

Struggle Developing Over Center Control

New Court Acts To Appoint Own Board of Control

At its first meeting last Saturday the new county administration sought to wrest control of the juvenile detention center here, in a move that may initiate a legal wrangle.

The legal problem stems from the fact that the previous fiscal court set up a non-profit corporation—Big Sandy Area Juvenile Detention Center, Inc.—about four months ago to oversee operation of the center, appointing as directors of the corporation former Judge-Executive Bill Wells, Jr., Teresa Fitzpatrick and Frank Arnett.

The three were appointed to four-year terms, making their appointments almost concurrent with the terms of the present fiscal court, which will put up some $36,000 annually to operate the detention center.

In a press release issued this week, Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty, Jr. said he and the fiscal court magistrates were "dismayed" to learn that the detention center "is not under the control of the people's elected officials but is controlled by three private citizens acting as directors for a non-profit corporation."

"Such a situation," Lafferty said, "is not in the best interest of our taxpayers or the juvenile."

The court moved to replace the ex-

Newsome Ends Plea Holdout, Gains Freedom

John Henry Newsome ended his long holdout Tuesday on the issue of pleading guilty to the slaying here of Gerald McBrayer, and is a free man.

He pleaded guilty to a manslaughter charge and accepted a 15-year pen term, but, since he already had served five years in prison at the time his earlier conviction was reversed, he was eligible for parole.

Reversal of the trial of the case was made by the state Supreme Court on the grounds that the court did not include in instructions to the trial jury the alternate offenses of second degree manslaughter or reckless homicide.

His two daughters were implicated in the slaying at the first trial and were committed briefly to juvenile detention. The case against Newsome materially weakened and members of the victim's family reported to be reluctant to go through another trial, the Commonwealth offered the accused man credit for time already spent in prison and commutation of the remainder of his sentence.

But Newsome maintained he did not kill McBrayer and until this week refused to plead guilty. A second trial had been tentatively scheduled to begin Friday.

The murder trial of Otis Lee Wallen, charged with the slaying of Paul Mullins, is scheduled to begin Thursday of next week. Johnny Estep entered a guilty plea to third degree burglary charge Tuesday and was sentenced to a three-year pen term.

Accused Slayer of 5 Asks Change of Venue

Scheduled for hearing in circuit court here Friday by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley is the motion of counsel for William Okie Bevins, accused slayer of five men at Allen last October, for a change of venue.

The motion, filed last week by Lester Burns, attorney for Bevins, seeks to move the trial not only from this county but also from adjoining counties.

Bevins remains a prisoner in the Laurel county jail at London where he was taken, shortly after the slayings. He is charged with five capital murder offenses in the slayings of Roger Click, Rufus Hamilton, Jarvey Hamilton, Michael Halbert and Roger Hatfield. Three first degree assault indictments were also lodged against him in the shooting and wounding of Dale Wright, Ronnie Bryant and Anderson Newsome, all of whom have recovered from their wounds.

Cited in the motion for change of venue were reasons the defendant feels he cannot have a fair and impartial trial in Floyd or adjoining counties.

This Town...That World

Without fear of contradiction, I arise to remark that there are fewer people this week than last who are pining for an old-fashioned winter.

IN DISGUISE

Turning to the brighter side, I report that the birds finally found our feeder popular again when the temperature dropped below zero. But I'm still looking for a chickadee. One astute observer explained that the chickadees were there, all right, but weren't recognizable because the weather was so cold they had their caps pulled down over their ears.

SPEAKING ACQUAINTANCE

THE READER'S DIGEST this month has an article which to some of us is quite interesting. It's "Unforgettable Sam Levenson," by Earl Wilson, the Broadway columnist.

I found it unusually interesting, not only because I recall Levenson as a humorist and television personality, but because I had a speaking acquaintance (by long distance) with him.

Several years ago, I received a telephone call, and the caller announced that he was Sam Levenson, calling from New York. Said he just wanted me to know that somebody had sent him a clipping of my review of his little book and that I had more nearly captured the spirit of the book than any other reviewer had.

Immediately, I smelled a rat. I decided one of my friends was up to his old leg-pulling act. I was doing a bit of hemming and hawing before hauling off and telling him I was up to his tricks and that for all I cared he could go, jump in the lake, go, sit on a tack or do some of those other self-torturing stunts we of my generation so wittily advised.

But then my caller laughed, and I knew that this, indeed, was Sam (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

W'wright Mine Sale Reported In Negotiation

Owners of the Bailey Mining Company, of Weeksbury, are negotiating purchase of Island Creek Coal Company's Wheelwright mine, it was learned here this week.

Bailey Mining was itself bought in January last year by Inspiration Coal Co., of Knoxville, Tenn., a subsidiary of the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., of Toronto, Canada. The Knoxville firm also recently purchased the Sovereign-Pocahontas Coal Co., of Bluefield, W. Va.

Neither Vern Bailey, president of Bailey Mining, nor Inspiration Coal officials were willing this week to confirm the deal, which is expected to be closed on February 5.

According to one report, the purchase price for the mine is $4 million. That figure could not be confirmed, however. The reputed sale is expected to result in an expansion of present operations at the mine.

Prestonsburg accountant Weldon Luginbyhl recently sold his accounting practice here to join Inspiration Coal as vice-president in charge of administration.

SCHOOLS CLOSED this week and buses were parked following a weekend of icy winter weather. However, mechanics at the county garage at Garth found the break in bus scheduling an ideal time to catch up on maintenance and repair work.

And More Reported on Way...

'Deep Freeze' Brings Problems to County

For its first week, January's weather had been remarkable for its mildness and a common topic of conversation hereabouts centered around what an "easy" January it was shaping up to be. All that changed rather abruptly, however, when by Saturday local residents found themselves besieged by some of the most severe winter weather ever recorded.

In Lexington the mercury showed 11 degrees below zero (Fahrenheit), the coldest temperature for January 9 since the 1870's. Throughout Floyd county readings of 5 below were not unusual over the weekend, with some localities reporting even colder temperatures.

To make matters more difficult, a brief but blizzard-like snowfall hit the area Saturday at midday, leaving an inch or more accumulation and making for treacherous road conditions. Flurries fell throughout the day, adding to the slippery conditions.

No serious injury resulting from the weather was reported in this county, although hospital emergency rooms reported a few persons being treated for injuries sustained in falls on icy surfaces.

In Pike county three persons died Sunday when two homes burned. At Hellier, the victims were DeWayne Shell and Baron Davis. George Allen Ratliff, 24, was burned to death in his home at Ventel.

Frozen water and gas lines accounted for much inconvenience over the county, with the most serious utilities outage occurring Monday morning in the Wheelwright-Melvin-Weeksbury section of Left Beaver Creek where a reported 250-300 families woke to find themselves without gas. Mike Little, owner of the Mike Little Gas Company, informed state police and the office of the Floyd County Judge-Executive that the gas line which supplies that area was not functioning due to lack of pressure. Plans were made to evacuate the families to the Osborne Elementary School and two school buses and drivers were dispatched to carry out the task. Fortunately, the problem was resolved shortly after noon and the residents were allowed to remain in their homes.

The frigid weather lasted well into the first of the week, causing school cancellations in Floyd and surrounding counties. By Tuesday afternoon, when a "warm spell" had pushed temperatures up past the 20-degree mark, weather forecasts were calling for yet another winter storm to affect the area that night.

Council Extends Garbage Pickup Rate Hike Study

Members of Prestonsburg city council this week asked for more time to consider an ordinance setting new commercial garbage-collection rates after it became clear that the proposed rate hike would not come anywhere near making the service self-supporting.

The city sanitation department incurred a $50,000 loss last year, and the increased rates are not expected to bring in more than an additional $20,000 annually, it was said.

After the proposed new rates were announced recently, representatives of 20 of the 400 affected businesses appeared at a public hearing to voice their objections to the increase. Rates were subsequently readjusted for the complainants.

Councilman Estill Lee Carter opined that it was unrealistic to expect the sanitation department deficit to be made up by increases in commercial pickup rates alone, hinting that another review of household rates might be required.

The council decided to take up the question of commercial pickup rates at its next meeting.

Martin Man Wounded By Shotgun Blast

Ralph Gene Rowe, 27, of Martin, was wounded by shotgun pellets fired shortly after midnight last Thursday, and Thomas Bartrum, 25, also of Martin, was jailed here by State Police Detective Danny Stumbo as his assailant.

The shooting, which took place in the parking lot at Giovanni's at Martin, followed an argument between the two men, Stumbo said. Rowe who was struck in the side of his face by the shot, was transferred to the UK Medical Center, Lexington, but later was released. Bartrum was released from jail here under $3000 bond.

Auditor Terms Board Comeback 'Amazing'

"Little short of amazing" is the fact that the Floyd school district increased its surplus in fiscal year 1981-'82, an accountant told members of the school board last week. At the same time, the audit report he delivered to the board was sharply critical of bookkeeping practices in some county schools, a number of which ended the year—illegally—in debt.

