Long distance calls put on hold while severed cable is repaired

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer and Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

Long distance telephone services from Floyd County and other Big Sandy counties were restored Tuesday evening after being interrupted for about seven hours when a contractor installing guardrails near Pikeville reportedly severed a fiber optic cable.

The cable was apparently cut around noon Tuesday and services were restored at approximately 7 p.m., according to a Kentucky State Police dispatcher.

Lonny Kelly, plant superintendent for Foothills Rural Telephone Cooperative in Johnson County, said Tuesday that three fiber optic cables near Pikeville had apparently been cut Tuesday by a contractor installing guardrails.

Since phone service to Pike County was not available, calls could not be placed to the Kentucky State Police post for most of Tuesday.

Local police and emergency services departments apparently were not informed about the interruption in phone service.

Long distance service to Pike, Knott, Martin and Lawrence counties were not available in Floyd County Tuesday.

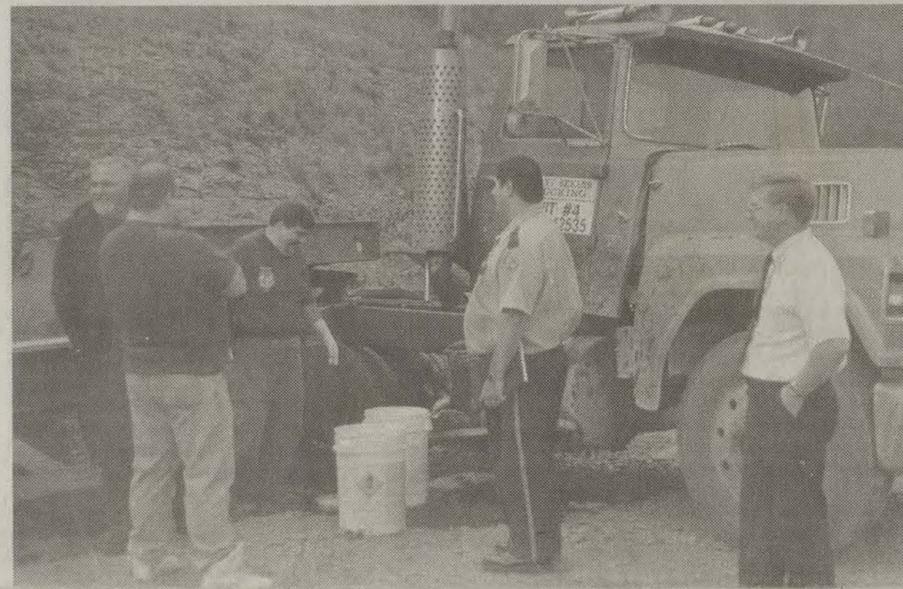

Area forest fires caused other interruptions in telephone services in Allen, McDowell and Martin. Phone services in those communities were confined to inside the three-digit prefix for those areas most of Tuesday.

Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson said Tuesday afternoon that residents living in the Martin, Allen and McDowell communities could contact their local fire departments or rescue squad in case of an emergency.

"Almost all of the fire departments in the county have the sheriff's department frequency in their radios," Thompson said. "Anyone needing assistance can contact their fire departments, who in turn can contact the sheriff's office by radio."

Long district service was available from Floyd County to Johnson and Magoffin counties. In Perry County, calls could be received from Floyd County, but not placed to Floyd County.

Father, son injured in crash

Johnny Skeans, 56, and Robert Skeans, 36, both of Bucks Branch, were injured Tuesday in a vehicle accident near the Pleasure Ridge Driving Range in Prestonsburg. The two men were apparently trying to load a bulldozer onto a flatbed truck when the accident happened. Emergency technicians from P & B Ambulance treated the men at the scene and transported them to Highlands Regional Medical Center. Members of the Prestonsburg Fire Department and Floyd County Sheriff's Department responded to the scene. Deputy Ricky Thornsberry is investigating. (photo by Susan Allen)

National Guard called out to fight forest fires blazing through county

by Susan Allen

Kentucky National Guardsmen from the Prestonsburg Armory have been activated to fight forest fires in Floyd and surrounding counties for the second time in two weeks.

Members of Company B, 206th Engineer Battalion were placed on active duty late Tuesday evening by Governor Brereton Jones.

Sergeant Calvin Sizemore said Tuesday evening that the governor's order placed guardsmen on active duty indefinitely until the fire situation is under control.

"We're on active duty until the fires are under control or out and the area is secure," Sergeant Sizemore said.

Guardsmen were on active duty last week and ceased operations Friday, Sergeant Sizemore said.

Teams will move out today (Wednesday) to fight forest fires in Floyd, Pike, Johnson and Knott counties. Guardsmen from Morehead and Jackson will also be involved in the operation, Sizemore said.

Sergeant Sam Sumpter, with the Prestonsburg National Guard Armory, said Tuesday that five teams of guardsmen were out last week fighting forest fires in Floyd, Pike and Johnson counties.

State forestry officials and volunteer firefighters were working Tuesday to contain a 400-acre forest fire at Jacks Creek in Floyd County.

Joe Ferguson, with the state's Division of Forestry, said Tuesday that the Jacks Creek fire is the largest fire in the county. He added that forestry officials could not estimate the amount of acreage that has been burned in Floyd County by forest fires.

Seventeen forestry crews are out in Floyd and Pike counties this week

Santa Claus is coming to town

On Thursday, December 1, Santa will lead a Christmas parade through downtown Prestonsburg.

The parade route isn't finalized yet, Fred James, Prestonsburg tourism director and Main Street manager, said Tuesday. James said the parade will begin on South Lake Drive from the S-curve and travel through West Court Street. It will end at the municipal parking lot where a tree-lighting ceremony will be held.

All school organizations, civic clubs, churches and businesses are welcome to participate in the parade, James said. To schedule an entry in the parade, call Donna Blackburn at 886-3876 or Fred James at 886-2335.

Also to celebrate the Christmas season, Christmas In The Park, sponsored by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club, will be held at Archer Park on December 15, from 6-8 p.m.

"Christmas in the Country" will be presented on December 3 by the Kentucky Opry. The concert will begin at 7 p.m. in the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse.

Survivor tells jury of Drift shooting

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Proceedings are expected to be concluded today in the trial of a Floyd County man charged with murder in the July 1993 shooting death of Meredith Conn of Spurlock.

Herbert Gene Salisbury Jr., 46, is charged with murder, first degree assault and first degree wanton endangerment for a shooting incident at the home of Jimmy Hall last July. Salisbury is accused of shooting Hall twice and firing at Michael Bryant.

The first witness to testify for the commonwealth was Hall, 30, of Drift, who claimed Salisbury shot him two times after shooting Conn.

Hall described Salisbury as a friend and said that there had been no altercation between the men prior to the shooting.

Salisbury slammed the door open to Hall's residence and shot Conn twice, Hall testified.

"He had a smile on his face and Kentucky family battles Kansas for grandchildren

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

Beverly Carroll isn't in Kansas anymore, but her grandchildren are, and that's one of the stumbling blocks in her quest to adopt her grandchildren.

Carroll and her husband, Alex, residents of Grethel, have been conducting courtroom battles with the state of Kansas for more than a year to adopt Beverly's oldest grandson, Devan, but their petitions and subsequent amendments have all been denied.

The Carrolls heard recently that their latest petition, a writ of Mandamus for the court to order Kansas' Social Rehabilitation Services (comparable to Kentucky's Cabinet for Human Resources) to allow the Carrolls to adopt the grandson, had also been denied.

The Carrolls had also amended the petition for adoption to include Beverly's granddaughter who is mentally handicapped. That request was denied.

The saga of the Carroll's efforts to adopt Beverly's grandchildren is a long and complicated one. The story actually began to unfold when Beverly's first husband, a minister, suffered a nervous breakdown. Beverly struggled financially to keep a home for her children and food on the table. Because she felt she couldn't adequately provide for her family, she asked her youngest daughter to go live with her husband's mother until the daughter's father was out of the hospital and the family got back on its feet.

Beverly's oldest daughter, Jessica, had difficulty accepting the changes in her life and the criticism from her father's congregation. She kept running away from home.

Eventually, Jessica married and had two children; one of them, a daughter, was born with severe mental retardation. Around the time of the child's birth, Jessica's husband was put in jail for possession of drugs.

He and Jessica separated. Jessica filed for divorce, which is still pending. In the meantime, Jessica found another man in her life. She and her boyfriend had a baby daughter. The baby was premature and weighed only 1 lb. 12 oz. at birth. The infant spent 90 days in a neo-natal unit. Jessica could not handle the stress and suffered a nervous breakdown. She was hospitalized.

Allen Council avoids rift over purchase of radar gun for city police department

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

A radar gun purchased for the Allen City Police Department almost caused friction between council members at a meeting of the Allen City Council Monday night.

Council member Sharon Woods admitted to council members that she came to the council meeting mad because the radar gun had been purchased without the consent of the council.

"We agreed (the police department) needed it, but we agreed to wait," Woods said.

Allen Mayor Chris Waugh explained that he had misunderstood a motion about the gun at the council's last meeting in September.

"It was a mistake on my part," the mayor said.

Woods accepted the explanation and seconded a motion made by council member Anne Bentley to keep the gun and to put up signs in the town alerting motorists that radar will be used in the city.

Virgil Conn, Allen police chief, said the radar gun is already helping slow traffic in the city. Tony Conn, Allen police officer, said he had clocked a coal truck at 61 mph in a 35 mph zone.

Also at Monday's meeting, council members agreed to give their city hall a new look, but it won't be the aluminum siding that the council had planned to have put on the building. Bids received by the council estimated that putting aluminum siding on the stone building would cost around $4,000.

Instead of siding, the building will get a coat of paint. Council agreed to purchase gray paint and to use community labor to paint the facility. The building's tin roof will be painted black.

In other business at the meeting, the council discussed:

- The city's Christmas lights, which will be put up on Wednesday before Thanksgiving;

- A survey by the state transportation department to determine if a four-way stop, a caution light, or a red light will be put up at an intersection in the city;

- An electric heater for the city police department; and

- Trash on private property in the city which the council wants to have removed.

Hearings set

Preliminary hearings are set for today (Wednesday) for two adults and three juveniles accused of contaminating the City of Martin's water supply.

John Edward Reed, 19, of Martin and Kevin Whitaker, 18, of Hueysville, are charged with first degree criminal mischief and first

Several evacuated during hospital fire

Several patients and employees were evacuated during a fire Saturday morning at Highlands Regional Medical Center in Prestonsburg. The fire apparently started in a patient's room on the third floor. Members of the Prestonsburg fire and police departments and the Kentucky State Police responded to the scene. The fire is under investigation by the Prestonsburg Fire Department. Grandchildren

Jessica's boyfriend's mom kept the children for a few days, but then turned them over to the state, Beverly said. Jessica's boyfriend later got his daughter back, but Jessica's son and middle daughter became wards of the state.

On November 22, 1991, the children were placed in temporary custody of the Social Rehabilitation Services (SRS).

Beverly was not aware that her grandchildren were under state care. The hospital where Jessica was under 24-hour suicide watch would not allow her to make any calls, Beverly said. One day, though, her daughter was allowed to call and she screamed into the phone that the state already had her two daughters and was coming after her son. She pleaded with Beverly to go get the child.

Beverly told her it was too late and that she'd have to get a lawyer to get the child back. And besides, she told her daughter, she wanted all three of her grandchildren, but first she had to find a way to support them financially.

At that time, Beverly was trying to help support her ex-husband and she was living in a small, studio apartment that wasn't big enough for three children. She wanted her grandchildren, but she didn't know how to go about getting them.

She knew she also could not financially support her middle grandchild. She did not know — and was not told by SRS — that she would receive benefits to take care of the child's special needs. As soon as she found out she would have help paying the child's medical bills, Beverly made it known to the agencies involved that she wanted to adopt her granddaughter, too.

Beverly and Alex Carroll were married on November 25, 1992. Alex helped Beverly with her daughter's expenses, and Beverly knew she finally had the financial means to adopt her grandson.

The Carrolls filed a petition to adopt Beverly's grandson, Devan, but was told the filing was premature. The children's mother relinquished her rights on February 8, 1993. The mother was told the state would terminate her rights anyway, Beverly said. The father's rights were terminated on the same date.

A staffing meeting was held on February 18 to determine the possible adoption placement for Devan, and the child's needs were identified.

Devan was at a high risk for loss and attachment, the records indicated. He had been placed in four foster homes in two years. Beverly questions why the child was placed in so many foster homes when he could have been with her if SRS would have considered her grandparent's rights to adopt him.

At the February meeting, Beverly and Alex's request for adoption of the child was also discussed.

"The staffing team is concerned that the Carrolls' move to Kentucky makes a placement with them a high risk based on Devan's need," court records indicated.

The report also mentioned the strength of the family and the financial security they offered. It mentioned that Beverly Carroll wrote often to her grandson and sent him candy, toys and money.

Since then, Beverly said she has learned the child is not getting her letters, nor is he allowed to take her phone calls.

Another positive report for the Carrolls at the meeting was homestudies that had been completed by both Kansas and Kentucky. Both homestudies had approved the Carrolls as adoptive parents.

At the staffing meeting in February, concerns arose that Beverly had not raised her two children to adulthood, but she was not given a chance to respond to that issue.

On August 18, 1993, SRS had custody and authority for adoption placement, court records indicate, and the staffing adoption team had ruled out the Carrolls as adoptive parents for the child.

The Carrolls petitioned the court in April 1994, saying that the adoption consent withheld by the Kansas SRS was "without just cause."

"SRS was aware of the pending move to Kentucky from Lansing, Kansas," the petition claimed. "Even with this knowledge, SRS failed to inform the (Carrolls) that such a move would jeopardize the adoption of the minor child."

Beverly Carroll wonders if her husband, who retired from the military, was still in service and was assigned to another post out of state if that move would jeopardize an adoption in process.

On March 8, 1994, the Kansas SRS filed a motion to dismiss the court action. On April 7, the district court granted the dismissal determining "that the court had no authority in the absence of the consent of SRS to force SRS to consent to any adoptive proceedings," court records indicated. "SRS is above the law," Beverly said.

Beverly Carroll questions why Kansas has a court and a jury in adoption cases if the court places final authority in the hands of SRS.

In May, the Carrolls filed a restraining order to keep Devan from being adopted until they could complete their pleas to the court to allow them to adopt him.

But everything they have filed has been denied, and the Carrolls feel stonewalled. It's not the end, though. They don't plan to give up.

Yesterday, Tuesday, John Rosenberg, director of Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, sent a letter to Donna L. Whiteman, secretary of the Kansas Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services, asking that she review the Carrolls' request for adoption of their grandchildren.

"From what I can learn, there was never a full scale evidentiary hearing regarding this matter...The basis for the objection of the local SRS office to the adoption remains a mystery... I am certainly convinced that Beverly and Alex would be highly conscientious parents who would provide love and affection to this child and certainly have the means to provide a good home for them in Eastern Kentucky," Rosenberg wrote.

"The state of Kansas is unlawfully restraining my grandkids," Beverly said. "If a thief is apprehended with stolen property that property is returned to its rightful owner. We want to receive what is legally and rightfully ours that has been restrained from us in the clutches of SRS and the state of Kansas."

"We want justice," the grandmother said.

Prestonsburg Council to apply for state grants for recreational projects

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

The Prestonsburg City Council agreed Monday evening to earmark up to $20,000 toward a state grant that will help the city upgrade recreational facilities or develop new ones.

The grant, which will be awarded on a competitive basis from the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund, could make a total of $40,000 available to the city. Of the total, Prestonsburg must match 50 percent, but that share can come from in-kind contributions, like labor, and not necessarily in cash.

If Prestonsburg is awarded grant funds, tourism director Fred James said the money could be spread out over a number of ongoing projects like a mini-park at Lancer and the city's river park project downtown. Funds could also be used for new recreational projects.

Grants are awarded through the state on a rating system.

A resolution authorizing James to apply for grant money was unanimously approved by council.

Also Monday, council gave first reading to an ordinance that provides for the annexation of a single parcel of property into the city limits. The property, owned by Thomas Hereford III and Mary Jo Hereford, is located on the northern edge of the city, near the intersection of Route 1428 and new Route 23. A second reading of the ordinance is required before the annexation is official.

In other business, council:

- okayed a date of Thursday, December 1, for the annual Christmas Parade downtown;

- announced that residents who need to dispose of leaves should contact the city garage at 886-3537 to schedule pick ups;

- agreed to allow the city of Pikeville to join a multi-city-county Mountain Area Drug Task Force; and

- authorized the sale of one city police cruiser as surplus property.

All members of council were present for the November 14 meeting.

Trauma program to be presented at Maytown school

Riding ATVs (all-terrain vehicles) may seem like fun, but it can be deadly is the message Maytown Elementary students will hear today, Wednesday.

The University of Kentucky Hospital will sponsor a Trauma Prevention Program for students in grades sixth through eighth at the school. The program begins at 1:30 p.m. on November 16 in the school gym.

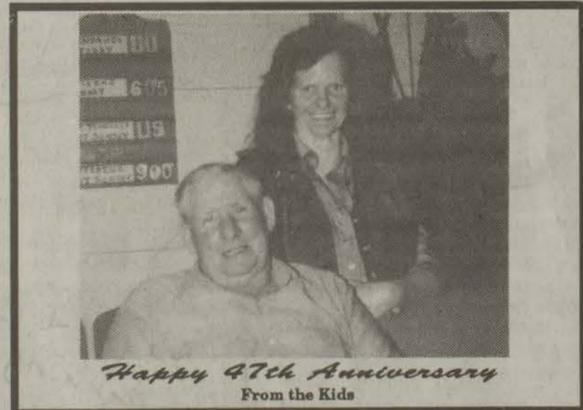

UK's goal is the prevention of traumatic injuries. The program usually targets a very high-risk group — high school students. But due to the increase of trauma injuries in younger children and public concern about their access to all-terrain vehicles, dirt bikes, farm equipment and even cars, the UK Trauma Center staff determined a critical need for communication with a younger age group — elementary students.

The one-hour program begins with a film titled "On the Edge" which features trauma victims discussing how their lives have changed since they were injured.

After the film, Kim Short, RN and a member of UK's trauma program, will speak with students.

The most powerful portion of the program is Sean Shumate, a young trauma victim who is a paraplegic as a result of a motor vehicle accident. He will talk about his personal experience and how his injuries have affected his life.

Contact person for the program is Kim Short or Donna Sammons, director of the Family Resource Center in Prestonsburg, Or. for more information, call the Medical Center Office of Public Affairs at (606) 323-6363.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

The hills are alive...

by Scott Perry

The hills are alive, with the sounds of...forest fires.

It's ironic that our hillsides can be the canvasses of such awe-inspiring beauty one week and the source of such ugliness the next.

It's no accident, though.

The forest fires raging through our tinderbox forests today most often are the results of carelessness, ignorance or, as incredible as it may seem, premeditation.

Accidents happen, it's true, but arson is no accident nor is a carelessly flipped cigarette out the car window.

The tiniest of sparks can ignite a dry forest into an inferno, threatening homes, property and even lives.

You'd think we'd have learned from past experiences how dangerously volatile the fall fire season can be.

Still, we rely on the weather and weary firefighting volunteers to douse fires that common sense might have prevented from beginning in the first place.

So every year we gasp at the colorful beauty of fall then gasp for breath until the rains beat down the flames and the winds carry the smoke away.

If experience is truly the school of mankind, a darn sight too many of us must have been playing hooky.

Where's the truant officer when you need one?

Probably out fighting fires.

The Christian Right morals, not absolute

Editor:

In response to Newt Gingrich's statement, "That the American people voted for conservative change and the so-called family values and morality of the Christian Right." He also said he would make a proposal for voluntary school prayer.

This is emblematic of the radical right's superficial remedies for America's problems. Their dogma also includes hate of gays, liberals and general intolerance toward anyone that's different than their lily-white selves.

The Christian Right and all closed-mind people need to come to grips with the fact that their pretensions of morals are not absolute, but relevant to each individual. We don't need men like Jesse Helms and Gingrich legislating their dogmatic morals on us.

Observes Veterans' Day

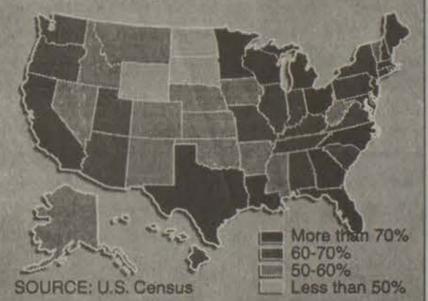

Editor:

On Veterans' Day, a very patriotic scene took place at one of our schools. Under sunny skies, the student body at Clark Elementary, along with members of the National Guard, gathered outside for a flag-raising ceremony.

