arm will now be more susceptible to infection. How can I best protect myself?

A Lymph nodes filter bacteria and since the nodes in your armpit have been removed, your operated arm is more likely to become a little swollen and more susceptible to infection. Intact skin is the greatest barrier against infection. There are simple ways to prevent a break in the skin and these do's and don'ts of arm care should be followed:

- DO
1. Have injections and intravenous fluids given in the unoperated arm.
  2. Have blood pressures taken in the unoperated arm.
  3. Wear canvas gloves when gardening.
  4. Use rubber gloves when using harsh detergents or steel wool.
  5. Wear a thimble when sewing.
  6. Use hand cream frequently to prevent chapped hands.
  7. Use only an electric razor for underarm shaving.
  8. Wear a long padded barbecue mitt on your operated arm when reaching into an oven.

- DON'TS
1. Go into heavily mosquitoed areas unless you use insect repellent on the operated arm.
  2. Overexpose yourself to the sun.
  3. Use cuticle scissors or cut your fingernails. Instead use cuticle cream or a nail file.
  4. Wear tight fitting jewelry or constricting sleeves.
  5. Use deodorant until all stitches have been removed and the wound is completely healed.

If you burn your operated arm, apply ice and expose to air. If a blister forms and breaks, wash well with soap and water, apply an antiseptic (e.g., iodine) and a Band-Aid.

If you cut your operated arm, wash the area with soap and water, apply an antiseptic and a Band-Aid.

If you notice increased swelling, redness, or experience pain in your arm, call your doctor.

Bank Resources
At $8.3 Billion

Banking Commissioner John L. Williams, Jr. last week announced that total resources of Kentucky's 265 state-chartered banks reached a new all-time high of $8.3 billion last fiscal year.

"This reflects an increase of $940,671,000—up 12.7 percent from June 30, 1977. This is the largest increase ever shown in the history of the Kentucky Department of Banking," Williams said.

The information is contained in the consolidated report of condition of state-chartered banking institutions as of June 30, 1978.

The report shows total banking resources at $8,371,752,000. Increases of $810,846,000 in deposits and $81,641,000 in capital accounts were principal factors in contributing to the growth and provided funds for increases of $753,831,000 in loans and $170,300,000 in investments, Williams said.

Total resources of state-chartered commercial banks are distributed as follows: loans and discounts, 56.7 percent; securities investments, 30.8 percent; cash and due from banks, 9.5 percent, and all other resources, 3 percent. The ratio of total capital accounts to total deposits is 10 percent. The loans to deposit ratio is 65.3 percent. The total capital accounts to total resources ratio is 8.7 percent.

Total resources of Kentucky's 126 state-chartered credit unions reached a new all-time high of $169,281,000 reflecting an increase of $22,187,000 up 15.1 percent from June 30, 1977. During this period loans increased $22,077,000 and share deposits increased $19,138,000. Earnings were $1,864,000.

The British are coming

So are the Germans, Australians, Brazilians, Japanese, Irish, Canadians and more.

They're all coming to the new Kentucky Horse Park, in Lexington, to compete in the 1978 World 3-Day Championships, the ultimate test for horse and rider. This is the first time the World Championships, which are held every four years, have been held in the United States.

What is 3-Day Eventing?

Three-Day Eventing is to equestrian sports what the decathlon is to track—a combination of different competitions which test all-round athletic ability.

The first test is Dressage. Horse and rider perform an intricate series of movements in the arena. Tests are scored on each movement and on the overall impressions much like figure skating competitions.

The second test is the exciting one—the Endurance test. Horse and rider gallop over natural terrain, negotiating a variety of substantial obstacles which the horse is seeing for the first time. Banks, ditches, water, drops, and combinations of fences—all must be dealt with.

The final test is Stadium Jumping over fences in an arena and is designed to prove that the horse has retained sufficient stamina and fitness to continue after the Cross-Country phase.

General Admission Tickets

General admission tickets for each day of the World Championships will be available at the Gate, and are available now at:

Tickets are also available at Kentucky's Resort State Parks.

The Cross-Country phase on Saturday is the heart of the competition. The Cross-Country course is 4½ miles long with 33 jumps and obstacles well spaced, providing plenty of room for everyone to enjoy. It's a great and exciting day in the country for the entire family.