Don Wallen said the audit of school district books by Linton and Company, a Pikeville accounting firm, confirmed a $382,000 general fund surplus as of July 1, 1981—up $89,000 from the previous end-of-year balance. The increase came at a time when most school district surpluses were being eroded by federal budget cuts, he said.

The surplus—the second since the school district ran "in the red" two years ago—is, nevertheless, only a

P'burg May Be Split Between 25th and 29th

Half of Prestonsburg's voters might fall within one senatorial district and half in another, depending on the final provisions of a bill which is expected to be introduced in the state senate today (Wednesday).

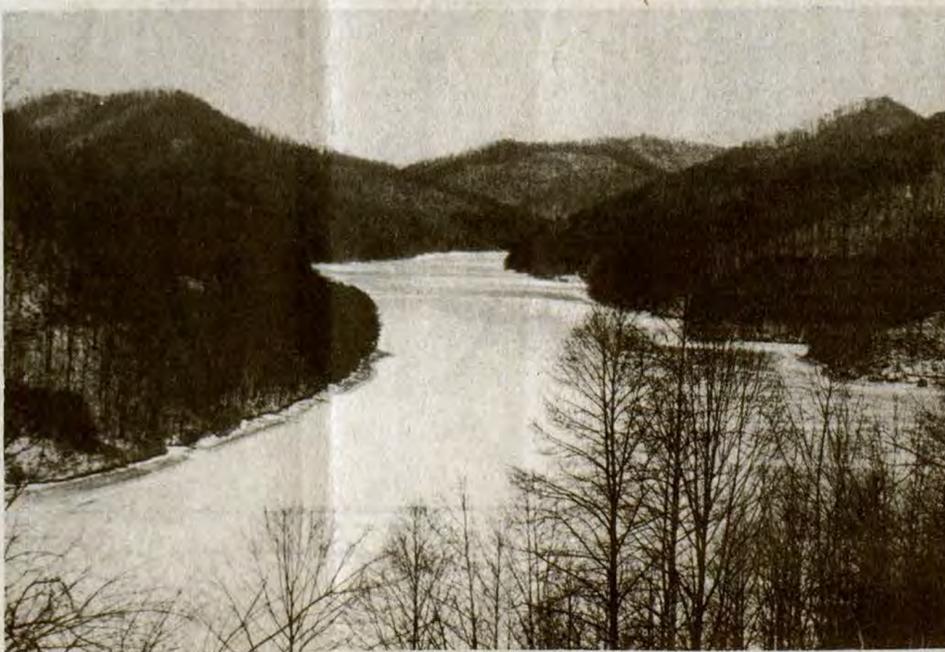

According to one version of the bill, which would redraw senate boundaries to reflect population shifts revealed by the 1980 census, the boundary between the 25th and 29th senatorial districts would slice through the city, splitting the Courthouse, Trimble Branch and Cliff precincts from the 29th district and adding them to the 25th and restoring to the 29th district the Auxier and Abbott Creek precincts, presently part of the 25th.

While the proposed new boundaries appeared to be changing almost daily in the course of political trading last week, one proposal of Sen. Pat McCuiston, D-Pembroke, defines the boundary between the 25th and 29th districts as a roughly U-shaped line beginning at the Johnson-Floyd line, following U.S. 23, Fraley's Branch, KY 1428, Lake Drive, Graham Street, Third Avenue, Westminster Street, Highland Avenue, KY 1428 and KY 3, ending again at the Johnson-Floyd line.

Precincts encompassed by the proposed line would be added to the 25th district represented by Sen. Lowell Hughes, D-Ashland, while precincts outside the line would be represented by Sen. Benny Ray Bailey, D-Hindman.

A number of Floyd officials reacted angrily to the proposal this week. County Court Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson vowing he would file suit if the proposal is adopted. Robinson and Sen. Bailey said they thought the Floyd-fraction of the district's $14 million budget. Financial experts generally recommend that school districts carry a 10 percent surplus against contingencies.

Wallen also reported that a 20-year bonded indebtedness on the Stumbo school at Grethel will be retired in April, and that two other debts incurred in the early 1960's—for construction of the Clark and Osborne grade schools—are nearing retirement.

However, the audit of activity and lunchroom funds in each of the county's five high schools and 13 of its grade schools revealed a number of anomalies. Among them:

—Five schools—three high schools and two grade schools—are running in the red, a violation of state law.

—Six schools operated last year without a proper budget.

—Records at some schools are not being maintained in accordance with the accounting system recommended by the state education department.

—Internal controls over receipts and disbursements at virtually all schools are, according to the accountants, "somewhat weaker than we like to see."

Records at Prestonsburg High School are said by the auditors to be "in a state of complete disarray."

Activity funds at the high school here show a startling end-of-year deficit of $16,247, including a $12,212 deficit in the school's athletic fund. Many of the records needed for a complete audit—including a budget, invoices, and receipt books—are missing. And figures given in the school's financial report are sometimes impossible to verify, say the auditors.

Illegal deficits are also reported at Wheelwright High School (where the activity fund shows a deficit balance of $492, including a $3265 boys' basketball debt), Allen Central High School (where the general fund shows a $2561 deficit, though the cheerleader fund there ended the year with a $1285 surplus), and at Garrett and Osborne grade schools. School officials at Garrett, where the general fund had a deficit of $2204, were said to have operated without a proper budget and without filing a proper annual report.

Osborne school ended the year with a general fund deficit of $9781, including

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

By JANE BOND
Health Educator

Governor John Y. Brown has proclaimed the week of January 11-17, 1982 as National SIDS Awareness Week, and encourages all citizens to participate in any activities held during this period.

The Floyd County Health Department along with the Department for Human Resources in Frankfort is part of the SIDS information and counseling project. This project was established in order to meet the needs of the victims of SIDS families and to counsel them and give information regarding SIDS.

SIDS or sudden infant death syndrome is the sudden unexpected death of an infant or young child which is unexplained by history and in which a thorough autopsy fails to demonstrate an adequate cause of death.

SIDS strikes without warning, usually happening during a sleep period, thus the term "crib death" by which SIDS is also known. SIDS strikes all sections of the population regardless of race or socio-economic status.

SIDS usually strikes infants between two weeks and seven months of age. Only rarely do SIDS deaths occur in older or younger infants.

SIDS is the number one cause of death in babies after the first week of life. Approximately 6,000 children die in the United States from SIDS every year. Kentucky alone had 97 SIDS deaths in the year 1980.

There is no cure for SIDS and it is diagnosed through the investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death, the age of the victim and a post-mortem examination (autopsy).

If you desire further information about this project you can contact the Floyd County Health Department at 886-2788.

A nurse from the Health Department will be in Harold at Ward's Health Food Store on Tuesday January 19 from 10:00 until 2:00. She will be offering T.B. skin tests, immunizations, blood pressures, and anemia screening. This clinic is a free service of the Health Department and the public is welcome.

Glaucoma is the second leading cause of blindness in adults in the United States. It strikes without warning, usually without any symptoms. Persons over 35 are considered to be in the high-risk category for glaucoma since it rarely strikes earlier, and for this reason persons in this age group should be checked regularly for the disease.

The Floyd County Health Department is having glaucoma screening clinics on Wednesday January 13 and on Monday January 18. These clinics are free services of the Health Department.

The Wheelwright branch office of the health department is now open and offers T.B. skin tests, immunizations, blood pressures, anemia screening, and urinalyses. The office is open Monday through Friday 8:00 until 12:00 and 1:00 until 2:00.

★ Cancer Hopeline

Q. I know that cancer is a disease of the cells, but just how many cells are there in a cancerous tumor?

The number of cells depends on the size of the tumor and the type of cell. There is a considerable difference in the size of the various cells that make up the human body. Most cells are so small that 700-800 are required to cover the head of a pin.

It is generally believed that cancer cells divide at a steady rate, and therefore a tumor grows at a steady rate. First, one cell splits into two, the two become four, four become eight, etc. The average length of time required for all cells in a tumor to divide has been called its doubling time. With the completion of one doubling time, the number of cells in the mass doubles, and the weight of the mass doubles. A tumor that is large enough to see contains at least one million cells.

By the time a lump in the breast can be felt, it has gone through 30 generations of doublings. It has been estimated that the doubling time for breast cancer ranges from 6 to 540 days, depending on the kind of cells and their rate of growth. Thus, seeing a physician immediately when you feel a lump is vital, for not only will the lump continue to grow if it is cancerous, it may also spread to other parts of the body.

Self-examination is the best way to keep track of what is normal for you and thus to discover any unusual lumps at the earliest possible time. Breast self-examination for women and testicular self-examination for men are simple, easy to learn techniques, and the few minutes involved once a month could save your life.