Principal Wayne Combs began by saying a few words about the flag and what it means to our country. Then

Coffee Break

Crime control has been weighing heavily on the minds of many Americans for some time, and the rise in juvenile crime rates has been a real shocker.

In Kentucky, the figures for 1993 suggest that 10 percent of all crimes were committed by people under 18 years of age. Add the totals for those 18 and 19, and the percentage jumps to 17 percent.

No doubt adults are still cornering the market on crime, but youthful offenders are making serious inroads in the areas of serious crimes like murder, robbery, assault and theft.

The under 18 crowd was responsible for 28 percent of those crimes in 1993.

From the numbers it's apparent that "the innocence of youth" is a myth.

We'll make no morality statements, just offer the facts as they relate to the concerns over youth and crime.

More than two-thirds of all crimes committed by juveniles are committed by juveniles from fatherless homes.

That stat would suggest that enforcement of child support laws must go beyond hunting down deadbeat dads for their checkbooks alone.

You can't force parents to raise their children in a responsible fashion, that's true. You can force them to seriously consider their irresponsibility, though.

The sooner, the better.

Now that change is all but assured for Washington, it's quite possible we'll see some emphasis shifting away from Veep Al Gore's program to "reinvent" government to a more dramatic effort to "de-invent" government.

The GOP's promise to get government off our backs with tax cuts and a balanced budget, will require some pretty sizable offsets in spending.

Some say the most logical way to reduce government spending is to reduce government's size by eliminating layers of federal bureaucracy that effectively duplicate state programs or have become otherwise inessential.

The federal departments of Education, Transportation, Labor, Agriculture and Commerce are among those deemed by some as unnecessary. Their essential programs can be operated by the states.

Others, like the Federal Aviation Administration, The Department of the Interior, NASA, and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. could be privatized.

Of course talking about downsizing government is different from actually doing it and doing it most certainly would spark a rebellion in the nation's capital.

Last week's uprising among the voters, though, was more than a nudge to the incrowd.

We should see soon whose howls get the most attention.

If there is a way to win the war on drugs, we may just be seeing the how-to evidence in the work of a unique cooperative effort among area law enforcement agencies.

The Mountain Area Drug Task Force has had remarkable success in the fight to take street-level drug pushers out of the business but it's a bit too early to tell what the overall impact might be.

If the police work is backed up by an effective judicial system it could mean there will be fewer "little fish" selling dope to youngsters.

Then, when the "big fish" start doing their own dirty work they'll get caught, too.

That's when the tide may turn in this war.

shot Meredith Conn twice," Hall testified.

Salisbury then shot Hall, who ran into a bedroom.

"I figured if I played dead, he wouldn't shoot me again," Hall testified. "I begged him not to shoot me... but he shot me again anyway."

Hall testified that Salisbury also fired at Bryant.

After the shooting spree, Salisbury left the residence, Hall testified.

"I felt of Meredith and he was dead," Hall said.

Hall testified that the three men were in the process of smoking a marijuana cigarette when the shootings took place.

Defense attorney Steve Owens asked Hall about a pistol he had in his possession prior to the shootings and if Conn had attempted to shoot Salisbury.

Hall explained that he carried a gun at all times because he was stabbed in 1991 and had been threatened. He said that he gave Conn the gun to hold while he unlocked the door to the apartment over his home.

Hall admitted that the upstairs apartment was used by him and his friends to play poker.

Owens picked at Hall's testimony that he told emergency room medical personnel that he had taken several types of drugs, smoked marijuana and drank alcohol prior to the shooting.

Hall answered that he was taking prescription medication, which included Valium, Xanax and Loritab.

Laboratory results showed that Hall had the three drugs present in his blood and urine when he was shot.

Hall told medical personnel that he had taken six 10-milligram Valium tablets and two five-milligram Valium tablets the day of the shooting.

Special prosecutor, Anna Melvin of Johnson County, said in opening arguments that Salisbury shot Conn and Hall in cold blood for no reason.

Owens maintained that the shooting was in self-defense.

The prosecution had called 28 witnesses by Tuesday afternoon, most of whom were police officers and forensic experts.

Anna Brown, who lives with Hall, testified Tuesday afternoon that she heard six shots fired in the upstairs apartment. As she went to see what was going on, Brown said Salisbury was coming down the steps from the apartment.

"I said 'Gene, what in the hell is going on in there?'" Brown testified. "He said, 'Nothing, don't worry about it.'"

Brown said when she entered the upstairs apartment she saw Conn lying on the floor and then she began screaming. Soon after that, Hall emerged from the apartment, she said.

Kentucky State Police trooper David Watkins and deputy sheriff Ricky Thornsberry testified that Salisbury was arrested at his aunt's home at Cow Hollow at Drift after the shooting.

The trial resumes at 9 a.m. in Floyd Circuit Judge John David Caudill's courtroom.

Forest fires have been reported in Weeksbury, on Abner Mountain and in Wheelwright, Ferguson said. A crew was being sent to Dry Branch at Ligon Tuesday to fight a fire.

Firefighters were hoping that rain predicted for Tuesday night and Wednesday would materialize and put out some of the fires in the area.

Two get probation in coal-dust case

A judge sentenced two Eastern Kentucky men to probation Monday for their part in falsifying the coal-dust samples intended to guard miners against black lung disease.

Claude Stamper of Pikeville was charged with submitting false samples on behalf of 28 coal companies between January 1989 and April 1991 through his Stamper Technical Services Inc. U. S. District Judge Joseph Hood sentenced Stamper to five years' probation and a $2,000 fine. He sentenced the company to three years' probation and a $5,000 fine.

Marvin Ray Leslie, a Stamper employee, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge. Hood sentenced him to three years' probation and a $1,500 fine. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Sentencing set in mine-safety case

Sentencing is scheduled for February 14 for a former mine superintendent convicted of safety violations.

Bruce Hurley of Prestonsburg was the superintendent of the Mountaintop Restoration Inc.'s No. 1 deep mine at Davella in Martin County. A U. S. District Court jury convicted him Thursday of failing to conduct proper examinations in the mine before sending in his workers. The jury also found him guilty of falsifying the mine's pre-shift inspection logs. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Rosenberg appointed to committee; will scrutinize judges' ethics code

A committee of eight men and four women, including some lawyers, has been appointed by Chief Justice Robert Stephens to recommend changes in the ethics code for judges. One of the appointees is John Rosenberg, of Prestonsburg, who is director of Appalachian Research and Defense Fund of Kentucky.

The committee also is expected to consider whether the process for disciplining judges should be opened more to public view, said Susan Stokley Clary, general counsel to the Supreme Court.

The process now is almost completely secret. The Supreme Court is responsible for establishing the judicial ethics code and the rules for handling complaints against judges.

The committee will meet for the first time December 8 at the Capitol. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Three juveniles have also been charged in connection with the incident and, by law, their hearings are not open to the public.

Meanwhile, Martin residents have been without drinking water since last Wednesday and city officials hope to restore water service by Thursday. Martin city police chief James Burke said Tuesday.

PCC sponsors holiday concerts

The music department at Prestonsburg Community College will present two, free concerts during the holiday season.

The first concert will feature the University Choristers singing Handel's Messiah at the Mayo Memorial United Methodist Church on Third Street in Paintsville on Sunday, December 4, at 3 p.m. The performance will feature soloists Dee Dee Callis, Joy Wallace, Vicki Pack, Dr. Gary Brown and Doug Smith. Marcia Adkins will serve as the accompanist.

The second concert will star the Concert Band playing a variety of Christmas music. This concert will be held at Prestonsburg Community College in the Johnson Administration Building, Room 102, on Monday, December 5 at 7:30 p.m. Included on the program will be "A Continental Christmas," "Christmas Suite," "Yuletide Sketches," "Christmas Music for Winds," and many familiar carols.

PCC hosts seminar on substance abuse

"Drug abuse is a universal, worldwide problem."

So said Mike McGuire, one of five panelists at a seminar on Substance Abuse at Prestonsburg Community College held on November 4.

The seminar was organized by members of Sociology Instructor Craig Mulling's Modern Social Problems class as one in a semester-long series of seminars on a variety of modern social problems, particularly problems of interest in Eastern Kentucky.

Other presenters included Mary Jo Tiley, a visitor from Massachusetts; Jim Rectenwald with Mountain Comprehensive Care; Rita Conley, the Regional Director for Children with Emotional Disorders and a part-time teacher at PCC; and Rudy Little, of the Department of Social Services.

All of the presenters, with the exception of Little, have had personal experience with alcohol or drug addiction.

Rectenwald noted that he has been working in the field of addictions for over 20 years. "One of the things I have seen over time," he said, "is what once was seen mostly in the older population is now beginning to slip down into grade-school age or younger."

Early addiction, Rectenwald stated, affects a person's adjustment and development. "About 50 percent of people with chemical dependency experience some sort of mental illness in their lifetime."

McGuire agreed that chemical dependency affects a person's development, stating that people who become addicted to drugs are socially delayed. Imagine never having been on a date or never having eaten in a restaurant sober, he told the assembled students. It's a very scary experience to be sitting there in an adult's body with the emotions of someone much younger.

Little said he has never had an alcohol or drug problem but notes that he deals with the aftermath of such problems every day in his job with the Child Protection Program in the Department of Social Services. "After a blowup within the family due to chemical addiction, it's my job to go in and put up some safety nets for the children," he said. "It's like going in after a tornado has hit and trying to pick up the pieces."

Tiley, a visitor from Massachusetts, identified herself as a cross-addicted alcoholic who has been in recovery for 13 years. She noted that the difference in dealing with substance abuse now as compared to when she had a problem is that today there is more emphasis on intervention and more awareness of the problem.

Conley agreed with Tiley's observation, noting that when she was a child, chemical dependency or substance abuse was "an issue of shame." Conley noted that alcohol addiction existed in her family but was hidden and never talked about. Therefore, when she went off to college and began social drinking, she did not realize that she had an inherited condition which would make her so much more susceptible to alcoholism than her peers. She learned the hard way and has been in recovery for 13 years.

"My children started hearing about alcohol addiction since the first and second grade," Conley stated, noting that today chemical dependency has changed from being an issue of shame to one which people can talk about.

Conley noted that it is estimated that 10 to 15 percent of us have a genetic pre-disposition to alcoholism.

The panel concluded the presentation by warning the students not to try to stereotype what an alcoholic will look like or how the alcoholic can perform on the job. "The oldest myth," McGuire told the students, "is that guy putting in eight hours a day can not be an alcoholic."

Pikeville College approves two new academic programs

The Pikeville College Board of Trustees has approved two new academic programs in communications and sociology to begin next fall. The programs are designed to meet the strong interest in Kentucky high school graduates in careers in interpersonal relations. They reflect the College's commitment to provide courses of study in growth areas of the job market.

The communications program will offer both an academic major and minor in the field. Students in the program will be prepared for a wide variety of careers such as: business, law, public relations, mass communications, and community service. The program will combine courses in speech, rhetoric, linguistics, media performance, communications theory, and a variety of other courses. Degree requirements for this major will include internship experience.

The sociology program will also offer a major and minor, plus an option to specialize in the area of criminal justice. The program will stress the study and understanding of group, organizational, and institutional behaviors and environments. Sociology majors will gain valuable insights into leadership, service and other dimensions of human behavior, and will be prepared to pursue careers in business, organizational management and the fields of social services and administration.

The criminal justice concentration will make students familiar with the justice system and prepare them for careers in law enforcement, corrections, court service and security. The scientific study of criminology, delinquency, and society's institutions and processes of response will characterize this curriculum. A student internship will also be required of majors with a criminal justice concentration.

Pikeville College will hire additional faculty for these new programs. Dr. Roger Bates, dean of the faculty, states, "Pikeville College is pleased to be able to offer programs which are responsive to the needs of area students and the region."

He adds, "The cooperation and enthusiasm of the faculty, administration, board of trustees, and the local community contributed to the development of these new programs."

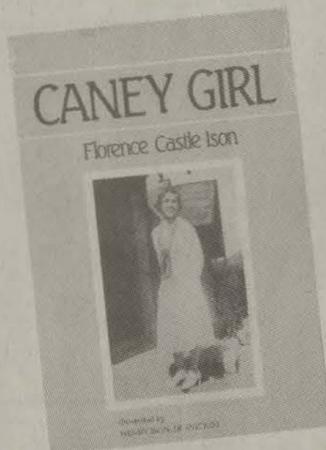

Information about the new academic programs, or other areas of interest, may be obtained from Dr. John Sanders, associate dean of admissions, or Dr. Roger Bates, dean of faculty, at 606-432-9200.

Kentuckians can attend college at home with KET telecourses

Getting through college is no easy task. Juggling work, family, and school would be difficult even for a super hero. That is why, for the past sixteen years, KET has delivered college to the homes of Kentuckians. Registration is now underway at many Kentucky colleges and universities for KET's Spring 1995 telecourses.

Taking a fully accredited college-level course from home is a practical way to earn credit or take the first step toward earning a degree. Students can video-tape the telecourse and watch it at their convenience. After registering for the course through their local college or university, students' on-campus obligations are minimal. Most schools require class attendance just a few times throughout the semester in order to administer tests and distribute assignments. Books and other supplies for the course can be purchased at campus bookstores.

The 1995 spring schedule of KET telecourses includes a new graduate-level class for educators, as well as nine undergraduate courses in a variety of disciplines.

Teachers Tackle Thinking, KET's spring graduate-level course, challenges teachers to teach thinking skills in all content areas. It helps teachers transfer content learning to effective thinking in real-world situations. The twelve half-hour video programs deal with developing effective thinking, deductive reasoning, inductive thinking, questioning, problem-solving, and decision-making skills in varied content areas. Teachers who take this course will find themselves paying closer attention to why they are teaching a specific piece of content and its impact on how they are teaching.

The nine undergraduate classes include America in Perspective, a course that focuses on the lives of Americans and the consequences of political and social conflict in our nation's history since 1877. Government by Consent combines political science instruction with examples of how students can involve themselves in government.

Living with Health encourages students to take a proactive stance toward maintaining health and promoting wellness.

For business students, Marketing uses practical examples and case studies to solve modern marketing problems and to identify consumer needs; and Taking the Lead emphasizes the competencies necessary for successful business management with the culturally and socially diverse workforce of the '90s.

In the areas of archaeology and sociology, Out of the Past uses visually dramatic on-site footage to explore how archaeologists reconstruct ancient societies and to explain how and why they evolved; Portrait of a Family explores the diversity of living patterns and decisions people face in their lives; Rural Communities: Legacy and Change addresses the challenges and changes facing rural America and examines various facets of rural community life; and The Sociological Imagination advances students from the experiential to the intellectual, provoking them to think creatively and critically about themselves and their social worlds.

The following colleges will be offering some or all of the 1995 spring KET courses: Morehead State University, Hazard Community College, and Prestonsburg Community College.

To find out which courses the university or college in your area is offering and to receive a broadcast schedule, call KET at (800) 432-0970.

Doctors' Office Building to offer restaurant and wellness center

Construction on the Highlands Doctors' Office Building is scheduled for completion in the spring. What began as a dream in the early '80's and took the following ten years of diligent work and planning will become reality.

The five-story, 71,438 square foot structure, designed to serve a key role in Highlands' efforts to train, recruit, and retain healthcare professionals, will help assure the availability of doctors in Eastern Kentucky to provide quality healthcare now and in the future.

Each year the number of patient visits to Highlands continues to grow. In 1993 Highlands registered over 6,500 inpatients; 12,000 patients visiting Highlands Clinic; 28,000 ER visits; and over 34,000 outpatients not including OB and outpatient surgery patients or the numerous visitors who come to see patients while they are in the hospital. These numbers reflect the increasing healthcare needs of the community.

In an effort to address these needs and in keeping with the overriding purpose of the Doctors' Office Building, three entire floors—2nd, 3rd, and 4th have been designated for doctors' office space. Beyond that, available space continues to focus on service to and for the community.

The first floor will feature a Foodcourt similar to those seen in shopping malls in larger cities. It will seat 154 and be open to the community, as well as hospital employees. The design will have three separate food service areas—the "Country Cookin' Cafe," an "International Food Fest," and the "Hot Spot."

The "Country Cookin' Cafe" will offer the signature entrees and desserts for which Highlands Food Service Department has earned a regional reputation. Menu selections will include "scratch cooking" and traditional hot meals with a daily special.

The Foodcourt's second meal zone will be called the "International Food Fest." Here one can enjoy a daily special of Chinese, Italian, or Mexican cuisine. Pizzas and taco salads will be offered on a daily basis.

The "Hot Spot" was designed to provide breakfast at the Foodcourt. In addition, burgers, hot dogs, deli sandwiches, bagels, donuts, bakery items, yogurt, and ice cream will be available. This area is designed to offer customers a relaxing atmosphere throughout the day.

The first floor will also include two private meeting/dining rooms available for private/community organizations. Seating capacity for each room is 36, or the rooms may be combined to seat 72. Highlands Food Service Department can provide catering for this area upon request.

An outpatient pharmacy, featuring individual pharmaceutical counseling such as that offered in the Highlands Clinic Pharmacy in Paintsville, will also be located on the first floor. In addition to medications, the pharmacy will offer many retail home healthcare items.

The main entryway will be one of the building's most impressive features. A multi-level glass atrium will form the entryway and house the main lobby and an information area/outpatient registration.

Plans for the fifth floor include a full service wellness/fitness center available, again, to the community as well as the Highlands family. Details of the wellness center have not been completed at this time, but will be released in the near future.

As with any undertaking of this size, an original concept or vision inspired and is carried throughout the project. For Highlands, the Doctors' Office Building is more than just bricks and mortar. It represents the Highlands vision of improving the quality of life and providing healthcare services for the area now and in the future. A vision one step closer to reality and in a few short months, visible proof that dreams can come true.

Going up

Highlands new Doctors' Office Building, scheduled to open in the spring, will offer added health and wellness services to the community.

In Memory Of Rufus Thacker

November 19, 1926-May 28, 1994

A Very Special Dad

I've tried to come up with a word good enough to express to everyone just how special Rufus really was and I've found that the one word I'm looking for just doesn't exist, but I've found an example. When my grand-daddy "Allen Conn" passed away in 1980, I heard a lot of people say, "when God made him, He broke the mold," but that's not so, because before God broke the mold, He made Rufus! God gave me a special dad in Rufus and I love him and I miss him far beyond words, but I've realized now there was a piece of that "broken mold" missing in Heaven and so when God looked down Saturday morning and called Rufus home, He placed the pieces together again!

Church offers rite for infants who died before birth

Parents, grandparents, siblings and friends grieving the loss of an unborn child through miscarriage, accident or abortion are invited to attend a special prayer service at St. Martha Church on Route 3 at Water Gap on Tuesday, November 29 at 7 p.m.

The service, called "The Naming and Commendation of an Infant Who Died Before Birth" will be celebrated in the context of St. Martha's regular Tuesday evening Mass.

Participants will have an opportunity to formally name their children and commend them in faith to the loving mercy of God. They will receive a certificate commemorating the celebration.

In many cases of unborn infant death, a body is not present and it is not possible to hold a funeral or burial ceremony. This ritual was developed in response to the very real grief of the families. It allows them to acknowledge the impact of their unborn family member's brief life it gives expression to their heartfelt grief; and it allows them to renew and deepen their faith and hope in God.

The service was developed in St. Louis by the Office of Worship in cooperation with the Archdiocesan Pro-Life Office as a pastoral response to grieving families whose children died prior to birth. The ritual came to Prestonsburg via the St. Louis relatives of a St. Martha parishioner who miscarried earlier this year.

Pastoral concern for St. Martha Church families who have experienced miscarriage this year prompted this ceremony. But through their friendships and ministries, St. Martha parishioners are keenly aware of other families who are also grieving the deaths of unborn infants. Therefore, invitations are being extended to the community through the media, letters to area churches and the Mothers of Angels with the hope of reaching those for whom this experience would be a blessing and consolation.

For more information, call the church at 874-9526. Reservations are appreciated, but are not required.

Better business bureau services available 24 hours a day!

The Better Business Bureau of Central and Eastern Kentucky Inc., has long been recognized as a valuable source of marketplace information. Consumers and businesses can call for pre-purchase and charitable giving information about specific firms, general marketplace advice, and for assistance in resolving marketplace disputes.

Demand for these free services has increased greatly over the past few years. In fact, a GTE busy study conducted in July of 1993 showed a 96 percent increase in call attempts to the Bureau over the previous two years.

In response to this greater demand, and to alleviate the difficulties callers had previously been having in reaching the Bureau, the Better Business Bureau has implemented a two phase automation plan.