The "Paddock Potpourri", an international trade fair of 125 shops, will be open each day of the competition with unusual foods and things to buy and see. Plan some time to stop in and browse.

The World 3-Day Championships is a great time to visit the new Kentucky Horse Park—a unique new theme park dedicated to man's love of horses, opening September 7.

One Year Old

Erica, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Bays, had her first birthday celebration Monday, Aug. 28, at the home of her parents on the Abbott road.

Lewis New Manager Of Mack Facility

Jack D. Lewis of Princeton, W. Va., a 16-year veteran of Mack trucks, has been named General Manager at Mountaineer Mack Sales & Service, Inc., at Lowmansville, Ky.

Mr. Lewis previously was Off-Highway Sales Manager at Mountaineer Mack Sales & Service in Huntington, W. Va., handling that position since July of this year.

Mr. Lewis began his career with Mack trucks in 1961 as design group supervisor, transmission and carrier engineering department. In 1966, he became manager of the Government Sales Division and served in that position until 1974 when he took over as manager of Off-Highway Operations.

He and his wife Nancy have four children. He is a board member and stockholder with J.B. Industries, vehicle suspension system of Louisville, Ky., and is a member of the W. Va. Surface Mining Legislative Committee.

"We were looking for a man who had the experience, and is service-oriented and, in particular, a man who cared about his people and the customers," GM Carlos Branham said, "and Jack fits the bill easily."

Branham added that Lewis was a unanimous choice among his people, and had been doing a tremendous job as Off-Highway Sales Manager prior to the promotion.

The Lowmansville, Ky., operation observed its grand opening celebration Saturday, Aug. 26th. It is located just a few miles north of Paintsville, Ky., on U.S. Rt. 23.

"Foremost in our minds at Mountaineer Mack is the back up early Mack truck we sell with good services, good parts availability and, mostly, good rapport with our customers," Lewis said. "Lowmansville is easily accessible and allows our customers in the Kentucky and southern West Virginia area a chance to get quicker and better service."

"Of course, our operation will be closely tied in with the Huntington Mountaineer Mack, and any service and/or part we have at either location will be available for all our customers. And we have an ample stock of new and used trucks as well as parts."

Stray Dogs, Litter and Trash...

By GEORGE L. MOORE

In casting about for a title for this article, the first thing that came to mind was the title of one of Tom T. Hall's biggest songs: "Old Dogs, Children, and Watermelon Wine". I would like to paraphrase the title to read, "Stray Dogs, Litter, and Trash of Any Kind."

It has not been but a few years ago that most trash littering the highways was empty beer cans and whiskey bottles. Today that, like time, has changed. We still have our beer cans and whiskey bottles, but that isn't the main problem any more.

As you travel down through the mountain counties of Eastern Kentucky, you will still find unsightly open piles of garbage and garbage dumps that detract from the natural beauty of our mountains. This is especially true of our black-topped roads, but if the law enforcement becomes too strict, the litterers simply move a short distance to the graveled roads in the more remote areas. The results are the same in both instances—polluted water, polluted air and a great but undesirable contribution to the ugliness of the countryside.

Dumping trash along the roadside has many implications. In the first place, I'm sure many of the dumpers don't realize the trouble and inconvenience they are causing many people, and, unfortunately, they don't appear to be too concerned with inconvenience to others. For example, some people tie the trash in neat bags and truck them to a remote spot and set them on fire. In many instances, this pile of trash is under a telephone line. The heat will melt the insulation, and the first rain on the exposed cable will cause many people to be without telephone service for days at a time; also the trouble doesn't disappear when repairs are made. Sometimes one can hear a caller and other times the voice is so scrambled that no one can understand.

This problem could be solved by strict enforcement of the existing laws, or perhaps a better solution would be to have a countywide garbage collection with each customer paying a monthly fee.

To me, the most pathetic sight that I see is the dogs released on the highway to starve to death. I cannot think of anything more cruel or inhumane. Certainly these people have no compassion for any of God's creatures. These stray dogs are usually released on a side road leading to someone's house, hoping the man of the house will have compassion on the starving creatures.