For free breast or testicular self-examination information, call the Cancer Hopeline toll free at 1-800-432-9321 from 9-9 Monday-Thursday and 9-5 Friday. You may also write us for the information at 915 South Limestone Street, Lexington 40536.

SHOULD I VISIT THE TERMINALLY ILL?
If you're ever in doubt about whether or not to visit a friend or relative whom you know to be terminally ill, then MAKE THE VISIT! It will benefit both of you.
If he doesn't wish to see you, he'll make his wishes known. If it grieves you to see him, share your grief... bring a caring and mutual friend. Together you may diminish the sorrow you share with your terminally ill relative.
What do you talk about? Memories of happy occasions and sad ones, too. Shared experiences, both the good and bad and the amusing times—but mostly you LISTEN. Ask if there's anything he wishes you do for him—letters to write, people to call, business and personal matters to handle.
Studies made by Herman Feifel, Elisabeth Kubler-Ross and others indicate that the terminally ill may pass through emotional stages of denial, anger and finally acceptance of their impending death. To learn more about coping with these stages, stop by for some suggested reading material.

The Innocent Under Attack

Right or wrong, The Times with its first edition of the new year discontinued its weekly listing of those who had been arrested and booked at the county jail during the preceding week. We did so, because it had been pointed out to us that many of the defendants never went to trial and that, in any event, we failed to follow up on their cases to report their outcome.

Hereafter, we propose to follow as closely as possible the various cases through the courts and to report what happened. Only cases of an unusual nature or wide interest will be reported immediately following the arrest of those accused.

This means that the offense of drunken driving will escape notice unless the cases of those arrested are brought to trial or official court records show what was done about them. And we regret that, for we consider this offense one of society's major problems.

Kentucky law, if enforced to its limits, is over-sympathetic to the offender. In this state a drunken driver may be fined for the first offense no less than $100 nor more than $500, and it's usually the minimum. He or she may not be sent to jail for this first offense. A second conviction is punishable by the same fine, plus a jail term ranging from three days to six months. For still further convictions the fine remains the same but the jail term may be from a month to a year in duration.

By contrast, in Ohio—where, incidentally, stiffer penalties are being asked—a jail term is mandatory upon conviction for the first offense. Legislation being prepared would, if enacted, revoke the driver's license for life upon conviction for the third time.

Across the nation, women whose families have suffered maiming or death from drunken drivers have organized Mothers Against Drunk Drivers. Lois Windhorst, president of the Kentucky chapter of the organization, lost her father-in-law and mother-in-law in a wreck which was caused by a drunken driver.

The mourning is nationwide.

In four Eastern Kentucky counties last year—Boyd, Carter, Greenup and Lawrence—the deaths of 20 of the 21 persons killed in traffic accidents were alcohol-related, according to Kentucky State Police records.

Fines, however stiff, may not be the answer. Jail terms may be as ineffective. A drunk will drive on a suspended license as readily as on a valid one. But something must be done in defense of the innocent, those under attack by the lawless and uncaring.

The public needs to become aroused and to demand of the courts a crackdown to the farthest, sternest limit the law will permit instead of adopting the two-faced policy of exonerating the stranger and defending as "a good fellow" the friend or relative who is equally guilty of endangering the lives of innocents whom he may meet but not pass on a highway.

Johnson line should constitute the boundary between the two districts.

The 25th district presently embraces Boyd, Lawrence and Johnson counties as well as the Auxier and Abbott Creek precincts in this county. The 29th district comprises Perry, Knott and Floyd counties, with the exception of the two Floyd precincts.

The county's magisterial and educational districts may also need to be redrawn, depending on population shifts revealed by the census, although neither county nor school officials have yet addressed the issue seriously.

County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. said this week that fiscal court magistrates, unlike state legislators, would not be responsible for redefining their districts. That task would fall to three commissioners appointed by the county judge-executive, he said.

The commissioners would file a report with the circuit court, exceptions could then be filed by aggrieved citizens, and the final decision would be up to the circuit court judge, Turner said.

Woodrow W. Burchett, school board attorney, said it was not clear to him that school districts here would need to be redefined. If restricting is needed, however, the school board could probably do the job itself, he said.

The terms of office of school board members Ray "Shag" Campbell, of Banner, representing the fourth educational district, and Dr. James D. Adams, of Prestonsburg, representing the first district, expire at the end of this year.

Then he clinched the matter by promising to send me a copy of his book. I thanked him, and we parted on very good terms.

And he did send me the book. But unforgettable Sam Levenson forgot to autograph it.

$1400 due the Osborne Variety Store, which is owned by the school principal, Virginia Jamerson. According to the audit, the money was deposited in the school account "in error" and then spent by the school.

The school operated last year without a proper budget, did not properly prepare an annual report, and is missing various records, the auditors noted.

McDowell High School and Martin and Clark grade schools were also cited as having no annual budget on file. Records at Prestonsburg, McDowell and Wheelwright high schools and Garrett, Osborne and Prater grade schools were not maintained last year in accordance with state-recommended accounting standards, according to the audit report.

Among notable surpluses reported, Stumbo Elementary ended the year with $8459 in the bank and Harold Elementary with $8083, while the "school annual" fund—often assumed to be financially strapped—showed a surplus of $32,132.

Representatives of the Ford Motor Company will be here this week to check on eight school buses purchased last year. Superintendent E. P. Grigsby, Jr., told the board. Though fuel-line problems plagued last year's model, including those bought here, Ford has yet to admit responsibility for the failures, it was said.

In other business, the board concluded an agreement establishing the Alvin B. Reed scholarship fund at McDowell High School; authorized appraisals by Joe Weddington and Ratliff-Lenox of surplus school properties at Bosco and Eastern, preparatory to sale; sought state approval for payments of $13,500 to Akers and Akers Construction, for repair of the Prestonsburg High School restroom area damaged by a bomb blast last year; and renewed its contract with H. and H. Bookkeeping, of Prestonsburg.

Gary Frazier was transferred from principal at McDowell Elementary to teacher there; Paul Luxmore was named assistant principal at the school. The resignation of Ina Rothberg, teacher of deaf children, was accepted, and Susan Compton, music teacher at Allen Central, was granted a sabbatical leave for the remainder of the school year.

Hired were:

James W. Stewart, Patricia Burke, Kay Alice Hale, Teresa Frazier, and Sara Howard, emergency substitute teachers; Sally Woodrum, John Tipton, and Willis Akers, janitors; Charles E. Martin, Rodney Watkins, Kenneth Ray Vanderpool, and Nancy Sue Bailey, substitute bus drivers; Dennie Carroll and Clara J. Hamilton, regular bus drivers; Rita Crum, cook; Beatrice Turner and Barbara M. Church, substitute cooks; James Jarrell, temporary maintenance worker; Juanita Stevens, substitute clerk; and Teresa Ratliff, teacher aide.

Cutoff of Gas Banned by PSC

As the county was experiencing its coldest weather in memory, the state Public Service Commission moved quickly this week to restrain a Floyd gas company from cutting off service to some of its customers.

According to an order hand-delivered by PSC courier to officials of the B and H Gas Company at Stanville Tuesday, the company recently sent disconnection notices to 78 customers who had not made a payment as of January 4.

The Commission ordered B and H not to discontinue service to the customers before a decision is reached on a rate hike which the company has requested and which is presently pending before the commission.

Some of the company's 300 customers have alleged B and H is charging them excessive rates. A public hearing on that and other matters has been set by the PSC for January 19 at the Harold grade school, from 5 to 7 p.m.

isting directors with the present judge-executive, County Planner Malcom Layne, and Personnel Officer Thomas D. Lafferty, Jr.—a move that raised the controverted issue of the right of an incumbent fiscal court to rescind appointments made by its predecessor.

Available to the present court as a weapon in its struggle to regain control of the detention center is the fact that it leases the space occupied by the facility, on the upper floor of the courthouse annex. The court was not slow to use the weapon Saturday, summarily cancelling its lease contract with Big Sandy Area Juvenile Detention Center, Inc.

Also involved in the dispute is the state Department for Human Resources, which contributes to the operation of the center. According to one knowledgeable source, DHR favors direct control of the facility by the incumbent fiscal court.

Judge Lafferty said this week he foresaw no disruption of services at the detention facility, provided "those now in charge of the center cooperate in a civic-minded manner."

Members of the county solid waste board and transit authority were also appointed by the last fiscal court to four-year terms. The present court did not seek to reconstitute either body at its meeting Saturday, however.

On the judge-executive's recommendation, the court appointed and fixed salaries for a number of county officers, including three members of the judge's family. Thomas D. Lafferty, Jr., nephew of the judge, was named personnel officer at an annual salary of $18,000 and Stella M. Lafferty, the judge's wife, was named receptionist at a $12,000 annual salary. Salary for Thomas D. Lafferty, Sr., brother to the judge, who was previously appointed by Lafferty as deputy judge-executive, was fixed by the court at $12,000 a year.