Phase I: Computerization

In January 1994 the BBB office went on line with a network computer system, automating thousands of company records through a customized BBB software package. By having the information readily available for callers, the BBB was able to assist more callers in less time.

Phase II: Interactive technology

As of August 1994, addition phone lines couple with an automated telephone reporting system allow callers 24-hour-a-day access to record reliability reports, complaint information, and general advice reports on a variety of topics!

Using a touch-tone phone, callers simple enter the ten-digit telephone number of the firm or organization about which they are inquiring for quick, up-to-date reliability reports to assist them in their buying or giving decision. If callers need assistance not available on the automated system, BBB staff are still available to provide personal assistance Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. In its first few months of operation this system with no publicity, the Bureau has tripled their incoming telephone calls without adding additional staff.

To contact the Bureau, call 1-800-866-6668.

Perhaps you sent a funeral spray
If so, we saw it there.

MSU workshop participants

Teachers from area high schools participated in the Integration of Academics and Vocational Education (IAVE) Project on the Morehead State University campus. Taking part in the three-day workshop on integration techniques were two from South Floyd High School. The teachers and their disciplines were Willie Elliott, English, and Gwinetta Mitchell, right, family and consumer sciences. With them is Jane Ellington, center, MSU associate professor of human sciences and project director. (MSU photo by Eric Shindelbower)

MSU offers new business degree

Morehead State University, through the Appalachian Graduate Consortium here, has launched an Executive M.B.A. Program for area business personnel seeking to further their education with a graduate degree in business administration.

The program was created by MSU's College of Business faculty after talks with community leaders who believed there was a need for local access to the master's degree program in business administration.

MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin told the civic leaders that if they would raise $50,000 a year for the program's first three years, that MSU will fund instructional and other costs of about twice that amount each year.

The local funding will be used to help hire an on-site faculty member for the program, who also would be available to assist with economic development efforts in the Pikeville area.

Custom-designed Executive M.B.A. programs are becoming more commonplace, according to Beverly McCormick, interim dean of MSU's College of Business. "However, we think our approach is rather unique," the dean said.

Enrolled in a special "Precept Seminar" this fall are 39 individuals, whose ranks include mining executives, banking personnel, medical administrators, store managers, CPAs and small business owners. Many of the students' employers are paying full or partial tuition through educational assistance programs.

In addition to the traditional undergraduate degree requirement, students enrolling in the Executive M.B.A. Program must have a minimum of two years of managerial or supervisory experience.

Based on the cohort concept, this group of degree-seekers will stay together for a three-year period to complete the program and then a new cohort class will be started when sufficient enrollment becomes available.

Executive M.B.A. Programs differ from the customary M.B.A. degree in that they are based on actual experience in the business world, according to John Alcorn, MSU associate professor of accounting and coordinator of the M.B.A. programs.

The Precept Seminar, which meets twice a week for two and a half hours this semester, was carefully tailored to cover a common body of knowledge required for the graduate degree.

"Actually, the seminar transcends traditional business-related courses and will include such areas as writing skills and presentations," McCormick said.

Successful completion of the seminar for six graduate credit hours is a requirement to progress in the program. Students will be evaluated on the basis of a portfolio created from assignments evolving out of the seminar.

The full program not only includes specific required courses, but also there will be electives offered structured to meet the needs of the cohort, Alcorn said.

Nina Reynolds, a medical technologist at Pikeville Methodist Hospital who holds a bachelor's degree in biology from Morehead State University, has long wanted to see graduate education opportunities in the area for those who are not teachers.

"MSU's Executive M.B.A. degree program is giving me an opportunity for self-improvement while making me more valuable to my employer and this region," Reynolds said.

Pike Methodist to present AIDS update

Pikeville Methodist Hospital will present AIDS Update on November 18 beginning at 6 p.m. The session will be held at the Educational Center located on the corner of Fourth Street and Hambley Boulevard in Pikeville. Dr. Mary Pauline Fox will be the speaker.

The seminar is free of charge and designed to meet the AIDS continuing education requirement for Kentucky relicensure of healthcare professionals. It is approved for all eleven healthcare professions. Two contact hours will be awarded at the completion of the seminar.

At the completion of the seminar, participants will be able to:

- 1) Identify relevant facts pertinent to the disease prevalence within the United States which includes basic medical and epidemiological information.
- 2) Identify the verified modes of HIV transmission.
- 3) Describe the current medical treatment for HIV.

4) Describe the method which prevents the transmission of HIV, including universal precautions.

5) Describe the management of HIV in the health care workplace.

6) Identify the moral, ethical, and legal issues related to HIV, including methods to facilitate changes in attitudes and behavior relative to AIDS patients.

7) Identify the comprehensive human services available for HIV patients.

The public is also invited to attend. Call 437-3525 to register. Space is limited.

Birthday wishes; Henson an inspiration

Birthday wishes go out to Daniel Knusz who turned 11 last Friday. Daniel is a member of the Betsy Layne Elementary Bobcats and loves to play football. Happy birthday, Daniel.

Wishes also go out to Shawn Henson who celebrated his birthday this past Tuesday. Shawn is a member of the Duff Bulldogs' basketball team and quarterbacked the Allen Central Little Rebels' football team.

Happy birthday, Shawn. The old man on the block in birthday's is Dennis "D.I." Henson. The old fellow turned 44 this past Saturday.

D.I. is an active worker in the youth leagues around the county and does a good job coaching. Happy birthday, D.I.!

Have an athlete or coach that you want to send a birthday greeting to? Just give me a call and we'll do our best to get it in.

HENSON BIG INSPIRATION!

In this day and time of selfish baseball, basketball and football players, it is refreshing to run into someone who just loves to play the sport for the fun of it.

Someone who can be an inspiration to others. Someone who doesn't complain because she is handicapped. Someone who just goes out and does the best that she can.

That person is Gigi Henson of the John M. Stumbo Lady Mustangs.

Henson's right shoulder was pinched when she was born into this world and it has caused her right arm to become handicapped.

"She has no feeling in it whatsoever," said Lady Mustang coach Danita Johnson. "She broke it one time and because there is no feeling, she didn't even know it."

Johnson said that Henson never complains because of not being able to use her right arm like other girls that play basketball for the Lady Mustangs.

"A lot of the kids around the county could learn from her," said Johnson. "She is an inspiration to many."

Henson dribbles the basketball with her left hand and of course has to shoot the same way. But her handicap doesn't make her any less of a player.

When a pass comes her way, she stops the ball with her right hand and then picks the basketball up and dribbles left handed.

The right arm doesn't hinder taking the ball to the basket. In fact, you don't want to put her on the free throw line because of her uncanny way of hitting the free tosses.

"She is one of our best free throw shooters," Coach Johnson said. "It doesn't come easy for her but she works very hard."

Coach Johnson said that when the team plays or practices she doesn't show any favoritism toward Henson.

Louisville Moore to visit Allen Central Saturday

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

High school basketball panoramas will begin picking up in the next week as high school teams look for someone else to practice against other than themselves.

Most coaches admit that the scrimmage games don't mean much whether you win or lose. But that is in words only.

Deep down they want to win a scrimmage game just as much as a regular season game.

Allen Central will get a real test in the next two Saturday nights when they play their two exhibition games.

The Rebels, a Sweet Sixteen participant last year, will host another Sweet Sixteen team from last season, Louisville Moore.

The Rebels and Mustangs will square off this Saturday night with a 7:30 p.m. scheduled tip-off time. The freshmen will face the junior varsity before the varsity game.

Moore, which featured All-American Louis Richardson, lost to Lexington Dunbar in the semifinals of last season's state tournament.

Richardson is gone and so is then coach Tommy Finnegan. Larry Miller will be at the helm of the Mustangs for the first time this season and his son Wesley Miller will be one of the three returning starters.

Without the presence of Richardson at 6'8", Coach Miller said that his team will have to make up for their lack of size another way.

"We have a couple players that are 6'2" and 6'3", he said. "But we are a quick team. We have no size and we will just have to do things this year to make up for that."

"We will spread out the court a lot and take the ball inside and dish it back out for the three-point shot. We will be a team that will shoot a lot of three-pointers."

The new coach said that his team has been working hard this fall in practice and especially on shooting the treys.

"We're starting to make the three-pointers better in practice," Miller said.

Miller was an assistant to Jim O'Brien when he was head coach at the University of Dayton. O'Brien, who is now an assistant for UK's Rick Pitino, brought the UK offense to Dayton where Miller picked it up.

"We will run an offense very similar to UK's," he said. "But when you really look at it, it will be more geared toward Cincinnati's."

Marvin Miller, who started at guard for the Mustangs, may not be in the top five when the season begins.

"He has been struggling some this year," said Coach Miller. "He may not be a starter but will see a lot of playing time."

Bryan Dow (5'7", 140) will return for his senior year and, according to Coach Miller, will be one of the teams outside shooters.

Prestonsburg's football season ends!

Third time's charm for Russell in 14-7 win

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

As the autumn leaves have fallen and the cooler weather is on the horizon to signal the end of the beautiful fall colors, another season closed and that was the football schedule of the Prestonsburg Blackcats.

The Russell Red Devils saw to that after they took advantage of an early Prestonsburg turnover to post a 14-7 win over the Blackcats in the second round of the regional playoffs at Russell Friday night.

The Blackcats finished the season 8-4 while Russell remains undefeated at 12-0.

Russell will face Whitesburg this coming Friday night at Russell.

Prestonsburg was in hopes of returning to the state 2A championships, something they enjoyed last year.

But an early turnover set the tone for the game as the Red Devils won for the first time in the last three years against the Blackcats. Prestonsburg had defeated the Red Devils in playoff action the last two years including a 21-0 shutout at Russell last season.

Prestonsburg's defense was in good form as they held the explosive Red Devils to just 158 yards total offense.

But the offense could not get on track as they managed just 79 yards rushing.

The Blackcats held the Red Devils on their first series of plays. Prestonsburg then made two mistakes they have been making all season -- they received a heavy penalty and then fumbled the football away.

On the punt return that Clint Shutts returned 18-yards, the Blackcats were flagged for a clipping call pushing them back 15-yards to their own 23.

After quarterback Thomas Ratliff could only pick up a yard, halfback Mike Shepherd fumbled the football on the second play from scrimmage with Russell's Matt Garrett coming up with the football.

On a third-and-eight play, halfback Jeff Frasure went around the right end for a 22-yard run and a 6-0 Russell lead with 6:49 left in the first quarter.

With just over two minutes left in the first quarter, the Blackcats took the punt and again were hit with a holding penalty that forced them all the way back to their own 6-yard line.

The quarter ended with the Cats facing a third-and-four situation.

With 11:49 showing on the clock in the second quarter, Ratliff hit split end Larry Morris with a pass and he ran the football 74-yards for the touchdown. Ratliff added the extra point and the Cats led 7-6.

Happy times!

Wildcats "press" way to 62-39 win over Melvin

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Wildcats were growling Saturday night. No, not the UK Wildcats but Rick Hancock's Maytown Wildcats.

Maytown won their first game of the grade school basketball season with a 62-39 win over John Martin's Melvin Cougars in the first round of the Right Beaver Classic at Maytown.

But the battle down the stretch was a hard one as the Cougars' just wouldn't give up.

Falling behind by 20 points, 25-5, after the first period, most teams would have folded but not Melvin. Melvin had trouble with the full court pressure of Maytown and committed several mental turnovers, failing to take care of the basketball.

The Cougar's came out in the second half with some pressure defense of their own and pulled to within 10 points, 38-28 on a three-point basket by Charlie Williams.

Melvin was getting the shots at the basket but just couldn't get the ball to drop as they failed to close in the fourth period.

Maytown, who dressed a young team this season, took advantage of the coolness of the Cougars' and ran back out to a 52-32 lead by scoring the first six points of the fourth period.

Late third period spurt gives Eagles win over Betsy Layne

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Allen Eagles and Betsy Layne Bobcats have played two games in the still young elementary basketball season and both games have been against each other.

In fact, both games have been tournament games. Allen defeated the Bobcats in the first round of the Adams Middle School Tournament last week.

This past Saturday evening the two teams squared off in the Right Beaver Classic being played at Maytown.

Jason Keathley and Seth Crisp combined for 36 points to lead the Eagles past a very strong Betsy Layne team that will be a team to be reckoned with later in the season.

Keathley pumped in 22 points with Crisp finishing with 14. Nathan Leslie added eight and Robbie Holbrook scored six. Jessie Isaach had four points for the Eagles.

Shannon Williams topped the Bobcats with 18 points. Kevin Hughes and Josh Howell scored nine and seven points respectively. John Boyd netted six while Justin Hughes had one and Brad Daugherty scored two.

Betsy Layne led most of the first half until the final six seconds of the second period. Keathley took a nice pass from Crisp and scored on a layup to give Allen a 28-27 halftime lead.

Williams buried a three-pointer to start the third period for a 30-28 lead for Betsy Layne. But Allen came back and got baskets from Keathley and Holbrook to go with a free throw by Crisp. Allen led 33-30.

Betsy Layne climbed back in front as they ran off the next five points for a 35-33 game. Williams scored on a rebound basket, Howell hit a free throw and Boyd connected on a jumper from along the baseline.

But Allen started what turned out

South Floyd junior Raiders

South Floyd junior Raiders finish 8-1 on football season

Congratulations are in order for the South Floyd Elementary Raiders "B" team after finishing with a sparkling 8-1 record this past season.

The county team won the Big Sandy Valley Conference and defeated Pike County's number one team, Dorton.

The younger Raiders amassed over 329 yards on offense while only allowing 52 points to be scored against their defense.

Matt Tackett and B.J. Bryant combined for more than 50 touchdowns on offense. Both exceeded over 1,000 yards each.

Fullback P.J. Johnson led some key blocking for the other two backs. It was a first-year position for fifth grader Josh Johnson as he quarterbacked the ballclub and did an outstanding job.

Devin Newsome, Matthew Shepherd, Brandon Kohler, J.J. Perry, Johnny Spears, Ryan Hall, Adam Little and James Goin comprised the Raiders' offensive line and each did a great job.

The Raiders' defensive line consisted of Cox, Travis Adams, Jeremy Tackett, Jeremy P. Tackett, Jason Tackett, Adam Ward and Rusty Tackett.

The team was coached by Rob Harris, Dennis Harris and Derek Little. Bobby Joe Hall was the team's equipment manager.

"He's an exceptionally quick basketball player," said the Mustangs' coach. "He shoots the three's very well."

Wesley Miller (6'2", 175), the coach's son, will be the Mustangs' go-to player.

"Wesley is a very good shooter and handles the basketball very well for us," said the new coach. "We have Bryan and Marvin but they don't handle the ball very well. They are just not good ball handlers."

Rebounding for the Mustangs will be the responsibility of Kenya Freeman (6'3", 170). Freeman is considered to be the most athletic of the Moore team.

"He is a good shooter and very athletic," said Miller. "He is scary at times how he can go to the boards."

Darrell DeVore (6'2", 150) returns, and according to his coach, could be a good one.

"He's really still learning our system," said Miller. "He is a sound athlete that can do a lot of good things. I'm very happy with Darrell."

Getting more assists is the desire of a good point guard and Miller is hoping that Cory Bailey (5'10", 160) fills that need.

"He is probably our second best passer on this team," Coach Miller evaluated. "He is another that just does so many things well."

Miller said that his team is learning a new style of basketball and is beginning to catch on.

"This is going to be a good defensive ballclub," he said. "I think we are going to be good enough to win the seventh region again this year."

"We may get off to a slow start but once we have learned the system, we will be a strong ballclub," he said.

Coach Miller's Scouting Report...

"I saw Allen Central play in the state tournament last year and was very impressed with them," he said. "I really thought that Allen Central would have won the state tournament had Jeremy (Hall) not gotten hurt against Fairdale."

"His ability to beat Fairdale's diamond press would have been very valuable to Allen Central."

"Fairdale had used the diamond press against everyone and was beating everybody to death with it. Coach (Johnny) Martin solved it and began to throw over and take the ball to the basket. Coach Martin does an excellent job of coaching."

"This (Thomas) Jenkins kid is a very good basketball player. He had a very good state tournament. When you have two great players like those two (Hall and Jenkins) you can do some damage in high school basketball."

Miller said that he is so impressed with the Rebels that he voted for them as one of the top five teams in the state.

Miller said that if his team stays away from injuries this could be a very good year for Louisville Moore basketball. The Mustangs finished 30-4 last year.

King of the Bluegrass Classic pairings announced

Allen Central will be playing in the prestigious King of the Bluegrass Classic in Louisville this season.

They will face Louisville Male in the first round. The two teams are scheduled to meet Friday, December 16 at 9 p.m.

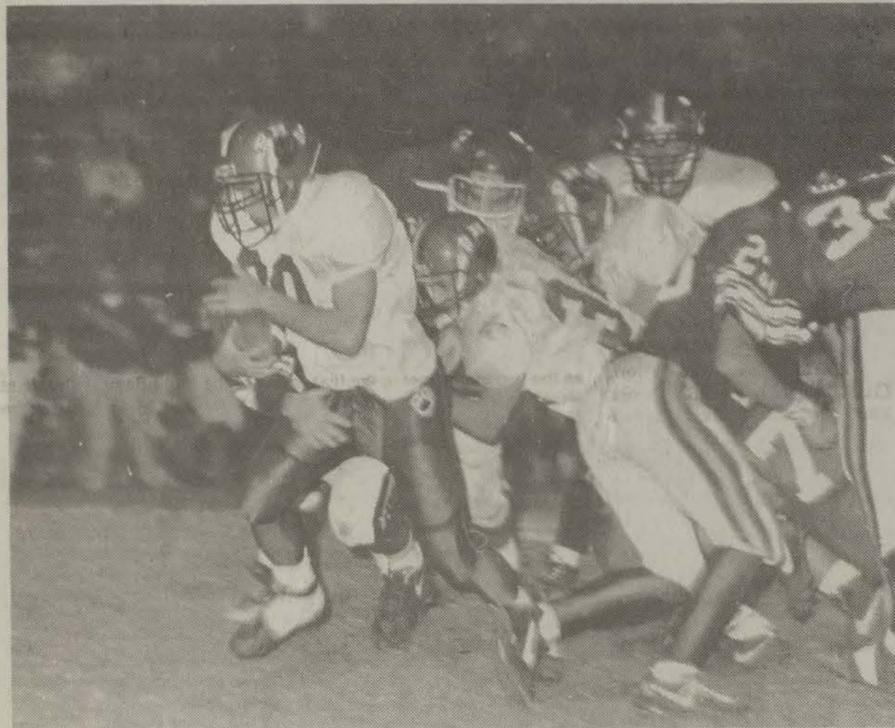

If the Rebels pull out a victory they will return to play Saturday, December 17 at 9 p.m. in the West gym.

A loss would put them in the losers bracket and a game on Saturday at 9 p.m. in the East gym.

Four out-of-state teams will compete in the tournament, including David Lipscomb (Tennessee), home of Oliver Simmons, UK signee.

Westside High School (Georgia), Calvary (Illinois), Cardinal Ritter (Missouri) round out the out-of-state teams.

Paintsville will face Greenwood in their first round game on Thursday, December 15 at 9 p.m.

Moving Mike

Mike Shepherd (30) carried for short yardage on this play against Russell last Friday night. Russell and Prestonsburg met for the third time in playoff action over the last three seasons. This time it was the Red Devils who came away with a 14-7 win over the Blackcats. (photo by Ed Taylor)

An excellent punt, that got a Prestonsburg roll, by Mike Shepherd put the Red Devils at their own 30-yard line.

But the Prestonsburg defense could not contain the Red Devils on the drive up field as they picked up three first downs while facing either a third-and-six or a third-and-five.

Russell quarterback Matt Robinson found himself all alone behind the line of scrimmage with the Prestonsburg defense coming down on him at the 37-yard line.

A Prestonsburg defender got his hand on Robinson's jersey but the sophomore quarterback lofted the ball high toward the right corner of the end zone where Shawn Craft was all alone for the TD reception. Robinson ran the two-point conversion in to give Russell a 14-7 advantage at half-time.

Before the half ended, Prestonsburg had the football on the Russell 40-yard line with eight seconds left to play. But the officials ruled that the clock should have been running and lifted the football to the air signaling that the half was over.

Coach Bill Letton questioned the call but to no avail.

Prestonsburg's defense performed even better in the second half as they held Russell to only two first downs in the half.

Jon Morris and Mike Shepherd were having problems finding running room against a very experienced Russell frontline.

With 5:03 left to play in the football game, Prestonsburg threatened to score when they got excellent field position at their own 48-yard line.

Morris picked up 9-yards and then three more for a Prestonsburg first down. On a keeper, Ratliff rushed for three and Shepherd picked up two to get to the Russell 35.