The kind and most humane thing to do would be to shoot the animal and put it out of its misery; however, many people who will shoot other animals would not shoot a dog. Yours truly is in that category. It would appear to me that the solution to this problem would be to enact

ELECTS TACKETT

Washington, D.C. — Barry L. Tackett, of Betsy Layne, Ky., has been elected to membership in the American Society of Notaries, a nonprofit organization of persons who hold the office of notary public.

Mr. Tackett is assistant manager of the First National Bank's Betsy Layne branch bank.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Archie Burruss wishes to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors for the food, flowers, help and kindness shown to us during the passing of our beloved husband and father. We are grateful for the comforting words from the ministers, Bert Howard and Mitchell Chaffins, a special thanks to Floyd Funeral Home for its kindness and understanding during our sorrow. May God bless all of you.

We have been authorized to sell at absolute auction sale the property owned by Willis R. Hall located on Honey Camp Branch of Jacks Creek, Bevinville, Ky. in Floyd County. This property is in the heart of Eastern Kentucky coal fields. Property located on highway No. 1498 within 30 minutes drive of 5 of the largest coal mines in eastern Kentucky. Near churches, and schools, grocery stores and in a good neighborhood. Some of the better homes in Floyd County are located near by on Jacks Creek. This property is suitable for homes or mobile homes.

Be there. Bid and buy, as this is a big absolute auction sale. Terms will be announced at time of sale.

OUTDOOR LORE

by Nevyle Shackelford
UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Ripening right now in the swamps, along roadside ditch-lines, and in other moist places is a fabulous blue-black berry wonderful for making wines, jellies, preserves, muffins and flapjacks.

The shrub upon which these berries hang is equally fabulous. From its stems, leaves, bark and seed—along with healing salves and other herbal medicines, and cosmetics to make women prettier—have come fly repellants, whistles, pogguns, maple sap spiles, fire blowers few hours in water made a good mouthwash that "taketh away inflammations of the mouth and throat."

The name, elder, is believed to have originated from an old Anglo-Saxon word, "æld," meaning fire. In long ago days in England, bushy, unkempt whiskers were the rule. The story is that long stems of the elder with the pith removed were used as safety measures when blowing refractory fires to blazing life. Without the depithed stems, no doubt many a whisker would have caught fire, or at least been severely singed.

The hollow stems of the elder, with green calamus roots for ammunition made wonderful pogguns, capable of "burning a blister" on the backside of some unsuspecting victim. Very effective squirt or water guns were also made from the hollow stems. Actually many were the uses made from the stems and branches of this small, but extremely versatile shrub.

Something else about the berries of this shrub. Nutritionists have analyzed these berries and found them to be high in Vitamins C and A and several important minerals. Actually jams and jellies made from elderberries are much better when the berries are combined with lemon or some other juice more tart in taste and nature. Jams and jellies made from elderberries alone are a bit too bland for most taste buds. In making fritters and muffins, however, elderberries alone are sufficient.

and charms to bring good luck and to protect persons and households from the machinations of witches and warlocks.

And what is this marvelous shrub? It is "Sambucus," the Elder.

According to the famous "Herball" of Old Dr. John Gerard, the elder was regarded in 16th century England as a medical marvel. Its seed was used for "Dropsie" and by "such as (were) too fat and would faine be better." Gerard wrote that the green leaves fried in beef tallow made a salve good for "hot swellings and tumors," and to "assuage the pain of gout." He continued that a tea made by steeping the leaves for a

State Willing To Let Land Remain Level

As far as state environmental protection officials are concerned, Kentuckians can have their land left level after strip mining if the land is put to as good or better use than it was before the mining.

Natural Resources Secretary Eugene Mooney told the state's Environmental Quality Commissioner last Thursday that the state's interpretation of the federal requirement that strip-mined land be returned to its approximate original contour may differ from that of the U.S. Office of Surface Mining.

He said that, although the requirement runs throughout federal and state statutes, there are three instances in which the principle is breached. The first two are the mountaintop removal method of strip mining and approved experimental uses of the land.

"And we believe there's another situation in which it need not be observed completely," Mooney told the citizens panel at a public meeting. "It appears that if the highwall is covered, there is no need to return to approximate original contour."

The Natural Resources Department has been deluged with letters from Eastern Kentucky landowners protesting the requirement for return to original contour.