Other appointments include those of Malcom Layne as county planner at $22,886 a year, Delores Dings as finance officer and Alma Hughes as purchasing officer at $15,600 each, and Vickie Martin as flood plain administrator at $15,210. Reappointed were Sam H. Fitzpatrick as county roads supervisor at $16,404 and Jan Chaffins as secretary at $12,600.

The election to the fiscal court of first district magistrate Gerald DeRossett and fourth district magistrate Lowell Samons was reflected in the hiring of a number of new county road workers in those two districts. Hired were John Keith Sturgill, Linvil Campbell, Denver Lee Shepherd and Charles Prater (first district), and Freddie Stevens, Charles R. Boyd, Troy Jarrell, W.T. Coleman, Clyde W. Endicott, Marcelino Costoto and Cecil Rice, Jr. (fourth district).

Appointed to the county library board were Phyllis Grigsby, McDowell, Haram Couch, Wheelwright, Eloise Hall, Hueysville, Eulene Ratliff, Martin, and—effective March 16—Mrs. J.D. Adams, Prestonsburg. Judge-Executive Lafferty and Homer Lee Hall, Hueysville, were named to the county health board.

The court heard a complaint by Harry Hager, of Auxier, concerning a swamp on the lower end of that community. An inspector for the state Bureau for Health Services, who investigated the situation last November, cited the inadequacy of Auxier sewer systems as a basic cause of the problem. More immediately, a blocked drain owned by the C. and O. Railway is causing sewage overflow to back up and pool, the inspector found.

C. and O. officials were said to be working to alleviate the problem.

In other business, the court rescinded the $1000 monthly stipend previously voted for buildings inspector Paul Chaffins, who will instead be hired on a fee basis for the first six months of the year; authorized Sheriff Henry Hale to negotiate with Prestonsburg city council regarding use of city radio dispatchers; ordered the breathalyzer brought to the courthouse from the Prestonsburg municipal building; undertook an investigation of equipment used by the county patrol which operated several months last year under a government grant; and authorized advertisement for bids for group insurance and for a car for the judge-executive.

Mrs. Hatfield Comments

After reading Lee Mueller's article about me in the Sunday Herald-Leader (November 29), I felt compelled to write this letter for the purpose of correcting some seemingly unimportant misconceptions.

First, the parent-teacher organization I am involved with is in McDowell, not Drift. This is important only because perhaps the parents and teachers in Drift would not like to claim me—McDowell has no choice. Second, the "bunch with no name" is not all from the Left Fork of Beaver Creek as Mr. Mueller assumed—probably because of my reluctance to discuss any group. There are a great number of people from various areas of Floyd county who have chosen to involve and educate themselves with regard to our school system. The levels and methods of involvement are many but we all have the same goal—the improvement of the quality of education our children are receiving (or will receive) and the improvement of the environment in which it is received. With this goal in mind, we have begun to communicate with each other in the hope that we can strengthen each individual's effort with the knowledge and support of others who are facing or have faced similar problems (whatever they may be). And last, but certainly not least, the current state coal severance tax rate is 4 1/2 percent, not 4 percent.

There are some things I did not say to Mr. Mueller and probably should have; however, my tongue tends to be sharp and gets carried away in an "off the cuff" situation. My pen is just as sharp, but tries to be more logical. Local support contributing to Floyd county's school budget is less than 5 percent of that budget, while the state average for "local support" is around 20 percent. Floyd county's school tax on property is 18.3 cents per $100 valuation this year. Last year it was 18.4 cents per $100 valuation. I noticed that Fayette county's various school tax rates on property add up to 40.2 cents per $100 valuation. There are many reasons given for Floyd county's lack of local tax money—"we're a poor county"; HB 44 requires a higher tax rate to be "subject to recall" (the school district may have to pay for an election if the rate is petitioned); a utility tax would affect people on fixed incomes.

If this county could assess a severance tax, it would have the ability to transfer some of the burden of financing its school system outside of the county as well as the state. The needs of the Floyd county school district are demonstrated in the five-year Facility Survey recently completed by the state. This severance tax alone would not be enough to accomplish the first ten items on the list of priorities in this survey. It will take a combination of this tax, other taxes, and aid from the Kentucky School Building Authority if it is continued and funded again by the 1982 General Assembly.

While I do not always agree with how the Floyd County School Board chooses to manage the funds it does have, it is not hard to see that they still do not have the funding necessary to give our children the service we think they deserve. It is our right as citizens to demand good service for our tax dollar, but it is also our responsibility to see to it that the tax dollars necessary for good service are there. We can carry out this responsibility simply by writing or calling our legislators to tell them our viewpoint.

I would like to thank Mr. Mueller for giving me the opportunity to publicly express my views.

Is Golden Hawk The Name?

I am researching my family tree and have become interested in the traditional stories that have survived concerning the Wards who emigrated into the Big Sandy from Virginia around 1805. In so searching, I have encountered the name of one "Hawk" Sizemore who lived in the vicinity of Prestonsburg. This story does not give the true name of this man, only the nickname. I would like to ask your readers if anyone has any knowledge of this particular person? If you do and will write me what you know about the man called "Hawk" Sizemore, I would greatly appreciate hearing from you. He must have lived around the year 1850 but I have no facts as to when he was born or where he lived exactly.

Seeks Information

Can any official of The Old Regular Baptist Church tell me who first started the work of this association in Letcher county and in Floyd Co.? Tradition—and I believe, James Taylor Adams, says it was Spencer Adams, but there is a doubt. Is there documented evidence, that I may obtain? The cost?

Who was the first pastor of the first Old Regular Church in Letcher Co.? Where was it located? I would appreciate hearing from anyone who has this information.

A Yule Tradition Continues

Well-known father-daughter musical duet, Buddy and Angie Ratcliff, of Martin, were among those who provided entertainment during the annual Old Christmas observance, January 3.

For those not quite ready to resign themselves to the fact that the holidays were over, January 3 was the perfect way to grab a last bit of holiday spirit. That date marked the annual observance of Old Christmas at May Lodge.

Perpetuated over the years through the efforts of Mrs. Edith F. James and now under the direction of Mrs. Katherine Frazier, the celebration of Old Christmas recalls the mountain custom of observing Christmas according to the Julian calendar, which preceded the Gregorian calendar now in wide usage. This year's activities featured traditional music and dance, storytelling and recitations, and all who attended were able to take advantage of the variety of home-baked cakes, cookies and the traditional wassail bowl.

A special treat, especially for those who remember some of the early Old Christmas celebrations which were often held at the home of Mrs. James and her late husband, Tom, was the presence of Mrs. Birdie Holbrook, wife of the late Theodore Holbrook, one of the original Plain-song Chanters, a group of traditional singers formed by Mrs. James during the Depression. Two of Mrs. Holbrook's daughters, Bessie and Eileen, accompanied her. Old Christmas is a part of the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival.

Monitored for SIDS, Has First Birthday

January 11 marked a more than normally important landmark for Terry Joseph Owens, who turned one that day—for he had also survived his first critical year as a potential victim of the mysterious infant malady known as sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS).

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Owens, of Prestonsburg, the vigorous one-year-old goes to Lexington this week to leave there for good the device which has monitored his sleep since birth.

His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Owens, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman McConnell, of Sebring, Fla.

Quits CPA Practice For Tenn. Coal Firm

Former Prestonsburg accountant Weldon Luginbyhl this week announced the sale of his firm here to Helton, Butler and Wells, an accounting firm with offices in Paintsville, Lexington, Frankfort, Nicholasville and Shepherdsville.

In a letter to his clients, Luginbyhl said that operation of the firm's Prestonsburg and Martin offices will continue under the direction of Robert L. Abrams.

Luginbyhl recently began working for Inspiration Coal Co., of Knoxville, Tenn.—the firm that last year purchased Bailey Mining Co., of Weeksbury—as vice-president in charge of administration.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE
Pursuant to Application
Number 036-0056

1. In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Island Creek Coal Co., Box 1275, Paintsville, KY 41240, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 89.8 acres located southeast of Odds in Floyd & Johnson counties. The proposed operation is approximately 3.7 miles southeast of State Route 3's junction with right fork of Daniels Creek, and located south of right fork of Daniels Creek, latitude 37° 43' 30", longitude 82° 39' 00". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Pocahontas Land Co. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: mountain-top removal. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, 431 S. Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. The written objection must have attached a copy of the newspaper clipping, and reference the above application number. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2) and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky, 40601.

2. Notice is hereby given provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS:350 that the proposed post mining land use of pasture/hayland constitutes a change from the forest land pre-mining land use. Interested citizens and local, state and federal agencies are invited to review and comment, to the address listed above, on the proposed land use.

Black-Lung Cost to Hospitals Last Year Near $700,000

Kentucky's hospitals last year incurred liabilities of nearly $700,000 for assessments and taxes to the state special fund that finances coal industry black-lung benefits.

According to a recent study by the Kentucky Council on Compensation Insurance, the estimated total charges of $692,702 were equivalent to $41.67 for each hospital bed in the state.