Ratliff hit Shepherd with a short pass for a 12-yard pickup and a first down at the Red Devils' 23.

After Morris was stopped at the line of scrimmage, Ratliff was spilled in the backfield for an 8-yard loss putting the football at the Russell 31.

Following an incompletion to Shutts, Ratliff went deep to the end zone to Ryan Ortega only to have Drew Ramey pick-off the pass and end the drive as well as the game.

Jon Morris carried the football 18 times for 68 yards. The Blackcats only picked up 79 yards rushing.

Ratliff completed four of nine passes for 108 yards. Shepherd had two receptions for 31 yards. Morris had one for 74 and Shutts had a catch for 5 yards.

The Blackcats were flagged seven times for 60 yards in penalties. Ratliff was intercepted twice and they fumbled the football twice losing it once.

Russell had 112 yards on the ground with Robinson completing two passes for 46 yards. Frasure was the leading ground gainer for the Red Devils with 37 yards on 13 carries. Robinson finished with 35 on 13 carries.

Russell was hit with three penalties for 20 yards. They did not fumble the football and Robinson was intercepted once.

to be a 15-0 run over the final two minutes of the third period into the first three minutes of the final period for a 48-35 lead.

Crisp hit a 10-foot jumper and then finished off a three-point play to start the rally. Holbrook hit an 18-footer to complete the run for the 13 point advantage.

Betsy Layne could not get any closer than the final 11 point margin.

Betsy Layne hit only two free throws out of seven attempts. Allen connected on six of nine.

Nathan Leslie pulled down 19 rebounds in the game for the Eagles and Keathley had 12 boards.

Allen had 16 offensive rebounds but committed 22 turnovers in the game. The Eagles hit 23 of 55 shot attempts.

The Bobcats had only five offensive rebounds and hit 17 of 50 attempts from the field. Boyd led the Bobcats with seven rebounds.

Allen (2-0) faced Duff this past Tuesday night. Betsy Layne (0-2) will host Prater Creek Monday night at the D.W. Howard Fieldhouse.

Eyes are twinkling among Wildcat basketball fans ... with good reason

Judy Wood's eyes twinkle. Sitting in church in Cecilia in Hardin County on a breezy November Sunday morning, the lady who remembers when Louie Dampier was a pup, raises her right hand modestly above her lap and cryptically holds up three fingers.

She smiles and mouths the words. Three more days. Until her beloveds would tip off another basketball season.

Judy Wood's excitement is typical for Kentuckians ... Don Hogan in Frankfort, Ruby Wherry in Covington, Jasper Hudson in Lake City to J.C. Crowe in Lewisport, and those living at all points between.

When November's gray days roll in, envelope us, Kentucky fans turn to Lexington as they have done since Adolph Rupp got off the train from Kansas.

Judy Wood's late model sports car is (Wildcat) blue and her favorite Sunday-go-to-meeting dress is too. And her optimism is an azure shade also, sky-is-the-limit blue.

With good reason. The '94-95 Wildcats. After viewing UK's tune-up against Athletics in Action last week, says here—Judy Wood, and others who collect blue things and dream blue things, are in for quite a winter.

Skeptics will think it an exaggeration, but I believe Kentucky could be 7-and-oh and ranked at the heap-top by the time Bill Keightly's team lines up against Louisville in Freedom Hall New Year's Day. What happened in Rupp Arena last week was enough to tempt you to inquire about April weather in Seattle.

Pressing defense. With its variety of combinations by way of extraordinary depth and coaching savvy, Kentucky—by New Year's Day—may be hailed as the finest defensive team in college basketball.

Defense. The level of physical skills available from so many players on one team, has to make Rick Pitino salivate over the possibilities and opportunities to tinker and tune before March Mania. And perhaps make Da Coach a little nervous wondering if he can harness it all, keep everyone happy, motivated.

Note: Early game to yardstick by: Indiana, Dec. 7, in Freedom Hall.

Offense. With starting center Andre Riddick gone down early against AIA with a knee sprain and Mark Pope in street clothes, Pitino still had enough auxiliary artillery to deploy a scorched earth policy. Re: Walter McCarty and Antoine Walker off the bench for 51 points, 19 rebounds between them, and just five turnovers.

Eye-popping good sign—Rodrick Rhodes' stat sheet. 13 points and five assists to go with no-o-o turnovers, no-o-o 3-point tries, and no show-off-dunks, all in 24 minutes.

Afterwards Rhodes told reporters, "I'm through with those things." Whoa.

Jared Prickett showed signs of resuscitation from last season's sleep walk. His 16 points and 15 rebounds were impressive, but not nearly so much as the big kid's determination to finish shots at one end, and wade into combat at both ends.

Personality. Wager Pitino would like to paint this UK team Walter McCarty relentless, having fun.

The big kid from Evansville plays as if every game is like the one in Baton Rouge. He is determined, a leader by example, and does it all with a smile.

Backcourt. Review your Street & Smith. As a collective, find a better, deeper one than Kentucky's this side of the NBA.

Prediction: Barring injury, Tony Delk is going to have one of those seasons.

Excellent sign. Pitino attempting to lower expectations, telling media and fans last week that Kentucky is not a Top 5 team.

Yes, all things considered, it isn't difficult to see why Judy Wood's eyes are twinkling.

UK RECRUITING

Oliver Simmons, 6-9 forward who signed with Kentucky last week, is rated 98th best among high school players by one talent scout. Because, the 'expert' says, Simmons struggled against the competition at Nike Camp last summer.

How long before these 'experts' who play god with a youngster's talent level, become proficient enough to implement a measure we might call Blend Factor.

Re: How well/how soon will Simmons make an impact alongside McCarty, Delk and others?

Oops. Forward Luther Clay and guard Vince Carter slipped off UK's wish list last week. Clay signed with Purdue and Carter (probably N. Carolina).

Says here, the player Kentucky probably wants most is still out there for the spring signing period however, 6-7 Ron Mercer.

Postscript: Prospect I would most like to see sign with Kentucky in the spring—6-5 guard at Three Rivers Jr. College in Missouri, name of Sunday Adebayo. Among those wooing Adebayo are Alabama, St. John's, Kansas, Cal. and Cincinnati.

AROUND KENTUCKY

...Scott Gradney (Ballard) to Ohio State and Todd Cox (Harlan) to Virginia Commonwealth are the latest high school roundball stars to join the out-of-state exodus. They join Charles Thomas (Harlan) to Minnesota; Frank Lee (Boyd Co.) and VonDale Morton (Lex. Cath) to Marshall; and Ryan Wilson (Williamsburg) to East Tenn. All of which pushes to five of the top nine players in Kentucky signing with out-of-state schools.

Next question: Who, and how many, will eventually return home to attend college, play ball as Derek Anderson (UK from Ohio State) and Tony Pietrowski (Cumberland from LSU) have done?

...Michael Fralix. Then: Skeptics and recruiters doubted he could compete at Div. I level. Now: Western Kentucky's junior playmaker is a preseason all Sun Belt Conference pick.

...Ky. Mr. Football '94. If I had a ballot it would say: 1. Shaun Alexander, Boone County; 2. Chris Redman, Lou. Male; 3. Brandon Egan, Bullitt East.

Postscript: Alexander got my vote for National Old Spice Athlete of the Year not only for the 6-1, 185-pounder's 2,400 yards and 42 touchdowns, but because his exemplary academic standing and student body president say important things about his character.

JUST WONDERING DEPT.

• Glenn Robinson signed with the Timber Wolves last week—$72 million, guaranteed(!) for 10 years.

Question: How hard do you think Big Dog will be playing by, say, 1999?

• Even as Howard Schnellenberger's team accumulated three losses, Louisville area media cranked out bowl bid propaganda right up to Nov. 3. All was quiet after Boston College clubbed the Cards 35-14 in front of a national television audience.

• Say, whatever happened to UK football's beret-clad BlackWatch?

RADIO TALK ETC.

• WHAS Radio's Sunday Night Sports Roundtable host Paul Wellman lived up to a preseason promise that if Vanderbilt beat Kentucky he would do his Nov. 6 radio program in the buff. He did. Photographically however, one wishes WHAS-TV had not given us "film at 11."

• Just one time, when I am asked to guest on a radio talk show, it would be nice to field a tough question.

The nearest might have come last month when WLAP-FM (Lexington) sports show host Scott Masteller asked, "What do you think has surprised Rick Pitino the most since he came to UK?"

Obvious answer: Da Coach discovered he had 2.7 million assistant coaches—or however many UK fans there are in the Commonwealth—who are very well educated in the nuances and stratagems of basketball and therefore hard to snow. Some of them actually have a sense of humor, too.

WORTH REPEATING

"The real reward of coaching to me is watching your players grow. I get paid well to watch. I'm pretty good at it. I watch real good. I don't miss too many things. The bottom line is that you get what you earn in this world whether you're a basketball coach or a ditch digger."

Who said those words? UofL Coach Denny Crum at his induction into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame last year.

Rather appropriate for this year's Louisville Cardinals too, don't you agree?

PARTING SHOT

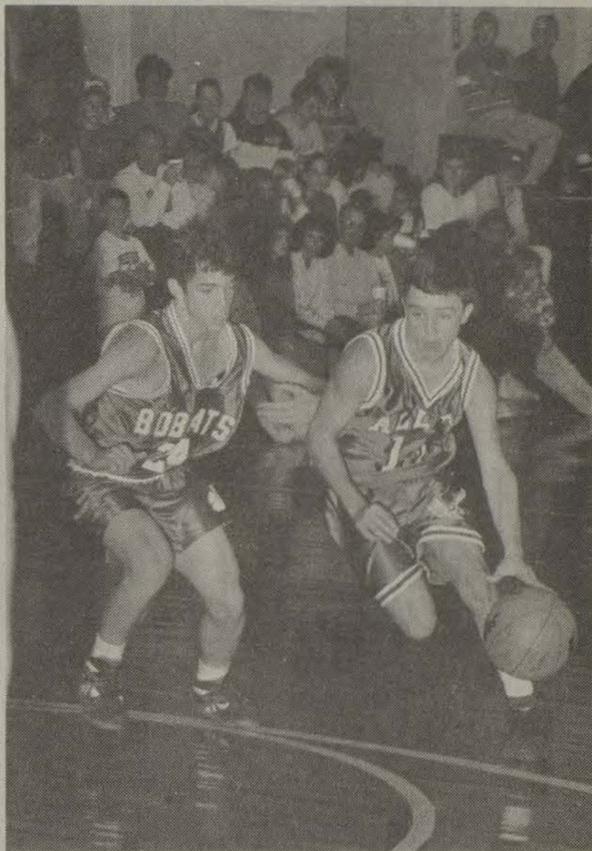

Beating ABC-TV's Sam Donaldson to the punch, ESPN's Craig Sager said of Wisconsin Sen. Herb Kohl, D-Wis. and owner of the NBA Timberwolves: "Here's a U.S. Senator who's on committees where they determine where to cut funds.

And he signs a player for $68 million. It shows you the craziness of sports."

Yep. And so it goes.

NEXT WEEK: Sports In Ky's 'A List' of preseason favorite things about college and high school hoops around the Commonwealth.

Luster scores 22 points in 58-51 win over Maytown

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Luke Luster hit three three-point baskets and seven of 10 free throws while scoring 22 points to lead the Mountain Christian Academy Falcons to a 58-51 win over the Maytown Wildcats last week in grade school basketball.

Luster hit treys in the first, second and third periods to rally his team past Maytown.

Mark Burchett added 12 points for the winners and he drilled two three-point baskets in the second period when he scored 10 points.

Alvin Reed finished with 10 points and he had a three-point basket in the third period, scoring seven points.

Johnny Murphy led the Wildcats with 20 points. Brandon Prater netted 13 and Nathan Goble scored eight.

Maytown went out in front 13-11 after the first period behind Murphy and Prater. Luster scored six of his 22 in the first period to keep his team close. Collins tossed in four points for MCA in the opening period.

MCA outscored the Wildcats 18-7 in the second period to take a 29-21 lead at the half. Luster hit his second three and two field goals in the period. But it was Burchett who went on an offensive prowl with two treys and two field goals.

Maytown trailed by 10 points entering the final period. Prater got more involved in the Maytown offense with seven points and Murphy tossed in eight in the final period as they tried to lead a Wildcat comeback.

But it was at the foul line that the Falcons kept the lead for good. They attempted 18 free throws in the final period and connected on 13. Burchett and Hall had the only two field goals in the fourth period.

MCA ended up hitting 18 of 31 free throw attempts for a cool 58 percent. The Wildcats hit 11 of 15 tries for 73 percent shooting.

A Look at Sports

"I treat her the same way I treat all the rest of the girls," she said.

"I prefer it that way," said Henson. "I don't want to be any different than any of the other players."

"I love to play basketball and I just want to do what I can to help the team."

Not only does her handicap not keep her from the sport that she loves, but she excels in the classroom as well.

"She is carrying a 3.5 grade point average," said Johnson.

The seventh-grader is looking forward to the day that she can play in high school.

"I love to go and watch Betsy Layne's girls play," she said. "When I'm not playing I go and watch them."

Henson said that playing high school basketball was on her list of things to do when she gets to the next level.

"I plan on playing when I get there," she said. "Because that's what I want to do."

Handicapped or not, Henson's determination makes her a good bet to succeed at the next level.

While some are crying, moaning, murmuring and just complaining, Henson is just getting it done on the basketball court and with only her left arm.

Friday, Betsy Layne folks answer back. Stay tuned!

Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports!

Prater had a three-point play and scored seven points in the run.

Melvin outscored Maytown 6-2 to start the second period but the Wildcats built a 32-16 halftime lead.

Melvin hit four three-pointers in the game with Williams, Dusty Tackett, James Slone and Matt Tackett connecting from the 19' 9" circle.

Chris Owens had the only treys for Maytown. He hit consecutive three-pointers in the fourth period.

Murphy led Maytown's scoring with 15 points. Prater added 12. Davis netted eight with Nathan Goble scoring six.

Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center is proud to announce the opening of our new, state-of-the-art, Emergency Services Department. Please join us in celebrating at our Open House on Monday, November 21st. Stop by the Medical Center from 4pm to 6pm and see the dramatic improvements that we've made in emergency care. Regional Medical Center

Be one of the first to explore our NURSE FIRST care concept.

We're extremely pleased that our new Emergency Department was designed to give you privacy and comfort. But, we're most proud of our new caring concept called NURSE FIRST. We know that in an emergency, the patient doesn't want to, or have time to worry about filling out insurance forms before he or she has been seen by a nurse. That's why we designed our new Emergency Services Department so that the patient will see a nurse first. The nurse will determine the level of treatment needed.

This new Emergency Department is over three and a half times larger than our previous department. It has all new, high-tech equipment including cardiac life support and the only pediatrics trauma room in the area. Not only do we now offer the best in equipment, but we also have a caring staff of highly skilled physicians and nurses. So, if minor or major emergency strikes your family, Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center has got the right equipment and the right group of caring professionals to help. Right here, right now.

Lady Mustangs' strong second half staves off Allen

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Krystal Newsome and Sheena Akers each scored nine points to lead a second half surge as the John M. Stumbo Lady Mustangs edged a good Allen Eagle team 29-22 in girls action in the Right Beaver Classic Saturday night at Maytown.

Stumbo coach Danita Johnson said that her young team has played nervous the first two games out.

"We've only got one player, Amanda Hall, that has played any basketball before," she said after the win. "But they have come along well. Tonight, I just told them what I wanted done and they went out and did it."

Tiffany Warrix, Jessica Clark and Courtney Harris topped the Lady Eagles in scoring with six points each.

Both teams appeared to be nervous at the onset as the Lady Eagles failed to put any points on the scoreboard in the first period. Stumbo got a lay up by Newsome and a free throw from Akers to lead 3-0 after the first period.

Both teams committed several first period turnovers and seemed to be forcing their shots.

With 1:55 left in the first period, Allen finally got on the scoreboard when Warrix scored a lay-up to make it a 7-0 game.

Stumbo scored the final five points of the second period to lead 12-2 at the half.

Both teams came alive in the second half as they traded baskets. Clark scored on a lay-up to start the third period for Allen and was fouled. She missed the free throw. Akers then gave Stumbo a 14-4 lead with a short jumper.

Allen scored the final four points of the third period on a lay-up by Clark and a 12-foot jumper by Courtney Harris to pull to within seven points of the Lady Mustangs after three periods.

Harris hit another jumper from the same spot to start the fourth period and Warrix hit a long jumper to make it a three-point 23-20 game with 3:23 left to play.

Allen missed a chance to get even closer when Clark missed on the front end of a bonus shot and Stumbo scored the next three points to lead 27-20.

Jennifer Baugus got a rebound basket with 20 seconds left to make it a 27-22 game, but Akers' basket off a rebound gave the final margin of seven points, 29-22.

Baugus finished with two points for Allen.

Hall added five for Stumbo with Gigi Henson, Jenny Parsons and Heather Hamilton scoring two each.

Stumbo will face the Lady Bulldogs of Duff tonight at 5:30 p.m. at Maytown.

USE LIGHT TACKLE TO CATCH 'SMART BASS'

"The harder you can make it on yourself, the more bass you're going to catch."

It doesn't exactly sound like fun, but that's the philosophy of former world champion bass angler Guido Hibdon when asked to describe how he fishes heavily-pressured lakes where bass see a lot of lures. Biologists and anglers alike agree fish can become accustomed to lures under such conditions and often stop hitting them.

"My strategy is to change to much lighter tackle and smaller lures," continues Hibdon, a member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff and winner of the 1988 Bass Masters Classic. "Light tackle is much harder to use so a lot of fishermen don't use it, and that means bass aren't accustomed to seeing those types of lures."

By changing to light tackle, Hibdon means really light. He uses jigs as light as 1/8th and 3/16 ounce, and six-pound test lines. He puts away his 1/4 ounce jigs, considered by many to be the limit for light tackle bass fishing.

"Casting such light jigs is tough," acknowledges Hibdon, "especially if you have to fish in wind or around heavy cover. With the light line you need with these jigs, snarls and foul-ups happen fairly often."

"When I'm fishing like this, I may rig five rods, all with the same lure, just so I don't miss a cast when I do mess up a line."

In many of today's heavily fished lakes, says the Johnson pro, bass see so many lures, especially spinnerbaits and crankbaits, they actually begin to shy away from them. The fish move tighter to cover and become more reluctant to bite, which is one reason Hibdon switches to jigs.

"Jigs are effective lures for inactive bass because they can be cast, pitched or flipped right into brush and cover where inactive bass stay," he explains, "and when they are inactive, smaller lures always produce better than larger ones."

The problem, the Missouri pro admits, is getting the fish out of that cover when using such light line.

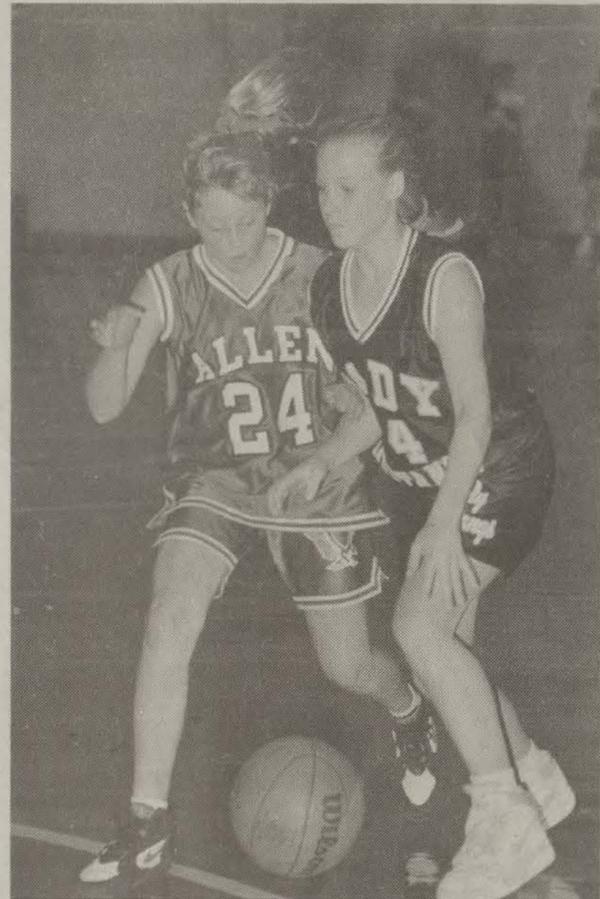

"The way I look at it," smiles Hibdon, "is that first you have to get the bass to hit your lure. After you have the fish hooked, you can worry about getting it into the boat."

"Certainly, when I'm using really light lures and line I lose a lot of fish because the line breaks on the brush, but at least I'm getting the chance to play those bass. They're hitting my light lures and I will land some of them."