They contend that they should be allowed to do what they want with their land, including leaving it flat after strip mining because of a shortage of level land in the region.

But even as commission members nodded their approval of his statement, Mooney added, "Before everyone gets too excited, that's our interpretation of our statute—I don't know how they (the U.S. Office of Surface Mining) interprets theirs."

Mooney said later that the requirement has been challenged in federal district court in Kentucky, and that suit should resolve differences in interpretation.

Mooney's comments came during a lengthy discussion of proposed state strip-mine regulations designed to bring Kentucky in line with interim federal standards.

The proposed state regulations will be submitted to a legislative review committee for final action Aug. 23.

The proposed regulations are a modification of emergency regulations in effect since May 3, allowing the state to enforce the 1977 federal strip-mine act.

During a discussion of blasting requirements, Mark Morgan, an attorney for the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, told Mooney that the department should require operators to advise residents of areas where blasting is proposed so they can obtain a preblasting survey to help assess damage afterward.

Mooney said the department had rejected the idea because it did not want to get involved in damage suits arising from blasting and because it was unenforceable.

Pesticides Alternatives Described in Pamphlet

Insect pests cause a heap of trouble—destroying crops and carrying disease. But the chemical poisons used to kill them can be just as harmful—to the air, the water, and to people.

There is a safer, more natural way to control insects, according to a new publication from the National Wildlife Federation. "Fighting Pests With Pests"—available free for the first copy and 20 cents for each additional copy—is designed to show children why more and more farmers in the United States are using the natural enemies of pests, instead of harmful chemicals, to help protect their crops.

This new method is called "pest management" and relies on the "three P's"—insect predators, parasites, and pathogens. "Someday, pest management may make most poisons unnecessary," the eight-page illustrated pamphlet suggests.

Included in the National Wildlife publication is a chart that lists 34 common insects pests and natural ways to control them. For example, chinch bugs can be kept away from corn by planting soybeans nearby as a "trap plant."

To order copies of "Fighting Pests With Pests" write the National Wildlife Federation, Dept. PW, 1412 16th Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Jury Convicts Lawrence Officials

Lawrence County Sheriff Charlie Vinson and Magistrate Arlie B. Thompson were convicted last Tuesday by a federal court jury of three counts each of conspiracy and extorting money from an Ohio coal firm.
The nine-woman, three-man panel deliberated an hour and 45 minutes before returning the guilty verdicts. U.S. District Court Judge H. David Hermansdorfer continued bond for the men and scheduled sentencing for Sept. 18.
Vinson and Thompson face up to 20 years in prison and fines of up to $10,000. Seventeen witnesses testified Tuesday at the trial, which opened a week ago.
Vinson and Thompson were charged with extorting money from Riverside Coal Co., Proctorville, Ohio, in exchange for untroubled passage through Lawrence county. The sheriff's department allegedly did not challenge the coal company's trucks for being overweight and other violations.
Testifying for almost four hours, Vinson denied any part in the alleged scheme. The sheriff insisted that James Williamson, of Riverside, attempted to bribe him and that his only dealings with the Ohio firm were for sales of large stockpiles of coal he owned.
Williamson denied testimony that he had talked to Vinson about buying the coal, dredged from the Tug fork of the Big Sandy River in April. Williamson also denied telling Vinson that he attempted to bribe the sheriff.

Computer Foul-Up Benefits Fire Dept.

A computer mix up has worked to the advantage of the Wheelwright volunteer department.
As a result of the foul-up, the F-600 chassis of the town's new fire truck was not built before a changeover date for models at the Ford Motor Company truck plant in Kentucky. Because the 1979 F-600 chassis now has a 370 cubic inch engine, which is unacceptable for front mount pump usage, Ford decided to offer the fire department a 1979 F-700 chassis instead of the F-600, with a 429 cu. in. engine instead of one of 391 cubic inches; five-speed and a 18,500-pound rear axle instead of one for 17,500 pounds.
And all without extra charge, the company wrote Everett Hall, president of the volunteer fire department.
The new equipment was ordered to provide services to small communities outside the Wheelwright city limits, Mr. Hall said.