According to the study, Floyd county hospitals incurred estimated liabilities of $10,690 in special fund taxes and assessments based on projected payrolls of $6,699,000 and established premiums of $72,818.

The study was based on total payrolls of $434,019,000 reported by member institutions to the American Hospital Association and total workers' compensation insurance premiums of $4,718,680 based on rates established with the state Department of Insurance. A total of 16,625 beds was included in the study.

Assessments and taxes for the special fund ranged from 11 cents for every $100 of payroll for professional hospital personnel to more than 43 cents for every $100 of payroll for employees in non-professional job classifications.

Special fund taxes and assessments are charged against the earned premiums of companies writing workers' compensation insurance in Kentucky, but are added to rates they charge employers for insurance coverage.

Last year's levies represented a surcharge of nearly 15 cents (14.68) on every workers' compensation insurance premium dollar, the council reported, more than double the 6.91 cent surcharge in effect a year earlier. The state Department of Insurance has projected a 31.5 percent increase in this surcharge to 19.31 cents on every premium dollar retroactive to July 1, 1981.

The special fund was created to provide benefits for workers disabled by certain on-the-job injuries and work-related disease not otherwise covered by workers' compensation insurance.

Historically, though, disease disbursements and expenses have accounted for the bulk of expenditures.

The fund's 1980-1981 outlays for disease of $28,258,201 amounted to 18.8 cents a ton of Kentucky's coal production, less than one-sixth (15.8 percent) of the $178,759,379 or $1.19 a ton collected by the state in severance tax receipts.

Total fund outlays for the period of $47,505,690 amounted to 32.3 cents for every $100 in payroll throughout the state.

Sew Easy Daybed Covers

For most apartment dwellers, the way to a beautiful apartment is to make the most of what there is to work with. Take, for instance, a daybed. Not exactly a prime candidate for beauty in home furnishings, a daybed can be given a special look with a little material and a little stitch here and there. Here's how to make your very own daybed cover:

- First of all, the whole daybed cover can be made with one piece of fabric, as long as you buy 60" wide material. You will also need 1/4" welting cord for the edges. (The cording is what makes the cover look like it is made with more than one piece of material.)

- To get the exact length of the material needed, measure the height of the bed from the floor to the made-up top surface (that is, with sheets and blanket). Multiply this figure by two (two sides) and add it to the length of the bed. Add 4" to allow for cording. This is the length of material needed.

- Spread fabric over daybed, wrong side up. Leave 2" on the floor in the front. The two sides should be even with one another. Smooth the rest of the material toward the back. At the two front corners, fold out the excess triangle of material starting at the lower edges and pinning a seamline straight up to the top surface.

- Remove fabric from the bed. Sew the two corners seams and trim excess, leaving 1/2" seam allowance.

- Put cover back on bed, right side out. Pinmark mattress edges at front and sides. Remove cover. Place filler cord against the wrong side of cover along the pinmarks. Pinch fabric around the cord and pin through both layers. Using zipper foot, stitch close to the cord.

- Again, put cover on the bed, right side out. Fold and pin bottom edges (front and sides) over filler cord to the length you desire. Using zipper foot again, stitch along the cord.

With some extra material, synthetic stuffing and some welting cord, you may want to make a few pillows. Here are the basics:

- Each pillow requires only one piece of fabric. The cording is only on three sides.

- No matter what size pillow you choose to make, fold the material in half crosswise (not lengthwise) with the right sides of the material touching. Stitch a seam on the two short sides 1/2" from the ends. Turn right side out.

- Pinmark the folded edge. Cut enough cord for the length of the three sides (the two sewed sides and the side that is pinned). While holding the cording against the two seams and the pinmarks, pinch fabric around the cord and pin through both layers of material. With zipper foot, stitch along the cord.

- Turn cover wrong side out and stitch about one-third of the open side, leaving enough of an opening for the stuffing or pillow.

- Turn cover right side out. Stuff, slipstitch opening and plop right onto your new daybed cover.

Care and Cleaning of Parquet Floors

Simple in design but long on beauty, a parquet floor adds a special touch to an apartment. It will wear well if it is treated well. If you would like yours to last forever, or at least until the end of your lease, here are some basics:

- Wax with a good quality paste wax at least once a year, vacuuming well before doing so. Apply a light coat of wax and buff well. Never use a water-based liquid wax. Use a heavy-duty combination sealer-wax if your floor has more than a "tip toe" traffic flow.

- Remove moderate stains, such as food stains or heel marks, with No. 2 steel wool dipped in wax or mineral spirits. For tough stains, consult a flooring distributor or a contractor. (Look under "Floor Materials" or "Floor Waxing" in the following pages.)

- To prevent dirt buildup, a soft, cotton or yarn dust mop is recommended. Never use a wet mop. Mopping (or sweeping) would be the next best thing, using the "tile" method or the lowest carpet

- Never use water, water detergents, cleaning solutions or water-based cleaners or waxes. Parquet floors and water are enemies. Water stains to the finish or to the floor itself.

Johnson County Funds Tied Up

(Excerpted from The Paintsville Herald of Jan. 4)

Johnson County's new fiscal court had a harrowing opening day Monday, beginning business in the clamp of an attachment that apparently tied up all of the county's general fund.

The attachment, resulting from a condemnation award, was piled unexpectedly on top of county obligations that already appeared to give the court members only minimum operating funds for the remainder of the fiscal year, through June 30.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

1. In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Corbin Coal Company, C-4, Box 181, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 18.6 acres, located southeast of Osborne, in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 1/2 miles north of State Route 1426's junction with Aker Branch Road, and located east of Toler Creek, latitude 37° 27' 45", longitude 82° 36' 18". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Emmit Conn, Dale Roberts, Mary McKinney, Birdie Justice, Lidia May. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: contour strip and auger. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objection and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping, must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request must be reference No.036-0057. Such objection or request must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capitol Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky, 40601.

Notice is hereby given provided pursuant to 30 CFD 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS 350 that the proposed post mining land use does not constitute a change from the pre-mining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use must be submitted to the address listed above.

Two formal actions reflected the tenor of the day, one for a prompt audit of county financial records with an April 1 deadline, and the second an immediate cut of 15 county employees from the payroll.

Attorneys for the George Hall heirs secured a circuit court order late last week, tying up county money in an apparent move to force settlement of the judgment on condemnation. The property involved in the court action was the final connecting link for a proposed access road to Island Creek's maintenance shop on the Big Sandy across from Paintsville.

Appraised several years ago for condemnation at $22,000, the property was later valued at $123,000 by a Johnson county jury. The previous fiscal court authorized an appeal of the judgment, but the appeal was denied late last year.

After the maximum 20 days to seek further court rulings had expired, without action, the heirs moved on December 30 to secure the full amount due, with the attachment.

That amount, with accumulated interest, is $116,000 plus the $22,000 already paid.

The county officials spent a part of Monday's long session behind closed doors, apparently attempting to work out a means of lifting the attachment and reaching terms to settle the debt. As it stood Monday, the order blocked the county from issuing any checks on the general fund, even to pay required payroll taxes.

Based on previous financial information, paying the additional obligation at this point would effectively shut the county down.

Program Would Offer Respite To Caretakers of Handicapped

The mental retardation developmental disabilities unit of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center is at present working to organize a program which would provide a type of service similar to that of babysitting for any age level. This type of care is offered by some state institutions and is referred to as "respite care," meaning temporary relief. The respite care program, if developed, would only be available to the mentally retarded, developmentally disabled and their families in the area.

MCCC is working to develop such a program, the agency said in a press release this week, because it is aware that there are times when parents or guardians would like to have an evening or a weekend to spend away from the responsibility of caring for a handicapped person. MCCC is also aware that because a person is handicapped it is often very difficult to find someone to provide this service.

The respite care program would consist of persons who would be willing to take an MR/DD person into their homes for an evening or some designated time and provide care and supervision for this handicapped person.

The length of stay in respite care would be determined on an individual basis and would be available to any age level, if possible. It is hoped that emergency respite care would be available but services would normally be planned in advance for a definite period of time. The person providing the respite care would make the final decision in regard to which handicapped persons they would be willing to take and also would schedule respite care to their convenience. The program would be set up to allow persons involved in respite care to become well acquainted before the actual temporary relief takes place. In this way an individual needing respite care would already be familiar with the person providing the service and the provider would also be knowledgeable as to the handicapped person's needs, routines, etc.

In response to the need of respite care in the region, MCCC is taking steps to establish such a system of care among families who have a mentally retarded or developmentally disabled person in their homes. An organizational meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday, January 19, 1982 at 6:00 p.m. at Mountain Comprehensive Care Center (Old Hospital Building), Front Avenue, Prestonsburg, to discuss these and other aspects of respite care services.

If you are interested in any part of the respite care program please contact the MR/DD Unit of MCCC at 886-8572. The help and cooperation of all interested persons is needed to make this program possible. The meeting is opened to the public and all interested persons are encouraged to attend.