"When you're using the same big lures everyone else is using and the bass are accustomed to seeing them, you don't get that chance."

Youthful Rebels look toward next season

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Throw out all the fourth quarters and the Allen Central Rebels played some pretty impressive football this season.

In fact, they would have at least two more victories.

Instead, the Rebels finished 2-8 on the season, but the future looks bright for Rebel football.

Coach Glenn Reeves dressed a very youthful team this season, and play. Allen Central had the last possession but failed to convert.

Allen Central trailed Fleming-Neon on the road 6-0 going into the fourth period. But again, the defense broke down in the waning moments as the Pirates scored twice to win 19-0.

Allen Central had their scoring opportunities as they got inside the Pirates' 20-yard line four times, but penalties were costly for them, being hit with 100 yards for infractions.

Josh Reeves led the rushing for Allen Central with 53 yards, Coleman Rebels took the 14-8 lead on a 6-yard completion from Coleman to Estill Stumbo. Blackburn caught a two-point conversion pass from Coleman.

Reeves led the ground game with 62 yards rushing. Coleman had 14 completions for 242 yards passing. He passed for two touchdowns and was intercepted once. Blackburn had four receptions for 80 yards.

In a high scoring affair, Jenkins plucked a win away from the Rebels, 46-32, as they went wild in the fourth period.

Allen Central held a 24-18 lead in the second period as the teams traded scores throughout the first half. Jenkins gained a 26-24 lead and then added another touchdown in the third period to go up 32-24.

It was 38-24 late in the third period. The Rebels had a hard time hanging onto the football and the Cavaliers were taking advantage of the mistakes.

The Rebels had a minus 50-yards rushing as they abandoned their running game. Coleman had a field day passing as he passed for 385 yards on 18 of 40 passing.

Estill Stumbo had 108 yards on the receiving with seven catches. Thomas Jenkins caught six passes for 104 yards and Kevin Stumbo brought down four for 103 yards.

Against Betsy Layne the Rebels fell behind big time early. They trailed 24-2 with just over four minutes remaining in the third period.

Tackett scored from 7 yards out and Coleman ran the two-point conversion to make it a 24-10 game with 1:49 left in the period.

With 4:39 left in the game, the Rebels got a Coleman-to-Jenkins 24-yard touchdown pass to make it 24-16 with plenty of time remaining.

The Rebels had a chance to tie the game with 2:20 left in the game but failed to move into Bobcat territory.

Allen Central had 110 yards rushing for the game and Coleman passed for 128 yards.

Still winless, the team went back on the road to 3A McCreary Central as the season began to wind down.

Coach Reeves went back to the running game and sent his backfield in motion. The result was a 20-13 win over Central after trailing 13-0 at the half.

Coleman only completed two of 13 passes for 23 yards.

James Osborne led the ground game with 52 yards. Tackett rushed for 43 and Reeves had 37.

Over the final five games of the season, a big improvement could be the Rebel crowd onto the field in protest. They claimed the football hit the crossbar and bounced back into the end zone and did not clear the bar.

The Rebels had just completed a goal line stand which was highlighted by Paul Varney's big defensive play

It saw the Rebels use their "polecat" offense in the final quarter as they played catch up with the Hornets. But Phelps posted the 24-14 victory to end the season for Allen Central.

Tackett led the ground game for Allen Central with 129 rushing. Coleman passed for 129 yards.

A host of Rebels will return next season for Coach Reeves, but the Rebels will find themselves in a different alignment. They will move up to Class 2A next year.

most of them were sophomores and freshmen.

Not just young players in numbers, but good talented sophomores and freshmen.

The first game of the season against Elkhorn City was just an indicator of things to come, although unknown at the time, for Allen Central. The Rebels were hard-hitting players until the fourth quarter when they seemed to run out of steam.

Against the Cougars, Allen Central took an 8-0 lead with just over 10 minutes remaining in the first half. Beau Tackett scored from 8-yards out and Josh Reeves ran the two-point conversion.

Allen Central's defense was strong and safety Thomas Jenkins intercepted a Cougar pass with four seconds left in the half to stall out a Cougar drive.

Shawn Robinson recovered an Elkhorn City fumble in the third period that stopped another drive by the Cougars on the Rebels' 18-yard line. The Rebs held the 8-0 advantage through the third period.

Early in the fourth period the Rebels were coming off the football slower than earlier. The Cougars stuck the football into the end zone with just over six minutes to play to tie the game 8-8.

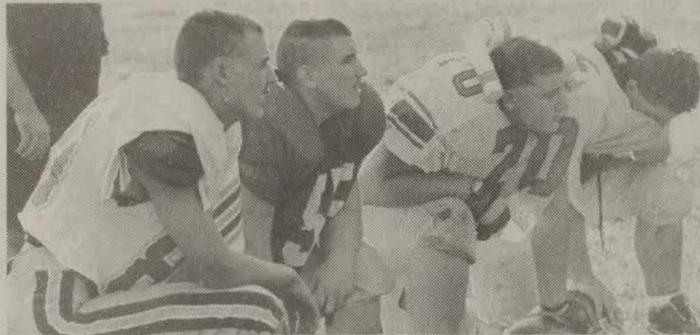

Running off an option play, Adam Coleman put the football into the hands of Tackett, who fumbled the football with Elkhorn City scooping up the ball and returning it to the Allen Central three. The Cougars scored to take a 16-8 lead with 1:40 to completed five of 14 passes for 68 yards.

District strong man, Pikeville, entertained the Rebels in the third consecutive district match to start the season. But the Panthers treated the Rebels like they do everyone else and blitzed the Right Beaver team by a large margin.

Berea came to town for the homecoming activities at Allen Central. The Pirates were struggling and appeared to be a good opponent for homecoming.

But a fourth-quarter break down in the final 45 seconds saw the Rebels fall to Berea as Bruce Chasteen scored from 4-yards out to give the Pirates a 20-14 victory.

The Rebels held a 14-8 halftime lead after trailing 8-0 in the first quarter. Allen Central pulled to within 8-6 on a 21-yard touchdown pass from Coleman to Brad Blackburn. The noted in the way the Rebels were playing and it was coming from the younger players — Eric Moore on defense, as well as the play of Matt and Paul Varney. Bubba Osborne was hitting harder off the line and the Rebels seemed to be ready for two more wins.

One of those wins came on the road in the Red, White and Blue Bowl at South Floyd. The Rebels posted a 34-14 win over district rival South Floyd.

The Raiders jumped in front 8-0 on a 22-yard touchdown run by Adam Wright. Wright's 8-yard reception on the conversion gave the Raiders the early lead.

Allen Central marched up field as Coleman scored on a 5-yard run to make it 8-6 after one quarter. The Rebels took the lead, 14-6, on a 5-yard run by Tackett and Coleman's conversion run.

The Raider's Kevin Johnson pulled in a 6-yard touchdown pass from Nick Compton to tie the game at 14 at halftime.

The Rebels went ahead to stay at the 9:44 mark of the third period when Coleman connected with Brad Blackburn for a 43-yard touchdown completion.

Tackett rushed for 95 yards in the game. Osborne ran for 60 yards. Coleman passed for 116 yards on seven completions.

At always-tough Magoffin County, the Rebs saw another controversial field goal lead to a 23-20 defeat.

In the final seconds of the game, Magoffin County's Mike Caba kicked a 37-yard field goal that beat the Rebels. The controversial call sent that spilled Caba in the backfield, forcing the Hornets to kick the football.

Coleman had a banner game, completing nine passes for 144 yards.

Osborne rushed for 77 yards and Tackett ran for 64. Jenkins had three receptions for 48 yards and Kevin Stumbo caught three passes for 38 yards.

With their playoff hopes gone, the Rebels looked to the Phelps game at home to close out their season.

Betsy Layne just missed five hundred season

That would be all the scoring as the two teams failed to move the football.

Betsy Layne evened their record to 1-1 after traveling to South Floyd to face Donnie Daniels Raiders. The Cougars scored twice more in the first period to lead 21-0 before Betsy Layne scored 5-yard run by Rocky Hamilton. The drive covered 64 yards on eight plays.

Jarred Newsome had 17 tackles in a losing effort at East Carter. Rocky Hamilton rushed for 127 yards and Hamilton broke loose in the third period for a 47-yard run and the two-point conversion by Brent Akers gave the Bobcats the 14-6 lead.

Hamilton rushed for 147 yards in the game, scoring two touchdowns. Akers finished with 58 yards and Craig Hamilton passed for 60 yards.

Coach Derossett had to take his team to Knott County to seek that much-needed fifth win to break even for the season.

It was in the second quarter that Betsy Layne got on the scoreboard as Hard work, good attitude, believing in oneself and just having pride of being a Bobcat has been instilled into the program over the past three seasons.

The Bobcats, who finished 5-5 last year, just missed the even season again as they fell to 4-6 for the season.

For the third consecutive season, Betsy Layne has not competed for a district championship. The school elected to withdraw from district competition until Coach Derossett was able to get the program built.

The Cats have won nine games in the past two seasons and have a good strong group of young players returning next season.

Senior Rocky Hamilton was the feature runner for the Bobcats, massing 1,122 yards for the season. He carried the football 152 times. Brent Akers followed with 635 yards rushing on 105 carries.

Junior quarterback Craig Hamilton passed for 464 yards on 20 completions after 67 attempts.

Leading receiver for the Bobcats was Timmy Nunnemaker, who returns next season, with 179 yards on

In the defensive backfield, Meade came up with four interceptions while Craig Hamilton had three. Rocky Hamilton had two and Brent Akers one.

Meade and Rodney Hamilton led in fumble recoveries with two each. Bobo Hall, Brent Akers, Shannon Hall, Chris Hicks and Jason Hamilton each had one recovery.

Jason Hamilton led the charge from the linebacker's spot with five quarterback sacks. Hicks had four. Rocky Hamilton, Meade and Hall had three each. Jarred Newsome came up with two and Shannon Hall had one.

The season....

The Bobcats were invited to play Paintsville in the Big Sandy Bowl to start the season.

The game became a defensive battle between the two rebuilding schools with Paintsville pulling out a 7-0 win over the Bobcats.

The two teams played to a 0-0 tie through the first two quarters. Paintsville returned to the field to start the second half and push the ball across Bobcats held off the Raiders to the tune of 48-26.

Brent Akers rushed for 106 yards with Rocky Hamilton piling up 100 yards. Craig Hamilton was almost perfect passing the football. He completed six of seven attempts for 130 yards.

Nunnemaker hauled in three passes for 65 yards and Meade caught two for 40.

It was a big defensive outing for Jason Hamilton, who had 10 tackles in the game. Jarred Newsome picked up eight.

In their third game of the season, Betsy Layne hosted the Morgan County Cougars, a team who, at the time, had negative yardage on the ground until they came to Bobcat country.

But when the Cougars left, they had carried the football 32 times for 218 yards to take home a 21-6 win over the Bobcats.

Rocky Hamilton had 132 yards rushing while Akers rushed for 82. Craig Hamilton did not complete a pass.

The Cougars led 7-0 on their first possession of the game in a drive that covered 70 yards on 10 plays. The Craig Hamilton, at his safety spot, made 10 tackles as the Raiders slipped through the Bobcats' front line. Chris Hicks also had 10 tackles.

The road to Madison Southern wasn't a good one as Betsy Layne felt the wrath of Southern in a very one-sided game.

Akers led the rushing for Betsy Layne with 90 yards. Rocky Hamilton was stopped at 39 yards as the Bobcats had problems moving on the ground.

Craig Hamilton completed three passes for 75 yards; one was a 30-yard touchdown pass.

Betsy Layne picked up their second win of the season with a 24-16 win over visiting Allen Central. Akers and Rocky Hamilton both went over the 100-yard rushing mark to lead the way.

Akers rushed for 129 yards while Hamilton totaled 120.

The Bobcats jumped out to a 24-2 lead, and the Rebels could only get a safety in the first half.

Allen Central scored late in the third period for a 24-10 game and added another touchdown in the fourth quarter to make it a 24-16 game.

Betsy Layne played their second consecutive county team when they visited Prestonsburg on a Monday night.

The Blackcats gave no points and very little yardage to the Bobcats in a 34-0 loss.

Hamilton led the Bobcats with only 36 yards rushing. Akers could only manage 20. In fact, all Betsy Layne could do offensively was pick up 89 total yards.

Betsy Layne scheduled their homecoming game on a Saturday afternoon so they could host the Berea Pirates.

Under perfect football conditions, the Bobcats won their third game of the season when they defeated Berea 20-14 on a 2-yard touchdown run by Rocky Hamilton.

The Bobcats led 14-6 going into the fourth quarter. Hamilton fumbled the football and Berea picked up the loose ball, taking it in from 70-yards out. The two-point conversion tied the game at 14.

hundred season. The Bobcats needed two wins to get it.

One of those wins did come when the Bobcats hosted the Elkhorn City Cougars, a team that had been a menace to them in years past.

But this time it would be different as they posted a 20-13 win over the Cougars to go 4-5 on the season.

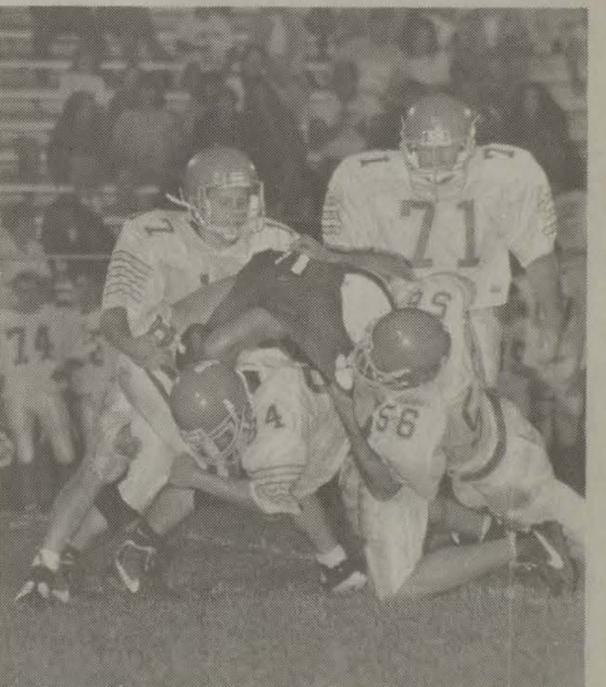

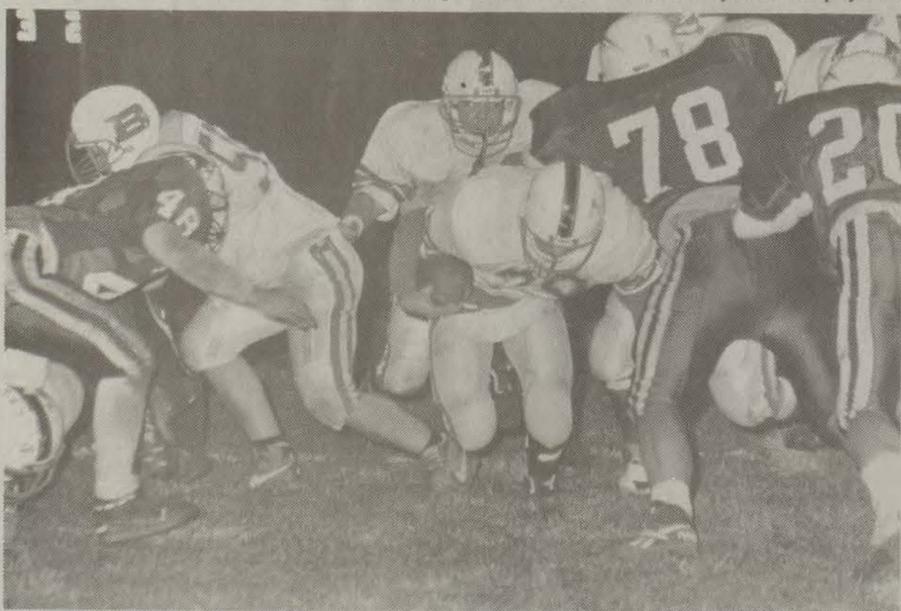

Hamilton had the best game of his career as he rushed for 202 yards on 25 carries. He scored two touchdowns in the game but, better than anything, Craig Hamilton sneaked in from the 1-yard line to make it a 7-6 game.

But after that it would be all Knott County Central as they blistered the Bobcats 38-6 on the coldest night of the football season.

Coach Derossett will return some very strong players next season. Brandon "Bubba" Combs will be gone as well as Akers and Hamilton.

Coach Derossett will look to rebuilding his backfield while the defensive line will be intact.

Prestonsburg's dream ends at Russell

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

When the Prestonsburg Blackcats started their 1994 football season, fond memories were still in the hearts and minds of the Blackcat faithful after a sparkling campaign in 1993.

A state final berth and within inches of a state championship, the team returned home that year to a hometown hero's welcome.

The '93 team was loaded with talent, both on the defensive side of the football as well as on offense. College scouts were drooling over the prospects the Blackcats were sending their way.

Coach Bill Letton and his coaching staff knew that the road into the 1994 season, especially the beginning, was going to be a rocky one. But yet, they felt that the team could have a successful season.

It would bearough first four games for Letton's hallclub, with three of the four on the road against quality opponents.

Prestonsburg vs Pikeville

The season got started on the right foot when the Blackcats faced traditionally strong Pikeville in the Pike County Bowl on the Panthers' home turf.

The youth and greenness of the Blackcats showed in the early going of the game. But two breaks allowed the Blackcats to pull out a very large win as they ambushed the Panthers 26-21 on senior quarterback Thomas Ratliff's 1-yard plunge with just two seconds left on the clock.

It was Ratliff who took over the leadership role as he spearheaded a for the 1994 season. The Generals were coming off an open game loss to Henderson County, and Terry Clark was worried about facing the Blackcats.

But Prestonsburg failed to move the football and fumbled the football 10 times in the game and dropped an unusual 13-0 loss to the Generals. It was their first shutout since the 1992 season when they fell at Belfry 30-0.

The ground game of the Blackcats struggled big time against Lafayette, and Ratliff was the team's leading rusher with only 48 yards.

Lafayette wouldn't fair any better as they managed just 60 yards on the ground against the Prestonsburg defensive line.

The difference was in the passing game after the Cats had shut down quarterback Billy Pollitt in the first half. The General's quarterback had missed on his first six attempts in the game and was intercepted once.

But Pollitt returned in the second half and completed eight of eight passes for 133 yards.

Lafayette led 7-0 early in the second quarter on a 3-yard run by Shermion Shelton and the PAT. The lead held up at halftime. The Generals recovered a Prestonsburg fumble at mid field and marched the 50 yards for their second touchdown in the third period.

Prestonsburg vs Whitesburg

The loss to Lafayette would be the first of a three-game losing streak as the Blackcats fell 10-7 to Whitesburg in what turned out to be a big district loss.

The game was a defensive battle early until Billy Stamper took a Again, Prestonsburg had a chance to tie the game when they moved inside the red zone to the Yellowjackets' 5-yard line. On a fourth down play, Letton elected to punch the ball in rather than go for the tie with a field goal. Prestonsburg fumbled away the football on the attempt.

Shelby Valley at home as they went on to win 21-6 behind the running and passing of Ratliff. Prestonsburg's defense came up with five interceptions against the Wildcats.

Prestonsburg vs Magoffin County

It was against Magoffin County that the Blackcats got a scare. The Hornets took advantage of some early jitters by Prestonsburg and rolled to a 12-0 first quarter lead as a stunned Blackcat following looked on.

But it didn't last long as Jon Morris carried the football through, around and over the Hornets' defense to help them to a 15-12 halftime lead. The Blackcats, in dramatic fashion, scored a 28-20 win.

Magoffin County held a 20-15 fourth lead early in the period. But Ratliff broke lose from mid field and galloped 50 yards for a touchdown and Prestonsburg held on to a cautious 21-20 lead.

After the Hornets were forced to punt the football away, after Waylon Bevins sacked Mike Caba for a 20-yard loss, the Blackcats took control with just over eight minutes to play. Their aim? To run the clock.

On a second-and-one play, Ratliff, on a keeper, picked up a first down—but more than that, a good 16-yards. The huge pickup, plus a 15-yard facemasking penalty put the ball at the Hornets' 13. Ratliff rushed for 11 yards and Morris carried it across the

The missed field goal allowed the Blackcats to hold on for a 28-25 district win.

Prestonsburg looked sharp the first half as they built what appeared to be a safe 21-6 halftime lead. But the Cats opened very flat in the second half and the Cardinals built the momentum in the second half and pulled to within three, 28-25. With 12 seconds left to play, the Cardinals went for the tie, but missed.