Mountain Parkway Receipts Second in Total Income

Revenue from Kentucky's nine toll roads increased six percent last fiscal year, and five parkways generated more income than predicted, according to a state Department of Transportation year-end report.

The department's division of toll facilities reported that in fiscal year 1977-78 the Bluegrass, Audubon, Daniel Boone, Green River and Cumberland parkways exceeded previous revenue estimates contained in transportation planning studies, and the Mountain Parkway and the Pennyrile Parkway are faring almost as well as studies predicted, according to toll facilities director Charles Brown.

The Mountain Parkway, with receipts of $3,017,299, was second only to the Western Parkway in total income for the year.

Revenue collected on toll roads and bridges totaled $18.2 million last year, about $2.3 million less than the original statewide estimates, said Brown.

The poorer-than-expected performance of the Western Kentucky Parkway explains much of the difference between anticipated and actual revenue, said Brown. The parkway was over $2 million short of its projected earnings last year, but traffic is expected to pick up in the fall of 1979 when Interstate 24 is scheduled to be finished.

The interstate will link the Western Kentucky and Purchase parkways and is expected to generate more traffic in the region, Brown said.

Another factor which cut toll revenues last year was the harsh winter weather, which reduced traffic by about one-third during January and part of February, according to division estimates.

Actual and estimated revenues for Kentucky toll facilities, July 1, 1977 to June 30, 1978, follow:

	Revenue	Estimated Revenue
Shawneetown Bridge	$ 365,048	$ 497,000
Bluegrass Parkway	2,074,073	1,824,000
Mountain Parkway	3,017,299	3,486,000
Western Ky Parkway	3,668,901	5,880,000
Pennyrile Parkway	2,702,783	3,065,000
Jackson Purchase Parkway	745,929	1,240,000
Audubon Parkway	717,821	708,000
Daniel Boone Parkway	1,538,456	1,176,000
Green River Parkway	2,103,813	1,518,000
Cumberland Parkway	1,349,412	1,172,000

Area Musicians Prepare For Our Appalachia Day

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Amateur musicians and musical groups throughout Eastern Kentucky are preparing for Alice Lloyd College's seventh annual Our Appalachia Day scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 16.

Our Appalachia Day begins at 10 a.m. when musicians take the stage on the college meadow and an arts and crafts display opens. At 4:30 p.m. the college will provide a traditional soup bean supper. All activities are free and open to the public.

New this year will be a baking contest. Entries will be judged in seven divisions including cobblers, pies, cakes, old fashioned cakes, cookies, candies and breads. Entries should be in the hands of the judges by 2 p.m. on Our Appalachia Day. All entries will be served as part of the supper provided by the college.

Folk dancing begins at 6:30 p.m. following supper and continues through 8:00 p.m. For more information, or to register for the arts and crafts display, or to perform during Our Appalachia Day, contact Ron Daley, coordinator of Our Appalachia Day.

How Coleman keeps your building from costing too much and taking too long:

Putting up a new building too often means paying more than you expected and taking longer than you thought.

The most frequent reason? No one person is clearly in control. That can cause a basic communication breakdown among all parties involved, resulting in confusion, cost overruns and missed deadlines.

But we offer you a team of construction professionals capable of controlling your entire project...concept to completion.

We can handle all the details—planning, rights-of-way, permits, construction, even landscaping. We'll make sure you get your building on-time and on-budget. And we'll do it using construction methods and building systems that can cut up to 40% off some conventional building timetables.