PUBLIC NOTICE TO OWNERS OF RENTAL HOUSING

The Floyd County Housing Authority is administering a Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Program in Floyd County using funds provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Under this program, owners will rehabilitate rental units which are now substandard or have major building systems or components requiring repair or replacement. The cost of this work, which must total at least $1000 per unit, may be financed by a local lending institution, by the owner, or by any other source available to the owner. The agency does not make rehabilitation loans or grants, but will assist owners to obtain financing.

After required rehabilitation work has been completed, the agency and the owner will execute a contract which establishes a rent for the unit(s) that will cover rehabilitation costs, meet monthly operating expenses, and allow a reasonable profit on the owner's investment. For a fifteen year period, the owner will rent the rehabilitated unit(s) to eligible lower income tenants, who will pay approximately 25 percent of their income toward the rent. The agency will pay the remainder of the rent directly to the owner. The initial occupant of a rehabilitated unit may be the owner's present eligible tenant.

After rehabilitation the rent (including utilities) cannot exceed the following Maximum Rents:

BEDROOM SIZE
206	244	282	319

The agency's current funds will allow rehabilitation of 35 units of rental housing as follows:

1 BR	2 BR	3 BR	4 BR
8	18	7	2

No unit will be assisted which results in the permanent displacement of a current tenant.

Proposals from owners will be received by the Housing Authority until further notice.

Owners who wish to submit a proposal must obtain an application form from:

Floyd County Housing Authority
Housing Office
Green Acres
Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653
Telephone No. 886-2717
Office Hours: 8:30-12:00 and 1:00-4:30

Application forms and proposal packets may be requested by phone, mail, or in person. Information and assistance is also available at the above office.

FANTASIES

Some of the biggest names in daytime soap operas join Suzanne Pleshette and Robert Vaughn (pictured) in "Fantasies," the "ABC Monday Night Movie," MONDAY, JANUARY 18.

In this chilling yarn, Pleshette and Vaughn are caught in the middle of a murderous web of violence as their colleagues on a popular soap opera disappear one-by-one. They are then forced to find the person(s) responsible for this macabre episode.

Robin Mattson and Barry Newman co-star.

MARIAN ROSE WHITE

Newcomer Nancy Cartwright stars in a shocking drama with a happy ending in the title role of "Marian Rose White," a new motion picture-for-television based on the real-life story of a normal girl who spent 30 years in a state asylum, to be broadcast on "The CBS Tuesday Night Movies," TUESDAY, JANUARY 19.

Katharine Ross stars as sympathetic Nurse Bonnie MacNeil, with a special guest appearance by Valerie Perrine (pictured) in her first television film.

The film is a dramatized version of what happened to 9-year-old Marian Rose White as a result of Depression-days economics. Her father died and left his wife penniless with two children to raise. Unable to handle her daughter, the mother placed the child in the Sonoma (Calif.) State Hospital for the Feebleminded.

FAME

While the High School for Performing Arts is visited by Board of Education inspectors, dancer Leroy (Gene Anthony Ray, pictured) has bigger problems when his brother comes home from prison carrying a gun, in "Tomorrow's Farewell," on NBC-TV's "Fame," THURSDAY, JANUARY 21.

Dance teacher Lydia Grant (Debbie Allen) proves to the inspectors that the school doesn't need a gymnasium after her students "win legs down" in exercise competition over athletes from another high school. Meanwhile, Leroy inadvertently gets arrested trying to ditch the gun. His trip back on the right track is aided considerably by the understanding Miss Sherwood and common-sense advice from Bruno.

CHECK LISTINGS FOR EXACT TIME.

Do-It-Yourself Series On KET For Homeowners

"This Old House," a weekly half-hour program designed to take the mystery out of home renovation, begins a new season Sunday, January 17 at 5:30 p.m. (ET), 4:30 p.m. (CT) on KET.

In the 13-week series, host Bob Vila and master carpenter Norm Abram take on the challenges of renovating a 1950's ranch-style tract home. Viewers can follow along step-by-step through every phase of the remodeling process—including design, kitchen and bath remodeling, energy conservation, roofing, landscaping and other improvements.

With each program, the question of hiring a professional contractor or doing it yourself will be discussed.

"Our goal is to show viewers how to renovate or improve their homes to make better use of existing space," said Russ Morash, series producer.

"There are a lot of young families on a limited budget who need or want more room, but can't afford to move. We'll help them 'find' the room and provide them with the technical means to do the job properly," Morash said.

"In these days of tight money and sky-high housing costs, people are looking for new answers, and creative, affordable solutions to their housing problems," said Morash. "This Old House" is a good place to start.

Census Bureau To Make Survey on Employment

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of January 18-22, Joseph S. Harris, director of the Bureau's regional office in Charlotte, N.C., announced today.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor is a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in November the survey indicated that of the 107 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 98 million were employed. The jobless rate was 8.4 percent, up from 8.0 percent in October and 7.5 percent in September.

Information supplied by people participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Interviewers who will visit households in this area include Patricia A. Walters, of East Point, Ky.

Write Your Way to an Education

This is for high school seniors who could you use $8,000 over the next four years, applied to their college education.

How can you get your hands on this kind of money? All you have to do is prove yourself the best writer among area-high school seniors by winning the 1982 Pikeville College Humanities Contest in fiction or essay-writing.

First prize in each of these contests is a $2,000 scholarship to Pikeville College, renewable each year (provided you maintain a B average or better) for a total of four years and $8,000. A third contest, in art, offers a $1,000 yearly scholarship as first prize.

Each of the contests also offers second-place scholarships, as follows: fiction, $1,000; essay, $1,000; art, $500. These, as the first-place awards, are renewable yearly for a total of four years.

Fiction must be no more than 5,000 words in length. Send entries to Fiction Contest, Humanities Division, Pikeville College, Pikeville, KY 41501.

All high school seniors are eligible to enter. Only one entry per person is allowed. All entries must be received by March 1, 1982. They will be judged on their quality by members of the English and art faculties of Pikeville College.

Awards are made only in the form of tuition assistance at Pikeville College for one year. After that, awards are renewable from year to year, provided the student maintains a 3.0 grade point average (B average) or better, for a total of four years of study. Thus, the $2,000 first-place awards can be worth $8,000 over a four-year period. To be eligible for an award, the contestant must complete the Pikeville College financial aid forms and an application for admission to Pikeville College. To obtain these forms, write the Admissions Office, Pikeville College, Pikeville, KY 41501, or call (606) 432-9332.

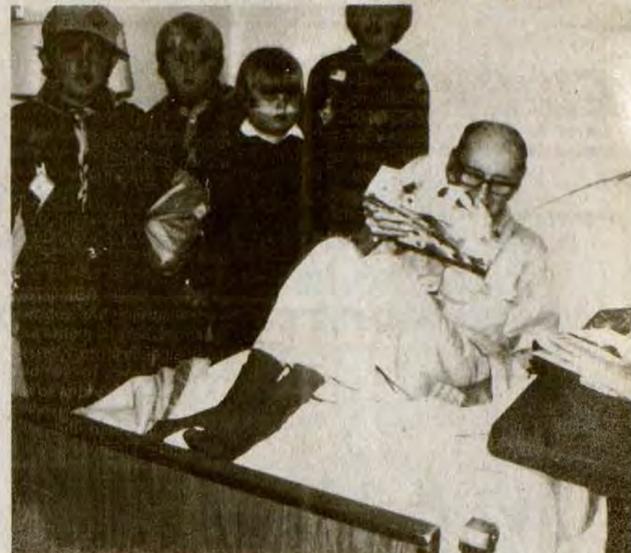

A winner who does not enroll at Pikeville College will forfeit the award; in that case, the scholarship will not be awarded. Contestants wanting materials returned must either enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope adequate for this purpose or pick up the materials in person at the Pikeville College Humanities Office by May 1.

CARD OF THANKS

Improved Fatality Figures Said Result Of DUI Crackdown

Kentucky ended 1981 with 828 traffic fatalities, only three more than were reported during the year before.

According to State Police Commissioner Marion D. Campbell, a much larger toll was averted by a crackdown on drunk drivers which held the number of fatalities reported over Christmas and New Year's down to a total of 14 as compared with 22 during the same period in 1980. Both state police and many local police departments conducted vigorous anti-drunk driving enforcement campaigns over the holidays.

The state police effort, which started on Dec. 16 and ended at midnight, Jan. 3, resulted in 617 drunk driving arrests. The largest number of arrests reported by any single state police post occurred in the eight-county area patrolled by state police at Elizabethtown. There the troopers took 91 drinking drivers into custody.

Arrest totals reported by the other 15 KSP posts were 60 for Henderson, 53 at Frankfort, 47 at Richmond, 42 at Pikeville, 39 at Bowling Green, 36 at Morehead, 35 at Hazard, 32 at Dry Ridge, 31 at Ashland, 30 at London, 28 at Madisonville, 25 at Mayfield, 24 at Harlan, 23 at Columbia and 21 at LaGrange.