Prestonsburg vs Morgan County

Prestonsburg had little trouble with a young Morgan County team, and they built a big early lead. Morgan County scored twice in the last quarter against the Blackcats junior varsity team but fell short in the 51-16 loss.

Prestonsburg vs M.C. Napier

The Blackcats went on the road to M.C. Napier to close out their regular season and the win wasn't that pretty, but they did get the 26-6 win.

They opened very flat and played rolled up 208 yards rushing. Neither could the Prestonsburg offense pick up where they had left off in the first half.

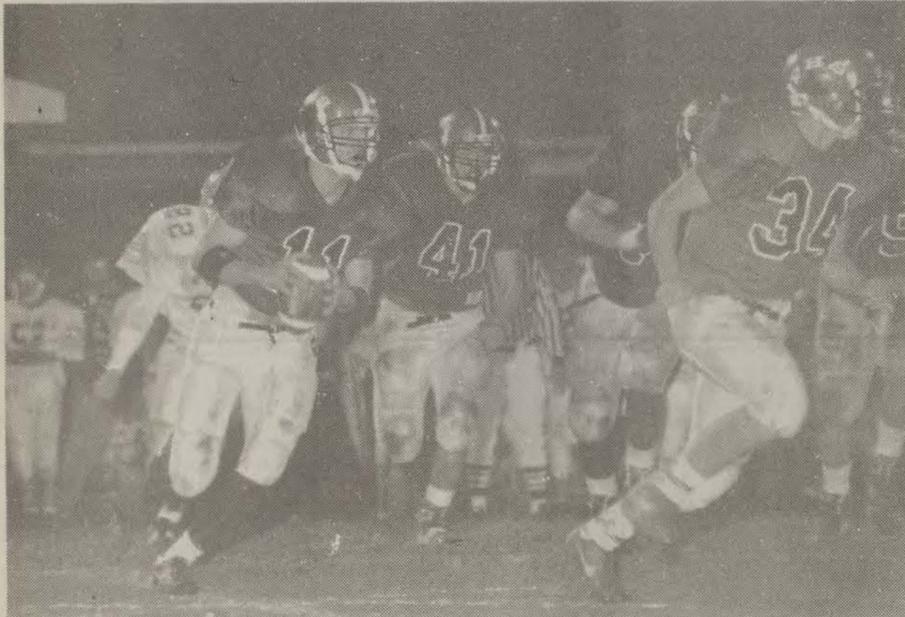

With 37.5 seconds left in the football game, the Raiders scored and added the extra point to take a 29-28 lead over the Blackcats, whose play-off hopes looked dim.

But this has been a team that never quits, regardless of the time left. Senior quarterback Thomas Ratliff showed that drive that brought his team back.

Ratliff completed a 42-yard pass completion to Clint Shutts putting the football at the Raiders' 13-yard line.

Prestonsburg moved the football to the Raiders' one where they faced a fourth-down situation. Coach Letton called the right play as Ratliff split the uprights with a 19-yard field goal that put the Cats in front 32-29.

Larry Morris intercepted a pass and ran the football back into the end zone for a final 37-29 game.

drive that went from the Blackcats' own 36 to pay dirt. Ratliff completed a 13-yard pass to Ryan Ortega and rushed for 19 yards on six carries.

Mike Shepherd, on a third-and-seven, busted the Panthers' defense for a 30-yard pickup and the Panthers were called for face masking. Three plays later, Ratliff scored what proved to be the winning touchdown to erase a 21-20 Pikeville lead. He was chosen as the Most Valuable Offensive Player.

The determination the Blackcats had shown in the Pikeville game was a shadow of what had happen last season: when the Cats were down they found a way to win.

Prestonsburg vs Lexington Lafayette

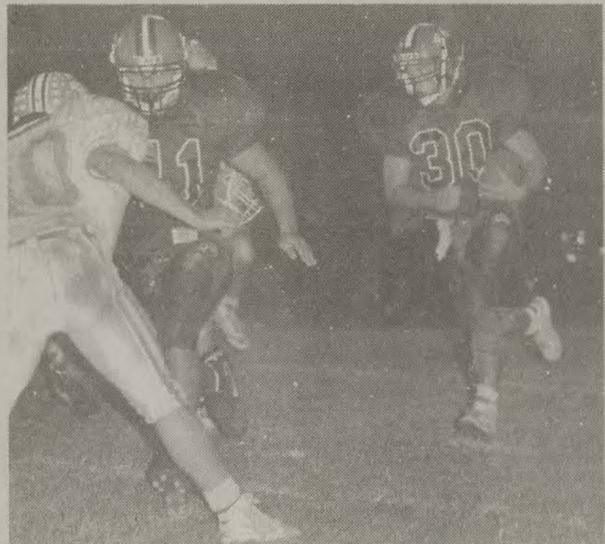

Coach Letton added always-tough Lexington Lafayette to his schedule

Prestonsburg punt and returned it 70 yards untouched. Charlie Wright ran the two-point conversion to give the Yellowjackets an 8-0 lead.

Whitesburg went on top 10-0 when Thomas Ratliff was caught in the end zone on a first down play from the Prestonsburg 8-yard line. The Yellowjackets led 10-0 at the half.

It appeared that Prestonsburg was going to get things going in the second half when they took the first possession of the third period and scored on a 24-yard touchdown completion from Ratliff to Ryan Ortega. Ratliff added the PAT for a 10-7 game.

With 1:45 left in the third quarter, Prestonsburg got excellent field position when they took the football on the Whitesburg 36-yard line but were unable to score.

Prestonsburg vs Belfry

On the road at Belfry, Prestonsburg started to get their legs but dropped a 21-14 decision to Phillip Haywood's Pirates.

A 14-yard run by Robbie Risner had netted Prestonsburg a 14-7 lead with 8:37 left to play in the third period. A 61-yard drive by Belfry tied the game at 14. The Pirates then went on to record the victory.

Prestonsburg vs Betsy Layne

The three-game losing streak was snapped when the Blackcats went outside of the district to face Betsy Layne in an odd Monday night football game. Prestonsburg posted a 34-0 win over the Bobcats, as sophomore Jon Morris began to make his mark.

Coach Letton's team entered the first of six consecutive district games and he knew he needed some running out of the backfield. The call went to sophomore Jon Morris, who was used early at a split end slot. Morris gave the Blackcats just what they needed, some solid running.

Prestonsburg vs Shelby Valley

Prestonsburg had little trouble with goal line for a 27-10 game. The PAT by Ratliff put it away at 28-20.

Prestonsburg vs Sheldon Clark

In a controversial game, the Blackcats met district foe Sheldon Clark on the gridiron. The game ended when the Cardinals' 37-yard field goal in the closing seconds, was ruled "wide left."

that way through the first half, trailing 6-0 at the half. But it was a different Blackcat team that took the field the second half. The defense stifled the Navajos and the Cats' offense rolled, scoring the 20-point win.

Prestonsburg closed their regular season with a fine 7-3 mark and was 6-1 in district play. It would mark six consecutive years the Blackcats have been in the playoffs.

Regional Playoffs

Prestonsburg vs East Carter

Failure to put together four good quarters in one game continued into the first round of the playoffs at home against East Carter.

The Blackcats were all business in the first-half as they vaulted out to a 28-9 first half lead on some strong running by Mike Shepherd and Jon Morris.

But as the second half unfolded, the Cats saw a charged-up Raider team come out of the locker room and turned the game completely around.

The Blackcats' defense could not stop the Raiders Darren Fite, who

Prestonsburg vs Russell

As round two of the playoffs took place, the Cats traveled to heavily favored Russell.

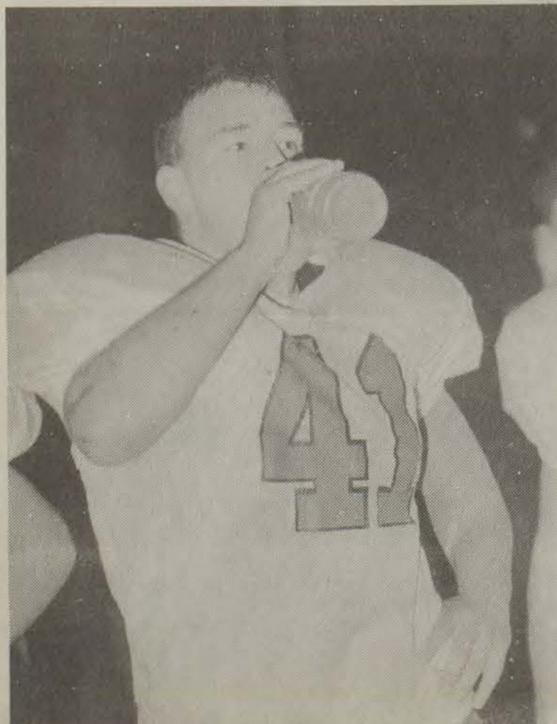

The Red Devils would be playing Prestonsburg for their third consecutive year. Russell was one of the unbeaten teams in the region, and they sported a fancy 11-0 record.

Signs around the stadium stating that "Third time is the charm" held true as the Red Devils took advantage on a first series fumble and turned it into a touchdown for a 6-0 lead.

Prestonsburg's Larry Morris took a pass from Ratliff and ran 74 yards for a touchdown. Ratliff's PAT made it a 7-6 game in favor of the Blackcats.

But before the half ended, Russell scored on a 37-yard pass play and ran the two-point conversion to take a 14-7 lead that held up through the second half.

With their season over, the Blackcats look toward next season after finishing with a strong 8-4 record in 1994.

Season was a growing one for South Floyd

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The South Floyd Raiders just completed their second season on the gridiron and the year was one game better than the previous.

Coach Donnie Daniels Raiders snapped an 18-game losing streak that dated back to last season when they went winless.

But this was a young South Floyd football team that had to grow up during the course of a season.

more time on the field than the offense.

Pikeville took a 7-0 lead on one play from scrimmage. After the Panthers intercepted a Ray pass, they ran the football back 32 yards for a touchdown and a 14-0 game.

Before the three-minute mark of the first quarter, the Panthers were rolling at 21-0 and led 28-0 at the end of the first period when Pikeville recovered a South Floyd fumble and ran it back into the end zone.

Ketrin Mays scored the lone touchdown. Arriving at South Floyd on September 30, the Cavaliers wanted to put the exclamation mark to the play-off berth with a good outing.

It was an excellent offensive and defensive game for the Cavs as they shut out the Raiders 53-0.

It would be the lowest rushing yardage for the Raiders all season as they could only manage 32 yards on 31 carries. South Floyd had only 6 yards passing for a total of 38 offensive yards for the game.

The Raiders picked up only two finished with four assists. Johnson also blocked a punt.

South Floyd vs Elkhorn City

Chad Slone returned to the brilliance he experienced at the start of the season when he scored three touchdowns to finish second in the county in scoring.

Wright rushed for 148 yards against the Cougars as the Raiders fell 36-28 on the road.

Kevin Johnson had five receptions in the game for 125 yards. Ketrin Mays caught one pass for 41 yards.

Ray completed five of nine passes for 137 yards passing.

A costly fumble turned into a scoring opportunity for the Cougars as they crossed the goal line from the 3-yard line to snap a 28-28 tie and to win 36-28.

Several young players return for Coach Daniels next year. Look for Compton to quarterback the team and Hall to stay in the backfield.

Mays is very talented and, with his quickness and speed, he will see some time back there as well.

Coach Daniels will have to rebuild the offensive line next season. But the talent is there for the rebuilding process.

Scoring didn't appear to be a problem for the Raiders as they managed to put some points on the scoreboard. But it was on the defensive side of the football that South Floyd struggled.

Coach Daniels allowed his returning players to take some time off before they hit the weight rooms hard this winter.

With the new gym facilities completed at South Floyd, the team will enjoy a new training room as well as weight room.

The added weight room will enhance the workouts of the Raiders over the winter months.

"We may have problems filling the backfield spots next year," said Daniels earlier.

Returning will be freshman Nick Compton who showed a lot of promise in just the few games he started for Coach Daniels.

He is certain to replace senior Justin Ray, who will graduate this season.

Perhaps returning to the backfield for South Floyd will be Aaron Hall. Hall started his freshman year as the team's signal caller. This year he was moved back to the defensive line where he was a standout player.

Hall then saw some time in the backfield in the last two Raider games.

South Floyd vs Magoffin County

South Floyd showed that it was going to be a good offensive season in 1994, but they also showed how the defense would stack up when they battled Magoffin County in the opening game this season.

Neither team played any defense but both scored a lot of points. It was the Hornets, though, who came away with a 62-41 win.

South Floyd vs Betsy Layne

The second game of the season saw the Raiders travel to county rival Betsy Layne in hopes of keeping their offense going. The Raiders found the Bobcat defense strong and failed to move the football. South Floyd dropped the intracounty game to the Bobcats.

South Floyd vs Phelps

Coach Daniels liked what he was seeing out of his young football team, especially when they put some points on the board.

But on the journey to Phelps, the Raiders would find the well dry. However, South Floyd played their best defensive game of the year in the Hornets' back yard.

The two teams battled through regulation play without anyone able to cross the goal line.

But, in overtime, the Hornets drilled a long field goal to win 3-0 over the Raiders.

South Floyd vs Pikeville

The Raiders were strong in the close 3-0 loss to Phelps, but just the opposite was true in the game that followed.

Pikeville, the class of 1A, showed up at Brackett Field and could do nothing wrong as they rolled over the Raiders 64-6.

The Panthers were making no mistakes, but the Raiders made plenty. They fumbled the football four times and had two passes intercepted.

While their offense could not get untracked, the defense was spending down for South Floyd when he went in from 9-yards out for a 64-6 final score.

Adam Wright, who had a strong second half of the season for South Floyd, finished with 43 yards to lead the ground game for the Raiders.

South Floyd vs Fleming-Neon

It was a disappointing trip to Fleming-Neon for the Raiders as they fought hard only to come up on the short end of a 28-20 score. It was a game in which the Raiders would find heavy penalties after getting in the red zone several times.

The last eight seconds of the game failed to be played, causing Coach Daniels to question the official's decision.

Both Chad Slone and Wright had outstanding games. Wright carried the football 21 times for 159 yards while Slone totaled 132 yards rushing. Wright scored two touchdowns while Slone ran for one.

The Raiders got a rare safety as Kevin Johnson hit the Pirates' quarterback in the end zone.

South Floyd vs Jenkins

The Jenkins Cavaliers were play-off bound for only the second time in their school's history.

downs and two came on Cavalier penalties.

Wright would be stopped with only 21 yards rushing while Slone struggled to get 11.

South Floyd vs McCreary Central

The big game of the season for South Floyd came after the loss to Jenkins.

The Raiders were riding a disappointing 18-game losing streak. McCreary Central had fallen to one Floyd team — Allen Central — earlier. This time it would be to the Raiders.

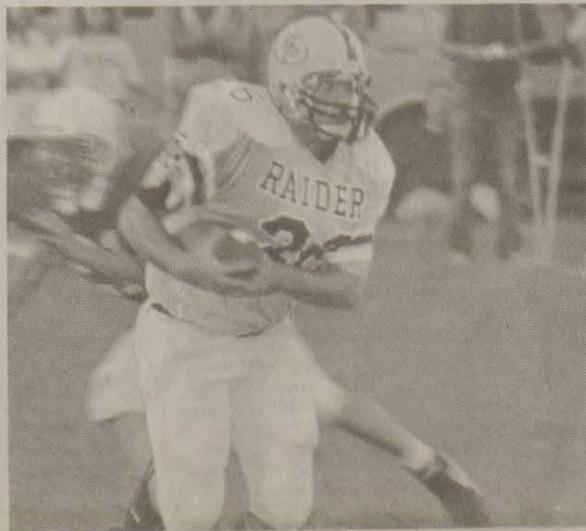

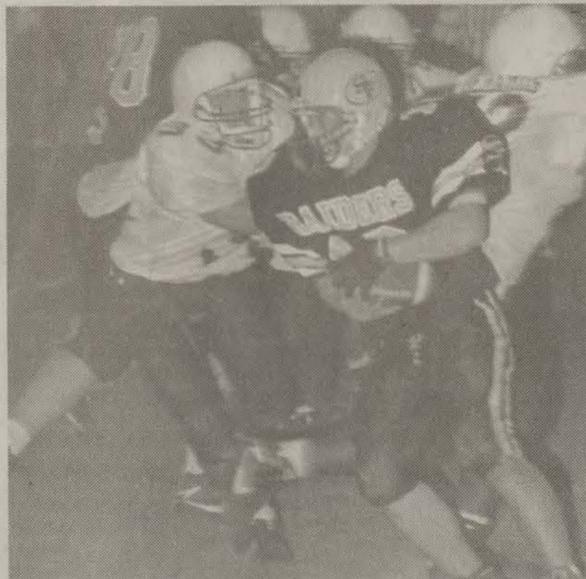

The victory came in front of the home folks when South Floyd fought their way to a win.

Ray would have an outstanding game passing. The senior quarterback completed six of nine passes for 146 yards passing.

Wide receiver Kevin Johnson caught four passes for 117 yards.

Wright rushed for 69 yards with Aaron Hall picking up 34 yards rushing.

Jarrod Compton had six first hits on defense and picked up seven assists. Johnson had eight first hits and

HITHER, THITHER AND...YAWN

When I was a youngster attending the Thealka Freewill Baptist Church with my dad and mom and little brother Joe, the only thing worse than giggling was yawning.

Although mom usually sat between us, after sweating through an hour or two of hard preaching, both Joe and I were subject to uncontrollable fits of both.

As one might guess, both afflictions were also quite contagious, yawning perhaps worse than giggling. (As a matter of fact, if you'll think back, you'll probably have to admit you've yawned a couple of times since you began reading this column.)

Unfortunately, back in those days, both giggling and yawning resulted in mom's disciplining us, often with a swat to the seat of our pants as the four of us walked home in the dark. Sometimes, if we lucked out, a mere scolding would suffice, especially if the intractable act had occurred early in the service and she'd had time to cool down.

Scoldings in the dark weren't all that bad since we couldn't see the look mom was giving us, nor could she see us if we smiled (an often fatal act if detected during daylight hours) during her tirade.

Anyway, what got me to thinking about such stuff in the first place, was an article I read in the paper last week about this woman from Philadelphia who is reputedly "an authority on the subject of yawning."

It seems that Monica Greco and a Temple University psychologist, Roy Baenniger, have teamed up to study animals that yawn in an attempt, I suppose, to help explain why people do.

They reported that lions and wolves are "frequent yawners," chimps are "social yawners" (does that mean they only yawn at wedding and things?) and giraffes never yawn. (Of course, giraffes aren't subject to two-hour church sermons, either.)

Apparently, it has long been held that one yawns because of lack of oxygen. However, these two researchers have decided that people in chambers of pure oxygen yawn just like everybody else. So, according to Baenniger, yawning is merely a method of self arousal when it isn't advisable to fall asleep...like for example, during a church service. These folks have drawn the conclusion that yawning is a way for us to keep ourselves alert.

If that's the case, all that trouble Joe and I had over yawning in church was really unfounded because what we were really doing was trying to keep ourselves alert so we'd not miss a single word of the preacher's sermon.

As is usually the case, all this information has come to light much too late to do me any good, at least as far as escaping mom's wrath was concerned.

Beside, now that I'm old, nobody will scold me for yawning in church. As a matter of fact, it's even

Requiem for Roy: a pound mutt

by Mark Patinkin
Providence Journal

He was a pound mutt, and once or twice was even grateful for being rescued, but mostly, he started acting like he owned the place the day he came home with me.

And never stopped. He ate what I ate, sometimes finishing off my plate under my nose on his hind legs while I read the paper, though that ended when my wife came into our lives. At least it ended when she was looking.

He always ignored his own chow until 10 p.m. or so when it got clear there was no more human food coming. Then he'd sullenly eat his Purina, eyeballing me as if I'd done him wrong.

His name was Roy and he died a year and three quarters ago, and there's no reason to do a column about him now, except I miss him, and couldn't bring myself to write about him when I lost him. He was 12, getting up there I suppose for what he was, an alleged Collie-Setter Lab mix. Emphasis on the "alleged."

I got him at six months or so—they had to age him by looking at his teeth since he didn't exactly have papers. He was hit by a car during a frozen February, and left for three days with a broken back leg by the side of an access road to an inner city apartment; that's what the pound said.

Apparently no one wanted a gimpy mutt, and he got pretty close to being sent on what a dog-character in "Lady and the Tramp" calls "the long walk through the one-way door."

But the vet couldn't do it because Roy kept wagging his sorry old dirty tail. The vet told me he was even wagging it on the stretcher the day they brought him in. He stayed that way most of his life. Show me a human who's in a good mood for 12 straight years.