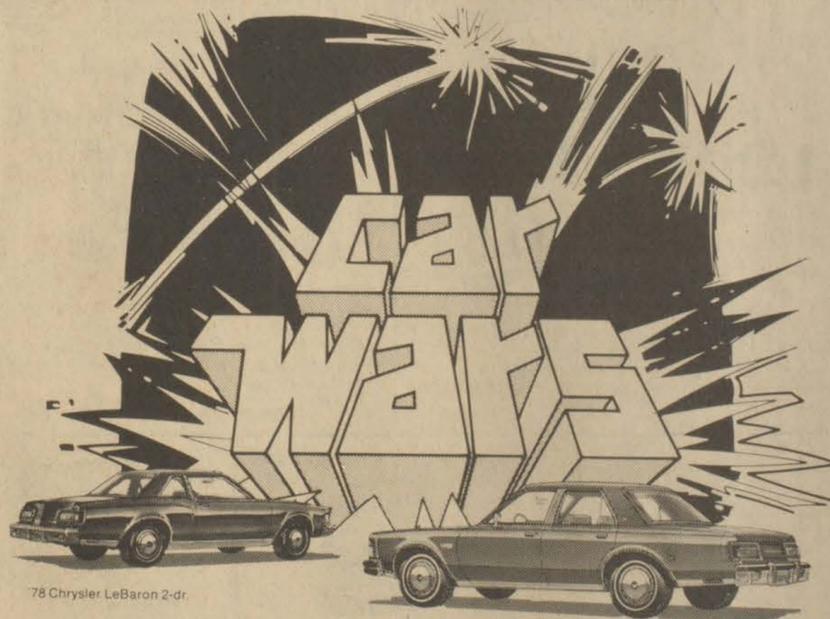

So if your next building has time and budget limitations, call us. We'll give you both the building and the control you need.

By JOHN WILSON

Farm pond owners—your time is running out!

The deadline date is getting closer and closer for 1978-79 farm pond stocking applications, which must be received in the Frankfort office of the department of fish and wildlife by October 1.

Those who miss the deadline will have to wait another year—until next October—for bluegill and channel catfish and until the following spring for largemouth bass.

This once-a-year deadline is necessary, according to Assistant Fisheries Director Pete Pfeiffer, because forage fish (the bluegill) should be stocked first, in order to give the bass something to feed upon. But the fish themselves don't cooperate.

Bass spawn first, usually in April, but bluegill spawn later in the summer. To stock both bass and bluegill in the spring, it is necessary to hold the bluegill over the winter and through the bass spawning period the following spring, taking up valuable hatchery space which could be used for other purposes.

So the bluegill are stocked in October, along with the catfish (another summer spawner) and the bass are delivered the following spring. Since no bluegill are available in April when the bass are stocked, and since the bass need bluegill for food, only those ponds which have been stocked with bluegill in the fall can receive bass the following spring.

But so much for the biology lesson and now down to the immediate details: If you have a pond you want stocked, contact your county fish and wildlife conservation officer. He must inspect the pond and make recommendations about the number of fish needed and any pre-stocking treatments the pond might require.

Only ponds without existing fish populations can be stocked—either new ponds or those in which the existing fish have been eradicated. This is necessary because stocking fry or fingerlings into a pond with larger fish only accomplishes one thing—it feeds the larger fish for a few days.

If you have a pond that's been stocked in the past but which offers poor fishing, the CO might recommend that you eliminate the fish in the pond and start over. This is often the easiest and fastest way to improve fishing in a pond that's producing poorly.

The CO can give you advice on this or on other pond management techniques when he inspects your pond. There is still time, if you act now, to renovate an old pond before the stocking deadline for this year.

Pond owners who receive fish from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources are under no obligation to open their ponds to the public and they may place creel or size restrictions more limiting than statewide regulations on their ponds.

Pond owners who have requested fish will be notified when and where to pick up their fish, which are packed in plastic lined boxes containing stocking instructions. No further action on the pond owner's part is necessary for him to receive bass the following spring, when he will again be notified of delivery dates.

So if you've been putting off getting that pond stocked, start tracking down your county conservation officer. If you don't know his name, a call to the county court clerk's office should provide you with that information or contact the Division of Law Enforcement, Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, 592 East Main, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, phone 502-564-4336.

Floyd Boys Dominate State Fair Contests

Poultry judging teams coached by Extension Agent Jack Friar again this year dominated the competition at the Kentucky State Fair.

Three of the four Kentucky members of the poultry-judging team that will compete in the national contest at Chicago are from Floyd county as a result of the records which they established at the Fair. They are:

Jeff Wicker, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Wicker, of Eastern, who scored 950 of a possible 1000 points and led all contestants in the senior division at the State Fair; Jackie Cecil, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hillard Cecil, Jr., of Stanville, with 926 points to rank third on the four-member team, and Larry Parsons, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Parsons, of Mud Creek, fourth with 924 points. The other member of the championship team is Patty Edwards, of Lawrence county, who won second place.