But before anyone concludes that the heat is off, now that the holidays are over, Campbell ended his report by promising more of the same.

"What heretofore was just a limited crackdown for a limited period of time is now going to become a round-the-clock, seven-day-a-week priority enforcement effort for state police during 1982," he said.

Describing the results of blood-alcohol content tests run on the 600-plus drivers arrested by state police over the holidays as "enough to scare you to death," he said that if Kentucky can rid of its highways of drunk drivers, "We can cut our annual death toll by at least 25 percent almost immediately."

Campbell said that nearly 60 percent of the drinking drivers arrested by state police over the holidays, and tested on the breathalyzer, registered blood-alcohol content levels in excess of .14 percent. Some were as high as .31 and .32 percent.

"At those levels, it's amazing to me that they were even able to find their cars, let alone drive them," he said. Under Kentucky law, a reading of .10 percent is considered legally sufficient to sustain a drunk driving conviction.

The commissioner said that one of the principal strategies planned by state police to cope with the drinking driver during 1982 will be an intensification of the "saturation approach" to the problem. Squads of troopers moving around the state, from one high accident location to another, will be conducting traffic roadblocks designed specifically to spot drunk drivers.

Campbell also is ordering a maximum effort by state police on the local level to educate the public on the dangers of drunk driving "and solicit their cooperation in getting the drinking driver off the road once and for all."

Judge Will Get Tough On Drunken Drivers

By ALLAN JUDD
(In the Courier-Journal)

Daniel Schneider believes drunken driving is a serious crime. And although he's not sure it will do any good, he hopes to impress that view on those who are convicted of it in his Jefferson District courtroom.

Beginning Monday, Schneider, chief District Court judge, will "if not double, at least come close to doubling" the usual $100 fine for drunken drivers who appear before him. He's hoping other judges will follow his lead.

"It's time to raise the fines to be a little more commensurate with the offense," he said yesterday.

"If I have a pet peeve in court, it's the drunken driver. I'm not sure there are any answers. The only thing I am sure of is that a $100 fine is totally ridiculous."

The minimum fine for drunken driving is $100. Since at least 1969—when Schneider became a prosecutor in the old Louisville Police Court—most judges have been handing down the minimum fine, he said.

He thinks higher fines won't necessarily deter drunken driving but at least will more severely punish those who are caught.

"I don't think anybody thinks about paying a fine when he goes out and drives drunkenly," Schneider said. "If this were the answer, I'd triple the fines, quadruple the fines."

The law doesn't allow judges to sentence first offenders to jail. So, he said, stiffer fines are "the only way we have to get their attention. It will do a little better job of getting attention."

Under Kentucky law, a person convicted of drunken driving the first time may be fined from $100 to $500.

A second conviction brings a fine of $100 to $500 and from 30 days to one year in jail.

Although Lois Windhorst, president of the Kentucky chapter of Mothers against Drunk Drivers, called Schneider's action "a step in the right direction," she would like stiffer penalties.

"We need to...treat it as a serious offense," said Mrs. Windhorst, who organized the Kentucky group after her father-in-law and mother-in-law were killed and her brother-in-law injured in an accident in 1980 caused by a drunken driver.

"I really feel the first offender needs to spend some time in jail," Mrs. Windhorst said. "I'd like to see them (the judges) do more than slap them on their hands."

"We have to make people understand that when they are caught for this crime, they are going to have to suffer the consequences."

Mrs. Windhorst believes that too many drunken-driving cases are amended to a reduced charge, often reckless driving, which carries a smaller fine and no time in jail.

Schneider, however, said few cases are amended unless there is no evidence, such as a breathalyzer test showing that a person was intoxicated. "It's almost a never situation," he said. "They are not getting amended with any regularity."

And if a case is dismissed, Schneider said, it might be because the police officer who made the arrest didn't show up in court. That happened yesterday, he said.

"Everybody blames the judge," Schneider said. "But I don't think the judge has that many options available to him, especially with the first-time offender."

Schneider agrees with Mrs. Windhorst that time in jail should be mandatory for anyone convicted of drunken driving.

And he believes the driver should be forced to attend classes on the dangers of driving after drinking. He thinks the classes might be the most effective way to combat drunken driving.

"The only hope we have lies in programs," Schneider said. "It doesn't really lie in fines."

Pharmacy Footnotes by HAROLD COOLEY

It is important that you use prescription medication properly. That small slip of paper brings together the physician's diagnostic expertise and the pharmacist's skill at combining chemicals. Follow the directions. There is always a reason that prescription instructions require specific times for taking the medication. Use the entire prescription as directed. Do not decide that you have had enough and stop. Symptoms may be relieved but the organism causing the infection may still be alive in your body.

At COOLEY APOTHECARY, INC. we know that one of the most important things when taking any prescription is to closely follow the directions on the label. Don't forget that your Pharmacist is the interpreter of your physician's prescription, and is always willing to answer your questions and clarify the directions for taking your medication. You'll find that we offer friendly, personal service. That's what we're here for. Located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg. Open daily, except Sunday. 886-8106.

HANDY HINT: Be certain that your physician is aware of all the drugs that you are presently taking to prevent mixing incompatible medication.

Kentucky Resubmits Its Proposal To Enforce U.S. Strip Mine Act

Kentucky, the nation's largest coal-producing state, has resubmitted its proposal to attain primacy in enforcing the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act by next spring. Kentucky submitted its proposal to the Interior Department's Office of Surface Mining, Region II, in Knoxville, Tennessee, on December 30. It now will be reviewed by OSM for adequacy prior to the ultimate decision by Secretary of the Interior, James Watt.

OSM will hold a public hearing on the Kentucky plan January 26, 1981, beginning at 6:30 p.m., at the Harley Hotel, 2143 North Broadway (I-75 at the Paris Pike exit), Lexington, Kentucky. Written comments can be submitted to OSM Region II, 530 Gay Street, Knoxville Tennessee, 37902, until February 8.

"I would like to commend Secretary (of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection) Jackie Swigart for the great effort and many long hours which she and her staff have devoted to this resubmission package," said W. Hord Tipton, Acting Regional Director of OSM's Region II. "The path has not been easy but the goal certainly is worth the effort."

"I wholeheartedly endorse the concept of individual states being the primary enforcer of laws affecting it," he added. "I think that approach serves the best interest of all the citizens of the state and am happy Kentucky agrees."

Region II OSM personnel have met regularly with Kentucky officials for more than two years to help the state develop a regulatory program that would meet the requirements of the Federal Act and Regulations.

Once Kentucky attains primacy, OSM will fall back to an oversight and assistance role and federal inspections of coal mining operations basically will be to assure that the state is adequately enforcing the program and to work with Kentucky to solve any future problems.

Primacy also means that Kentucky, after it has an approved state reclamation plan, will start receiving one-half of federal reclamation fees that have been levied on Kentucky coal operators since August 3, 1977, date of the Federal Act.

That money, which totaled more than $60 million as of September 30, 1981, will be used to reclaim land that had been mined and left abandoned prior to August 3, 1977.

After Kentucky gains primacy, Tipton will become OSM's State Director for Kentucky.

Travel Line

New Diet Combats Jet Lag

A typical American traveler arriving in Paris at 7:30 a.m. on a flight from New York will put in a full and exhausting day taking in the sights. Yet, when that weary, footsore individual retires at midnight, chances are he or she won't be able to sleep for hours.

According to The Better Sleep Council, a new diet has been developed that promises to reduce jet lag insomnia, a malady suffered by an estimated 25 million American business people, vacationers and government officials each year. This World Traveler's Diet is the brain child of Dr. Charles Ehret, Senior Scientist at the Argonne National Laboratory in Illinois.

Insomnia and other ill effects of jet lag are the result of the body's daily or circadian rhythms going out of kilter when three or more time zones are crossed too rapidly for the traveler to adjust to a new daily schedule, explains The Better Sleep Council.

Circadian rhythms are the regular ebb and flow of our bodily processes during a 24-hour period: cell division, liver storage and depletion of glycogen (energy) and rise and fall of body temperature all take place at certain times during the day. These in turn interact with and influence the sleep/wake cycle, another major circadian rhythm.

When a new time zone is entered, the body becomes confused because the normal signals (or zeitgebers)—light-dark and social cues—that help regulate the sleep/wake cycle are taking place at a different hour. Even though it's midnight at the new destination, the traveler's body clock is still operating on the time it is back home and won't be ready to sleep for a good while.

The World Traveler's Diet exploits the fact that the biological clock is resettable; it aims to shrink the time of the whole process (from five or six days to ideally one or two), thereby reducing insomnia and other side effects of jet lag.