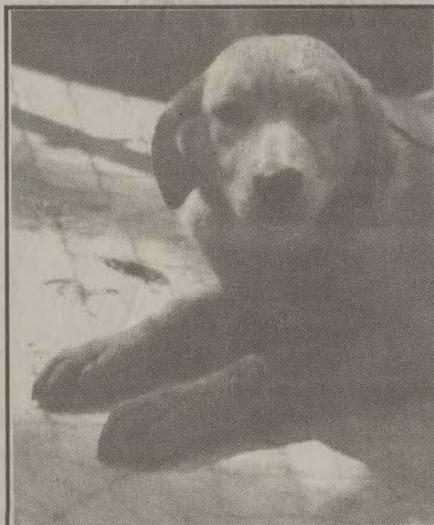

He slept on my bed, on his back, with one leg pointing rigidly at the ceiling. He's the only dog I know who ever fell out of bed. I woke at 2 a.m. to the sound of a sandbag hitting the floor, and saw him lying there dazed. Then he climbed back up, rolled on his back and pointed his leg at the ceiling again. It's not that he had a low learning curve, he just liked what he liked.

Mostly, he liked me. I got him when I was single and we became partners. I once brought home a date who felt compelled to timidly pet him upon being introduced, but then rushed to the kitchen to wash her hands. That was our last date. My philosophy: hang with me, hang with my dog; we came as a package.

Roy was a mood hound and could tell when I was low. He'd put his chin on my knee and stare up with these big brown eyes. Once—I swear this is true—he climbed on the couch where I was brooding and put his paw on my shoulder. Several times, he'd come in from another room moments after I began to get upset over something, and do his chin-on-the-knee thing. Imagine being able to actually "hear" someone getting depressed through a wall. Most humans don't notice that when they're sitting next to you.

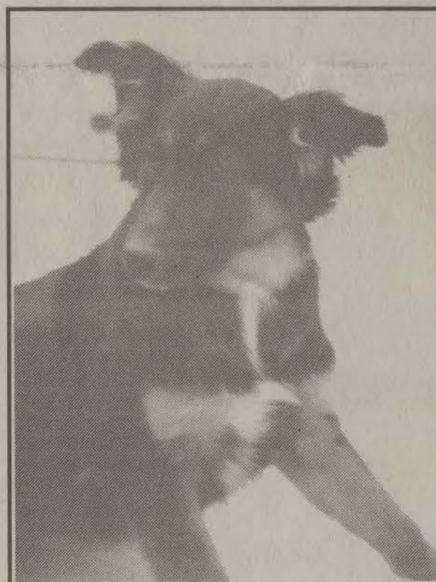

He begged with the best of them. I was in an autoteller line once when a grungy car pulled up with a couple of hoods eating out of a donut bag: biker types. Probably psycho-killers. But Roy sat on the curb by the driver, who told him to get lost. Instead, Roy extended his paw and let it hang in mid-air. The driver

Choose a puppy this Christmas...and the breed that's right for the family

Considering a new puppy this holiday season? You can be sure that you're barking up the right Christmas tree by first researching which breed of dog is right for you.

"Many people purchase puppies based on appearance, without taking into account that the breed may not be good with young children, or needs room to run, or requires more patience to housebreak," says Dan Carey, DVM, The Iams Company. "Research breeds before you purchase the puppy to save the heartache of owning an animal that's not a match to your lifestyle." Many puppies bought on impulse are later brought to shelters, or abandoned.

Here are some questions to consider before buying a puppy:

1. Do you have any previous dog-owning experience?
2. Do you need a dog that gets along with young children?
3. What size dog do you want?
4. How much room do you have for the dog (i.e., do you live in an apartment, or a house with a large yard?)
5. Do you have allergies, or will you be upset if the dog sheds a lot?
6. Do you need a dog that will be easy to train?

When you think that you have found a breed that seems suitable for you and your family, go to your local library or pet store for books about the breed, or contact your local chapter of the American Kennel Club for brochures. They can also put you in contact with clubs devoted to different breeds.

Free Brochure

Once you have found your perfect puppy, make sure you know how to be a responsible owner. A free brochure, You And Your New Puppy, can help start you out on the right "paw." The free brochure is available by calling the Iams Pet Nutrition Center and Hotline, 800/525-4267, ext. 44, Monday to Saturday, 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Eastern time.

Living a dog's life

by Willie Elliott

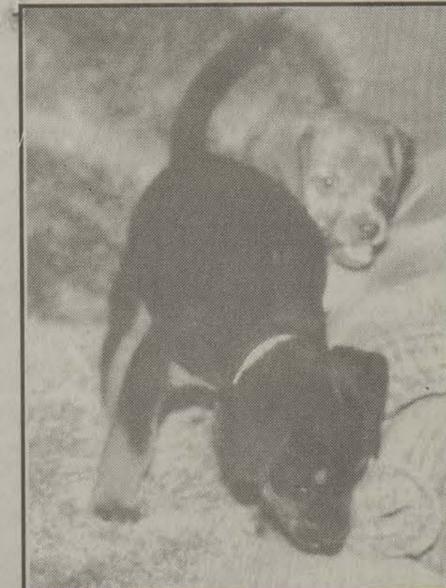

Everyone knows how pups can melt your heart and make you do things you wouldn't do under normal circumstances. That's the very effect Teeka and Anna had on our family.

About two weeks ago Linda and I were coming back from church when we saw a small black puppy in the road. Of course, Linda said we must stop and see what was going on. When we stopped, we spotted another brown pup much smaller than the black one. Needless to say, the pups came home with us. Linda said she would find out who they belonged to.

We surmised that the pups were set out because they were females. It seems that no one wants female pups. We have the double standard even in our pets. Male or female, the little things needed attention. They were filled with fleas and were in need of a bath. That very night Linda gave them a bath. The next day she got shampoo and flea killer to treat the puppies. They seemed so appreciative. They knew they were loved right from the beginning. I wasn't so eager to have two dogs to go with our eight cats. In no time at all, I was taken in by these two scoundrels.

Linda made a weak-hearted effort to find the owners, but I knew that by this time that the pups were here to stay. Off to the vet Linda and Ryan went with the pups. Linda bragged about how well-behaved they were. You would think they were her children to hear her carry on.

In the meantime the pups have the run of the house. I must admit they are pleasant to have around. They have some royal battles, with vicious barking and animated romping. They never forget to let us know that they love us. They do it their way, but they do it. Yes, the house sometimes smells like a dog, but I suppose dogs don't smell all that bad if you love them. Each day when we come home, they are so excited to see us. Maybe we should show some of that kind of love and appreciation to the people we love and care about.

Linda tells me they are going out when they get big enough. Then it will be too cold, and they will be right here with us until the first robin shows up. By that time they will become a fixture in our household. I watched them playing, eating and having a big time the other day and said to them, "Anna, you and Teeka give a new meaning to the expression 'living a dog's life.'"

"FASHION BABE" SHOWS FLAIR FOR LAYERED LOOK

Nobody told me giving my 2-year-old daughter a bath would be like this.

She doesn't fret about the water temperature. She doesn't ask whether she's going to play with her yellow rubber duck or her Sesame Street canoe this time.

She wants to know what she's going to wear after the bath.

"I want the gown, honey," she says before the bath starts. "I want the gown."

And should you select the wrong one from her drawer, she'll be sure to tell you.

"No, honey," she says. "I want Mickey Mouse."

I want to know how a kid can be so into clothes at such an early age.

We can't keep her out of the closets. She's tried on every pair of shoes in the house at least twice. She wears my clothes more often than I do.

I was horrified the day I walked into our bathroom one day to find a 2-foot high pile of walking dirty clothes. Our daughter had on my dress shirt from the day before, a pair of underwear around her neck and my wife's short pants headed for the washing machine.

Only a patch of blond hair visible from a sleeve hinted there might be something human under all that fabric.

"Jordan!" I said to her. "Those clothes are dirty. You're not supposed to be in here! Get out of those things!"

"I'm trying on clothes," she said.

And we thought only parents with older children had to cope with the grunge look.

Her brother calls her "The Fashion Babe."

You can call me nervous.

Paying for her college education doesn't worry me anymore. I'm trying to figure out how to cover her wardrobe when she hits kindergarten.

A MODEL CHARACTER

This fashion thing caught me totally off guard. I grew up around little boys who played with Tonka toys, Hot Wheels and G.I. Joe dolls. When our son came along five years ago, I knew what to expect.

I was ready for him.

But little sister threw me a curve.

She likes the same Ninja Turtles, Legos and trucks our son enjoys. But she'll make sure she's wearing the right purple sunglasses and the proper Barney shirt while she's doing it.

Sometimes, when I'm alone with her, she makes me feel more like her wardrobe director than her father.

"I want to wear the sandals, honey."

"Take the socks off."

"I want the gown, the gown!"

She always wants the gown, or so it seems.

I never dreamed having a little girl in the house would be like this. I've wondered more than once if this kind of thing is natural.

She couldn't have inherited this fashion fancy after me. I'm lucky if my socks match half the time, and that's only when my wife gives me some hints.

Besides being gifted with color coordination, my wife grew up with two sisters. I knew she could give me some answers—not to mention a little reassurance.

"Are all little girls like this?" I asked her.

"I don't know," my wife said to my surprise. "She's a fashion babe. She just likes girl things."

If only that were all.

She wears her brother's nightshirts every chance she gets to slip them over her head. But it's not all bad.

The boy's learning to tidy up around the house thanks to her.

"I'm going to put my shirt in my room so Jordan won't get it," he says.

I know how he feels.

SHE DIGS MY THREADS

I've seen just about every stitch I own modeled by the Fashion Babe at one point or another.

But I've tried not to feel threatened. I've tried to keep this all in perspective.

After all, her legs aren't likely to get long enough for my pants for years to come. Those little arms of hers aren't going to get far in my long sleeves, either. And she can forget those stubby little feet of hers being big enough for my shoes any time soon.

None of that will probably deter her from trying on my things. But that's not all bad. In fact, it's sort of flattering.

Not every man's wardrobe is sharp enough for a fashion babe.

hood looked at his passenger hood, went soft and chucked out a half-eaten chocolate-covered cream-filled.

I didn't let Roy lick me on the face for a week after that; you never know what germs hoods carry. But usually, I didn't mind when he licked me—even on the mouth I'm afraid. That ended when my wife came into our lives. At least when she was looking.

We jogged together down a local boulevard—down and back. Soon, he began to stop a few hundred yards before the turning point. When I picked him up on the return, his face always seemed to say: "If you want to kill yourself, that's your business."

I trained him well—at crosswalks, he'd stop on a dime when I shouted a command from a block away, but when other dogs came by, he perfected the art of pretending he didn't hear me—he was one of those hounds. When I'd finally come right up to him and yell, "C'mere," he'd look up in sincere surprise as if to say, "You talking to me?"

I loved Roy. I loved him so much I structured all weekend outings to make sure he could come passing up the beach in summer since no dogs are allowed. My wife put up with that when she wasn't my wife—women put up with all kinds of nonsense when you're courting—but that changed after the ceremony. The next summer, we at last went to the beach.

Still, I took Roy along, leaving him in the car in the parking lot, and I knew it broke his heart because he could smell the sea air, and it about ruined my day. Noontime, I fed him my whole sandwich. I was hungry, but I felt better.

I loved him so much that when he ran away one afternoon on a five degree-below-zero day, and didn't come back by dusk like he usually did, I stayed up all night by the window, ringing my hands like a nervous, elderly lady.

At last, he returned the next 6 a.m.—looking just fine. "Well," said my wife, "are you going to teach him a lesson?" I looked sternly at him. "Bad dog," I said. Then I began to cuff him a good one on the snout, but at the last moment, merely tapped his nose like it was a delicate flower petal. "Wow," said my wife, "some spanking."

Like I say, I loved him.

I guess I'd better stop here before I take up the whole page, but I'm suddenly thinking about this classic song called, "Mr. Bojangles." There's a line in it I always thought was a nice lyric, but overstated. "His dog up and died, his dog up and died; after 20 years he still grieves..."

I have a new dog now named Jasper. He looks just like Roy, which I did on purpose. Still, he's a great dog in his own right—even waits for me a few hundred yards before the turnaround when I jog. I love Jasper.

As for Roy, well, it's been a year and three quarters, which goes a long way to getting you over someone you miss. All I need is another 18.

Prestonsburg writer to be among authors at book fair

Prestonsburg writer Robert Rennick will be among the national and regional authors who gather in Frankfort on Saturday, November 19, for the 13th annual Kentucky Book Fair. A record-breaking number of writers—a total of nearly 150—are lined up for this year's event, which will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the new William Exum Building on the Kentucky State University campus.

Rennick will autograph his book, Kentucky's Bluegrass: A Survey of the Post Offices, at this year's event. Some of the other featured authors will include:

—Fern Michaels, who with five million copies of her Texas series in print, needs no introduction to romance fans. She will sign her most recent title, Serendipity, and her best-selling 1993 work, Texas Sunrise.

—Novelist Stephen Coonts, who will bring his latest technothriller, The Intruders.

—John Berendt, whose "non-fiction" novel, Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil: A Savannah Story, climbed to number two on The New York Times bestseller list last summer.

—Country music star Skeeter Davis, who will sign her life's story, Busfare to Kentucky: The Autobiography of Skeeter Davis.

To celebrate the 75th anniversary of National Children's Book Week there will be special guest appearances by three characters in books by authors top-ranked nationally as favorites among young readers. "Ms. Frizzle" will autograph books in the Magic School Bus series by Joanna Cole. "Clifford," that lovable big, red dog, will paw his print on the latest editions of the Clifford series—a treasury of children's literature by Norman Bridwell for more than 25 years. And "Max," one of the wild things, will be on the prowl signing Where the Wild Things Are, a classics picture book by Maurice Sendak.

Among the more than 100 Kentucky authors who will be on hand, in addition to Rennick, are Historian Laureate Thomas D. Clark, and award-winning writers Wendell Berry, James Still, Bobbie Ann Mason, John Ed Pearce and John Egerton.

Admission to the Kentucky Book Fair is free and all books will be sold at 20 percent off retail price. Profits from the event are awarded annually to Kentucky libraries to improve their book collections. Twelve previous fairs have produced approximately $140,000 for libraries across the state.

Helping your yard survive the winter

Are you one of those people who thinks that the winter is especially tough on you? Then imagine how tough is on your plants, trees and shrubs. So, just like you might don a parka and a scarf when Old Man Winter starts to howl, you should do the same for your yard as the winter approaches.

Virtually all plant life feels the effects of dipping temperatures, but few more so than evergreens. That's because their foliage is always green, leaving it prone to damage from wind, ice, and the buildup of snow on branches. Further, evergreens desiccate, or sweat moisture, all year long. As a result, their roots must reach deep into the soil to replenish the moisture they've lost. Should the soil around the root system freeze, then there's no moisture to be absorbed. In short order, the foliage will turn brown and quite possibly die.

Luckily, not all shrubs, trees and plants are as susceptible to cold conditions as evergreens. Still, branches and leaves can still be harmed by the wind and even snapped by the weight of accumulated snow or ice. And as soil freezes and "heaves," meaning that it actually shifts as it expands, roots can be snapped apart, thereby killing the plant. According to the professionals at Easy Gardener, Inc., there are a number of new products designed to protect your landscape from the wrath of Old Man Winter.

Antitranspirant Sprays

"Also known as antidesiccants, antitranspirant sprays coat the stems and leaves of evergreens, shrubs and young trees with a protective film that holds in moisture, shields plants from drying winter winds and sudden drops in temperature," says Boyd Thomas of Easy Gardener. "These sprays, which are sold under such names as CloudCover and Shrub Saver, are an inexpensive and easy way to seal and preserve the foliage of the plant. They can also be used in the spring and summer to protect plants from drought and heat."

Thomas adds that a thorough application of Shrub Saver before the first frost of the fall should last for three months. Ice and snow, however, can wash away the protective emulsion coat, so be sure to re-spray plants throughout the winter. There's no need to worry about harmful environmental side effects as most antitransplants are non-toxic and biodegradable.

Landscape Fabrics

While antitranspirant sprays protect the foliage of plants, how does the average homeowner protect their plants' roots and soil from the ravages of winter? The answer, according to growing numbers of gardeners, is landscape fabrics. Also known as geotextiles, landscape fabrics eliminate the need for using ripped sheets of black plastic to stop weeds and help keep the soil warm. While plastic blocks weeds, it's also impermeable, meaning that the air, moisture and vital nutrients roots need in order for plants to survive can't pass through. Further, bark or mulch laid atop black plastic tends to float away come spring and summer, as snow melts and the rains come. Even worse, water trapped beneath black plastic can't evaporate and eventually sours the soil, putting plant life at risk.

One of the landscape fabrics available at lawn and garden centers and hardware stores is WeedBlock. A strong, synthetic fabric with thousands of "micro-funnels," WeedBlock permits air and water to pass through while simultaneously blocking out the sunlight that weeds need to thrive. Landscape fabrics also reduce the amount of water lost to evaporation and help keep the soil warm, making it more difficult for the soil to freeze over. Inexpensive and easy to use, WeedBlock can be applied quickly and simply by laying overlapping strips of fabric atop the prepared area, or, if necessary, over existing shrubs or plants. Using a pair of scissors or a knife, cut X's or holes into the material in the appropriate spots and pull it down around the plant, pushing the loose flaps of fabric back under the plant. WeedBlock will last for years, continually working to block unwanted weeds.

Once the landscape fabric is in place consider adding a two- to three-inch layer of a mulch such as pine needles, wood chips or shredded leaves around your plants. This not only gives the landscape a handsome, groomed appearance, but it extends the life of the fabric indefinitely, and will, like a blanket, serve as an extra layer keeping soil and roots moist and warm.

Remember, the coming winter doesn't have to harm your plants. Taking advantage of favorable fall climates to protect trees, plants and shrubs with antitranspirant spray and landscape fabric now will ensure thriving trees, beautifully blooming plants and superlooking shrubs this spring.

A class in forestry offered at Paintsville for Kentucky realtors

Why would a Kentucky Realtor want to take a short course in forestry?

Plenty of East Kentucky real estate agents might want to if they sell larger parcels of land as many do in the mountain forest region of that area.

They'll have the opportunity at 9 a.m. on November 21 at the courthouse in Paintsville when Doug McLaren, Extension forestry specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, conducts a special training course for realtors and real estate agents on the value of trees in setting prices for land.

"In order for them to know how to set a realistic sales price for plots of timberland, they need to know that there are good forests and bad forests," McLaren said. "And they need to know how to tell the difference. That's what I'm going to try to help them learn, how to evaluate a stand of timber."

More than just knowing which species of tree brings higher prices is involved, he added. Quality is important. A stand of timber with trees 20 inches in diameter may be a nice marketable stand, but if there has been fire damage or disease damage, the marketable value may be considerably different.

McLaren said he planned, weather permitting, a visit to a nearby forested area to show the real estate agents how to inspect the forest to determine such factors.

He also will discuss specific species of trees, such as oak and walnut, which have traditionally been high value trees for the Kentucky timber industry, and yellow poplar, which is increasing in value because of expansion of a new industry into Kentucky which will specialize in that species.

PCC believes in sharing the wealth

Prestonsburg Community College was recently informed that it would be receiving $9,400 from the University of Kentucky's logo proceeds.

PCC President Deborah L. Floyd decided to even out that figure by allocating $600 in discretionary funds for a total of $10,000. That $10,000 will, in turn, be parceled out as scholarship money to high school students in the college's service area of Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties.

When funds are available, the college traditionally offers scholarships to the valedictorian and salutatorian at each of the 18 high schools in its service area. This additional $10,000 will allow PCC to reach out and assist even more high school students with the cost of pursuing a higher education.

"Betsy Layne Senior Citizens"

Vanidan Ferrell came by the center with a donation of cucumbers. He said that he sold and gave away over 240 from two hills he had planted in August.

On October 15, a wedding was held at center. Johnny Meade and Kimberly Ann Aystrom Potter were married.

Seniors who are ill include Bert Allen, Clara Allen, Avery Akers, Polly Ann Akers, Fed Clark, Delpha Hall, Pauline Wallace, Elizabeth Little and E.T. Tackett.

The fund-raiser for October was a soupbean dinner. It did okay, thanks to all those who donated.

Norma Mullins sometimes tells the story about when she moved to Betsy Layne in a covered wagon.

Josephine Branham visited her granddaughter, Alissa Branham, in Abington Virginia in October. Alissa is a student at New College in Sarasota, Florida.

Flu shots were given on October 25 at the center by the Floyd County Health Department.

Martha Clark is planning a trip to New London, Ohio. Her brother Jake Risner is a nursing-home patient there.

A concert is planned for November 19. Larry Case and his band will perform Bluegrass music. Dinner will be served. The menu includes two choices: Pizza, salad, drink, dessert; or hotdog, coleslaw, dessert and drink. Festivities begin at 6 p.m. at the center.