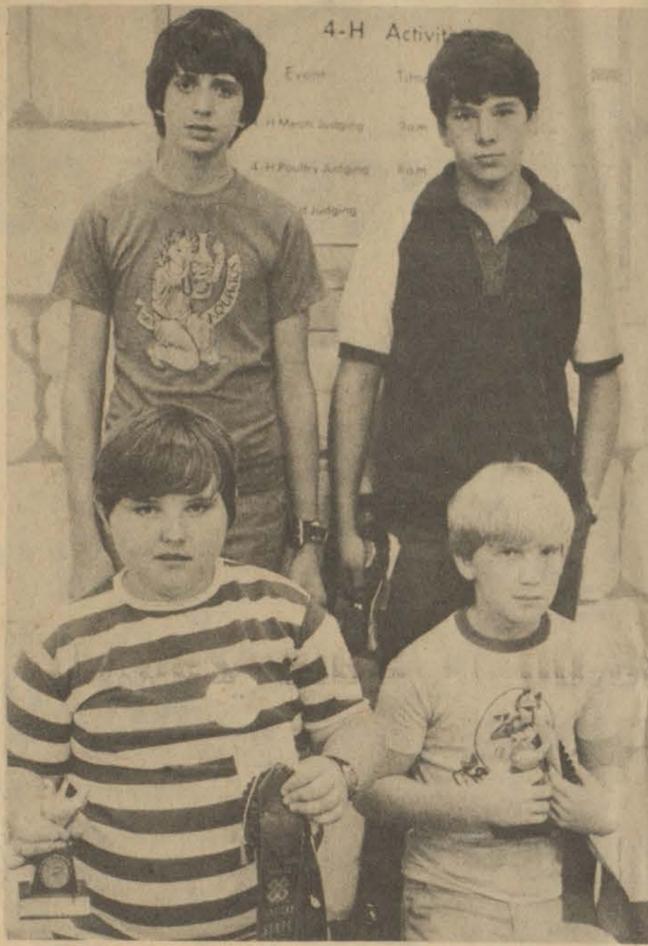

Other senior division contestants from this county and their scoring follow: Mark Westfall, Ivel, 906; Teddy Meadows, Langley, 885; Melvin May, Langley, 867.

In the junior division judging 14-year-old Todd O'Brien, last year's junior state champion, successfully defended his title, leading all scorers with 850 of a possible 1000 points. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob O'Brien, of Stanville. All four of the top scorers in this division are Floyd county boys. Others are:

Barry Parsons, 11, of Mud Creek and a brother of a senior winner, Larry Parsons, 831 points; Terry Boyd, 12, Langley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyd, of Langley, 824; Dwayne Fraley, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fraley, of Eastern, 824.

Other junior division contestants from this county and their scores:

Phillip Bush, Harold, 815; Rondall Martin, Langley, 801; Rodney Martin, Garrett, 763.

New Black Lung Regulations

New federal regulations governing the Department of Labor's administration of the Black Lung Benefits Program have been announced by Donald Elisburg, assistant secretary of labor for employment standards.

The regulations, published in the Federal Register August 18 and effective that date, establish procedures and standards to be applied in the processing, adjudication and payment of pending and previously denied claims for black lung benefits under Title IV of the Federal Mine Safety and Health Act, as amended. That legislation was amended by the Black Lung Benefits Reform Act of 1977, signed by the President on March 1, 1978.

The new law requires that less stringent standards be applied in the review of pending and denied claims, as well as in the consideration of new claims. The definitions of "coal miner" and "pneumoconiosis" (black lung disease) have been liberalized, expanding eligibility to more claimants. The new regulations will be instrumental in implementing the required review of more than 120,000 pending or denied claims filed with the Department of Labor since 1973, according to Elisburg.

"These new standards and procedures will allow more victims of black lung disease and their survivors to receive benefits," Elisburg said. Claims received before mid-1973 are handled by the Social Security Administration. Subsequent claims are handled by the Department of Labor. Under the new law, valid claims will be paid by the coal industry either through the newly established trust fund supported by a levy on each ton of coal produced, or by the coal mine operator designated by the Department of Labor as responsible.

The Department of Labor black lung program is administered by the Office of Workers' Compensation Programs in the Employment Standards Administration.