"Resetting the clock is done by many factors," explains Dr. Ehret. "We've learned that composition and timing of meals as well as caffeine intake are powerful zeitgebers, high protein food stimulates the awake pathways while carbohydrates stimulate the sleep pathways; depending on when it's consumed, caffeine will either advance, delay or have no effect on the phases of the biological clock."

Light-dark and social cues are also part of the regimen to help speed up the resetting of the clock.

As an example, for an early evening Tuesday flight from New York to Paris the traveler should begin the regimen on Saturday and follow a feast, fast, feast, fast pattern for the next four days: feast on Saturday, fast on Sunday, feast on Monday, fast on Tuesday.

This means eating three full meals—a high protein breakfast and lunch and a high carbohydrate dinner—on feast days; fast days should include three skimpy meals (low calorie, low carbohydrate). During the first three days, caffeine beverages should only be consumed during the late afternoon, never in the morning or evening.

The day of the flight is a fast day with the only difference being that caffeinated beverages are avoided throughout the day until 6 p.m.; then several cups of coffee or strong tea are taken between 6 p.m. and midnight to advance the body clock. Since it is nearly midnight destination time, soon after boarding the plane you should try to rest as much as possible for the next few hours, turning out the lights and avoiding all interaction with fellow passengers.

At 2:30 a.m., though everyone else is asleep, you must get up and get in sync with destination time (7:30 a.m.). "We tell people to break the fast with breakfast," says Dr. Ehret. "This means having a high protein meal at the same time Parisians are having their breakfasts." You might eat the steak dinner other passengers had earlier, or some hard-boiled eggs, cheese and raw vegetables that you've brought with you. It's important to avoid coffee, tea or cola at this time, since taking caffeine at what is now morning (destination time) will cause phase delay of the body rhythms.

After the meal, get up, walk around and engage in as much activity as possible until landing in Paris. Once in the city mid-day naps should be avoided, and throughout the stay, eat high protein breakfasts and lunches—and high carbohydrate dinners. On the first night abroad, it is wise to retire an hour earlier than usual (on Paris time of course).

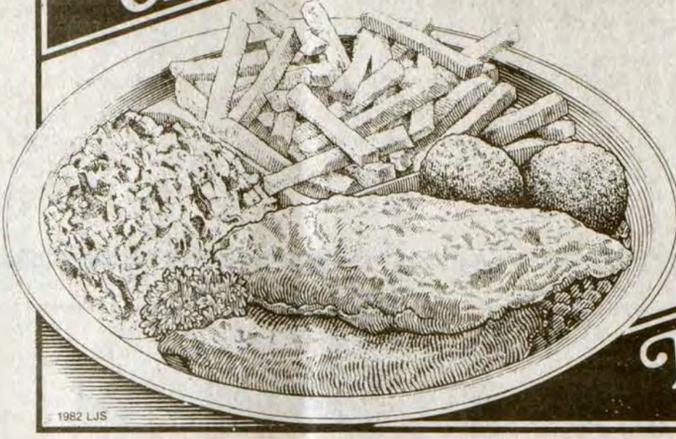

On the return flight, or on any westward flight, the same regimen should be followed except that on the morning before and of the flight several cups of coffee or strong tea should be consumed to encourage phase delay.

While on the plane, activity/rest schedules should always be coordinated to synchronize with what the populace at your destination are doing; e.g. if they are sleeping, you should be resting; when they're eating breakfast, you should be having your first meal to break the fast (high protein).

Hundreds of people have used this diet successfully. It is recommended that to make sure things go smoothly one should consult the airline's representative and the chief steward on board the flight regarding "special diet requirements" before, and again shortly after the time of departure.

The commercial airlines' personnel have invariably been very interested and cooperative whenever the requested meal schedule has been compatible with take-offs and landings.

Kentucky Afield

1982 hunting and fishing licenses are now on sale at county clerks' offices and at many sporting goods stores, bait shops and similar establishments.

All sport licenses expire at midnight Dec. 31, so a new license is a timely holiday gift for the sportsman on your shopping list. But these new licenses, like almost everything else you buy these days, are going to cost more than they did last year.

The 1982 resident hunting or resident fishing license is now priced at $7.50 each, or $1 more than previously. A combination hunting and fishing license is $14, a deer permit $11.50, a wild turkey tag $6.50 and a trout stamp, $3.50.

A non-resident annual hunting license will cost $40, but the out-of-state fisherman can get by with $16 for his annual license. A non-resident three-day small game hunting license is $14.50, while short-term non-resident fishing licenses cost $6.50 for a 15-day permit and $5 for the right to fish for three days in Kentucky. Commercial licenses and permits have also increased correspondingly.

These increases were made necessary by inflation, which eats into governmental budgets the same way it takes great bites out of family financing. License sales are the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' primary means of support—the department gets no state income tax, state sales tax or other general fund appropriations.

License revenues are used for fish and wildlife law enforcement and for biological research and management programs designed to help us better understand and manage Kentucky's wildlife and fisheries resources.

License sales, (aided by matching federal funds from excise taxes on sporting equipment) finance the acquisition of lands for wildlife and for public hunting, pay for hatchery and fish stocking programs and support the teaching of conservation education and hunter safety.

To have a voice in the spending of their license money, Kentucky's sportsmen elect nominees (with the final selection made by the governor) to the Fish and Wildlife Commission, a nine-person sportsman's body which oversees the operation of the fish and wildlife department and which approves all major policy decisions and regulations which directly affect hunters and fishermen.

Even at the new prices, a hunting or fishing license is still a bargain. It not only entitles the holder to a full year of outdoor recreation (for just about the price of attending two movies or eating one medium-priced dinner) but it also helps assure the future of Kentucky's great outdoor heritage.

First Baby of '82 Feted at HRMC

David and Peggy Stambaugh have a good reason to be smiling. They are the proud parents of David Morgan Stambaugh, II, who was the first baby of 1982 at Highlands Regional. The family was showered with over $900 worth of gifts.

The new year and a very special new life were celebrated at Highlands Regional Medical Center. David Morgan Stambaugh, II, 9 pounds, 1 ounce, was the first baby of 1982 born at Highlands. He made his arrival at 1:43 in the afternoon of January 1. David's proud parents are Peggy and David Stambaugh, of Wittensville.

Over $900 in gifts were given to the Stambaughs in honor of the special baby. Fifty-four area merchants from Pike, Floyd and Johnson counties participated in the event by donating a variety of baby items.

"It's like having another Christmas," exclaimed Mrs. Stambaugh as she opened the gifts. "Having a healthy and lucky baby is a wonderful way to start 1982. I'm thrilled with all of the presents and really appreciate the kindness of each merchant who gave gifts to me," said Mrs. Stambaugh.

Davis is the second child in the Stambaugh family. Little Marie, age 7½ is quite pleased with her new baby brother.

David Stambaugh is employed by Elm Coal Company in Martin County. Mrs. Stambaugh works at the Appletree Plaza IGA Foodliner in Paintsville.

Plan To Help Small Business In State Wins Federal Okeh

Gov. John Y. Brown's economic development program, aimed at providing long-term financing for small businesses at favorable interest rates, has moved ahead with federal approval.

The program, known as the 503 Development Company Loan Program, was announced at a press conference in Frankfort last Tuesday by U.S. Senator Walter "Dee" Huddleston and Kentucky Commerce Secretary W. Bruce Lunsford.

The program will be administered by an independent, non-profit development corporation, the Commonwealth Business Development Corporation. With approval by the U.S. Small Business Administration, Commonwealth becomes the first corporation in the nation sponsored by a state government and operating statewide.

The corporation will be composed of 53 prominent Kentucky business figures, including a nine-member board of directors.

Lunsford said the program will further strengthen the department's efforts to merge public and private financing to aid small business development in Kentucky.

He said the new program will be a valuable stimulus for the governor's overall economic development program, particularly for the aid of small businesses.

Brown, who has concentrated much of his administration's economic development efforts on small business, is chairman of the National Governors' Conference's Task Force on Small Business.

Lunsford said the new program, particularly with the strength of the corporation members, can make a major contribution toward Brown's overall goals for creating jobs and promoting development and investment in Kentucky.

Lunsford who will serve as chairman of the corporation said that in its first year, the corporation will take part in an estimated 18 to 24 loans which in turn will create from 500 to 1,000 jobs.

The program's financing will be provided through SBA 100 percent guaranteed debentures, Lunsford said.

The development corporation will serve businesses throughout the state. The corporation typically will lend up to 40 percent for a project, to a maximum of $500,000. A private lender will loan another 50 percent and the owners would put up the balance.

The program is limited to companies that have net worths of less than $6 million and average after-tax profits of less than $2 million. A few types of businesses, including banks and newspapers, are excluded from the program by federal regulation.

Lunsford said the loans may be used to buy land, buildings, heavy machinery and equipment or to renovate or construct buildings.

The Commerce Cabinet will serve as consultant to the development corporation. The board of directors will review and act on applications, on behalf of all 53 corporation members, he added.