The center has a new director,

Allison Barton.

Tamara D. Antle of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center is a regular to the center. She came by three times in October and played music. The group sang songs and had a really good time.

Home-bound seniors, please call any time and let the director know if you have any problems with your meals. Telephone number 478-9583.

On October 13, senior citizens had the pleasure of two guests from North Carolina.

The Halloween party on Friday, October 28, was a big success. John and Audrey Jenkins dressed up in original Indian outfits and put on a show. A young man from Marshall, Michigan played the sick child, and John did the healing dance done by the Indians many years ago. Many of our seniors dressed up and looked great. Many desserts were donated for prizes. Businesses donating included Food City, Kroger's, Foodland, Winn-Dixie, Shoney's. Apples were donated by Velocity Market. Gas for balloons was donated by Kentucky Welding at Pikeville.

Birthdays for the month were celebrated by Lea Belle Rice and Bud Henton. A cake was donated by Pikeville National Bank at Pikeville.

Senior of the month was Irene Gibson.

Dora and Norma Spencer visited their family in New London, Ohio. They reported everything was wonderful and all in good health.

Langley Clark donated six summer squash.

Sunshine Lines

Senior citizens, even though we have been enjoying some warm afternoons lately, we know that Old Man Winter is just around the corner.

I reminded you a couple of weeks ago about the 1995 Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP). For more information about this program call the Community Action office that serves your area. In addition to this subsidy, it might be well that you remember to contact them should you find yourself in a crisis situation where you will be without heating fuel. Crisis assistance will be available through March 31, 1995. That office will need certain documentation to determine crisis status. It could benefit you, or someone you love, in an emergency situation. Because I may not be writing about energy assistance again, at least not for a while, I want you to be aware that crisis assistance is available for those who may need it and who qualify - young and old alike. Call your Community Action Program for details.

I also want to share with my senior citizen friends some energy saving tips from the Kentucky Public Service Commission. One of their brochures ended up on my desk. It offered several suggestions that I feel will save most everyone reading today's Sunshine Lines article some money on heating and utility bills through the forthcoming winter months. I will also suggest some things, not mentioned in their brochure, that we use and find to be effective in our home. Just in case the woolly worm's prediction is correct, let's prepare to save some money while we attempt to stay warm.

—Weatherstrip around all exterior doors and openings

—Cover the openings of unused fireplaces

—Caulk, weatherstrip and put plastic over windows

—Close outside vents and crawl spaces

—Cover window air conditioning units during the winter (I hope my husband sees this one!)

—Clean and replace filters often —Open draperies and shades in sunny windows on cold days —Close draperies and shades at night to prevent heat from escaping (I'm not telling you we do this. We should, to save on energy cost, but we like the open feeling.)

—Check ductwork for leaks —Lower your heating thermostat to 55 degrees at night (Readers, remember what I suggested before, that you tell Santa to bring you an electric blanket for Christmas.)

—After making sure there are no pipes to freeze, close heating vents and doors to unused rooms ("Heat pump owners should check their owners manual before closing vents.")

—Keep windows and doors closed during the coldest part of the day

—Consider setting water heater at a lower temperature

—Consider adding insulation around the water heater. "Be sure to not block needed air vents for gas and oil heaters."

—Insulate hot water piping —Repair leaking faucets and running toilets

—Use long life light bulbs with lower wattage wherever possible —Use fluorescent lighting when possible (I prefer fluorescent lights. They're about 75% cheaper to operate, and in my opinion a person can see better with fluorescent lighting.)

—Consider keeping some moisture in the air. In the really cold weather we keep a vaporizer going at night and a pot of water steaming on the range, or heater, from time-to-time—or cook a pot of beans or a kettle of soup. That puts moisture in the air.

—Use dishwasher only when full and air-dry dishes. The drying cycle is costly. Open door for heat and moisture to escape and let them dry naturally —Limit the number of times your refrigerator door is opened.

—Replace appliances with energy efficient ones. (I don't throw one away that's working but I sure shop around for the best deal when I replace one. Brand names are not always the best and seldom are the cheapest.)

—Consider using a cheaper alternative heating source when possible. We keep our furnace lower in the winter by using either our fireplace or a kerosene heater to supplement heat in those areas where we "live" and "louge"—in our home that's the kitchen and living room.

Senior citizens, I hope the information shared with you today will help you to keep your energy costs lower this winter.

This information is shared with you as a service of the Kentucky Benefits Counseling Program For Senior Citizens serving those 60 years of age and over in Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, and Pike counties. If we can be of service in any way call 886-3876 or toll-free 1-800-556-3876.

Notice—There will be a meeting of the Floyd County Historical and Genealogical Society on November 21st at the Prestonsburg Library, at 7:00 p.m. Anyone interested, please attend.

Solitude is as needful to the imagination as society is wholesome for the character.

Dr. Casey certified as family practice specialist

Dr. Baretta Casey of Pikeville has been named a Diplomate of the American Board of Family Practice (ABFP), the certifying entity of the family practice specialty.

Dr. Casey, a family physician, earned Diplomate status by passing the ABFP's certification examination, an intensive written test of the physician's abilities in pediatrics, internal medicine, surgery, obstetrics, gynecology, psychiatry, prevention and other aspects of family practice.

The specialty of family practice combines the latest in medical technology and knowledge with the personal and continuing care of traditional general physicians. Family physicians are trained to work in all major areas of medicine and can treat 85 to 90 percent of the health care needs of patients of all ages.

The ABFP examination is offered to physicians who have completed three years of family practice residency training after medical school. Currently, there are more than 400 family practice training programs in the United States.

ABFP Diplomats must continue to demonstrate their competence in the specialty by taking recertification exams every six years. Family practice was recognized in 1969 as a medical specialty by the American Medical Association and the American Board of Medical Specialties, and it was the first specialty to require its Diplomats to take recertification exams at regular intervals.

Most of the more than 40,000 physicians who have achieved ABFP Diplomate status are members of the American Academy of Family Physicians, improved patient care.

Vital training

Dr. Mark Moore, Highlands Regional Medical Center's Chief of Anesthesia, taught a class on airway obstructions.

Highlands, Mayo Vo-Tech join to offer Paramedic Training Program

The Emergency Medical Services Branch of the Cabinet for Human Resources, Highlands Regional Medical Center, and Kentucky Tech/Mayo Vocational School have joint ventured to provide a state regulated, certified Paramedic Training Program, the first of its kind to be offered in Eastern Kentucky. The Paramedic Training Program was the result of one of the objectives established in the Healthy Kentuckians 2000 plan relating to Emergency Medical Services. Objective 9B.1 of the plan is "To plan and develop regional EMS/trauma systems covering the entire state," and Objective 9B.3, "To ensure that all Kentuckians have access to advanced life support (ALS) ambulance services."

Recognizing the fact that in any medical crisis from heart attack to severe trauma from an automobile accident, the initial care received by the victim is directly linked to the outcome. Dena Patton, RN, Highlands Emergency Department Clinical Manager, stated, "In areas away from here, advanced life support services have been shown to decrease morbidity and mortality in all populations from pediatrics to geriatrics. We deal with a unique situation here in Eastern Kentucky in that in Metropolitan areas, average drive time for an emergency services vehicle is 8 minutes. In Eastern Kentucky, drive times can be up to 45 minutes. Because of this, qualified medical intervention is key to a good outcome."

Highlands, as a provider of hospital based emergency services, has an Emergency Department Scope of Practice policy to reach out to the community to improve their chances of survival in an emergency. Last year, Highlands saw over 28,000 patients in the Emergency Department, less than 10 percent of these patients had the availability of paramedic service prior to presenting in the ER. By helping provide paramedic training for Emergency Medical Services personnel in the area, such as EMTs and ambulance drivers, Highlands is working to assure that optimal emergency healthcare service is available, even before patients reach the hospital, providing them greatly improved chances for surviving an emergency situation.

Highlands provides the Paramedic Training Program with a clinical room for education classes; a site to do clinical rotations; a percentage of the instructors, classroom supplies (videos, books); clinical preceptors; and a location to house the equipment provided by the state to operate the program. Mayo provides some instructors and shares in the program funding.

Classes for the Paramedic Training Program meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays each week for a period of 18 months. They are intensive, comprehensive, and demanding. Only those who demonstrate competency in all areas will be allowed to graduate. The program represents a balance between didactic, clinical, and field skills training. Paramedic trainees must not only learn what to do, but must also develop a clear understanding of why they are doing it. Major components of the training program consist of lectures, skill sessions, and clinical rotations.

Upon completion of the program, trainees will test at the state level for full Paramedic Certification. Paramedics are certified to intubate airways, start IV's, run a nitroglycerin or a heparin drip, do immobilization, administer medications, treat for low blood sugar, do aggressive chest pain treatment, treat for aggressive blood loss, and perform many other intense treatment modalities.

This Paramedic Program represents the second in a series of classes specifically intended to upgrade the level and improve the quality of EMS services in rural areas.

Commonwealth Insurance announces Prestonsburg LUTCF designees

Commonwealth Life Insurance Company announces that the Life Underwriter Training Council Fellow (LUTCF) designation has been conferred upon Account Representatives Mark Cook and Greg Preston in the Prestonsburg staff office of the Kentucky Mountain Agency.

The LUTCF Fellow designation is conferred upon life underwriters who meet the exacting qualification standards and who are members of a local association of the National Association of Life Underwriters during the year of conferment. Becoming an LUTCF Fellow indicates a significant career accomplishment. clients. The designation also clearly marks a life underwriter's long-term commitment to professional development and growth and a desire to better serve the public for years to come.

Attainment of the LUTCF Fellow designation also establishes an underwriter's credentials in dealing with other financial professionals and marks a special degree of competence and experience.

The Prestonsburg Staff office is located at 34 Richmond Plaza. The Kentucky Mountain Agency office is located at 333 Second Street in the Odd Fellows Building in Pikeville.

Founded in 1904, Commonwealth Insurance has assets of more than $5 billion and more than $22 billion of life insurance coverage in force.

Local businessman to serve as chair of PCC campaign

Bob Hutchison of Staffordsville has been selected to serve as chairman of Prestonsburg Community College's fund-raising campaign entitled "Partners In Progress."

The "Partners In Progress" Campaign has targeted four projects identified by community leaders and the college as necessary to address future workforce training needs and overall health conditions in the region.

These projects include the construction of two buildings, the Regional Center for Health Education & Wellness at the Prestonsburg Campus and the Regional Classroom and Technology Center at the Pike County Campus; installation of Technology, Telecommunications and Equipment; and creation of College Endowments.

The selection and enlistment of Hutchison was led by Burl Wells Spurlock, chairman of the Selection and Enlistment Committee.

Spurlock said the general campaign chair will serve as the chief executive officer of the campaign and will actively lead and inspire additional volunteers. Hutchison's responsibilities will be to select and enlist their campaign leaders and to serve as chairman of the Campaign Executive Committee, a group composed of all chairs of several campaign committees.

"Mr. Hutchison's experience as a successful businessman and his many years of community involvement will greatly aid the 'Partners In Progress' Campaign," PCC President Deborah Floyd said.

Hutchison owns McDonald's restaurants in Paintsville, Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Salyersville, Louisa and South Williamson and has generously donated much of his time to helping various causes in the communities his business serves.

"I'm looking forward to serving as chairman of PCC's 'Partners In Progress' Campaign," said Hutchison. "After meeting with the campaign organizers at the college and reviewing the campaign's targets and goals, I determined that the four targeted projects outlined in the campaign are means for our communities to move toward the 21st century. I welcome the opportunity to provide all the help I can to this worthwhile campaign. I am very supportive and believe the community will join me in getting behind the college."

Ninety percent of PCC's full-time faculty and staff have already participated in an internal fund-raising drive for the "Partners In Progress" Campaign. The faculty and staff collected and donated in excess of $24,000 to help finance PCC's expansion and development efforts.

WINTER LIP TIPS

Protect Yourself From Winter Weather Damage

(NAPS)—When you're into outdoor sports in winter weather, you have to give more than mere lip service to protecting the delicate skin of your lips.

The sun, wind and cold you encounter out on the slopes, around the rink or wherever your sporting life may lead can leave your lips painfully chapped and cracking.

Fortunately, protection is available that doesn't involve petroleum. A sunscreen lip balm and a medicated lip balm, to help heal already damaged lips are made with only natural ingredients such as plant oils and waxes, and flavored with natural extracts. Those who've tried both say they feel better and work better than lip products made with petrolatum, paraffin and mineral oil. Called Un-Petroleum, they're available from Autumn Harp in tasty flavors. Citrus Sunscreen (SPF 18) comes in handy stick form and Un-Petroleum Medicated Lip Spice in a half ounce finger pot and moisturizing lip jelly in key lime, raspberry, mandarin orange, and pineapple coconut flavors.

Here are more winter lip care tips you may find palatable:

• Pack sunscreen lip balm in your winter sports

Pack a quality lip balm in your winter sports bag to prevent rough lips caused by rough weather.

bag and use it frequently while outdoors. Dab a bit on the tip of your nose and cheek bones to protect those areas.

• Help lips heal at night. While you sleep, a heavy application of medicated lip balm can help heal any damage from the day's exposure. Keep it by your bed.

• Keep extra lip balm in parka pockets and your car so it will be handy whenever you need it.

• Indoor space, such as offices and school buildings, can feel dry as a desert in winter. Keep a lip moisturizer handy in a desk drawer or bookbag.

To encourage athletes to include natural lip care in their warm ups, free supplies of Un-Petroleum products are available for the organizers of selected amateur sporting events to provide to participants. To learn more about it, call 1-800-LIPS-367.

HEALTHFUL HOLIDAY COOKING

A holiday feast that's healthful may be one of the best gifts you can give your loved ones this Yuletide season.

Many cooks who care about the health of their loved ones are starting a new holiday tradition, replacing the fatty ham and roast goose of Christmases past with a holiday dinner where heart-healthy fish, pasta, fruits and vegetables take center stage. Healthy cooking methods for holiday meals include roasting, baking, braising, stewing, poaching, grilling, boiling, sautéing, stir-frying, microwaving and steaming.

Great holiday gifts for yourself or a favorite cook could be utensils and cookware designed to keep healthy foods crispy, colorful and calorie-reduced and make meals easy to prepare. Here are some items to shop for, from the experts at Lechters, the nation's largest retailer of non-electric housewares:

• An array of peelers, slicers, juicers and other items can turn ordinary produce into an art form. The Twin Juicer, for example, works for oranges, grapefruit, lemons and limes and includes a rind grater. There's also a Bean Slicer that strings and slices in one action and the Original Granny Real-A-Peel, which cores, peels, shreds and grates.

• Pasta makes a superb holiday main course and can be fun to prepare with the Atlas Pasta Maker.

• Great for salad lovers: vegetable brushes, peelers and slicers, lettuce crispers, salad spinners and colanders.

• Steaming vegetables and other foods retains minerals, vitamins and natural flavors. There are both stainless steel and bamboo vegetable steamers available as well as a microwave steamer that doubles as a pasta cooker.

• For those on special diets, the Foley Food Mill is a big help. Use it to prepare baby food, juices, special recipes, sauces, dietary meals and soups.

• Healthy cooking means low-fat cooking—less frying, more grilling. Great grill gifts include the Triple Fish Grill; a BBQ Grill Topper for grill-ing shrimp, fish, vegetables and other small delicate foods; and a Stove-Top Indoor Grill.

• Stir-frying is another healthful cooking method, and ready to help are various size woks and wok sets complete with utensils.

• Sensational stocking

stuffers include a stainless steel Strawberry Huller, Cherry Pitter and the Pedrini Egg Separator, a device that makes separating egg whites from cholesterol-laden yolks a cinch.

TURKEY-CARVING TIPS FROM THE EXPERTS

"I stood at the head of the table planning to carve the holiday turkey with great flair," laughs Daniel D. Friel, Sr., EdgeCraft Corporation CEO. "Instead, I mutilated it because my knife was too dull and there was no sharpener on the market that really worked! That's what led to the creation of the Chef'sChoice® Knife Sharpener and Chef'sChoice Knives. To help others who've had a similar experience, we even created a video guide showing simple carving tips, used by professional chefs, for all types of meats and poultry." Friel was happy to share the turkey carving tips shown in the video:

Tip No. 1: Cutting beautiful slices depends on using a good, sharp, non-serrated carving knife. Serrated knives tend to tear tender meat, producing shreds instead of slices. Chef'sChoice Trizor® Professional 10X® Cutlery, by EdgeCraft, is two to three times sharper and stays sharp up to ten times longer than leading European and domestic knives. EdgeCraft offers a carving knife and a wide assortment of other knives to help you prepare the whole holiday dinner and make sandwiches from the leftovers!

Tip No. 2: It's essential to keep your carving knife razor-sharp in order to carve with grace and ease. Manual sharpening methods such as sharpening steels and stones are difficult to master and, incorrectly used, can even damage fine cutlery. The Chef'sChoice Diamond Hone® Knife Sharpener from EdgeCraft takes the guesswork out of sharpening and is safe for fine cutlery. Patented magnetic guides ensure the proper sharpening angles to produce an arch-shaped edge that is sharper and longer-lasting. It uses 100-percent diamond abrasives to gently polish the entire length of the blade to razor-sharpness in a matter of minutes.

Tip No. 3: After the turkey is roasted, remove it from the oven and let it cool for 10 to 12 minutes. This will make the meat easier to slice.

Hints

Tip No. 4: Start carving by removing the drumsticks and thighs. Next remove the wings, but only the tip and center sections. Leave the last section of the wing attached to the breast. This provides a good broad base to help prevent the bird from tilting when you slice the breast.

Tip No. 5: When carving the turkey breast, start by making a deep horizontal (parallel to the platter) "base cut" into the breast, just above the wing bone. Then you can release nice even slices by cutting in a vertical direction down through the breast to the base cut.

TURNING OUT A TERRIFIC TURKEY

Any day may seem more like a holiday—and the holidays can seem festive indeed—if you make a meal of that terrific, all-American bird, the turkey.

Here, from the Michelob Holiday Recipe and Entertainment Guide, are some tips on picking and preparing palatte-pleasing poultry, plus hints on dressing up Tom Turkey.

Buying the bird

- If possible, get a fresh turkey. Be sure the breastbone and joints are flexible, signs that the bird is young.

- If you buy the turkey frozen, let it defrost for 2-3 days in the refrigerator so it will retain more of its juices.

Preparation pointers

- Turkeys should be well-oiled, especially the breast, which can tend to dry out.

- Before roasting, rub the bird inside and out with seasoned salt.

- If the turkey's cavity is large, use the heel of a loaf or bread to hold in the stuffing.

- Use dental floss to sew up the turkey after stuffing. It holds better than thread and won't tear the bird.

Cooking

- Roast a 10- to 13-pound turkey at 325°F for approximately 20 minutes per pound.

- To test for doneness, see if the drumstick moves freely. You can also pierce the thickest part of the thigh. If the juice runs clear, it's done.

Preparing stuffing— "safe at the plate"

No matter what stuffing recipe you prepare, it's important to prepare it safely. Warm, moist stuffing in the closed cavity of a turkey is a nurturing environment for bacteria. Here are a few precautions to take when roasting stuffed poultry:

- Do not pre-mix the stuffing. If you wish to prepare ahead, keep the pre-measured ingredients separate.

- Pack stuffing loosely in the cavity; it will expand during cooking.

- Temperature and timing are important: the stuffing must be cool before it is placed in the bird, and the bird must be stuffed just before going into the oven.

- Use a meat thermometer to check the doneness of the bird and the stuffing. The meat should reach 185° and the stuffing should reach 165°.

- Spoon all the stuffing into a serving bowl as soon as the bird is out of the oven.

Corn pudding recipe

This recipe is a welcome alternative to the traditional buttered corn served at Thanksgiving.

Combine one 12-oz. can whole kernel corn, two 17-oz. cans cream-style corn and five lightly beaten eggs. Add mixture of 1/2 cup sugar, 4 Tbsp. cornstarch, 1/2 tsp. seasoned salt, 1/2 tsp. dry mustard and 1 tsp. instant minced onion. Stir in 1/2 cup each milk and melted butter. Pour into greased 3-qt. casserole. Bake in 400°F oven one hour, stirring once.

Colorful cornbread recipe

Combine one 8 1/2-oz. box cornbread mix, one 16-oz. can drained mixed vegetables, 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1/3 cup milk and 1 slightly beaten egg.

Spoon into lightly greased 8x8-inch pan. Bake at 400°F for 25 minutes. Cool five minutes before cutting (left-over minutes before cutting (left-over chopped, cooked ham or sausage can be added). Makes 6-8 servings.
